Suratul Baqarah (٢), from Verse ٩٤ to Verse ١٨٢ The second volume of the renowned commentary on the Holy Qur'an written by one of its greatest modern commentators. This volume contains exegesis of Suratul Baqarah (٢) from verse ٩٤ to verse ١٨٢. .Translated by Sayyid Sa'eed Akhtar Rizvi

Foreword

al-'Allamah as-Sayyid Muhammad Husayn at-Tabataba'i (١٣٢١/١٩٠٤ – ١٤٠٢/١٩٨١) – may Allah have mercy upon him – was a famous scholar, thinker and the most celebrated con-temporary Islamic philosopher. We have introduced him briefly in the first .volume of the English translation of al-Mizan al-'Allamah at-Tabataba'i is well-known for a number of his works of which the most important is his great exegesis al Mizan fi Tafsiri 'l-Qur'an which is rightly counted as the fundamental pillar of scholarly work which the 'Allamah has achieved in the .Islamic world

We felt the necessity of publishing an exegesis of the Holy Qur'an in English. After a thorough consultation, we came to choose al-Mizan because we found that it contained in itself, to a considerable extent, the points which should necessarily be expounded in a perfect exegesis of the Holy Qur'an and the points which appeal to the .mind of the contemporary Muslim reader

Therefore, we proposed to al-tistadh al-'Allamah as-Sayyid Sa'id Akhtar ar-Radawi to undertake this task because we were familiar with his intellectual ability to understand the Arabic text of al-Mizan and his literary capability in expression and translation. So we relied on him for this work and consider him responsible for the English translation as al-'Allamah at-Tabataba'i was responsible for the Arabic text of al-Mizan and its discussions.

We have now undertaken the publication of the second volume of the English translation of al-Mizan. This volume corresponds with the second half of the first volume of the Arabic text. With the help of Allah, the Exalted, we hope to provide the complete translation and publication of this voluminous work.

In the first volume, the reader will find two more appendixes included apart from the two which are to appear in all volumes of the English translation of al-Mizan: One for the authors and the other for the books cited throughout this work.

We implore upon Allah to effect our work purely for His pleasure, and to help us to complete this work which we have started. May Allah guide us in this step which we have taken and in the future steps, for He is the best Master and the best Helper.

Suratul Baqarah: Verses ٩٩ – ٩٩

point

(٩٤) قُلْ إِنْ كَانَتْ لَكُمْ لِلدَّارِ الْأَخْرَىٰ عِنْدَ اللَّهِ خَالِصَةٌ مِّنْ دُونِ النَّاسِ فَتَمَنَّوْا بِالْمَوْتِ إِنْ كُنْتُمْ صَادِقِينَ

(٩٥) وَلَنْ يَتَمَنَّوْهُ أَبَدًا بِمَا قَدَّمْت أَيْدِيهِمْ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ بِالظَّالِمِينَ

(٩٦) وَلَتَجِدَنَّهُمْ أَحْرَصَ عَلَىٰ حَيَاتِهِ وَمِنَ الَّذِينَ أَشْرَكُوا يَوَدُّ أَحَدُهُمْ لَوْ يُعَمَّرُ أَلْفَ سَنَةٍ وَمَا هُوَ بِمُزَحَّزَجِهِ مِنَ الْعَذَابِ أَنْ يُعَمَّرَ

وَاللَّهُ بِصِيرٍ بِمَا يَعْمَلُونَ

(٩٧) قُلْ مَنْ كَانَ عَدُوًّا لِجِبْرِيلَ فَإِنَّهُ نَزَّلَهُ عَلَيَّ قَلْبِكَ بِإِذْنِ اللَّهِ مُصَدِّقًا لِمَا بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ وَهُدًى وَبُشْرَى لِلْمُؤْمِنِينَ

(٩٨) مَنْ كَانَ عَدُوًّا لِلَّهِ وَمَلَائِكَتِهِ وَرُسُلِهِ وَجِبْرِيلَ وَمِيكَالَ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ عَدُوٌّ لِّلْكَافِرِينَ

(٩٩) وَلَقَدْ أَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكَ آيَاتٍ بَيْنَ آيَاتٍ وَمَا يَكْفُرُ بِهَا إِلَّا الْفَاسِقُونَ

Say: “If the future abode with Allah is purely for you to the exclusion of the people (then invoke death if you are truthful” (٩٤

And they will never invoke it on account of what their hands have sent before, and (Allah knows the unjust ones (٩٥

And you will most certainly find them the greediest of men for life, and (greedier) than even those who are polytheists; every one of them loves that he should be granted a life of a thousand years, and his being granted a long life will in no way remove him (further off from the chastisement, and Allah sees what they do (٩٦ Say: “Whoever is the enemy of Gabriel – for surely he revealed it to your heart by Allah's Command, verifying that which is before it, and guidance and good news for (the believers (٩٧

Whoever is the enemy of Allah and His angels and His apostles and Gabriel and (Michael – so surely Allah is the enemy of the unbelievers” (٩٨

And certainly We have revealed to you clear signs, and none disbelieve in them (except the transgressors (٩٩

Commentary

Qur'an: Say: “If the future abode...”: The Jews claimed, “Fire shall not touch us but for a few days” (٢:٨٠). When they were :told to believe in what Allah had revealed, they declared

.(We believe in that which was revealed to us” (۲:۹۱“

All this implied that only they would be saved on the Day of Resurrection to the exclusion of all the others; that their deliverance and happiness in the next world would be unmarred by any unpleasant experience as the Fire shall not touch them but for a few days – equal in number to the day they worshipped the calf. To remove that self-delusion and conceit, Allah put a challenge to them, to show them their true face, .to make them realize that their claims were without any substance

He (Allah) told His Apostle to say to them: “If the future abode... is for you...” The “future abode” points to the felicity and happiness of that abode; the owner of a house arranges and manages it in the best possible way, and decorates it according to his taste and liking “with Allah”, that is, firmly established with Allah, by His order :and His permission; the phrase has the same import here as in the verse

purely”, that is, unmixed with punishment or humiliation – utmost that you think“ possible is a punishment of just a few days. “to the exclusion of the people”, because you presume that all religions, except your own, are false. If you really think so, “then .”invoke death if you are truthful

:This challenge is similar to the one given in verse

Say: “O you who are Jews, if you think that you are the friends of Allah to the exclusion of other .people, then invoke death if you are truthful” (٤٢:٤

The argument is very clear about which nobody can have any doubt whatsoever. Any man (nay! even an animal having a limited perception and sensitivity), if given total freedom to choose between comfort and discomfort, will at once opt for the comfort,
.without any hesitation, without any contemplation

Put before him a life polluted with trouble and turmoil and another clean and pure, and tell him to take hold of any one; naturally, and without any doubt, he will grab at the pure one. If for any reason he is prevented from the life of his choice, he will .always dream of it, and will remain looking for any opportunity to lay his hands upon it

If the Jews are truthful in their claim that the other world's pure happiness belongs to them to the exclusion of others, then they must yearn for it with their hearts, words .and deeds

And they will never invoke it on account of what their hands have sent before”, for“ example, the killings of the prophets, the disbelief in Musa (a.s.) and breaking of the .”covenants, “and Allah knows the unjust ones

Qur’an: on account of what their hands have sent before: It is a metaphorical reference to the “deeds”. Most of the external deeds are done by hands; then the finished product is sent to the one who wants it or .may benefit from it

The sentence has two allegorical allusions: it counts every deed as having been done by hands; and it ascribes the action of “sending” to the hands while in fact it is the man .who sends his deeds before

Actions of a man, and especially those done regularly, are a clear mirror of his unconscious and sub-conscious personality. Evil deeds expose the evil nature of the doer – and such a nature does not like meeting its Lord or staying in the abode of His .friends

Qur’an: And you will most certainly find them the greediest of men for life: It is an explanation of the divine word, “And they will never invoke it...” They do not yearn for death because they are greediest of all men for the life of this world. It is this greed and avid craving to remain in this world which prevents them from looking forward to .the next abode

The word, “life”, is used in this verse as a common noun – it is to show how :insignificant and trifling this life is; Allah has said

And this life of the world is nothing but a sport and a play, and as for the next abode, .(that most surely is life – did they but know (۲۹:۶۴

Qur’an: and (greedier) that even those who are polytheists: Apparently the conjunctive, “and”, joins this clause to the word, “men”, that is, you will find them .greedier than even the polytheists for life

Qur’an: and his being granted a long life will in no way remove him further off from the chastisement: The verse's literal translation: and it is not a remover of him from the chastisement his being granted a long life not, no, particle of negation); the pronoun “it” is that of sha'n (أ) and qissah = (ما) ”ma“ his being granted a long life” is the subject preceded by the predicate, “(ضَمِيرُ الشَّأْنِ وَالْقِصَّةِ) ”...that is, “is not a remover of him

The sentence may also be syntactically analysed in another way: the pronoun, “it”, may refer to the love each of them had of being granted a life of a thousand years. It would accordingly mean that that love of theirs would not ward off the Divine Chastisement from them; in this case, the clause, “his being granted a long life” will be a description of that love

Anyhow, what the verse says is this: They shall never invoke the death, and I swear that you will most certainly find them the greediest of men for this base and insignificant life which prevents them from the happy and good life of the next abode; you will find them greedier than even the polytheists for this life, although the latter do not believe in the Resurrection and the Day of Judgment, and consequently their love for this life should be unparalleled; every one of them loves that he should be granted the longest life, but even the longest life cannot remove him further off from the Divine Chastisement, because life, no

is a personal pronoun (third person, masculine) which is used to (ضَمِيرُ الشَّأْنِ) Sha'n – ١ begin a sentence. That of feminine gender is called the pronoun of qissah (ضَمِيرُ الْقِصَّةِ). The nearest thing to it in the English grammar is the indefinite demonstrative (pronoun. (tr

.matter how long it is, is limited and has to come to an end

Qur'an: every one of them loves that he should be granted a life of a thousand years: that is, the longest life. "a thousand" is used to denote numerousness. In Arabic, it is the highest de-nomination which is described by a single word. Higher denominations are shown by repetition and combination, for example, ten thousand, a hundred thousand, a thousand, a thousand thousand (i.e., a million).

is one of the beautiful names of (البصير) "Qur'an: And Allah sees what you do: "al-Basir Allah; it signifies that although He does not have a body or an eye, He is fully cognizant of all things which we perceive with our eyes. It shows a facet of the name, (العليم = the Knowing) al-'Alim.

Qur'an: Say: "Whoever is the enemy of Gabriel – for surely he revealed it to your heart by Allah's Command: Apparently the verse was revealed as a reply to something the Jews had said – they arrogantly refused to believe in what was revealed to the Apostle of Allah (S), on the pretext that they were enemies of Gabriel who had the charge of bringing the revelation to Muhammad (S).

Allah replied to them in two verses – concerning the Qur'an and Gabriel both. Also the traditions giving the background of the verses confirm it. The verses contain four replies to their arrogance in denial of the Qur'an.

First: Gabriel has revealed the Qur'an to your heart by Allah's Command, not by his own wish. Therefore, even if they feel enmity towards Gabriel, it should not prevent them from believing in a revelation sent down by Allah's Command

Second: The Qur'an verifies the Divine Book which was revealed before it and which they have in their hands. How can they believe in a book and deny another which verifies it

.Third: The Qur'an is a guidance for those who believe in it

Fourth: It is also a good news for the believers. How can a sane person turn his face away from guidance and good news, even if it is brought to him by a supposed enemy of his

So far as their professed enmity towards Gabriel was concerned, they were replied as follows

Gabriel is one of the angels of Allah; he has no authority except to follow and obey the Divine Command – just like Michael and other angels. They are honoured servants of Allah; they do not disobey His command, and they do as they are told

Likewise, the apostles of Allah have no authority except by Allah and from Allah. To have enmity towards them, to harbour hatred for them is enmity and hatred towards Allah Himself. Therefore, whoever is the enemy of Allah and His angels and His apostles and Gabriel and Michael, so surely Allah is his enemy

.All these replies are clearly given in these two verses Qur'an: for surely he revealed it to your heart by Allah's Command: Apparently, it should have been “to my heart”; instead, it says, “to your heart”. The pronoun has been changed from the first to the second person to draw attention to an important factor

So far as the revelation of the Qur'an is concerned, neither Gabriel has any choice or authority of his own in bringing it down (he is subject to the Divine command, which he faithfully carries out) nor the Apostle of Allah (s. a.w. a.) has any choice or authority of his own in receiving it and conveying it to his ummah; his heart is the receptacle of revelation, on which he has no control at all and which he is bound to convey to his people

The Jews have been mentioned in these verses sometimes in the second person, and sometimes in the third. Their admonition and condemnation has continued for a long time; and the Speaker wants to show that they do not deserve the honour of being addressed by Him

That is why He frequently changes the styles, again and again going from the second to the third person pronouns. The audience gets the impression that the Speaker does not like to speak to them – because of their heedlessness and depravity, but at the same time does not like to leave them as they are without pronouncing His judgment against them

Qur'an: the enemy of the unbelievers: Instead of saying, “their enemy”, the verse uses the word, “enemy of the unbelievers”; it serves to show also the reason of that enmity. Allah is their enemy, because they are unbelievers, and Allah

.is the enemy of the unbelievers

Qur'an: and none disbelieve in them except the transgressors: It explains the cause of their disbelief; they disbelieve because they are transgressors. Or, may be the definite article "the", in "the transgressors" refers to the group mentioned in the beginning of the chapter

But He does not cause to err by it (any) except the transgressors, who break the (covenant of Allah after its confirmation... (۲:۲۶-۲۷

As for Gabriel and how he brought the revelation to the heart of the Apostle of Allah (s. a.w. a.), we shall explain it, God willing, in another place; the same applies to Michael and other angels

Traditions

Ibn 'Abbas explained the reason of the revelation of the verse, Say: "Whoever is the enemy of Gabriel...", in these words: "When the Prophet came to Medina, Ibn Suriya and some Jews of Fadak asked him (some questions). They said: 'O Muhammad! How do you sleep? Because we have been told about the sleep of the Prophet who would come in the last days

He said: 'My eyes sleep while my heart is awake.' They said: 'You are right, O Muhammad! Now tell us about the child whether it is from the man or from the woman?' He said: 'As for the bones, the nerves and the veins, they are from the man; and as for the flesh, the blood, the nails and the hairs, they are from the woman

They said: 'You are right, O Muhammad! Then why is it that sometimes the child resembles his paternal uncles, without having a least likeness of his maternal uncles? And sometimes he resembles his maternal uncles without having any likeness at all to his paternal uncles?' He replied: 'He resembles to that parent's (side) whose fluid dominates the other's.' They said: 'You spoke the truth, O Muhammad! Now, tell us : (about your Lord, what is He?' Then Allah revealed (the Chapter ۱۱۲

”...Say: “He, Allah is One

Then Ibn Suriya said: 'One (more) thing; if you tell (us) about it, I shall believe in you and follow you. Which angel is it that brings to you that which Allah reveals to you?' He :said: 'Gabriel.' (Ibn Suriya) said

He is our enemy; he brings the (order of) fighting, hard-ship and war. And Michael' brings comfort and happiness. Had it been Michael who came to you (with revelation) ” '.we would have believed in you

The author says: Very many traditions (nearly mutawatir in number) have been narrated by both Sunni and Shi'ah narrators, that (when) the Apostle of Allah (s. a.w. .a.) (slept) his eyes used to sleep but his heart kept awake

Sleep did not make him unaware of himself; when asleep, he was well aware that he was asleep; when he dreamt he knew that he was dreaming. Not too often, this happens to some other good persons too when their souls are clean and they keep in .touch with the Divine sublimity

When the soul rises to that level, it can never be oblivious of the various changes occurring to itself in its worldly life, nor can it forget its relation to its Lord. At this stage, it may look at the world and its life taking the whole spectrum at one glance, as a man looks at a tree and perceives it all at once. In this detached manner, it observes that all human beings are asleep – not only those who are manifestly asleep, but those too who are .thought to be awake

Almost all men have taken shelter under sensual perception; have bound themselves to the fetters of materialism. They are in fact asleep, even when they think they are ”...awake. 'Ali (a.s.) has said: “The people are asleep; when they die they will wake up

This topic will be further explained in other place; other sentences of this tradition too will be explained later

The verse points to the Jews' adverse attitude towards the truth: they were so steeped in falsehood that they concealed the foretellings of the Torah about the Prophet of Islam, and refused to believe in the Qur'an which verified that which they had in their hands. Commentary

Qur'an: And they followed what the satans chanted... The exegetes have disputed among themselves about each and every aspect of this verse; so much so that the resulting picture of the differences is almost unparalleled in the whole Qur'an. A list of :the differences is given below they followed ": Does the pronoun, "they", refer to the Jews of the Sulayman's time, "

?or to those at the time of the Prophet, or to all which may be translated as "chanted", (تَتْلُو) "chanted": The Arabic word is "tatlu" "recited", "told a lie about", "faked" or "followed and acted according to". In which sense the word

.is used here? Every meaning has some supporters satans”: Does it refer to the satans of jinn? Or to those among the human beings? Or“ ?to both against, on, about, upon). Does the = (عَلَى) ” about”: The Arabic participle is ” 'ala“ phrase mean, about the kingdom of Sulayman? Or, during the reign of Sulayman? Or, ?against his kingdom? Or, on his reign the satans disbelieved”: Some say, they disbelieved because they published the“ sorcery among the people. Others say, they disbelieved because they ascribed the sorcery to Sulayman. Still others say, the disbelief, as mentioned here, actually means .sorcery

they taught men sorcery”: It means they instructed them as a teacher instructs his“ students. No! it means that they buried the chants under Sulayman's chair, and then .directed the men to it who brought it out and learnt it which is a (مَا) ”and what was sent down”: The word translated here as “what” is “ma“ relative pronoun (“what”); also, it is a particle of negation (“not”). “And” is mostly used as a conjunctive; but not infrequently, it is also used to begin a new sentence. A group says that “ma” means “what”, and the conjunctive joins it to “what the satans .chanted” (the Jews followed what was sent down Another party is of the opinion that the conjunctive joins it to “sorcery” (the satans taught them sorcery and that which was sent down). A third group thinks that “ma” means “not”, and the word “and” begins a new sentence (And sorcery was .(not sent down to the two angels, contrary to what the Jews claimed

?sent down”: Was it sent down from the heavens? Or from the highlands“ the two angels”: They were the angels from the heaven. No! They were two good“ two angels); = (المَلَكَيْنِ) ”men, or men who feigned to be good. No! It is not “al-malakayn

. (two kings = المَلِكَيْنِ) ”it is “al-malikayn

Babylon”: It is the famous ancient city of Iraq. No! It is a city in Damawand (Iran);“
.Wrong! It is the land between Nasibayn (Turkey) and Ra'sul 'Ayn these two taught no one”: Teaching is used in its common meaning of instruction. No!“

.It means, these two apprised no one

?do not be a disbeliever”: By learning sorcery? Or, by practising it? Or, by both“ the men learned from these two”: The “two” refers to the two angels. No! It means,“ they learned from the two subjects, sorcery and disbelief. Wrong! They learned the .practice of sorcery, in place of the advice given by the angels that by which they might cause a separation between a man and his wife”: Some“ exegetes say that they caused love or hate between the couple with the help of their sorcery. Others think that they misled one of the spouses to disbelief and polytheism, and the apostasy caused the separation mentioned here. A third group say that they .created hatred and enmity between the couple with their calumny and slander

This, in short, gives a glimpse of the differences of opinions concerning the explanations of the words and clauses of the verse. There are still more differences about the event referred to – whether it narrates an actual happening or is just a parable; and so on and so forth. Compute the differences mentioned above and you will get nearly one million and two hundred sixty thousand possible explanations (۴ X ۳۹ X ۲۴

It seems an astounding quality of the Qur'an, that a verse that is subjected to so many divergent interpretations, still maintains its highest standard of eloquence; that in spite of all these vagaries of the exegetes, its meaning is not disjointed, nor its beauty marred

A similar treatment has been meted out to the verse

Is he then who has with him clear proof from his Lord, and a witness from him recites (it and before it (is) the Book of Musa, a guide and a mercy (۱۱):۱۷

However, it appears from the context that this verse deals with a hitherto unmentioned affair of the Jews, that is, their wide-spread use of sorcery. They based this practice on one or two stories, which were very popular among them

The Jews were addicted to making alterations and interpolations in, and omissions from, their Divine books, let alone the historical narrations. They used to change their books and records fitting them to the prevalent moods of their times. A story narrated by them was not to be relied upon. But this Qur'anic admonition is based on their own belief, because it was they who used to narrate

.these stories

The verse proves that the practice of sorcery was prevalent among the Jews, and that they ascribed it to Sulayman (a.s.). They presumed that Sulayman (a.s.) got the kingdom and subjugated the jinn, the human beings, the animals and the birds – all with the help of sorcery; and all the supernatural miraculous events related to him depended on witchcraft

And they claimed that some of the enchantments in their hands had come down to them from him. The remaining portion was attributed to the two angels at Babylon, named Harut and Marut

The Qur'an refutes the stories, saying that the prophet Sulayman (a.s.) never indulged in witchcraft and sorcery. How could he, when sorcery was nothing but disbelief in Allah? Sulayman (a.s.) could not be an unbeliever as he was a sinless, innocent prophet. All this is clearly seen from the words of Allah and Sulayman was not an unbeliever, but the satans disbelieved, they taught men“ sorcery”; “and certainly they knew that he who bought it should have no share (of good) in the hereafter”. Sulayman's position was too distinguished, his rank too high, and his name too sacred to be associated with disbelief and sorcery

He was the prophet whose outstanding position has been eulogized in several places in the chapters of Meccan period, long before this Chapter of the Cow was revealed. See, for example, the chapters of the Cattle (٩th), the Prophets (٢١st), the Ant (٢٧th) and Sad (٣٨th

You shall find therein that Sulayman (a.s.) was an excellent servant of Allah, a prophet and an apostle; Allah gave him the knowledge and the wisdom; and granted him a kingdom which was not fit for any one after him

Obviously, Sulayman could not indulge in sorcery; it was just a mythical story invented by the satans, which they dictated to their human friends; and it was the satans who disbelieved because they misguided the men by teaching them sorcery

:As for the story of the two angels at Babylon, the Qur'anic stand is as follows

The two angels, Harut and Maria, were certainly given some sorcery as a means of test and trial for the human beings – and no objection could be raised against that; after all, Allah has taught the human nature the ways of evil too in order that He may test them with it

Likewise, sorcery was sent down to the two angels; but they did not teach it to anyone until they had said to him: Surely we are only a trial, therefore do not become a disbeliever by using it for wrongful purposes; you must use it only to nullify the effect of witchcraft, to expose the viles of the sorcerers and things like that

But the men learned from them that by which they might destroy the domestic peace and turn the love between husband and wife – the best of the things ingrained in human nature – into hatred, causing a separation between them. Also they learned what harmed them and did not benefit them

The verse

:therefore may be explained as follows

And they (i.e., the Jews coming after the reign of Sulayman – every generation passing on the legacy to the later one) followed what the satans from among the jinn faked .and lied about the kingdom of Sulayman translated here as recited or chanted) actually has the connotation = (تَتْلُوْا) "Tatlu" = (عَلَى) of "lied about " or "faked about", because it is followed by the preposition " 'ala .on) which has changed its semantic value

Why do we say that the satans were from the jinn? The following two verses read :together provide the answer to this question

And of the satans there were those who dived for him and did other work beside that, ;(and We kept guard over them (٢١:٨٢ and when he fell down, the jinn came to know plainly that if they had known the .(unseen, they would not have tarried in abasing torment (٣٤:١٤

The first verse shows that the satans were reduced to subjection by Sulayman (a.s.) who kept them away from mischief by assigning to them very heavy task; and the .second verse refers to the same slavish group as the jinn

Qur'an: and Sulayman was not an unbeliever: "and" is used here in the meaning of "while". Sulayman did not indulge in sorcery; therefore, it was not he who disbelieved; rather it was the satans who disbelieved, because they misled the people by teaching .them sorcery

Qur'an: and what was sent down: The Jews followed that which was sent down – through inspiration – to the two angels at Babylon, Harut and Marut. Yet these two did not .teach any one any thing of the sorcery, without warning him not to practice it

They admonished every one who wanted to learn sorcery: Surely we are only a trial for you. What we teach you is but a means of test for you. Beware! Don't become an .unbeliever by practising sorcery

Qur'an: Even then men learned from these two: that is, from the two angels, Harut and Maria. “that by which they might cause a separation”, that is, the sorcery which .”caused separation “between a man and his wife

Qur'an: and they cannot hurt with it any one except with Allah's permission: It is a parenthetic sentence, to remove a possible misunderstanding: One could assume, on hearing that the sorcerers caused separation between a husband and his wife, that the sorcerers were powerful enough to disturb the divinely ordained arrangement of the world; that they could undo the Divine Decree and change the system created by Allah

This sentence clears the air and emphasizes the fact that sorcery draws its strength from the Divine Decree; it cannot affect any thing but with the permission of Allah.

.Therefore, the sorcerers act within the framework of the system designed by Allah

This sentence was placed where it is because only the preceding sentence (that by which they might cause a separation...) mentions the effect of sorcery. Therefore, it was explained that whatever effect it had was based on the permission

The following clause (and they learned what harmed them and did not profit them) is not concerned with this aspect of sorcery, and the above-mentioned clarifying .parenthetical sentence, if placed after it, would have looked out of place

Qur'an: and certainly they knew that he who bought it should have no share (of good) in the hereafter: They knew it because their reason and intellect told them that the sorcery was the most wicked source of disorder in the society. Also, they were made :aware of it by Musa (a.s.) when he had said

.(and the magician shall not be successful wheresoever he may come from (۲۰:۶۹

Qur'an: and vile was the price for which they sold their souls; had they but known (this): They knew that sorcery was bad for them and ruinous for their future abode; yet it was as though they did not know it – because they did not act according to their knowledge. If a knowledge fails to lead the knower to the straight path, then it is not .knowledge; it is ignorance

:Allah says

Have you then seen him who takes his low desire for his god, and Allah has made him .(err in spite of (his) knowledge... (۴۵:۲۳

Therefore, it was completely in order to wish for them know-ledge and guidance, .even if they had had the knowledge before

Qur'an: And if they had believed and guarded themselves.....: If they had followed the dictates of belief and piety, instead of following the satans' yarns and practising sorcery which is

.nothing short of disbelief, they would have got its reward from Allah

This verse indicates that the disbelief emanating from sorcery is a disbelief within the sphere of action, like that which results from withholding zakat; it is not a disbelief within the sphere of faith. Had the sorcery been a disbelief within the sphere of faith, Allah would have only said, “And if they believed”, with-out adding “and guarded .”(themselves (against evil

The Jews had believed, no doubt; but they did not guard themselves against evil and did not desist from the things forbidden by Allah; therefore, Allah did not attach any .importance, any value, to their belief, and they were called the disbelievers

Qur’an: reward from Allah would certainly have been better; had they but known (this): that is, better than the rewards and profits they seek through sorcery and .amass through disbelief

al Baqir (a.s.) said, inter alia, explaining the words of Allah, And they followed what the satans chanted (of sorcery) against the kingdom of Sulayman...: “When Sulayman died, Iblis invented sorcery and wrote it in a book; then folding it, wrote on its back: 'This is the valuable treasure of knowledge which Asif ibn Barkhiya produced for the king Sulayman ibn Dawud. Whoever wanted such and such thing, should do so and '.so

Then he buried it under his throne. Thereafter, he unearthed it for the Jews and recited it (before them). The disbelievers said: 'Sulayman had not gained supremacy :over us but because of this.' And the believers said

!Nay'

He was a servant of Allah and His prophet.' Thus Allah, Great is His remembrance! said: And they followed what the satans chanted (of sorcery) against the kingdom of Sulayman." (at-Tafsir, al-'Ayyashi, al-Qummi

The author says: This tradition says that it was the Satan, that is, Iblis, who invented sorcery and wrote and recited it. There is no discrepancy between this statement and the verse under discussion which ascribes these things to the satans from among the jinn

Even their deeds are ultimately attributed to the Iblis, because he is the source of all evil; it is he who instigates his friends to wickedness and evil. Such usage is common in the traditions

It appears from this tradition that the verb, "tatlu" in this verse is derived from "at to recite, to chant). It not in conflict with the interpretation given by "التِّلاوَةُ = tilawah us in the Commentary that it gives the meaning of "lied about" or "faked about"; because, as we said there, this connotation emerges from the preposition, " 'ala " which has changed its semantic value

The sentence, therefore, may be interpreted as follows: The satans chanted the sorcery, reciting it, and faking it, lying about the kingdom of Sulayman

) returns to waliya, yali, wilayatan (تَلَا، يَتْلُوا، تِلَاوَةٌ) Etymologically, tala, yatlu, tilawatan which has the semantic value of being near to, governing and following; (وَلِي، يَلِي، وِلَايَةٌ) one owns a thing gradually, one part following the other – reciting is called at-tilawah

.simply because in recitation one word follows the other

:A fuller discourse of this subject will be given under the verse

Verily, your guardian is only Allah and His Apostle and those who believe, those who .(establish prayer and pay zakat while they bow down (٥:٥٨ ar-Rida (a.s.) said, inter alia, in his discussion with al... Ma'mun: "And as for Harut and Marut, they were two angels; they taught sorcery to the people in order that they could protect themselves from the enchantments of the sorcerers, and could nullify their devices. And they did not teach any one any (enchantment) until they had said to :him

'Surely we are only a trial, therefore do not be a disbeliever'

But a group became disbelievers by practising what they were warned against; and they caused a separation between a man and his wife with their practice (of sorcery).
Allah has said: and they cannot hurt with it any one except with Allah's permission."

On Some Spurious Traditions

Ibn Jarir has narrated from Ibn "Abbas that he said: "When-ever Sulayman wanted to enter the toilet or to attend to some of his affairs, he gave his ring to al-Jaradah, his wife. When Allah decided to test Sulayman in the way He tested him, one day Sulayman gave his ring (as usual) to al-Jaradah. Then Satan came to her in the :likeness of Sulayman and said

'Give me my ring.' So he took it and put it on. As soon as he did so, the satans (from the' (jinn and the human beings came under his control. Then came Sulayman and said to her: 'Give me my ring.' She said: 'You are a liar; you are not Sulayman.' So Sulayman knew that it was a trial to .test him

The satans got a free hand, and wrote, in those very days, some books containing enchantments and disbelief, and buried them under the chair of Sulayman. .Thereafter they unearthed them and recited them before the people

And they said: 'It was because of these books that Sulayman dominated over the people.' Thus the people avoided Sulayman and accused him of disbelief. (It continued) until Allah sent Muhammad (S) and revealed to him: and Sulayman was not (an unbeliever, but the satans disbelieved." (ad-Durru 'l)-manthur

The author says: This story is found in other traditions too. It is a long story forming a part of a multitude purporting to show the supposed sins and mistakes of the .prophets

Said ibn Jarir and al-Khatib (in his at-Tarikh) have quoted Nafi' as saying: "I went on a journey with Ibn 'Umar. When the night was coming to its end, he said: 'O Nafi'! Look at the red star(۱), has it risen?' Twice or thrice I said: 'No.' Then I said: 'It has risen.' He said: 'No welcome to it!' I said: 'Praise the Lord! (It is but) a star, subjugated, obedient '(and) submissive

He said: 'I have not told you except that which I heard the Apostle of Allah (S) saying. He said: "The angels (once) said: 'O Lord! How doest Thou

The red star refers to the Mars, but as will be seen later, Ibn 'Umar is supposed to -۱ talk about the Venus. Obviously, the man who forged this "tradition" did not know the (.difference between the Mars and the Venus. (tr

:bear with the mistakes and sins of the children of Adam?' (Allah) said

I have put them to trial and given them some dispensation.' They said: 'If we were in their place, we would not have disobeyed Thee.' He said: 'Then select (for trial) two 'angels from among yourselves

They spared no effort in the selection and (finally) selected Harut and Marut. They came down (to the earth); and Allah created in them the lust." (At this juncture, Nafi' said: 'And what is lust?' He said: 'Sexual urge.')

"Then there came a woman, az-Zuhrah (i.e., Venus) by name, and both felt attracted towards her, each concealing his feeling
.from his companion

Then one of them asked the other: 'Do you feel in your heart what I do in mine?' The other said: 'Yes!' Thereupon, they asked her for themselves. She said: 'I will not give you power (over myself) until you teach me the name by which you ascend to, and descend from, the heaven.' They refused to do so. Then they asked her again; and (again she refused. At last they did (teach her the name

When she flew (to the heaven), Allah effaced her into a star and cut her wings. Then the (two angels) sought pardon from Allah; and He gave them an option, saying: 'If it is your wish, I shall let you return to the position you held before, and then you shall .be punished on the Day of Resurrection

Or, if you wish, I shall chastise you in this world, and when the Day of Resurrection comes you shall be reinstated to your previously held position.' So one of them said to the other: 'The punishment of this world will come to an end and will be short-lived

Therefore, they opted for this world's chastisement against the punishment of the next world. And Allah revealed to them to go to Babylon. They went there and the earth swallowed them up; they are hanging upside-down between the heaven and the earth, undergoing punishment up to the Day of Resurrection." ' ' (ad-Durru 'l-manthur

The author says: Something like this has been narrated in some Shi'ah books too from al-Baqir (a.s.). as-Suyuti, the Sunni traditionalist, has narrated more than twenty traditions of the same theme about Harut, Marut and the Venus; some of those traditions have been confirmed as having "correct" chains of narrators; and the chains end on various companions, like Ibn 'Abbas, Ibn Mas'ud, 'Ali, Abud-Darda', 'Umar, 'A'ishah and Ibn 'Umar

These are fictitious stories, which collectively ascribe to the angels of Allah the worst type of polytheism and the most heinous sins, that is, idol-worship, murder, fornication and liquor-drinking. Could the angels indulge in such sins, when they are known to be the honoured servants of Allah who are purified from all sins and mistakes

And they accuse the planet Venus to be a woman of loose character, who was transformed into a luminary body - have you ever heard of such a punishment!! - while it is known to be a heavenly body, free from any defect in its creation or any flaw in its system; a planet

:by which Allah swears in the Qur'an

.(But nay! I swear by the stars that run their course (and) hide themselves... (۸۱:۱۵-۱۶)

Moreover, the astronomy has today unveiled its reality, and found out in detail the elements it is made of, as well as their quantity and combination – in short all matters .related to it

This story, like that given earlier (about Sulayman and his ring), is in complete agreement with the legends popular among the Jews. They remind one of the Greek .mythology related to the stars and the planets

A discerning reader will agree that these traditions, like those slandering and defaming the prophets and apostles, are but a few samples of the intrigues and .machinations of the Jews

Their prevalence in the Muslims' books of traditions is a living proof of the hold they held on the Muslims' minds in the early days of Islam. The Jews toyed with the Muslim traditions in any way they liked; and the Muslim traditionalists were their willing .partners in these interpolations

But Allah has kept His Book under His Own protection. The enemies of truth cannot play with it. Whenever one of their satans tries to steal a hearing he is chased away
:by a visible flame. Allah has said

Surely We have revealed the Reminder and We will most certainly be its guardian and most surely it is a Mighty Book: Falsehood shall not come to it from
;((۱۵:۹

; (before it nor from behind it; a revelation from the Wise, the Praised One (٤١:٤١) – ٤٢

And We reveal of the Qur'an that which is a healing and mercy to the believers, and it .(adds only to the perdition of the unjust (١٧:٨٢

The promise given in these verses is unconditional. Every interpolation, every alteration is repulsed by the Qur'an. The Book of Allah unmasks the true face of the :interpolators, adding to their perdition. Also, the Apostle of Allah (S) has said

Whatever is in conformity with the Book of Allah, take it; and whatever is against it, “ leave it.” The ummah has been given this frame of reference; it is this yardstick with which all the traditions attributed to the Prophet and his Ahlu 'l-bayt are to be .measured

:The Qur'an removes every falsehood and exposes every deception. Allah says

Nay! We cast the truth against falsehood, so that it breaks its head, and lo! it vanishes and Allah desired to manifest the truth of what was true by His words... that He may manifest the truth of what was true and show the falsehood of what was false, even .(though the guilty ones disliked (٨:٧-٨
;(٢١:١٨

Allah confirms the truth and erases the falsehood by showing the true faces of both

Some people, and especially those with materialistic out-look, who are overawed by the western civilization, have used the above-mentioned historical fact as a pretext to .throw away all the traditions attributed to the Prophet

They looked at some traditionalists and al-Haruriyyah and found that they accepted every tradition – without any scrutiny whatsoever. They reacted to it by going to the other extreme and rejecting every tradition – without any scrutiny whatsoever.

It needs not much intelligence to realize that the total acceptance of the traditions is as bad as its total rejection.

Its unconditional acceptance nullifies the standard laid down for the purpose of differentiating between the truth and the falsehood; and encourages one to ascribe lies to the Prophet. Likewise, its indiscriminate rejection casts aside the said standard and leads one to the rejection of the Book of Allah itself – the Mighty Book that falsehood does not come to it from before it nor from behind it.

Allah has said in this Book: and whatever the Apostle gives you, take it; and from ;(whatever he forbids you, keep back (۵۹:۷

And We did not send any apostle but that he should be obeyed by Allah's permission .((۴:۶۴

If the sayings of the Prophet had no authority, or if his words – reported to his contemporaries who were absent from his gathering or to the generations coming after his time – had no validity then nothing of the religion could survive at all.

Man by his instinct relies and accepts the reports brought by others – he cannot survive without it. As for the alterations and interpolations, it is not a disease peculiar to the traditions of the Prophet.

The society depends on the reported news and information; and the motives to tell lies, to make changes and alterations to suit one's purpose, to twist the words and to quote them out of context, are much .more stronger in the case of the worldly affairs

So, what do we do? Do we reject all reports and information? No! We scrutinize every report with the help of some well-established and relevant standard; what passes the test, is accepted as truth; and that which fails is thrown aside as falsehood; and if no clear result emerges from the test, if we are unable to decide whether the report was .true or not, we reserve our judgment – as our nature tells us to do in such cases

The above procedure is applied regarding the subjects we have some expertise about. As for a subject outside our specialty, the common practice is to refer it to the .specialists in that field and accept their judgment

This is, in short, the dictate of human nature for the smooth running of the society. The self same system is adhered to in religion for distinguishing truth from falsehood. The litmus-paper of this test is the Book of Allah – if a tradition conforms to it, its truth is confirmed; if it clearly goes against it, its falsehood is known; and if no definite
.stand may be taken because of some ambiguities, then the judgment is reserved

This system has been explained in the mutawatir traditions of the Prophet and the Imams (of the Ahlu 'l-bayt – a.s.). It applies to all the traditions that are not concerned with jurisprudence; as for those dealing with the law and jurisprudence, they are governed by the Principles .of Jurisprudence

A Philosophical Discourse on Sorcery and Witchcraft

It is a common knowledge that many unusual events do take place which are outside the frame of the established natural system. It is difficult to find someone who has not .seen, or heard about, some abnormal or seemingly supernatural events

But we find after scrutiny that most of them are not enigmatic and mysterious at all; rather they arise from normal and natural causes. Often they result from practice and training, for example, eating poison, lifting heavy load, walking or dancing on tight-
.rope etc

Some are based on natural causes that are not known to the general public, for example, a man walks into flaming fire without coming to any harm, (he applies some chemicals like talc to his body); or sends a sheet of blank paper and the addressee
.understands the message it contains

He writes with an invisible ink which becomes visible if heated by fire or treated with) some chemicals.) A third set depends on the sleight of hand like jugglery. All these seemingly abnormal feats actually emanate from the normal causes, although the causes remain hidden from a common man's eyes; they may even be beyond his .ability

Yet there are other strange happenings that cannot be attributed to any normal physical cause. For example, giving information of the unseen, and particularly foretelling the future events; the charms for love and hate, the spells harmfully or beneficially affecting man's virility; hypnotism; mesmerism; spiritualism; telekinesis

.and so on

It is known that such events do take place from time to time; we have seen some demonstrations ourselves; and similar reports were brought to us by reliable sources. Today there are many people in India, Iran and the western countries, who .demonstrate such extraordinary feats – and their authenticity is beyond doubt

It appears from close investigation of their methods and regimen that these feats spring from the will–power of the doer, and from his unshakable confidence in effectiveness of his work. The will–power emanates from the confidence, which in its .turn arises from the knowledge

Sometimes the will acts independently and sometimes it needs some help: for example, writing a certain charm with a certain ink in a certain place at a certain time (for the amulets of love or hate); or fixing a mirror before a certain child (in the seances of spiritualism); or chanting a certain incantation a certain number of times, and so on and so forth. When the conditions are fulfilled the will is strengthened to .bring the desired effect into being

When the knowledge becomes one with the knower, it influences his senses to such an extent that he sees the end product, that is, the desired effect, with his eyes. You may verify this statement yourself. Just tell yourself that a certain person is present before you and that you are looking at him; then put your imagination to work to bring his form before your eyes; this should be raised to such .a high level of certainty that you become oblivious of all contrary thoughts and ideas And then you will actually see him standing before you – as you had imagined. Many is a doctor who, acting on this principle, restored to health his incurable patients – simply .by creating in them the confidence that they would soon get their health back Taking this principle a step further, if someone's will-power is extraordinarily strong, it might create an impression on other's psyche too – as it had created on his own self in the foregoing example. That impression might, or might not, depend on fulfillment of .some conditions, as indicated earlier

:From the above discourse, we may deduce the following three principles

First: The appearance of such extraordinary events depends on the firm “knowledge” and strong conviction of the doer. But it is irrelevant whether that “knowledge” is true to the fact or not. That explains why the conjurations of the priests of the sun-god and the moon-goddess etc. seemed to work – although they believed that the heavenly .bodies had souls, which they claimed to bring under their control by their magic

Probably the same applies to the angels and satans whose names are “discovered” and invoked by many practitioners of the magic art. The same is true for spiritualism and its séance and spirit communication – and the spiritualists' belief that the spirits
.attend their sittings

Utmost that may be claimed regarding those sessions, is that the spirit appears in their imagination or, let us say, before their senses – and this “perception” emanates from their firm belief in their art. But it can never be said that the spirit actually presents itself at those sittings – otherwise all the participants in the sitting should have perceived its presence, .because everyone of them has the same senses as the medium has

By accepting this principle, we may solve many problems related to the séance and :spirit communication. For example

Sometimes the spirit of a living man is called to present itself at a séance, and – 1 supposedly it comes there. But at that very moment, that man is busy attending to his affairs, and he never feels his spirit leaving him even for an instant. The question is: As a man has only one spirit, how was it possible that his spirit presented itself to that ?séance without his being aware of it

The spirit is an immaterial essence which has no relation whatsoever with space – 2 ?and time. How can it present itself at a certain place at a certain time

Why is it that often a single spirit appears before different mediums in different – 3 ?forms

Why is it that sometimes when the spirits are called to a séance, they tell lies and – 4 give wrong answers? And why do the various spirits sometimes contradict each ?other

All these problems will be solved if the principle is accepted that it is not any spirit that presents itself to the séance; it is only the firm belief and conviction of the spiritualist and his medium that is at work, making the medium see, hear and feel the spirit. It is all a play of his imagination and will; and

.nothing more

Second: Some of the people, holding the strong and effective will-power, rely on their own power and their own being, in bringing about the desired effect, the intended super-natural events. Such events are bound to be limited in strength, confined in .their scope – in their own imagination as well as in reality

On the other side, there are some persons, like the prophets and the friends of Allah who, in spite of their most effective will-power, totally rely on their Lord. They truly
.worship Him and have full trust in Him

They do not wish any thing but from their Lord, and by His permission. Theirs is a pure and clear will, untainted by any personal feeling of their own. It does not depend except on Allah. This is a Divine Will – not limited in any way, nor restricted in any .manner

The super-natural events that are brought into being by the first group may be of many kinds: If they are based on enquiry of, or help from, a jinn or a spirit etc., then it divination, sooth-saying, fortune-telling); and if it = (أَلِكْ هَيَّانَ هَمْ) is called “al-kihanah comes about by means of a charm, amulet, telesm or other such instruments or
.portions, then it is called magic

The super-natural events shown by the prophets and friends of Allah are also of many kinds: If it is produced as a challenge, in order to prove the truth of the claim of prophethood, then it is called miracle; and if it is not which literally means (أَلَكِـرَامَةُ) offered as a challenge, then it is named “al-karamah nobility, mark of honour; and in Islamic terminology is used for a miraculous event shown without a challenge; and if it happens as a result of the prayer to Allah, then it .is called, “answer to the prayer

Third: As the whole thing depends on the will-power of the doer, its strength varies according to the strength (or weakness) of the will. That is why some of them may .nullify the others, as, for example, the miracle annihilates the sorcery

Also, a weak agent fails to impose his will on a stronger psyche, as is often seen at the .sessions of mesmerism, hypnotism and seances

.We shall further explain this subject somewhere else

An Academic Description of Various Kinds of Magic

There are many fields of study dealing with various awe-striking feats and extraordinary deeds; and it is very difficult to classify them so as not to leave any thing out. However, we give here a list of the more commonly used branches of this :art as-Simiya': It deals with the ways of combining the will-power with particular physical and material forces for manipulating the natural order and, thus, producing extraordinary effects. Under this head comes the manipulation of thought, also .known as the eye-enchantment

It is the most deserving candidate for .the title of magic al-Limiya': It teaches how one may establish a connection between his psyche and the higher and stronger spirits, in order that one may bring them under one's control, for example, the spirits of the stars, or the jinn, etc. It is also called the knowledge of subjugation of the spirits al-Himiya': It explains how the powers of the higher spiritual world may be combined with the base elements of this world to produce awe-inspiring effects. It is also called talisman. The stars and their configuration have some relation to the material happenings of this world, in the same way as the elements and compounds and their physical qualities affect those phenomena

Supposedly if the heavenly forms, pertaining to a certain event, for example, A's life or B's death, could be combined with the relevant material forms, the desired effect would take place without fail ar-Rimiya': It trains one how to control and manipulate the qualities of various things,) "to produce seemingly super-natural effects. It is also called "ash-Sha'badhah (الشَّعْبَدَهْ) = (sleight of hand, jugglery, magic

"These four fields of knowledge, together with the fifth, called "al-Kimiya alchemy, the forerunner of chemistry, primarily the attempt to transmute base metals into gold or silver) formed what the ancients called the five secrets, mysterious branches of knowledge

Ash-Shaykh al-Baha'i has said: "The best book written on these subjects was the one I saw in Harat, 'Kulah-e sar' (the head's cap) by name. Its name was an acronym, made of the first letters of the five subjects, that is, al-Kimiya', al Limiya', al-Himiya', as-Simiya' and ar-Rimiya'.

The standard books of these subjects are the epitome of the books of Minds, Rasa'il, al-Khusraw Shahi, adh-Dhakhirah, al-Iskandariyyah, as-Sirru 'l-maktum (by ar-Razi), at-Taskhirat (by as-Sakkaki) and A'malu 'l-kawakib as-Sab'ah (by al-Hakim Tamtam). (al-Hindi)

Supplementary to the above are the following subjects

The knowledge of numbers (numerology): It shows the relation of numbers and letters with the desired effect. The relevant letters or numbers are filled in a magic square or triangle etc. in a particular sequence the hidden knowledge): It breaks down the name of the = (الْخَفِيَّاتُ) al-Khafiyah desired effect or other relevant names, and finds out the names of the angels or the satans managing the said effect; and then composes the invocations made of those names.

The books written by ash-Shaykh Abul-'Abbas al-Buni and as-Sayyid Husayn al-Akhlati are the standard works of the above two subjects

Then there are various modern arts covering this field, which have gained wide currency nowadays; for example, mesmerism, hypnotism and spirit communication. As described earlier, these are based on the impression created on the imagination by the will-power. There are numerous well-known books and magazines dealing with these subjects

We have given all this detail here, so that it may be ascertained which of them could be classified as magic or sorcery theists, that any good should be sent down to you from your Lord; and Allah chooses

Commentary

Qur'an: O you who believe!: It is the first place in the Qur'an where the believers have been addressed in this way, “O you who believe!” This mode of address has been used (in some eighty-five places in the Qur'an. (1) Addressing the believers as “O you who believe!”, or describing them as “those who believe”, is a special distinction accorded to this ummah. Otherwise, the previous nations are variously described as “the people” (e.g., “the People of Nuh, and, “the People of Hud”; 'He said: 'O my people! have you considered if I have a clear proof from my Lord... ' ” [١١: ٨٨]); and “the dwellers” (e.g., “the dwellers of Madyan”, “the dwellers of the Rass”); and “the children” (e.g., “the Children of Israel”, "O Children of Israel!"). The epithet, “those who believe”, is, therefore, a mark of honour awarded to the believers of this ummah

It appears from deep meditation of the Qur'an that the import of the words, “those who believe”, is somewhat different

Eighty-eight, to be exact. Vide al-Mu'jam al-Mufahras, (by Muhammad Fu'ad 'Abdul -١ (.١-Baqi). (tr

:from that of the words, “the believers”. (For an example of the latter, see the verse

.([and turn to Allah all of you, O believers! [۲۴:۳۱

:Allah says in the Qur'an

Those who bear the throne and those around it celebrate the praise of their Lord and believe in Him and ask forgiveness for those who believe: “Our Lord! Thou embracest all things in mercy and knowledge, therefore grant forgiveness to those who turn (to Thee) and follow Thy way, and save them from the punishment of the hell. Our Lord! and make them enter the gardens of perpetuity which Thou hast promised to them and those who do good of their fathers and their wives and their offsprings, surely .(Thou are the Mighty, the Wise” (۴۰:۷-۸

It shows that the angels and the bearers of the throne ask forgiveness for “those who believe”; then the same group has been referred to as “those who turn (to Thee) and follow Thy way”. (“turn” actually means, return.) The prayer continues to “make them (i.e., those who believe) enter the garden” and then joins to them the doers of good
”.from among “their fathers and their wives and their offspring

If the epithet, “those who believe”, were to include all those who believed in the Apostle of Allah (S) irrespective of the quality of their belief, then it would have covered their fathers, wives and children as well (who do good); and there would have been no need to mention them separately; all would have equally benefited from .the prayer for those who believe

:Also, have a look at the verse

And (as for) those who believe and their offspring follow them in faith, We will unite with them their offspring and We will not diminish to them aught of their work; every :(man is responsible for what he has wrought (٥٢:٢١)

If the offspring who followed them in faith, were included in the epithet, “those who believe”, there would be no sense in saying that the offspring would be united with .them

Even if we were to say that the verse refers to the generation after generation of the believers, that every succeeding generation will be united to the preceding one (provided both believed in the Apostle of Allah – S), the meaning would not seem very ?”proper in the context. If that were the import of the verse, then why this “uniting

Also, what purpose would be served by the sentence, “and We will not diminish to them aught of their work”? Such an interpretation may prove correct for one generation only, that is, the last one before the Day of Resurrection – that they would be united with the preceding generation. But nobody has suggested this meaning as it goes clearly against the context. What such an interpretation would boil down to is as :follows

All the believers are united, one of them being from another; all of them are of one rank; none has any excellence over the others; nor has an earlier believer any
;superiority over the later ones

.their main qualification is the true belief, and all of them are equal in it

Such a meaning would not fit the wording of the verse which clearly shows that the preceding believers have a sort of superiority over their offspring, who would be .raised to the rank of their progenitor as a token of honour to the latter

The phrase, “and their offspring follow them in faith”, proves that the preceding word, “those who believe” refers to a particular group of the believers – the foremost and the first of the Emigrants and the Helpers who followed the Apostle in the hour of straitness. The epithet, those who believe, is a title of honour bestowed on that .distinguished group

:Other two verses too point to this fact

It is) for the poor who fled... and those who made their abode in the city and in the) faith before them... and those who came after them say: “Our Lord! forgive us and those of our brethren who had precedence of us in faith, and do not create any spite in our hearts towards those who believe; our Lord! surely Thou art Kind, Merciful” .((۵۹:۸-۱۰

This verse uses two phrases, “who had precedence of us in faith”, and “those who believe”. If the import of both were the same, a pronoun would have looked better in place of the second phrase. By not using a pronoun, Allah has made it clear that each .phrase has its own significance

Muhammad is the Apostle of Allah; and those with him are severe against the unbelievers, compassionate among themselves, you will see them bowing down, prostrating themselves, seeking grace from Allah and pleasure;... Allah has promised those among them who believe and do good, (forgiveness and a great reward (۴۸:۲۹

All this shows that the phrase, “those who believe”, is a title of honour, reserved for the first and foremost of the believers. Most probably, the opposite phrase, “those who disbelieve”, has the contrasting significance, and refers to the polytheists of Mecca and others who were the first and foremost of those who disbelieved in the ,Apostle of Allah (S). For example

Surely those who disbelieve alike is to them whether you warn them or do not warn (them, they will not believe. (۲:۶

Objection: This interpretation means that when the Qur'an says, “O you who believe!”, it addresses a special group that was present in the Prophet's time, to the exclusion of all other believers. But all the Muslims agree that such verses are general in their import and that what is said therein applies to all the believers, whether they were present in the Prophet's days or not; and that this mode of address includes all the .believers – in reality, not metaphorically

Reply: Yes! It is a title of honour, reserved for a selected few. But it does not mean that what is said in those verses is in any way restricted to those few. Whatever order or prohibition is given in such verses is general and applies to all the believers. The matter of legislation – whether a given order is general or exclusive – is quite different from that of a speech – whether it is addressed to all the believers .or to a few of them

Also, it makes no difference whether a verse ordaining a law is addressed to the believers (O you who believe!) or to the Prophet in person (O Prophet!; O Apostle!), or .is revealed without any address at all

The ordained law in all these cases is applicable to all the Muslims, and covers all the believers; although the verse may be addressed to the Prophet or to those who .believe as a mark of respect to him or them

Nevertheless, one should not indiscriminately interpret the phrase, “O you who believe!” and “those who believe”, as referring to the first and foremost believers of the Prophet's time; rather one should look at the context, before deciding the true .connotation of these phrases in a given verse

:For example, look at the verse

Surely (as for) those who believe then disbelieve, again believe and disbelieve, then increase in disbelief, Allah will not forgive them nor guide them in the (right) path ;((٤):١٣٧

:and the verse which quotes Nuh (a. s.) as saying and I am not going to drive away those who believe; surely they shall meet their Lord .((١):١٢٩

Obviously, the phrase, those who believe, used in the above verses cannot refer to .the above-mentioned group

Qur'an: do not say, “Have regard for us”, and say, “Wait for us”; and listen: That is, use the phrase, Wait for us, instead of saying, Have regard for us. And if you failed to comply with this command, it would be tantamount to disbelief, and for the disbelievers there is a painful chastisement. It is a very strong admonition against (Have regard for us = (رَاعِنَا)) saying, “ra'ina

This phrase has also been mentioned in another verse, which gives an indication of its :connotation

Of those who are Jews (there are those who) alter words from their places and say: “We have heard and we disobey”; and: “Hear, may you not be made to hear!” and .”ra'ina”, distorting (the word) with their tongues and taunting about religion (٤:٤٦ Obviously, the Jews used the phrase, “Ra'ina” for something similar to the phrase, “Hear, may you not be made to hear!” And that is why such a mode of addressing the Prophet was prohibited. This explanation agrees with what the tradition says: When (the Prophet talked with the Muslims, they used to tell him: “Ra'ina (have regard for us O Apostle of Allah!” – that is, wait for us, so that we may properly understand what you (are saying. (1

But this word carried a connotation of abuse in the Jews' language. The Jews seized upon this opportunity, addressing the Prophet with this phrase, pretending to show respect to him while their intention was nothing short of abuse. And in their usage it .”meant, “Hear, may you not be made to hear

:Thereupon, Allah revealed

Of those who are Jews (there

It is more or less equivalent to the English idiom “I beg your pardon”. But with a – ١ (slight change of accent it may come to mean, stupid or cattle tenderer. (tr are those who) alter words from their places and say: “We have heard and we disobey”; and: “Hear, may you not be made to hear!” and: “ra'ina ”, distorting (the word) with their tongues and taunting about religion; and if they had said (instead): “We have heard and we obey”, and “hearken”, and “onzurna” (wait for us), it would . (have been better for them and more upright (۴:۴۶

The believers too were told not to use this phrase and say instead, “onzurna ”; the . 'Qur'an guided them: “do not say, 'Have regard for us', and say, 'Wait for us

Qur'an: and for the unbelievers there is a painful chastisement: that is, for those who disobey this rule. It is one of the occasions when disobedience of a law of religion has .been termed as disbelief

Qur'an: Those who disbelieve from among the People of the Book...: Obviously, the phrase, “the People of the Book”, refers here exclusively to the Jews, because the preceding verses too dealt with them. If so, then the phrase would serve as a pointer to the cause why they did not like that any good should be sent down to the believers
.from their Lord

The Jews were given a Book before and they were not happy when the Qur'an was sent down to the Muslims, as it deprived them of their distinction as being the People of the Book. They showed avarice about a thing they did not own; they wanted to stand against Allah when He bestowed

His mercy and grace on His servants; “and Allah chooses especially whom He pleases
.”for His mercy; and Allah is the Lord of mighty grace

On the other hand the phrase, as used in this verse, may include all the People of the Book – the Jews and the Christians both. If so, then the verse would serve to widen the scope of the admonition; it would be a generalization after exclusiveness. Both groups shared many characteristics – and especially their enmity to Islam. Some :verses coming afterwards strengthen this interpretation. For example

And they say: “None shall enter the garden except he who is a Jew or a Christian”
;((٢:١١١

And the Jews say, ”The Christians do not follow anything (good)”, and the Christians (say, ”The Jews do not follow any-thing (good)”... (٢:١١٣

Traditions

Abu Nu'aym has narrated in Hilyatu 'l-awliya' from Ibn 'Abbas that he said: “The Apostle of Allah (S) said: 'Allah has not revealed any verse (beginning) with, “O you (who believe!” but that 'Ali is its head and leader.' ” (ad-Durru 'l-manthur

The author says: This tradition supports what we shall be quoting in various places :that a certain verse was revealed about 'Ali (a.s.) or Ahlu 'l-bayt; for example

; (You are the best of the nations raised for (the benefit of) men (٣:١١٠

; (that you may be witnesses over the people... (٢:١٤٣ ...

.(and be with the true ones (٩:١١٩ ...

Do you not know that Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth, and that (besides Allah you have no guardian or helper? (١٠٧)

Commentary

The verses deal with the subject of abrogation. The word, abrogation, when used as a term of Islamic fiqh, means as follows: To show that the time of an order has come to its end; that it is no more valid, is no longer in force. This definition is based on the above verse; and is one of the manifestations of its connotations is removal, to remove, to ^{سَخَّ} (النَّـسَخُ) ”Qur’an: Whatever signs We abrogate...: “an-Naskh the sun = (نَسَخَتِ الشَّمْسُ الظِّلَّ) annul. The Arabs say: Nasakhati 'sh-shamsu 'z-zilla :removed the shadow). Allah says

And We did not send before you any apostle or prophet, but when he desired, the Satan made a suggestion respecting his desire; but Allah annuls that which the Satan (casts, then does Allah establish His signs; and Allah is Knowing, Wise (٢٢:٥٢)

I copied the book); it is as though the = (نَسَخْتُ الْكِتَابَ) Also, they say: Nasakhtu 'l-kitab writing was removed and its place changed. That is why another verse uses the word to change) in place of = (التَّبْدِيلُ) “at-tabdil

And when We change (one) sign for (another) sign, and Allah knows best what He (reveals, they say: “You are a forger”. Nay, most of them do not know (١٦:١٠١)

Abrogation, however, does not entail obliteration of a verse, turning it into a non-being. Its only effect is the cancellation of the order which the verse had promulgated. It should be noted that the Qur'anic verse has been described as a “sign”, that is, a .mark that points to another thing – a verse is a sign pointing to a Divine Command

The second verse, “Do you not know that Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and .the earth...”, gives the reason as to why Allah abrogates some Qur' anic verses

All these factors indicate that abrogation removes a verse as far as its quality as a sign, as a symbol, is concerned. When abrogated, the verse remains in existence as before, but loses its quality as a sign – no longer does it point to an order, as the order .is now cancelled

The next phrase, “or cause to be forgotten”, clearly supports the foregoing is to make one forget, to erase out of memory, to (الإنْسَاءُ) 'explanation. “al-Insa eradicate from knowledge. By putting the two phrases side by side, the Qur'an makes it clear that abrogation entails erasure of a verse's effect, while “al-insa'” causes .eradication of the verse itself from the memory

Symbolism – the quality of being a sign of something – varies with various signs having various aspects and directions. The Qur'anic verses are the signs of Allah because the jinn and the men are jointly and severally unable to bring its like; the rules ordained by Allah are His signs inasmuch as they create piety in man and bring him nearer to his Lord; every created thing is His sign, because it, by its existence, proves the existence of its Creator, and by the qualities of its being, leads to His attributes and names; the prophets and the friends of Allah are His signs inasmuch as they, with their words and deeds, call the humanity to Allah, and so on and so forth. Consequently, a sign may be :great or small, strong or weak; that is why Allah says

.(Certainly he saw of the greatest signs of his Lord (۵۳:۱۸)

Also, a sign may contain only one aspect of symbolism, and another may comprise of various such aspects. The former, when abrogated, is obliterated in its entirety, is completely destroyed. But in the case of the latter, it is possible to abrogate only one aspect of its symbolism, leaving the other ones intact; for example, a Qur'anic verse could be abrogated as far as its law was concerned, and yet continue as a Divine Sign
.because of its eloquence and miraculous qualities

This generalized meaning of abrogation has been inferred from the reasoning given in the second verse: “Do you not know that Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth...” There are only two objections possible against the factuality of abrogation; or, as the reports say, these were the .two arguments advanced by the Jews against it

First: A sign given by Allah contains an actual benefit which cannot be obtained from any other thing. If that sign is abrogated, its inherent benefit would be lost; nothing could take its place to preserve that benefit. Allah is not like His creatures, nor is His knowledge like theirs. His knowledge does not change with the changes in external
.factors

It is not that one day He knew one thing and issued an order according to that knowledge; then next day the knowledge changed and He became aware of another factor which He did not know before, and therefore He had to cancel the previous
.order, replacing it with a fresh one

Such inconsistency is not worthy of Divine Sublimity. Of course, it is all right for us mortals, because we cannot comprehend all the aspects of an affair; and as a result of this incomplete knowledge, our decisions are frequently changed and amended. But we should not compare Divine Knowledge without limited and defective .perception

Here it is necessary to point out that such an objection arises from a notion that the power of Allah is neither comprehensive and all-encompassing nor unrestricted and
.unconditional

Second: Accepted that the Divine Power is all-encompassing and limitless. But once a thing is created it goes beyond the sphere of that power, and cannot be changed.
Even in our case, we have power to do or not to do a certain work – so long as we have not done it; but once we have done it,

.it becomes an essential being, and goes beyond the limits of our power

This argument is based on the rejection of the all-encompassing ownership of Allah; it presupposes that once Allah has managed a certain affair in a certain way, He cannot :change that arrangement in another way. This Jewish belief is portrayed in the verse

.(And the Jews say: “The hand of Allah is tied up” (٥:٦٤

Allah replies to the first objection with the question: “Do you not know that Allah has power over all things?” He certainly has power over all things. Therefore, He may .replace a sign with an equally good or even a better sign

The second objection is dealt with by the next question: “Do you not know that Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth, and that besides Allah you have no
”?guardian or helper

Allah is the Owner of the heavens and the earth; He can do whatever He likes with His property. No one besides Him owns any thing; otherwise, that owner could interfere
.in the management of Allah or put restriction on His authority and control

None else owns any thing – neither in his own rights nor even when Allah gives to him a partial ownership. When we transfer the ownership of a property to another person, the transferee gets all the rights which we had in that property, and

.our rights are rendered null and void

But when Allah gives a property into someone's possession, Allah's ownership of the property is not disturbed in any way – it does not come to an end, is not even diminished. He continues to be the real Owner and Controller of the property which He has given to others. His is the unrestricted ownership and unconditional .management

If we look at what He has put under our ownership – with-out our having any independent authority over it – then He is our Guardian. And if we look at the apparent independenceenjoyed by us, with His grace – although it is a poverty in the shape of plenty, a dependence disguised as independence – then too we cannot manage our .affairs without His help; and He is our Helper

The above explanation is based on the sequence and style of the two verses. First, there is the exclusivity of the declaration: “Allah's is the kingdom...” Then there is the ?sequence: “Do you not know that Allah has power over all things

Do you not know that Allah's is the kingdom of the heavens and the earth...?” The two sentences have not been joined with any conjunctive, a sure indication that each is independent of the other, and that the first sentence deals with one objection and the .second with another

The last sentence, “and that besides Allah you have no guardian or helper”, gives a finishing touch to the above replies: Even if you are oblivious of Allah's all-encompassing power and ownership, and are looking at this nominal ownership of yours, you will know that it is not a permanent or independent ownership; you cannot manage it independently; you need a guardian to look after your interests – and Allah is that guardian. He can and does manage your affairs and your property as He likes

On the other hand, if your eyes are so fixed on this possession as to make you forget your dependence; if you think that you are the independent and absolute owner of your property, even then you will have to admit that you cannot manage your own affairs, cannot obtain the results you want, without the help and assistance of a super power

And Allah is your real Helper; it is He who manages your affairs and your property for you. From whatever angle you look at this matter, Allah's power over all things and His ownership of every thing remain unchallenged and undisputed. “and that besides Allah you have no guardian or helper”: Apparently it should have been 'besides Him

Then why did the Qur'an use the noun instead of the pronoun? It was to indicate that the foregoing sentences contain the complete replies, and this sentence is not their integral part; rather it is an independent declaration to strengthen those replies

:This discourse leads us to the following conclusions

First: Abrogation is not a thing confined to only the religious laws; it holds its place in the sphere of creation too

Second: Abrogation cannot take place without two sides: (i) The abrogated thing or verse, (ii) the abrogative, that is, the thing or verse that abrogates

Third: The abrogative contains all the benefits and the perfection that was found in the abrogated thing

Fourth: Although the abrogative differs from the abrogated in its form, both have one thing in common – the perfection and the benefit. When a prophet dies and another is sent in his place – and both of them are the signs of Allah, one abrogating the other – it takes place in total conformity with the natural system. Life, death, sustenance and other such things often replace each other, the succeeding factors abrogating the preceding ones

It all depends on the varying needs of the society's welfare, on ever-changing level of the man's perfection. Like-wise, when a religious law is replaced by another, the abrogating one has the same power as the abrogated one had, to lead to the spiritual and temporal well-being of the individual and the society; each perfectly suitable for the time it was, or is, in force; each more beneficial in the context of its time

For example, the order to “forgive” in the beginning of the call when the Muslims had neither the manpower nor the armaments, and the command to “fight” when Islam had gained some strength, when the Muslims had gathered enough force and the disbelievers and the polytheists were frightened of them. However, seldom is an abrogated verse devoid of some phrase showing that it was a transitory

.order which would be abrogated in due course

:For example: The verse

, (But pardon and forgive (them) until Allah should bring about His command (۲:۱۰۹

:which was abrogated by the verse of fighting; and , (confine them until death takes them away or Allah makes some way for them (۴:۱۵ ...

which was abrogated by the verse of flogging. The phrases, “until Allah should bring about His command”, and, “or Allah makes some way for them”, give clear indication that the order given therein was temporary and transitory which would soon be .abrogated

Fifth: The relation between the abrogative and the abrogated is quite different from that which is found between a general statement and a particular, between an unconditional clause and a conditional, or between an unspecified proposition and a .specified

What removes the apparent contradiction between the abrogative and the abrogated, is the society's and the individual's good and well-being which is found in both of them. But the apparent contradiction between a general statement and a particular, between an unconditional clause and a conditional, or between an unspecified proposition and a specified, emanates from the strong (or weak) manifestation of the .intended meaning

The true intention of the speaker is reflected much more strongly and clearly in a particularized statement, a conditional clause and a specified proposition; and that strength and clarity removes the above-mentioned apparent contradiction – by explaining the general in the light of the particular, the unconditional with the help of .the conditional and the unspecified in the frame of the specified

are the subject of the Principles of Jurisprudence. The same applies to the decisive
:and the ambiguous verses, as we shall explain under the verse of it there– are some verses decisive, they, are the basis of the Book, and others are ...

(ambiguous... (۳:۷

is derived from “al-insa' ” (to cause (نَسِيَها) ”Qur’an: or cause to be forgotten: “Nunsiha to be forgotten; to erase from memory or knowledge), as we have described earlier.
.It is a general and unconditional statement

It is not restricted to the Apostle of Allah (S); nay, it does not include him at all. Allah
:had said about him

.(We will make you recite so you shall not forget, except what Allah pleases (۸۷:۶ –۷

It is a Meccan verse, while the verse of abrogation is of Medina period. Obviously the .”Apostle could not forget anything after the promise of Allah, “so you shall not forget

Question: This claim is untenable because the promise has the proviso, “except what Allah pleases”. It means that the Apostle (S) could forget what Allah was pleased to .make him forget

Reply: Such exceptional clauses serve only to emphasize the power of Allah; they do not necessarily mean that the thing mentioned in that clause would actually take :place. Look for example at the verse they shall be in the garden, abiding in it as long as the heavens and the earth ...

(endure, except as your Lord pleases... (۱۱:۱۰۸ t just shows that Allah does have power to change the arrangement made; but all the Muslims agree that the people of the paradise will never be taken out of it. The same is the import of the exceptional clause, “except what Allah pleases”, in this verse

Moreover, if the said clause were to prove that the Prophet (S) could actually forget the things taught by Allah, depending on the pleasure of Allah, there would be no sense in putting him under obligation by promising him, “you shall not forget

Any human being who remembers any thing, or forgets it, does so by the pleasure of Allah. The same is true about the animals who remember and forget by His pleasure and decree. And the Prophet too, before this promised grace of Allah, remembered by the pleasure of Allah, and forgot by the pleasure of Allah

What new grace was added here if the promise meant only a quality which the Prophet had already had? If that promise were to make any sense, it would have to mean that the Prophet could never forget anything, although Allah had full power to make him forget

” derived from “an-nas (نَسَأَهَا)” Some people have recited the word as “nansa'aha (أَلْنَسَأُ) to delay). According to this recitation, the meaning would be as follows: = Whatever signs We abrogate by nullifying it, or put it off by delaying its appearance, We bring one better than it or like it, and the Divine management in advancing something or putting it off, does not diminish its perfection or benefit

The fact that the Divine Management always brings out a thing's perfection and benefit, is inferred from the clause, "We bring one better than it or like it". The goodness emanates from .the perfection of a thing or benefit of a laid down rule

The abrogated thing or rule was surely good; and the abrogating thing or rule too is at least as good, if not better. So, every Divine Management is the ideal of goodness, .perfection and benefit

Traditions

Innumerable traditions have been narrated by both sects, from the Prophet (S), his companions, and the Imams of his Ahlu 'l-bayt, that there are abrogated and .abrogating verses in the Qur'an

The Commander of the faithful ('Ali – a.s.) said, after enumerating various abrogated :and abrogating verses: "And the word of Allah

And I did not create the jinn and the human beings except that they should worship (Me (51:56

:was abrogated by His word and they shall continue to differ, except those on whom your Lord has mercy; and for ,(this did He create them (11:118 – 119

.(that is, for the mercy did He create them." (at-Tafsir, an-Nu'mani

The author says: In this tradition the Imam has used the word, abrogation, in a wider sense than its terminological meaning. The latter verse mentions a reality which restricts the reality described by the former. The first verse affirms the Divine Wor... .ship as the purpose of creation

While doing a work, Allah keeps a purpose in view; and He cannot be defeated in His purpose. On the other hand, he has decreed that they should choose their own path, and consequently some of them progress on the right path, while others go astray

Those who by their own choice choose the path of guidance are covered by the mercy of Allah, and it is for this mercy that He has created them. In this way, the second verse affirms another purpose for the creation: The mercy which accompanies the worship and guidance

This goal is reached by only a selected few, while the first verse had affirmed a goal for all the jinn and the men, and that is the Divine Worship. Some people are created for some others, and those others for yet others; this chain continues till it reaches the group which sincerely worships Allah

Looking from this point of view, it is easy to understand why all the jinn and men have been said to be created for the worship. We plant a garden and nurse the trees for their fruits. The real purpose is the fruits, but the trees and their branches and leaves are planted, protected and looked after because they are the means to get the fruits. And it will be quite right to say that the garden's purpose was its fruits

In the same way, the second verse “abrogates” the generality of the first verse, focusing its sight on the true worshippers who are the recipients of the mercy of Allah

:The same book narrates from the same Imam that he said: “And the word of Allah

And there is not one of , (you but shall come down to it; this is a decided decree of your Lord (١٩:٧١)

:was abrogated by His word

Surely (as for) those whom the good has already gone forth from Us, they shall be kept far off from it; they will not hear its faintest sound, and they shall abide in that (which their souls long for. The great fearful event shall not grieve them (٢١:١٠١-١٠٣

The author says: It must be noted that the relation between these two verses is not that found between a general declaration and a particular one. The first verse says that it is a decided and unavoidable decree of Allah; and such a decree cannot be rendered null and void, it cannot be cancelled. What the “abrogation” mentioned in this tradition means will be explained, God willing, in the exegesis of the verse ٢١:١٠١, mentioned above

(al-Baqir (a.s.) said: “Among the (various types of) abrogation is "al-bada' " (الْبَدَأُ) contained in the word of Allah: Allah effaces what He pleases and establishes (likewise), and with Him is the basis of the Book (١٣:٣٩); and (demonstrated in) the (saving of the People of Yunus.” (al 'Ayyashi

The author says: Its reason is clear. Some traditions of the Imams of the Ahlu 'l-bayt (a.s.) count the death of an Imam and his being succeeded by another Imam as an example of the abrogation

The author says: We have already explained this matter. The number of the traditions containing this theme reaches to nearly mutawatir

is a terminology of Shi'ite theology. It means that Allah makes known (الْبَدَأُ) 'al Bada' – His plan to His chosen servants only to that extent which is beneficial to the mankind or which is necessary to make a test meaningful. When the time comes when the angel, Prophet or Imam concerned thinks that the plan of work is coming to its end, a new development extends the plan or brings it to an unexpected end. The saving of (the People of Yunus and the intended sacrifice of Isma'il are among its examples. (tr

Dawud (in his an-Nasikh wa 'l-mansukh) and Ibn Jarir have narrated from Qatadah that he said: "(During the lifetime of the Prophet) a verse used to abrogate (another) verse; and the Prophet of Allah used to recite a verse, and a chapter, and as much as Allah wished of a chapter, then it was raised (i.e. erased) and Allah caused His Prophet to forget it

So, Allah said narrating it to His Prophet: Whatever signs We abrogate or cause to be forgotten, We bring one better than it; He says: There is (some) ease in it, some (allowance in it, some order in it, (and) some prohibition in it." (ad-Durru 'l-manthur

The author says: The same book quotes numerous traditions on the theme of "causing to be forgotten"; but all of them have to be discarded because they go against the teaching of the Book of Allah, as we have explained in the meaning of this word.

Commentary

Qur'an: Or, do you wish to put questions to your Apostle...: It appears from this sentence that some of the Muslims – although believing in the Prophet (S) – had put some questions to him not unlike the questions put to Musa (a.s.) by the Jews. That is why they have been placed here in line with the Jews for admonition

.The tradition too supports this interpretation

.Qur'an: the right way: that is, the straight path

Qur'an: Many of the People of the Book wish...: Reportedly it refers to Huyayy ibn al-Akhtab and other Jews who were with him

:(Qur'an: But pardon and forgive (them

According to the exegetes this order was abrogated by the verse of fighting

Qur'an: until Allah should bring about His command: As indicated above, this clause alludes to a command that was to be revealed in not too distant a time about the Jews. The case is similar to the verse

As for those, it was not for them that they should have entered them except in fear (2:115),

:when read together with the verse the idolaters are nothing but unclean, so they shall not approach the Sacred Mosque (after this (very) year... (9:29)

The clause, "except in fear", had hinted to the intended ban that was promulgated later

:command) under the verse = (الأمر) "We shall explain the meaning of "al-amr

And they ask you about the soul. Say: "The soul is from the command of My Lord" (17:85).

Qur'an: And they say: "None shall enter the garden except he who is a Jew or a Christian": The verse explicitly joins the Christians with the Jews; from now on the sins and crimes of both will be enumerated together

Qur'an: Yes! whoever submits his self entirely to Allah and he is the doer of good, he has his reward with his Lord: It reiterates for the third time the basic principle that the spiritual felicity does not depend on name or nomenclature, that no one can get honour with Allah except by true faith in, and total surrender to, Him

:The first declaration was in the verse

Surely those who believe and those who are Jews, and the Christians, and the Sabaens, whoever believes in Allah and the Last Day and does

;(good, they shall have their reward... (۲:۶۲

:the second one was in the verse

Yea! whoever earns evil... And (as for) those who believe and do good deeds, these ;(are the dwellers of the garden... (۲:۸۱)–۸۲

.the third is this verse under discussion

A comparison of this verse with the previous two shows that the true belief entails to do good) is = (الإِحْسَانُ) ”submitting one's self entirely to Allah; and “al- ihsan
.synonymous to the good deeds

Qur'an: while they recite the Book: that is, while they follow the Book revealed to them. They should not say such things because they have the Book with them and it .clearly shows them where the truth is This explanation is supported by the next sentence, “Even thus say those who have no knowledge, like to what they say”. The word, “those who have no knowledge”, refers to the unbelievers (other than the People of the Book) and the polytheists of Arabia. They used to say, “The Muslims do not follow any-thing good”, or “The People .”of the Book do not follow anything good Qur'an: And who is more unjust than he who prevents. Apparently it refers to the unbelievers and polytheists of Mecca. These two verses were revealed not long after .the Apostle of Allah (S) emigrated to Medina

Qur'an: it was not for them that they should have entered them except in fear: The verb, “was”, shows that the sentence describes a .past event. It perfectly fits the pagans of Mecca and their misdeeds

The traditions say that “he who prevents” refers to the unbelievers of Mecca, it was they who prevented the Muslims from praying in the Sacred Mosque (Masjidu 'l-Haram) and in other mosques within the precinct of the Ka'bah

Qur'an: And Allah's is the East and the West: The east and the west – any direction, whatsoever – really belong to Allah. His is the true mastership that cannot be altered .or transferred; it is not like the possession known to us in our society's framework

Allah's ownership permeates the possessed thing itself as well as its benefits and effects, unlike our ownership that covers only the benefits and effects, and not the .thing itself

A property, possession, per se, cannot stand except with its owner. Therefore, the east and the west, nay, all the directions whatsoever, exist because of Allah – the Owner. Allah preserves and manages the directions, and encompasses them. Anyone .turning to any of the directions, turns in reality to Allah

The east and the west are relative terms. They cover al-most all the directions, except the two imaginary points of the true north and the true south. That is why Allah left the clause, “whither you turn”, unconditional, and did not say, 'whither you turn of .!these two directions

To whatever direction one turns one's face, it is bound to be either east or west. The sentence, “And Allah's is the East and the West”, therefore, implies that all

.the directions belong to Allah

The east and the west were selected for special mention because man fixes the .directions with the help of rising and setting of the sun and other heavenly bodies

Qur'an: therefore, whither you turn, thither is Allah's face: It puts the cause in place of the effect. What the sentence implies is as follows: To whichever direction you turn, it .is allowed to you, because Allah's face is in that directions too

The concluding clause, “surely Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing”, supports this translated here as “ample-giving”) literally means = (الْوَاسِعُ) "interpretation.“al-Wasi extensive, abounding, far-reaching. It implies that Allah's ownership is extensive and .all-pervading and every direction belongs to Him

He is All-knowing too; therefore, He knows what your aim and intention is, no matter whichever direction you turn your face to. He is not like human beings or other creatures – if we want to see some physical object, we have to turn to a particular direction in order to bring it into focus. But Allah is not confined to a particular .direction; turn to any direction, you are turning to Allah, and Allah knows it

The verse gives a latitude about the qiblah, as far as its directions is concerned, but not apropos its location as may be inferred from the clause, “And Allah's is the East .and the West”, inasmuch as it mentions the directions only

Muhammad ibn al-Husayn said: “It was written to al-'Abdu 's-Salih: 'A man prays in a cloudy day in an open space and he does not know the (direction of) qiblah, he prays; and when he has finished his prayer, the sun appears and (he finds that) he had prayed against qiblah.

'?Should he regard his prayer (as valid) or should he repeat it

He wrote: 'He should repeat it if the time (of prayer) is not over. Does he not know that Allah says – and His word is true: therefore, whither you turn, thither is Allah's face?'

((at-Tahdhib

al-Baqir (a.s.) said about the word of Allah: And Allah's is the East and the West...: "Allah has revealed this verse especially for the voluntary prayer; therefore, whither .you turn, thither is Allah's face; surely Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing

And the Apostle of Allah prayed on his camel by making gestures (for the actions of the prayer) wherever it turned to, when he proceeded to Khaybar, and also when he (returned from Mecca – and the Ka'bah was behind his back." (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: al-'Ayyashi has narrated another tradition of nearly the same meaning through Zurarah from as-Sadiq (a.s.); and so have done al-Qummi and ash- .(Shaykh from Abu 'l-Hasan (a.s.) and as-Saduq from as-Sadiq (a.s

If you study the traditions of the Imams of the Ahlu 'l-bayt, related to the exegesis of the Qur'anic verses – the general and the particular; the unconditional and the conditional – you will see that often they infer one rule from the general verse, and .another rule from the same when read together with the particular one

,For example

the general verse implies a voluntary rule; but read with the particular one it promulgates an obligatory law. The same applies to the cases of disliked and forbidden things. And so on

The above is a key factor in understanding the traditions narrated from the Imams; and on it depends the knowledge of a multitude of their traditions

:You may infer from it two important principles of the Qur'anic knowledge

First: Every Qur'anic clause or sentence, taken alone, describes an established reality or rule; when it is joined to another revealed qualifying clause, it indicates another reality or rule; add to it another qualification or condition and you get a third set of confirmed reality or law; and so on. For example, look at the verse

.(Say: “Allah; then leave them sporting in their vain discourses” (٦:٩١)

It indicates four separate meanings depending on the word we stop at: First, “Say: Allah”; second, “Say: Allah; then leave them”; third, “Say: Allah; then leave them in their vain discourses”; fourth, “Say: Allah, then leave them sporting in their vain discourses”. Many such examples may be found in the Qur'an

Second: If two stories or two themes are joined in one sentence or clause, both of them must be having a common base

These two esoteric principles of exegesis open the way to many Qur'anic secrets – and Allah is the true Guide

(١١٦) وَقَالُوا تَتَّخِذَ لِلَّهِ وَلَدًا ۚ سُبْحٰنَہٗ ۚ بَل لَّہٗ مَا فِی السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْاَرْضِ ۚ کُلُّ لَہٗ قَابِلٌۢ بِتَوٰنٍ

And they say: “Allah has taken to himself a son”. Glory be to Him; rather, whatever is in .(the heavens and the earth is His; all are obedient to Him (۱۱۶)

The Originator of the heavens and the earth; and when He decrees an affair, He only .(says to it, “Be”, and it is (۱۱۷)

Commentary

Qur’an: And they say: 'Allah has taken to himself a son ’: Obviously the pronoun ”they” refers to the Jews and the Christians; the former said that 'Uzayr was the son of God; the latter claimed the same thing for Jesus Christ. The verse takes the admonition of .the People of the Book a step further

The People of the Book initially used the phrase, son of God, for their prophets etc. as a mark of respect for them – in the same way as they used the words, sons of God and His chosen people, for themselves. Gradually, the metaphorical sense gave way to the real one, and 'Uzayr and Jesus Christ were believed to be the sons of God in the .real sense of the word

.Allah refuted their claim in these two verses. They contain two proofs against them

The first proof is given in the words: “whatever is in the heavens and the earth is His; all are obedient to Him.” How does one beget a son? A physical being removes some of his parts from himself and develops and nurtures it into another member of the .species, similar to himself

Now, nothing can be similar to Allah; He is far above such things; whatever is in the heavens and in the earth belongs to Him, is His property; every thing is made existent by Him, is managed by Him; it is by nature obedient to Him, subservient to Him. Things being as they are how can any thing be similar to Allah? Does God belong to a species? How ?”can He beget someone of the same “species

The second proof is given in the second verse: “The Originator of the heavens and the earth; and when He decrees an affair, He only says to it, 'Be', and it is.” “al-Badi (أَلْبَدِيعُ translated here as the Originator) is used for the one who invents and originates a = (thing without any previous model, without any existing blue-print. Only Allah is the .Originator in the true sense of the word

He originates every thing; no creature of His resembles any fellow creature. His creation is not like others' production inasmuch as He does not make any thing by imitation; He does not create gradually, nor with the help of the secondary causes; when He decides an affair, He only says to it, “Be”, and it is – without any need of any .previous model or gradual development

How can such an Originator be said to take to himself a son? After all, begetting a son .entails gradual development

These are the two incontestable proofs which expose the fallacy of the belief that God has begotten a :son. The verses also prove the following two facts

First: The command to obey Allah and to worship Him is all-pervading; it is binding to all that is in the heavens and in the earth

Second: The actions of Allah are not gradual. It follows that every thing that comes into being gradually, must have another non-gradual existence which emanates from the Divine Command. Allah says

His command, when He intends any-thing, is only that He says to it, 'Be", and it is .((٣٦:٨٢

.(And Our command is but one, as the twinkling of an eye (٥٤:٥٠

A detailed discussion of this Qur'anic reality will be given, God willing, under the verse .٣٦:٨٢, quoted just above is an infinitive verb, synonymous to "at- (سُـبْحَانَ)"Qur'an: Glory be to Him: "subhan glorification of God). It is always used as a first member of genitive = (أَلْتـَسْبِيْحُ) "tasbih construction - the second member always being the name, 'Allah' (or a pro-noun .(referring to Him Grammatically it is in accusative case pointing to a deleted verb. Originally it was, I glorified Him as He should be glorified); but = (سَبَّحْتُهُ تَسْبِيْحًا) sabbahatuhu tasbihan the verb was deleted and the infinitive verb was joined to the pronoun 'Him' in .genitive construction, to stand in place of the verb

By using this phrase here, Allah has taught the believers the manner of declaring His .glory whenever something unworthy of His sacred name is ascribed to Him

(to worship; self-abasement = (أَلْقَى نُوْتًا) "Qur'an: all are obedient to Him: "al-Qunut

Qur'an: The Originator

of the heavens...: Originating implies that the thing so created is not like any other thing.

Qur'an: and it is: The sentence branches out from the word, "Be". The preceding clause is not a conditional one; that is why this verb is not in apocopate form, that is, its last vowel has not been cut off.

Traditions

Sudayr as-Sayrafi said: "I heard Humran ibn A'yan asking Abu Ja'far (a.s.) about the word of Allah: The Originator of the heavens and the earth. Abu Ja'far (a.s.) said: 'Verily Allah, Mighty and Great is He!, originated all things by His (Own) Knowledge, without there being any previous model. So, He originated the heavens and the earth, and there were no heavens or earth before them. Do you not listen to His word, and (His throne was on the water?' " (al-Kafi; Basa'iru 'd-darajat

The author says: The tradition points to yet another fine point. It shows that "the water", mentioned in this verse, is something different from the water known to us.

The Imam has quoted this verse to prove that Allah's creation is based on originality

And the Divine authority and power, before the creation of these heavens and this earth, was firm on the water. Obviously, the water mentioned here was not the water of this earth, or like this earthly water. We shall explain it further under the verse

(and His throne was on the water (۱۲:۷

An Academic and Philosophical Discourse on the Originality of the Creation

The experience as well as the philosophical argument proves that any two things are different from each other in their respective particulars even if they are united in their common and general characteristics.

Even if the two are so alike as to make it difficult for the senses to discern any dissimilarity between them, when seen or tested with the help of scientific instruments clear differences come before the eyes. It means that every creation is unique and original; no two things are made of one model.

Now we should look at this matter from the philosophical point of view. Let us take any two things and see why they are distinct from each other. If the basis of distinction is not a thing within their own selves, then it must be an outside factor.

In that case, their selves must be absolute and indivisible entities. But an absolute and indivisible entity cannot be duplicated nor repeated. In other words, the two distinct entities would become one and the same. And it is a contradiction in terms.

Therefore, we have to admit that every being is different in its own self from all other beings. It follows that every thing is unique; and does not have any similarity or likeness to any other thing. And it is Allah who has given every thing its uniqueness, distinction and originality, as He is the Originator of the heavens and of the earth.

Commentary

Qur’an: And those who have no knowledge say: It refers to the polytheists and the :unbelievers other than the People of the Book. It is set in contrast with the verse ١١٣

And the Jews say, “The Christians do not follow anything (good)”, and the Christians say, “The Jews do not follow anything (good)”, while they recite the Book. Even thus .say those who have no knowledge, like to what they say

In this verse, the People of the Book were joined to the polytheists and unbelievers of Arabia; and the verse under discussion joins those polytheists and unbelievers to the ' :People of the Book: “And those who have no knowledge say

Why does not Allah speak to us or a sign come to us?’ Even thus said those before them (i.e., the People of the Book, including the Jews) the like of what they say”, because the Jews had disputed with their prophet, Musa (a.s.) and demanded from .him the like of what these pagans say

The People of the Book and the pagans of Arabia are alike in their way of thinking; the former say

.the like of what the latter say, and vice versa: their hearts are all alike

Qur'an: Indeed We have made the signs clear for a people who are sure: It is the rebuttal of the demand of those who have no knowledge. The signs they are demanding have already come to them, already been made clear to them. But they cannot benefit from them because only those who are sure of those signs may get .their benefit

As for these people who have no knowledge, their hearts are submerged into ignorance, sick with the disease of prejudice and envy. That is why they have lost the .ability to benefit from the signs sent by Allah

The above explanation makes it clear why they have been described as "those who ."have no knowledge

After exposing the falsity of their demand, Allah directs His speech to the Apostle, declaring in clear terms that he has surely been sent by Allah "with the truth as a bearer of good news and as a warner". The verse was meant to bring comfort to the Prophet's heart and to make him realize that these adversaries were the people of .the Fire, and they would not come to the path of guidance

Qur'an: and you shall not be questioned as the companions of the flaming fire: Its import is similar to that of the verse: Surely those who disbelieve alike is to them whether

(۲:۶) .(you warn them or do not warn them, they will not believe

(۱۲۰) وَلَنْ نَرْضَىٰ عَنْكَ لِيَهُودَ وَلَا لِنَصْرِي حَتَّىٰ تَتَّبِعَ مِلَّتَهُمْ قُلْ إِنَّ هُدَى اللَّهِ هُوَ الْهُدَىٰ وَلَئِنِ اتَّبَعْتَ أَهْوَاءَهُمْ بَعْدَ الَّذِي جَاءَكَ مِنَ الْعِلْمِ مَا لَكَ مِنَ اللَّهِ مِنْ وَلِيٍّ وَلَا نَصِيرٍ

And the Jews will not be pleased with you, nor the Christians until you follow their religion. Say; “Surely Allah's guidance, that is the (true) guidance”. And if you follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, you shall have no guardian (from Allah, nor any helper

Those to whom We have given the Book read it as it ought to be read. These (it is (who) believe in it; and whoever disbelieves in it, these it is that are the losers

O Children of Israel, call to mind My bounty which I bestowed on you and that I made (you excel the nations

And be on your guard against a day when no soul shall avail another in the least neither shall any compensation be accepted from it, nor shall intercession profit it nor (shall they be helped

Commentary

Qur'an: And the Jews will not be pleased with you, nor the Christians...: The Speaker turns again to the two groups, after a cursory glance at the others. These two verses give the .sum and substance of the foregoing talk

After all those admonitions and reprimands of the Jews and the Christians, Allah turns to His Apostle and says: They will never be pleased with you until you follow their religion which they have invented according to their desires, composed of their own .opinions

Then He orders him to confute their views and tell them: “Surely Allah's guidance, that is the (true) guidance”. Why should a man follow the other for guidance? And the only
.guidance is the guidance of Allah; that is the truth which must be followed

There is no guidance in any thing else; and certainly not in your religion. And what is .that religion? Just an amalgam of your desires glorified as religion

Allah's guidance” stands for the Qur'an – revealed by Allah and, therefore, attributed“ to Him. The sentence, “Surely Allah's guidance is the (true) guidance”, restricts the guidance to that of Allah. Conversely, it means' that their religion is devoid of .guidance; in other words, it is just a set of their desires

It follows that what the Prophet has got is knowledge, and what they hold in their hands is ignorance. Therefore, Allah says to the Prophet: “And if you follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, you shall have no guardian from
”.Allah, nor any helper

:One cannot help admiring this verse

;How logical, solid and well-grounded is the argument it offers how many fine points of eloquence it holds, in spite of its brevity; how lovely is the !!language and how clear is the style

Qur'an: Those to whom We have given the Book...: The restriction of the clause, "These (it is who) believe in it", gives rise to the belief that this verse is a reply to an unspoken question. The preceding words, "And the Jews will not be pleased with you, nor the Christians...", gave an indication that there was no hope of their believing in
.the Prophet

If so, then how any of them could be expected to believe? Was it not in vain to invite them to Islam? This verse clears the air, and says: Those to whom We have given the Book (i.e., the Torah or the Injil) and who read it as it ought to be read, these it is who (truly believe in their Book and as such they shall believe in you.)

Or that, they believe in a revealed book; and therefore shall believe in any other book revealed by Allah. Or that, these it is who shall believe in the Qur'an. (According to some of the above interpretations, the pro-noun, 'it', in the phrase, "believe in it", (.would stand for more than one noun by turns

The phrase, "Those to whom We have given the Book", refers to a group of the Jews and the Christians, who did not follow their desires, who wanted to follow the truth.
"the Book" refers to the Torah and the

Another possible explanation: “the Book” might be referring to the Qur'an, and, “Those to whom We have given the Book”, to the believers. In that case the meaning would be as follows: Those to whom We have given the Qur'an and who read it as it should be read, these it is who believe in the Qur'an, and not the Jews and the Christians who follow their desires. The restriction, in this case, would give a converted pro-position

Qur'an: O Children of Israel!... nor shall they be helped: These two verses are almost similar to the verses ٤٧ and ٤٨. Here the present talk with the Children of Israel comes to its end. The Qur'an, by repeating the prologue in the epilogue neatly ties the two ends together as-Sadiq (a.s.) said, explaining the word of Allah, Those to whom We have given the Book read it as it ought to be read: “They recite its verses slowly, and understand it, and act according to its orders, and hope for its promise, and are afraid of its threat, and take lesson from its stories, and obey its commandments, and desist from what it prohibits. By God, it does not mean memorizing its verses, and studying its letters, and reciting its chapters, and learning its one-tenths and one-fifths

They remembered its words and neglected its boundaries. And what it means is :meditating on its verses and acting according to its orders. Allah, the High, has said

It is) a Book We have sent down to)

.(you abounding in good, so that they may ponder over its verses” (٣٨:٢٩ Irshadu 'l-qulub, ad-Daylami). as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the word of Allah, read it as it ought to be read, that: ”(It is) stopping at (the description of) the Garden and the Fire.”

((al-'Ayyashi

.The author says: What the Imam means is the meditation on the Qur'an

The same Imam said about the verse, Those to whom We have given the Book..., that:

(“They are the Imams.” (al-Kafi

The author says: This explanation is based on the principle of the “flow of the Qur'an”, and gives the best example of those to whom Allah has given the Book

Suratul Baqarah: Verse ١٢٤

١٢٤ (وَإِذِ ابْتَلَىٰ إِبْرَاهِيمَ رَبُّهُ بِكَلِمَاتٍ فَأَتَمَّهُنَّ ۖ قَالَ إِنِّي جَاعِلُكَ لِلنَّاسِ إِمَامًا ۖ قَالَ وَمِن ذُرِّيَّتِي ۖ قَالَ لَا يَنَالُ عَهْدِي الظَّالِمِينَ

And (remember) when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words, then he fulfilled them: He said: “Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men.” (Ibrahim) said: “And (of my offspring?” He said: “My covenant will not include the unjust” (١٢٤

Commentary

Beginning with this verse, the Qur'an throws light on some aspects of the life of Ibrahim (a.s.); these verses prepare the minds for the ones promulgating the change (direction of prayer) as well as the rules of the hajj (الْقِبْلَةَ) of al-qiblah

These stories also explain the reality of the pure Islamic religion – with its different grades and levels – looking at its fundamental beliefs, moral teachings and some rules of the shari'ah; among other things leadership) of the people, (الإمام أئمة =) they show how Allah bestowed on him al-Imamah .how he built the Ka'bah, and how he prayed to Allah to send an Apostle among them

Qur'an: And (remember) when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words, then he fulfilled them: It refers to the occasion when Ibrahim (a.s.) was given the Imamah. It had happened during the end period of his life; it was the time when he had become very old, after Isma'il and Ishaq both had been born, and he had brought Isma'il and his mother to reside in Mecca, as some other exegetes also have taken note of this .fact

This timing is clearly pointed at by his words, "And of my offspring? ", when Allah told him: "I am going to make you an Imam for men." Obviously he did not know, nor did he even expect, that he would get any offspring, until the angels brought to him the good .tidings of Isma'il and Ishaq

Even when the angels told him that he was to get children, he responded to those tidings in such words as could apparently be construed to have sprung from despair :and pessimism. Allah says

And inform them of the guests of Ibrahim: When they entered upon him, they said: "Peace" He said: "Surely we are afraid of you.;" They said: "Be not afraid, surely we give you the good news of a boy, possessing knowledge. "He said:" Do you give me good news (of a son) when old age has come upon me? – of what then do you give me good news!” They said:

.“We give you good news with truth; therefore, be not of the despairing” (۱۵:۵۱-۵۵)

The same was the reaction of his wife when she was given that good news, as Allah
:says

And his wife was standing (by), so she laughed; then We gave her the good news of Ishaq, and after Ishaq, of (a son's son) Ya'qub. She said: “O woe to me! Shall I bear a son when I am an (extremely) old (woman) and this my husband an (extremely) old (man)? Most surely this is an amazing thing.” They said: “Do you wonder at the decree of Allah? The mercy of Allah and His blessings be on you, O people of the house, surely
.(He is Praised, Glorious” (۱۱:۷۱-۷۳)

As you see, the talks of both Ibrahim and his wife show that by that time they had lost all hope of getting any child. That is why the angels replied to them in those words to .give them hope and make them happy

Clearly neither he nor his wife knew before that time that they would be given any off-spring. But on this occasion, we see that as soon as Allah told him, “I am going to ”?make you an Imam for men”, he pleaded, “And of my offspring

This prayer brings before our eyes the image of a man who is sure of having an offspring. How can a man, and particularly one like Ibrahim, the friend of Allah (who very well knew the nuances of the language), ?speak before his Lord about a thing he knew nothing about

If he had uttered these words before getting any children, it would have been necessary for him to add some proviso, like “if Thou givest me any offspring”. This event, therefore, must have taken place in the end period of Ibrahim's life some time
.after he had been given the good news

Moreover, the words, “And (remember) when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words, then he fulfilled them. He said: 'Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men' ”, show that his Imamah was bestowed to him after Allah had tried him with .certain trials

These consisted of various sufferings and tests which Ibrahim (a.s.) underwent in his life. And according to the Qur'an, the clearest and hardest of all was the trial of the :sacrifice of Isma'il. Allah says

And when he reached (the age of) working with him, he said: “O my son! surely I am seeing in dream that I am sacrificing you; consider then what you see.” He said: “O my father! do what you are commanded; if Allah please, you will surely find me of the patient ones.” So when they both submitted and he threw him down upon his forehead, and We called out to him (saying): “O Ibrahim! You have indeed proved the vision true; surely thus We reward the doers of good. Most surely this is

.(a manifest trial” (۳۷:۱۰۲-۱۰۶

This manifest trial had taken place in the extreme old age of Ibrahim, because even the birth of Isma'il had taken place when Ibrahim had become very old, as Allah :quotes him as saying

Praise be to Allah, Who gave me in old age Isma'il and Ishaq; most surely my Lord is“ .(the Hearer of prayer” (۱۴:۳۹

.And the imamah was given to him after these trials

:Now we come back to the verse under discussion )”and “al-bala (الابْتِلاءُ)”’And (remember) when his Lord tried Ibrahim”: “al-Ibtala“ both have the same meaning: to try, to put to test. You give someone an order, (البَلَاءُ) or put him in a difficult situation, in order to find out his inner strength, his spiritual sublimity; thus you bring out his hidden qualities like obedience, bravery, generosity, chastity, knowledge, faithfulness (or their opposite traits); it is only then that you may .”say, “I have tested him”, “I have put him to trial

One cannot be tested except through action; it is the action which brings out the hidden qualities of a man, and not the word; words may lie but not the actions. Allah :says

; (Surely We have tried them as We tried the owners of the garden... (۶۸:۱۷ .(Surely Allah will try you with a stream... (۲:۲۴۹ ...

Now Allah says that He tried Ibrahim with certain words. This sentence looks at the “words” inasmuch as they are related to actions – they are the vehicles to carry the commands of the speaker

:to the listener. For example, Allah says

, (and speak to men good (words)... (٢:٨٣ ...

.that is, behave with them properly is plural of al- (أَلِكَلِمَاتُ) "With certain words, then he fulfilled them": "al-Kalimat" (word). Of course, the word, "word", has sometimes been used in the = (كَلِمَةً) kalimah :Qur'an for a substance, a corporeal being (instead of a talk or speech) as Allah says

.(a Word from Him whose name is the Messiah, 'Isa son of Maryam... (٣:٤٥ ...

But this usage is based on the fact that 'Isa, like Adam, was created by a word from :Allah as the Qur'an says

Surely the likeness of 'Isa is with Allah as the likeness of Adam; He created him from .(dust, then said to him: "Be", and he was (٣:٥٩

Otherwise, whenever the Qur'an attributes the "word" to Allah, it means speech and :saying. For example

.(and there is none to change the words of Allah (٦:٣٤

.(there is no changing the words of Allah (١٠:٦٤

.(and Allah desired to manifest the truth of what was true by His words (٨:٧

Surely those against whom the word of your Lord has proved true will not believe .((١٠:٩٦

.(But the word of punishment proved true against the unbelievers (٣٩:٧١

And thus did the word of your Lord prove true against those who disbelieved that they .(are the inmates of the Fire (٤٠:٦

and had not a word gone forth from your Lord till an appointed time, certainly affair .(would have been decided between them (٤٢:١٤

(and the word of Allah, that is the highest (۹:۴)

p: ۹.

.(truth then (it) is and the truth do I speak” (۳۸:۸۴

.(Our word for a thing when We intend it, is only that We say to it: “Be”, and it is (۱۶:۴۰

These and similar verses use “word” in the meaning of “talk” because the talk conveys to the hearer the proposition which the speaker intends to communicate, or the command which he wants him to obey. It is for this reason that sometimes the Qur'an describes the “word” as being complete! It is as though a “word” emanating from the speaker remains incomplete until it is implemented, and then it becomes complete, is :proved true. Allah says

And the word of your Lord has been accomplished (completed) truly and justly; there is none to change His words (۶:۱۱۵); and the good word of your Lord was fulfilled ((completed) in the Children of Israel (۷:۱۳۷

The above explanation does not go against the fact that Allah's word is Allah's action. His word and His action are not two different things, they are one and the same. Realities and facts have their own rules, and literary demands and semantic values .are governed by other rules

Whatever realities Allah wishes to disclose to one of His prophets or other servants, and whatever command He wants to impose on someone, it is His talk and speech, inasmuch as it fulfils the same purpose which a talk or speech does – it conveys .information, and proposition as well as His order and prohibition

Not frequently, the word, “word”, is used for ideas, intentions and actions if they have the same import as “word” has. We say:

” “I will surely do this because I have already said so, and have given my word

In fact, you have never before uttered a single word about it; all that your “given word” actually means is that you do have a firm intention to do it, without any .wavering will, without listening to any intercessor

The Arab poet, 'Antarah, said: “And (it was) my word (to my soul) whenever it was in turmoil or excitement: Be at ease; you will either earn the accolade or will go to (final) rest.” Obviously, he had not talked with his soul or spirit; what he means by “word” is that he had made up his mind to fight bravely, and to face the enemy without retreating from his stand; because if he was victorious, his people would sing his .praise, and if he was killed, he would get the rest and tranquility

In this light it is easy to see that the phrase, “when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words”, refers to the difficult situations he had to face, and the Divine covenants he had entered into, for example, his conflict with his people regarding the stars and the idols, his test by fire and emigration, his supreme trial of sacrificing his son, and other .such things

Allah has not specified which tests those “certain words” refer to, because this information had no-thing to do with the theme of the verse. But one thing is certain: As it was only after the fulfillment of those words that Allah said to him, “Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men”, the words must .have been such as to prove his capability for the status of the Imamah

This much about the “words”. Now comes the next phrase: “then he fulfilled them”. If the pronoun “he” refers to Ibrahim (a.s.), then it would mean that he fulfilled the task .which was expected of him, he obediently did what he was told to do

If on the other hand the pronoun refers to the Lord (as it obviously does) then it would .mean that his Lord helped him to do what was expected of him

Somebody has said that the phrase, “certain words”, refers to the Divine Speech, “Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men... My covenant will not include the unjust.” But it is an explanation which does not carry any weight, because nowhere in .”the Qur'an the word “words” has been used for “sentences

Qur'an: “Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men”: That is, I am going to make you a leader for men; they will adhere to you and follow in your footsteps, in words .leader) is the one whom the people follow = (الإمام - أم) and deeds. al-Imam leadership) in this = (الإمام - أمه) That is why many exegetes have said that al-Imamah verse means prophethood, because a prophet is followed

:and obeyed by his ummah in their religion; Allah has said

..((٤:٦٤

...:But this interpretation has no leg to stand upon. Because Imam, leader) is the second accusative of the = (إمَامًا) First: The word Imaman literally, maker of you; translated here as “going to make = (جَاعِلٌ مَكَ) causative ja'iluka you”), which is a nomen agentis; and a nomen agentis is never used in place of a past tense; if used in place of a verb it always gives the meaning of present or future tense

When Allah used these words in His talk with Ibrahim (a.s.), He in effect gave him a promise to make him an Imam in future – in other words, to give him a status which he did not have at that time. And Ibrahim (a.s.) was already a prophet: Remember that
.this talk itself was a revelation sent to him in his capacity as a prophet

He was a prophet long before he was given the status of the Imamah. There-fore, the Imamah in this verse cannot mean prophethood. (This reply is given by another (exegete

Second: We have described earlier that Ibrahim (a.s.) was given the Imamah in his later days after setting the good news that he would be given offspring, Ishaq and Isma'il; and the angels had given him that news while they were on their way to destroy the ummah of Lilt; and Ibrahim at that time was a prophet and an apostle. He was a prophet and apostle before he got the Imamah; therefore,

.his Imamah was different from his prophethood and apostleship

Why are such interpretations offered by exegetes from time to time? The reason lies in the banality – because of repeated use during all these centuries – which has .degraded the sublime meanings of the Qur'anic words in people's minds

The word, Imamah, has been debased in similar way. Some people say that it means = (الْخِلَافَةُ) prophethood, precedence, being in authority; others interpret it as al-khilafah regency) or headship in spiritual and temporal = (الْوَصِيَّةُ) successorship), al-wisayah
.affairs

But all this is wrong. “Prophethood” means receiving news from Allah; “messaging” means conveying that message to people; “authority” implies that .others have to follow one's example and obey one's orders

Now this authority is a concomitant of prophethood and messaging; khilafah and wisayah both mean successorship to a prophet; likewise, headship in spiritual and temporal affairs is a sort of the above-mentioned authority; and all of it is different .from the correct meaning of the Imamah

The imamah implies that a man has an intrinsic quality because of which people should follow him faithfully, making their words and deeds to conform with his words
.and deeds; but none of the above-mentioned interpretations brings out this meaning

Ibrahim (a.s.) was already a prophet whose obedience was obligatory for all men.
What would be the sense in telling him that Allah was going to make him a prophet for ?men

Or, to make his obedience compulsory in all that he said and did? Or, a head of his ummah to order or forbid in matters of religion? Or, a successor? Or, a khalifah in the earth to decide

?between the people by the order of Allah

The difference between the Imamah and all the above-mentioned words is not only verbal; it is the realities behind those words that differ from one another. When a man
.is given prophethood, it becomes obligatory for the people to obey him

Therefore, it would be wrong to say to that prophet, "I am going to make your obedience compulsory for men although I have already made it compulsory". Nor will it be correct to convey the same idea in other words, because the same problem will .arise again

When Allah gives someone some status, he does not get merely a new title or name; bounties of Allah are not empty words; there are real things behind those words.
.Therefore, the imamah has its own reality, different from other words' realities

We find in the Qur'an that whenever it mentions Imamah it puts guidance side by side - it looks as though Allah was using the latter to explain the former. Allah says in the :story of Ibrahim

And We gave him Ishaq and Ya'qub as a further gift; and We made (them) all righteous ones; and We made them Imams, to guide (people) by Our command...
;((٢١):٧٢ - ٧٣

:and He says in another place

And We made of them Imams to guide by Our .(command as they were patient, and they were certain of Our signs (٣٢:٢٤

Here the imamah is explained, or rather defined, in terms of guidance, and then further qualified with the proviso, “by Our command”. Clearly, the Imamah does not mean any type of guidance; it is a guidance which emanates from the command of Allah.

:And the reality of that command is described in these words

His command, when He intends anything, is only that He says to it: “Be”, and it is. ;(Therefore glory be to Him in Whose hand is the kingdom of every thing... (٣٦:٨٢-٨٣

.(And Our command is but one, as the twinkling of an eye (٥٤:٥٠

We shall explain, when writing about these verses, that the Divine Command (which the former verse also calls “the Kingdom”) is the sublime side of the creation, with which they face towards Allah; it is pure, free from fetters of time and space, and untouched by change and variation. It is also the real meaning of the word “Be”, because the Divine Command “Be”, is nothing other than the actual existence of the thing concerned.

creation) which is the other side of = (الْخَلْقُ) This “command” is in contrast to al-khalq the things – it is subject to changes and variations; it grows by and by and deteriorates in the same way; it works within the framework of time and space. (We shall fully explain this theme in its proper place, Allah willing

To sum it up, Imam is a leader who guides

by a Divine Command which is closely associated with him. The Imamah, in its guardianship, authority) over the people in (أُولَئِكَ = esoteric sense, is al-wilayah their actions and activities; and its guidance entails conveying them to the final destination by the command of Allah

It is different from that guidance which only shows the way – and which is usually done by the prophets and messengers of Allah as well as by other believers who guide the people towards Allah with sincere exhortation and good advice. This second type of guidance is mentioned in the following verses

And We did not send any apostle but with the language of his people, so that he might explain to them clearly; then Allah makes whom He pleases err and He guides whom (He pleases... (١٤:٤

And he who believed (i.e., the believer from the family of Pharaoh) said: “O my people! (follow me, I will guide you to the right course” (٤٠:٣٨

Why should not then a company from every party from among them go forth that they may acquire (proper) understanding in religion, and that they may warn their (people when they come back to them, so that they may be cautious? (٩:١٢٢

(We shall further explain it later on)

Then Allah describes the reason why He gave them the Imamah, in these words, as they were patient, and they were certain of Our signs. (See ٣٢:٢٤, quoted above.) The criteria, therefore, are patience and absolute certainty. They were steadfast and patient in the cause of Allah. Patience, in this verse, is unconditional; therefore it means remaining patient and steadfast in all matters and all conditions with which Allah may choose to .test the submission and servitude of a servant

And they possessed highest degree of certainty. Going through the stories of Ibrahim (a.s.), we find the following words of Allah in the Qur'an

And thus did We show Ibrahim the kingdom of the heavens and the earth and so that .(he might be of those who are sure (۶:۷۵

The verse clearly indicates that showing of the kingdom to Ibrahim was the prelude to the bestowal of absolute certainty on him. It proves that certainty is an inseparable :concomitant of looking at the kingdom. This is also the theme of the following verses

Nay! if you had known with a knowledge of certainty, you should most certainly have .(seen the hell (۱۰۲:۵ – ۶ Nay! rather, what they used to do has become (like) rust upon their hearts. Nay! most surely they shall on that day be shut out away from their Lord.... Nay! most surely the record of the righteous shall be in the 'Illiyin. And what will make you know what .'illiyin is? It is a written book; see it those who are near (to Allah) (۸۳:۱۴ – ۱۵; ۱۸–۲۱

These verses prove that the “near ones” are those who are not shut out away from their Lord; on their hearts there are no rust or coverings of sin, ignorance and doubt; they are the ones who

.have absolute certainty about Allah, and they see the 'illiyin as they see the hell

In short, it is essential for an Imam to be a man of absolute certainty, who sees the world of the “kingdom” of Allah which is based on the “words” of Allah. And we have explained earlier that the kingdom is the command of Allah, which, in its turn, is the .esoteric side of the universe

Now let us have a fresh look at the verse ۲۱:۷۳ (and ۳۲:۲۴) quoted earlier. “And We made them Imams, to guide (people) by Our command:” it very clearly proves that whatever is the subject of guidance (i.e., the hearts and the deeds), the Imam has its inner reality; he is constantly in touch with its another side – the side of the command, .which is never hidden from him

It is known that the hearts and the deeds, like any other thing, have two sides, one of the “command” and the other of the “creation”; therefore, the reality of the deeds of the men – both good and bad – is always within the vision of the Imam, always under his observation; and he has authority over both ways – the one of happiness and bliss :and the other of unhappiness and distress. Also, Allah has said

.(Remember) the day when We will call every people with their Imam (۱۷:۷۱)

We shall explain when writing about this verse that the “Imam” here means the true) leader, and not the scroll of deeds, as some people think.) There-fore, the Imam is the one who shall lead the people to Allah on the day when hidden things shall be tried, as he leads them to Him in the .manifest and esoteric lives of this world

The last quoted verse also shows that there cannot be a single period, a single moment, without an Imam, because Allah says, “every people”. (The detailed proof of (.this statement will be given under that verse

The Imamah is such an exalted and sublime position that it cannot be given except to one who is extremely virtuous by his own self. If someone's soul is polluted, even in a minute degree, by any injustice or sin, then he needs someone else to guide him back :to the right way. And Allah has said

Is he then who guides to the truth more worthy to be followed, or he who himself .(does not go right unless he is guided? (١٠:٣٥

Here Allah puts two groups opposite to each other: one is that which guides to the truth; and the other, that which does not go right unless guided by someone else, in other words, the one which needs a helping hand to be guided aright. This contrast means that the one who guides to the truth, is rightly guided by himself; conversely, .the one rightly guided by another person cannot guide to the truth

...:It follows from the above discourse that sinless; protected from error and sin). = (الْمَعْصِيَّةُ) First: The Imam must be al-ma'sum ,Otherwise he would not be rightly guided by himself, as explained above. Also, the following verse

:(sinlessness = (الْعِصْمَةُ) proves their al-'ismah

And We made them Imams to guide (people) by Our command, and We revealed to them the doing of good (deeds) and the establishing of prayer and the giving of zakat, (and Us (alone) did they worship (٢١:٣٣).

According to this verse, all the deeds of the Imam are good, he is guided to them, not by any other person, but on his own by Divine help. The phrase translated above as to do good deeds); it is al- = (فَعْلَالُ الْخَيْرَاتِ) “the doing of good (deeds)” is fi'la 'l-khayrat roughly translated as infinitive verb), used as the first construct of a = (الْمَصِيْدَرُ) masdar genitive construction; and such a masdar proves that the action has surely taken :place. Let us explain it in another way

If Allah would have said, 'We revealed to them: Do good deeds', it would not have shown that they actually obeyed the command and did good; but when He says, We revealed to them the doing of good, it means that whatever they did was good and it .was by Divine inspiration and heavenly help

Second: Conversely, whoever is not ma'sum, can never be an Imam, a guide to the .truth

Now, it is clear that the adjective, “the unjust”, (in the Divine declaration, “My covenant will not include the unjust”) covers everyone who might have done any
,injustice, for example, polytheism, idol-worship or any other sin

.in any period of his life, even if he may have repented and been good afterwards

One of our teachers (may Allah have mercy on him!) was asked as to how this verse :could prove that the Imam must be ma'sum. He replied

Logically, we may divide mankind into four groups: (١) One who remains unjust throughout his life; (٢) One who was never unjust in any period of his life; (٣) One who was unjust in the beginning, but became just later on; and (٤) One who was just in the beginning, but became unjust afterwards, Ibrahim was too sublime in position to ask for the Imamah for the first or the fourth group

This leaves two groups (the second and the third) which could be included in his prayer. And Allah rejected one of them – the one who was unjust in the beginning but became just later on. Now, there remains only one group who could be given the Imamah – the one who was never unjust in any period of his life; that is, who was \(ma'sum.\)

:To sum it up, the verse shows that

.First: Imamah is a Divinely-made status

Second: The Imam must be ma'sum, by Divine 'ismah; in other words, he must be .protected by Allah from sins and errors

Third: The earth cannot remain without a rightful Imam, as long as there is a man on .it

.Fourth: It is essential for an Imam to be supported by the Divine help

Fifth: The deeds of the people are not hidden from the Shahid ath-Thalith) in his Ihgaqu 'l-haqq. (Vide the new ed. with footnotes by Ayatullah Sayyid Shahabuddin Mar'ashi Najafi, Matba'ah Islamiyyah, Tehran, vol. II, (pp. ۳۶۷ – ۳۶۹.) (tr

Sixth: The Imam must have knowledge of all that is needed by the people for their .good in this world and the next

.Seventh: It is impossible for any other person to surpass the Imam in any virtue

These seven are among the basic factors of the Imamah, and this verse, read with .other relevant verses, leads us to them, and Allah is our Guide

Objection: As the Imamah means to guide by the command of Allah, and as that guiding to the truth is concomitant with the Imam's being rightly guided by Allah (as has been inferred from the verse: Is he then who guides to truth more worthy to be .followed...), then all the prophets should certainly be called Imams

Obviously, prophethood of a prophet comes into being only when he is rightly guided by Allah through revelation; a prophet is not guided by any other person through .teaching or advice etc

Therefore, bestowal of prophethood would be synonymous with that of the Imamah.
And the objection you had put against the interpretation of the Imamah with .prophethood would be turned in toto against your explanation

Reply: What we have inferred from the foregoing description is that if one guides to Allah by His command, he must be guided aright not by any other person but by Allah Himself. But the Qur'anic verses have not shown that its contrary proposition is also true, that is, it has not been proved that whoever is rightly guided by Allah should also .be a guide to Allah

Therefore, it is not necessary that every prophet should be called an Imam. In one place, Allah declares about various prophets that they were rightly guided by Him, and .yet does not join it with the statement that they guided their people to the truth

:He says

And We gave to him (i.e., Ibrahim) Ishaq and Ya'qub; each did We guide, and Nuh did We guide before, and of his descendants, Dawud and Sulayman and Ayyub and Yusuf and Harun; and thus do We reward those who do good; and Zakariyya and Yahya and 'Isa and Ryas; every one was of the righteous (ones) and Isma'il and Ilyasa ' and Yunus and Lut; and every one We did exalt over the worlds; and from among their fathers and their descendants and their brethren; and We chose them and guided them to the straight path. This is Allah's guidance, He guides thereby whom He pleases of His servants; and if they had set up others (with Him), certainly what they did would have become ineffectual for them. These are they to whom We gave the book and the wisdom and the prophethood; therefore if these disbelieve in it, We have (already) entrusted with it a people who are not disbelievers in it. These are they whom Allah guided, therefore follow their guidance. Say: "I do not ask you for any reward for it; it is but a reminder to the worlds" (٩٠-٩٦).

This reply does not seem to meet the objection. The verse clearly says that these – ١ prophets were guided by Allah. Also, it is accepted that all the prophets, including those mentioned in this verse, guided their people aright, and that they did so by the command of Allah. Thus, all the characteristics of the Imamah were found in every (prophet who called his people to the right path. (tr

is an unalterable firm decree; it will continue in this ummah even after the Messenger of Allah (S), and will remain confined within the progeny of Ibrahim (a.s.), as the verses :۴۳:۲۶ – ۲۸ prove

And when Ibrahim said to his father and his people: “Surely, I am clear of what you worship; (I worship) but (only) Him Who created me, for surely He will guide me.” And .(He made it a word to continue in his posterity, so that they may return (to God

When Ibrahim (a.s.) declared to his people that he was clear of what they worshipped and that he worshipped only Him Who had created him, he had already achieved that .guidance which contemplation and logical reasoning can produce

Then he told them of his expectation that Allah would surely guide him. This subsequent guidance was obviously different from the earlier one; it was a guidance .by the command of Allah

Thereafter, Allah says that He made this Divine Guidance “a word to continue” in Ibrahim's posterity. This is one of those verses in which “word” has been used not for speech but for a substance – it refers to the guidance as “a word”. The same is the :interpretation of “word of piety” in the verse and made them keep the word of piety, and well were they entitled to it and worthy of .(it (۴۸:۲۶

The above explanation makes it clear that the Imamah after Ibrahim (a.s.), is confined 'to his descendants. The sentences, ”(Ibrahim) said: 'And of my offspring

.He said: 'My covenant will not include unjust'”, point to this fact

Obviously, Ibrahim (a.s.) had asked for the Imamah not for all but only for some of his descendants, and he was told that it would not be given to the unjust of his descendants. Needless to say that not all of his descendants were unjust; therefore, this reply disqualifies only one group and not all. In other words, it grants the request for a selected group of his offspring and further sanctifies it as a covenant, and on that basis it says that the covenant of Allah will not include the unjust ones

Qur'an: “My covenant will not include the unjust”: This expression shows how far removed are the unjust from the circle of the Divine Covenant (۱); therefore, it is an example of isti'arah bi 'l-kinayah

Traditions

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “Verily Allah (to Whom belong Might and Majesty) accepted Ibrahim as a servant before making him a prophet; and verily Allah made him a prophet before appointing him as a messenger; and verily Allah appointed him as a messenger before taking him as a friend; and verily Allah took him as a friend before making him an Imam

When He combined for him all (the above-mentioned) things, He said, 'Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men.'" The Imam further said: “It was because of the greatness of it (i.e., Imamah) in the eyes of Ibrahim (a.s.) that he said: 'And of my offspring?' He said: 'My covenant

Its literal translation: My covenant will not reach the unjust. Note that Allah did not – ۱ say: The unjust will not reach My covenant, because it would have implied that it was within the power of man – albeit a just one – to reach the status of the Imamah. The present sentences does not leave room for any such misunderstanding; it clearly shows that getting the Imamah is not within human jurisdiction, it is exclusively in the (hand of Allah and He gives to whom He pleases. (tr will not include the unjust.'" The Imam explained: "A fool will not be Imam of a pious."

(al-Kafi

The author says: The same meaning has been narrated from the same Imam through another chain of narrators, and from al-Baqir (a.s.) through yet other chain; and al-Mufid has narrated it from as-Sadiq (a.s.

The Imam has said that Allah accepted Ibrahim as a servant before making him a prophet. This theme is inferred from the Qur'anic verse

And certainly We gave to Ibrahim his rectitude before, and We knew him fully well. When he said to his father and his people: "What are these images to which you (as devotees) cleave?" They said: "We found our fathers worshipping them." He said: "Certainly you have been (both) you and your fathers, in manifest error." They said: "Have you brought to us the truth, or are you one of the triflers?" He said: "Nay! your Lord is the Lord of the heavens and the earth, Who brought them into existence, and I (am of those who bear witness to this" (۲۱:۵۱ - ۵۶

This story shows how Allah took Ibrahim (a.s.) as a servant in the beginning of his spiritual journey

It is one thing that someone is a slave or servant of Allah, and a quite different thing that he is taken or accepted by Allah as His slave. Being a slave of Allah is a concomitant of existence and creation; anyone who is created and has perceiving faculties is inescapably a slave of Allah

.this servitude does not depend on Divine acceptance

Man, for example, owes his existence to his Lord, is created and made by Him; he may behave in his personal life according to this servitude's dictates by surrendering himself to his Lord the Almighty, or he may act rebelliously, but his submission or rebellion does not alter the fact that he is a born slave of Allah. Allah says in the :Qur'an

There is no one in the heavens and the earth but will come to the Beneficent Allah as a .(servant (۱۹:۹۳

But if he does not act as a slave should do, if he behaves in the earth with arrogance and rebellion, then he does not deserve to be called a slave or servant of Allah,
.because he does not fulfill the conditions of servitude

A servant surrenders himself to his Lord, and leaves all his affairs in his Master's hands. Therefore, only he deserves to be called a servant of Allah who is His slave in .his person as well as in his action – only such a man can truly be called a slave of Allah

Allah says: And the servants of the Beneficent God are they who walk on the earth in .(humbleness... (۲۵:۶۳

Accordingly, when Allah accepts a man as His servant, He takes masterly interest in that servant's affairs; in other words, Allah becomes his waliyy and guardian, and (الْوَالِيُّ هُوَ) takes all his affairs in His Own hands. Such a servitude is the key to al-wilayah .(guardianship =

:points to this reality v:196

Surely my guardian is Allah, Who revealed the Book, and He takes in hand (the affairs“
”of) the good

The adjective “good”, refers to those who are worthy of Divine guardianship and friendship. Allah has referred to the Prophet in several places in the Qur'an as His ,servant, for example

; (Who revealed the Book to His servant... (18:1) ...

; (Who sends down clear signs upon His servant... (57: 9 ...

.(when the servant of Allah stood up calling upon Him... (72:19 ...

In short, to say that Allah accepted someone as His servant, is another way of saying .that Allah took him under His wilayah and guardianship

The Imam said: "... and verily Allah made him a prophet before appointing him as a messenger". The difference between a prophet and a messenger, as shown by the :traditions narrated from the Imams of the Ahlu 'l-bayt, is as follows

A prophet sees in his dream what Allah intends to reveal to him; and a messenger
.sees the angel and talks to him

:The same gradual progress is seen in the history of Ibrahim (a.s.). Allah says

And mention Ibrahim in the Book; surely he was a truthful (man), a prophet, when he said to his father: “O my father! why do you worship what neither hears nor sees, nor (does it avail you in the least” (19:41 – 42

The verse shows that he was a prophet when he said this to his father. It was a confirmation of what he had told his people as soon :as he arrived among them

Surely I am clear of what you worship; (I worship) but (only) Him Who created me,“ .(for surely He will guide me” (۴۳:۲۶ – ۲۷

:Then we read the verse ۱۱:۶۹ which says

And certainly Our messengers (i.e., angels) came to Ibrahim with good news. They .said: “Peace.” “Peace,” said he

This event, in which Ibrahim saw the angels and talked to them, had taken place in his .old age long after he had left his father and his nation

The Imam said: “And verily Allah appointed him as a messenger before taking him as :a friend.” It is inferred from the words of Allah

And who is better in religion than he who... follows the faith of Ibrahim, the upright
.(one? And Allah took Ibrahim as a friend (۴:۱۲۵

Apparently it shows that Allah took him as a friend because of the same upright faith and religion which he had promulgated by the command of his Lord; the theme of this verse is to describe the distinction and excellence of that upright religion which so .much raised the status of Ibrahim that he was taken as a friend of Allah although both are generally (الصَّادِقُ), is more exclusive than as-Sadiq (الْخَلِيلُ) al-Khalil translated as “friend”. When a friend is sincere and truthful (as-Sadiq) in his dealings with the other friend, he is called as-Sadiq; thereafter, if he turns away from all else, confining his needs and requirements to that friend only, he is called al-khalil, because الْخُلَّةُ al-khullah

.means need and requirement (

The meaning of the Imam's sentence, “and verily Allah took him as a friend before making him an Imam,” may be understood from the foregoing commentary. The words of the Imam: “A fool will not be Imam of a pious,” point to the verse ۲:۱۳۰ – ۱۳۱

And who forsakes the religion of Ibrahim but he who makes himself a fool, and most certainly We chose him in this world, and in the hereafter he is most surely among the righteous. When his Lord said to him, Submit (yourself), he said: “I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds

In this verse Allah says that whoever turns away from the religion of Ibrahim – in other words, whoever is unjust – is a fool; then he contrasts this foolishness with Divine selection – a selection which has been explained in the next sentences as “Islam” or submission to God. (Ponder on the clause, When his Lord said to him, Submit yourself piety, fear of = (التَّقْوَى) submission) and at-taqwa = (الإِسْلَامُ) Then we see that al-Islam (Allah) have been made one, or applicable to one meaning, in the verse

.(O you who believe! fear Allah as is due to Him, and do not die but as Muslims (۳:۱۰۲

(.Think deeply on it) al-Mufid has narrated from Durust and Hisham from the Imams (of the Ahlu 'l-bayt): “Ibrahim was a prophet, and he was not an Imam until Allah, Blessed and High is He, said (to him): “Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men.” (Ibrahim) said: “And of my offspring?” Then Allah, Blessed and High is He, said: “My covenant will not include the unjust.” Whoever had (ever) worshipped an idol or a sculpture or an image, cannot be an Imam

.The author says: Its meaning is clear from the above explanations

It is narrated in al-Amali of at-Tusi (with complete chain of narrators) and in al-Manaqib of Ibn al-Maghazili (as a marfu' tradition) from Ibn Mas'ud from the Prophet : (that he said (explaining the words of Allah to Ibrahim in this verse

Whoever prostrated before an idol, leaving me, I will not make him an Imam.” Then the Prophet said: “And that prayer was fulfilled in me and my brother Ali; neither of us ever prostrated before any idol

Waki' and Ibn Marduwayh have narrated from 'Ali ibn Abi Talib (a.s.) that the Prophet said (in explanation of the words of Allah, My covenant will not include the unjust): (“There is no obedience except in good.” (ad-Durru 'l-manthur Abd ibn Hamid narrated from 'Imran ibn Husayn that he said: “I heard the Prophet saying: 'There is no obedience of a creature in disobedience of Allah (i.e., a man should (not be obeyed if he tells you to disobey Allah).'" (ibid

The author says: The meanings of those traditions are easily understood from the earlier explanations. al-'Ayyashi has narrated in his Tafsir, through several chains, :from Safwan the camel-driver, that he said

We were at Mecca; and the talk gradually reached the“ words of Allah, And (remember) when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words, then he fulfilled them.” (The Imam) said: “That is, he completed them with Muhammad and 'Ali and the Imams from the descendants of 'Ali, as Allah says: Offspring, one from the (other” (۳:۳۴).

The authour says: This tradition takes the “word” in the meaning of the Imamah; a similar explanation is given to “word” in the verses:... for surely He will guide me. And (He made it a word to continue in his posterity... (۴۳: ۲۷ – ۲۸).

According to this tradition, the verse would mean as follows: And remember when his Lord tried Ibrahim with certain words, that is, his own imamah, and that of Ishaq and his progeny; then He completed it with the imamah of Muhammad and of the Imams from his family members, who were from the progeny of Isma'il; then Allah made it :known to Ibrahim telling him

Surely I am going to make you an Imam for men.” Ibrahim said: “And of my offspring?”“ .Allah said: “My covenant will not include the unjust

Commentary

Qur'an: And (remember) when We made the House a rendezvous for men and a (place of) security: It refers to the legislation of the hajj and the sanctuary offered by rendezvous; a place to which one returns) is = (المَثَابَةُ) "the House. "al-Mathabah (he returned, he will return = (يَثُوبُ، يَثُوبُ derived from thaba, yathubu

Qur'an: and take (for yourselves) a place of prayer on the standing-place of Ibrahim: The conjunctive “and” joins this order with the preceding sentence turning that also into order

In that case the complete sentence would have the following connotation: And when We told the people, return to, and do the hajj of the House and take (for yourself) a place of prayer... Other alternative, suggested by some exegetes, is to imply a deleted word “We said

Accordingly, the meaning would be: and We said, take (for yourselves) a place of (الصَّلَاةُ) is deverbal noun of place, derived from as-salah (الْمُصَلَّى) prayer... al-Musalla to pray, to invoke); the sentence means: take (for yourselves) a place of prayer and = (invocation at the place where Ibrahim (a.s.) had stood

Apparently, the preceding sentence is a sort of introduction, pointing to the reason why prayer in that place was prescribed; that is why this sentence does not put emphasis on “prayer” – in other words, it does not say, and pray in the standing-place of Ibrahim; it literally says, and take on the standing-place of

.Ibrahim (a.s.) a place of prayer

Qur'an: And We enjoined Ibrahim and Isma'il (saying): "Purify (you two) My House...": to enjoin, to obligate). The order to purify the House may mean to keep = (أَلْعَهْدُ al-'Ahd it exclusively reserved for the worship by those who go around it making circuits,
.those who abide in it for devotion, and those who pray in it

In this sense, it would be an isti'arah bi 'l-kinaya, and would imply: keep My House exclusively reserved for My worship. Alternatively, the order may be to keep it clean;
.to be on guard lest it is dirtied by careless people one who bows = (الرَّاكِعُ) 'are plurals of ar-raki (السُّجُودُ) and as-sujud (الرُّكُوعُ)'ar-Rukka one who prostrates, one who does sajdah) respectively, = (السَّاجِدُ) down) and as-sajid

.the phrase refers to those who pray

Qur'an: And (remember) when Ibrahim said: "My Lord! make it a secure town... ": In this way Ibrahim (a. s.) called on his Lord to bestow security and safety as well as .sustenance on the residents of Mecca; and the prayer was granted

Far be it from Allah to quote in His speech an unaccepted prayer without hinting at its rejection; if He were to do so, His talk would amount to a vain ridicule – far beneath
:the sublime dignity of His truthful speech. He says

; (and the truth do I speak (٣٨:٨٣ ...

– Most surely it is a decisive word, and it is no a jest (٨٦:١٣

The Qur'an has quoted numerous prayers which this great prophet had pleaded before his Lord for; for example, his prayer for himself in the beginning of his life; his prayer at the time of his emigration to Syria; his invocation to keep his good name alive; his prayer for himself, for his progeny and parents, and for the believing men and women; his invocation, after building the House, for the residents of Mecca; his prayer and pleading for a Prophet to be sent from among his progeny

His prayers and the favours he asked from Allah are a canvas which graphically shows his hopes and expectations, creates before our eyes a clear picture of his endeavours and efforts in the way of Allah, and provides a glimpse of his sublime spiritual virtues

In short, these prayers show his status before Allah and his nearness to Him. One may write a detailed history of his life, basing it on his stories and the laudatory phrases used for him in the Qur'an; and we shall write something on these lines in (Chapter ۶ (The Cattle

Qur'an: such of them as believe: Ibrahim (a. s.) asked his Lord to give the residents of Mecca security and provide them with fruits. At the same time he realized that not all of the residents would be believers, that some of them would be unbelievers; also he understood that his prayer for their sustenance was general – it covered the believers as well as the unbelievers; and he was aware that he had already declared himself to be separate from the unbelievers and :their idols (as Allah says about him

But when it became clear to him that he, that is, his father, was an enemy of Allah, he .[declared himself to be clear of him [۹:۱۱۴

Here Allah bears witness that Ibrahim [a.s.] had declared his separation from every enemy of Allah, not expecting even his father). In this background, as soon as he realized that his prayer included both the believers and the unbelievers, he added the proviso, “such of them as believe...”, although he was well aware that, according to the social structure of this world, sustenance could not be given only to the believing
.group, to the exclusion of the unbelievers; yet he qualified his prayer

Even so, Allah knows better how He should decide about His creatures and what He should decree concerning them. Therefore, Ibrahim's prayer was granted for the .believers, and was extended to cover the unbelievers also

The reply given to Ibrahim (a.s.) implies that Allah would give them sustenance according to the system He has created in this world; in other words, believers and unbelievers both would be given their livelihood, because restricting it to the believers
.would entail unnecessarily breaking the usual and established system

Ibrahim (a.s.) could have said: and provide the believers of this town with fruits; but he did not, because what he wanted to ask was an attraction, a dignity, for the town which would be centred around the Sacred

That House was built in a valley devoid of every agricultural produce; and if it were not provided with fruits and food-stuff, nobody would settle in it, and the place would remain uninhabited

Qur'an: "And whoever disbelieves, I will grant him enjoyment for a short while: The and (أُمَّتٌ عَمٌ) word translated, "I will grant him enjoyment", has been read umti'uhu and at-taf- (الْإِفْعَالُ) from the verbal noun's paradigms al-if'al (أُمَّتٌ عَمٌ) umatti'uhu .respectively. Meaning of both readings is the same (الْتَفْعِيلُ) il

Qur'an: then I will drive him to the chastisement...": It further shows the great dignity of the House and is meant to give even more pleasure to Ibrahim (a.s.). The import of :the verse is as follows

I have granted your prayer (to increase this House's honour by giving sustenance to its believing residents) and have decided to include even the unbelievers in that livelihood; but the unbelievers should not be deluded by that; they should not think that the sustenance comes to them because they have got any honour in the eyes of Allah; it is actually in honour of this town, because I have accepted your prayer and given you more than you had asked. As for the unbeliever, I will surely drive him to the .chastisement of the Fire and it is an evil destination

Qur'an: And (remember) when Ibrahim and Isma'il were raising the foundations of the which literally means that part (الْقَوَاعِدُ) is plural of al-ga'idah (الْقَوَاعِدُ) House: al-Qawa'id of building which “sits” in the earth'; hence it has been translated as foundation, upon which the .rest of the building is raised Raising the foundations” is an allegorical expression, it counts the walls (which were“ raised upon foundations) as a part of the foundation; another allegorical aspect is to ascribe the rise to the foundations alone without mentioning the walls, although it were the walls which were raised. The words “of the House”, point to the intended .allegory

Qur'an: “Our. Lord! accept from us; surely Thou art the Hearing, the Knowing: The prayer comes direct from Ibrahim and Isma'il, without any introductory clause like .“They said” or “They prayed”; such a clause is not even implied here

When we read the words, “when Ibrahim and Isma'il were raising the foundations of the House”, the scene is flashed before our eyes; it is as though we see them busy building the walls, and then we dramatically hear their voices and their prayer directly .from them – there is no need of any intermediary to report to us what they said or did

Such dramatic presentation is often used in the Qur'an, and it is among its most beautiful styles – and all its styles are beautiful. It presents the story in the most effective way, bringing it within the purview of our senses. It is a style which .surpasses all manners of narration and reporting

Ibrahim and Isma'il did not mention the thing or action which they prayed to Allah to accept, that is, they did not say, accept from us this construction' of Thy House. It shows their humbleness and humility before their Lord; they thought that it was a very insignificant work on their part and was not worthy of their Lord

This omission of the object has given the following connotation to their prayer: Our Lord! accept from us this in-significant deed, although it is not worthy of Thy name; surely Thou art hearing our prayers, knowing our intentions

Qur'an: Our Lord! And make us both submissive to thee and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting to Thee. The words translated here as submissive and submitting respectively (مُسْلِمًا) and its feminine muslimah (مُسْلِمَةٌ) are muslim

Obviously, the definition of Islam, with which we are familiar, and which comes to our minds as soon as we hear the word, Islam, is just the elementary grade of servitude; it distinguishes a professed convert from the one who openly rejects the faith. This elementary Islam means professing the matters of faith and doing necessary deeds, no matter whether it is done with true belief or hypo-critically

Now, Ibrahim (a.s.) was a prophet, a messenger and one of the five ulu 'l-'azm apostles, who gave us the upright faith. It is unthinkable that such a great prophet had not attained, at the time when he was praying, this most elementary grade of Islam

Likewise, his son, Isma'il (a.s.), was a messenger of Allah and had been offered as sacrifice in His way. Can it be said that they had got that much

Islam but were unaware of it? Or that, although they were aware of having attained
?to that Islam but wanted to continue on it

Just look at the context of the prayer: Those who prayed were so near to Allah; they were praying while building His Sacred House; they knew whom they were praying to,
.and who He was and how great His splendour is Could they, in that position, ask for such a trivial grade from the Lord Almighty?

Moreover, this grade of Islam is among those things which are within the power of :man himself; and that is why man can be ordered to accept it; as Allah says

When his Lord said to him: “Be a Muslim”, he said: “I submit myself to the Lord of the .(worlds” (۲:۱۳۱)

Obviously, such a quality or action cannot be attributed to Allah; likewise, it is meaningless to ask from Allah to do a work which has been placed within the power of the man himself. (Of course, it may be done if there is some special condition which (.makes Divine interference justifiable

Therefore, the Islam they had asked for was not that Islam whose definition we are :familiar with. Islam has many grades, as may be see in the verse quoted above

When his Lord said to him (i.e., Ibrahim): “Be a Muslim”, he said: “I submit myself to the .(Lord of the worlds” (۲:۱۳۱)

Ibrahim (a.s.) was ordered to be a Muslim at a time when he was already a Muslim.
Clearly, the Islam which he was told to attain was other than the Islam he had already attained. There are many such examples in the Qur'an

This sublime grade of Islam – which we shall explain in detail later on – means total servitude, unconditional surrender of all a servant has got to his Master. No doubt it is within a man's power to prepare the conditions facilitating its attainment

Yet, when we look at an average man and the usual condition of his heart and mind, such a high standard seems beyond his power to attain. In other words, it is not possible for him – in the conditions surrounding him – to get to that sublime Islam

From this point of view, that Islam is not different from other positions of al-wilayah (friendship of Allah) and its lofty stages, or from other grades of perfection – all (الْوَلَايَةُ) of them are beyond the reach of an average man, because he cannot fulfil their necessary conditions

In this sense, it is possible to count that Islam as a Divine gift which is beyond a man's power to attain by himself. Consequently, it is perfectly right for a man to pray to Allah to bestow on him that sublime quality and make him a Muslim of that high rank

Moreover, there is another deeper connotations: It is only actions which are attributed to man and emanate from his free will and power; as for his attributes and (deep-rooted traits (which are etched on his psyche by repeated actions

.they are in fact beyond his power

Therefore, they may be – or let us say, should be – attributed to Allah, especially if they are good and virtuous attributes which should better be attributed to Allah rather than to man. This observation is based on the style used in the Qur'an. For example

;(My Lord! make me keep up prayer, and from my off-spring (too) ” (١٤:٤٠ “

; (and join me with the good ones” (٢٦:٨٣ ... “

My Lord! grant me that I should be grateful for Thy bounty which Thou has bestowed“ on me and on my parents, and that I should do good such as Thou art pleased with,
;(and make me enter, by Thy mercy, into Thy servants, the good ones” (٢٧:١٩

Our Lord! and make us both submissive to Thee and (raise) from our offspring a“
.(group submitting to Thee (٢:١٢٨

It is now clear that the Islam which Ibrahim and Isma'il had asked for was something :different from the Islam to which the verse ٤٩:١٤ refers

The dwellers of the desert say: “We believe.” Say: “You do not believe but say: 'We ”.submit (we accept Islam)'; and faith has not yet entered into your hearts

The Islam they prayed for was of a high rank and sublime grade which we shall .explain later on

Qur'an: and show us our ways of devotion and turn to us (mercifully), surely Thou art the Oft-returning (with mercy), the Merciful: This also points to the sublime meaning translated here as = (الْمَنَاسِكُ) of Islam, just referred to al-manasik which means “worship” or “act of (الْمَنْسِكِ) ways of devotion) is plural of al-mansak :worship”, as Allah says

(And to every nation We appointed (acts of) worship... (٢٢:٣٤)

It is a masdar used as the first construct of a genitive case. We have explained earlier that a masdar used in this way proves the existence of that work or action. Therefore, the phrase, “our ways of devotion”, refers to those acts of worship which they were doing or had already done; it does not refer to any action which they intended to do in .future

In this context, the phrase “show us” does not mean “teach us” or “help us to do”; rather it means “strengthen us by showing us the realities of our acts of worship”, as :we pointed out earlier while writing the verse and We revealed to them the doing of good (deeds) and the establishing of prayer .(and the giving of zakat (٢١:٧٣)

And later on we shall explain that the revelation mentioned in this verse means to strengthen the doer of that deed; it does not mean teaching them their responsibilities and obligations. Probably, it is to this reality that the verses ٣٨: ٤٥ – ٤٦ :refer

And remember Our servants, Ibrahim and Ishaq and Ya'qub, men of strength and insight. Surely We purified them by a pure quality, the remembering of the (final) .abode

The above explanation makes it clear that this prayer was for an Islam and an insight into worship completely different from ordinary meanings of these terms. The usually translated as, forgive = (تُبِّ عَلَيْنَا) same is the case with their prayer, tub 'alayna ;(us Ibrahim and Isma'il both were prophets, protected by Allah from every error and sin; they could not make any mistake or error; they did not need Allah's forgiveness and pardon as we do when we commit sins, (that is why we have translated it in literal .(way: turn to us mercifully

Question: It is all right to interpret Islam, showing the ways of devotion and forgiveness in the way you have done maintaining the dignity of Ibrahim and Isma'il (peace be on them both). But it is not necessary to apply the same meanings when these words are used for their offspring. Ibrahim (a.s.) did not include his offspring with himself and Isma'il, except in the prayer for Islam, and that also in a separate .sentence

They did not say: Make us and a group of our offspring submissive to Thee; instead they prayed for themselves, and after that separately pleaded for their offspring, .”saying, ”and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting to Thee

There should be no difficulty in believing that what they had in mind was Islam in its general meaning covering all its ranks and grades – even the most elementary one. Even this elementary grade of Islam gives good results and is instrumental in creating .good environment in the society

It would not be wrong if Ibrahim (a.s.) asked his Lord for this Islam; even the Prophet invited people to just that type of Islam – if they testified that there was none to be worshipped except Allah and Muhammad (S) was His Messenger, they were accepted as Muslims, their lives were protected, marriage with them was allowed and they became entitled to inherit from their Muslim relatives

Therefore, it should be perfectly right to say that the two sentences refer to two separate ranks of Islam: “Our Lord! and make us both submissive to Thee”, would mean the highest rank of Islam in conformity with the prestige of Ibrahim and Isma'il and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting to Thee”, would refer to the elementary grade of Islam befitting a nation which included hypocrites and people of weak faith as well as those with firm belief – and all are called Muslims

Reply: Position of legislation for the guidance of people is totally different from the position of praying to Allah, and each has its own rules; what is valid on one plane is not necessarily good on the other

The Prophet prescribed a minimum standard for his ummah, that is, to utter the two testimonies of the Oneness of Allah, and his own prophethood; it was done with a view to widen the circle of Islam and to protect the healthy religious system – that manifest Islam protected the essence of Islam as a shell protects the kernel

But the plane of invocation and prayer to Allah is much higher than that. At this level, appearances lose their value; it is the reality that matters here; the objective here is actuality and truth, and the desire is for nearness to Allah. At this level, the prophets are not influenced by appearance. It was not because of any worldly love of his offspring that Ibrahim (a.s.) prayed for his progeny

Had it been so, he would have prayed first of all for his father and would not have declared his separation from him as soon as he came to know that he was an enemy of Allah. Also, if he would have been concerned with appearances, he would not have prayed in the following words

And disgrace me not on the day when they are raised, the day on which neither property will avail, nor sons, except him who comes to Allah with a heart submissive

nor would have he said: And make for me a truthful tongue among the posterity
,((٢٦:٨٤

.instead he would have said, make for me a remembering tongue among the posterity

Keeping all this in view, it is easy to understand that when he asked from his Lord to raise a Muslim group from among his offspring, he did not mean the elementary rank of Islam; he wanted for them the reality of Islam

The Qur'anic words, "a group submitting to Thee", support this interpretation. If he wanted only the appearance of Islam and not its essence, it was enough to say, "a (group submitting)", there was no need to add, "to Thee". (Ponder on this point

Qur'an: Our Lord! and raise up in them an Apostle from among themselves...: He was praying for the Prophet; and the Prophet used to say: "I am the prayer of Ibrahim al-Kattani said: "I asked Abu Abdillah (a.s.) about a man who forgot to pray two rak'ahs near the standing-place of Ibrahim, in at-tawaf (circumambulation) of the hajj and 'umrah. He (a.s.) said

If he is still in the town (Mecca), he should pray the two rak'ahs near the standing-place of Ibrahim, because verily Allah says: and take (for yourselves) a place of prayer on the standing-place of Ibrahim; and if he has departed (from it) then I will not order (him to return.'" (al-Kafi

The author says: Almost similar traditions have been narrated by ash-Shaykh in at-Tahdhib and by al-'Ayyashi in his at-Tafsir with several asnad (i.e., chains of narrators). Particulars of this rule (i.e., prayer should be offered near or behind the standing-place - as is narrated in some traditions that

No-one should pray the two rak'ahs of at-tawaf except behind the standing-place..." (from; here translated as on) used in the order, (مِنْ) are inferred from the word min ...and take... a place of prayer on (or, from) the standing-place as-Sadiq (a.s.) said explaining the words of Allah: Purify (you two) My House...: "Keep (the polytheists away from it." (at-Tafsir, al-Qummi

:as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: " Verily Allah, Mighty and Great is He! says in His Book

Purify (you two) My House for those who make circuit and those who abide (in it for' devotion) and those who bow

'down (and) those who prostrate themselves

Therefore, it is proper for a servant not to enter Mecca except that he is clean, (and)
"has washed away his sweat and dirt and has purified himself

The author says: This meaning has been narrated in other traditions also. The idea, that if the place of arrival is clean then the one who arrives should make himself clean, may be inferred from other verses too. See, for example, the verse

(and the good things are for good ones and the good ones are for good things (۲۴:۲۶)

Ibn 'Abbas said: "When Ibrahim brought Isma'il and Hajar, he settled them at Mecca; and a time passed; and the people of (the tribe of) Jurhum came to settle there and Isma'il married a woman from that tribe; and Hajar died; and Ibrahim asked permission of Sarah (to visit Isma'il); so she allowed him but imposed a condition on him (that he would not come down (from his riding animal

Thus Ibrahim arrived (at Mecca) and Hajar had died, so he went to the house of Isma'il; and he asked his wife: 'Where is your husband?' She told him: 'He is not here, the boundary) to = (الْحَرَمِ) he has gone hunting.' And Isma'il used to go outside al-Haram 'hunt and then return. Ibrahim said to her: 'Do you have anything to entertain a guest

She said: 'I have nothing and there is nobody with me.' Then Ibrahim said to her: 'When your husband comes, tell him (my) salam and tell him to change the threshold of his door.' And Ibrahim went away. Then Isma'il came and .felt the scent of his father

So he asked his wife: 'Had anyone come to you?' She said: 'An old man had come to me with such and such features (describing him scornfully).' (Isma'il) said: 'Then what did he say to you?' She said: 'He said to me to give you (his) salam and to tell you to change the threshold of your door.' So, Isma'il divorced her and married another ..(woman

Thereafter, Ibrahim remained (at his place) as long as Allah wished him to remain (there). Then he asked permission of Sarah to visit Isma'il; and she allowed him, but (again) imposed the (same) condition that he should not come down (from his riding .animal). Then Ibrahim came until he reached the door of Isma'il

And he asked his wife: 'Where is your husband?' She said: 'He has gone for hunting and, Allah willing, he will come back just now; you come down, may Allah have mercy '?upon you!' He asked her: 'Do you have anything to entertain a guest

She said: 'Yes.' Then she brought milk and meat. (Ibrahim) thereupon prayed and blessed her. Had she brought on that day bread, wheat, barley or date, (Mecca) would have become the most plentiful of all the world in wheat, barley or date. Then she said
'to him: '(Please) come down so that I may wash your head

But he did not come down. So she brought (the stone which thereafter was known as) the standing-place (of Ibrahim) and put it on his (right) side, and he put his foot on it, and his footmark was impressed on it; (in this way) she washed the right side of his head; then she shifted the stone to his left side and .washed the left side of his head, and (again) his footmark was imprinted on it

Thereupon (Ibrahim) said to her: 'When your husband comes, give him (my) salam .and tell him that the threshold of his door is now in order

When Isma'il (a.s.) came back, he felt the scent of his father, and asked his wife: 'Had anyone come to you?' She replied: 'Yes, a venerable (old) man, of loveliest features and most pleasant fragrance; he said to me this and this and I told him this and this; and I washed his head and this is the imprint of his feet on (his) standing-place.'

((Hearing this), Isma'il said to her: 'That was Ibrahim.'" (Majma'u 'l-bayan

.The author says: al-Qummi has narrated in his at-Tafsir a nearly similar tradition as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: "Verily, Ibrahim settled in a valley of Syria. When he got his son Isma'il from Hajar, Sarah was extremely grieved because she herself had no child.

.And she used to hurt Ibrahim and make him unhappy with respect to Hajar

So Ibrahim complained to Allah about it, and Allah sent a revelation to him: 'The likeness of woman is like the curved rib; if you leave it (as it is), you will benefit from it, but if you (try to) make it straight, you will break it.' Thereafter, (Allah) ordered him to remove Isma'il and his mother (from that place

He said: 'O Lord! to which place?' (Allah) said: 'To My holy place, and My sanctuary, and the part of the earth which I created first (of all the earth); and it is Mecca.' Then Allah sent Jibril down to him with al-Buraq⁽¹⁾; and (Jibril) made Hajar, Isma'il and Ibrahim
.ride on it

And whenever Ibrahim passed a good place with trees, cultivation and date-palms, he used to say: 'O Jibril! here? here?' And Jibril used to reply: 'No, go on, go on.' (It continued) until they reached Mecca and (Jibril) made them alight in the place where
.the House is

And Ibrahim had given Sarah a promise that he would not come down until he came back to her. When they alighted in that place, there was a tree there; Hajar spread on .that tree a sheet she had with her, and thus they found a shade under it

When Ibrahim arranged their affairs and settled them there, he wished to leave them to return to Sarah. Hajar said to him: 'O Ibrahim! Are you leaving us in a place where there is neither human being to keep company nor water nor cultivation?' Ibrahim
'said: 'Allah, Who has ordered me to settle you in this place, will suffice you

Then he took leave of them. When he reached Kada' (a mountain in Dhu Tuwa), Ibrahim

O our Lord! surely I have settled a part of my offspring in a valley uncultivable near Thy Sacred House, our Lord!, that they may establish prayer; therefore make the hearts of some people yearn towards them and provide them with fruits, haply they (may be grateful” (١٤:٣٧)

Then he went away, and Hajar remained (there). When the sun rose high, Isma'il became thirsty; Hajar stood at the running-place(١), and she ascended the Safa, and mirage glittered before her in the valley and she thought that it was water; so she (descended to the valley and ran (to it

When she reached Marwah, she could not see Isma'il, therefore, she returned until she reached Safa and again she looked (around, with the same effect); until she did likewise seven times. When she was on Marwah, in the seventh round, she looked at Isma'il and lo! water had appeared from under his feet

She returned and gathered sand around the water – the water was flowing and she zammāt) it with (the sand) which she put around it, and that is = زَمَّمَتُ “reined” (Arabic .why it was called zamzam

And the (tribe of) Jurhum had come down at Dhu 'l-majaz and Arafat. .and the water had appeared for them

They said to Hajar: 'Who are you? And what is the matter with you and this child?' She said: 'I am the mother of the son of Ibrahim, the friend of Allah, and this is his son; .Allah has ordered him to settle us here

They asked her: 'Would you allow us to remain near you?' She told them: 'Until Ibrahim comes.' When Ibrahim came to visit them the third day, Hajar said: 'O friend of Allah! there are some people of Jurhum here; they request you to allow them to .settle near us; so will you allow them?' Ibrahim said: 'Yes

Then Hajar allowed them and they settled near them, and erected their tents. In this way Hajar and Isma'il got on friendly terms with them. When Ibrahim came to see them the second time, he looked at the large number of people around them, and he .was extremely happy

When Isma'il grew up – and each one of the Jurhum had presented one or two goats to Isma'il – so Hajar and Isma'il supported themselves with them. When Isma'il came of age, Allah ordered Ibrahim to build the House... When Allah ordered Ibrahim to build the House, he did not know where to build it; so Allah sent Jibril and he drew a ...line at the site of the House

So, Ibrahim built the House and shifted Isma'il from Dhu Tuwa. And he raised (the House) nine hands in height. Then (Jibril) led him to the place of the (Black) Stone, and Ibrahim took it out and fixed it in the place where it is at present

When he built it, he made two doors for it, one in the east and the other in the west; and the door that was in the west is (now) called al-Mustajar. Then he put on it tree (– a sweet smelling grass) (as roof). And Hajar put on the = (الأذخُرُ trunks) and al-adhkar door a sheet she had with her and under which they used to sit. When he built and completed it, Ibrahim and Isma'il performed their hajj

Jibril came to them on the day of at-tarwiyah, that is, 12th Dhu 'l-hijjah, and said: 'O Ibrahim! stand up and quench your thirst from water' (because there was no water in to quench = أَلْتِ رَوِيَّةُ Mina or 'Arafat); that is why it was named the day of at-tarwiyah (thirst)

Then (Jibril) took him out to Mina and he stayed there in the night, and Jibril did with Ibrahim what he had done with Adam. Thus, when Ibrahim completed the construction of the House, he said: 'My Lord! make it a secure town and provide its " '...people with fruits, such of them as believe in Allah

The Imam explained the fruits as the fruits of the hearts, that is, make people love them, so that they may befriend them and return to them (year after year). (at-Tafsir, (al-Qummi

The author says: This is the gist of this story, and it covers many of the traditions narrated about this subject. Some other traditions say that there had happened many miraculous things in the history of the House

For example, some traditions say that the House in the very beginning was a dome of light; it had descended on Adam and settled in the place where in later days Ibrahim built the Ka'bah; and that dome remained in the place till the deluge of Nuh; when the earth was submerged in water, Allah took that dome up; and its site was not submerged, that is why the Ka'bah is called the Ancient House

Other traditions say that Allah sent the foundation of the House down from the Garden

Yet others say that the Black Stone came down from the Garden – and it was whiter than snow – then it turned black when it was touched by the unbelievers

Also it is narrated from al-Baqir or as-Sadiq (a.s.) that he said: “Verily Allah ordered Ibrahim to build the Ka'bah and to raise its walls and to show the people their ways of devotion (i.e., hajj Thereupon, Ibrahim and Isma'il built the House, every day (the height of) a knee until it reached the place of the Black Stone.” And al-Baqir (a.s.) said: “Then the (mountain) Abu Qubays called to him: 'I have something in trust for you;' and it gave him the ((Black) Stone, and he put it in its place.” (al-Kafi ath-Thawri says: “I asked Abu Ja'far (a.s.) about the Stone. He said: 'Three stones :came down from the Garden the Black Stone which was put in place by Ibrahim, and the Standing-place of Ibrahim, (and the stone of the Israelites.' ” (al-'Ayyashi

.And a tradition says that the Black Stone was an angel

The author says: There are very many such traditions narrated by both the Shi'ah and the Sunni narrators; and although these traditions are ahad and do not reach, in words or meanings, the standard required for a mutawatir narration, still they are not unique in the field of religious descriptions, nor is there any reason to discard them altogether

As for the narration that the dome was sent down to Adam or that Ibrahim rode al-Buraq for his journey to Mecca and other such miraculous happenings which have a super-natural character, there is no reason to say that they were impossible. Moreover, Allah had given His prophets many such miracles and super-natural signs, and the Qur'an mentions many such events

So far as the coming down of the foundations of the House, the Black Stone and the Standing Stone (which is said to be fixed in the structure now known as the Standing-place of Ibrahim) and other such things are concerned, there are many such examples found in the Qur'an and hadith. Many vegetables and fruits etc. are said to be from the Garden, or from the Fire and its out-burst

Of the same genre are the traditions of “substance” saying that the substance of the good people is from the Garden and that of the evil ones is from the lofty place; the Book of the deeds of the = (أَلْعَلَّيْنِ) Fire; or that they are from al-'illiyyin prison; the Book of the deeds of the evil ones), = (أَلْسِنَاتٍ) virtuous) and as-sijjin .respectively

Of similar nature are the traditions to the effect that the Garden of al-barzakh (the period between death and the Day of Judgment) is in some specified place on this earth, and the Fire of al-barzakh in some other place in it; and that the grave is either .a section of the Garden's or a pit of the Fire's

There are many such informations which one is sure to come upon while studying the traditions. And, as we said earlier, they are so huge in number that the whole lot .cannot be discarded, nor is it possible to question its authenticity

They are parts of the Divine realities expounded by the Qur'an and followed by the traditions. The fact is that all the things seen in this material world have been sent down by Allah; whatsoever is good and lovely, or is a means to or a receptacle of good, has come down from the Garden and will return to it; and whatsoever is bad and evil, or is a means to or a receptacle of evil, has come down from the Fire and will .return to it

And there is not a thing but with Us are the treasures of it, and We do not send it down .(but in a known measure (١٥:٢١)

It shows that everything exists with

Allah, and it is an existence without any limit or measure; when it is sent down – a gradual descent – then it becomes subject to limits and measures

This verse describes the descent of all things in general. But there are also in the Qur'an specific examples of this descent. Allah says

; (and He has sent down for you eight of the cattle in pairs... (۳۹:۶ ...

; (and We have sent down the iron... (۵۷:۲۵ ...

. (And in the heaven is your sustenance, and what you are promised (۵۱:۲۲

We shall further explain the meanings of these verses in their proper places, Allah willing. They however prove that every thing descends to this world from Allah. Other verses show that they are also to return to him, as He says

; (And that to your Lord is the end goal (۵۳:۴۲

; (Surely to your Lord is the return (۹۶:۸

; (to Him is the eventual coming (۴۰:۳ ...

. (now surely to Allah do all affairs eventually come (۴۲:۵۳ ...

. There are many verses in the Qur'an of the same connotation

Also, Allah has made it clear that every thing – and all things presently are in middle of their journey – follows a course demanded by its origin, and that origin has some effect on its success and failure, its good and evil, as the Qur'an says

; (Say: “Every one acts according to his own manner...” (۱۷:۸۴

. (And every one has a direction to which he should turn... (۲:۱۴۸

We shall explain all these verses in their places; here they have been quoted just to .complete the picture, and make the subject of our discussion clearer

What these verses prove is this: There is reason to believe that the traditions which say about a material thing that it came down from the Garden or from the Fire (when that thing has some connection with the next life's happiness or unhappiness) are on the whole correct, because they are, generally speaking, in conformity with the Qur'anic principles – although it does not mean that each and every such tradition is .correct or trustworthy. Ponder on this point

Someone has said: “The Divine words: And (remember) when Ibrahim and Isma'il were raising the foundations of the House..., manifestly show that the two prophets .built this House for the worship of Allah in that country of the idol-worshippers

But the story-tellers and those exegetes who followed them have embroidered what Allah had said. They have added a lot of fanciful details, as, for example, that the House was from the very beginning and Adam did its hajj; that it was taken to the .heaven during Null's flood; that the Black Stone was one of the stones of the Garden

Their main purpose was to present the religion in an attractive garment, adorning it with fascinating narratives. Such myths may impress the masses; but the people who have knowledge and wisdom know that spiritual excellence depends on Divine .bestowal – it is Allah Who makes one thing to excel the others

,The Ka'bah has excellence because it is the House of Allah, that is attributed to Him; the Black Stone is excellent because people have been ordered to kiss it – in this respect it represents the hand of Allah. It has no bearing on its excellence whether originally it was a ruby or a pearl or some other rock; nor do such tales add to its real glory

In reality it makes no difference in the eyes of Allah whether a stone is black or white. The Ka'bah has got its distinction and honour because Allah has called it His House, and has appointed it as the centre for various acts of worship which cannot be performed in any other place – its glory does not lie in the fact that its stones are more valuable than other stones, or that its site is the most attractive of all, or that it was sent down from the lofty heavens

Likewise, the excellence of the prophets is not based on any distinctive feature of their bodies nor on the quality of their apparel. They got excellence because Allah chose them especially, and selected them for His prophethood which is a spiritual thing; otherwise many people in the world were far superior to them in their adornments and enjoyed greater worldly bounties

He continues to say: “These traditions are untrustworthy because they contradict each other and some are self-contradictory; they are unauthentic because their chains of narrators are not correct; they are unacceptable because they go against the apparent meaning of the Qur'an

He further says: “These traditions are Israelite myths, propagated among the Muslims by unbelieving Jews to make Islam

".look ridiculous, in order to keep the People of the Book away from it

The author says: There is a grain of truth in some things he has said: But he has gone far beyond the limit in disputation, and consequently has lost his bearings and arrived at a hypothesis much more atrocious and repugnant, Let us have a critical look at his :arguments

Objection: "These traditions are untrustworthy and unacceptable because they ".contradict each other and are against the Qur'an

Reply: The fact that some of them contradict the others could be a matter of worry if we were to accept them one by one as separate independent units. But when we accept the whole in their collective capacity (i.e., when we say that the whole lot should not be discarded because, taken all together, they do not tell us anything that is against reason or against the Qur'an or accepted traditions), then it is of no .importance if there some minor discrepancies between individual traditions

But one point must be made clear here: What we have said just now, concerns the traditions narrated from the infallible sources like the Prophet and his sinless family members. So far as other exegetes among the Companions and their disciples are concerned, they, in this respect, are just like any other people; for us it makes no .difference whether their talk is free from contradiction or riddled with it

In short, there is no justification to discard a tradition, or a group of traditions, unless it goes against the Qur'an or other authentic traditions, or the marks of forgery and lie are stamped on it. (However, when it comes to the basic religious knowledge and fundamental beliefs, the only thing accepted as proof is the Book of Allah and the authentic traditions of the (.Prophet and his sinless progeny; nothing else counts in this area

It is now clear that there are some things which must be accepted, that is, the Qur'an and the authentic traditions; and there are others which must be rejected, that is, all
.that goes against the Qur'an and the authentic traditions

Then there is a third group: the traditions concerning which there is neither any proof compelling us to reject it, nor forcing us to accept it. These are the traditions which are neither impossible in reason nor unacceptable according to the Qur'an and
.authentic traditions – and there is no reason why they should be discarded altogether

.Objection: These traditions are unauthentic according to their chains of narrators

Reply: The above given explanation also dispels this doubt, because weakness of the chains of narrators does not oblige us to reject the whole group, unless it is against .the reason, the Qur'an or the authentic traditions

Objection: They are against the words of Allah; And (remember) when Ibrahim and ...Isma'il were raising the foundation of the House

Reply: I wish I knew how this verse proves that the Black Stone was not from the ,Garden! Or

that the dome did not come down to that place in Adam's time (and there was, therefore, no question of its being taken up at the time of the flood)! The only thing .the verse says is that this construction, made of stone and mud, was built by Ibrahim

What has this got to do – either for or against – the traditions mentioned earlier. The only difficulty with those traditions is that the objector does not like them. And this .dislike is based, not on the principles of religion, but on his biased views

He does not believe that the prophets had any spiritual realities within them; he does not think that the exoteric side of religion is based on its esoteric aspect; he unconsciously is so much over-awed by today's natural sciences that he tries to find a material cause not only for material happenings but even for spiritual things – if they have even a slight connection with matter. For him, the matter rules over all .happenings, not excepting the sociological principles

This man should have pondered on this point: The natural sciences deal with the matter; its properties and its various compounds; they look at the relationship of a natural effect with its cause. Likewise, the various sociological disciplines study the .social relationships among various event taking place in society

But the natural and sociological sciences have no concern at all with the realities which are beyond the sphere of matter, outside its field of action; they have no jurisdiction

even over immaterial connections existing between a material thing and an event
.taking place in the visible world

The natural sciences and disciplines have no authority or right to confirm or reject these immaterial realities. It is within the jurisdiction of natural science to say that construction of a house depends on things like mud, stone and mason; it may explain
.how black stones may take the shape of a room

Likewise, sociological disciplines may describe the factors which led to the building of the Ka'bah – it may explain a part of Ibrahim's biography, Hajar's life, Isma'il's story,
.history of Tahamah, arrival of the tribe of Jurhum and things like that

But these sciences and disciplines have no right to discuss what was the relation between a certain stone on one hand and the Garden or the Fire on the other; nor have these branches of knowledge any right to express any affirmative or negative
.opinion about such narratives

And you have seen that the Qur'an clearly says that even material and physical things have been sent down from the treasure which is with Allah, and that they would .ultimately return to Him – either to the Garden or to the Fire

Also, the Qur'an says that the deeds and actions – which are but physical movements
:and positions – ascend to Allah and arrive at His presence

; (To Him do ascend the good words, and the good deed lifts them up (۳۵:۱) .

:again it says

,(to Him reaches the piety on your part (۲۲:۳۷ and piety is but action or a characteristic acquired through repeated actions. It is essential for a student of religion to meditate on these verses and to understand that the religious realities do not have any relationship with material or sociological matters per se; .they depend on the facts which are beyond the reach of material disciplines

Objection: The excellence of the prophets, and the things attributed to them like the Ka'bah or the Black Stone, is not based on a material quality; it is a spiritual excellence .bestowed by the Divine Grace

Reply: What he says is right. But he should understand what is the real meaning of what he says. What is that spiritual reality which creates excellence? Is it a mentally posited abstract idea created by social needs, like the designations and offices found in every nation, for example, presidency, leadership of the party, the high price of gold ?and silver, respect of the parents, sanctity of the laws of the land

All these are subjective and imaginative abstract forms which the societies have laid down to meet their own needs; but they have no existence outside the imagination, .beyond subjective consideration

Such honours and distinctions cannot be found outside the social life which created them to fulfil its needs; and Allah is too sublime for such needs to reach His presence. Therefore, such social distinctions have no relevance to an excellence given by Allah .to any of His creatures

If the objector thinks that the excellence of the prophets is just like the above-mentioned imaginary and unreal honours, then why should a house or a stone be denied a similar excellence? And if he believes that an excellence given by Allah is the real one, as is found in light vis-à-vis darkness, in knowledge vis-à-vis ignorance, and in wisdom vis-à-vis idiocy, then of course it would be a real and actual excellence

In that case, the quiddity of the existence of a prophet would be different from the quiddity of other human beings – even if our senses are unable to grasp it

And such real excellence and distinction is in keeping with the sublimity and sanctity of the Divine actions and wisdom. Allah says

And We did not create the heavens and the earth and what is between them in sport. We did not create them both but with the truth, but most of them do not know (۴۴:۳۸ – ۳۹).

Such a distinction is real, spiritual, metaphysical and beyond the reach of physical nature. And if such real excellence may be given to the prophets, why can it not be bestowed on some other things, like the Ka'bah and the Black Stone etc.? And, may be, it is this real immaterial excellence which has been described in such words that the people could easily understand

Would that I knew what would such people do about those Qur'anic verses which say that the people of the Garden will be given cups, ornaments and dresses of gold and silver. These two metals have no inherent excellence except that their

.price remains high because of their scarcity

If so, then why should they be used for exalting the people of the Garden? What wealth will they represent in the Garden? After all, the economics of this world will not !be valid there

These and other such Divine words and exoteric expressions are the curtains which hide the esoteric realities; they are the veils covering Divine secrets. And if such expressions are accept-able for the realities of the next world, they can as easily be .used for some facts of this one az-Zubayri says: "I said to Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.): 'Tell me about the ummah of Muhammad (S), who are they?' He said: 'The ummah of Muhammad (S) are the Children of Hashim in particular.' I said: 'And what is the proof that the ummah of Muhammad are his family members you have mentioned, to the exclusion of the '?others

He said: '(It is) the words of Allah: And (remember) when Ibrahim and Isma'il were raising the foundations of the House: "Our Lord! accept from us; surely Thou art the Hearing, the Knowing. Our Lord! and make us both submissive to Thee and (raise) from our offspring a group (ummah) submitting to Thee, and show us our ways of devotion and turn to us (mercifully), surely Thou art the Oft-returning (with mercy),
".the Merciful

When Allah answered the prayer of Ibrahim and Isma'il and did (promise to) raise from their offspring a submissive ummah and raised up in them an Apostle from ,among themselves, that is from among that ummah itself, to recite to them His communications, and to teach them the Book and the wisdom, Ibrahim beseeched Allah for another bounty; and asked for that ummah purity from polytheism and idol-worship in order that the affair of that Apostle might remain firm and strong among them and they might not need to follow anyone other than themselves

:That is why Ibrahim said and save me and my sons from worshipping idols: My Lord! Surely they have led many men astray; then whoever follows me, he is surely of me, and whoever (disobeys me, Thou surely art Forgiving, Merciful" (۱۴:۳۵ - ۳۶

It proves that the Imams, and the submissive ummah in which Muhammad (s. a. w. a.) was raised, cannot be except from the offspring of Ibrahim (a.s.), because he had (said: "save me and my sons from worshipping idols" ' ". (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: The argument of the Imam is absolutely clear. Ibrahim (a. s.) had asked this submissive ummah to be from his offspring in particular; and the next sentence, "Our Lord! and raise up in them an Apostle from among themselves...", show that the same submissive group is the ummah of Muhammad (S) - and the word, ummah, as used here, does not refer to the people whom Muhammad (S) was sent to; nor to those who answered his call and believed in his prophethood, because that ummah is not confined to the offspring of Ibrahim and Isma'il; the word in the present context

.(refers to a particular submissive ummah from the offspring of Ibrahim (a.s

Thereafter, Ibrahim (a.s.) prayed to his Lord to protect him and his sons from idol-worship, to keep them away from polytheism and error – and this Divine protection is .(ismah (infallibility; sinlessness

Also we know that there were a lot of people among the offspring of Ibrahim and Isma'il – the Arabs of the Mudar, or particularly the Quraysh – who had gone astray and worshipped idols. It proves that when Ibrahim (a.s.) prayed for his "sons" to be protected from idol-worship, he did not mean all his sons; he was praying only for his infallible offspring, that is, the Prophet and his purified progeny

These, then, are the ummah of Muhammad (S) in the prayer of Ibrahim (a.s.). Probably, it was for this fine distinction that Ibrahim (a.s.) changed the word, "offspring", to "sons"; this view is strengthened by the phrases following this prayer then whoever follows me, he is surely of me, and whoever disobeys me, Thou surely"
."art Forgiving, Merciful

Note the opening word, "then", which shows that what follows is based on what has preceded; thereafter, he confirms that those who would follow him would be from him, a part of him; but then he stops and does not say anything about the opposite group, as though he does not recognize them, they are strangers to him. (Think it

The Imam said that Ibrahim (a.s.) "asked for that ummah purity from polytheism and idol-worship". Actually, he had asked protection only from worshipping the idols; but then he mentioned why he had asked for that protection: surely the idols have led many men astray

In this way, the original prayer for protection from idol-worship became an all-encompassing prayer for protection from all types of straying and error, ranging from idol-worship to small sins – because every sin is a sort of polytheism, as we have already explained under the verse

.(The path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed favours... (١٧)

The Imam said: “It proves that the Imams, and the sub-missive ummah in which Muhammad (s. a. w. a.) was raised, cannot be except from _ the offspring of Ibrahim (a.s.)” That is the Imams are the submissive ummah, and they are from the off-spring of Ibrahim (a.s.), as explained above

Objection: You say that the word, ummah, in this verse refers to a small group of the Muslims, and not to the whole nation; you use the same interpretation in some other verses, for example, You are the best nation raised up for (the benefit of) men... ((٣:١١)

But this obliges us to interpret the word in a metaphorical way – without any justifiable reason. Moreover, the Qur'an addresses itself to the whole ummah who believed in the Prophet; it is a self-evident fact which does not need any proof

Reply: It was long after the revelation of the Qur'an and the spread of Islam that the phrase, ummah of Muhammad, was popularly used for “all those who believe in his prophethood”. It is

.a later usage

The original meaning of this word is “people”, “nation”, “group”, as Allah says: and blessing on you and the people (umam = plural of ummah) from among those who are with you; and there shall be people (umam)... (١١:٤٨). This word is sometimes used ;even for one person

.(Surely Ibrahim was a “people” (devoutly) obedient to Allah (١٦:١٢٠

Therefore, it is the context or the intention of the speaker which decides how big or small a circle this word describes in a sentence. Now the words, Our Lord! and make us both submissive to Thee and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting to Thee, were spoken in prayer, and as explained earlier, they could refer to only a selected .group out of the multitude who believe in the Prophet

Likewise, the verse, You are the best nation raised up for (the benefit of) men, was revealed to show the favour of Allah on the people thus addressed; its import is to .increase their prestige and enhance their dignity

Surely, these words could be addressed to the whole ummah who call themselves Muslims. How could it apply to the Pharaohs and Dajjals of this ummah who did not leave any vestige of the religion without destroying, and who did not come across any ?religious virtue without crushing it

We shall explain it in detail when writing on this verse.) In short, this verse is like the) :talk of Allah with the Children of Israel

;(and that I made you excel the nations (٢:٤٧

we should not forget that a man like Qarun was one of them, and surely this talk does not include

him

Likewise, the complaint of the Prophet, “O my Lord! surely my people treated this Qur'an as a forsaken thing” (۲۵: ۳۰), cannot cover all his ummah – there are among them the lovers of the Qur'an, the men whom neither merchandise nor selling diverts from the remembrance of Allah

On the other hand, there is the verse ۲:۱۳۴, which is addressed to the whole ummah, and covers all those who believed in the Prophet and even those to whom he was sent

This is a people that have passed away; they shall have what they earned and you shall have what you earn, and you shall not be called upon to answer for what they did

An Academic Discourse

Ponder on the story of Ibrahim (a.s.); study his life; see how he took his son and wife to the land where now Mecca stands, and settled them there; how their lives progressed until finally the “sacrifice” of Isma'il took place and, in the last moment, he was ransomed by Allah; read how they together built the Ka'bah

You will find that it is a complete cycle of devotional journey. It shows how a servant proceeds from his “self” to his Lord, from a far away station to the centre of “Divine Nearness”; how the journey is accomplished avoiding the vanities of this world, shunning its protection, keeping away from its desires – prestige, wealth, women and children – freeing oneself from the intrigues of satans, not letting them pollute the purity of intention, and turning with total surrender and progressing with complete devotion to the Lord, the Great, the High

These apparently unrelated events are in fact of an unbroken series. They are historical narratives, but they describe the stages of the spiritual journey of a servant from self to the Lord

They teach us the discipline of that journey, instruct us in the rules and manners of seeking nearness to Allah, of reaching His presence. The more you meditate on his story, the deeper will be your spiritual understanding – you will come to know the demands of Divine love and sincere devotion

:Allah ordered His friend, Ibrahim, to promulgate the hajj for the people, and He says

And proclaim among men the hajj; they will come to you on foot and on every lean (camel, coming from every remote path... (۲۲:۲۷

We do not know the details of the laws of the hajj as promulgated by Ibrahim (a.s.). But we know that the hajj continued as an event of great religious importance even among the Arabs of the days of ignorance

Then Allah sent the Prophet and he gave us the rules of the hajj as we know them. One thing is certain: He did not go against the rules laid down by Ibrahim (a.s.); what he did was to complete and perfect them

:This fact may be inferred from the words of Allah Say: “Surely, (as for) me, my Lord has guided me to the straight path; (to) a most right religion, the faith of Ibrahim, the upright one”...

;((٩:١٤١)

He has prescribed for you of the religion what He enjoined upon Nuh and that which We have revealed unto you, and that which We enjoined upon Ibrahim and Musa and

.'Isa... (٤٢:١٣

In any case, all the devotional acts of the hajj – the ihram, staying at 'Arafat, staying overnight at Mash'ar, sacrificing an animal, throwing pebbles at the pillars, running between the Safa and the Marwah, going around Ka'bah, praying near the Standing-place – all these acts commemorate the events that had happened to Ibrahim, and represent the stands taken by him and his family; and how admirable stands they were – the pure and sublime Divine stands to which they were led by Divine mercy and urged on by the humility of servitude

The prescribed acts of worship – on their promulgator be the best of salams! – are the symbols of the stands of the perfect ones, the prophets, vis-à-vis their Lord; every act of worship is a photo which shows to us a stage in their spiritual journey to the station of nearness to Allah, as Allah says

.(Certainly (there) is for you in the Messenger of Allah an excellent example... (٣٣: ٢١

This is a basic reality. And there is much evidence pointing to this theme in the traditions which have come down to us regarding the philosophy of various acts of worship and the esoteric aspects of their legislation and prescription, as

.any diligent scholar may find out

point

(۱۳۰) وَمَنْ يَرْغَبْ عَنْ مِلَّةِ إِبْرَاهِيمَ إِلَّا مَنْ سَفِهَ نَفْسَهُ وَلَقَدْ صَظَفَيْنَاهُ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَإِنَّهُ فِي الْآخِرَةِ لَمِنَ الصَّالِحِينَ

Commentary

Qur'an: And who turns away from the religion of Ibrahim but he who makes himself a fool: (ar-Raghibah in), it denotes "to incline towards", = (فِي "to turn away", "to dislike"; when followed by fi "to desire made a fool; became a fool) is used both as transitive and = (سَفِيهًا) The verb, safiha intransitive. Some exegetes have taken this word here as a transitive verb – according himself; his self) is its object; others have taken the = (نَفْسَهُ) to them, the word nafsahu a = (أَلْتَمِيزًا) verb in the intransitive sense and in that case nafsahu will be at-tamyiz .specification), not an object

In any case, the meaning will remain the same: Whoever turns away from the religion of Ibrahim is a fool; he does not recognize what is beneficial to him from that which is harmful. From this verse we may infer what we have been told in the hadith: "Surely wisdom is that by which the Beneficient (God) is worshipped means to (الْأَضْيَافَاءُ) "Qur'an: and most certainly We chose him in this world: "al...Istifa choose, to separate best parts of a thing from other parts (if they were mixed love of Allah), this choosing, = (أَوْلَايَهُ) together). Looking at the positions of al-wilayah .this selection fits the sincerity of servitude chosen behaves in all his affairs as a sincere slave and servant, totally surrendering himself to his Lord. In other words, religion is embodied in all his affairs. After all, what is religion if not total servitude to Allah in all matters whether of this world or of the hereafter, accepting gladly whatever the Lord decides for His servant in any given situation, as He says

A person so

(Surely the religion with Allah is Islam (۳:۱۹)

Clearly it shows that the position of “selection” is not different from that of “Islam”, that is, surrender. As a further proof, look at the next verse: “When his Lord said to him, Submit (yourself) he said: 'I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds

Obviously, the adverb “when” is related to the preceding verb “We chose him”. It means that Ibrahim was chosen when his Lord said to him to submit and he responded by submitting himself to Allah, the Lord of the worlds

In other words, the verse (۱۳۱) (When his Lord said to him, Submit, he said. “I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds”,) is like an explanation of the words, “most surely We chose him

In these verses pronouns have been changed from the first person to the third, and again from the second to the third. After saying, “We chose him”, it would have been more usual to say: “When We said to him”; but Allah says

When his Lord said to him, Submit (yourself)”; then in reply, Ibrahim (a.s.) should have said: “I submit myself to Thee”; instead he said: “I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds”.

:The reason is as follows

When his Lord said to him”: It points to the fact that the talk was a secret between Ibrahim and his Lord, at a level where there was no one else to listen to that confidential conversation. Had Allah said, “When He said to him”, it would have implied that the hearers of this verse were present at that sublime station and could be addressed to by Allah – after all, the audience has a direct relationship with the speaker.

Therefore, Allah referred to Himself in the third person, cutting the connection between Himself and the hearers of the verse, showing that at the level where He spoke with Ibrahim, no one else was present; the conversation between Allah and Ibrahim was a confidential matter veiled in secrecy. In short, it was a talk between two close friends which others were excluded from.

I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds”. As mentioned above, the preceding phrase shows that Allah bestowed His grace exclusively on Ibrahim and enhanced his rank by this friendly confidential conversation. But Ibrahim knew how to speak in Divine presence; he was a servant of Allah; he should not forget the dictates of humility; it was a sign of his excellence, of his humbleness, that he did not start talking with Allah in a friendly way, did not consider himself as worthy of that exclusive proximity, of that sublime friendship. He continued to see in himself a humble and powerless servant who is sustained by his Master's grace. That is why he submitted to the Lord to Whom

."all the worlds surrender, and said: "I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds all are from the (الْإِسْلَامُ), and "al-istislam (أَلْتِ سَلِيم) "at-taslim", (الْإِسْلَامُ), "al-Islam" and have the same meaning, that is, to submit, to surrender. (س-ل-م) same root s-l-m These verbs are used when a man or a thing submits to another thing, in such a way

.that the first never disobeys the second, never goes against it

:Allah says

; (Yes! whoever submits himself entirely to Allah... (٢:١١٢)

Surely I have turned my face, being upright, wholly to Him Who originated the .(heavens and the earth... (٦:٧٩)

It is with the face that one turns towards someone. So far as Allah is concerned, the whole being, the whole existence, of the thing turns to Him. When a man surrenders to Allah, he obeys and accepts whatever comes to him from Allah – the creative matters like the measure and the decree, as well as the legislative ones like order and .prohibition

As men differ in degrees of their submission to Divine Decrees or legislations, so does
.their Islam

The first stage of Islam is to accept and obey the exoteric commandments, orders the two testimonies, that is, = (الشَّهَادَتَيْنِ) and prohibitions, by reciting ash-shahadatayn
,testifying to the Oneness of God and Messengership of Muhammad

.S), no matter whether the belief has entered into the heart or not)

:Allah says

The dwellers of the desert say: “We believe”. Say: “You do not believe but say, 'We (submit'; and faith has not yet entered into your hearts”... (۴۹:۱۴ faith, belief); and that is = (الْإِيمَانُ) This Islam is followed by the first stage of al-iman the sincere belief in the above-mentioned shahadatayn; such a believer faithfully obeys most of the rules of the shari'ah

This first stage of al-iman is followed by the second stage of Islam. It is the sincere acceptance of all true beliefs in detail, with its necessary concomitant, that is, good deeds – although occasional slips are not impossible. Allah says praising the pious ones

.(Those who believed in Our signs and were submissive (۴۳: ۶۹

:Also, He says

.(O you who believe! enter into submission one and all (۲:۲۰۸

These verses show that there is an Islam which comes after al-iman; obviously this Islam is other than the previously mentioned one

This Islam is followed by the second stage of al-iman; and it is the believing, with full details and reasoning, in the realities of the religion. Allah says

The believers are only those who believe in Allah and His Messenger then they doubt not and struggle hard with their wealth and their lives in the way of Allah; they are the truthful ones (۴۹:۱۵

:Again, He says

O you who believe! shall I lead you to a merchandise which may deliver you from a painful chastisement? You shall believe in

Allah and His Messenger, and struggle hard in Allah's way with your properties and .(your lives (٤١:١٠-١١)

This verse directs the believers to believe; obviously the second Iman is other than .the first one

This second stage of al-iman paves the way for the third stage of Islam. When the soul is sufficiently imbued with the above-mentioned iman, and acquires its characteristics, then man's all animalistic and beastly faculties are subdued to the sublime powers of his intellect and spirituality. He keeps all his desires – pulling him to .the material attractions and transient trinkets of this world – under firm control

Thereupon, he reaches a stage where he worships Allah as though he was seeing Him – and if he was not seeing Allah, then Allah was seeing him. There is nothing in his hidden life and inner-self, that is not submissive to Allah's orders and prohibitions; he :is never annoyed with any decree or measure of Allah. Allah says

.(their selves as to what you have decided, and submit with total submission (٤:٦٥

:This Islam is followed by the third stage of al-iman. Allah says

Successful indeed are the believers, who are humble in their prayers and who keep .(aloof from what is vain... (٢٣:١-٣

It is this stage that the words of Allah refer to: “When his Lord said to ” ‘.him, Submit (yourself), he said: 'I submit myself to the Lord of the worlds

Sometimes the second and the third stages are counted as one. The sublime virtues, for example, being pleased with Divine Decree, submitting to the commands of Allah, forbearance and patience for the love of Allah, self-denial, piety, and love and hate for .the sake of Allah are concomitants of this stage of al-iman

The fourth stage of Islam follows the third stage of al-iman. In the above-mentioned stage of al-iman the condition of a man vis-à-vis his Lord is like that of a slave with his master when a slave faithfully follows the dictates of his bondage – when he totally .surrenders to the will of his master and accepts his likes and dislikes

Obviously there is no comparison between the ownership and authority a master has over his slave and the ownership and authority the Lord of the worlds has over His creatures. His is the real possession, the real ownership; nothing else has any .independent existence – neither in person or characteristics nor in actions

Sometimes, when a man reaches the third stage of surrender and submission, the Divine Grace takes him under its wing; he is shown the reality, and sees with his heart's eyes that the Kingdom belongs to Allah, nothing else owns anything at all – .except when Allah bestows it to someone; there is no Lord other than He

This realization, this unveiling of reality, is a Divine Gift, a bestowal by Allah, to whom He pleases; a man cannot reach this sublime stage by his own will or effort.

:Probably it is to this Islam that the prayer of Ibrahim and Isma'il refers

Our Lord! and make us both submissive to Thee and (raise) from our off-spring a
. (group submissive to Thee, and show us our ways of devotion... (۲:۱۲۸

Compare this to the verse: "When his Lord said to him, Submit (yourself), he said: 'I ." 'submit myself to the Lord of the worlds

Obviously the latter is a legislative, not a creative, order. Ibrahim was Muslim by his own will and choice, responding to the Divine Invitation, obeying the orders of Allah. It .was an order he received in his early life

Now the former verse shows him, in the twilight of his life, praying with his son, Isma'il, for Islam and for being shown their ways of devotion. Undoubtedly, he was asking for something which was not in his hand; or was praying to be kept firm on something which was not in his power. In short, the Islam, which Ibrahim and Isma'il
.prayed for, was of this fourth and sublime stage

This Islam is followed by the fourth stage of al-iman. It happens when the above-mentioned conditions permeates the believer's whole being, and submerges all his :conditions and actions. Allah says

Now surely the friends of Allah – they have no fear nor do they grieve; those who .(believed and were pious (۱۰:۶۲ –۶۳

The believers mentioned here must be having the certainty that nothing is independent of Allah, and no “cause” has any causative power except by His permission. It is this certainty which insulates them from grief when a tragedy strikes them, and protects them from fear if a danger looms ahead

It is only because of this factor that they have been praised in these terms. This iman comes after the above-mentioned Divine Gift of Islam. Ponder on this point

”Qur’an: and in the hereafter he is most surely among the good ones: “as-Salah literally means: capability, ability. In the Divine Speech, this word and its derivatives, (have been used sometimes for the man himself, and, at other times, for his actions and deeds. Allah says

; (he should do good deeds... (١٨:١١) ...

:also, He says

And marry those among you who are single and those who are good (i.e., fit) among (your male slaves and your female slaves... (٢٤:٣٢

No clear explanation is found in the Book of Allah as to what constitutes goodness of deeds. But the Book attributes to it some effects, which may be helpful in understanding its meaning. For example

:A good deed is good for the pleasure of Allah

; (And those who are patient, seeking the pleasure of their Lord... (١٣:٢٢

(and you do not spend but to seek Allah's pleasure... (٢:٢٧٢

:It is good for the reward of Allah (Allah's reward is better for him who believes and does good... (٢٨:٨٠

:It lifts up the good words which ascend to Allah

(To Him do ascend the good words; and the good deed lifts them up... (٣٥:١٠

p: 167

descriptions show that, so far as actions are concerned, a “good deed” means an action that is fit to receive honour from God, is capable of lifting the good words to :Allah. Allah says

; (but to Him reaches the piety on your part... (۲۲:۳۷ ...

All do We aid – these as well as those – out of the bounty of your Lord; and the bounty
.(of your Lord is not confined (۱۷:۲۰

:As for the persons, the following verses show what constitutes their goodness

And whoever obeys Allah and the Messenger, these are with those upon whom Allah has bestowed favours from among the prophets and the truthful and the martyrs and
;(the good ones; and excellent are these as companions! (۴:۶۹

And We caused them to enter into Our mercy; surely they were of the good ones
..((۲۱:۸۶

:Again Allah quotes Sulayman (a.s.) as saying

.(and make me enter, by Thy mercy, into Thy servants, the good ones (۲۷:۱۹ ...

:Also, He says

And (as for) Lut, We gave him wisdom and knowledge... and We took him into Our .(mercy; surely he was of the good ones (۲۱:۷۴ – ۷۵

The mercy referred to in these verses is not the general Divine Mercy which encompasses everything; nor does it mean that mercy which is ordained for the pious
:believers, as Allah says and My mercy encompasses all things; so I will ordain it (especially) for those who ...

.(are pious... (۷:۱۵۶

The great personalities mentioned in the verses earlier referred to were “the good ones”, and they were a selected group from among the pious believers; they were “fit” for the exclusive mercy mentioned in those verses. We know that some of the mercies of Allah are reserved for some especial groups to the exclusion of others. Allah says

(and Allah chooses especially whom He pleases for His mercy (٢:١٠٥)

Also, this expression does not refer to the general honour of al-wilayah in other words, it does not say that Allah managed or manages their affairs for them. Of course, the good ones had that honour too; certainly they were among the honoured friends of Allah), as we have explained in the exegesis of the verse = الأَوْلِيَاءُ 'al-awliya (Guide us to the straight path); but this wilayah is an attribute which is also shared by the prophets, the truthful ones and the martyrs

If they had only this honour to their credit they could not be counted as a separate group distinguished from the other three

So, what is the distinctive feature of the “goodness”? The answer is that Allah takes a “good one” into His especial mercy and grants him comprehensive protection from chastisement. These two effects are mentioned in the Qur'an

Then as to those who believed and did good, their Lord will make them enter into His ;(mercy (i.e., into the Garden) (٤٥:٣٠

.(They shall call therein (i.e., in the Garden) every fruit in security (٤٤:٥٥

:Now ponder on the following verses

;(And We took him into Our mercy (٢١:٧٥

.(and We made (them) all good ones (٢١:٧٢

Note how Allah attributes these actions to Himself, not to the people concerned. Also look at the fact that according to the Divine declarations, reward is always given in lieu of actions and efforts. Keeping all this in view, you will realize that the “personal goodness” is a especial honour which cannot .be earned as a reward of good deeds or by one's own will :Probably, it is to this reality that the verse refers

:(They have therein what they wish and with Us is more yet (٥٠:٣٥

Possibly, the first clause (They have therein what they wish) refers to the reward of their deeds; and the second one (and with Us is more yet) concerns what they shall be given not in lieu of action, but purely by Divine Mercy. We shall elaborate it, Allah .willing, in the exegesis of this verse

Now look at the life of Ibrahim (a.s.). He was a prophet, a messenger of God, one of the ulu 'l azm prophets and an Imam; many of the prophets and messengers coming after him were his followers; and he was of the good ones, as the words of Allah :clearly say

This verse also shows that he was made, in this very world, one of the good ones. Consider also the fact that many prophets of lesser rank were made, in this very world, among the good ones. Then why does he pray to Allah to join him to the good ?ones

It is clear from this prayer that there was a group of the “good ones” who had gone ahead of him, and now he was praying to Allah to join him to them. Allah granted him his prayer “in the hereafter”, as is mentioned in the Qur'an in three places – one of which is the verse under discussion and most certainly We chose him in this world, and in the hereafter he is most surely (among the good ones (۲:۱۳۰

.Other two verses are and We gave him his reward in this world, and in the hereafter he is most surely ...

(among the good ones (۲۹:۲۷

And We gave him good in this world, and in the hereafter he will most surely be (among the good (۱۶:۱۲۲

If you ponder on the foregoing details, you will know that “goodness” has many ranks, one above the other. Therefore you should not be astonished if you are told that Ibrahim (a.s.) had asked to be joined to Muhammad (S) and his purified progeny (a.s.), and that Allah granted him his prayer in the here-after, not in this world

Ibrahim (a.s.) had prayed to Allah to join him with the good ones, while Muhammad (S) unambiguously claims this honour for himself

Surely my guardian is Allah, Who revealed the Book, and He takes in hand (the affairs (of) the good ones (۷:۱۹۶

It is obvious that Muhammad (S) claims the wilayah for himself. In other words, the Prophet, according to his claim mentioned in the verse, had already got the “goodness”; and Ibrahim (a.s.) was praying to be joined to a group of “good ones” who had already been given that rank, and that group was

.Muhammad (S) and his progeny

.Qur’an: And the same did Ibrahim enjoin on his sons: that is, the same religion

Qur’an:... therefore die not unless you are Muslims: Death is something beyond one's commandments of the shari'ah) covers only those = (اَلتَّكْلِيفُ) “control; and “at-taklif
.things which are under one's control

Then why did Ibrahim and Ya'qub (peace be on them!) tell their progeny not to die unless they were Muslims? The fact is that this admonition concerned a matter which :was fully under their power. The real meaning is like this Beware lest the death comes to you and you are not Muslims; always remain

.Muslims; keep on Islam, so that whenever death comes to you, you are Muslims

:The verse gives a hint that the religion means Islam, as Allah says

.(Surely the religion with Allah is Islam (۳:۱۹)

Qur’an: “We will worship your God and the God of your fathers, Ibrahim and Isma'il and Ishaq”: The verse uses the word “father” for the grandfather, the uncle and the that is, all (اَلتَّغْلِيْبُ) ”father – and it has been used without any reason of “at-taghlib groups are equal in number; there were not more “fathers” than the grandfather and
.the uncle to justify the use of this word for the whole group

It proves that the word “father” may correctly be used for uncle, as we shall show, Allah willing, that Ibrahim (a.s.) addressed his uncle

."Azar, as "father

Qur'an: "one God only": This sums up the preceding detailed description, "your God and the God of your fathers..."; it serves to remove any possible misunderstanding that his God was other than the God of his fathers – as the idol-worshippers thought ' .that there were many gods

Qur'an: "and to Him do we submit"; It refers to the subject of their talk, that is, worship. They made it clear that their worship of Allah would be totally in accordance .with the dictates of Islam. The reply shows that the religion of Ibrahim was Islam

Accordingly, the religion which was inherited by his offspring, for example, Ishaq, Ya'qub and Isma'il, and which continued in the Children of Israel and Isma'il, was Islam, and nothing else. It was this religion which Ibrahim (a.s.) brought from his Lord; .and nobody had any right to turn away from it or to call to any other religion

Sama'ah narrates from as-Sadiq (a.s.) that he said: "The position of iman (faith) vis-à-vis Islam is like that of the Sacred Ka'bah vis-à-vis the Sanctuary; sometimes one may be in the Sanctuary without being in the Ka'bah, but he cannot be in the Ka'bah (without being in the Sanctuary." (al-Kafi

Also he narrates from the same Imam that he said: "Islam is to bear witness that there is no god except Allah, and to accept the truth of the Messenger of Allah; it is by this that the bloods are spared (i.e., lives are protected) and marriages and inheritance are validated; and the multitude of people are on its apparent (meaning); and the iman (i.e., faith and belief) is the guidance, and (it is) that characteristic of (Islam which is firmly placed in the hearts.” (ibid

The author says: There are other traditions of the same meaning; and they explain .the above-mentioned first stage of the Islam and Iman al-Barqi has narrated from 'Ali (a.s.) that he said: “Islam is submission and submission (.is conviction.” (ibid

Kahil said that as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “If a people worshipped Allah – the One, there is no partner to Him – and established prayer, and paid the zakat and did the hajj of the House, and kept the fast of the month of Ramadan, and then said about-something done by Allah or done by the Messenger of Allah, 'Why did he not do it in another way?', or (even if) they felt (like) it in their hearts, they would become polytheists (.because of it...” (ibid

The author says: The foregoing two traditions refer to the third stages of the Islam .and iman

Ad-Daylami narrates in his al-Irshad – and he gives two sanads for this hadith which is :one of the traditions of Ascension – that Allah said

O Ahmad! Do you know which way of living is happier and which life more durable?”“ (The Messenger of Allah) said: “No, O Allah!” (He) said: “As for the happy way of living, it is that in which the (living) person is not tired of remembering Me, and does not forget My bounties, and does not ignore My rights (on him); he seeks My pleasure day

.and night

And as for the ever-lasting life, it is (realized) when (the person) works for his (spiritual) benefit until the world loses its significance for him, and looks small in his eyes; and the hereafter becomes great for him; and he gives preference to My pleasure over his own desire, and seeks My pleasures, and thinks the right of My bounty (as) great (on him); and keeps in mind what I have done for him (i.e., for his benefit); and watches Me day and night whenever he is tempted to commit any wrong or sin; and keeps his heart clean from all that I dislike; and hates Satan and his .whisperings, and does not let Satan establish a hold over, or a passage to, his heart

When he acts (like) this, then I put (My) love into his heart until I make his heart, as well as his leisure and engagement, and his thought and speech, a part of (My) favours which I have bestowed on those of My creatures who love Me; and I open his heart's eye and ear, so that he hears with his heart, and looks with his heart to My Majesty and Greatness; and I make the world straitened for him; and make him hate it with all its pleasures; and I caution him of the world and all that it contains, as a shepherd protects his sheep from dangerous

When it happens, then he flees from people, and transfers from the house of termination to the abode of eternity, and from the house of Satan to the seat of the .Beneficent (God), O Ahmad! and I adorn him with dignity and majesty

So, this is the good way of living and the eternal life; and it is the station of those who are pleased (with Me). So, whoever acts for My pleasure, I give him three characteristics: I teach him gratitude which is not polluted by ignorance, and remembrance that is not adulterated with forgetfulness, and love – so that he does .not prefer the love of creatures to My love

Then when he loves Me, I love him, and I open the eye of his heart to My Majesty, and do not keep My (very) special creatures hidden from him. And I converse with him secretly in the dark of night and the light of day, until he ceases talking with the creatures and sitting with them; and I make him hear My talk and the speech of My angels; and I make My secret known to him – which I have kept hidden from (all) My creation. And I dress him in modesty, until all the creation is awed of him. And he .walks on the earth (and all his sins are) forgiven

And I make his heart hearing and seeing; and do not hide from him anything of the Garden or the Fire; and I make known to him what terror and affliction are going to happen to the people on the Day of Resurrection, and the things I will question the rich and the poor, as well as the learned and the ignorant, about

And I will make him sleep (in peace) in his grave, and I will send Munkar and Nakir to him for questioning him; and he will not see the sorrow of death, nor the fright of the (prelude (of the next world

Then I will erect his weighing scale for him, and will unroll his book (of deeds), then I will put his books in his right hand, and he shall read it unfolded; then I will not keep any interpreter between Me and him. So these are the attributes of the lovers

O Ahmad! make your concern one concern, and make your tongue one tongue, and make your body (i.e., your person) alive that is never oblivious (of Me). Whoever is (oblivious of Me, I do not care in which valley he perishes." (Biharu 'l-anwar

Al-Majlisi quotes the following tradition from al-Kafi, Ma'ani 'l-akhbar and an Nawadir of ar-Rawandi, with various chains of narrators, from as-Sadiq and al-Kazim (a.s.) – and the text given here is from al-Kafi – that the Imam said

The Messenger of Allah met Harithah ibn Malik ibn an-Nu'man al-Ansari, and said to him: 'How are you? O Harithah ibn Malik an-Nu'mani!' He said: 'A believer in reality, O Messenger of Allah!' The Messenger of Allah then said to him: 'There is a

'?reality for everything; so what is the reality of your word

He said: 'O Messenger of Allah! I turned myself away from the world, so I kept my night awake (in worship) and my days thirsty (in fast); and (it is) as though I am looking at the throne of my Lord which has been set up for (taking) the (people's) account; and as though I see the people of the Garden visiting one another in the 'Garden, and as if I hear the howling of the people of the Fire in the Fire

Thereupon, the Messenger of Allah (S) said: 'A servant that Allah has enlightened his (heart. You have seen, so be firm.'" (ibid

The author says: The two traditions describe the fourth stage of the Islam and iman mentioned above. There are many traditions explaining particulars of these two; and, Allah willing, we shall quote some of them in various places of this book; and they are .supported by the Qur'anic verses

Also it should be kept in mind that for each stage of the Islam and iman, there is an polytheism). And it = (أَلشِّيرْكُ disbelief) and ash-shirk = (أَلْكُفْرُ opposite stage of al-kufr is known that the higher and subtler the meaning of the Islam and iman, the more .difficult it is to protect oneself from its opposite kufr or shirk

Obviously, a lower stage of the Islam or iman does not exclude the possibility of a .subtler kufr or shirk

.These two principles should be kept in mind

وَعِيسَىٰ وَمَا أُوتِيَ النَّبِيُّونَ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ لَا نُفَرِّقُ بَيْنَ أَحَدٍ مِّنْهُمْ وَنَحْنُ لَهُ مُسْلِمُونَ

Commentary

Qur'an: And they say: “Be Jews and Christians, you will be rightly guided”: The preceding verses made it clear that the true religion followed by the children of Ibrahim – Isma'il and Ishaq as well as Ya'qub and his descendants – was the same
.Islam which was the religion of Ibrahim, the upright one

It means that the differences and divisions, the schisms and sects, which the proponents of Judaism and Christianity call to, have actually originated from their own .desires; they are just a few toys manufactured by them

They are in great disputations, schisms and disagreements, they are divided into numerous sects and religious groups, they have dyed the religion of Allah – the religion of Unity, the religion of Oneness – with colours of their bias and prejudice,

.their desires and ambitions

But the religion is not divided; it is one, in the same way as God, Who is to be wor... shipped, is One; it is the religion of Ibrahim; the Muslims should firmly keep hold of this original religion, discarding the differences and dissensions of the People of the .Book aside

Although the life in this world looks like a constant phenomenon, in reality it is continuously changing. The same applies to all the natural world. Even the rites, customs and manners of various nations and groups are not immune from this .propensity to change

More often than not, it causes changes and deviations even in religious matters.
Sometimes extraneous things are inserted in religion; at other times, an essential part is declared anathema; worldly goals and ideals replace the Divine and religious goals and aims. What a tragedy is it for religion

When it happens, the religion is dyed in national or tribal colour, and starts calling to a goal other than the original one; it focuses its sight on innovations, forgetting its .original purpose. In a short while, the evil (i.e., the innovation) becomes virtue

People support and defend it, because it agrees with their desires and cravings. And the virtue is treated as evil; it has no protector or defender to stand for it. Ultimately, the things deteriorate to unbelievable extent, as we are seeing with our own eyes
.today

However, the sentence: “And they say: 'Be Jews or Christians' ", stands for the sentences, "The Jews say: 'Be Jews, you will be guided aright'; and the Christians say: 'Be Christians, you will be rightly guided.'

." They make such divergent claims because of their divergences and differences

Qur'an: Say: "Nay! (we follow) the religion of Ibrahim, the upright one, and he was not of the polytheists": It is the reply of their claims. The Prophet should tell them: Nay! we follow the religion of Ibrahim, the upright one; because it is the one religion which was followed by all your prophets – Ibrahim and all those who came after him. Ibrahim, ,who brought this religion was not a polytheist. Had there been so many divisions in his religion – the divisions which were attached to it by the innovators – he would have become a polytheist: That which is not a part of Allah's religion cannot invite towards Allah, it will surely call to something other than Allah – and this is what polytheism means. The religion of .Ibrahim is the religion of unity; it does not contain anything that is not from Allah

Qur'an: Say: "We believe in Allah and (in) that which has been revealed to us, and (in) that which was revealed to Ibrahim...": After mentioning the claim of the Jews and the .Christians, Allah describes the truth – and He always tells the truth

The truth consists of the testimony of belief in One God and belief in all that was brought by the prophets – without making any distinction between them. This is what is called the Islam. Belief in Allah was the fundamental part of that which was revealed to the prophets; yet it has been mentioned here separately. The reason is that the belief in the Creator is a natural instinct, it does not depend on prophetic proofs and arguments

After that fundamental belief, Allah mentions “that which has been revealed to us”, that is, the Qur'an or the knowledge contained in it. Then He mentions “that which was revealed to Ibrahim and Isma'il and Ishaq and Ya'qub

Thereafter is de-scribed “that which was given to Musa and 'Isa”; these two have been especially mentioned because the speech is addressed to the Jews and the Christians who call only to these two prophets, respectively

Finally the testimony includes “that which was given to the prophets”. This sentence covers all the prophets and thus paves the way for the next declaration: “we do not make any distinction between any of them

Note the variation in style: That which is with us and that which was with Ibrahim, Isma'il, Ishaq and Ya'qub, is listed as “revealed” to us and them, respectively; while that which was with Musa, 'Isa and other prophets is referred to as “given” to them

Probably the reason is this: The basic idea may be conveyed by the word, “giving”, as Allah says after mentioning Ibrahim and other prophets who came before or after him

These are they to whom We gave the book and the (wisdom and the prophethood (٤:٨٩)

But this word does not clearly and necessarily mean “revelation”; for example, Allah
:says

; (And certainly We gave wisdom to Luqman (٣١:١٢

And certainly We gave the book and the wisdom and the prophecy to the Children of (Israel... (٤٥:١٤

Now both the Jews and the Christians counted Ibrahim, Isma'il, Ishaq, Ya'qub and the tribes as following their religions respectively – the Jews claimed that those prophets
.were Jews; the Christians claimed that they were Christians

They believed that the true religion was the Judaism or the Christianity that was given to Musa or 'Isa respectively. In this background, if Allah had said, 'that which was given to Ibrahim..., it would not have clearly shown that those prophets themselves
.had brought a religion, which was revealed to them by Allah

The Jews or the Christians could have claimed that what was given to them was the same thing which was given to Musa or 'Isa – peace be on them all – and that their names have been mentioned, like that of the Children of Israel, just because they !followed the self-same religion

It was to remove this possible misunderstanding that Ibrahim and those named prophets (peace be on them all) were separately mentioned and it was clearly said .that they had got that religion by Divine revelation

As for the prophets who came before Ibrahim (a.s.), the Jews and the Christians did not lay claim on their religion, and there was no chance of any misunderstanding; therefore, their religion was referred to

.as “given” to them of the Israelites has the same meaning as (الْأَشْيَابُ)”Qur’an: and the tribes: 'al-Asbat of the Isma'ilites, and that is, the tribes. Sibt, like qabilah, refers to (الْقَبَائِلُ)”“al-qaba'il the descendants of one forefathers. There were twelve tribes in the Israelites, each one descended from one of the twelve children of Ya'qub; thus each became a .distinct group in itself

If the word “tribes” refers to the whole groups, then it is used metaphorically, because the prophets who received the revelation were from those tribes. On the other hand, it may refer to the individuals, that is, the prophets themselves. In any case, it does .not include the brothers of Yusuf (a.s.) because they were not prophets

:!A similar verse is found in the Chapter of 'The Women and We revealed to Ibrahim and Isma'il and Ishaq and Ya'qub and the tribes, and 'Isa .(and Ayyub and Yunus and Harun and Sulayman... (٤:١٦٣)

Qur’an: If then they believe in like of what you believe in, they are indeed on the right course: What Allah actually means is this: If they believe in what you believe in, then they are on the right course. But He has added here the word “like” (If then they believe in like of what you believe in...), to cut the root of disputation and .argumentation

Had they been invited to believe hi what the Muslims believed in, they could have replied – as they used to say – No, we believe in that

.which has been revealed to us and we reject what is besides that

Therefore, this verse teaches the Muslims a different way of expressions: We believe in that which contains nothing but pristine truth; therefore, you too should believe in that which contains only pristine truth like it

Addressed in this way, they will not find any loop-hole, nor will they be able to resort to their obstinate wrangles. And then they will realize that what they have had is not the unadulterated truth means hypocrisy, disputation, (أَشْشِقَاقُ) "Qur'an: in great dissension: "ash-Shiqaq

.dissension

Qur'an: so Allah will suffice you against them: It was a promise to the Messenger of Allah to help him against them; and Allah fulfilled this promise. And the same favour shall be completed for the Muslim nation when Allah wills. This verse is a parenthetical statement between the preceding and the following verses ) "Qur'an: the dyeing of Allah, and who is better than Allah in dyeing?: "as-Sibghah means a kind of dyeing. The verse means: The above-mentioned belief is a (الصَّبِغَةُ) Divine colour in which Allah has dyed us; and it is the best of the colours - it is not a dye of the Judaism nor of the Christianity, which emanate from dissensions in religion, when people fail to keep on the right track

Qur'an: and Him do we worship: Grammatically the sentence describes the condition; "...it gives the reason of the preceding phrase: "the dyeing of Allah

:"?Qur'an: Say: "Do you dispute with us about Allah

It is a rebuke to the People of the Book regarding their disputation with the Muslims.
:The next sentences show how and why their argumentations were wrong and in vain and He is our Lord and your Lord; and for us are our deeds and for you are your“ deeds; and we are sincere to Him”. When the followers dispute with each other concerning their leader, the dispute may emanate from one or more of the three :causes

First: They follow different leaders; and each wants to show the superiority of his leader over the other's, for example, a dispute between an idol-worshipper and a .Muslim

Second: They follow the same leader, but each claims a close relationship with the .leader, denying a like privilege to the other

Third: One party wants to show that the other party, because of his unbecoming behaviour and immoral character, has lost the right to be counted among the followers of the leader; his claim of being a follower of the leader is an insult to the .latter

Now, why should the Muslims and the People of the Book dispute with each other?
The first reason does not apply, because both worship the same God. The same goes for the second reason, because one group's deeds do not clash with those of the .”other – “for us are our deeds and for you are your deeds

Coming to the third cause, the Muslims are sincere in their devotion to Allah. So why should the People of the Book dispute with .them, when they have got no reason at all

In this way, Allah first rebuked them for their disputation with the Muslims, and then .dismisses all three causes of disputation one by one

Qur'an: "Or, do you say that Ibrahim... were Jews or Christians?": Both groups say that Ibrahim and the other prophets named in the verse were from them; implying that .they were Jews or Christians

Or, they clearly claimed that they were Jews or Christians, as may be understood
:from the words of Allah

O People of the Book! why do you dispute about Ibrahim, when the Torah and the Injil (were not revealed till after him? Do you not then understand? (۳:۶۵

Qur'an: Say: 'Are you better knowing or Allah?': Because Allah has informed us and you in the Book that Musa and 'Isa and their books came after Ibrahim and the .prophets mentioned in this verse

Qur'an: "And who is more unjust than he who conceals a testimony that he has from Allah?": That is, he who conceals a testimony, a fact known to him, that Allah has informed in His Books that the shari'ah of Judaism and Christianity were sent after Ibrahim and the other named prophets. The "testimony", thus, refers to a fact known
.to one

The verse may alternatively refer to him who conceals the testimony of Allah that Ibrahim and those prophets had passed away long before the Torah and the Injil were revealed. In this case, the "testimony" would refer to giving evidence, to bearing witness. But the

.first meaning is more appropriate in the context of this verse

Qur'an: This is a people that has passed away...: It will do you no good to dispute about other people as to which group they belonged to; nor will silence on this matter do you any harm. You must spend your time in those things which you will be asked about tomorrow

This verse has been repeated here because the Jews and the Christians talked (and they still do) too much on this subject – which would be of no avail to them on the Day of Judgment; especially when they knew very well that Ibrahim had passed away long before Judaism and Christianity came into being

In other contexts, discussion about the prophets and messengers is a very beneficial thing; the Qur'an exhorts us to look into, and learn about, their teachings and their spiritual virtues; and it is with this aim that it repeatedly narrates their stories and orders us to meditate on them

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the verse: Say: Nay! (we follow) the religion of (Ibrahim...: “Verily, the upright religion is the Islam.” (al- 'Ayyashi al-Baqir (a.s.) said: “The upright religion (of Ibrahim, a.s.) did not leave anything (unguided), so much so that it includes the trimming of the moustache, and cutting of (nails, and circumcision.” (ibid

Allah revealed the upright (religion) to Ibrahim, and it is cleanliness; and it is (made up“ of) ten (things), five (of them) in the head and (the other) five in the (rest :of the) body. As for those which are in the head, they are

Trimming of the moustache, and letting the beard grow, and dressing the hair, and brushing the teeth, and (using) the tooth-pick; and as for those which are in the (rest of the) body, they are: removing the hair from the body, and circumcision, and cutting the nails, and the bath of al - janabah (a.: = the ritual uncleanness resulting from .sexual intercourse or ejaculation), and cleansing (the body) with water

And this is the pure upright (religion) which Ibrahim (a.s.) brought; it was never abrogated, nor will it ever be abrogated until the Day of Resurrection.” (at-Tafsir, al- (Qummi

The author says: Dressing the hair means to trim it and grow it. There are a lot of .traditions of the same or similar meaning, narrated by both sects in their books al-Baqir (a.s.) said about the words of Allah: Say: We believe in Allah...: “Allah has meant Ali, and Fatimah, and al-Hasan, and al-Husayn, in this verse; and after them it (has continued in the Imams...” (al-Kafi; al-'Ayyashi

The author says: This theme may be inferred from the words, and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting to Thee (٢:١٢٨), which were used in the invocation of Ibrahim (a.s.). There is no contradiction between this tradition and the fact that the verse is addressed to all the Muslims and obliges all of them to believe in the things mentioned therein; because the circle of such verses may be widened or shortened in different contexts, according to various stages of application – as we have explained

.with reference to various stages of the Islam and iman al-Qummi narrates in his at-Tafsir from al-Baqir or as-Sadiq (a.s.), and as-Saduq narrates in Ma'ani 'l-akhbar from as-Sadiq (a.s.) that he said explaining the words of ”Allah, the dyeing of Allah...: “The dyeing is the Islam

.The author says: It is clear from the context of the verses love and = (الولايه) as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: ”(Allah) dyed the believers with alwilayah = (الميثاق) obedience of the Prophet and his Ahlu 'l-bayt) in (i.e., at the time of) al-mithaq

The author says: It refers to the esoteric meaning of this verse, as we shall explain later on; we shall then also explain the meaning of al-wilayah and al-mithaq, Allah .willing

point

Ponder on these verses and you will find them well-connected with each other, a common context joining them together like a strand running through the beads. These verses together talk about the appointment of the Ka'bah as the qiblah (the direction of prayer etc.) for the Muslims

Therefore, no attention should be paid to those who say that there was a change of sequence in the arrangement of these verses, or that some of them have abrogated the others. Although they narrate some traditions to this effect, but they do not deserve any comment because all of them go against the clear meaning of these verses

Qur'an: The fools among the people will say: "What has turned them from their qiblah which they had?": It is the second introductory sentence for the soon-to-be-promulgated order to make the Ka'bah as the qiblah of the Muslims

Also, it teaches the reply of the objection which the “fools among the people”, that is, the Jews and the pagans of Mecca, were expected to raise: The Jews because of their partisanship of their own qiblah, Baytu 'l-Maqdis; and the pagan Arabs because they were always .on the look out for any new thing which they could object to

Allah prepared the minds for change of qiblah, first by revealing the story of Ibrahim (a.s.) and various honours bestowed on him by Allah, as well as the honour accorded to his son, Isma'il; their prayers for the Ka'bah and Mecca, as well as for the Prophet and the Muslim group; their construction of the House and the order they received to .cleanse it for the worship of Allah

It is recognized that the change of qiblah from Baytu 'l-Maqdis to the Ka'bah was an event of greatest religious significance, one of the most important commandments given to the Muslims after the hijrah of the Prophet to Medina, when the roots of .Islam were firmly taking place and its knowledge and realities were being spread

Understandably, the Jews were not going to remain silent in face of this legislation: According to their thinking this change negated one of their greatest religious prides, that is, qiblah; hitherto the Muslims were following them in their qiblah, and the Jews .could claim a precedence over the Muslims in this religious symbol

Moreover, this new legislation was a manifest advancement in the Muslims' religion – it made all of them to face a single point in their worship and other religious rites. It saved them from looking towards divergent directions – physically; and from difference of opinions – spiritually

Facing towards the Ka'bah had rather more influence and deeper impression on the souls of the Muslims than the rules of cleanliness and invocation etc.; and their enemies, and particularly the Jews, understood it, and they resented it

Their stories, as narrated in the Qur'an, prove that they were a nation which did not give any credence to anything in this world which was beyond the reach of the five senses. As spiritual things were not of any importance in their eyes, they used to accept the spiritual rules without any protest – they did not consider it worth arguing about

But whenever they were given a Divine Commandment which had any connection with the physical world, which had a material form – like war, emigration, sajdah, polite speech etc. – they stood up against it, and opposed it very vehemently

In short, Allah informed His Messenger what the enemies of Islam were going to say against the change of qiblah, and taught him how they should be replied, how their arguments should be refuted

Their objection: The first qiblah was prescribed by Allah for the previous prophets. Why was it changed to another House which had no such distinction? Was this change affected by the order of Allah? How could Allah contravene His Own previously ordained rule, or abrogate His Own law? (We have mentioned under (the verse of “Abrogation” that the Jews do not believe in abrogation Or, was it done without any order from Allah? If so, then the Muslims have deviated from the right path and have left guidance for misguidance. (This objection has not been mentioned in so many words in the Qur'an, but the suggested reply points to it

Reply: When Allah prescribes a house like the Ka'bah as qiblah, it is not based on any specialty of that house or stone; there is no unalterable and inseparable quality in that building which could demand that honour as a right

Being chosen as a qiblah is not an inviolable and natural characteristic of any building. Every article, every building and every direction is equally capable of being selected for this purpose; and none has any especial claim for it. Everything belongs to Allah, He issues orders about it, whatever He likes, in any way He likes, and whenever He likes

Whatever He decrees, it is for the guidance of the people, for their individual and collective good and perfection. He does not order but for guidance, and He does not guide except to the way which leads directly to their perfection and well-being

Qur'an: The fools among the people will say: It means the Jews and the polytheists of Arabia; and that is why they have been referred to as “the people”. They have been called “fools” because their mentality was not right, and their ideas about the Divine Law were unsound. And that is what

.foolishness is: crookedness of mind and unsoundness of opinion is joined to its (أَلْتَوَلَّيْتُمْ) "Qur'an: What has turned them.... When the verb, "at-tawliyah object (without preposition), it means, to turn your face towards that thing, to keep it facing you; as Allah says: "so We shall surely turn thee to a qiblah which thou shalt .”like it gives the opposite meaning, that is, (عَنْ) When it is followed by the preposition 'an :to turn away from, to turn one's face from. The verse means

What has turned them away, or turned their faces, from the qiblah which they were using hitherto, that is, Baytu 'l-Maqdis towards which the Prophet and the Muslims used to pray during his stay at Mecca and for a few months after his emigration to .Medina

Qur'an: from their qiblah: The qiblah is attributed to the Muslims, although the Jews were using it centuries before the Prophet. Obviously, their turning from their own .qiblah looks more surprising, and gives more room for objection

And it was for the same reason that the opening phrase says: "What has turned them", instead of saying, "What has turned the Prophet and the Muslims." It would not have looked objectionable in the least if they had said: "What has turned the Prophet ”?and the Muslims from the qiblah of the Jews

Qur'an: Say: "The East and the West belong only to Allah": Only these two directions were mentioned, because it is through them that all other cardinal and compound ,directions are fixed

,like the North

.the South and all the intermediate directions between any two cardinal ones

The East and the West are relative directions which are fixed by the rising and setting of the sun and the stars; they cover all places of the earth (except two imaginary points of the true North and South Poles). Perhaps, it was for this reason that only

.these two were chosen to represent all the directions path) = (صِرَاطٌ) "Qur'an: He guides him whom He likes to a straight path: The word "sirat since it is a common noun, and (أَلْ) "is mentioned here without a definite article "al does not specify a definite path, because nations differ in their paths due to their .differences in ability to attain perfection and happiness

Qur'an: And thus We have made you a medium nation that you may be witnesses for the people and the Messenger may be a witness for you: Apparently it means as follows: As We are going to change very soon the qiblah for you in order that We may .guide you to a right path, in the same way We have made you an intermediary nation

Relationship between Prescription of Qiblah and Ummah being Witnesses for the people and the Messenger being Witness for the Ummah

Someone has explained it in the following way: And like this wonderful making, We have made you a medium nation. Such an explanation deserves no comment. Another :explanation given by another exegete is as follows

They were made a "medium nation" to "be witnesses for the people". What does it mean? "Medium" is a thing in the .centre, neither to this side nor to that. This “ummah” has the same position vis-à-vis the people – that is,

.the People of the Book and the polytheists

The polythesists and the dualist emphasize the physical aspects of life. Their whole attention is fixed to this worldly life; their plans are centred on its trinkets and comforts. They do not believe in the Resurrection or the hereafter; spiritual perfection and esoteric virtues are not so important to them. On the other extreme are some groups, like the Christians, who put utmost emphasis on the spiritual aspects to the .detriment of the physical ones

They teach monasticism and rejection of the world. They seem heedless to the fact that the Creator has made the physical perfection a means by which man may reach the goal for which he has been created. In short the latter – the “people of spirit” – nullified their goal by nullifying the means; and the former – the “people of body” – nullified their goal by focusing their whole attention to the means as though it was the goal in itself. Allah has made this ummah a “medium”, by giving them a religion which leads them to the straight and upright path, in the middle – inclined neither to this side
.nor to that

It strengthens both sides – the body as well as the soul – according to what each of them needs and deserves; it is a religion which encourages and invites man to .combine the virtue of both

Man is, after all, a combination of body and soul; he is neither body alone nor spirit alone. If his life is to be a happy one, he must unite physical perfections with the .spiritual one

This ummah then is the medium and well-balanced one; it is a criterion to judge and weigh both sides of extremes. It is, therefore, the witness for all the people who have deviated from the middle way going to this side or that. And the Prophet – the most .perfect and the ideal example of this ummah – is the witness for this ummah

The Prophet is the criterion to judge the condition of this ummah's individuals; and the ummah, in its turn, is the criterion to judge the condition of other people; it is the point .to which the two extremes are expected to return

Comment: What this exegete has said is true in itself, but it does not explain the wordings of this verse. The ummah, by virtue of its position in the middle, may be called a criterion to judge the extremes, as well as a point to which the people of the two extremes should return. But it does not make it a “witness” for the two extremes, .nor it gives the ummah ability to observe the said extremes

Apparently, there is no correlation between being a medium (in the above-mentioned sense) and being a witness. Also, there is no reason why the Messenger of Allah should be made a witness for them; there .is no correlation between the two witnessings

But the verse clearly says that the Messenger of Allah shall be a witness for the ummah, because the ummah shall be a witness for the people, and it shall acquire .that status because it is a medium ummah

Moreover, the witnessing, referred to in this verse, is one of the Qur'anic realities, which has been mentioned repeatedly in the Divine Speech; and looking at various contexts where it has been referred to, we find that its connotation differs completely :from the above-quoted meaning. Allah says

How will it be, then, when We bring from every people a witness and bring you as a
;(witness for these? (۴:۴۱)

And on the day when We will raise up a witness out of every nation, then shall no permission be given to those who disbelieve, nor shall they be made to solicit favour and the Book shall be laid down and the prophets and the witnesses shall be ...
;((۱۶:۸۴

.(brought up... (۳۹:۶۹

Note that witnessing in these verses is unconditional, and the obvious meaning is that they shall be witnesses for the deeds of their nations, and will also testify that the messengers of Allah did convey the Divine Message to those nations, as is made clear
:in the verse

Most certainly then We will question those to whom (the messengers) were sent, and .(most certainly We will question the messengers (۷:۶

No doubt they will give the evidence in the hereafter; but they must have seen the ,events in this life

:as may be inferred by the words of 'Isa (a.s.) quoted in the Qur'an and I was a witness of them so long as I was among them, but when Thou didst ... take me (away) completely, Thou were the watcher over them, and Thou art witness ; (of all things (۵:۱۱۷

.(and on the Day of Resurrection he (i.e., 'Isa) shall be a witness against them (۴:۱۵۹ ...

Obviously, our normal senses, with all their powers, cannot perceive except the exterior forms of deeds and actions, and that also of a thing which is present, which is .within the reach. They cannot perceive a non-existent or a non-present item

And it is completely beyond their power to know, comprehend or identify the realities of those actions and deeds; nor can they observe the immaterial ideas like belief or .disbelief, and success or failure

In short, no man can witness a thing which is hidden from the five senses, nor can he observe the esoteric ideas and characteristics that are locked into another person's heart. But it is these hidden realities which will be taken account of, and looked into,
:on the Day of Resurrection, as Allah says

.(but He will call you to account for what your hearts have earned (۲:۲۲۵ ...

Obviously, these things cannot be seen even by those who are present, let alone those who are absent. It can be done only by a man whose affairs are managed .directly by Allah, and whom Allah makes to “see” the hidden realities

This fact may be :inferred from the words of Allah

And those whom they call upon besides Him have no authority for intercession, but he (who bears witness of the truth (i.e., of the reality) and they know (٤٣:٨٦

Surely, 'Isa (a.s.) is included in this exception, because, Allah has testified that he is one of those who shall bear witness (as is seen from the above-mentioned two verses). Thus, he is one of those who had "seen" the realities and known the hidden factors of the deeds of their ummah

In short, the witnessing mentioned in the verse under discussion does not mean that this ummah follows a religion which combines physical perfection with spiritual sublimity. Certainly, this explanation has nothing to do with the meaning of "witness" nor does it fit the apparent meaning of the above-quoted verses Actually, they have been called "witnesses" of the people, because they see and observe in this world the realities of the people's actions – felicity and infelicity, rejection and acceptance, submission and arrogance

And they shall give evidence for or against those people on the Day of Judgment, the day when Allah will make every thing to testify for or against a man, not excepting his own limbs and organs; the day when the Messenger will say

(O my Lord! surely my people treated this Qur'an as a forsaken thing (٢٥:٣٠“

Also, it is known that the whole ummah could not attain to this position; it is a special status given to only the pure friends of Allah. Even those who are only slightly below them in the ranks of felicity, and other just and pious believers are not included in this verse – let alone the rubble of the nation, or the Nimrods and Pharaohs of the ummah

You will see in the Commentary of the verse ٤:٤٩ (And whoever obeys Allah and the Messenger, these are with those upon whom Allah has bestowed favours from among the prophets and the truthful and the martyrs and the good ones; and excellent are these as companions.), that the least that can be said about the martyrs – the witnesses of the deeds – is that they are under the guardian-ship of Allah, enjoying His favours, and proceeding on the straight path. Also, it has been described in short in the explanation of the verse

When Allah told this ummah that it was made witness for the people, the meaning was that the “witnesses” would be from among this ummah. In this respect, it is not different from those verses which tell the Children of Israel that they were made to excel over the worlds

Such verses show that there were among the Children of Israel such personalities who were given that distinction; not that every individual of them was superior to the worlds. A distinction enjoyed by a group is attributed to the whole nation, because the group is a part of the nation

Likewise, this ummah has been said to be “witnesses over the people”, because there are, in this ummah, people who shall be witnesses of the .people, and the Messenger shall be witness of them

:Objection: Allah says in the Qur'an

And (as for) those who believe in Allah and His messengers, these it is that are the .truthful and the witnesses near their Lord (٥٧:١٩)

.”It shows that all the believers, in general, are “the witnesses

Reply: The phrase “near their Lord” proves that Allah will include them among the witnesses on the Day of Resurrection, a rank which they had not got in this life. It is :like the verse which says

And (as for) those who believe and their offspring follow them in faith, We will unite .(with them their offspring... (٥٢:٢١)

Apart from that, this verse is general and shows that all the believers from all the nations will be witnesses near Allah; it does not speak about this ummah especially;
.therefore, it is of no use to the objector

Objection: If the ummah has been made a “medium” in this meaning, it does not necessarily follow that the ummah, or a certain group among the ummah, should be witnesses of the people's deeds, nor that the Messenger of Allah should be witness of those witnesses. Therefore, the problem which had arisen in the previous .explanation, remains unanswered even by your exegesis

Reply: The verse says that those people were made witnesses because they were made a medium nation. It means that this “mediumship” is something which brings the “evidence” and “witnesses” in its wake. And

O you who believe! bow down and prostrate yourselves and worship your Lord, and do good that you may succeed. And strive hard in (the way of) Allah, (such) a striving as is due to Him; He has chosen you and has not laid upon you any hardship in religion; the faith of your father, Ibrahim; he named you Muslims before and in this, so that the Messenger may be a witness for you, and you may be witnesses for the people; therefore, establish prayer and pay zakat and hold fast to Allah; He is your
.(Guardian; how excellent the Guardian and how excellent the Helper! (٢٢:٧٧-٧٨

Note that the distinction that the Messenger should be a witness for them and they should be witnesses for the people, is based on two things: First, that they were chosen by Allah; and, second, that Allah had not laid upon them any hardship in religion. Then the religion is defined as the faith of your father, Ibrahim, who had
.named you Muslims before

He had used this name for you when he prayed to Allah on your behalf, in these words: and (raise) from our offspring a group submitting (Muslims) to Thee. Allah granted his prayer and made you Muslims, you have surrendered to His order and command; you neither disobey Him nor behave arrogantly before Him; that is why you feel no hardship in the religion, no rule looks difficult for you to follow. You have,
,therefore, been chosen by Him

.and guided on the straight path, submitting to your Lord in all affairs

We have made you like this, in order that the Messenger may be a witness for you and you may be witnesses of the people. Accordingly, you shall be a medium between the Messenger and the people; you shall be connected to the Messenger on one side and to the people on the other. In this way, the wish of Ibrahim has been fulfilled :about you and the Messenger, as he had prayed

Our Lord! and raise up in them an Apostle from among themselves who shall recite to them Thy communications and teach them the Book and the wisdom, and purify them .((۲:۱۲۹

You are that Muslim ummah; the Messenger has transmitted the knowledge of the Book and wisdom to your hearts; and you have been purified by him. Purification has cleansed your hearts from impurities and freed it for My worship and obedience (and .(as mentioned earlier, it is what Islam means

Therefore, you are the Muslims, sincere in your worship. Of course, the Messenger has precedence over you, because it is he who has guided and trained you. He has precedence over the whole ummah, and you are the medium group – joined to the .Messenger on one side, and to the people on the other

There are many associations at the beginning and the end of the verse which point to this meaning; one may understand them on meditation; and we shall further explain it in a proper

:However, the foregoing explanation shows that

First: The fact that they have been made a medium ummah has a direct bearing on the two objectives. In other words, the facts that “you may be witnesses for the people”, and that “the Messenger may be a witness for you”, both are the direct result .”of their being “a medium nation

Second: They have been called a medium ummah because they are placed between the Messenger and the people – not because they are a medium between two .”extremes, or between the “people of spirit” and the “people of body

Third: The verse in its connotation has connection with the verses of the prayer of .Ibrahim (a.s.); and this witnessing is a privilege of the said Muslim ummah

One thing more: It appears from the Qur'an that witnessing about the deeds is not exclusively reserved for the human witnesses. Everything which has any connection with a deed – angels, time and place, religion and Book, limbs and organs, senses and .hearts, for example – will testify about it

It may be inferred from the above that the same place and limbs etc. which we have in this life will be present on the Day of Judgment. Also, it appears that all the above-mentioned things have a sort of a life and perception with which they can perceive the .particulars of deeds – those particulars are imprinted on them

It is not necessary that every life should be like our own; there is no reason why life should be of only one type. It cannot be said that because time or space does not .have a life like ours, therefore, it has no life

This topic has been mentioned here just to complete the picture. Details about each .point will be given in more suitable places

Qur'an: And We had not made the qiblah which you had but that We might know him who follows the Messenger from him who turns back upon his heels: The words: "We :might know", may be explained in two ways

First: It may mean, 'My Messenger might know'. Great people generally use this style to speak on behalf of themselves and their subordinates. For example, a ruler says:
'We killed him', or, 'We imprisoned him', although it is his employees, not him-self who .kill or imprison

Second: It may refer to that knowledge of Allah which ac-companies the creation or existence of a thing, and not to that knowledge which Allah has of everything before that thing comes into being. "Turning back upon one's heels" is an allegorical
.expression, which denotes evasion or dissension

When a man, who is standing, turns from one direction to another, he turns on his :heels. It is like the words of Allah

.(And whoever shall turn his back to them on that day... (٨:١٤)

Obviously, this verse aims to remove any possible misgivings which the believers would have had because of the change of qiblah: Why qiblah was changed? Why the previous qiblah was abrogated? What will happen to the prayers which ?they had prayed facing Baytu 'l-Maqdis

Also, it is clear that “the qiblah which you had” refers to Baytu'l-Maqdis, and not to the Ka'bah (as someone has said). If his explanation is accepted, it would imply that both Baytu 'l-Maqdis and Ka'bah were prescribed as qiblah twice, not once. But there is nothing to support this suggestion

However, it was but natural that the believers should feel some uneasiness because of this change

First of all, as Allah had already decided that He would ultimately make the Ka'bah as the qiblah of the Muslims, then why did He make Baytu'l-Maqdis as their qiblah for so many years in the beginning

The verse says that all these rules and legislations are made for the benefit of the people themselves. The laws of religion aim at training the people and perfecting them; separating the believers from others; distinguishing the obedient from the disobedient, the submissive from the arrogant. And it was for the same reason that the previous qiblah was prescribed for you

It was done in order that “We might know him who follows the Messenger”, that is, We might distinguish him who follows the Messenger “from him who turns back upon his heels”. In usual way, the sentence should have said, “who follows thee”, but the Qur'an has used the noun “the Messenger” instead of pronoun, it is to remind us that his status of Messengership has a direct bearing on this separation between obedient and disobedient ones

We had not made the qiblah which you“ had”: That is, We had not made Baytu 'l-Maqdis as qiblah for you but for the reasons .described

Their second worry could be about the prayers which they had prayed facing Baytu 'l-Maqdis. What would be its legal status, as it was prayed towards a building that was ?no longer valid

Allah says that Baytu 'l-Maqdis was a valid qiblah as long as it was not abrogated. When Allah abrogates a rule, it loses its validity from the time of its abrogation, not from the original legislation; and it is a result of Allah's affection and mercy to the .believers

The above misgiving and its reply is inferred from the words: “and Allah was not going to make your faith to be fruitless; most surely Allah is Affectionate, Merciful to the both basically denote mercy (الرَّحِيمَةَ) ”and “ar-rnhmah (الرَّأْفَةَ) ”people.” “ar-Ra'fah and compassion; but the former usually has the connotation of pity for an afflicted .one, while the latter is general

Qur'an: Indeed We see the turning of thy face to heaven, so We shall surely turn thee to a qiblah which thou shalt be pleased with: The verse shows that the Messenger of Allah, before the revelation of the verse of qiblah – that is, this very verse – used to turn his face to heaven, as he waited – or hoped – that Allah would send some .commandment regarding qiblah

He did so because he wished that Allah would honour him with a qiblah especially prescribed for him. It does not mean that he was not pleased with Baytu'l-Maqdis as his qiblah – for be it from the Messenger to do so! Allah says: “We shall surely turn thee to a qiblah which thou shalt be pleased with.” To be pleased with a thing does not necessarily mean to be .displeased with its alternative

The traditions, describing the occasion of revelation of this verse, say that the Jews reviled the Muslims and boasted against them, all because the Muslims prayed towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis – the Jews' qiblah. It made the Messenger of Allah sad; so he came out in the dark of the night looking towards heaven waiting for a revelation from .Allah, hoping that it would cheer him up. Then this verse was revealed

Now, suppose he would have received revelation to continue praying towards the previous qiblah, that is, Baytu 'l-Maqdis, it would have been his proof against the Jews .that, he followed the qiblah by the order of Allah and not in imitation of the Jews

The fact is that there never was, nor there ever is, anything to be ashamed of, if the Prophet and the Muslims prayed facing Baytu 'l-Maqdis, because the servant has no choice but to accept and obey the order of the Master. But the verse promulgated a .new qiblah

It removed the cause of the Jews' revile and boast, in addition to defining the new qiblah. In this way, it was doubly welcomed – it was a proof against the Jews as well as

.(source of pleasure for the Messenger of Allah (S

Qur'an: turn then thy face towards the Sacred Mosque; and wherever you are, turn translated here as "towards", literally means (الْمَشْرِطُ) "your face towards it. "ash-Shatr
."part of". "Part of the Sacred Mosque" refers to the Ka'bah

Allah used this expression, instead of saying, towards the Ka'bah, or, towards the Sacred House, to keep the new rule parallel to the previous one. They used to pray to a part of the Remote Mosque, that is, its well-known Rock; so it was changed to a part .of the Sacred Mosque, that is, the Ka'bah

It is quite apart from the fact that the addition of the word, "part of" to "the Mosque" and its qualification with the adjective "Sacred" gives many details of this legislation which would have been lost if this phrase were changed to "the Ka'bah" or "the Sacred
."House

Allah begins this verse by giving the order personally to His Messenger (turn then thy face towards the Sacred Mosque), and ends it by including all the Muslims in it (and
.(wherever you are, turn your face towards it

It supports the traditions that the qiblah was changed when the Messenger of Allah (S) was praying and the Muslims were praying behind him. There-fore, he was personally told to turn towards the Ka'bah during that prayer; then the verse went on describing a general order which covered him and all the Muslims, for every time and .in every place

Qur'an: and those who have been given the Book most surely know that it is the truth from their Lord: Their Book contains the prophecies showing the truth of the prophethood of Muhammad (S), or that this True Prophet would pray facing to-wards the Sacred Mosque

In any case, the verse shows that the Jews' Book had some verses which confirmed – explicitly or implicitly – the truth of this legislation; and Allah is not at all heedless of what they do; He knows how they hide the truth and conceal the knowledge which they had been given

Qur'an: And even if you bring to those who have been given the Book every sign they would not follow your qiblah: The verse rebukes them for their obstinacy and stubbornness. Their refusal is not because truth is hidden from them

No, they know very well that it is the truth – they have no doubt about it. Yet they create mischief and invent objection after objection, because they hate the religion and reject the truth. No proof would satisfy them; no sign would make them change their attitude

Even if you bring to them every sign they would not follow your qiblah, because they are obstinate and refuse to accept the truth; nor can you be a follower of their qiblah, because you have a clear proof from your Lord

This Qur'anic sentence may also be interpreted as a prohibition given in the form of a proposition. Neither are they the followers of each other's qiblah. The Jews face towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis wherever

.they may be; and the Christians face towards the East wherever they may be Neither the former would follow the qiblah, of the latter, nor the latter would accept

.the qiblah of the former – because all of them follow their own desires

Qur'an: and if you follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you shall most surely be among the unjust: The admonition (in singular pronoun) is addressed to the Prophet, but it is really meant for his ummah. It also indicates that .the Jews, in their recalcitrance, follow their desire and have become unjust

Qur'an: Those whom We have given the Book recognize him as they recognize their sons: The pronoun "him" refers to the Messenger of Allah, not to "the Book"; the .simile, "as they recognize their sons", fits recognition of a man, not of a book

Nobody says: He recognizes this book as he recognizes his son. Moreover, the subject of the speech is the Messenger of Allah and the revelation he received regarding the .qiblah, it has nothing to do with the Book which was given to the People of the Book

The verse says: The People of the Book recognize the Messenger of Allah by the prophecies which their Book contains, as they recognize their sons, and a party of .them most surely conceal the truth while they know (it

The previous verses were addressed to the Prophet (in second person singular pronouns); then in this verse he has been mentioned in third person, and the talk is addressed to the believers; then the next verse again reverts to the previous style and is addressed to the Prophet. The style was changed here to show that the truth of the Prophet was clear and well-known to the People of the Book

This change reminds one of a speaker who is talking before a group, one of whom surpasses all in virtues and excellence. The speaker, therefore, addresses him especially (in recognition of his excellence), although the talk is meant for the whole group.

Then for some reason, he wants to describe the virtues and excellence of that person; now he turns towards the audience and treats him as absent, mentioning him by pronouns of third person. When that topic is finished, he again assumes the previous style of addressing him directly.

Qur'an: The truth is from your Lord, therefore you should not be of the doubters: It emphasizes the preceding statement and strongly interdicts doubting. The talk in singular pronouns is addressed to the Prophet but is actually intended for the ummah.

Qur'an: And every one has a direction to which he would turn; therefore, hasten to on paradigm of, as well as synonymous to, al- (أَلْوَجْهَ) (do) good work: 'al-Wijhah (أَلْقِبْلَه) qiblah, 'has the same meaning 'that to which one faces.

The verse sums up the foregoing statements and draws their attention to another more important reality. Every nation has its own qiblah, pre-scribed for them according to their own needs and atmosphere.

Being qiblah is not an inherent and inseparable characteristic of any place or direction; it is not a natural or personal feature of a thing which could not be changed. It is therefore not good for you to waste your time and energy in disputation and argumentation about it

You should rather hasten to do good work and try to excel others in virtuous deeds; Allah is surely going to gather you on a day about which there is no doubt; and wherever you are, Allah will bring you all together; surely Allah has power over all things

This verse is applicable to the subject of qiblah, as it comes between the verses dealing with that subject. Also, it may be applied to the creative affairs as it points to the Divine Measure and Decree and to the related legislation. We shall explain this topic, Allah willing, in another place

Qur'an: And from whatsoever place you come forth, turn your face towards the Sacred Mosque: According to some exegetes it means: And from any place you come forth and at any place you come down, turn your face to the Sacred Mosque. Others say that it means: And from whatever town you come out

The phrase, "from whatsoever place you come forth", literally means as follows: 'from whatsoever place thou halt come forth'. Possibly it may refer to Mecca from which the Messenger of Allah (S) had to come out, as Allah says (the town of thine which has driven thee out... (۴۷:۱۳ ...

However, the, verse says that the law to face the Ka'bah is a firm order which you have to observe in Mecca as well as in other towns and places. Then Allah emphasizes it in these words: and surely it is the very truth from your Lord, and Allah is not at all heedless of what you do

Qur'an: And from whatsoever place you come forth, turn your face towards the Sacred Mosque; and wherever you are turn your faces towards it: The first sentence is repeated here word by word, to show that this law is to be followed in every condition

For example, one says: Fear Allah when you stand up; fear Allah when you sit down; fear Allah when you speak; fear Allah when you are silent

The speaker wants to emphasize that you should fear Allah in all conditions and in every situation. This point would be lost if the above sentence were reconstructed in the following way: Fear Allah when you stand up, when you sit down, when you speak, and when you are silent

The meaning is as follows: Face towards the Sacred Mosque of Mecca whence you had to come out, and wherever you happen to be in the world, turn your faces towards it

Qur'an: so that people shall have no argument against you, except such of them as are unjust; so do not fear them, and fear Me; and so that I may complete My favour on you and that you may walk on the right course: These sentences describe the following three benefits of this commandment, and at the same time put the utmost emphasis on obeying this :law

First: The Jews knew from their books that the promised Prophet would face towards the Ka'bah, turning away from Baytu 'l-Maqdis, as Allah has pointed to this fact in a
,foregoing verse and those who have been given the Book most surely know that it is the truth from (their Lord (۲:۱۴۴

If the qiblah were not changed, the Jews could have used it as a proof against the Muslims that the Prophet was not the one whose advent was foretold in _ the previous books. But now the promulgation of this order has not left them any room for
.disputation – except those of them who are unjust

This exception gives the following meaning: Of course, those of them who are unjust – because they follow their desire – will never be satisfied; they will continue arguing against it; “so do not fear them”, because they are unjust and they follow their desires
.” – and Allah does not guide aright the unjust people – “and fear Me

Second: Obedience of this rule will lead the Muslims to the completion of Divine favour on them, by perfecting their religion. We shall explain the meaning of the “completion :of favour”, when we write the verse

This day have I perfected for you your religion and completed My favour on you and (chosen for you Islam as a religion (۵:۴

Third: There is the hope that through this rule the Muslims will be guided to the straight path. We have explained the meaning of guidance under the verse:

(Guide us to the straight path (۱:۵)

:An exegete has written

The verse of qiblah contains the words, 'and so that I may complete My favour on you and that you may walk on the right course'. Similar words have been used in the 'Chapter of Victory', while mentioning the victory of Mecca

Surely We have given to you a clear victory, so that Allah may forgive you your (i.e., your ummah their) past faults and those to follow and complete His favour to you and (keep you on a straight path (۴۸:۱-۲)

This almost identical expression shows that the verse of qiblah too alludes to the "victory of Mecca

According to that exegete, "the Ka'bah in the beginning of Islam was occupied by the idols, which were put there by the polytheists - the power in those days was in the hands of the pagans. Islam was weak, it had no authority or power

There-fore, Allah told the Prophet to face towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis, the qiblah of the Jews, who were nearer than the polytheists, to Islam. Then the Prophet emigrated to Medina, and Islam began to gain strength

The time was coming nearer when Mecca would be conquered and the House of Allah cleansed of the idols' pollution. Allah therefore ordered the Prophet to change the direction of qiblah. It was a great bounty favour which Allah has reserved for the Muslims

And Allah gave a promise, included in this verse of qiblah, that He would complete His favour on them and guide them to the right course. It was implied in these words that the Ka'bah would soon be cleansed of the idols and images; the Muslims would be exclusively connected to the Ka'bah as it would remain exclusively under their care

This verse actually gave the good tidings of the conquest of Mecca. Thereafter, when Mecca was conquered, Allah reminded them of that promise by using almost similar words in its description

”and complete His favours to you and keep you on a straight path ...“

Comment: This explanation, although apparently well-founded, is in fact not based on deep reflection; because the words of the Qur'an do not support it. How do we know that the verse of qiblah contains a promise to complete the favour? The answer is: a preposition used here for the final cause; so that, in order that) in li- (لِ) Because of li (...so that I may complete = (لِأَتِمُّكُمْ utimma

And the verse in Chapter ٤٨ (Victory), which, according to him, was revealed in fulfilment of that promise, also begins with the same proposition so that Allah may forgive you your (i.e., your ummah their) past faults and those to follow and complete His favour to you and keep you on a straight path (٤٨:٢)

Clearly, both verses contain the same promise to complete the favour in future; neither gives the good news of its fulfilment yet. Moreover, the verse of qiblah gives this promise to all the Muslims while that of the Victory uses singular pronouns and is addressed to the Prophet personally.

.Clearly they have been revealed in different contexts

If there is any verse showing the fulfilment of the promise given in both these verses,
:then it can only be the verse

This day I perfected for you your religion and completed My favour on you and
.(chosen for you Islam as a religion (۵:۳

favour, bounty, blessing) in the = (اَنْتَعَمْتُ بِهٖ) We shall explain the meaning of an-ni'mah explanation of this verse, and there we shall describe what was the favour and bounty that was completed on that day, and by which Allah has put the Muslims under His obligation for ever

There are two other verses which, like the above-mentioned two, contain the promise ;of completion of favour but He wishes to purify you and that He may complete His favour on you so that you ;(may be grateful (۵:۶

.(even thus does He complete His favour upon you, that haply you may submit (۱۶:۸۱

.We shall write under these verses somethings related to this topic

Qur'an: Even as We have sent among you a Messenger from among you who recites to you Our communications and purifies you and teaches you the Book and the wisdom and teaches you that which you did not know: The verse begins with the word like, as) and = (كَمَا like, as, even as), which is obviously a compound of ka = (كَمَا kama
.which changes the verb into masdar (مَا) ma

,The connotation, therefore is as follows: 'We have bestowed Our favours on you by appointing the Ka'bah as your qiblah. It is the House that Ibrahim built, and he prayed to Us for its good and blessings.

We have done this in the same way as We have favoured you by sending to you a Messenger from among you who recites to you Our communications and teaches you the Book and the wisdom and purifies you. We did so in answer to the pleading of Ibrahim, when he and his son, Isma'il, prayed to Us

Our Lord! and raise up in them a Messenger from among themselves, who shall recite to them Thy communications and teach them the Book and wisdom and purify them

This verse, in short, says that it was Allah's favour on this ummah that he sent the Prophet among them, as it was a favour to appoint the Ka'bah as their qiblah

Who are the people referred to by the second person pronouns in “among you a Messenger from among you”? The application may be restricted or extended, depending on the level of explanation whether it is interpreted esoterically, literally or legislatively.

Esoterically, it is addressed especially to the earlier mentioned: Submissive group (2:128), that is, those who were given authority over religion and followers of religion; literally all the Muslims from the progeny of Isma'il (i.e., the Arabs of Mudar tribe) are included; legislatively, it covers all the Muslims, Arabs and non-Arabs alike

,verses = (الآيات) "Qur'an: recites to you Our communications: "al-Ayat signs – translated here as communications) obviously refers to the verses of the "Qur'an, because it is the words (not the meanings) that are recited; 'at-tazkiyah .to purify) is to remove dirt, filth and blemish = (أَلْتِ زَكِيَّةٌ)

The Prophet cleansed them thoroughly – from wrong beliefs like polytheism and rejection of true faith, from vile and base character like pride and avarice, and from .evil and immoral actions and things like murder, fornication and intoxicants

Qur'an: and teaches you the Book and the wisdom and teaches you that which you did .not know: It encompasses all primary and secondary aspects of religious knowledge

These verses have variously changed the pronouns used for Allah, using third and first persons, singular and plural; and for others, using first, second and third persons.

.The reason of every such change may be understood by a little meditation

Traditions

Al-Qummi narrates in his at-Tafsir that as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the words of Allah, The fools among the people will say...: "The qiblah was changed to the Ka'bah after the Prophet prayed towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis for thirteen years in Mecca; and (also) after his emigration to Medina he prayed towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis for seven months."

.(He said:) "Then Allah turned him towards Mecca

And it was because the Jews used to revile the Messenger of Allah (S), saying that he was their follower (as) he prayed to their qiblah. The Messenger of Allah (S) became very sad because of it; and he came out in the middle of the night looking to

.the horizons of the heaven, waiting for an order in this regard from Allah

When it was day and the time of the noon prayer arrived, (the Prophet, S) was in the mosque of Banu Salim. And he had (already) prayed two rak'ahs of zuhr, when Jibril came down; and he held the Prophet's upper arms and turned him towards the .Ka'bah

And he brought down to him (the revelation): Indeed We see the turning of thy face to heaven, so We shall surely turn thee to a qiblah which thou shalt like; turn then thy
.face towards the Sacred Mosque

Thus, the Prophet had prayed two rak'ahs towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis, and (prayed the remaining) two rak'ahs towards the Ka'bah. Then the Jews and the fools said: 'What (has turned them from their qiblah which they had?' " (Majma'u 'l-bayan

The author says: There are numerous traditions of similar meaning narrated by the Sunni and Shi'ah narrators, which are recorded in the books of traditions. The reports
.differ about the time when the qiblah was changed

Most of them say that it happened in the month of Rajab in the second year of hijrah – the seventeenth month after the emigration; and this timing looks more correct. Allah .willing, we shall describe some other related topics in a separate discourse

There are traditions from Sunni narrators, which explain the witnessing of this ummah concerning the people and the witnessing of the Prophet for them, in these terms: "The nations will deny, on the Day of Judgment, that the prophets had conveyed any message to them

Then Allah will ask the prophets to bring their proof that they had really conveyed the message – and Allah knows it better. So, the ummah of Muhammad (s. a. w. a.) will be (brought in and they will testify (for the prophets

'?Then the (other) nations will say: 'How do you know

They will say: 'We knew it from the information which Allah revealed in His Book on the tongue of His truthful Prophet.' Then Muhammad (S) will be brought there and he will be asked about the condition of his ummah. So he will testify for their purity,
;justice and probity. And this is the meaning of the words of Allah

How will it be, then, when We bring from every people a witness and bring you as a (witness for these? (۴:۴۱

The author says: This theme is supported by other traditions narrated by as-Suyuti in ad-Durru 'l-manthur and others. But how is it that the Prophet would testify about his
?ummah that they were pure and just

It can be accepted only if it is taken to mean that he will testify for a selected group, not for the whole ummah. Otherwise, such traditions have to be rejected, as is self-
.evident from the Qur'an and the sunnah

How can the Prophet sanction or approve all those oppressions, cruelties, tyrannies and massacres perpetrated by this ummah, and whose like was never seen in any of the previous nations? How can he testify that all ?those Pharaohs and taghuts of this ummah were pure, just and upright

What is this tradition, if not a calumny against this up-right religion? A joke with the realities of this illustrious faith? Moreover, it is based on the wrong idea that a hearsay testimony is acceptable

The correct meaning of the verse may be seen in a tradition narrated from al-Baqir (a.s.) that he said: "Only the Imams and the Messengers will be witnesses for the people. And as for the (general) ummah, it is unthinkable that Allah would call them as witnesses - and there are among them those whose testimony is not accepted for a (bundle of vegetable." (al-Manaqib Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the verse, that you may be witnesses...: "(It is) then (wrong) if you think that Allah in this verse means all the monotheists, the people of qiblah (i.e., the Muslims). Do you think that a person whose evidence is not acceptable a weight about ۳ kilogram) of date, Allah will call him = (الضَّاع) 'in this world about a as-sa as a witness on the Day of Judgment and will accept his evidence in presence of all ?the previous nations

Certainly not. Allah does not mean (here) such of his creatures; He means only that ;ummah in which the prayer of Ibrahim was granted

; (you are the best ummah raised up for the (benefit of) men (۳:۱۱۰ and they are the medium ummah and they are the best ummah raised up for the men." (al - 'Ayyashi

The author says: We have described it under that verse with the help of the Qur'an itself

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) narrates from his father, from the Prophet, that he said: "It is among the (bounties) which Allah gave to my ummah and (by which) He made them excel all other nations, that He gave them three attributes which (previously) were not ...given but to a prophet

And when He sent a prophet, made him a witness for his nation; and surely Allah, :Blessed and High is He, has made my ummah a witness for the creatures, as He says so that the Messenger may be a witness for you, and you may be witnesses for the (people (۲۲:۷۸). (Qurban 'l-asnad

The author says: This hadith is not in conflict with the above explanation, because the word ummah refers to that submissive ummah in which the prayer of Ibrahim (a.s.) .was accepted

Amir al-'al-mu'minin (a.s.) says, inter alia, in a hadith describing the Day of Judgment: "They will gather in a place where every one will be required to speak; (but) no one :shall speak

.(except he whom the Beneficent Allah permits and who speaks the right thing (۷۸:۳۸

Then the Messenger shall be asked to stand (and speak); and that is (the meaning of) :(His word to Muhammad (S How will it be, then, when We bring from every people a witness and bring you as a .(witness for these? (۴:۴۱

And he is the witness of the witnesses, and the witnesses are the Messengers." (al-'Ayyashi

Abu Basir, narrating from the fifth or the sixth Imam, says: "I said to him: 'Did (Allah) order him (i.e., the Prophet, s.a.w. a.) to pray towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis?' He said: 'Yes. Don't you see that Allah, :Blessed and High is He!, says

And We had not made the qiblah which you had but that We might distinguish him (who follows the Messenger from him who turns back upon his heels...' " (at-Tahdhib

The author says: This hadith shows that the words: which you had, are related to: the qiblah, and that the whole phrase refers to Baytu 'l-Maqdis; and it was the qiblah which the Messenger of Allah (S) had. As we have mentioned earlier, this explanation is in conformity with the context. Also, it supports what has been narrated in a hadith :(.from al-'Askari (a.s

The Meccans were attached to the Ka'bah. Therefore Allah wished to distinguish the“ followers of Muhammad (S), from his opponents, by following the qiblah which he disliked. And because the people of Medina were inclined towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis, He ordered them to go against it and to turn towards the Ka'bah, in order that He may show who follows Muhammad (S) (even) in that which is not to his liking; such a man, ” ...then, believes in his truth and agrees with him

It also shows the incorrectness of the interpretation, to which we had made a passing reference in the $$SUB[-Commentary] Commentary, and which runs as follows: The phrase, which you had, is the second object of the verb, We had not made. Accordingly, the verse means: And We did not make the qiblah, that is,

.the Ka'bah, which you had before Baytu 'l-Maqdis

In support of this interpretation, they quote the words, but that We might distinguish him who follows the Messenger from him who turns back upon his heels. The .absurdity of this interpretation and of this argument is self-evident

Az-Zubayri, narrating from as-Sadiq (a.s.) says: "I asked him: 'Will you not tell me about the faith, whether it is word with deed or (only) word without deed?' He said:
'The faith is deed, all of it; and (utterance of) the word is one of those deeds; (it is) obligatory from Allah, described in His Book; its light is clear, its proof well-
.established; the Book bears witness for it and calls to it

And when Allah turned his Prophet towards the Ka'bah, away from Baytu 'l-Maqdis, the Muslims said to the Prophet: "What do you see (about) our prayers which we used to pray towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis? What shall be our position about these? And what shall be the position of those of us who have passed away and they were praying
"?towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis

:(Then Allah revealed (the verse and Allah was not going to make your faith to be fruitless; most surely Allah is .Affectionate, Merciful to the people

."Thus Allah named the prayer as "faith

Whoever therefore fears Allah, guarding his limbs (from sins), fulfilling (obligation of) each of these limbs which Allah has laid down for it, he shall meet Allah with perfect faith, (and he shall be) from the people of the Garden. And whoever acted falsely about any of these (limbs), or transgressed what Allah had ordered about it, he (shall meet Allah (as one) having an in-complete faith.' ” (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: It has been narrated also by al-Kulayni. Although it says that the verse, and Allah was not going to make your faith fruitless..., was revealed after the qiblah was changed, yet it does not go against the explanation given in the .Commentary

The Prophet prayed towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis for thirteen years in Mecca, and“ nineteen months in Medina. \(1\) Then the Jews reviled him, saying: 'You are a follower .of our qiblah.' He was very much saddened because of it

Then one night he came out turning his face towards the horizons of the heaven. When it was morning, he prayed the dawn (prayer). Then when he had prayed two :(rak'ahs of zuhr, Jibril came and told him (the message of Allah

Indeed We see the turning of thy face to heaven, so We shall surely turn thee to a ;...qiblah which thou shalt like

then he took hold of the Prophet and turned him towards the Ka'bah, and those who were (praying) behind him turned their faces (likewise), until the men stood in place of .the women, and the women in place of the men

Thus, the early part of his prayer was towards Baytu 'l-Maqdis, and the latter part towards the Ka'bah. Then the news reached another mosque in

Medina, and its people had already prayed two rak'ahs of 'asr (to Baytu 'l-Maqdis), and they turned towards the (new) qiblah

So the early part of their prayer was to Baytu 'l-Maqdis and the latter part towards

The author says: al-Qummi has narrated a similar hadith, with one variation that the .Prophet was in the mosque of Banu. Salim

Imam al-Baqir (a.s.) said explaining the words of Allah, turn then thy face towards the Sacred Mosque: “Face towards the qiblah, and do not turn away from the qiblah; otherwise your prayer will be void. For, Allah says to His Prophet concerning the obli... gatory prayer, turn then your face towards the Sacred Mosque; and wherever you (are, turn your face towards it.” (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: There are numerous al-mustafidah(1) traditions which say that this .verse was revealed about the obligatory prayer

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the verse: Those whom We have given the Book recognize him as they recognize their sons: “This verse was revealed about the Jews

Those whom We have given the Book recognize him, that is, recognize the Messenger

The author says: A similar hadith has been narrated in al-Kafi from 'Ali (a.s.). Many Shiite traditions say that the words of Allah, wherever you are, Allah will bring you all together, has been revealed about the companions of al-Qa'im (a.s.). Some of those traditions say that it is applied to them according to the principle of the "flow of the

An Academic and Historical Discourse on Ways of Finding the Direction of Qiblah

The Muslims have to face towards the qiblah in prayer – and it is an act of worship which each of them has to perform several times a day – and at the time of slaughtering an animal as well as at some other times. It compelled the .Muslims to find out the direction of the qiblah wherever they might be

In the beginning it was based on guess and rough estimates. Then the overwhelming need prompted the Muslim geographers and mathematicians to devise more .accurate methods to find its direction

They based their reckoning on the longitude and latitude of a place – they calculated the degree of inclination between its location and that of Mecca with the help of trigonometry and astronomy. They fixed the direction of qiblah in every town with the help of the well-known Indian Circle which fixed the meridian of a place and showed .the degree of its inclination from the qiblah

Then they started using the compass. Its hands pointed to the North and the South; and if the degree of inclination to Mecca was known beforehand, it was easy to fix the direction of the qiblah. It gradually replaced the Indian Circle, being a lot quicker and .easier to use

But both these endeavours of theirs – may Allah reward them for these – were not .free from defect and miscalculation

First: The Indian Circle: The latter geographers found out that the early scholars were not very accurate in their calculation of the longitude – and this had led to confusion in calculation of the degree of inclination, and consequently in the fixing of the qiblah's direction. The early scholars were more accurate in finding .the latitude of a place, than its longitude

They used to fix the latitude of a place by measuring the altitude of the North Pole there. But fixing a longitude depended on measuring the distance between two places, and it was done by noting the time when a certain celestial event, like a solar or lunar eclipse, occurred in one place, and then calculating as to how much time had .elapsed before it appeared in the other place

Obviously, neither the old instruments were dependable enough, nor the means of .communications fast enough, to give this calculation the desired accuracy

With advancement of scientific apparatus and development of new means of communication, the need was felt to find a more accurate way of fixing the qiblah. The well-known scholar, Shaykh (Haydar Quli) Sardar Kabuli – Allah's mercy be on
!him

Looked into this matter, and calculated the inclination of various places with the help of the modern sciences. He wrote on this subject his book Tuhfatu 'l-ajillah fi ma'rifati 'l-qiblah. It is a fine work, in which he explains scientifically, how to find out the direction of qiblah for a place; also he has given charts fixing the qiblah of various
.towns

Allah helped him in his endeavour – may He reward him for it – in such a fine way that .his calculations showed a clear miracle of the Prophet

When the early Muslim scholars calculated the position of Medina, they found that it was situated at 25° n lat. $75^{\circ} 20'$ long. The trouble was that al-mihrab (niche) of the Mosque of the Prophet (based on the original direction) was not exactly to the direction which the newly calculated position was indicating. The religious scholars were always arguing on this subject, and they invented some reasons to justify that “deviation”, although none was based on reality

But Sardar Kabuli – may Allah have mercy on him! – showed clearly that Medina is situated on $24^{\circ}57'$ lat. $39^{\circ}59'$ long.; and that the inclination towards Mecca is $0^{\circ}45'$. And the niche of the Prophet's Mosque has exactly the same inclination

By this calculation, one more miracle of the Prophet came to light; it was the direction to which he turned his face while he was praying, and about which he later said that Jibril took hold of his hand and turned him towards the Ka'bah. Truth was what Allah and His Messenger said

After him, came the great mathematician, 'Abdu 'r-Razzaq al-Bagha'iri – Allah's mercy be on him – and he calculated the direction of the qiblah of most of the towns of the world, and published it in his book; his charts fix the qiblah of more than 1,500 towns. In this way, the favour of Allah was completed about the direction of the qiblah

Second: The Compass: It has been established that the Earth's magnetic Poles are not identical with its geographical Poles. First of all, the magnetic Poles have been changing

.from time to time

Second, the magnetic North Pole is at a distance of about one thousand miles from the geographical North Pole. Obviously, the compass does not show the exact direction of the qiblah; in some places the deviation may reach a degree that cannot .be allowed

Now, the leading mathematician, Husayn 'Ali Razm Ara, undertook these days (i.e., the ۱۳۳۲nd year of the solar hijri calendar) to solve this problem. He calculated the difference between the magnetic and geographical Poles at various places, and determined the degrees of inclination of the qiblah from the magnetic Pole in respect of about one thousand towns. Then he invented his compass which fixes the qiblah of .those places very accurately

This compass is now in general use in the Muslim world. May Allah reward him for his .endeavours

A Sociological Essay on the meaning of Qiblah and its Benefits

Let us look at the social structure of humanity. Ponder on society per se, and you will admit that it was the human nature which brought it into being and developed it with .its many-sided aspects

It did so because of the inspiration it received from Allah – the divinely-gifted instinct which made a man realize that he depends on collective efforts of other men for his survival and development. That is why human beings rely on society and keep their .activities within the bounds of the social laws

Then he acquired knowledge – mental images – related to his surrounding matter, and about his own needs and activities. What creates a relation – positive or negative – between a man and his activities is the knowledge of their various properties; like the knowledge that something is good or bad, this should be done, that should be avoided. In fact, all the fundamental concepts of sociology come under this category

It covers leadership and subordination, ownership and jurisdiction, collective and individual affairs, and in short, all the common rules and values as well as the national or tribal traditions and customs

Even the last mentioned rites which change from nation to nation, from region to region and from era to era, have been produced by the human nature which worked according to the divinely-bestowed instinct

All these exoteric aspects of society are symbols of esoteric ideas and ideals; human nature sees in them fulfilment of its inner craving, and thus moves towards it in appropriate way – by taking it, discarding it, doing it, leaving it or perfecting it

Now, Allah is free from matter and its concomitants; He can never be perceived by any physical sense. How can people turn towards Him, especially if they want their inner devotion manifested in their actions – because actions are confined within material limits

It can only be done by representing the esoteric ideas with manifest actions. Various feelings and emotions are represented with various appropriate physical postures:

.Man prostrates to show his self-abasement; and bows down to glorify the Creator

Circumambulation around the Ka'bah represents self-sacrifice. Standing in prayer portrays the Creator's greatness, and wudu' and ritual bath are intended to make one spiritually clean, to .prepare oneself for Divine Presence

Undoubtedly, complete attention towards God during the prayer is the soul of the worship. Without total undiverted attention worship has no life, no vitality. And the attention depends on such representations for its existence, continuation and .perfection

The worshippers of idols, celestial bodies or other material things (like trees, animals and/or human beings) stand face to face with their deities and idols, turning towards (them with their bodies maintaining close proximity with them.)

Islam came to verify the previous religions brought by the prophets; it is the most comprehensive and complete Divine Religion. It has appointed the Ka'bah as the qiblah – the direction to which people should turn during prayer (and no one is .excused from prayer in any condition) wherever they may be in the world

They are further obliged (or encouraged) to turn towards it in certain conditions, and forbidden to face it or keep it behind their backs in some other conditions. Thus, a .Muslim is obliged to keep his attention to the House of Allah

He is not to forget his Lord in private or in public, in his working hours or in sleep, while standing up or sitting down in prayer, or in other actions – not even in his meanest (condition.)

The above discourse looked at the benefits which an individual derives from the qiblah. If we ponder on this rule from sociological point of view, then its effects are even more important and far-reaching. It has united all the Muslims – of diverse

But that method, invented by human mind, was rejected by Divine religions brought – by the prophets of God, because instead of fixing the attention to God, it actually diverted the attention towards those idols etc., making them into partners of God in worship. Yet, the original aim – a physical manifestation of undiverted attention towards God – was good and in conformity with demands of the human nature, (.provided it could be achieved without any risk of falling into polytheism. (tr

It is unlawful to face towards the qiblah, or to keep the qiblah on backside, while – ۲ urinating or relieving the bowels. Therefore, a Muslim has to remember the direction (.of qiblah even at that time. (tr

.places and different times – fixing their attention to one point

The qiblah, therefore, portrays that they are one in their belief, connected to each other in their social structure, and brothers in Islam. If such a fine spirit permeates the material and ideological lives of the individuals and groups, the society shall reach its highest point of perfection; and the most comprehensive and all-encompassing unity shall manifest itself in the Muslim society

Allah has especially bestowed this favour on His Muslim servants. By this favour He has protected their religious unity – even now when they have fallen apart in so many groups, have been divided into so many sects and are following so many diverse ideologies

.We are thankful to Allah for His favours

Therefore remember Me, I will remember you, and be thankful to Me, and do not be (ungrateful to Me (١٥٢

Commentary

Allah first mentioned His favour on the Muslims that He sent to them a Prophet from among them – a favour that cannot be measured in any way. Then he pointed to another great favour in that He guided them to the straight path and led them to the highest perfection

Then came the third favour of giving them a qiblah of their own – through that rule, their religion began its journey to perfection, their worship was unified and their religious and social virtues were enhanced

Reminding them of these three-fold favours, He calls them to remember Him and to be thankful to Him. They should remember Him with their devotion and obedience, so that He remembers them with His favour. He will increase for them His bounty and grace, if they are thankful to Him, and if they are not ungrateful for His favours. He :had already said to them and remember your Lord when you forget and say: 'May be my Lord will guide me to a ;(nearer course to the right than this" (١٨:٢٤

If you are grateful, I would certainly give you more; and if you are ungrateful, My .(chastisement is truly severe (١٤:٧

These two verses were revealed before the verse of the qiblah in this chapter. "adh- (الذِّكْرُ = "Dhikr (remembrance) is sometimes used as opposite of "al-ghaflah = (الْغَفْلَةُ = inattention and heedlessness). Allah says = and do not follow him whose heart We have made inattentive to Our remembrance .((١٨:٢٨

Inattention is "not knowing that one knows - although the original knowledge is present in memory". "Remembrance", as its opposite, means "knowing that one ."knows = (النِّسْيَانُ) "The word "remembrance" at other times is used as opposite to "an-nisyan forgetfulness). Forgetfulness is "cessation of knowledge from mind"; and as its opposite, remembrance means "presence of knowledge in mind". It is to this meaning :that the words of Allah refer in the verse

.(and remember your Lord when you forget... (١٨:٢٤

This remembrance, like its oppo-site "forgetfulness", is a concept which has its own special effects and exclusive characteristics. Sometimes when those effects and characteristics are found, we say that one remembers, although there is no actual remembrance; or that one has forgotten, although there is no actual forgetfulness

For example, if you do not come to the aid of your friend – when you know that he needs your help – then people say that: “You have forgotten him”, although in fact you remember him very well

The word “remembrance” is also used in the same way. Apparently, the use of this word for “verbal remembrance” (e.g., reciting or repeating the names of Allah) comes in this category, because you cannot express something in words unless you remember it in mind. Allah says

(Say; “I will recite to you an account (a remembrance) of him” (۱۸:۸۴)

There are many other examples like it. But if verbal remembrance is counted as a real meaning of the word 'remembrance' then it will be one of its (lower) degrees

However, remembrance is of many degrees. Allah says

; (now surely by Allah's remembrance are the hearts set at rest (۱۳:۲۸

And remember your Lord within yourself humbly and fearing and in a voice not loud in ; (the morning and the evening, and be not of the heedless ones (۷:۲۰۵ then remember Allah as you remember your fathers, rather a more intense (remembrance (۲:۲۰۰

Now, it is the thought or feeling which becomes intense, not the words

Also, we have quoted the above verse and remember your Lord when you forget and say: “May be my Lord will guide me to (a nearer course to the right than this” (۱۸:۲۴

The last sentence, beginning with Say

May be...”, tells the servant to hope for a rank higher than his present one. Its connotation will be as follows: If you slip down to a lower rank, that is, if you forget what you knew before, then remember your Lord and then you may hope for a higher rank that is nearer to the right course than the present one

It shows that the remembrance of the heart, per se, is of many degrees. It also proves the validity of the saying, "Remembrance is the presence of an idea in the mind"; because even "presence" has various degrees and ranks

Remember Me: In this sentence, the object "Me" refers to Allah. As we explained above, remembrance is the knowledge of knowledge; and knowledge is defined as "attainment of the form and idea of a thing in the mind of the Knower". Knowledge confines the thing so known and encompasses it within the knower's mind

Obviously, Allah cannot be known, or remembered (i.e., known to be known) in any way like this. He is beyond the description of describers. He Himself says

Hollowed be Allah, from what they describe, except the servants of Allah, freed (from ;(sins) (۳۷:۱۵۹-۱۶۰

(they do not comprehend Him in knowledge (۲۰:۱۱۰

We shall write later on, Allah willing, somethings related to these two verses.) In view of this established fact, if we were to say that the words, "Remember Me", have been used here in their real, and not metaphorical sense, then we will have to say that man ,has or can have, a know-ledge whose definition would be quite different from the one known to us

Traditions

Numerous traditions, on the virtue of remembrance of Allah, have been narrated by the Shi'ah and Sunni narrators. For example, it has been narrated through various chains of narrators that: "Remembrance of Allah is good in all conditions

It has been narrated that the Messenger of Allah (S) came up to his companions, and said: "Feast you in the meadows of the Garden." They said: "O Messenger of Allah! And what are the meadows of the Garden?" He said: "The gatherings of remembrance; go (there in the mornings and in the evenings and remember Allah

And whoever likes to know (what is) his position near Allah, he should see what is the position of Allah near him (i.e., in his heart); because surely Allah gives a servant the same position which the servant gives to Allah, vis-à-vis, his own self

And know that your best deeds (near your King) and the purest and the highest of them in ranks, and the best of all that the sun shines on, is the remembrance of Allah, the High, because Allah, the High, has said concerning His Own Self

I am the companion of him who remembers Me'; and He, the High One, has said: 'Therefore remember Me; I will remember you with My bounty; you remember Me with obedience and worship, I will remember you with bounties, and beneficence, and (comfort, and (My) pleasure.' " ('Uddatu' d-da'i

:as-Sadiq (a.s.) said

Surely Allah, the Blessed, the High, says: 'Whoever is too preoccupied with My remembrance to be able to ask Me (for his needs), I give him the best of what I give to (him who asks Me.)' (al-Mahasin; ad-Da'awat, ar-Rawandi al-Husayn al-Bazzaz said: "Abu Abdillah (a.s.) told me: 'Should I not tell you the most difficult (thing) which Allah has made obligatory for His creatures?' I said: 'Yes, certainly.' He said: 'To do justice to the people (even) against yourself, and your beneficence to your brother, and remembrance of Allah in every place

Why, (by remembrance) I do not mean (recitation of): "Glory be to Allah, and praise be to Allah, and there is no god except Allah, and Allah is Great" – although this is from that (i.e., it is one aspect of remembrance); but remembrance of Allah in every place (means that you should remember Him) when you rush to His obedience or to His (disobedience." (Ma 'ani 'l-akhbar

The author says: This theme has been narrated through numerous chains from the Prophet and his Ahlu 'l-bayt (peace be on them all); and there is, in some of them, the following addition: "And it is the words of Allah

Surely those who fear (Allah), when a visitation from the Satan afflicts them they (become mindful (they remember), then lo! they see." (v:201

The Prophet said: "Allah says: 'When I know that the pre-dominant trait of My servant is to be engrossed in Me, I transfer his desire to My invocation and My secret conversation. When My servant becomes like this (i.e., when he attains this position), then if he wants to (i.e., if he is about to) forget, I come between him and his .(forgetfulness (i.e., I protect him from it

They are truly My friends; they are truly the heroes; it is they that when I want to destroy the people of the earth in chastisement, I remove it (the chastisement) from (them because of those heroes.' ” ('Uddatu 'd-da'i as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “Allah, the High, has said: 'O son of Adam! Remember Me in your mind, I will remember you in My Self; O Son of Adam! Remember Me in seclusion, I will remember you in seclusion; remember Me in a gathering, I will remember you in a ” '.gathering better than your gathering

And he said: “No servant remembers Allah in an assembly of the people but Allah (remembers him in the assembly of the angels”. (al-Mahasin

The author says: Both groups, that is, the Shi'ah and the Sunnis, have narrated this .theme with numerous asnad

As-Suyuti writes in ad-Durru 'l-manthur: “at-Tabarani, Ibn Marduwayh and al-Bayhaqi (in his Shu'abu 'l-iman) have narrated from Ibn Mas'ud that he said: 'The :Messenger of Allah said Whoever is given four (things) is (also) given (other) four (things). And its explanation“ is (found) in the Book of Allah. Whoever is given remembrance, Allah remembers him, because Allah says, 'Remember Me, I will remember you'; and whoever is given ad- , (invocation) is given response (i.e., its acceptance = (اَلدُّعَاءُ) 'du'a because Allah says; 'Call on Me, I will answer you'; and whoever is given thankfulness, is given increase, because Allah says, 'If you are grateful, I will certainly give you more'; and whoever is given to ask forgiveness, is given pardon, because Allah says,

” ” ” ' ! Ask forgiveness of your Lord, surely He is the most Forgiving

It is written in the same book: “Sa'id ibn Mansur, Ibnu 'al-Mundhir and al-Bayhaqi (in his Shu'abu 'al-iman) narrate from Khalid ibn Abi 'Imran that he said that the Messenger of Allah said: 'Whoever obeys Allah, he indeed has remembered Allah, even if his prayer and his fast and his recitation of the Qur'an are small in quantity. And whoever disobeys Allah, he indeed has forgotten Allah, even if his prayer and his ” ' .fast and his recitation of the Qur'an are abundant

The author says: This tradition indicates that man commits sin only when he forgets Allah and becomes inattentive to Him. Had he remembered what was the reality .behind his sin and what effect it would produce, he would not have gone near it

If someone disobeys Allah – and does not care even if he is reminded of Him – and gives no importance to his Lord and Creator, then he is a transgressor (who) does not know the dignity and the sublime majesty of his Lord, nor does he understand how
.Allah encompasses every thing

This theme is also found in another tradition, which has been narrated in ad-Durru 'almanthur from Abu

Hind ad-Dari who said that the Prophet said: "Allah says: 'Remember Me by obeying Me, I will remember you with My forgiveness

And whoever remembers Me – and he is obedient – then it is My duty to remember him with My forgiveness. And whoever remembers Me – and he is disobedient – then it ...is a right on Me to remember him with hate

The last sentence of this hadith has used the word, remembrance (at the time of disobedience), in its opposite meaning; the verse under discussion and other traditions used the word 'forgetfulness' to convey that same idea

We shall give some more details of this subject elsewhere

General Comment

A single theme joins the five verses like a pearl-string; the sentences form a sequence and the topic is developed harmoniously; the beginning leads to the end, and the points to the beginning. It shows that they were revealed together, not separately.

The context indicates that they must have been revealed shortly before the law of al-war in the way of Allah) was promulgated and the Muslims were ordered = (الجهادُ) = jihad .to fight in the cause of religion

The verses prepare the believers for some trials which they will have to undergo, some misfortunes which will befall them. Not the usual type of trial and hardship, but some extraordinary misfortunes which will afflict the whole community and will continue, recurring every now and then

Man, like any other creature in this world, always faces some hardships and troubles which disturb and disrupt the pattern of his personal life

Death, sickness, fear, hunger, grief, poverty and deprivation are but a few examples of such personal misfortunes. It is the course which Allah has laid down for His servants. This world is a place of struggle and competition; the life is a chain of never ending changes and transformations

And you shall not find any alteration in the course of Allah; and you shall not find any .(change in the course of Allah (٣٥:٤٣

Although personal afflictions and misfortunes are hard to bear for the man so affected, yet they are not as crushing, bewildering and frightening as those which affect the whole community. When an individual is afflicted by a misfortune, he seeks help of others, complementing his own wisdom, .determination and steadiness with those of his relatives, friends and compatriots

But when a misfortune or hardship afflicts the whole community, it stuns them all; it numbs their minds, and clouds their vision; it looks as if the whole society has lost its .collective wisdom. It disrupts not only the individual, but even the collective life

Fear terrorizes, panic overwhelms, and minds boggle down; courage deserts and dread reigns supreme. A collective misfortune is, in short, much more harder to bear .and much more bitter in taste. And it is these that the verse point to

But not every collective affliction, like epidemic or famine. What the verses describe is in all-encompassing affliction which shall be brought about as a consequence of the believers' faith itself. They have accepted the belief of monotheism; they have .answered the call of the truth

The whole world and especially their own kith and kin are united against them. The enemies are trying, with all the forces at their command, to extinguish the light of .Allah, to erase the word of justice, to nullify the call of truth

The conflict has reached a stage where both parties realize that fighting is the only way out. Both parties have exhausted all other resources they had. The unbelievers first had tried to achieve their goal by arguments and mischief mongering, by whispering campaigns

.and unsettling rumours

But all was in vain. All their endeavours failed to give them any satisfaction – they did not harm the Muslims in the way they wanted. Now, from their point of view, nothing was left but to wage war against the Muslims and to annihilate them. Only then, the .path of truth could be blocked and the bright light of Islam extinguished

As from the believers' point of view, only the fighting could now help there in their endeavour to propagate the creed of mono-theism, to spread the true religion and just rule, to cut at the root of falsehood. The past experience has proved that truth gains strength only when falsehood is removed – and now it cannot be removed
.except by force

In short, the verses indicate that the great trial is near at hand – it mentions martyrdom in the way of Allah, and praises it laudably, saying that it is not a death, it is life – and what a life indeed! Accordingly death in the way of Allah is a distinction which .is desirable – not a thing to dislike or fear

The verses encourage the believers to fight for Islam. They are told that there is coming to them a trial, a hardship. Only if they bear it patiently, they shall reach the high ranks of spiritual perfection, receiving the blessings and mercy of Allah, and
.being guided aright by Divine Guidance

Also, it

p: ۲۵۳

tells them how they may get help in bearing those burdens – they should seek assistance through patience and prayer. Patience will protect them from fear and anguish, and will save their plans from disruption. As for prayer, it will turn their attention to their Lord, and will help them in putting all their affairs in the hands of the Almighty Allah, because all power belongs to Him

Commentary

Qur'an: O you who believe! seek assistance through patience and prayer; surely Allah is with the patient ones: We have explained briefly about patience and prayer, under the verse

And seek assistance through patience and prayer; and most surely it is a hard thing (except for the humble ones (۲:۴۵

Patience is one of the most important characteristics, which the Qur'an praises very highly. It repeatedly tells the believers to be patient – there are about seventy verses on this theme. It praises it in such laud-able ways as and bear patiently that which befalls you; surely it is of the acts which require ... ;(determination (۳۱:۱۷

And none are made to receive it but those who are patient, and none are made to ;(receive it but those who have a mighty good fortune (۴۱:۳۵

.(only the patient will be paid back their reward in full without measure (۳۹:۱۰

Likewise, prayer is one of the greatest acts of worship and devotion which the Qur'an always exhorts the believers to do. It has been praised in these words

.(surely prayer keeps (one) away from indecency and evil (۲۹:۴۵

Wherever Allah exhorts

.the people to some good deeds, prayer is always placed at the head of the list

Then Allah praises patience that Allah is with those who have got this virtue: In this respect this verse differs from the verse ٢:٤٥ which had focused attention on prayer; .and most surely it is a hard thing except for the humble ones

But this verse singles out the patience, because here the talk is about facing the difficulties and fighting against the enemies; and in this context patience acquires a .greater importance. Surely Allah is with the patient ones

:It is a special proximity unlike the company mentioned in the verse

.(and He is with you wherever you are (١٣:٢

This latter verse says that Allah controls your affairs and His knowledge encompasses you; while the verse under discussion means that Allah helps and aids the patient .ones. Patience, therefore, is the key to get relief from distress

Qur'an: And do not speak of those who are slain in Allah's way as dead; nay, (they are) alive, but you do not perceive: Some exegetes have said that when the verse says that the martyrs are alive, it actually means that their good names will continue for ever and their heroism will always be remembered with gratitude. Their argument is :as follows

The verse is addressed to the Muslims, who already believe in Allah, His Messenger“ and the Day of Judgment; they are also sure of the life hereafter. They have accepted the call of truth, and have already heard a .lot of verses which speak of the Resurrection

They know that a man's life does not end with death. How could they speak of the martyrs as dead? Moreover, this verse affirms only about the martyrs that they are alive; and describes it as their especial excellence vis-à-vis other believers and the unbelievers

But we know that life after death is not confined to one group, it is a general phenomenon, which covers the whole mankind. Therefore, the life mentioned here must be something special, which is reserved for those who are slain in the way of ”Allah – and that is their eternal name and ever-lasting fame

:But this interpretation is unacceptable, because of the following reasons

First: The life which they have mentioned is not real life; it is an imaginary thing, which has no relation with reality. Such unreal and imaginary things do not deserve to be included in Divine Speech. Allah calls to reality, to truth; and says

.(and what is there after the truth but error? (١٠:٣٢

:Of course, Ibrahim (a.s.) had prayed to Allah

.(And make for me a truthful tongue among the posterity (٢٦:٨٤

But what he meant by “a truthful tongue” was continuation of his true mission after him; he did not mean only that his good name be remembered and his praise be sung by coming generations

Of course, such imaginary exegesis, such false interpretation is more in line with materialists' thinking. They believe that soul is a material thing, life, is a development of matter; once a man dies the life comes to an end, there is nothing to continue after death; as such, there is no life hereafter. But applying that idea to sociology, they encountered a great difficulty

The fact is that man by nature believes in continuation of life after death, his instinct tells him that there is happiness and unhappiness in the other world where he goes after death; and if he wants to enjoy happiness there, he will have to sacrifice many comforts of this life

This is specially true about great affairs and ideals which cannot be established except when their supporters and adherents are willing to die for them, to sacrifice their lives for the cause. They have to die so that others may live

Now, the dilemma of the atheists and materialists was this: If death is the end of life, if man, after his death, is lost for ever, then why should he sacrifice his life so that others may live? Why should he deprive himself of the comforts and enjoyments which he can easily get through injustice and tyranny? Just to let others live in peace

What has he got to gain by his sacrifice? Nothing. No sensible man gives something if he is not getting something in return. Human nature rejects the concept of giving without receiving, of leaving something without getting something in exchange. It rejects the idea of dying to enable others to live, the notion of denying oneself the enjoyment of this short life so that others may enjoy it

the materialists realized the trouble they were in, they tried to make up this shortcoming by inventing these imaginary gains which had no existence except in their own minds. They said

A man, emancipated from fetters of superstitions and myths, must sacrifice his life for his country and for other noble goals; this sacrifice will make him immortal because his good name and widespread fame will remain alive for ever

Likewise, he should deny himself some enjoyments of life so that others may benefit from those things. In this way, society and civilization will remain on right track and the social justice will reign supreme. And that man, because of his sacrifice, will get a noble and sublime life

Would that I knew who will enjoy that noble life when the man himself is dead, when his physical body has perished, and with it have gone all traces of life including perceptions and feelings? Who will then feel and enjoy that “noble life”? Isn't it just a delirious raving

Second: The last phrase of the verse, ” but you do not perceive,” does not agree with that explanation. If that was the meaning of “life”, Allah should have said: nay, they are alive because their good name will remain for ever, and people will always sing their praises generation after generation. Obviously, such description would have proved much more satisfying and encouraging, and would have cheered them up to a greater degree than the phrase, “but you do not perceive

– Third: A similar verse which in a way also explains it – describes the promised life in such a way as not to :allow that interpretation

And reckon not those who are killed in Allah's way as dead; nay, they are alive (and) are provided sustenance from their Lord; Rejoicing in what Allah has given them out of His grace, and they rejoice for the sake of those who, (being left) behind them have not yet joined them, that they shall have no fear, nor shall they grieve. They rejoice on account of favour from Allah and (His) grace, and that Allah will not waste the reward (of the believers (۳:۱۶۹-۱۷۱))

.Clearly, it is a description of a real, not imaginary, life

Fourth: It is not difficult to accept that some Muslims, in the middle of the Prophet's era, were unaware of the life after death. What was very clearly mentioned in the Qur'an was the Resurrection on the Day of Judgment. But so far as the life of al- (the period between death and the Day of Judgment) is concerned, it = (البزْخُ) barzakh has been described in the Qur'an, but not so clearly as not to leave any room for
.ambiguity

That is why not all the Muslims are agreed on this subject – even today some of them do not accept it. (These are those who believe that soul is not immaterial; that man perishes on death; and Allah will raise him again for judging him on the Day of (Judgment

This verse, therefore, could have been revealed to affirm that the martyrs were alive in al-barzakh. May be, there were .some believers who were not aware of it, even if others knew it

In short, the verse speaks of a real, not imaginary, life. Allah, in several places, has counted the life of an unbeliever after his death as a destruction and perdition. For :example

.(and (they) made their people to alight into the abode of perdition (١٤:٢٨ ...

So, it is the life of bliss that is true life, and it is only the believers who will live that life,
:as Allah says

.(and as for the next abode, that most surely is the life – did they but know (٢٩:٦٤

They did not know it because their senses could perceive only the material aspects of this world's life. As they did not perceive what was beyond their limited perception,
.they could not differentiate between extinction and life after death

They thought that there was nothing after death but extinction. That delusion, that conjecture was common to believers and unbelievers alike. That is why Allah said:
.“nay, (they are) alive, but you do not perceive,” that is, by your senses

:The same is the import of the last phrase in the verse

,(that most surely is the life – did they but know (٢٩:٦٤

:that is, with certainty, as He says in the verse

Nay! if you had known with a knowledge of certainty, you should most certainly have .(seen the hell (١٠٢:٥-٦

The meaning of the verse, then, is as follows – and Allah knows better! And do not say about those who are slain in the way of Allah that they are dead. You should not think that they have become extinct, have perished

Of course, you generally think that death is extinction; in your language death is used as opposite of life; and this delusion is supported by your senses. But it is not correct. The martyrs are not dead, in that they are not extinct; they are alive although you do not perceive that life by your senses, by your perceptions

This talk was addressed to the believers, although majority of them – if not all – knew that man's life continues after his death. It was done to draw their attention to a fact known to them. The aim was to cheer them up by reminding them of this reality, in order that they should not grieve, should not be perturbed, should not lose their hearts, when death faces them or their dear ones in the way of Allah

The only thing that the relatives would be afflicted with, in such cases, is separation from their martyr for a few days, as long as they themselves are alive in this world

And this temporary separation is not a big problem – especially if compared to the pleasure of Allah, and to the bounties bestowed on the martyr, like the pleasant life and everlasting grace. And the pleasure of Allah is the greatest bounty and bliss

In this respect, the verse is not unlike

:the previously explained one where Allah tells His Prophet

.(The truth is from your Lord, therefore you should not be of the doubters (٢:١٤٧)

We know that the Prophet was the first and foremost of those who were sure of the Divine signs and communications. Yet he was told not to be of the doubters. This mode is generally used to show that the subject is so clear, so well-known and so well established that there is no room for any conflicting thought to come into mind

The Life of al-Barzakh

the period = (الْبَرْزَخُ = This verse clearly proves that man remains alive in al-barzakh between one's death and the Day of Resurrection). The same is the import of the :other verse on this subject

And reckon not those who are killed in Allah's way as dead; nay, they are alive (and) (are provided sustenance from their Lord (٣:١٦٩)

Many other verses prove this reality and we shall mention some of them at the end of this essay

A very strange interpretation has been given to this verse by some people. They say that it was revealed about the martyrs of Badr, and therefore it is reserved exclusively for those martyrs; it cannot be applied to others who are slain in the way of Allah

A scholar has made an interesting comment on this explanation. Writing about the preceding verse, "seek assistance through patience and prayer," he prays to Allah to !give him patience and forbearance to suffer such interpretations

Would that I knew what do they mean by that explanation. On one hand, they say that man perishes after death or murder; when his body disintegrates, he becomes extinct. If so, then how could the martyrs of ?Badr remain alive after being slain

Was it as a miracle? Was it because Allah had given them a distinction and excellence, which was denied to all the prophets, messengers and friends of Allah, not expecting even the Holy Prophet of Islam? If there is no life after death, then keeping them alive .after their martyrdom is not a miracle – it is an impossibility

And a miracle does not cover an impossible thing. If it is asserted that such a self-evident preposition was negated for those martyrs, then no confidence can be put in .any self-evident truth – let alone other principles

Or, do they mean that people's perceptions were mistaken about the condition of those martyrs? The martyrs were alive, were getting sustenance from their Lord, were eating, drinking and enjoying all the comforts of life – far away from the range of .people's perceptions

And what the people had seen and perceived with their senses – that the martyrs were killed, their bodies mutilated, their senses gone, and their physique disin... .tegrated – was just a delusion, and nothing of this sort had happened in reality

If this is what they mean, if people's senses could be so deluded – perceiving correctly in one case and wrongly in another, without any differentiating cause – then no trust can be put in any of the senses at all. Then, may be, we will perceive a non-existent as existing and an existing thing as non-existent. How can a sensible person speak like that? It is nothing but .sophistry

However, that explanation somewhat follows the line adopted by a large group of the scholars of traditions. The latter believe that the things mentioned in the Qur'an and traditions, which are beyond our perception – like angels and souls of believers and .other such things – are material and physical

They are ethereal bodies which may enter and penetrate dense and solid bodies, appearing thus in the form of man, for example, doing all that humans do; they possess powers and properties like ours, except that they are not governed by physical laws: they do not suffer any change or alteration, nor any composition or .disintegration; they are not subject to natural life and death

When Allah wants them to appear, they manifest themselves to our senses; and when He does not want so, or wants them not to appear, they do not appear. It depends entirely on a special will of Allah; there is nothing in their senses, or in their .“bodies”, to tip the scale on this side or that Such an idea is based on rejection of the system of cause and effect in the world. If such assertions were true, then all the intellectual realities, all the academic principles, will be null and void – not to speak of the fundamentals of religion. Even ”those “sublime ethereal bodies

.which are supposedly beyond the reach of cause-and-effect) will be negated)

The above description, however, proves that the verse speaks about the life of al-barzakh; it is also called the world of the grave, the period between one's death and the Day of Resurrection; it is the world where the dead person is rewarded or .punished until the Day of Resurrection

:Some other verses speaking about al-barzakh are as follows

:There are the three verses already quoted

And reckon not those who are killed in Allah's way as dead; nay, they are alive (and) are provided sustenance from their Lord; Rejoicing in what Allah has given them out of His grace, and they rejoice for the sake of those who, (being left) behind them, have not yet joined them, that they shall have no fear, nor shall they grieve. They rejoice on account of favour from Allah and (His) grace, and that Allah will not waste .(the reward of the believers (۳:۱۶۹ – ۱۷۱)

We have already shown how these verses, being similar to the one under discussion, prove the life of al-barzakh. Those who think that these verses were revealed exclusively for the martyrs of Badr, should ponder on the wordings of these three, because they indicate that not only the martyrs but also other believers enjoy the life .after death, and rejoice by favour and grace of Allah bestowed on them

Until when death overtakes one of them, he says: "Send me back, my Lord, send me back: Haply I may do good in that which I have left.” By no means! it is a (mere) word that he speaks; and before .(them is al-barzakh until the day they are raised (۲۳:۹۹ – ۱۰۰

It very clearly shows that there is an intermediate life between this world's and the one which they will live after the Resurrection. Further explanation will be given when .we shall write about this verse, Allah willing

And those who do not hope for Our meeting, say: “Why have not angels been sent down upon us, or (why) do we not see our Lord?” Now certainly they are too proud of themselves and have revolted a great revolt. On the day when they shall see the ;angels clearly it refers to the time when they will see the angels for the first time, that is, the) (;time of death – as is described in many other verses there shall be no joy on that day for the guilty, and they shall say: “It is a forbidden thing totally prohibited; And We shall proceed to what they have done of deeds, so We shall render them as scattered floating dust. The dwellers of the garden shall on that day be in a better abiding place and a better resting place. And on the day when the heaven shall burst asunder with the clouds; (now it speaks about the Day of Resurrection;) and the angels shall be sent down a sending. The kingdom on that day shall rightly belong to the Beneficent God, and a hard

.(day shall it be for the unbelievers (۲۵:۲۱)–۲۶

It very clearly proves the life of al-barzakh. Further details will be given in its proper place, Allah willing

They shall say: “Our Lord! twice didst Thou give us death, and twice hast Thou given us life, so we do confess our faults; is there then a way to get out?” (۴۰:۱۱)

They will say it on the Day of Resurrection. It means that by that time there would be two deaths and two lives. It can be explained only if we accept the life and death of al-barzakh. Otherwise, there shall be only one death between this life and that of the Day of Resurrection. We have explained it to some extent under the verse

How do you deny Allah and you were dead and He gave you life? Again He will cause you to die and again bring you to life; then you shall be brought back to Him (۲:۲۸ and the most evil punishment overtook Pharaoh's people: The Fire, they are ... brought before it (every) morning and evening; and on the day when the hour shall come to pass: Make Pharaoh's people enter the severest chastisement (۴۰:۴۶

It is known that the Day of Resurrection shall have no morning or evening. Clearly, the day when the hour shall come to pass, that is, the Day of Resurrection is other than the day of al-barzakh which has the mornings and evenings

.There are many other verses which indicate, or from which we may infer, this reality

:For example

By Allah, most certainly We sent (messengers) to nations before, but the Satan made their deeds fair-seeming to them, so he is their guardian today, and they shall have a (painful punishment (١٤:٢٣).

The Immateriality of the Soul

The verse under discussion, as well as those quoted above, points to another more comprehensive reality and that is the immateriality of the soul. The soul is something other than matter and body; it is beyond the jurisdiction of the rules governing matter and body, or those affecting various material compounds and mixtures

Yet, it has a special relationship with the body – keeping it alive, managing its multifarious functions and activities and enabling it to perceive and feel. Ponder on the earlier quoted verses and you will see this reality

The verses imply that man, per se, is not the body; he does not die when the body dies, he does not perish when the body perishes. The body disintegrates, its parts are scattered, but the “man” continues

Even after the death of his body, he continues to live, either in eternal bliss and everlasting felicity and grace, or in never ending misery and painful chastisement. That bliss or misery is based on his traits, trends, characteristics and actions, which he had acquired and done in this world's life – not in his bodily accomplishments or social achievements

These themes are understood from the above-mentioned verses. Obviously, these traits are totally different from those of the body, and are diametrically opposed to worldly and material characteristics. Thus, the human soul

.is different from his body

:Also, the verse ٣٩:٤٢ points to this fact

Allah takes completely the souls at the time of their death, and those that die not during their sleep; then He withholds those on whom He has passed the decree of death and sends the other back till an appointed term both have the same meaning – to (الإِصْطِفَاءُ) 'and “al-istifa (اَلتَّوَفِّيٰ)”at-Tawaffiyy“ take and realize one's right fully and completely. The words used here in reference to the soul – “takes”, “withholds” and “sends back” – clearly prove that the soul is something different from the body

:Another verse

And they say: “What! when we have become lost in the earth, shall we then indeed be in a new creation?” Nay! they are disbelievers in the meeting of their Lord. Say: “The angel of death who is given charge of you shall take you completely, then to your Lord (you shall be brought back” (٣٢:١٠ – ١١)

In this verse, Allah mentions one of the misgivings of those who do not believe in the Resurrection; and then tells His Messenger how to clear their doubt. They said: When we die, our body disintegrates, our limbs and organs are destroyed, nothing remains of our original form, and all our parts are scattered here and there in the earth. No one can then perceive us nor can anyone feel us. How is it possible for us, after such a total destruction, to be created a second time

This doubt is based on a feeling of improbability. Allah shows the Messenger (S) how to remove that ".misgiving: Say: "The angel of death... be brought back

There is an angel who has been given charge of you; he shall take you completely; he will not let you be lost, as you shall be under his protection, his control; what is lost in the earth is your body, not your soul or person (the reality which is referred to by the .word "you"), because the angel of death shall take "you" completely

:One more verse: Allah says, mentioning the creation of man

.(Then He made him complete and breathed into him of His spirit... (۳۲:۹

:Read it in conjunction with the verse

And they ask you about the soul. Say: "The soul is from the command of my Lord"
..((۱۷:۸۵

The soul, therefore, is from the command of Allah, and that command has been :explained and defined in these words

His command, when He intends anything is only that He says to it: "Be", and it is.
.(Therefore, glory be to Him in Whose hand is the kingdom of everything... (۳۶:۸۲ - ۸۳

The soul is from the kingdom and it is the word, "Be". In another place, the command
:is further explained in these words

.(And Our command is but one, as the twinkling of an eye (۵۴:۵

The phrase, as the twinkling of an eye, shows that the command, that is, the word "Be", is an instantaneous, not a gradual, being. It comes into being at once, and is not bound with

.the chain of time and space

It is thus evident that the command including the soul – is different from body, is something immaterial. We know that the material things come into being gradually and are fettered with time and space. Obviously, the human soul is not a material thing and is different from the body, although it has a special relationship with the .body

:There are some verses which show the nature of that relation-ship. Allah says

; (From it (the earth) We created you... (۲۰:۵۵

; (He created man from dry clay like earthen vessels... (۵۵:۱۴ and He began the creation of man from dust, then He made his progeny from an ...

; (extract of water held in light estimation (۳۲:۷ – ۸

And certainly We created man of an extract of clay, then We made him a small life-germ in a firm resting place, then We made the life-germ a clot, then We made the clot a lump of flesh, then We made (in) the lump of flesh bones, then We clothed the bones with flesh, then We caused it to grow into another creation; so blessed be Allah,

.(the best of creators (۲۳:۱۲ – ۱۴

The verses show that man, in the beginning was but a material body, changing into various forms; then Allah made that body into another creation – a creation that has got perception and feeling; now he perceives and wills, thinks and acts according to his thoughts and ideas; he manages and manipulates the things around him as he .likes

These activities

and authority are beyond the power of body and matter. Obviously, neither of these activities emanate from body and matter nor does their doer

We may say that the soul has the same relation to the body – from which it emanates – as a fruit has to its tree, or a lamp flame has to its oil. But these similes are a bit far-fetched. However, these illustrations serve to show the nature of the relation between the soul and the body – how it is attached to the body in the beginning and how that connection is severed on death

In short, the soul, in the beginning, is the body itself, then it grows into another creation, and lastly it becomes completely independent and separate from the body on death. These facts are understood from the above-mentioned Qur'anic verses; there are many other verses which allude to and imply this reality, and one may find them on reading the Qur'an with open eyes. And Allah is the Guide

Qur'an: And We will most certainly try you with somewhat of fear and hunger and loss of property and lives and fruits: Allah told them to seek assistance through patience and prayer and forbade them to say about those who are slain in His way that they are dead because those martyrs were in fact alive

Now, He explains why He has informed them of these realities. It is because the believers were soon to be tried and tested by fighting in the way of

It was by al-jihad that they would reach the pinnacle of their virtues; their noble lives would not be worth living except with al-jihad. The upright religion could not gain .strength but with fighting

And while engaged in fighting, their efforts would not be crowned with success unless they were helped by those two helpers, that is, patience and prayer, and were further strengthened by a third factor, that is, the belief that their martyr is neither dead nor lost, and that their endeavours with their wealth and souls is neither forfeited nor .fruitless

If they kill their enemy, they will remain alive while their enemy is destroyed; in this way they would be safe from the rule of injustice and falsehood which the enemy wanted to impose on them. And if they are killed in this endeavour, again they will remain alive for ever and equally safe from that unjust and wrong rule. In either case, .they shall enjoy one of the two most excellent things

Generally, the afflictions consist of fear, hunger and loss of properties and lives. As for the loss of fruits, apparently it means loss of children. When fighting occurs, its most telling result is not the loss of fruits but that of progeny, as the men and especially the .youths are killed

Some exegetes have said that the word “fruits” refers to the dates, and the “property” .to other possessions, for example, camels, goats and sheep

Qur’an: and give good news to the patient ones who, when a misfortunate befalls them, say: “Surely we are Allah's and to Him we shall surely return”. Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy from their Lord, and those are the followers of the right course

The patient ones are again mentioned in these verses so that Allah may give them good news to begin with, and then may teach them the way of good patience, and thirdly, may explain to them why patience is essential – it is because Allah owns the man – and fourthly, may declare what is its overall recompense, that is, blessing, mercy and being guided aright

Allah first told His Prophet to give them good news; but did not disclose what was that good news about. This was to show the greatness of the subject matter – it is from Allah, therefore, it must be about something specially good, great and beautiful. Moreover, it is something which Allah Himself has guaranteed

Thereafter, He said that the patient ones are those who say these words when translated here as misfortune) is = (الْمُصِيبَةُ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ) ”misfortune befalls them. “al-Musibah .any happening that occurs to a man; but it is always used for a distressing happening

Who... say: 'Surely we are Allah's...' ”: The word “say” as used here does not mean “ .mere utterance of the sentence with-out keeping its meaning in mind

Even understanding its meaning is not sufficient, unless one penetrates to the depth – of its reality. And that is that man is owned by Allah – in real ownership

.and that he is surely to return to Allah, his Master

If this feeling takes deep root in his heart, the man will observe the highest degree of patience; sorrow, fear and anguish will be totally eradicated, and the rust of heedlessness will be removed from the heart. How

Man and all his faculties, actions and other concomitants of existence, are there because of Allah. He is his Creator and Originator. Man exists because of Allah, and is dependent on Him in all his affairs and conditions. He does not have any existence or continuity independent of Allah

The Master has the right to manage His slave's affairs in any way He likes; the slave has no authority whatsoever in his own affairs, because he has no independence at all. Allah owns him; He is the real Owner of man's existence, faculties and actions

Then Allah allowed man to ascribe his "self" to himself as a property is ascribed to its owner. That is why it is said that "man has existence". In the same way, He permitted him to ascribe his faculties and actions to himself

Accordingly, it is said that "man has faculties like hearing and sight", or "he does some actions like: walking, speaking, eating and hearing". With-out the Divine permission neither man nor anything else could "own" any such ascription or attribution, because nothing exists without the Divine permission, or independent of Allah's will

Allah has also informed us that ultimately all things will revert to their original status – the state before Allah allowed them to be attributed to one or the other creature – and then no ownership will remain there except that of Allah, as He says

.(To whom belongs the kingdom this day? To Allah, the One, the Subduer (of all) ﴿٤٠:١﴾)

It shows that man – together with all that “belongs” to him or is with him – is to return to Allah

In short, there is a “real” ownership; it is reserved for Allah, nobody – be he a man or something else – shares it with Him. And there is an “apparent” ownership, for example, man “owns” his own “self” as well as his children and properties etc

But the real ownership is of Allah, and man owns them in form and appearance only – and that also because Allah has allowed such attribution. Thus, when man remembers the reality of Divine ownership, and then looks at his own “self”, he knows that he is wholly and totally owned by Allah

Then, he realizes that his “apparent” ownership – of his “self” as well as of his children and properties, etc. – will soon cease to exist, will become null and void; it will return to his Lord. Then, he will understand that ultimately he owns nothing, either in reality or in appearance

In this back-ground, there is no reason why he should grieve if he is afflicted with some misfortune. One may be affected only by something which one owns – feeling happiness when it is found or sorrow if

.it is lost

But when he believes that he owns nothing, he shall not be affected by finding it or losing it. How can he be afflicted by any loss when he believes that Allah is the real Owner of every-thing, and He may manage His property in any way He likes

The Ethics

The ethics entail betterment of morals and psychic traits – both in theory and practice. Man acquires the good morals and removes the evil traits by repeatedly doing good – and relevant – deeds, and their continuous observance. Repeated and continuous performance of an action etches its particular knowledge on the psyche

Gradually, a picture is engraved on the mind which becomes impossible – or extremely difficult – to erase. Habits become second nature. For example, if a man wants to remove the trait of cowardice and acquire that of bravery, he should repeatedly plunge himself into difficulties and dangers

When-ever he would rush into a perilous and hazardous situation and finds himself coming out unscathed, he would acquire the taste of boldness and courage; and would understand the ignominy of flight, of taking to one's heels

Every such bold step would leave its mark on his psyche and ultimately bravery and courage would become an integral part of his character. Man has no power to acquire such traits by his own will; yet it may be counted as within his power inasmuch as its preliminary steps – those repeatedly performed deeds – emanate from his will and power

There are two universally recognized

.systems to acquire high moral standards and noble manners

First System: Many people base their moral science on good worldly foundations, that is, the knowledge, ideas and ideals which are thought praiseworthy and laudable in the society. They acquire a good trait because it is commendable in the eyes of the .people

Chastity, contentedness with what is in one's hand and not looking at what others have – all these virtues create respect and honour in the people's eyes, and one's .standing is enhanced in public

Avarice results in poverty and privation. Greed destroys one's prestige. Knowledge attracts people and bestows respect and dignity in the eyes of elite; it opens the eyes of the knowledgeable person, and protects him from unpleasant things. Ignorance, on the other hand, is blindness. Knowledge protects you while riches need your .protection

Bravery makes you steady and saves you from fickleness; this in its turn makes people sing your praise – no matter whether you win or lose. Cowardness and rashness both cause opposite effect. Justice gives peace of mind, and keeps man alive even after his death inasmuch as his good name continues and his love pulsates in .people's hearts generation after generation

This is the well-known basis on which the moral science is founded. Ancients like .Greek philosophers followed this very system

The Qur'an does not endorse this system, because it depends on the like and the – dislike of the public. It looks at what is good in the eyes of the people and what is bad and accepts the former and rejects the latter. Even in a few verses where the Qur'an appears to use this method, it really refers to the next world's reward or punishment.

-.Ponder, for example, on the following verses and wherever you are, turn your faces towards it, so that people shall have no ...

(argument against you... (۲:۱۵)

Here Allah exhorts the Muslims to remain steadfast and firm, and for its reason, He ."says: "so that people shall have no argument against you and do not quarrel, for then you will be weak in hearts and your power will depart, ...

(and be patient... (۸:۴۶)

Allah tells the believers to be patient, as impatience and quarrelling among .themselves would weaken their hearts, dilute their power and embolden their enemy

And whoever is patient and forgiving, that most surely is an act of great resolution (۴۲:۴۳)

Here Allah invites the believers to patience and forgiveness and explains its reason in .terms of determination and resolution

Second System: The second system is to keep in sight the other worldly goals. Allah :has used it in many verses of the Qur'an

Surely Allah has bought of the believers their persons and their properties for this, (that they shall have the garden... (۹:۱۱)

(only the patient ones will be paid back their reward in full without measure. (۳۹:۱) ...

(surely it is the unjust that shall have a painful punishment. (۱۴:۲۲) ...

Allah is the Guardian of those who believe; He brings them out of the darkness into the light; and (as to) those who disbelieve, their guardians are the rebels, they take them out of the light into the (darkness... (۲:۲۵۷

.There are many verses, on different subjects, which imply the same theme

,We may add here another set of the verses. For example

No misfortune befalls on the earth nor in your own souls, but it is in a book before We (bring it into existence; surely that is easy to Allah (۵۷:۲۲

This verse exhorts man not to feel any sorrow (or joy) on whatever misfortune (or good thing) comes to him; what has come to him, could not be averted, and whatever has been lost could not be obtained, because all happenings occur by a firm
.Divine Decree which is unavoidable

Sorrow and joy both seem, in this background, meaningless – a believer should not indulge in these vain practices because he believes in Allah and knows that all affairs :are in His hands. Allah says

No affliction comes about but by Allah's permission; and whoever believes in Allah, He (guides aright his heart (۶۴:۱۱

Such verses, like the earlier quoted ones, create high morals by pointing to the sublime goals of the next world. These other worldly goals are real, not imaginary, perfections. T hese verses reform the human character by fixing man's attention to the real already existing causes like the Divine measure and decree, adoption of the Divine characteristics and remembrance of the good names of Allah and His sublime

.attributes

Question: Belief in causality of such things as the Divine measure and decree negates the rules governing this life in which we have been given freedom of will and power. This, in its turn, nullifies the noble morals and disturbs the system of this physical world

If man may rely, in acquiring such good traits as patience and steadfastness, and in refraining from sorrow and joy, on the fact that all things to happen are already firmly decreed and written in the “preserved tablet”, then the same argument may be used if one does not endeavour to earn one's livelihood, to acquire good characteristics, or to refrain from bad habits

He will sit idle not caring to do any work, and not striving to defend the truth and right. His only reply to all exhortations will be that whatever was happening was already written and decreed. In this way he will neglect acquiring noble characteristics and discarding evil traits. It will be a negation of every perfection

Reply: What we have written on the subject of “Decree”, is sufficient to clear this misunderstanding. We have explained there that man's actions are integral parts of the causes of the events and effects. Effects cannot happen without their causes

It would be a manifest error to say: Satiation of hunger is either decreed to happen or decreed not to happen; and in either case, it is useless to eat. We know that satiation of hunger cannot occur unless one takes one's food – and eating is an action with-in one's power, and is a part of the causes of satiation. It is foolishness to expect an effect to appear when one has neglected or negated all or .part of its causes

It is wrong for a man to neglect and negate the principles of “free will and power”, which is the king-pin of this worldly life, and to which are attributed its felicity and infelicity. It is a part of the causes of the events which happen to a man through his actions (or through the conditions and traits resulting from his actions). He cannot say that his will and power are not a part of the causes of events happening to him, or that .they have no effect on those happenings

In the same way, it is wrong to claim that his power is the complete, or the only, cause of the events and that nothing else has any influence on those events. One should not forget that there are countless things happening in the world which have influence on one's circumstances, conditions and the related events, and that the Divine Will is the
.foremost among them

If one were to forget this reality, one would be entrapped in many evil traits, like:
.conceit, pride, miserliness, joy, sorrow and grief, etc

The ignorant man says: “I did this; I left that.” Thus, he falls victim of conceit, shows arrogance to others or does not spend his money on necessary things. He is heedless to the fact that there are thousands and thousands of other causes – apart from his imperfect “power” – absence of any one of which would nullify the effects of his “power”. He says: “Had I done this, I would ”have avoided this loss; had I done so, I would have gained that He does not realize that prevention of loss or death depends on thousands and thousands of causes, and even if one of them is absent, the dreaded loss or death is bound to occur, man's own power notwithstanding. Moreover, man's power itself depends on numerous causes which are beyond his power. In short, man's power is .not by his power

The above explanation is a Qur'anic reality, and, as mentioned earlier, it is derived from the Divine teachings. When you know this fact and ponder on the relevant verses, you will see that the Qur'an attributes only some of the good characteristics to the firm decree and the preserved tablet, while it does not attribute other traits to the .above-mentioned Divine Decree

There are some actions, conditions and traits which, if attributed to the Divine Decree and Measure, would nullify the principle of free will; and accordingly the Qur'an never :attributes them to the Divine Decree; rather, it refutes it with full force. For example

And when they commit an indecency they say: “We found our fathers doing this, and Allah has enjoined it on us.” Say: “Surely, Allah does not enjoin indecency; do you say (against Allah what you do not know?” (۷:۲۸

On the other hand there are some actions, etc. which, if not attributed to the Divine Decree, would imply that man had complete freedom, that his will and power were the sufficient cause of his actions, etc. and were independent of every outside cause

The Qur'an, therefore, pointedly ascribes them to the Divine Decree, and thus guides the man to the straight path – a path which does not confuse the walker. In this way, the Qur'an removes from him the base characteristics which would have resulted from that wrong ideas

For example, it attributes the happenings to the Divine Decree, in order that man should not ignorantly feel joy for what he gets or sorrow for what he loses. Allah says

; (and give them of the wealth of Allah which He has given you (۲۴:۳۳

note that Allah exhorts man to be generous, by reminding him that his wealth has come to him from Allah

:Also, He says

; (and spend (benevolently) out of what We have given them (۲:۳ ...

the verse calls him to spend by attributing the wealth to the sustenance given by Allah. Again, He says

Then may be you kill yourself with grief, sorrowing after them, if they do not believe in this announcement. Surely, We have made whatever is on the earth an embellishment for it, so that We may try them (as to) which of them is best in deed .((۱۸:۶-۷

In these verses Allah tells His Prophet not to grieve because of the unbelievers' disbelief, reminding him that their disbelief does not mean that they have overpowered Allah; the fact is that what-ever is on the earth has been made and

.put there by Allah for the purpose of test and trial

This system of ethics is the one used by the prophets, and a lot of its examples may .be found in the Holy Qur'an and other Divine Books

There is a third system, which is found exclusively in the Qur'an; it is neither seen in the Divine Books which have been transmitted to us, nor in the teachings of the previous prophets (peace of Allah be on them!); nor is it seen in the knowledge which .has come to us from divine scholars

In this system, man is trained in character and knowledge, and the knowledge is used in a way that does not leave room for base and low traits. In other words, this system removes the vile characteristics, not by repulsing them, but by eliminating all motives
.other than Allah

Let us explain it in this way: What is the motive of a work done for other than Allah? It may be honour and might of the 'other than Allah', which the doer of that work longs :for. Or his power which he is afraid of. But Allah says

; (Surely might is wholly Allah's (١٠:٤٥)

.(that the power is wholly Allah's (٢:١٤٥)

And when one is imbued with this true knowledge, there will remain no question of doing any deed for letting others see, or hear about it; nor will there be any reason
.why he should fear, or look forward to, or rely on anyone other than Allah

Once these two realities are firmly known to a man, his psyche will be cleansed from evils of theory and practice. It will rather be adorned by the positive traits, that is, good character and Divine characteristics; for example, fear of and reliance on Allah, strength, self-respect, self-sufficiency and other such virtues

The Qur'an has repeatedly said that the kingdom belongs to Allah, that the kingdom of the heavens and the earth is His, that to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and the earth, as we have explained several times

Evidently, this kingdom does not leave any independence to anything, nor does it allow the creatures any freedom from want – except through Allah. Look at anything; you will see that Allah is the Owner of its person and of all its concomitants

When a man believes in that ownership and this belief becomes firmly-rooted in his heart, he does not admit that anything has got any independence at all – in its person, characteristics or activities. Such a man cannot look except at the face of Allah, nor can he bow down before, hope for, or have fear of, anything other than Allah. He will not enjoy or be pleased with any other thing, nor will he rely on, or surrender to, anyone but Allah

In short, he will not desire or wish for anything except Allah – the Eternal One Who will remain when everything will perish; he will surely turn away from all the falsehood, that is, from everything other than Allah; he will not attach any importance to his own existence nor will he care for himself in face of the Absolute Truth, that is, the eternal existence of his Creator – Great is His Glory.

:The same is the import of the following verses ;Allah is He besides Whom there is no god; His are the very best names (۲۰:۸

;That is Allah, your Lord, there is no god but He; the Creator of all things (۶:۱۰۲

;Who made good everything that He has created (۳۲:۷ ...

;And the faces shall be humbled before the Living, the Self-subsistent God (۲۰:۱۱۱

;all are obedient to Him (۲:۱۱۶ ...

;And your Lord has commanded that you shall not worship (any) but Him (۱۷:۲۳

;is it not sufficient as regards your Lord that He is a witness over all things? (۴۱:۵۳ ...

;now surely He encompasses all things (۴۱:۵۴ ...

.(And that to your Lord is the end goal (۵۳:۴۲

And the same is the import of the verses under discussion, that is, “and give good news to the patient ones, who when a misfortune befalls them, say: 'Surely we are Allah's and to Him we shall return.' Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy
”from their Lord, and those are the followers of the right course

These and similar other verses contain a unique Divine Knowledge, and produce some real and especial results. Their system is not like any other which a moralist might employ, nor even like that used by previous prophets in their teachings

According to the moralists, virtue and evil are based on the public's likes and dislikes; and the prophets based their teachings on the general religious beliefs concerning the rules of the shari'ah and their recompense. But this third system is based on pure and perfect monotheism and it has been used exclusively by Islam – the best of blessings be on its Prophet and his progeny

A western orientalist has expressed a really strange and astonishing idea in his History where he discusses the Islamic civilization. A gist of his observation is as follows

A scholar should concern himself only with various aspects of civilization which were developed by Islam among its followers, and the excellence and superiority which were its legacy to the Muslims in the form of a developed society and high culture

As for the religious precepts which Islam teaches, they are merely the moral teachings which are common to all religions and which were popularized by all the prophets

Comment: The explanation given by us shows how unfounded his opinion is and how confused his views are. The result emerges from its premises; the effects of training emanate from the knowledge acquired by the trainee

As mentioned earlier, there are three types of the teachers of ethics: one invites to a reality of a low grade, another to an average perfection and the third to the pristine reality and highest perfection

Can it be said that the results of all three will be the same? In other words, the scholars of ethics call the people to the sociological truth the prophets call mankind to the actual truth and real perfection by which it may get the eternal bliss in the life hereafter; but the Islam invites the people to the Absolute Reality, that is, Allah Himself, and teaches them ethical values by reminding them that Allah is One, and there is no partner in His divinity; this belief produces in man the purest servitude

Now you see how dissimilar are the systems employed by the three groups, and how different are the results

This Islamic system created an admirable social structure, and produced a multitude of good servants, divine scholars and Allah's friends – men and women alike. And this single factor is sufficient to ensure the distinguished position of Islam

Moreover, this system sometimes differ from the other two in its result also. It is based on the love a servant has for his Lord; it teaches him to give preference to his Lord's wishes over his own. We know that love and enthrallment sometimes lure the lover to do things which are not approved by social wisdom (which is the basis of the social ethics), nor are they commended by common sense on which is founded the general religious commandments. Reason has its own rules and love its own. We shall further explain it in some other place, Allah willing

Qur'an: Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy from their Lord, and those are the followers of the right course. It appears from meditation on these words that blessings is to a certain extent different from mercy – look how “blessings” has been used in plural

:and “mercy” in singular. Allah says

He it is Who sends His blessings on you, and (so do) His angels, that He may bring you
.(forth out of utter darkness into the light; and He is Merciful to the believers (۳۳:۴۳

The context shows that the sentence, “and He is Merciful to the believers”, gives the reason of the preceding phrases, “He it is Who sends His blessings on you.” The meaning therefore, is as follows: Allah sends His blessings on you; and it is as it should be, because He is Merciful to the believers, and you are believers; therefore, He .sends His blessings on you, to show His mercy to you

The position of blessing vis-à-vis mercy is like that of a premise in relation to its result, or of a glance in comparison to seeing, or of throwing into fire vis-à-vis burning. It is in the (الضَّـلُوهُ = the conformity with the explanation, given by some writers of as-salah .blessing), that it really means turning towards, inclination

Blessing from Allah means that He turns towards the servant with mercy; when attributed to angels it connotes their turning towards a man and becoming a medium to convey Allah's mercy to him; and when ascribed to man, it means turning to the Lord calling Him with humility. However, it does not mean that blessing itself is not .mercy or an example of mercy

Pondering on the usage of mercy” in the Qur'an, we find that it is the comprehensive gift of Allah, the All-“ :encompassing Divine Bounty. Allah says

; (and My mercy encompasses all things (۷:۱۵۶

:also, He says

And your Lord is the self-sufficient one, the Lord of mercy; if He pleases, He may take you off, and make whom He pleases successors after you, even as He raised you up (from the seed of another people (۶:۱۳۳

He may take you off because He is Self-sufficient, He does not need you; and He may make others succeed you, as He had raised you up, because He is Merciful. Even then both aspects are attributed to His mercy, and at the same time they may be attributed to His Self-sufficiency. Every creation – be it from matter or without matter – is a mercy, and also a gift and bounty emanating from His Self-sufficiency

:Allah says

(and the bounty of your Lord is not confined (۱۷:۲۰

And one of His bounties is as-salah (the blessing); this too is a mercy, but of a especial type. Probably this is the reason why in the verse under discussion, “blessings” has .been used in plural and “mercy” in singular

Qur'an: and they are the followers of the right course. It looks like the result of the preceding clause, “Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy from their Lord”. That is why Allah did not say, 'on whom are blessing and mercy from their Lord and .guidance'; instead He described it in a separate sentence

Also, He did not the rightly guided ones)'; instead their = (الْمُهْدَىٰ-وَنَ) say, 'and they are al-mahdiyyun = (الْمُتَدُونَ) acceptance of guidance has been denoted with the word al-muhtadun (followers of the right course), because "following" describes the next stage, coming . "after and resulting from "guidance

Evidently, the mercy of Allah consisted of guiding them to Himself; the blessings were like the preliminaries of that guidance, and their following that right course was the result of that guidance. Thus, the blessings, the mercy and the following of the right course, all are different from one another, although looking from another angle all .three were but Divine Mercy

Allah gives good news to these believers of His bestowal of honours to them. To clearly understand the whole sequence, look at the following example: You see in the way a friend of yours who wants to come to your house to be your guest, and is .making enquiries as to how to reach your home

You meet him with smiling face, take him to the proper path, walking with him, not leaving him alone lest he loses the way; this continues until you bring him to your house; while on the way, you tend to his needs and look after his meals and transport, .and protect him from every hardship and trouble

All these things taken together are called "hospitality" accorded to him; and every care taken of him is a particular care and hospitality; for example, showing him the - way is separate from hospitality and care and even then it is a hospitality. Each of the above acts is a care, and each is a guidance and each is a particular hospitality – and all together come under one word, .”hospitality

Applying this example to this verse, the one comprehensive hospitality is like the mercy, and every attention paid to the friend is like the blessings and his being your .”guest in your house is like the “following the right course

Many syntactical devices of this sentence point to the prestige and rank of those believers: First, it is a nominal clause; second, it begins with a demonstrative pronoun used for distant objects; third, that pronoun has been reinforced with a separate .personal pronoun; and fourth, the predicate begins with the definite article

About al–Barzakh and the Soul's Life after Death

Suwayd ibn Ghafalah narrates from the Commander of the faithfuls ('Ali, a.s.) that he said: “Surely, when the son of Adam comes to (his) last day of this world and the first of the next, his property, his children and his actions are portrayed before him. So he :turns to his property and says

By God! I was covetous of you (and) avaricious; so what have you (now) got for me?" (The property) says: 'Take your shroud from me'. Then he turns to his children and says: 'By God! Surely I was your loving (father), and I was your protector; now what have you got for me?' They say: 'We shall convey you to your pit (i.e., grave) and bury 'you in it

Then he turns to his deeds and says: 'By God! I was indifferent to you, and you were distasteful to me; (now) what is with you (for me)?' So it says: 'I am your companion in your grave as well 'as on the Day of your gathering – until I am presented with you before your Lord

Then (after his death), if he is a friend of Allah, there comes to him (a visitor), the most sweet-scented of all people, of the most beautiful appearance and (wearing) the most adorned apparel, and says to him: 'Rejoice with refreshment from Allah, and flowers (and the garden of bounties; you arrived a good arrival' (i.e., welcome to you

Thereupon, he says: 'Who are you?' (The visitor) says: 'I am your good deed. Proceed from the world to the garden.' And he recognizes the one who washes his body, and (earnestly appeals to his carrier (the bier-bearer) to hasten him (to the grave

Then when he enters his grave, two angels come to him – and they are the examiners of the grave – with elegantly-dressed hairs, writing on the earth with their teeth; their .voices are like roaring thunder and their eyes like streaking lightening

They ask him: 'Who is your Lord? And who is your prophet? And what is your religion?' And he says: 'Allah is my Lord; and Muhammad is my prophet; and Islam is my 'religion

So they say: 'May Allah confirm you in what you like and are pleased with!' And this is (the meaning of) the :word of Allah

Allah confirms those who believe with the sure word in this world's life and in the .(hereafter... (۱۴:۲۷

Then they make his grave spacious for him as far as his eye can see, and open for him a gate to the garden, and say to him: 'Sleep happily the sleep of a fine-looking youth.'
:And it is the word of Allah

The dwellers of the garden shall on that day be in a better abiding place and a better
.(resting place. (۲۵:۲۴

And if he is an enemy of his Lord, then comes to him a (visitor), the ugliest of the“ creatures of Allah in attires and the foulest-smelling. And he tells him: 'Welcome to the 'entertainment of boiling water and roasting in Hell

And he (the dead person) recognizes the one who washes his body, and earnestly appeals to his carrier (the bier-bearer) to hold him back. And when he is buried in his .grave, the examiners of the grave come to him and remove his shroud from him

Then they ask him: 'Who is your Lord? And what is your religion? And who is your prophet? And he says: 'I do not know.' So they say to him: 'You did not know, nor were 'you on the right path

Then they hit him with an iron-rod, a hitting which frightens every creature of Allah – except the jinn and the men. Thereafter they open for him a door to the Hell and tell 'him: 'Sleep in the worst condition

So he is squeezed in a narrow space like a shaft in an arrow-head, until his brain comes out from between his nails and flesh; and Allah sets on him the serpents of the earth and its scorpions and insects which go on biting him until Allah will raise him from his grave – and he will long for the advent of the Hour, because of the trouble in which he finds (himself.” (at-Tafsir, al-Qummi

Abu Bakr al-Hadrami narrates from Abu Ja'far (a.s.) that he said: “No one shall be questioned in the grave except he who shall be of pure belief or of total disbelief.” I told him: “And (what about) the rest of the men?” He said: “They will be kept in (oblivion.” (Muntakhab Basa'iri 'd-darajat Ibn Zubyan says: “I was with Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.), and he said: 'What do the people say about the souls of the believers after they die?' I said: 'They say (that the souls are placed) in the craws of green birds.' He said: 'Glory be to Allah! The believer is far more

!honourable near Allah than this

When it happens (i.e., when the believer dies) there come to him the Messenger of Allah and Ali and Fatimah and Hasan and Husayn (peace be on them), and with them
.(come) the angels of the Mighty and Glorious Allah (who are near to him

So, if Allah lets his tongue speak the witness of His Oneness and the prophethood of love, obedience of = (الولايه م) the Prophet and the (al-walayah the Ahlu 'l-bayt, then the Messenger of Allah (S) and 'Ali and Fatimah and Hasan and Husayn (peace be on them) and with them the near angels become his witnesses for

.it

And if his tongue is tied, Allah confers on His Prophet the knowledge of what is in his (i.e., that believer's) heart of that (belief); so he (i.e., the Prophet) becomes his witness; and then bear testimony of Ali, Fatimah, Hasan and Husayn – because of the testimony of the Prophet – on their group be the best peace from Allah! and (so do)
.those angels who are present with them

When Allah takes him to Himself, He sends that soul to the garden, in a shape similar to his (worldly) shape. They eat (there) and drink. When a new-corner comes to them, he recognizes them by that shape which they had in the world.” (al-Amali, ash-Shaykh (at-Tusi

Hammad ibn 'Uthman narrates from Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.) that he described the souls of the believers and said: “They meet each other.” I said: “They meet each other?” He said: “Yes! They ask each other and recognize each other, so that if you see one you (will say, '(He is) so-and-so'.” (al-Mahasin

Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.) said: “Verily, the believer visits his family and he sees what he likes; and what he dislikes is hidden from him. And verily the unbeliever visits his family and he sees what he dislikes; and what he likes is hidden from him.” And he said: “There are some of them who visit (their families) every Friday; and there are others who visit according (to their deeds.” (al-Kafi as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “Verily, the souls are, with the characteristic features of (their) bodies, in a tree of the garden; they know each other and enquire about each other. When a (new) soul comes to (those) souls, they say: 'Let it be, because it is coming '.(from a great terrifying (experience Thereafter, they ask him: 'What has happened to so-and-so? What has so-and-so done?' If the soul tells them, 'I have left him alive', they hope for his (future arrival); and if it tells them, 'He had died', they say: 'He fell down (to Hell); he perished.' ” (al-

The author says: There are numerous traditions on the subject of al-barzakh. We have quoted above some comprehensive ones. There is a huge lot of nearly mutawatir traditions describing the above-mentioned meanings. These traditions
.prove that the life of al-barzakh is an immaterial one

A Philosophical Discussion on Immateriality of the Soul

Is the soul immaterial? The word “soul” in this discussion means that thing which every man refers to when he says “I”. Its “immateriality” refers to the fact that it is not
.a material thing, it is neither divisible nor governed by time or space

No doubt, I conceive in myself a concept which I refer to as “I”; and it is equally certain that every man has similar conception about himself. It is a conception which we are never oblivious of – as long As we are alive and conscious. It is not a limb of ours; nor is it a part of our body which we perceive by one of our .senses or even through reason

In short, it is not like our external limbs which we feel with our senses of sight or touch, etc., nor is it like our internal organs which we know by senses or experiment. Sometimes we become oblivious of one or another of those limbs or organs – or even of the whole body. But we are never oblivious of the “I”. It proves that the “I” is other .than the body and its parts

One thing more. Body and its limbs and parts as well as the faculties and characteristics found in it, are all material. One of the characteristics of matter is gradual change, dissolution and divisibility. If soul were body or a part thereof, it .would have been material and subject to change and division – but it is not so

If a man looks at this vision of his “self ” and then compares it with that which he used to look at since the beginning of his gnosis of the “self ”, he will find that it is the same
.vision, the same notion, without the least change or plurality

It is unlike his body or its parts and characteristics which all undergo continuous change, in substance and form as well as in their conditions and positions. Also, he will realize that it is a notion, simple, indivisible and non-compound, unlike the body

.or its parts and characteristics

And matter and every material thing is a compound and divisible. Obviously, the soul is not body, nor is it a part of the body; it is neither a development of the body nor one of its characteristics

Coming to matter again, it makes no difference whether we perceived it with a sense of ours or by reasoning, or did not perceive it at all – it is matter and material in any case. And matter is subject to change and divisibility. But we have seen that the vision which we call “soul” is not subject to any of the above characteristics of matter. Therefore, soul is neither matter nor material

Also, this vision of “I” is a notion, simple and one; there is no plurality of parts therein, nor is there any extraneous item mixed with it; it is an absolute one. Every man finds it in him–self that he is he and not someone else

Therefore, this vision is a concept subsistent by itself, and distinct; it is beyond the definition of matter and is not subject to its characteristics and properties. It is a jawhar (جَوْهَرٌ) = lit. “jewel”; technically, a thing that exists in reality and which is the bearer of the accidents), separate from matter; it has a connection with the body which makes it identifiable with the body – and it is the connection of management

.The above discourse proves our claims in this respect

All the materialists and a group of Muslim theologians as well as the Zahiristic traditionalists do not accept the immateriality of the soul. But what they have written in support of their view stretches the credulity too far. Let us :have a look at the arguments of the materialists. They say

The science has nowadays advanced to a previously-undreamt-of extent in its in- .1 depth and minute researches of natural phenomena. It has found and pin-pointed a .natural and material cause for every characteristic of the body

It has not found any psychological effect which could not be explained according to the material laws. This being the case, why should we believe in the existence of an ?immaterial soul

The nervous system continuously conveys the perceptions to its centre (i.e., brain) .2 with extreme rapidity. The vision thus perceived is a unified series, having a single position. The pictures formed in mind are substituted with such rapidity that one frame is not distinguishable from another; that is, mind does not realize that the .preceding frame has gone and been replaced by another

It is this composite "one", this illusory "unit", which we see and call our soul, and which ."we refer to as "I

It is true that it is other than all our limbs and organs; but it does not necessarily mean that it is other than body and its characteristics. The fact is that it is a composite series which appears to be one, because of continuous and rapid substitutions – and we are never oblivious of it, because such an oblivion would .result in nullity of the nervous system – in other words, death

Also, it is true that my vision of my “I” is constant. But it is not because there is a thing which is constant and unchanged. In fact, it is only an illusion resulting from a series of .constantly and rapidly changing visions

Suppose there is a water–tank with an inlet and an outlet of the same diameter; water comes in from one side and goes out from the other, with exactly the same speed – .and the tank seems always full

Our sense perceives the water as one, constant and unchanged unit, but in reality it is neither the same water nor is it constant and unchanged. Even if there is a reflection in the water, of a man, tree or some other object, it will look as unchanged, steady and constant, but actually it is not so – it is not one, it is gradually changing with the .gradual change of the water

The same is the case of the apparent oneness, constancy and unchangeability which .”we see in our soul, self or “I

The soul, for whose immateriality arguments have been offered, based on the inner .۳ vision, is in fact a composite of natural faculties and characteristics. It is the sum–total of nervous perceptions, which in their turn emanate from mutual action and reaction between external matter and nervous system. It is a composite unity, not the real .one

Comment

It is true that the science, based on senses and .۱

p: ۳۰۲

experiments, with all its minute, delicate and in-depth researches, has not come across a “soul”. Also, it is correct that it has not found any phenomenon which irresistibly led one to the soul as its cause

But these two premises do not prove that there is not an immaterial soul – after all, we have written earlier the proofs of its existence. The natural sciences, which discuss the laws of nature and the properties of matter, are by definition limited to the researches concerning matter only, which is its subject

The apparatus and chemicals, etc. which sciences use to conduct and complete their tests and experiments, may throw light on matter and material affairs only. But by the same token these, sciences and their apparatus, etc. cannot pass any judgment – for or against – on metaphysical and immaterial concept and beings

Utmost that a natural science can say is that it did not find a soul. But “not finding” is not “non-existence”. The natural sciences, by their definition, are not expected to find within their subject (i.e., within matter and its properties and characteristics) something beyond the limit of matter and physical nature

In fact, their above-mentioned assertion emanates from a gross misunderstanding. They think that those who believed in the existence of soul, did so because they look at some biological functions of their limbs which they could not explain within the framework of their incomplete knowledge, and so they said that there was something immaterial, that is, the soul, that was

.the source of those functions

But now the science has developed by leaps and bounds and has pin-pointed the natural causes of all such functions. Therefore, there is no need now to believe in the putative soul. (It is the same trend of thought which they have followed while denying (.the existence of the Creator

Obviously, it is a wrong assumption. Those who believe in the existence of soul, do not do so because of that supposed difficulty; they do not ascribe some bodily function (of known causes) to the body, and some others (of unknown causes) to the soul. Rather, they ascribe all bodily functions to the body – directly – and to the soul – indirectly, through the body. They ascribe to the soul only one function which cannot be ascribed
.”to the body in any way – man's gnosis of self and his vision of his person or “I

They have said that the reality seen by man as one is, in fact, a series of nervous .r perceptions coming to the central nervous system one after another with extreme .rapidity but their oneness is only composite

But this assertion is quite irrelevant, and it has nothing to do with the vision of the self. We have argued on the strength of the vision of the self; they are talking about arrival of the sensual visions from the peripheral sense-organs to the central nervous .system, and its results

Well, let us suppose, as they say, that actually there are many things, that is, perceptions which have no real oneness; and those perceptions are all material, there is nothing behind them except their own reality; and that the vision which is 'one .soul' is in fact the sum-total of these numerous perceptions

If so, then where did this "one" come from – the one which is our only vision, whose "other" has never been perceived by us? Where did this perceived oneness come ?from

The talk about "composite oneness" is more like a jest than a serious proposition. A "composite one" is in reality a collection of numerous things without any oneness at all. Its oneness is imaginary, as we may say one house or one line, which is not one in .fact

What they say amounts to this: The perceptions and sensations which are pluralistic .and manifold in themselves are one perceptions in itself

It means that these perceptions are numerous in reality, having no oneness at all, and at the same time they are actually only one perception; there is nothing beyond these sensual perceptions to perceive them as one perception – unlike a sense or imagination which consecutively and collectively receives manifold sensory or .imaginary perceptions, and perceives them as one

They claim that those manifold perceptions are in themselves one perception – there .is no other faculty beyond them which treats this collective vision as a composite one

Also, it is not possible to say that that perceiving is done by a part of brain which perceives the pluralistic picture as "one" – because it will not remove our objection: The perception of that part of brain is itself a part of those consecutively and rapidly-perceived picture, and our objection covers that perception too

That part of brain does not possess a separate perception-power which would deal with these perceptions – as an external sense deals with the external matters and (acquires through them sensory pictures. (Ponder on this point

Exactly the same arguments (as we have offered above against "oneness" of the sensual perceptions) apply with equal force against firmness and indivisibility of this vision which is always changing and divisible by its very nature

Apart from that, the premises – that these manifold, consequently (and with extreme rapidity) perceived pictures are perceived by mental vision as one – is wrong in itself.

?What is brain or its faculties? What is perception and the perceived picture

All these things are material – and matter and material are in their quiddity manifold, changeable and divisible. But the gnosis of "self" is not subject to these material defects. Is it not strange that even then they claim that there is nothing beyond ?matter and material

They have said that the senses or the perceiving faculties become confused and consequently perceive manifold, divisible and changing things as one indivisible and unchanging thing. But this assertion is manifestly wrong

Error or confusion is a relative – and not an absolute – effect which occurs when one thing is compared with another. For example, we perceive the celestial bodies as small bright dots

,Of course

this perception is wrong as we know from academic proofs and our other perceptions. But this error is found out when we compare our sensory perception with the reality .of these perceived luminous bodies

As far as that sensory perception itself is concerned, it is a reality – we are actually perceiving small bright dots. And to that extent there is no question of any error or .confusion

The subject under discussion is not different from the above–given example. When our senses and faculties look at numerous divisible and changing things and perceive them as one indivisible and unchanging thing, their confusion and error is found out .only when that picture is compared with the real thing existing outside

But so far as the perceived picture found in that faculty or sense is concerned, it is undoubtedly one, unchanging and in–divisible – and such a thing cannot be material .because it lacks the properties of matter and material

In short, the above discourse shows that the argument offered by materialists on the basis of senses and experiment, only proves that they could not find the soul. The .fallacy is that they have proved 'not finding' and think that it proves 'non–existence

Also, the picture painted by them to illustrate the vision of self or soul – the vision that is a single, simple and unchangeable reality – is irrelevant and wrong; that picture is in .accord neither with established principles of materialism nor with the actual fact

Now, we should have a look at the definition of soul or psyche as given by the psychologists. According to them, it is the unified condition resulting from the actions and reactions of various psychological activities –

.like perception, will, pleasure, love, etc. – which give rise to that unified condition

We have no-thing to say about this definition, because scholars of every branch of knowledge have right to postulate a subject for their scholarly pursuit and .deliberation. And so have the psychologists

Our concern is about the existence (or inexistence) of the soul in reality, quite independent of the assumptions of the thinkers. And it is a question within the domain
.of philosophy, not psychology

There are some scholars of theology who believe that the soul is not immortal. They say: It has been established by the disciplines related to human life, like anatomy and physiology, that man's spiritual and biological characteristics emanate from live cells; those cells are the foundations of human and animal lives. Spirit or soul, therefore, is a characteristics and especial effect of those countless cells – each of which contains a .life of its own

What the man calls his soul – and to which he refers as “I” – is a composite entity made up of countless souls. We know that these life conditions and spiritual characteristics
.cease to exist when the life-giving germs and cells die

In this back-ground, there is no question of a single immaterial soul or spirit which is supposed to continue even after the body dies. True that the principles of ,materialism

.established after scientific researches, are yet unable to unravel the mysteries of life

There-fore, we may say that the physical causes are unable to create the soul, and accordingly, it may have been brought into being by a metaphysical being. The attempt to prove the immateriality of the soul by purely rationalistic argument is unacceptable in the world of modern knowledge, which does not rely on anything other than the senses and experiments

The author says: On meditation you will see that all the objections written against the materialists' arguments apply with equal force to this argument too. The following two objections are over and above that

First: If the scientific research is upto now unable to unravel the mysteries of soul and realities of life, it does not necessarily mean that it cannot do so even in future; nor that these spiritual characteristics are in fact not based on material causes – although we may not know it. Therefore, the theologians' argument is no-thing but a fallacy by which they have equalized inexistence of knowledge with knowledge of inexistence

Second: They seem to ascribe some worldly affairs – that is, the physical phenomena – to matter, and some others – that is, spiritual affairs – to a metaphysical cause, that is, the Creator. But it implies that there are two creators in the world. It is a proposition which is neither acceptable to the materialists nor the theists. And all the arguments of monotheism rebut such assumption

There are some other objections against immateriality of soul, described in books of philosophy and theology; all of them show that the writers concerned have not pondered on the proof given by us, nor have they understood its main theme. That is why we have refrained from quoting and commenting on them here. Anyone desirous to know them should look into the books concerned. And Allah is the Guide

A Discourse on Ethics

Ethics is the science which looks into human traits, related to man's vegetable, animal and human characteristics, and differentiates the good traits from the bad ones, in order that man may complete his practical happiness by acquiring the good traits; and thus emanate from him such actions as attract to him general praise from the human society

Ethics shows that human morality finally belongs to three comprehensive faculties of man. These faculties lead the psyche to acquire practical knowledge, from which emanate all actions of the human species

These are the desire, anger and rational faculty. Human actions are divided into three categories: Either they are intended to gain some benefit, for example: eating, drinking and wearing clothes, etc

They issue forth from the faculty of desire; or they are aimed at protecting, or repulsing harmful effects from, one's person, honour or property, etc. These actions emanate from the faculty of anger. Or they are related to mental conception and proposition, for example, arranging syllogism, preparation of argument, etc

Such mental activities are caused by rational faculty. Man's personality is composed of these three faculties, and they, by joining together, emerge as a composite unit and become the source of all human activities and actions. In this way, .man attains his felicity and happiness, which is the final cause of this composition

It is therefore necessary for man not to let any of these three faculties deviate from the middle path to either the right or the left, not to allow any of these to exceed the limit or to be deficient – as it would disturb the ratio of that particular ingredient, which would result in changing the entire nature of the composite unit, that is, man himself. This would negate the reason for which the man was created, that is, the felicity of .the whole species

The middle course for any of the faculties is to use it as it should be – both in quantity and quality. The middle course for the faculty of desire is called continence, and its
.two sides of excess and deficiency are greed and undue quiescence, respectively

The middle course for the faculty of anger is bravery, and the two sides are rashness and cowardice. The middle course of the faculty of rationality is called wisdom, and .the two sides are deception and dull-mindedness

When the three good characteristics – continence, bravery and wisdom – combine in a man, a fourth characteristic is born, just as a new quality emerges when different ingredients of a medicine or mixture are blended together. And that quality is called justice. Justice gives each faculty its due right and puts it in its

.Its two undesirable sides are inflicting injustice and surrendering to it

These four – continence, bravery, wisdom and justice – are the roots of all virtuous characteristics, of good morality. Each of them has numerous branches which issue forth from it and belong to it. They have the same relationship with the above-mentioned roots as a species has with its genus

Examples of these branches are generosity and magnanimity, contentedness and gratitude, patience and gallantry, courage and modesty, sense of honour and sincerity, nobility and humility, and so on. These are the branches of virtuous characteristics, which are given in detail in the books of the Ethics. The following is a \('family-tree' showing its roots and branches\)

And the Ethics defines each of them and distinguishes the middle course from its two sides of excess and deficiency; then it explains why a virtue is virtue, then shows how it can be acquired, until it becomes a firm trait, that is, by firm belief that it is good and virtuous trait and by repeatedly practising it until it becomes a firmly-rooted characteristic of the soul

For example: We say to a coward: Cowardice is born when the psyche is gripped by fear; and fear emanates from something which may happen or may not happen – in future; and such a thing, whose existence and inexistence both are equally possible, cannot be tipped to either side without a cause; a man of reason should not indulge in such fantasies; therefore, a man should not allow since the author has described the branches of virtuous characteristics in the text – in tree form, and in the explanatory figure (of the original work) he has also chosen the tree form representation, we therefore have duplicated the explanatory figure in (the same manner (pub

.himself to be gripped by fear

When a man teaches himself this theoretical aspect, and then repeatedly enters into dangerous situations and resolutely proceeds towards alarming perils, he soon gets .rid of the bad trait of fear. The same is the case with all the virtues and evils

The above description is based on the first system, as was explained in the Commentary. That system tries to reform the character and to create a balance, a moderation, in moral traits, in order that the man may be praised and his virtues .lauded by the society

Somewhat similar is the approach of the second system brought by the prophets and the divine legislators. The only difference is in the aims and objects of the two .systems

While the first system aims at acquiring a perfect trait because it is approved by the society and attracts praise from the people, the second one aims at achieving by it the genuine happiness for the man, that is, perfection of belief in Allah and His signs, and the felicity of the next world, which is the real happiness and perfection. Yet, both systems are similar in that, the ultimate goal of both is the perfection of man in his .character and morals

As for the third system (which was explained earlier), it differs from the above two, in that it aims at seeking the pleasure of Allah, not at achieving human perfection. Consequently, its goals sometimes differ from that of the earlier two systems. It is quite possible that what appears as the middle way from this point of view, may not look so from the .other two angles

When the faith of a servant proceeds on this path of perfection, when it goes on from strength to strength, his soul is attracted towards meditation about his Lord; he keeps the beautiful Divine Names before his vision, and constantly looks at His lovely attributes which are free from every defect and deficiency; his soul is relentlessly attracted to Allah going higher and higher in his meditation, until there comes a stage where he worships Allah as though he (man) were looking at Allah, and Allah were looking towards him. At this stage he feels the Divine Presence in his attraction,
.meditation and love

The love increases from strength to strength, because man by nature loves beauty.
:Allah has said

.(and those who believe are stronger in (their) love for Allah (۲:۱۶۵

Such a man begins following the Messenger of Allah in all his doings, in every situation, because love of a thing results in the love of its signs, and the Messenger of Allah (S) is the wonderful sign of Allah. (In fact, the whole universe is a sign and token (.of Allah

This love becomes stronger and stronger until a time comes when the servant cuts himself from every thing, in devotion of Allah; he loves nothing except his Lord, he bows before none other than Allah. Whenever such a man looks at a thing which has some beauty and attraction, he finds

.in it a sample – although imperfect – of the Divine Beauty

He knows that it is but a reflection of the inexhaustible perfection, the unending beauty and incomprehensible splendour of Allah. Allah's is the beauty, grace, perfection and magnificence; every beauty and perfection found in other things, in reality belongs to Him, because every thing is a sign of Allah – it is its only reality, it is nothing more than that; it has no other disposition; it is but a reflection showing the .image of the original

This man is, and remains, overwhelmed by love; and he does not look at anything but only because it is a sign of his Lord. In short, all strings connecting his heart to other things are snapped off, leaving it attached only to the love of Allah. Whatever he loves,
.it is only for the sake of Allah and in the cause of Allah

At this stage, the mode of his perceptions and actions under-goes a drastic change. When he looks at a thing, he sees Allah before it and with it, every thing loses its independence and identity in his eyes. What he sees and perceives is different from what other people see and perceive; the people look at things from be-hind a curtain,
.while he sees them in their true form

This shows the difference in perception, and similar is the case of actions. As he does not love anything except Allah, he does not want any-thing except for Allah, seeking
His Sublime

He neither seeks nor intends, neither hopes nor fears, neither chooses nor abandons, becomes neither despaired nor depressed, is neither pleased nor displeased – except for Allah and in the cause of Allah. Thus, his aims and goals differ totally from those of other people; his motive is diametrically opposed to that of his fellow beings

Previously, he acquired a virtue because it was a human perfection, and discarded an evil because it was a defect. But now his only interest is in seeking the Sublime Majesty of Allah; he does not care about any perfection or defect, nor is he attracted to any worldly praise or cherished remembrance; he rises above this world as well as the next; he takes into consideration neither the Paradise nor the Hell – he discards every thing and rises above them. Now, his destination is his Lord; his provision, his :humility of servitude; and his guide, his love. As a poet has said

,Love narrated to me the traditions of amour

Through its chain of narrators, from neighbourhood

,of a distinguished personality

,And narrated to me the breath of fresh breeze

From the branching trees, from the valley of euphorbia

,from the heights of Najd

,From the tear, from my sour eye, from passion

,From sorrow, from my wounded heart, from ecstasy of love

,That my ardor and love have sworn together

.To my destruction till I am laid down in my grave

This discourse, although short and concise, explains our theme (if you study it carefully). It shows that in this third system of the Ethics the question of human perfection or defect becomes irrelevant; and the aim is changed from human perfection to the Sublime Majesty of Allah

As a result, the outlook is changed from those of the other two systems; and it may happen sometimes that what is counted as a virtue in other systems becomes evil in this one, and vice versa

Now, we should turn our attention to one remaining topic. There is another theory of Ethics which differs from the above-mentioned three systems; and probably it may be counted as a separate system

They say: Ethics and morality changes in its roots and shoots with the changes occurring in the society, because virtue and vice change with the changing society, they are not based on any permanent, unalterable, firm foundation. Allegedly it emanates from the theory of evolution of matter

They say: Human society has come into being because of various needs and requirements of life, which man wants to fulfil through the agency of society. He tries to keep the society alive which, he thinks, preserves his own existence. The nature is governed by the law of evolution and gradual perfection

Consequently, society too undergoes constant changes and proceeds to a more perfect and more developed goal. If an action conforms with the aim of society – that is, perfection – it is called virtue; otherwise, it is vice

Therefore, virtue and vice cannot remain unchanged, they are not static or permanent. There is nothing like absolute virtue or absolute vice; they are relative ideas, which change with the changing societies, according to regions and .times

As the virtue and vice – being relative factors – under-go changes, so do the ethical and moral values. In other words, Ethics is not absolute; its views on good and bad
.characteristics are liable to change with circumstances

From the above, we may infer that Ethics follows the nation-al or social aspirations – the aspirations which are a means of achieving the social perfection (which is the goal .of the society); and virtue and vice are governed by it

Whatever promotes development, whatever helps the society in reaching its goal and achieving its aspiration, is good and virtue; and whatever hinders from that goal,
.whatever keeps the society backward, is evil and vice

Accordingly, lie, false allegation, indecency, hard-heartedness, robbery and shamelessness may become good and virtuous, if they promote the aspiration of the society. And truth, chastity and mercy may become bad and evil – if they hinder it from
.achieving its goal

This is a gist of this strange theory which has been adopted by the materialist communists. This theory is not a new one, contrary to their claims. In ancient Greece,
.the Cynics reportedly had the same idea

Likewise, Mazdakites (the followers of Mazdak, who lived in Iran during the reign of Kisra and was the first to call to communism) were practising it; and even today some
.primitive tribes in Africa and elsewhere follow this tenet

However, it is a false theory, and the proof offered in its support is wrong both in its foundation and structure. Before exposing its falsehood, a few points should be made clear

Every being – that which has external existence – has an inseparable personality of its own. Consequently, one being cannot be another being. For example, existence of Zayd has a personality and a sort of unity which prevents it from becoming the personality of 'Amr

Zayd is one person and 'Amr is another; they are two persons, two human beings, not one. It is a premise whose truth cannot be doubted

There is a totally different proposition which says: “The physical universe is a being) having one individual reality.” This proposition should not be confused with the above-mentioned premise

It follows that the external existence is one and the same with personality.' But mental ideas are different from external beings and their existence is not their personality. Reason admits that an idea – whatever it may be – may be applied to more than one individual, for example, the idea of man, or that of a tall man, or that of the man standing before us

The logicians divide idea into general and particular. Also, they divide the particular into two categories of relative and real. But these divisions are done when an idea is seen vis-à-vis another idea, when it is put at the side of the other; or when it is seen in relation to external existence

This property of the ideas – their applicability to more than one individual – is also sometimes called

."generality"; its opposite being "individuality" or "unity"

An external physical being is governed by the law of change and general movement. Therefore, it has an expanse and that expanse is divisible into boundaries and pieces, .each piece being different from other preceding or following ones

Yet, it is connected with them in its existence. Otherwise, without that connection, it could not be said to be changing or evolving. (If a thing is removed completely and is replaced by an entirely new thing, it cannot be said that the first evolved and changed into the second. If one thing is to change into another, there must be a common factor (.joining them together

It follows that that movement is a single thing having its own identity and personality. It looks numerous when it is seen in relation to the boundaries of a thing (as mentioned above). That relation distinguishes one piece from the others. But as for .the movement itself, it is a single uninterrupted flow

This characteristic of the movement – this constant flow – is also called a "generality" in contrast to the relations it has with each boundary; we say "general movement", .meaning a movement free of its relations with the boundaries and pieces

This "generality" is a thing existing in reality, unlike the "generality of the ideas" mentioned in (۲) above, which is mental attribute of idea – an imaginary attribute of an .imaginary being

Undoubtedly, man is a physical being; humanity has many members, as well as its .own laws and characteristics

What is created by nature is one individual, singly and separately. It does not create the collection of people which we call human society. Of course, the nature was aware that man needs somethings to perfect his existence which he could not obtain on his own.

Therefore, the nature equipped him with organs, faculties and powers which would be useful in his endeavours to make up his deficiencies within the framework of society. Obviously, the single man is the goal of creation, primarily and principally, while society is a secondary goal, just a by-product.

The human nature demands a society and proceeds towards it, (if we can use the words of demand, causality and movement – in their real sense – about the society!).

?What is the real relation between man and this society

An individual man is a single and personal being (in the sense we have described above). At the same time, he is constantly on move, changing, evolving, proceeding to his perfection.

That is why every piece of his changing being is different from other pieces. Yet his is a nature, flowing, “general”, preserved in all the stages of the changes; in short, his nature is a single personality.

This nature found in this individual man is preserved by the means of procreation, by branching out of one individual into other individuals. It is this factor which is called “nature of the species”.

It is preserved through the individuals, even if they are changed, even if they undergo creation and destruction (in the same way as was explained about the individual's nature). Individual's nature exists .and proceeds towards personal perfection

Likewise, nature of species exists and proceeds towards the perfection of the species.
There is no doubt that this endeavour for perfection of species exists in the natural .system

That is what we mean when we say, for example, that the human species proceeds towards perfection; or that today's man is a more perfect being than the primitive man. The same demand for perfection of species is in the minds of those scientists
.who speak about the evolution of species

Had there not been a nature of species, existing in reality, preserved in the individuals.
(or in species), such talks would not have had any value – it would have been just a .metaphorical speech.As with the individuals, so with the society

There is an individual, or let us say particular, society, which is found amongst the people of a nation, of a time or of a region. Also, there is a general society found in the human species, continuing with its continuation, evolving with its evolution (if it be correct that society, like a social man, is an externally existing condition of an .(!externally existing nature

Society moves and evolves with the movements and changes of man. This society is a single entity from the initial stage of the movement to wherever it proceeds to, with a general existence. This "one" (which changes because of its relation with each and every boundary) becomes divided into numerous pieces. And

.”every “piece” is a part of the society, that is, a “man

The parts or members of the society rely in their being on the persons of mankind. In the same way the general civilization – in the sense described above – depends on the general human nature. The law governing a unit is a unit of the law; and the law governing a “general” is the general rule. (“General rule” does not mean an abstract (.”rule, because we are not talking about “general ideas

Undoubtedly an individual man, being a single entity, is governed by a rule, which continues with his continuation. Yet that rule undergoes partial changes, following the changes occurring in the man himself. For example, there is the rule that the physical .man takes food, acts by his will, has feelings and imagination, thinks and perceives

These rules exist and continue as long as the man himself exists. Of course, minor changes may occur in those general rules consequent to the changes occurring in the man. The same principle applies to the humanity in general, the general mankind,
.which exists with the existence of its individuals

As establishment of society is a law of human nature and one of its characteristics, so the general society is a characteristic of the general human species. (By general society we mean the society, per se, the society established by human nature and (.which is continuing uninterruptedly from the day man came into being to this time

This general society exists and continues with the humanity. And the laws of society which it has brought into being will remain intact as long as the general society exists. Of course, some minor changes may occur in it but the main principles will remain unchanged, like the mankind itself, which continues

.although its individual members go on changing

Now it is clear that there are some ethical principles which are unchangeable and are valid for ever – like general virtue and vice – as the general society is firm, constant
.and unalterable from the beginning

Society cannot turn into non-society (i.e., individuality) – although a particular civilization may give way to another particular civilization. Likewise, general virtue (and vice) cannot turn into non-virtue (or non-vice) – although a particular virtue may .evolve into some other particular virtue

An individual man needs – for his existence and continuation – some perfections and benefits which he must achieve and acquire for his own self. That is why nature has equipped him with organs and faculties to help him in this compulsory quest, for example, alimentary canal for food intake and digestion, and sexual organs for reproduction and continuation of the species. It is obligatory for man to use these .systems for the purpose they have been created for

He should not completely ignore them by leaving them unused, because it would be against the dictate of nature. Likewise, he should not over-indulge in these activities, he should not eat or cohabit more than necessary; for example, he should not go on eating until he becomes sick, or dies, or becomes unable to use his other faculties. He must .keep to the middle course in achieving all his requirements, perfections and benefits

This middle course is called continence; and its two undesirable sides are greed and undue quiescence. Likewise, we see that every individual, in his existence and continuation, is faced with many such things which are harmful to him and which he is obliged to resist, and repulse from him-self. And this “obligation” is proved by the fact .that nature has equipped him with the organs and powers to defend himself with

Therefore, it is obligatory for him to defend himself and resist the harmful things – keeping himself on the middle course. He should not neglect and crush these powers nor should he overuse them. This middle course is called bravery, and the other two .sides are rashness and cowardice

The same is the case with wisdom and its two sides, deception and dull-mindedness;
.as well as with justice and its two sides, injustice and surrender to injustice

These are, thus, the four faculties and virtues which are demanded by the nature of an individual man – the nature which is equipped with its necessary tools: continence, bravery, wisdom and justice. And all of them are good and virtues. Good is that which is in conformity with the ultimate goal of a thing and promotes its perfection and felicity; and, as explained above, all the four are in conformity with the felicity of the .individual

.And their eight opposites are bad and evil

When an individual, by his nature and in himself, has this attribute, then he would be having it also within the framework of the society. Society, being a product of nature, cannot negate nature's rules; otherwise, it would be a contradiction in terms. After all, what is society if not the co-operation of the individuals to facilitate the perfection of their natures and achievement of their aspirations

Human species in framework of the “general” society has the same characteristics as an individual has in his particular society, as mentioned above

Human species in its civilization tries to achieve its perfection by repulsing what is harmful and acquiring what is beneficial to it; by learning as much as is good for it and practising justice – that is, giving everyone his due right, without indulging into injustice and without surrendering to injustice

And all these four characteristics are virtues. The civilization, per se, decrees that they are absolute virtues and their opposites are absolute vices

The above discourse clearly shows that in the constant and perpetual human society, there are absolute virtues and absolute vices – society cannot “be” without them. It also shows that the four fundamental ethical values are absolutely good and virtuous and their opposites absolutely bad and evils; as has been decreed by the social nature of humanity. And the case of their branches is not different from that of the roots

They too are absolute and unchanging – although there may occur some differences

.sometimes in their applications, as we shall mention afterwards

:Now it is clear that what they have said concerning relativity in morality is not correct

They said: “Absolute virtue and vice do not exist. What exists is the relative virtue and ”.relative vice; and it is a changing thing which varies with regions, times and societies

Reply: It is a fallacy, because they have confused the “generality of idea” with “generality (i.e., continuation) of existence”. It is true that absolute good and vice – in .the meaning of general ideas – do not have external (i.e., real) existence

But here we are not concerned with them. What we are concerned with are absolute virtue and vice – in the meaning of lasting social factors which continue as long as the .society exists, by decree of nature

The aim of the society is the happiness of the species. And it is impossible to think that all happenings and possible events and actions would always be good for the society.

.Surely some would conform with its needs and some would not Accordingly there would always be good and evil in the society. How can we suppose existence of a society – of any type – in which the members do not believe that every one should be given his due right, or that it is necessary to gain benefit to its proper limit, or that they must protect and defend the cause of the society as and when needed, or that the knowledge – by which man differentiates

?what is beneficial from what is harmful – is a good attribute

These four beliefs are the above-mentioned justice, continence, bravery and wisdom. As was said, every society, of any description whatsoever, decrees that these four characteristics are good and virtuous. Moreover, how can we think of a society that does not ordain that one must refrain from indecencies? And that feeling is modesty, .a branch of continence

Or a society that does not exhort one to be enraged when rights are usurped or the sanctity of sacred things violated? And it is the earnest sense of honour which is a branch of bravery. Or that one should be happy with his due social rights? And it is .contentedness

Or that one should preserve one's social status without snubbing other people, without putting them out of countenance by one's arrogance? And it is modesty and humility. We may go on enumerating in the same way each and every branch of the .ethics and morality

They say: “The views often differ from society to society on what virtue is. One thing is .considered as virtue in one society, while another society treats it as vice

Reply: Of course, there are some minor examples of this phenomenon. But it is not because one society believed in acquiring good traits while the other dismissed it as unnecessary. Whatever the difference, it only occurs because one society believes that trait to be good, while the other thinks it is evil. So the difference is not about the principle, it

.is only in its application

For example: The societies ruled by autocratic rulers used to believe that the sovereign had total authority over his subjects, and absolute power to do whatever he wished and order whatever he liked. But that belief was not based on any negative .attitude towards justice

It actually emanated from their belief that that absolute power was the due right of the ruler; they thought that what the ruler was doing was not injustice, he was only .exercising his due authority and taking his just right

Likewise, some societies thought that it was a shame if their kings studied to acquire knowledge, as is reported about French kings of the medieval ages. But it was not because they looked down at the virtue of knowledge; it was only because they thought that acquiring knowledge of politics and studying the ways of managing various government departments would conflict with the king's rightful royal activities .and engagements

In the same way, some societies do not acknowledge any excellence in chastity of women (i.e., not establishing sexual relation with any man other than their husbands), and their modesty. Nor do they believe that their men should feel enraged if their women indulged in licentiousness. The same is the case with some other virtues like .contentedness and humbleness etc

But it is only because those societies do not think that these things fall under continence, modesty, self-respect, contentedness and humbleness. It is not that they ,do not accept these main virtues as virtues. After all

.they praise a judge or a ruler if he practices continence in his rule and judgment

They appreciate it if one is ashamed of breaking a law; they laud a man who, overcome by national zeal, defends the nation's independence, the cause of civilization, or the sanctity of other sacred values. They praise a man who remains content with what the law has allotted to him; and applaud the loyalty and obedience .shown by the public to their leaders and rulers

They say: "Whether a characteristic is good depends on its conformity with the goals of social aspirations." Then they come to the conclusion that the said characteristic's excellence depends on its conformity with the society's goals. But it is a clear fallacy. Society is an institution which comes into being when its members enforce, and act .upon, all the laws decreed by nature

This society is bound to take them to their happiness and felicity (provided there is no disturbance in its arrangement and flow); and the society is bound to have some rules and regulations like virtue and vice, good and evil. On the other hand "society's aspiration" is just a set of some imaginary ideas, invented for creating a society on .prescribed lines by imposing it on its members

In other words, society and society's aspirations are two completely different things: Society is an established fact, society's aspiration is only a potential which is yet to come into being; the former is an actual fact while the latter is only a

.plan yet to be implemented

How could one be equated with the other? The virtue and vice are brought into being by the general society on the demands of the human nature; how could such an actual fact be brought under the domain of some aspirations – the aspirations which ?are nothing but some imaginary notions

Question: The general civilization, brought into being by nature, has no authority of its own; whatever authority there is, it belongs to its goals and aspirations – especially if .it is a theory conforming to the happiness of the society's individuals

Reply: The preceding discussion about virtue and vice and good and evil, shall be repeated in this case again – until the talk stops at a permanent, perpetual and
.unchanging decree of nature

Apart from that, there is another difficulty. Let us suppose that virtue and vice as well as all the rules of civilization depend on the goals and aspirations of the society. And it .is those aspirations on which the arguments of these people are based

But it is possible – nay a fact – that there may be different conflicting goals and aspirations within one society, or between different societies. Which aspiration would ?then prevail? Which one the people should give preference to

Which would be acceptable to the general society? The fact is that in this situation there will only be one criterion, and that is the power and domination; in other words, might is right. How can it be believed that the human nature led the human beings to a social structure whose parts are in conflict with one another? Can the society be governed by a rule which would negate the society itself? Is it not an ignominious contradiction in the rule of nature and the demands of its existence?

A Few Traditions on some Related Topics

Imam al-Baqir (a.s.) said: “A man came to the Messenger of Allah (S) and said: 'I am keen (and) enthusiastic for jihad.' (The Messenger of Allah) said: 'Then do jihad in the way of Allah, because if you are killed, you shall remain alive near Allah and sustained, '...if you die (before that), then your reward is indeed with Allah

:The author says: The Prophet's words, “and if you die...”, point to the word of Allah and whoever goes forth from his house emigrating to Allah and His Messenger, and (then death overtakes him, his reward is indeed with Allah... (۴:۱۰۰

.It also shows that proceeding to jihad is emigration to Allah and His Messenger

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the prophet Isma'īl, whom Allah has named “Truthful in promise”: “He was named 'Truthful in promise' because he had promised a man (to wait for him) in a place

So he remained waiting for that man for one year. There-fore, Allah named him 'True of promise'. Then that man came to him after that (long) time and Isma'il said to him, ('I have been waiting for you...' ” (al-Kafi

The author says: It is a thing which average wisdom would probably say was a deviation from middle course, while

Allah has counted it as an excellent virtue of the said prophet, increasing thereby his :prestige and raising his status, as He has said

And mention Isma'il in the Book, surely he was truthful in (his) promise, and he was a messenger, a prophet. And he enjoined on his family prayer and alms-giving, and was .(one in whom his Lord was well pleased (۱۹:۵۴-۵

The fact is that the criterion by which this action was judged is different from the one used by common wisdom. The average wisdom, the common sense, looks at the things according to its own views, and Allah looks after His friends by His Own help and support; and the word of Allah is the High. Many similar events have been
.narrated about the Prophet, the Imams and other friends of Allah

Question: How can rules of the shari'ah go against the dictates of reason, in situations
?where reason may have a say

Reply: True that reason may judge the virtue or vice of an action wherever it is possible for it to do so. But that thing or action should first come within its jurisdiction
.before it can pronounce its judgment on it

And we have explained earlier that such actions (as described in the above tradition) are governed by the third system, and that system takes such actions out of the jurisdiction of human intellect and reason – reason does not have any say against or .about them. It is the way of the Divine Knowledge

Apparently the prophet Isma'il

a.s.) had given that man unconditional promise by saying, 'I shall wait for you here) until you come back to me.' Therefore, he stuck to that unconditional wording, to save himself from breaking the promise, and to fulfil what Allah had put in his mind and .made his tongue utter

Of the same import is an event related about the Prophet that he was near the Sacred Mosque when one of his companions told him that he would come back to him, and .the Prophet promised to wait for him until he would return

That man went away and did not return, and the Prophet remained there three days waiting for him in the same place which he had promised. That man passed by that place after three days and found the Prophet sitting there waiting for him and he .himself had forgotten the promise

As-Sayyid ar-Radi has narrated from the Leader of the faithfuls ('Ali - a.s.) that he heard someone saying: "Surely we are Allah's and to Him shall we surely return." Thereupon, he ('Ali - a.s.) said: "O man! Verily our word, Surely we are Allah's, is acknowledgment by us that we belong to Him, and, to Him shall we surely return, is (acknowledgment by us that we are to die." (al-Khasa'is

The author says: Its meaning is clear in the light of the earlier given explanation. The .tradition has been narrated in detail in al-Kafi

Ishaq ibn 'Ammar and 'Abdullah ibn Sinan have narrated from as-Sadiq (a.s.) that he :said

The Messenger of Allah (s.a. w.a.) has said: 'Allah, the Mighty, the Great, has said: "I have given the world as loan to My servants. T hen whoever gives Me a loan from it, I give him ten times to seven-hundred times in lieu of one. And whoever does not give Me a loan and I take something from him by force, then I give him three things that if I gave one of them to My angels they would :be pleased of Me." ' ' Then Abu 'Abdillah said: "(It is) the words of Allah

Who, when a misfortune befalls them, say: 'Surely we are Allah's and to Him we shall surely return.' Those are they on whom are blessings and mercy from their Lord, and ".those are the followers of the right course

Then Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.) said: "It is for the man from whom Allah takes something (forcibly." (al-Kafi

The author says: This tradition is narrated by other chains, all having nearly the same .theme from Allah is mercy, and from the angels (الضَّلَامَةُ) Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: "as-Salah (is purification, and from the people is prayer." (Ma'ani 'al-akhbar

.The author says: There are other traditions of the same meaning

At first glance, there appears to be a conflict between this and the preceding tradition. This tradition explains as-salah as mercy, while the preceding one counts as-salah as other than mercy; and this view is further strengthened by the wording of the verse itself which mentions as-salah and mercy separately, "blessings and mercy from Allah”. But in fact there is no contradiction as we have explained in detail in the Commentary

The Safa and the Marwah are two places in Mecca between which a pilgrim has to the ceremony of walking quickly seven times between the = (السَّعْيُ) perform as-sa'y (Safa and the Marwah, during the hajj and the 'umrah; literally to move quickly, to run

These are two hills, the distance between them reportedly being ٧٦٠ ½ arm. as-Safa is (الشَّعَائِرُ) hard stone). ash-Sha'a'ir = (الْمَرْوَةُ) hard smooth rock); al-Marwah = (الصَّفَا) sign); from it is derived the word al-mash'ar = (الشَّعَائِرُ) the plural of ash-sha'irah he marked = (أَشْعَرُ الْهَدْيِ) the hajj station, east of Mecca); also they say, ash'ara 'al-hady = (or branded the sacrificial animal literally means repeated intention; in Islamic terminology it refers to (الْحَجُّ) Al-Hajj means (الْإِعْتِمَارُ) the special rites collectively known as Pilgrimage of Mecca. al-I'timar building) because buildings thrive = (الْعِمَارَةُ) to visit; it is derived from al-'imarah

by visits; in Islamic language it refers to the so-called “lesser pilgrimage” to the Ka'bah, which unlike the hajj, need not be performed at a particular time and whose performance involves fewer ceremonies is deviation from truth and justice; it is used for sin and (الْجُنَاحُ) al-Junah) misdemeanour; thus, negation of sin or blame implies permission. at-Tatawwuf .that is, to make the rounds (الطَّوْفُ) is derived from at-tawf (أَلْطَّوْفُ)

It denotes a round trip, that is, a journey or walk that ends at its starting point; it need not necessarily be a circumambulation around something (although circumambulation is more obvious application of the word); it is the former meaning in which it has been used in this verse – it refers to as-sa'y, that is, walking between the Safa and the Marwah seven times consecutively to do a walk willingly and gladly). = (الطَّوْعُ) 'At-Tatawwu is derived from at-taw (أَلْطَّوْعُ) and say that (الْإِطَاعَةُ) Some people differentiate between at-tatawwu' and al-ita'ah .the former, unlike the latter, is exclusively used for voluntarily done good deeds

If correct, this assertion might be based on the view that the obligatory deeds – because of their obligatoriness – are probably not done willingly, unlike the voluntary and recommended actions which are done willingly by one's own accord is opposite of al-kurh (الطَّوْعُ) 'But it is a far-fetched interpretation. In fact, at-taw (الْكُرْهُ) :dislike), and is not irreconcilable with obligatory deeds. Allah says = (

so He said ...

.(to it (i.e., the heaven) and to the earth: “Come both, willingly or unwillingly” (٤١:١١) is to take to oneself, (اَلْتَفَّعُ) The characteristic meaning of the paradigm at-tafa'ul he = (تَعَلَّمَ) he took on distin-guishing), ta'allama = (تَمَيَّزَ) for example, tamayyaza means, he took on doing good (تَطَوَّعَ) took on learning); in the same way tatawwa'a .willingly

In short, at-tatawwu' is not reserved, from the linguistic point of view, for voluntary, .non-obligatory good deed – unless credit is given to the usage of the common people

Commentary

Qur'an: Surely the Safa and the Marwah are among the signs of Allah... to go round them both: The two hills are marked by the signs of Allah; they lead accordingly to Him .and remind one of Him

They have been especially counted “among the signs of Allah” to the exclusion of other things; it shows that the word, “the signs” has not been used here in the sense .in which every created thing is a sign of the Creator

They are the Divine Signs because Allah has made them so, by appointing them as the places of His worship; thus they remind one of Allah, the Creator. They are the signs .for which Allah has prescribed especial rites of worship

Then comes the next sentence: “so whoever makes a pilgrimage to the House or performs 'umrah thereof, there is no blame on him to go round them both. The word “so” in the beginning shows that it is an offshoot of the preceding

.sentence

Its import is to show that walking quickly between these two hills is a part of the Islamic shari'ah – it does not imply that the said walking is voluntary or non-obligatory

If Allah had wanted to declare its voluntariness, it would have been more appropriate to praise and extol as-sa'y, rather than saying that there was no blame in it. The gist of the meaning is that – because the Safa and the Marwah were among the places of the worship of Allah – it would do you no harm to worship Him therein

And it is the language of legislation. If Allah had wanted to show only its desirability, He would have said that, because the two hills were among the signs of Allah, He likes you to go round them

Frequently, when the Qur'an wants to ordain an obligatory law, it uses such expressions which by themselves do not show obligatoriness. For example, Allah says ;regarding jihad

; (that is better for you (٤١:١١)

:regarding fast

, (and that you fast is better for you (٢:١٨٤

:and regarding shortening of prayer

And when you journey in the earth, there is no blame on you if you shorten the prayer .((٤:١٠١

Qur'an: and whoever on his own accord does good, then surely Allah is Grateful, All-knowing: The conjunctive “and” may be joining this sentence to any of the three ...:phrases in the preceding one

It may connect it with “so whoever makes a pilgrimage... ”. In that case it would show a more general reason for the legislation of the walking between the two hills, after giving the particular reason, that is, “Surely the Safa and the Marwah are among the signs of Allah

According to this interpretation, “doing good on one's own accord” would mean “obedience” in general term, and not a voluntary deed

It may be starting a new sentence, joining it to the words in the beginning of the verse. In that case, “doing good on one's own accord” would refer to the “going round the two hills”. Thus it would show only the desirability of as-sa'y (walking quickly seven times between Safa and the Marwah

Alternatively, the phrase “doing good on one's own according” may be referring to the hajj and the 'umrah, and the phrase would show the desirability of these two rites of worship

All-knowing) are two of the beautiful = (الْعَلِيمُ Grateful) and al-'Alim = (الشَّكِيرُ Ash-Shakir gratefulness, thankfulness). When a beneficiary = (الْمُكْرَمُ names of Allah. ash-Shukr returns the benevolence of the benefactor by announcing it in words and/ or deeds, it is called gratefulness

Someone gives you a property, and in return you praise him mentioning his benevolence, or use that property in a way he likes – and thus you show your gratefulness to him

Now, Allah is the Beneficent; His beneficence is eternal and all beneficence begins from Him; none can oblige Him in any way so that He would be grateful to that person.
Yet, He, in His benevolence, looks at His creatures' good deeds as though the creatures have been beneficent to Him by doing those deeds (although, in reality the case is diametrically different; the creatures' good deeds are actually His benefaction to them

And thus he repays those good deeds with gratefulness and benevolence, which in fact is a double benevolence. Allah says ; (Is the reward of goodness aught but goodness? (55:9)

. (Surely this is a reward for you, and your striving shall be recompensed (76:22

. Thus, the name "Grateful" is used for Allah in its real, not allegorical sense

Traditions

One of our companions has narrated this tradition from as-Sadiq (a.s.). He says: "I asked him about walking between the Safa and the Marwah whether it was obligatory or voluntary. He said: 'Obligatory.' I said: 'Does not Allah say: so whoever makes a pilgrimage to the House or performs 'umrah thereof, there is no blame on him to go 'round them both

He said: 'It was in the 'umrah of Qada' (1); that is, the Messenger of Allah (S) had stipulated with them (i.e., the pagans of Mecca) that they would remove the idols (for the period of 'umrah); and one of his companions was engaged otherwise until the :idols were returned (to their places): (The Imam) said

Then Allah revealed: Surely the Safa and the Marwah are among the signs of Allah; so' whoever makes a pilgrimage to the House or performs 'umrah thereof, there is no blame on him to go round them both, i.e., even when there were idols on them.' " (al-
'Ayyashi

. The author says: A nearly similar tradition is found in al-Kafi

as-Sadiq

(.In the v th year of hijrah. (tr -\) a.s.) says describing the hajj of the Prophet: “After circumambulating around the House and praying its two rak'ahs, (the Prophet) recited: Surely the Safa and the (Marwah are among the signs of Allah. (Then he said

So I shall begin with that which Allah, the Mighty, the Great, has begun with (i.e., from' the Safa).! And verily the Muslims used to think that walking between the Safa and the :Marwah was something invented by the polytheists; so Allah revealed

Surely the Safa and the Marwah are among the signs of Allah; so whoever makes a pilgrimage or performs 'umrah thereof, there is no blame on him to go round them (both.” (al-Kafi

The author says: Obviously, there is no contradiction between the two traditions regarding the reason of the revelation of the verse. The words of the Prophet, “I shall begin with that which Allah, the Mighty, the Great, has begun with”, show the basis of .legislation

We have narrated, in the story of Hajar and her running seven times between the .Safa and the Marwah, that the ritual of as-sa'y started from that

Amir ash-Sha'bi said: “There was an idol, called Asaf, on the Safa, and another, called' Na'ilah, on the Marwah. The people of (the days of) ignorance, after circumambulating .the House, used to walk between the two (hills) and touch and wipe the two idols

When the Messenger of Allah (peace be on him) arrived at Mecca, they (i.e., the Muslims) said: 'O Messenger of Allah! (As for) the Safa and the

Marwah, surely the walking around them was done because of the two idols, and '(walking around them is not among the signs (of Allah

Then Allah revealed: Surely the Safa and the Marwah... Thus, He (especially) mentioned the Safa because of the idol that was on it, and affirmed the Marwah (because of the idol that rose from it." (ad-Durru 'l-manthur

The author says: Both sects have narrated numerous traditions having the above-mentioned themes. Their impli-cation is that the verse was revealed in the year when the Mus-lims performed the hajj, while the Chapter of the Cow is the first one re...
.vealed at Medina

It may therefore be inferred that the verses are unconnected with the preceding verses (of the qiblah) which were revealed, as described earlier, in the second year of hijrah; nor are they related to the verses in the beginning of the chapter which were revealed in the first year of hijrah. It shows that the verses were revealed in various contexts, not in one

Commentary

Qur'an: Surely those who conceal the clear proofs and the guidance that We revealed:
Obviously "the guidance" means that knowledge and shari'ah which the Divine Religion contains, and which lead the followers to the eternal bliss; and "the clear proofs" means the verses, signs and the arguments which are the clear evidence,
.proofs and attestations for the truth – the truth that is guidance

The clear proofs", as used in the Divine Speech, is a special description for the"
.revealed verses

Therefore, concealing the clear proofs may mean hiding the verses themselves from the people; or concealing their true meaning through misinterpretation and misapplication – as the leaders of the Jews did with the verses prophesying the advent of the Prophet. What the people did not know, they concealed; and what they .knew, they misinterpreted and diverted it from the Prophet

Qur'an: after We made it clear for men: It shows that they concealed the truth after Allah made it clear for all the mankind, not only for the Jews. It is not feasible, in the prevalent world system, to explain a thing to each and every person individually – not only in .revelation but in every general announcement

As a general rule, only a few persons are informed of the matter directly, and it is through them that the rest of the people get the information; he who is present conveys the message to the absent persons; the learned one explains it to the ignorant. The knowledgeable man is counted as one of the links to convey the .message, like the tongue and speech

When a learned man, bound by the pledge taken from him, explains the message to others, he makes the truth clear to the people. If he hides his knowledge, he keeps .the truth concealed from the people, after it was made clear to them

And, as Allah has said, it is the only thing which has made people differ in matters of religion, and has diverted them from the path of guidance to that of misguidance.
Otherwise, religion conforms with nature; human nature agrees with it and discerning .mind surrenders to it when it is properly explained

:Allah says

Then set your face uprightly for the (right) religion in natural devotion (to the truth); the nature made by Allah in which He has made men; there is no alteration (by anyone else) in the creation of Allah; that is the right (established) religion, but most .(people do not know (۳۰:۳۰

So, the religion is natural; nature can never resist it, if it appears before it with some ,clarity

p: ۳۴۵

either because of the purity of the recipient's heart, as is the case of the prophets, or because it is explained properly – the latter method invariable always depends on the former.

That is why the above-quoted verse combines the two premises: the naturalness of religion and lack of its knowledge. It says: the nature made by Allah in which He has made men; and then says: but most people do not know

:Again Allah says

Mankind was but one people, so Allah sent the prophets as bearers of good news and as warners, and He sent down with them the book with truth, so that it might judge between the people in that in which they had differed. And none differed about it but the very people who were given it, after clear signs had come to them, revolting (among themselves... (۲:۲۱۳

It shows that difference about the contents of the book emanates from the revolt of the scholars who already have its knowledge. Religious differences and deviations from the right path are caused by the revolt of the religious scholars as they conceal the revealed truth, misinterpret it and alter it; and because of their injustice

:That is how “injustice” will be defined on the Day of Resurrection. Allah says

Then a crier will cry out among them that the curse of Allah is on the unjust, who (hinder (people) from Allah's way and seek to make it crooked... (۷:۴۴ – ۵

.There are many verses of the same theme Clearly, the verse under discussion (Surely

:those who conceal the clear proofs...) is based on the above-quoted verse

Mankind was but one people, so Allah sent the prophets as bearers of good news and as warners, and He sent down with them the book with truth, so that it might judge between the people in that in which they differed. And none differed about it but the very people who were given it, after clear signs had come to them, revolting among
.(themselves... (۲:۲۱۳

And it points to the recompense of that revolt in the next sentence, “these it is whom ”..Allah does curse

Qur’an: these it is whom Allah does curse, and those who curse do curse them (too). It describes the punishment of those who revolt against truth and hide the Book and the
.guidance which Allah has sent down

The punishment is the curse by Allah and the curse by those who curse. The word “curse” has been repeated because the curse of Allah is different from the curse of those who curse. The curse by Allah is removal from mercy and bliss, and that by those who curse is praying to Allah to remove the cursed one from that mercy and
.bliss

There is no restriction at all on the curse of Allah or the curse of those who curse, nor is there any limitation on “those who curse”. This generality shows that every curse by anyone who curses is actually directed to those revolters and concealers of the Divine Proof and Guidance. And reason supports this view: The aim of the curse is to remove the cursed one from happiness and bliss; and .there is no real happiness and bliss except the religious one

As this real religious bliss is fully explained by Allah and accepted by nature, no one can be deprived of it except the one who rejects and denies it. This deprivation is .confined to him who knows it and then knowingly rejects it

It does not affect him who did not know the said religious bliss and to whom it was not clarified. Allah has taken pledge from learned people to spread their knowledge and .to publish whatever Divine proofs and guidance they had received

If they conceal it and hold it back, then in effect they have rejected it. Therefore, “these it is whom Allah does curse, and those who curse do curse them (too)”. This explanation is further supported by the following verse: “Surely those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, these it is on whom is the curse of Allah and the ”.angels and men all surely) coming at the beginning of the verse gives = (إِنَّ) Apparently, the particle inna the reason, or intensifies the theme, of the verse under discussion, by repeating its meaning in other words, “Surely those who disbelieve and die while they are ”...disbelievers

Qur’an: Except those who repent... the Merciful: It is the exception from the preceding verse. It qualifies their repentance with amending and making manifest the truth.

They must make their previous behaviour

.known; they must announce their repentance

In other words, they must announce to the people what they were concealing of the truth, and also make it known that previously they had concealed it. Otherwise, it will be as though they have not repented yet – because they are still hiding the fact of .their previous concealment of the truth

Qur'an: Surely those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, these it is on whom is the curse of Allah and the angels and men all. It alludes to their persistence in .disbelief and their obstinate and stubborn refusal to accept the truth

If a man does not accept the true religion, not because of obstinacy and arrogance,) but because it was not made clear to him, then in reality he is not a disbeliever, he is weak; according to Islamic terminology, a man who does = (المُسْتَضْعَفُ) al-mustad'af (.not have true faith, but is not inimical to it); his judgment is in the hand of Allah

This theme is supported by the fact that most of the verses describing the disbelief qualify it with “belying”. Look especially at the verses of the descent of Adam, :containing the first law legislated for the mankind

We said: “Get down you therefrom all together; and if there comes to you a guidance from Me, then whoever follows My guidance, no fear shall come upon them, nor shall they grieve. And (as to) those who disbelieve in and belie Our signs, they are the ,inmates of fire

(in it they shall abide.” (۲:۳۹-۴۰

Likewise, in this verse the words, “Those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers,” refer to those who obstinately belie the signs and guidance of Allah – those who conceal what Allah has revealed. And Allah describes their recompense in these words: “these it is on whom is the curse of Allah and the angels and men all

It is a Divine Decree that every curse by anyone from among the angels or men, without any exception, shall be attached to them only. In this respect they are like the Satan, when Allah told him

(And surely on you is curse until the Day of Judgment (۱۵:۳۵

Thus, Allah made him the target of every curse from whatever source it may emanate. Likewise, these learned persons who conceal their knowledge are partners of Satan in this general and unrestricted curse

See how hard is the tone of this verse, and how formidable its theme! We shall write something related to it, Allah willing, under the verse

That Allah may separate the impure from the pure, and put the impure, some of it upon the other, and pile it up together, then cast it into the hell; these it is that are the losers. (۸:۳۷

Qur’an: Abiding in it (i.e., in the curse), their chastisement shall not be lightened nor shall they be given respite. The word “curse”, has been changed here to “chastisement”; it shows that the curse shall be converted into their chastisement on that Day

In these verses, the references to Allah have been changed several times from the first person to the third and vice versa. The verse begins with the first person pronouns: "We revealed", "We .made it clear"; then the style changes, mentioning Allah by name, "Allah does curse

The change was affected because the theme demands show of intense displeasure, and the greater the name of the displeased person, the more severe the effect of the .displeasure – and none is greater than Allah

Therefore, the action of the curse was attributed to Him by name, to give it the most vehement force. Then the reference was again changed to the first person pronouns, "I turn (mercifully); and I am the Oft-returning (to mercy)..." It was done to show the highest mercy and benevolence of Allah – every adjective is discarded, all attributes .are set aside and "I Myself return to them mercifully

You will appreciate the difference if you read this sentence thus: These it is to whom Allah turns mercifully; or thus: These it is to whom their Lord turns mercifully. Obviously, these sentences do not show that high degree of mercy that reflects from .(this sentence, "these it is to whom I turn (mercifully

The next verse again discards the pronoun for the Divine Name, "these it is on whom is the curse of Allah"; and the reason is the same as was explained for the change in .the first verse

Traditions

One of our companions has narrated from as-Sadiq (a.s.). He says: "I said to him: 'Tell me about the word of Allah, the Mighty, the High: Surely those who conceal...'. He said:

. 'We are meant by it – and to Allah is the resort for help

When (Imamah) comes to one of us (i.e., the Imams), he has no authority (or, choice) (but to make it clear for the men who will be (Imam) after him.' ” (al-'Ayyashi

Al-Baqir (a.s.) said about this verse: ”(Allah) means us by it, and to Allah is the resort
”.for help

” 'Muhammad ibn Muslim said: ”(The Imam) said: 'These are the People of the Book

The author says: All these traditions are based on the principle of the flow of the .Qur'an and its application. Otherwise, the verse is general

Some traditions quote 'Ali (a.s.) as saying: “Its interpretation is the learned people ”.when they are deprived

The Prophet said about this verse: “Whoever is asked about knowledge which he has got, and he conceals it, he shall be reined on the Day of Resurrection with a bridle of fire; and it is (the import of) His words, these it is whom Allah does curse and those (who curse do curse them (too)).” (Majma'u 'l-bayan

The author says: These two traditions confirm what we have written in the $$$SUB[-
.Commentary] Commentary

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said explaining the words of Allah, and those who curse do curse them (too): “We are those (who curse); and they say that it means the vermins of the (earth.” (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: The explanation given by the Imam reminds one of :the import of the verse and the witnesses shall say: "These are they who lied against their Lord." Now ...

(surely the curse of Allah is on the unjust (۱۱:۱۸).

The Imams are the witnesses, allowed by Allah to speak on the Day of Judgment, who speak the right thing. The Imam also mentioned some people's explanation that those who curse refers to the vermins of the earth. This interpretation is attributed to the exegetes like Mujahid, 'Ikrimah and others; and some traditions ascribe it to the Prophet.

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: about the verse, Surely those who conceal the clear proofs (and the guidance, (that it means the proofs and guidance) "regarding 'Ali." (ibid

point

These verses are connected together in one context, with a single theme. They remind the audience about the belief of mono-theism offering proofs to support it, and describe polytheism and its ultimate result

Qur'an: And your God is

god) in the Commentary of (الإله = one God: We have explained the meaning of al-ilah the first verse of the first chapter, the Opening. Oneness is a self-evident idea, which .needs no explanation

A thing is called one in view of one of its attributes, for example, one man, one scholar or one poet. These words show that the related attribute is indivisible, and not subject .to plurality

For example, the manhood of one man, Zayd, is not shared between him and someone else. It is in contrast with manhood of two men – Zayd and 'Amr, for exam- .ple – which is shared by the two, and is therefore numerous

Thus Zayd, in context of his attribute of manhood, is one and indivisible and not subject to plurality. But when he is looked at in this very context combined with his other attributes – like his knowledge, power, life, etc. – then he is not one; he is a .multiple in reality

Allah is One, in view of His attribute, like His divinity, which is not shared by anyone else. He is one in His divinity as well as in His knowledge, power and life. He has knowledge, unlike other knowledges, and power and life unlike others' powers and .lives

Also, He is one because His attributes are not multiple, they are not separate from one another except in their verbal meanings; His knowledge, His power and His life, all is one thing, all is His very person; none of them is

.separate from the other

Allah knows by His power, and has power by His life, and is alive by His know-ledge. He is not like other things where attributes are multiple and numerous not only in .meanings but in reality also

Sometimes a thing possesses the characteristic of oneness in its personality, that is, by its very nature and essence, it cannot accept multiplication or division in its self; it .cannot be divided into various parts or into its person and name etc

This oneness is called oneness of person, and it is referred to with the word al-ahad (one); this word is never used except as a first construct of a genitive = (الأحد) construction or in a negative, prohibitive or similar sentences, in the meaning of no .one, any one, etc. For example, we say: No one came to me

This sentence negates the personality itself, irrespective of its oneness or plurality, because this oneness is related to its nature and essence, and not to its attribute. This connotation will be lost if we were to say, one man did not come to me. This sentence does not imply that two or more men did not come; it is because “oneness” in this .sentence is an attribute of the person, not of his person

The reader should keep in mind this short explanation until we write about it in detail.

:Allah willing, under the verse

(Say: “He, Allah, is One.” (112:1)

The words, “And your God is one God,” imply that divinity, godhead, is exclusively reserved for Allah, and that His oneness in divinity is such as becomes His sublime status the one), as understood by the audience of the Qur'an, = (أَلَوَاحِدٌ) The word al-wahid gives the idea of oneness, of a general type. That meaning may be applied to various kinds of oneness. But only a few of those connotations may be applied for Allah

The word “one”, may show oneness of number, of species, or of genes, etc. And the people were bound to take it in the meaning best suited to their beliefs and ideas. That is why the Qur'an did not say: And Allah is one God. Because this sentence does not establish monotheism; even the polytheists say that He is one God, in the same way as each of their deities is one god

Nor would have the sentence, And your God is one, established monotheism. Because it could be imagined that He is one in the species – of divinity. People say, when they enumerate the species of animals: Horse is one; mule is one – although horse and mule are manifold in number

That is why the Qur'an said: “And your God is one God.” “One God” (in contrast to two or more gods) is made predicate of “Your God”. In this form the sentence clearly establishes the belief of monotheism, by restricting the godhead to one of the gods in which they believed

Qur'an: there is no god but He: It further emphasizes the clear declaration of the preceding sentence about monotheism and negates every possible misinterpretation or superstition god) = (الله) no) is used here to negate the genes; ilah = (الـ) "The negative particle "la denotes here real and actual God. The sentence has an implied predicate "existent", and the meaning will be as follows: There is no real and actual god existing "but He

The pronoun "He", used in place of the proper name, Allah, is in nominative, not subjunctive case. Therefore, the word "but" is not used here as particle of exception; rather it is an adjective in the sense of "other than". The complete sentence, thus, means: There is no real god, other than Allah, existing

The sentence therefore aims at repudiation of gods, other than Allah – the deities which had no real existence outside the imagination of their worshippers. It does not aim at refuting other deities and proving the existence of Allah, as many scholars have thought. Our explanation is supported by the fact that the sentence needs only a negative mode, and not a negative followed by affirmative

Only repudiation of other imaginary deities is enough to confirm the Oneness of Allah in His godhead. More-over, the Qur'an treats the existence of Allah as a self-evident truth which needs no proof or argument. The Qur'an only cares to affirm and prove His attributes; for example, it only proves that Allah is One; that He is the Creator, the Knower, the Powerful and so on

Question: You say that the sentence has an implied predicate existent (or some other word of the same meaning). If so, then it would only negate

.the actual existence of other deities – but not the “possibility” of their existence

:Reply

It is meaningless to suppose that there could be a “possible” or transient being . ۱ (having equal relation with existence and non-existence), which would be the ultimate
.cause of all the existing things and their affairs

We could change the predicate to “true” or “actual”; then the meaning would be: . ۲
.There is no god in reality other than He Qur’an: the Beneficent, the Merciful: We have explained its meaning in the exegesis of the first verse of the first Chapter, the Opening. With these two names, the meaning of Allah's Lordship becomes complete. From Him emanates every general bounty – pursuant to His Beneficence – and every special favour, in the way of guidance and .the next world's bliss – pursuant to His Mercy

Qur’an: Most surely in the creation of the heavens and the earth...: As mentioned in the beginning, the verse aims at proving what the preceding verse has established:

”.“And your God is one God: there is no god but He; He is the Beneficent, the Merciful

The verse under discussion may be analyzed as follows: There is a god for each of these phenomena; there is only one God for all of them; and that one God is your God too; He is the Beneficent who bestows general bounties; and the Merciful, who leads to the ultimate happiness – the .blessings of the next world

These are the established facts; and in the creation of the heavens and the earth, and the alternation of the night and the day, and all the phenomena mentioned in this .verse, there are signs to prove these facts for a people who understand

The verse offers arguments to prove that there is a god, and He is one – the God of this magnificent universe is One, and He Himself is the God of man. It is not the import .of this verse to prove the existence of the God of man, or His oneness

Otherwise, all the phenomena mentioned in it would have all together constituted only one sign – by showing that the management of all is inter-related and forms a single system. If so, then the preceding verse should have been restyled in this way:

:And your God is one, there is no god but He. The proofs in short run are as follows

First Proof: These heavens, the canopy high above us with all these awe-inspiring luminous stars, constellations and galaxies shining therein; this earth, our shelter and refuge, with all its wonderful natural systems; all these regular changes and alter-nations occurring in this world – the alternation of the day and the night, the running ships and boats, the pouring rains, the changing winds, the suspended clouds – all these things need by their very nature, a Creator. There is, therefore, a Creator God .for all of them

Second Proof: Look at these heavenly bodies, varying in mass from the minutest to the largest. There is one so small that the scientists have found its volume to be equal to: cubic cm.; while there are others so huge as to be equal to millions of our earth – which in itself has a diameter of about 9,000 miles

They have found the distance between some celestial bodies to be 3,000,000 light years. A light year is approximately $365 \times 24 \times 60 \times 60 \times 300,000$ kilometres. (1)

Ponder on these figures which boggle the mind and stupefy the brain. Then decide, as you wish to decide, about this unique and wonderful system. Keep in mind that each of these untold billions of the suns and planets act on, and react to, the others, no matter where and how distant they are from each other

This goes on by the law of gravity, which permeates the whole universe, and through light and heat. In this way, the established system continues without any impediment

And it is an all-pervasive never stopping system, run according to an established law. Even the theory of relativity (which says that the directions of movements in the physical world are subject to deviations) affirms that that deviation itself is governed by another inviolable law

This movement, this general rotation, appears in every part of the universe in a uniform way; look for example at the movement of the sun with its planets and satellites

Now look nearer at hand at our own earth, with its

p: 361

A light year is equal to 5,880,000 million miles. With tremendous advance in astronomy, it is now more usual to reckon distances in the parsec, which is equal to (3.258 light years, or 19,150,000 million miles. (tr own moon and various systems (the day and the night, the winds, the clouds and the rains). Reduce your circle of vision once more, to ponder on earthly matters and .creatures – minerals, vegetables, animals and various other things

Find out about countless species one after another; then go on reducing the circle until you come to the elements, then to the atoms; then the particles of the atoms; finally you shall come to what is today the last stage of the scientific discovery, that is, .the electron and the proton

Even there you will find a miniature solar system at work; a nucleus around which these smallest particles revolve, exactly like the movement of the planets around their suns, and the endless journey of the suns (with their families) towards an .unknown destination

Stop at any stage in this scientific journey and you will find an amazing system – a system whose wonders will never cease and whose marvels will never stop. There is no exception in its flow, not even one; nor is there any question of chance in its intricately-woven design, not even a rare one. Man cannot reach its shore, nor does .he fully comprehend all the signs on this path

Proceed from the smallest to the largest heavenly body. You will find it a single universe with one and unified system and inter-related arrangement. Look through the most powerful far-reaching telescope and use the most advanced observatory, .you will find the same law governing all celestial bodies

Now, reverse your journey, until you reach again to the smallest unit. Break it down to its parts, reaching to molecule. You will find in it a miniature universe, with the same design and the same inter-related arrangement – although the two vastly differ in their natures and identities.

In short, the universe is one, and its arrangement and management inter-related; all its parts – no matter how diverse and multiple they may be – are managed under a single system.

(and the faces are humbled before the Living, the Self-subsistent God (۲۰:۱۱۱))

.Therefore, the God of the universe, is one; He alone created and He alone manages it

Third Proof: Man is an earthly creature. He lives on the earth and after his death returns to it. His existence and life needs nothing more than the above-mentioned system that governs the whole universe – a unified and inter-related system

The heavenly bodies with the light and heat they generate, the earth with its alternated days and nights, the winds, the clouds and the rains, the beneficial goods it produces and which are transported from region to region – these are the things man requires for his physical needs, for his existence and continuation of life

(And Allah en-compasses them on every side (۸۵:۲۰))

It proves that the God who created the universe and manages its affairs is the same God who also created man and manages his affairs. God of the universe is the God of man.

Again, it is God who bestows on every thing what it needs for happiness of this world and for bliss of the next (if he is qualified for the bliss of the next life) – because the next world is the ultimate destination of this abode. How can anyone manage the end of any affair other than he who manages the affair itself

This is the proof given by the two names, The Beneficent, the Merciful. And in this way is perfected the rational argument offered by this verse for the preceding one. This view is strengthened by the fact that this verse begins with the particle inna (إِنَّ) (surely) which is also used for offering arguments. And Allah knows better

In short, the words, “Most surely in the creation of the heavens and the earth”, point to the heavens with all their luminary bodies, and the earth with all the wonderful creations and astounding products it contains; the forms which give each species its name, the matter which constitutes its body; their transformation from one form to the other, their recurring additions and subtractions, their joining together and breaking apart. As Allah says

; (Do they not see that We come into the land curtailing it of its sides? (۱۳:۴۱)

Do not those who disbelieve see that the heavens and the earth were closed up, so (We have opened them: and We have made of water every thing living... ? (۲۱:۳۰

Qur’an: and the alternation of the night and the day: It refers to the changes in durations of the nights and the days which are

:caused by a combination of two factors

First is the daily rotation of the earth on its axis. This always keeps a little more than half of the earth's sphere facing towards the sun, which sends light and heat to the earth's surface – and that is called the day. The opposite side of the sphere is dark, throwing a conical shade in the space – and it is the night. The day and the night are continuously rotating on the face of the earth

The second factor is the revolution of the earth on its orbit around the sun. The earth's axis does not form a right angle with the orbit; it has a tilt (of $23\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ [tr.]); and because of that tilt the earth's north-south position vis-à-vis the sun changes at different times of the year; when the northern hemisphere is inclined to the sun, it is summer in the north and winter in the south; when the southern hemisphere is inclined to the sun, the north experiences winter and the south, summer

Also, it is because of this tilt that the equator and the North and the South Poles always have days and nights of equal length: The two Poles have only one day and one night in a year – each night and each day being six months long

When it is day on the North Pole, the South Pole has its night, and vice versa. As for the equator, it has about 365 days and 365 nights in a solar year – all of equal length. As for the other regions, the days and the nights differ – in number as well as in length, depending on their distance from the equator and the two Poles. Full description of this phenomenon may be found in the sciences concerned.

It is because of this difference that the sun's life-giving light and heat reach various regions of the earth with varying intensity. This in its turn creates diversity in various factors governing the earth and its environment. And man profits from that diversity in numerous ways.

is (الْفُلُكُ) Qur'an: And the ships that run in the sea with that which profits men: al-Fulk have (الْفُلُكُ) boat, ship; it is used for singular and plural both. al-Fulk and al-fulkah (date) are synonymous = (التَّمْرُ، التَّمْرَةُ) the same meaning; as at-tamr and at-tamrah that which profits men”, refers to various types of cargoes and food items which are “transported by ship from coast to coast, from region to region

The verse counts the ships (which are made by man) side by side with those things and natural phenomena which are beyond human power, like the heavens, the earth and the alternation of the day and the night. It shows that ultimately the ships too, like those natural phenomena, are the handiwork of Allah

On deep consideration, when we ascribe a work to a man, it has no more significance than ascribing it to a natural cause. Of course, man has a free will and power. But he is not a sufficient or total cause; nor does that freedom .make him independent of Allah

He is as much in need of Allah's will and permission as any other natural cause. A natural cause acts on, and reacts with, a matter and through a process of .combination and break up gives it a form – let us say, turns it into a rock

A man cuts, breaks up and joins some matters giving them a form – let us say, turn them into a boat. Is there any difference between the two makers? Both ultimately draw their strength and ability from Divine creation and invention; nothing is .independent of Allah either in its person or in its activities

Boat too, like all physical creations, depends on Allah in its existence, as well as in management of its affairs. Allah has pointed to this fact in the verse, where Ibrahim :(a.s.) is quoted as telling his people about the idols which they worshipped as god

.(And Allah has created you and what you make (۳۷:۹۶

Admittedly, an idol is but a thing made by man, and Ibrahim (a.s.) ascribes its making .to Allah. The same applies to the boats and ships

:Also, Allah says

.(And His are the ships reared aloft in the sea like mountains (۵۵:۲۴

:According to this verse, the ships belong to Allah. Again, He says and He has made the ships subservient to you, that they might run their course in the .(sea by His command... (۱۴:۳۲

This verse declares

.that also the ships' affairs is in Allah's hands

Can Man-made Things be Attributed to Allah

How heedless are those who think that the things made and manufactured by man are exclusively his creation and can-not be attributed to Allah at all – just because they are made by man's will and choice

First, in this group are the materialists who do not believe in a Creator. They say: The theists believed in a Creator because they found in the nature many things and happenings whose material cause they did not know. As they knew that nothing could happen without a cause, they had to admit that there was a cause for such things and happenings, which was not known to them yet

In this way they came to believe that there was, for those things of unknown cause, a cause whose reality was hidden from them and which was beyond the natural world – and that cause was God

According to the materialists, the belief in the existence of a Creator was a hypothesis which emanated from the ignorance of the primitive man: that man was surrounded by so many phenomena of unknown causes; for example, atmospheric changes and many happenings on the earth

Likewise, there were many psychological factors (whose natural causes are unknown to the science even today). And this resulted in the belief in a super-natural Creator

They say: Now the sciences have succeeded in unravelling many mysteries of natural phenomena, and in identifying their natural causes. Thus, one of the two pillars of the above-mentioned hypothesis has been pulled down – that is, the need of some natural phenomena for a super-natural cause. Now remains the other pillar – that is, the need of some psychological factors for an immaterial cause

The recent advances in the field of the organic chemistry, give us hope that man will soon understand the mysteries of the soul; then he will be able to manufacture the life-giving cells and germs

This will enable him to create any living being and bring about any psychological effect. Then the second pillar of this hypothesis will go down – and there will remain no basis for believing in a super-natural Creator

Man will create whatever he wishes of spiritual and psychological effects, as he is making today whatever he likes of the physical and material things – although just yesterday he was insisting that there was a hypothetical super-natural cause for these things. Now we know why he held that belief – it was just because he did not know the real cause of these phenomena

Comments

First: If these fat-heads were to wake up from their conceit, they would see that the theists from the very beginning of their belief in a Creator (and there never was a beginning for it) affirmed that creative cause for the whole universe – those things having known physical causes as well as those having unknown causes. According to them this whole lot, in its entirety, needs a cause, separate from the universe. Clearly what the materialists reject is not what the theists

.believe in

The theists – and the history and the research has not been able to pin-point a starting point for the belief in the Creator, in the history of humanity – have believed in the existence of one or more creators for the whole universe, although the Qur'an has shown that the religion of monotheism appeared before poly-theism; and the orientalist, Max Muller, the pioneer in the studies of Sanskrit, also has thrown light upon it

Obviously, the theists, even the primitive man among them, used to see and recognize physical causes of many physical phenomena

Yet, they affirmed that there was a God for the whole universe (not excluding those phenomena of known causes). Evidently, when they believed in the existence of the Creator, basing their argument on the all-pervasive system of cause-and-effect, it was not to solve the problem of some phenomena of which they could not find a cause

After all, they did not say that some parts of the universe needed a Creator, while others (having some known causes) did not need that

What they believed was this: The universe is made up of a series of natural causes and effects. This whole universe, taken as a composite unit, needs and requires a Cause, above all other causes; all actions and reactions, all causes and effects, interacting amongst its countless components, rely and depend on that Cause of the causes. The belief in that Supreme Cause does not negate the general law of causality which permeates all components of the

In the same way, the existence of material causes for the material effects does not make this whole chain of the causes and effects independent of the Supreme Cause, .who is out of this universe and separate from it

When we say 'out of this universe', we do not mean that the Supreme Cause is placed) on the summit of the pyramid of the causes and effects. We mean that the Supreme Cause encompasses the whole universe with all its causes and effects, from every (.possible side

The materialists have fallen in an amusing contradiction. They believe that there is a general all-pervasive compulsion in all happenings in the world – including human actions. According to them, every action, every happening, is a compulsory, inescap... .able effect of various causes

And at the same time they say that if a man created another man, it would not finally .end at the Cause of the universe – if there is such a cause

This fine and deep theme is always present in the subconscious mind of common people (even if a simple man is unable to express it in so many words). That is why they say that the whole universe – together with all its causes and effects – is the .creation of a Creator God

Second: When the theist philosophers furnish the rational proofs to prove the existence of the Creator, they do so after establishing that there is an all-pervasive system of causality in the world. Then they proceed to prove that all these

.possible”, transient causes must end at an essential, self-existent cause“

This method has been used by them for thousands of years, from the earliest age of philosophy to this day. There was never any doubt in their minds that the effects – including the natural transient causes – need an essential Cause. In other words, when they attribute the effects to an essential cause, it is not done because they do .not know some thing's natural cause

Third: The Qur'an proves the oneness of the Creator. It does so by showing that all components of the universe are governed by the general law of causality; it accepts the attribution of each happening to its particular cause, and confirms what normal .wisdom says about it

It ascribes natural phenomena to their natural causes, and attributes to man the actions done by his own free will. There is no need to quote here numerous verses .based on this theme

And then it ascribes all these things and happenings – without any exception – to Allah. ,For example

;Allah is the Creator of every thing (۳۹:۶۲

;That is Allah, your Lord, the Creator of every thing; there is no god but He (۴۰:۶۲

;His is the creation and command (۷:۵۴

His is what is in the heaven and what is in the earth and what is between them two .(and what is beneath the ground (۲۰:۶

Whatever may be called a “thing”, it is created by Allah, and may be attributed to Him .in a way befitting His Majesty

There are other verses which attribute an action to its doer and at the same time ascribe it to Allah. For example

(And Allah has created you and what you make (۳۷:۹۶)

The verse attributes the actions of men to them and then attributes their creation and that of their actions to Allah. Also, it says

(and you did not smite when you smote (the enemy), but it was Allah Who smote (۸:۱۷)

This verse admits that the act of throwing arrow was done by the Messenger of Allah, and then negates it, ascribing it to Allah Himself. There are other verses of the same connotation

There are some other verses which combine the two attributions in a general way.
For example

(and Who created every thing, then ordained for it a measure (۲۵:۲ ...

Surely We have created every thing according to a measure... And every thing small ;and great is written down (۵۴:۴۹ – ۵۳

;Allah indeed has made a measure for every thing (۶۵:۳

And there is not a thing but with Us are the treasures of it, and We do not send it down (but in a known measure (۱۵:۲۱)

Making or appointing a measure for every thing means that Allah has confined it within the limits of the material causes and the boundaries of time and space

In short, it can never be doubted that the Qur'an proves the existence of the One and Only God basing its arguments on the system of causality found in all the components of the universe; and then it attributes the whole universe to Allah, Who created and made all of it. It is not that we ascribe some things to Allah and some others to their material causes – as the materialists allege

Why could not the materialists understand this clear fact? They were misled by the Church in the medieval ages, whose pseudo-philosophers tackled this and similar problems in the manner quoted by the materialists; writers of other religions too rely on similar arguments

The fact is that their discourses were distorted, and their arguments lacked precision. They wanted to explain their true claim (which, their reason told them in general terms, was correct

They tried to go into details of that general idea. But their weak understanding and unripe reasoning led them away from the right method; consequently, they generalized their claim and misdirected their argument

It were they who attributed every thing or effect of unknown cause directly to Allah, and said that voluntary actions did not need any outside cause, and that consequently man's voluntary actions did not belong to Allah; man was independent of Allah in such actions

:We have written on this topic in detail under the verse

; (but He does not cause to err by it (any) except the transgressors (۲:۲۶

.here something more has been added to complete the discourse

Another group is that of some Muslim traditionalists and theologians (and some others) whose vision does not penetrate to the inner core of a subject. They did not understand how could the voluntary actions of man be attributed to Allah in a manner

.that would conform with His Sublime Majesty

Consequently, they thought that man-made things could not be said to have been made by Allah, and especially those things which were made exclusively for sins, for example, liquor, and instruments of music and gambling etc

:Allah says

intoxicants and games of chance and (sacrificing to) stones set up and (dividing by) ...
(arrows are only an abomination of Satan's handiwork... (۵:۹۰

And evidently what Allah counts as handiwork of Satan should not be ascribed to Allah .Himself

Comment: The discourse written earlier is enough to show the invalidity of this erroneous surmise- both from the Qur'an and traditions and the rational point of view. The fact is that man's voluntary actions may be attributed to Allah in a befitting manner, and likewise man-made things, being the result of those actions, may be attributed to Allah

Moreover, "the stones", mentioned in the verse ۵:۹۰ above, refers to the idols and images which are set for worship, and the verse ۳۷:۹۶ (And Allah has created you and what you make) says that those idols too are creation of Allah

Obviously, an idol may be looked at from different perspectives. From one point of view it may be ascribed to Allah, for example, looking at the nature of its existence, disregarding the fact of its being used for sin of polytheism

What is an idol? It is just a stone or metal with a particular shape; and as such there is no reason why it should not be attributed to the Creator of

.all things

Of course, from another angle it is a thing that is worshipped besides Allah; and from this perspective it cannot be attributed to Allah; it should rather be ascribed to the Satan or man. The same principle may be applied for other man-made things

It clearly shows that man-made things may be attributed to Allah just like any other natural phenomenon, without any difference. Of course, it all depends on the degree (of existence the said things enjoy. (Think on it

Qur'an: and the water that Allah sends down from the cloud, then gives you life with it to the earth after its death and spreads in it all (kinds of) animals: What is rain? There are various elements mixed in the water of rivers and other water sources. Then it turns into steam, going up and carrying heat. The steam continues to ascend until it reaches extremely cold strata of the atmosphere

Then the steam changes into water coming down as rain. Some times the steam is frozen into snow or hail. In what-ever form, it comes down to us, which drinks it in and becomes alive again. Also, the earth stores a major part of the rain, etc., above or below its surface, and that water comes out and flows as streams and rivers, etc., on the face of earth

Water is the source of life for every living thing. The rain coming down from the clouds is a phenomenon of life, which takes place according to a well regulated and intricately laid down system – without any break down or exception. The genesis of .vegetables and animals – of all types – depends on water

The rain – being inter-woven with so many phenomena of the universe, horizontally and vertically – becomes an inseparable part of the universe. It needs a Creator to .create it, a cause to bring it into existence. In other words, there is a God for it And man's genesis and life depend on the rain and water. Therefore, the same God who has created water and the intricate system of rain, is the God who has created

.man. The God of rain is the God of man

Qur'an: and the changing of the wind: It refers to the changes in directions of the wind, because of various natural factors, the most important of them being the sun's .rays. The sun raises the temperature of the air, making it lighter and less dense

This lighter air is unable to carry the load of the surrounding air which is cooler and .heavier. Therefore, the heavier air glides down, forcibly displacing the lighter one

The lighter air travels in a direction opposite to that of the heavier one. And the resulting current is called wind. The wind helps in pollination of trees, shrubs and flowers, removes atmospheric pollutions, carries rain clouds from one place to another, besides rendering many other services. Blowing of wind is a most important .factor in the genesis and life of vegetable, animal and man

Wind, by itself, proves that there is a Creator God; by its inter-woven relation with other terrestrial and extra terrestrial phenomena, proves that there is only one Creator for the whole universe; and by being a very important factor for the genesis and life of man, proves that the .God of man and the God of the universe is one and the same

Qur'an: and the clouds made subservient between the heaven and the earth: as- is condensed watery vapour floating in air at some distance; it is the (السَّحَابُ) Sahab .source of rain fog; = (الضَّبَابُ) As long as the steam remains on or near the earth, it is called ad-dabab mist); when it leaves the earth and floats in the air at a distance, it is called as-sahab, etc., all having the same meaning: cloud. at- (أَلغ-مَامُ), and alghamam (أَلغ-نِيم) al-ghaym .(to subjugate a thing, to make it subservient in its activities = (التَّسْخِيرُ) Taskhir

The cloud is made subservient, in its flow and rain, to the winds and atmospheric .temperature and other relevant factors, by the permission of Allah

.The cloud is a sign of Allah in the same way as other things mentioned with it

The alternation of the day and the night, the rain coming down from the clouds, the blowing of wind and the subservient clouds are the main natural phenomena, which together make up the system of creation in the terrestrial world, like the vegetable, .the animal and the man

This verse may therefore be taken to be a

:detail of the general statement contained in the verse and He blessed therein and made therein its foods, in four periods: alike for the ...

(seekers (٤١:١٠).

is masdar of (أَلْعَقْلُ) Qur'an: there are signs for a people who understand. al-'Aql he understood, he understands). It denotes perfect = (يَعْقِلُ، يَقُولُ 'aqala, ya'qilu .comprehension and understanding al-'Aql is that by which man differentiates between good and bad, distinguishes fact from fiction, and discerns truth and falsehood. It is the self same man who perceives; it is not one of his faculties and characteristics which are like branches of the soul, for .example, the memory, and the eye-sight, etc

Qur'an: And there are some among men who take for them-selves equals (i.e., أَلْمِثْلُ) is on the paradigm of al-mithl (أَلْمِثْلُ) objects of worship) besides Allah: an-Nidd and has the same meaning: equal, alike, etc. In some other verses Allah has used a (,slightly different phrase; for example

; (therefore do not set up equals to Allah (٢:٢٢

.(and they set up equals with Allah (١٤:٣٠

The style has been changed here to “besides Allah” because it is preceded by the ”...;exclusive statement: “And your God is one God! there is no god but He

Thus anyone taking any object of worship besides Allah would violate that exclusiveness without any justification; he would take as god something which, he is well aware, is not god; he would do so just in pursuit of his base desire, and in complete disregard to the decree

.of his reason

That is why Allah has used the word “equals” as common noun, to show their degradation: “And there are some among men who take for themselves equals besides Allah”.

Qur’an: Whom they love as the love for Allah, and those who believe are stronger in they love them); the = (يُحِبُّونَ هُمْ) (their) love for Allah: The word used is yuhibbunahum objective pronoun used here is reserved for rational beings. It means that the word “equals” does not refer to idols only, it includes also the angels and those men who were worshipped besides Allah.

Rather, it covers all those who were obeyed by people without any authority from Allah. This interpretation gets support from the verse following it

.(When those who were followed shall renounce those who followed (them) (٢:١٦٦)

:Also, Allah says

; (and (that) some of us shall not take others for lords besides Allah (٣:٦٤ ...

.(They have taken their doctors of law and their monks for lords besides Allah (٩:٣١)

The verse shows that love may be attributed to Allah in reality, contrary to the claims of those who say that love, being a branch of the faculty of desire, is related in reality to the body and the matters concerning the body only; and cannot be attributed as such to Allah.

According to them, love of God means obedience to Him, doing what He commands us to do and refraining from what He forbids; thus love may be attributed to Allah only in a metaphorical sense, as Allah says

Say: “If you

.(love Allah, then follow me, Allah will love you and forgive you your sins” (۳:۳۱)

But the verse under discussion goes against their claim. The phrase “stronger in (their) love for Allah”, shows that love of Allah may vary in intensity; it is stronger in the believers than in those who take others as equals to Allah. On the other hand, if love is taken to mean obedience, the meaning would be: “and those who believe are .”more obedient to Allah

Obviously, there could be no question here of any comparative degree of obedience, because the obedience of others is no obedience at all in the eyes of Allah. Therefore, “love” here has been used in its real, not metaphorical, sense

:It is supported also by the verse which says

Say: “If your fathers and your sons and your brethren and your mates and your kinsfolk and property which you have acquired, and the trade slackness of which you fear and dwellings which you like, are dearer to you than Allah and His Messenger and .(striving in His way... ” (۹:۲۴ more loved). Evidently the love = ^{أَحَبُّ}أَحَبُّ)The word translated here as 'dearer' is a habb ascribed to Allah, and that ascribed to His Messenger, and the love attributed to the fathers, the sons, and the property, etc., is all of the same quiddity, all of it has the .same reality

Otherwise, the phrase 'dearer to you' could not be used. The comparative degree - signifies that both sides - the preferred one and the preferred against share in the basic quality, although they differ in its degree, one being stronger, the .other weaker

The verse condemns those who take others as equals to Allah, saying: “whom they love as the love for Allah”; then it praises the believers, saying that they, “are stronger
”.in (their) love for Allah

This comparison between the two groups apparently shows that the former has been condemned because they have divided their love between Allah and those whom they have taken as equals to Allah. There was possibility of a misunderstanding that if they .had loved Allah more, they would not have been blamed

But the next sentences leave no room for such erroneous surmises. “O that those who are unjust could see when they see the chastisement that the power is wholly Allah's...
When those who were followed shall renounce those who followed (them), and they ...see the chastisement and their ties are cut asunder

Thus will Allah show them their deeds to be intense regret to them...” These verses make it clear that they have been condemned not because of the love, per se, but because of its concomitant, that is, following. They followed false deities thinking that those deities had power which would help the followers to fulfil their desires or to .ward off some undesirable situation

Thus, they discarded the truth either wholly or in some aspects – and the one who follows Allah in some aspects only, is not a follower at all. Thus, there is no room for the above-mentioned misunderstanding. It is now clear that man should not take any partner for Allah in .this love, otherwise, it will be polytheism

However, when the love for Allah becomes stronger, the lover does not follow anyone other than Allah; he exclusively obeys the commands of Allah. That is why the ."believers have been praised that they "are stronger in (their) love for Allah

Now we know that the love has been praised and condemned because of its concomitant, that is, following and obedience. If a man loves someone other than Allah in obedience to the commands of Allah, when that someone calls to the :obedience of Allah only, then such a love cannot be censured at all. As Allah says Say: "If your fathers and your sons... are dearer to you than Allah and His .(Messenger..." (۹:۲۴

This verse assigns to the Messenger (S) a love as it assigns it to Allah Himself; it is so because love of the Messenger of Allah (S) is one with the love of Allah. Why? Because the effect of this love, that is, following of the Messenger (S) is exactly the obedience :of Allah. Allah Himself calls to the obedience of His Messenger, as He says

And We did not send any messenger but that he should be obeyed by Allah's ;(permission (۴:۶۴

.(Say: "If you love Allah, then follow me, Allah will love you" (۳:۳۱

In the same category comes the love of any one whose obedience leads to the obedience of Allah, for example, a religious scholar who guides people by his knowledge, a sign that points to Allah, the Qur'an which brings the reciter nearer to Allah, and things like that. All these are loved because of the love of Allah, and by following them one obeys Allah and comes nearer to Him

In short, whoever loves any one besides Allah, thinking that he has a power, and follows him in order to fulfil some of his needs, or obeys him in a matter which Allah has not allowed, then he has indeed taken other objects of worship besides Allah, and surely Allah will show them their deeds to be intense regret to them

On the other hand, the believers are those who love nothing except Allah, do not seek power except from Allah, and do not follow except that which is from the commands and prohibitions of Allah. They are those who are sincere to Allah in religion

Also, it is clear that the love of those whose love is Allah's love, and whose obedience Allah's obedience (like the Prophet and his progeny; the divine scholars, the Book of Allah and the traditions of His Prophet; in short, every thing that leads one to Allah's remembrance in a sincere way) is diametrically opposed to polytheism. Indeed, one proceeds nearer to Allah by loving and following the above-mentioned personalities and things

:To honour and respect them is a part of piety, and love and fear of Allah. As Allah says (and whoever respects the signs of Allah, this surely is (the outcome (of the piety of hearts (٢٢:٣٢).

means the signs that lead or point to some-thing; the phrase, (الشَّعَائِرُ) ash-Sha'a'ir 'the signs of Allah' is general, not restricted to any particular thing like the Safa and the Marwah, etc

It means that one must respect every sign of Allah, every divinely approved symbol which reminds one of Allah; because it is an outcome of piety, a reflection of the love and fear of Allah. And this principle applies to all the signs which lead one to piety

Of course, it is clear as day that one should not think that those signs and symbols are in any way independent of Allah, or that they control for themselves or for others any harm or profit, or that they have any independent authority over their own or others' life, death or resurrection

Evidently, if one had such a belief, then these things would not remain signs of Allah, ascribing = (الشِّرْكُ) they would become equals of Allah – and it would be ash-shirk (partners to Allah); may He protect you from such polytheism

Qur'an: O that those who are unjust could see, when they see the chastisement, that the power is wholly Allah's and that Allah is severe in chastisement: Apparently, “when they see the chastisement” is the object of the verb, “could see”; and “that the power is wholly Allah's and that Allah is severe in chastisement” are the explanatory phrases “describing “the chastisement” (in the phrase “when they see the chastisement (وَلاَ) Wa-law) would that; O that; if only; I wish) is an optative particle, used to express wish. The = verse therefore means: Would that those who are unjust could see in this world the day when they would see the chastisement; then they would see that the power belongs wholly to Allah, and that they had committed the greatest blunder when they ascribed some of that power to their false deities, and that Allah is severe in .chastisement and in punishing those who are guilty of this unforgiveable sin

As the next verses show, the chastisement would contain of their seeing their blunder in taking other objects of worship besides Allah, and in their wrong assumption that those objects had any power, and then seeing the punishment of their polytheism and .misdeed

The next two verses support this interpretation: “When those who were followed shall renounce those who followed (them).” The followers will not get any hoped-for benefit from their leaders; “and they see the chastisement and their ties are cut
.”asunder

Nothing shall have any power or effect besides Allah. “And those who followed shall say: 'O were there for us a return:' ” they shall ardently wish to return to this world.
“then we would renounce” these objects of worship whom we took as equals to Allah,
.and whom we followed, in this world, “as they have renounced us” in the next world

Thus will Allah show” those who were unjust and took others as equals to Allah, “their“ deeds” (i.e., their love and obedience to those leaders whom they took as equals to Allah) “to be intense

.”regret to them, and they shall not come forth from the fire

Qur’an: and they shall not come forth from the fire: It is a proof against those who say .that the chastisement of the fire shall one day come to an end

Traditions

Shurayh ibn Hani said: “A Bedouin went on the day of the Camel to the Leader of the faithful (‘Ali, a.s.) and said: 'O Leader of the faithful! Do you say that Allah is one?' ”
:(Shurayh) said: “Then the people bore down on him and said

O Arab! Don't you see how preoccupied the Leader of the faithful is?' But the Leader' of the faithful said: 'Let him be. Because what (this) Bedouin wants (i.e., gnosis of Allah)
:(is the very thing which we want from these people (i.e., the enemies

Then he (Ali, a.s.) said: 'O Arab! The sentence, “Allah is one”, may be interpreted in four .ways, two of them are not permissible for Allah and two are allowed

:The two meanings which are not permissible for Allah are

The saying of a sayer “one”, when he uses it as a number: It is not permissible, (١) because that which has no second (i.e., is unique) does not come within the domain of number. Do you not see that (Allah) has declared him an unbeliever who said that God ?was the third of the three

And the saying of a sayer that “He is one (٢) of the people”, in the same sense as a species is one of (its) genes. This (also) is not allowed because it likens Allah (to other things), and our Lord is too great for, and far .(above of, this (likening

:And as for the two meanings which are applicable to Him, they are

The saying of a sayer, “He is one, there is nothing like unto Him”; such (indeed) is (١) .our Lord

And the saying of a sayer that, He, the Mighty, the Great, is unique in significance, (٢) that is, He is not divisible – neither in existence, nor in thought or imagination; such ((indeed) is our Lord.' ” (al-Khisal; at-Tawhid; Ma'ani 'l-akhbar

The author says: The two meanings confirmed by him ('Ali, a.s.) conform with what ...we have written in the explanation of the verse: And your God is one God

The lectures narrated from 'Ali (a.s.), ar-Rida (a.s.) and other Imams of the Ahlu 'l-bayt (a.s.) repeatedly say that 'He is one not by number'. It refers to His pristine person .which does not accept counting

There is in a prayer of as-Sahifah as-Sajjadiyyah, the sentence, “Thine is the oneness of number”. It is interpreted as to refer to “ownership”, that is, 'Thou art the owner of the oneness of number'; it does not meant that

Thou art one in number', because reason as well as the Qur'an and the traditions' firmly prove that His existence is Unique and pure, it is not duplicable nor can it be repeated – according to

Imam al-Baqir (a.s.) said in a tradition, inter alia, about the words of Allah, And there are some among men who take for them-selves equals besides Allah...: “O Jabir! They are, by Allah!, the leaders of the unjust ones and their followers” (al-Kafi; al-Ikhtisas; al-'Ayyashi). In the last-named book the wording is: “O Jabir! By Allah! They are the ”leaders of the injustice and their followers

The author says: Its meaning is clear in the light of the explanation given above. Why did the Imam refer to them as “the leaders of injustice”? It is because Allah has said: O that those who are unjust could see... Thus, the followers who took for themselves equals besides Allah were “unjust”; therefore, their leaders must be “the leaders of .”the unjust ones” and “the leaders of injustice as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the words of Allah, Thus will Allah show them their deeds to be intense regret to them: “He is a man who leaves (untouched) his wealth and because of avarice does not spend it in the obedience of Allah; then he dies and

.leaves it to someone who uses it in the obedience of Allah, or in His disobedience

If he (the heir) used it in the obedience of Allah, (the legator) shall see it in the “balance” of another man, and he shall look at it in intense regret, as the wealth had (originally) belonged to him. And if he (the heir) used it in disobedience of Allah, then it was he (the legator) who strengthened him with that wealth so that he used it in the (disobedience of Allah.” (al-Kafi

The author says: This meaning has been narrated by al-'Ayyashi, as-Saduq, al-Mufid and at-Tabrasi, from al-Baqir and as-Sadiq (a.s.). It has used the word, equals, in a wider sense; and as we have explained earlier, this expanded meaning is with-out
.any doubt, quite in place

A Philosophical Discourse on Love

Love is one of our emotional feelings; we apply it for the love of food, love of women, love of wealth, love of honour and love of knowledge. We have no doubt that we have .these five loves

Also, there is no doubt that when we use the word, love, in the above contexts, we intend the same meaning everywhere; and not only the word, but the meaning also is the same in all the five phrases. At the same time, we know that these contexts are ?different. The question is: Is this a difference of categories, or of some other type

Let us look at the love of food. We love an edible thing, like a fruit, because it is related to the activity of our faculty of nutrition. If there were no such faculty, if there were not that nourishment which perfects our body, we would not have loved that fruit, and .there would have been no such love

Therefore, the love exists, in reality, between the faculty of nutrition and its activity,
,on one side, and the satisfaction which that faculty gets from that activity on the other side. When we say, “satisfaction”, we do not mean the satisfying taste which one feels when eating – because the sense of taste is a functionary of the faculty of nutrition, and not the faculty itself. We actually mean that particular .pleasure which the faculty gets from its activity

Likewise, if we look at the love of women, we find that that love is related in reality and primarily to cohabitation, and only secondarily to the women, as its concomitant – in the same way as the love of food was related to a particular food just secondarily .and only as a concomitant

Cohabitation is the effect of a faculty given to animals, in the same way as eating food is the effect of a faculty given to them. Evidently, these two loves belong to the same root, that is, a subsistent relationship between these two faculties and their activities .– in other words their active perfection

At this stage, it might possibly be thought that love was an attachment exclusively reserved for the above two faculties, that it was not found in other contexts. But .experiment (through various effects) removes this misunderstanding

This attachment, known as love, has an effect on the lover. The lover moves towards the object of his/its love, and yearns for the loved action if he/it is separated from it, .and does not like to leave it, after he/it has found it

This particular effect of love is found in all our powers of conception and their actions. All our powers and faculties like eye-sight, hearing, memory and imagination – in short all our internal and external senses – have this very effect, this very attribute, no matter whether they are acting or reacting. Each of these faculties loves

.its activity and is attracted to it

And it is only because its activity is its perfection, makes up its deficiency, and fulfils its natural need. In this way, we know the significance of the love of wealth, love of power and love of knowledge. Man seeks his perfection through his wealth, honour
.and knowledge

It may be inferred from it that love is a special emotional attachment, a particular conscious attraction between man and his perfection. Detailed researches have .shown that it is found in animals too

And it is because the lover acts upon, and reacts to, his loved activity; then that love extends to the things related to that activity, as the love of eating was extended to that of fruit. This principle would apply also to other things besides animals, provided
.they could consciously seek or bestow perfection

From another point of view, as love is a subsistent relation-ship between the lover and the loved, there exists a positive connection between them. Now, if an effect (which has the relation of love with its cause) is a conscious being and has got sense and feeling, it would find that love within its soul – if it has a soul and independent
.existence

The above discourse leads us to the –:following conclusions

First: Love is a subsistent relationship, a special attraction between perfecting cause (or things like that) and perfection-seeking effect (or things like that). That is why we .love our actions, because through them we seek perfection

And as its extension, we love the things related to our activities; for example, food which we take, mate with whom we cohabit, wealth which we use, honour from which we gain benefit, a benefactor who bestows something on us, a teacher who teaches us, a leader who guides us, a helper who helps us, a student who learns from us, a servant who serves us, a follower who obeys and follows us. All these are various manifestations of love, some of them are physical, some imaginary and some others .intellectual

Second: Love has different degrees of strength and weakness, because it is a subsistent attraction, an existing attachment – and there are such degrees even in existence itself. Obviously, the attachment between a sufficient cause and its effect .cannot be like the one existing between an insufficient cause and its effect

Also, the perfection (because of which the attachment of love comes into being) is itself of various categories, some of it essential, some others inessential, some of it .(material (like nourishment), others immaterial (like knowledge

It shows the invalidity of the theory which says that love is exclusively reserved for material things. (Some of them said that love was basically related to food only, and other loves issued forth from it; some others gave that central place to the love of sexual intercourse; according to them all other loves (branched out from it

Third: Allah deserves to be loved – from whatever angle you look at it. Allah is Self-subsistent, exists by Himself; His perfection is limitless while all other perfections are
.but limited. A limited thing attaches itself to the limitless one in existence

This attachment, this love, is a part of existence, a part of personality; it can never diminish or go away. Moreover, Allah has created us, and bestows on us countless and limitless favours; that is why we love Him, as every bestower of bounties is loved
.for his favours

Fourth: As mentioned in the beginning, love is subsistent and existing relationship. Such relations are not separate from the very existence of their subjects. It follows that every thing loves its own person. Also, it was mentioned that by its extension, we love the things related to the loved – therefore, every thing loves the effects of its own
.existence

It is clear from the above that Allah loves His creation because of His love of His Own Self; and He loves His creation because they are recipients of His favours; and He .loves His creation because they accept His guidance

Fifth: We said earlier that sense, consciousness and know-ledge are concomitants of love. But it is necessary in practice only, Otherwise, the subsistent attachment – which is the reality of love – does not depend, per se, on these factors. It appears from this that even the natural powers and faculties – which have no sense or feeling – love their own actions and effects

.Sixth: It follows that love is a reality which permeates all the existing things

Another Philosophical Discourse on Perpetuity of Punishment

The question arises: Will the chastisement of the Hell come to its end at some time, or will it continue endlessly? Both theories have their adherents and both groups support their views with intellectual reasoning and apparent meanings of the Qur'an and traditions

As for the Qur'an, it unambiguously declares that many groups shall abide for ever – endlessly and perpetually – in the Hell. As Allah says

.(and they shall not come forth from the fire (۲:۱۶۷

And nearly mutawatir traditions narrated from the Imams of the Ahlu 'l-bayt (a.s.) clearly say the same thing. Of course, there are some traditions emanating from other sources which support the view that the chastisement will end. But these traditions must be rejected outright because they are against the clear declarations of the Qur'an

:Now, we come to intellectual reasons. As we said under the verse

,(And be on your guard against the day when one soul shall not avail another... (۲:۴۸

it is not possible to explain the details concerning the Resurrection and the Judgment with the help of intellectual deductions, because our reason lacks the premises necessary to lead to a conclusion

The only way is to believe in what the Truthful Prophet (S) has brought to us through Divine Revelation – because his truth has been proved without any doubt

As for the spiritual bliss and chastisement, they happen to the immaterial soul as it acquires good or bad characteristics and traits and is thus wrapped in beautiful or ugly conditions. We have mentioned there (1)* that these conditions and characteristics appear to the psyche in their respective good or ugly shapes, and the psyche enjoys the beautiful and good shapes, if it is itself good; and is tormented by what is bad and ugly, whether it is itself .good or bad

If these resulting shapes are not deeply imprinted on the psyche, and are not agreeable to its person, they are bound to disappear sooner or later, because their appearance is a matter of constraint; and we know that constraint does not continue .for ever

Suppose there is a true believer who has committed some sins. This man is good and happy in his person, but his psyche has been polluted by, and wrapped in, ugly unhappy shapes. Obviously this ugly shape, not being deeply imprinted will certainly .get removed

But if these ugly shapes have been deeply imprinted on the psyche, then it reshapes the psyche in its own mould. The soul acquires a new shape and becomes almost a new species. Suppose there is a “niggard man”; now niggardliness gives a new form to his humanity, in the same way as “rationality” gives a new form to “animality”, and “rational animal” (i.e., man) becomes a new species under the genes, “animal”.

.”Likewise “niggard man” becomes a new species under the genes “man

This species has an

p: ۳۹۶

(.See al-Mizan (Eng. transl.), vol.۱, pp.۲۶۱-۲. (tr -۱ eternal existence of its own. The man, before the characteristics of niggardliness were firmly ingrained in his psyche, did practise niggardliness under constraint and felt unhappy. But now he does it, by permission of Allah, naturally without any constraint. And as it is done by this new species without constraint, it is eternal, endless and perpetual – contrary to the former condition when it was done under constraint and could therefore be got rid of. This man gets punished because of the .concomitants of his characteristics and traits

We may compare his case with that of a man suffering from chronic melancholia or hallucination. His mind perceives frightening nightmares and he is always tortured by it – although it is he himself who produces these fantasies without any extraneous .constraint or compulsion

The pictures appearing in his mind are not agreeable to his sick psyche, and he is .tortured by it, although it is he himself who has created them

Yet, as we know, he suffers because of it. What is punishment? It is that from which man runs away (if not inflicted by it yet) and longs to extricate himself (if already .(suffering from it

And this definition applies to the ugly shapes and frightening conditions which an “unhappy” man suffers in his next abode. It proves that the chastisement of the next world is perpetual and never-ending – for a man whose unhappiness has become an .integral part of his personality

Many objections have been raised against perpetuity of chastisement, all of them

:clearly without a leg to stand upon

First Objection: Allah's mercy is limitless, all-encompassing. How can He, in His mercy, create someone whose destination would be a perpetual chastisement which no one ?could bear

Second Objection: Punishment is punishment when it is not agreeable to the nature of the convicted person. In other words when it is a compulsion, a constraint. And perpetual constraint is unthinkable. Therefore, it is wrong to say that there would be .perpetual punishment

Third Objection: The man had committed sins which were not perpetual; they came to their end after a short or long duration. How can he be requited with a perpetual
?never-ending punishment

Fourth Objection: Even the evil-doers serve the system of creation no less than the good-doers. If they were not there, the virtue of good people could not come about.
?This being the case, why should they be thrown into perpetual punishment

Fifth Objection: It is a revenge to punish someone who disobeys the commandments of Allah. As a rule revenge is taken be-cause the unjust and disobedient person makes the wronged party suffer some loss; and that party, if powerful enough, avenges itself to make up that .loss

But this rule cannot apply to Allah, because He is Self-sufficient and nobody can inflict any harm or loss upon Him. In this background, how can He punish anyone – and
?especially with a perpetual punishment

There are other similar objections against the perpetuity of punishment. If you ponder on what we have written earlier explaining the meaning of the perpetuity of punishment, you will realize that these objections are completely wide

:of mark

General Reply: Perpetual punishment is the effect of the form of infelicity and unhappiness when it becomes an inseparable characteristic of the “unhappy” man. It happens after the man acquires full capability for it – through relevant conditions of .the psyche – and exercises his free choice by choosing evil, instead of good
.That capability creates in the psyche the shape commensurate with it

We do not ask why a man does human actions, once the matter has acquired the human form – because the human form itself is sufficient cause of human activities. Like-wise, we cannot ask why the effects of the inseparable unhappiness and infelicity (including perpetual punishment) are appearing, after the psyche has .acquired the form of inseparable unhappiness and infelicity

Because it is its inseparable characteristic and effect. This general reply sufficiently ...refutes all the objections. Now let us look at each objection separately

Reply to the First Objection: When we say “mercy of Allah” we do not refer to any softness of heart, mildness of temper or other such psychological effects, because .such mercy presupposes material existence, and Allah is far above such insinuations

Divine Mercy means bestowing on the recipient all things which he is fully qualified for. A fully qualified person longs for the things he is qualified for; and his qualification itself becomes a constant demand for it as if it had a tongue of its own. And Allah gives him what he thus

.demands and asks for

His Mercy is of two kinds: general and particular. The general mercy gives whatever a person is qualified for in the framework of existence. The particular mercy bestows whatever a person is qualified for in the highway that leads towards monotheism and .bliss of Allah's Nearness

When Allah gives the form of inseparable “unhappiness” to a person who is fully qualified for it, it is not against the general mercy; it is rather a part of that mercy. And perpetual punishment is a compulsory result of that form. As for the particular mercy, .it does not cover the person who is not proceeding on the highway of guidance

Now let us look at the claim that perpetual punishment is against the Divine Mercy. If by “mercy” they refer to the general mercy, then surely it is not against it – it is rather a part of the general mercy. And if they mean the particular mercy, then the claim is .untenable, because this case is out of the jurisdiction of the particular mercy

Moreover, this objection, if sustainable, could also be laid against intermittent .punishment. Nay, it would invalidate punishments of this world too

Reply to the Second Objection: First we should decide why a thing is disagreeable to the nature. A thing or condition may be disagreeable to a man because there is no common factor between the man and that thing or condition. This indeed is a constraint, and it happens because of compulsion by an extraneous agent; and

.goes away as soon as that constraint is removed

There is, on the other hand, an action or condition which emanates from the very nature of the man, when that nature is thoroughly polluted, when it is moulded in ugly .mould and ac-quires a shape other than the original one Man, in that existence, demands terrifying punishment; his transformed psyche, by its very nature, longs for chastisement – although at the same time he does not like it.

:We have earlier given the example of the man suffering from melancholia

Doubtlessly, the terrifying pictures emanating from his mind are “agreeable” to his psyche, because they are the products of that distorted psyche itself, and such .effects are surely agreeable to the related psyche or nature

But at the same time they are indeed torture and punishment, because the definition of “punishment” applies thereto. In short, the eternal punishment is disagreeable from the viewpoint of sensitivity, and at the same time it is agreeable because it .emanates from the psyche itself

Reply to the Third Objection: The punishment is not the result of the sin and disobedience which were limited and came to an end. It is the effect of the perpetual ugly shape to which the man's psyche was moulded as a result of those limited and .counted sins

There is no question here of a limited cause bringing about an unlimited effect – which, of course, is impossible. As an example, look at the man himself; there were a lot of limited causes which ultimately moulded the matter into human form; now he acts and reacts as a human being,

.because of that human form

And that humanity continues for ever, even after his death. We cannot ask about this man, as to how did a set of limited causes bring into being those unlimited and unending effects – because their efficient cause exists with them for ever. Likewise, it cannot be asked how can a set of limited sins bring about perpetual limitless
.chastisement

Reply to the Fourth Objection: Service and worship, like mercy, is of two kinds: general and particular. General service is to submit to the Source of existence, that is, God, in .the affairs and conditions of existence

Particular service is to submit to God and obey Him, in the path that leads to monotheism. Each type of service and obedience has a reward of its own, a mercy
.most suitable to it

Obviously, the general service in the system of creation is rewarded by general mercy – and as explained earlier, eternal bliss and eternal chastisement both are parts of that mercy. And the particular service is rewarded by the particular mercy, that is,
.bounties of the Paradise

Moreover, if this objection is recognized as valid, then it would also negate the limited
.chastisement of the Hell and even punishments of this world too

Reply to the Fifth Objection: As you have seen, the perpetual chastisement is ascribed to the shape of unhappiness acquired by man; and to Allah in the sense in which every existing thing is attributed to Him. That punishment is not attributed to Him in the meaning of revenge and satisfaction of the feeling of rage and anger, because such thing is impossible for Allah

Of course, one of the names used for Allah is “the Avenger”. But it is used in the sense that Allah requites severely His servant when he (the servant) transgresses the limits of servitude and crosses the boundary of obedience going into that of revolt and disobedience

Revenge” in this meaning is not impossible for Allah; and the perpetual punishment“ may be called “revenge” in this sense, without any difficulty

Moreover, this objection, if tenable, may be laid against terminable punishment also; and even against the worldly punishments

A Qur’anic Note on the Above Subject

It should be noted here that this method of argument, which we have used against the above-mentioned objections, has been used also in the Qur'an and traditions. Allah says

Whoever desires this present life, We hasten to him therein what We please for whomsoever We desire, then We assign to him the hell; he shall enter it despised, driven away. And whoever desires the hereafter and strives for it as he ought to strive and he is a believer; (as for) these, their striving shall be thanked. All do we aid – these as well as those – out of the bounty of your Lord, and the bounty of your Lord is not confined (17:18-20)

As you see, the verses count both chastisement and good recompense as parts of the bounty and mercy of Allah and it is made clear that whatever happens, it is related to the will, desire and striving of the servant himself

It is this very method that we have used in explaining the main topic and replying to the objections. There are many other verses of this connotation; and we shall write on them in their proper places, Allah willing

Suratul Baqarah: Verses ١٦٨ – ١٧١

Commentary

Qur'an: O men! eat the lawful (and) good things out of what is in the earth... what you forbidden); al-hill, = (الْحَرَامُ lawful) is opposite of al-haram = (الْحَلَالُ do not know: al-Halal = (الْحَرْمُ prohibition), al-haram = (الْحُرْمَةُ is used as opposite of al-hurmah (الْحِلُّ) (to tie = (العُقْدُ to untie) is opposite of al-'aqd = (الْحَلُّ sanctuary); while al-hall

All these usages of al-hill allude to freedom of a thing in its action and effect. al-hill (الْحَيْثُ good) is opposite of al-khabith (الطَّيِّبُ Tayyib "agreeable"; a good speech is that which is agreeable to the hearing; a good perfume is agreeable to the sense of smelling; a good place or house is agreeable to the people residing therein step, pace, stride). Some = (الْخُطْوَاتُ al-Khutuwat) al-Khutuwat (الْخُطْوَةُ) which is plural of al-khatwah (الْخَطْوَاتُ) reciters have read it as al-khatawat (one step

The phrase, "the footsteps of the Satan" refers to things leading to the Satanic aim, as footsteps lead to the walker's aim and destination. The Satan's aim is to mislead with polytheism; therefore, his footsteps are the things which lead to polytheism, and take the walker away from Allah to enjoin); the enjoiner imposes his own will on the enjoined, so that the al-Amr (الأمر) = the latter does what the former wants. The Satan enjoins and orders by devilish insinuations and temptations encouraging man to do what the evil) refers to the thing or action which is repugnant and = (السُّوءُ) 'Satan wants. as-Su .repulsive to society indecenty); it is a masdar = (الفِـحْشَاءُ) 'When it exceeds that limit, it becomes al-fahsha adversity; = (الرَّاءِـةُ) 'prosperity; happiness) and ad-Darra = (السَّـرَّاءُ) 'like as-sarra .(distress

Allah has addressed these verses to all the men in general, because the order promulgated therein concerns all. As for the polytheists, they followed some self-imposed taboo, and falsely ascribed its promulgation to Allah

It is reported, for example, that the tribes of Thaqif, Khuza'ah, Banu 'Amir ibn Sa'sa'ah and Banu Madlaj had forbidden themselves certain things of tilth and cattle, as well as some categories of camels, forging a lie against Allah. Similar baseless taboos are found in other countries and societies too

Coming to the believers, there was a possibility that even after accepting Islam, some myths and superstitions might continue in their society, because of hereditary influence and national tradition. As a matter of fact, every new spiritual or temporal system concentrates in the beginning on eradicating and destroying the roots of the old system

After it is done, and if by that time it is left with some vitality and vigour – by good training and learning – then it starts mopping up operation by obliterating and erasing the remnants of that old system. Otherwise, the residue of that system is mixed with the new one, and the resulting

.mixture becomes a hybrid – neither this nor that

Allah ordered the people to eat from what is in the earth. To eat is to swallow after chewing. Sometimes the word “eating” is allegorically used for general usufruct of a property, for unrestricted right of its disposal, because eating is the basic activity of man, the main pillar of his life. For example, Allah says do not swallow up your property among yourselves by wrongful means, except that ...

(it be trading by your mutual consent... (۴:۲۹

The verse under discussion may easily be interpreted in this wider sense, because it is general, not restricted. It would therefore mean

Eat, make use of, and enjoy the usufruct of the bounties of Allah that are in the earth, and which the earth has prepared and kept in store for you by permission of Allah; and it should be in a lawful and proper way. But you should see that there is no snag or hindrance in eating or using it, either from your own nature or from the nature of the earth

For example, there are some things which by their nature cannot be eaten; there are others which man by his nature does not want to eat; and lastly there are things which are eatable and useable, but your own nature rejects them and does not want to touch them at all, for example, a food that was obtained by unlawful means

Thus, the words of Allah, “eat the lawful (and) good things out of what is in the earth”, promulgate general permission of eating all the lawful and good things

.of the earth, without any condition, without any restriction

But the next sentence, “and do not follow the footsteps of the Satan”, shows that there are some things (related to this lawful and good eating) which are called “the .”footsteps of the Satan

They are of two categories: either refraining from some food as a result of following the Satan, or eating it for the same reason. Thereafter, Allah mentions a general principle applicable to all that is done for following the Satan, that it is evil and .indecent, as well as speaking against Allah what one does not know

Desisting from a food is not allowed except when Allah is pleased with such abstaining; like-wise one should not audaciously use any thing without the permission of Allah. Eating out of what is in the earth is not lawful and good unless Allah .permits and allows it

And He has allowed it in this and similar verses. Also, one should ascertain that a par:ticular thing is not forbidden or prohibited by Allah, as He says after a few verses

.(He has only forbidden you what dies of itself, and blood, and flesh of swine... (۲:۱۷۳

The meaning of the verse then would be as follows, and Allah knows better: Eat out of what is in the earth, from the bounties of Allah which He has created for you, as He has made them lawful and good for you; and do not leave some of them abstaining from them, because that would be evil and indecency, and you would be guilty of speaking against Allah what you do not know; it would be tantamount to making your own law against the law of Allah; and you would thus be following the footsteps of the Satan

:The verse thus shows that

First: Man has been given a general permission for unrestricted use of all that is in the earth – except the things excluded from this general rule by other proofs. Allah may forbid a thing as easily as He permits it

Second: One who abstains, without any reasonable proof, from that which Allah has made lawful, in fact promulgates his own law – which he is forbidden to do

Third: Following the footsteps of the Satan means worshipping Allah in a way Allah has not allowed, by a method He has not approved. Allah has not forbidden any walking except that in which man puts his foot in the footsteps of the Satan, making his walk conform with that of the Satan; thus he would be following the Satan's footsteps

It may be inferred from above that, although the reason given of this prohibition (He only enjoins you evil and indecency...) demands that man should neither proceed to do any thing without knowledge, nor refrain from any thing without knowledge; but this is not what this verse is meant for; because it is not following the footsteps of the Satan, though it is following the Satan

Qur'an: He

only enjoins you evil and indecency, and that you may speak against Allah what you do not know: Evil and indecency are attributes of action, vis-à-vis, speech. It shows that what the Satan enjoins is confined to the action that is evil and indecency, and .the word that is spoken without knowledge

Qur'an: And when it is said to them, "Follow what Allah has revealed," they say: "Nay! to find). The verse = (الْإِلْفَاءُ) 'we follow what we found our fathers upon': al-Ilfa supports what we have inferred from the preceding verse, regarding the footsteps of
.the Satan

Qur'an: What! and though their fathers had no sense at all, nor did they follow the right way: It is rebuttal of their saying; it shows that they speak without knowledge
.and without ascertaining the truth; and it is a thing which reason rejects

They say, "We follow what we found our fathers upon." It is an unconditional declaration – they intend to follow their fathers in all conditions, without looking at .their qualifications and credentials

They are determined to follow their fathers even if they had no sense, even if they had gone astray. They claimed that whatever their fathers did was correct. But such claim, such declaration, is just a talk without knowing; it leads one to say what no
.sensible person would ever say – if his attention was drawn to its absurdity

There would be no blame on them if they followed their fathers only in those things which they (the fathers) had knowledge of, and concerning which they followed the right way; if they followed them in such things knowing well that their fathers had their knowledge and had been on right way, it would not be counted as following without knowledge

It shows that the phrase, “What! and though their fathers had no sense at all, nor did they follow the right way,” is not intended as an exaggeration, although one may think that negation of all sense and knowledge from their fathers – who certainly knew many things concerning their life and livelihood – was intended as an exaggeration

But it is not so. Actually, the verse exposes the absurdity of their unconditional declaration by pointing out a situation in which no one would allow the following

Qur’an: And the parable of those who disbelieve is as the parable of one who calls out proverb; parable, = (الْمَثَلُ) to that which hears no more than a call and cry: al-Mathal (adage); also it is used for attribute and comparison, as Allah says

See how they coin comparisons for thee. So they have gone astray, therefore they (shall not be able to find a way (٢٥:٩) to = (النَّادِئِ) 'admonishing cry of a shepherd to his sheep); an-nida = (النَّادِئِ) an-Na'iq (he called, he calls, to = مُنَادَاةً ، يُنَادِي ، نَادَى call) is masdar of nada, yunadi, munadatan (to call), because an-nida' is reserved = (الدُّعَاءِ) 'call); it is more particular than ad-du'a ,for calling in a loud voice

.while ad-du'a' is general

The meaning of the verse is as follows, and Allah knows better: And O Prophet! your parable, when you call the unbelievers to the truth, is like a man who calls out to the animals while the animals do not understand what he says, except that they hear a call and cry, and stop in their tracks as soon as they hear it without understanding any thing spoken

The unbelievers are, therefore, deaf, they do not hear any talk which would benefit them; dumb, not speaking any sensible word; blind, not seeing any worthwhile thing. Thus they do not understand any thing, because their windows of understanding are closed shut

It appears that there is a sort of reversal in this parable. Although it begins as a parable of those who disbelieve, it changes to describe the shepherd, the caller to guidance; it is in fact the likeness of the Prophet not of those who were being called by him to the right path

But as the three adjectives deducted from it (deaf, dumb [and] blind, so they do not understand,) were attributes of the disbelievers – not of him who was calling them to the truth – it was highly appropriate to ascribe the parable to the disbelievers, and not to the Messenger of Allah (S). Thus, there appears to be a reversal in the parable

Traditions

Abdu 'r-Rahman says: "I asked Abu 'Abdillah about a man who vowed to slaughter his' child. He said: 'That is from the footsteps of

(the Satan.' ” (at-Tahdhib

Mansur ibn Hazim said: “Abu Abdillah (a.s.) said to me: 'Have not you heard about Tariq? Verily, Tariq was a cattle-dealer in Medina. He came to Abu Ja'far and said: “O Abu Ja'far! I have taken an oath by divorce (of my wives), emancipation (of my slaves) and vow.” Thereupon, (Abu Ja'far, a.s.) said to Him: “O Tariq! verily this is from the ” ' ".footsteps of the Satan

Abu Ja'far (a.s.) said: “Every oath taken in the name of other than Allah, is from the (footsteps of the Satan.” (al-'Ayyashi Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “When a man takes oath for not doing a thing – while what he has sworn against, its doing is better than its leaving – then he should do that which is better; and there is no penalty on him; surely it (i.e., such oath) is only from the (footsteps of the Satan.” (al-Kafi

The author says: The traditions, as you see, interpret the footsteps of the Satan as the deeds supposed to bring one nearer to Allah, while in fact they are not so, .because the shari'ah does not recognize them – as we have explained above

Of course, as for the divorce, etc. (mentioned in the second tradition), there is an additional reason for the invalidity of such oaths; and that is making it conditional on some contingency in future; and it is against the principle of immediate and .unconditional effecting of such transactions

It is a topic of jurisprudence.) Oath in the name) of other than Allah refers to an oath which has no validity in the shari'ah, and to .swearing by what Allah has not sworn by and to which He has given no excellence al-Baqir (a.s.) said about the words of Allah, And the parable of those who disbelieve is as the parable of one who calls out...: "That is, their likeness when you call them to the faith is like the caller who calls out to the cattle which understands nothing other than ".hearing a voice

A Moral and Sociological Discourse on Blind Imitation

Opinions and beliefs are of two kinds, which we shall call theoretical and practical knowledges. The theoretical knowledge is the one not directly related to action, for .example, theorems of geometry, propositions of physics and issues of metaphysics

Practical knowledge, on the other hand, is directly related to action, for example, the .moral teachings concerned with what to do and what not to do

The only way to acquire the theoretical knowledge is through rational proofs or the senses. The only way to get the practical knowledge is to follow that which leads to .man's felicity, and to refrain from that which leads to infelicity or hinders the felicity

Apart from that, it is merely a superstition to believe in what is not known to be the truth and fact (in theoretical knowledge) and what is not known to be good or evil (in .(practical knowledge

Man, when left to his pristine nature, does not accept superstitious ideas based on blindness and ignorance. His opinions are based on the demands of nature which wants him to find out the causes of the things, and exhorts him to .strive for real perfection

But sometimes his sentiments and feelings aroused by imagination – and especially the fear and the hope – make him to believe in myths and superstitions. What happens is this: Imagination creates some images in his mind which produce fear or .hope

That feeling of fear or hope then preserves that image and does not let the psyche forget it. Let us say, a man finds himself in a valley; he is alone and the moonless night
.is pitch-dark; he cannot see his own hands

He has no light to illuminate his surroundings, no companion to share his thoughts with. Then his imagination takes hold of him. Every formless figure appears to him as .a fearful ugly ghost intent on putting him to death

Then he sees the ghouls moving, coming and going ascending to the skies and descending to the earth. The imagination keeps producing these figures and he .remains awake, frightened out of his wits

Later on, he describes that horrifying experience to someone, graphically describing the devilish antics of those ghosts and ghouls, and the hearer stands aghast, his eye askance. In this way the 'belief' in these things spreads – while in fact it is just an .imaginary “thing” having no reality at all

Sometimes this superstition reawakens the instinct of self-defence in man, and he devises some rites to ward off the harmful effects of this imaginary “being”; and exhorts others to do like-wise, so that they too would be safe. Thus, a superstitious rite takes .root in the society and grows

Man, from the earliest days of his existence, has remained in the tight grip of myths and superstitions; and the situation is not different even today. And it is not confined to the eastern nations – as many people think. It is prevalent among westerners in .equal, if not greater, degree

The elite group, that is, the scholars, have been trying, since time immemorial, to eradicate the rites and ceremonials arising from deep-rooted superstitions which have kept the common people enthralled. They try to awaken the public to the reality
.- but to no avail

It is because man has never been able to free himself from following the others in theoretical views and real knowledge on one side, and sentiments and feelings on the other. We can see that the treatment has not been successful, and the situation goes
.from bad to worse

The most astonishing is the myth prevalent today among the scientists and sociologists. They say that the foundation of modern science is laid on the senses and experiment; it rejects every thing that is not perceivable through the senses and .which cannot be experimented upon

Also, according to them, the civilization is based on the urge of perfection; it seeks .perfection in every possible direction, as much as it can

But strangely enough, this view itself is a myth which they are following. The natural sciences look only at the factors and faculties of the nature. In other words, these material sciences search .only for the hitherto unknown peculiarities of the matter

So far as the things beyond matter are concerned, these material sciences have no way to reject or refute them – as they are beyond their scope, outside their jurisdiction. As such it is a clear superstition and myth to reject metaphysical and immaterial things – just because the material sciences (which admittedly cannot see beyond matter) have not been able to see those things which are admittedly beyond
.the reach of matter

Likewise, it is another myth to base the civilization on the above-mentioned urge of perfection of the society. This perfection of society, this felicity of civilization, often
.demands sacrifices from its members

It becomes necessary for some people to offer their individual happiness on the altar of the society; they lose their all, including the lives, in defence of their country or their cause; an individual is thus deprived of his happiness and his life in order that the .society may be saved

Obviously, no man will voluntarily accept these personal privations unless he believes in this pursuit of society's perfection, and unless he looks at that sacrifice itself as a personal perfection. But that sacrifice is not a perfection for himself – it is a nullity, a
.deprivation

Of course, it may be a perfection – if we accept it as such – for the society, per se, not for himself. But man had invented society as an instrument for his own benefit; he had not bargained that the role would be reversed and he .would be used as a tool for the society's benefit

It is to overcome this basic difficulty that the societies have invented some myths.
They say to their members that man by sacrificing himself in the way of the society earns eternity because his good name is always remembered with reverence and affection – and man should strive for that eternal life. But evidently it is nothing but a .story, a myth

Where is this supposed life once the man is dead? There is nothing for him except death and oblivion. But the society says, it is life – merely a name without any !substance

Also, they say: It is necessary for man to obey the laws even if they are tough and irksome to him. He should patiently bear the loss of some of his happiness, some of the things he earnestly desires, in order that the society may prosper, the civilization
.may attain its perfection

In this way, that partial deprivation will lead to his own perfection – through the perfection of the society. He is thus made to believe that the perfection of the society .is his own perfection. But it is merely a myth

The perfection of the society may be the man's perfection, when both perfections go .hand in hand, when both are one and the same. Otherwise, not

Why should a man look at society's perfection as his own perfection, and to good remembrance

as his lasting glory; and especially so if he can easily attain to his aims and goals – even if through injustice and oppression – and when his strength and power
?surpasses that of his competitors

The same question may be asked in respect of a powerful nation, vis-à-vis, the others. And it is not just a theoretical question. We see every day how the powerful .nations go on exploiting the weaker ones

These super powers tread on the prone bodies of the weaker peoples, crush their dignity and self-respect, expropriate their natural resources, and put the whole populace under their yoke. (Once it was called imperialism and colonialism, now it is
.neo-colonialism

Result in both cases is the same:) weaker people are subjugated and enslaved. (They say they are there to help these people in their difficulties – and in this process they rob them of their freedom and dignity.) They cure a disease by putting the patient to
.death

What is the guidance given by the Qur'an in this respect? In theoretical field, it tells man to follow the commandments of Allah and not to speak without knowledge. In practical affairs, it directs him to seek only what is pleasing to Allah: if it tallies with his own desires, then he shall get happiness of both worlds; if it does not agree with it, if he has to sacrifice his own wish for the pleasure of Allah, then he shall get great reward from Allah; and what is with Allah is better

.and everlasting

Also, the materialist say: Belief in religion is a blind following which the science does not allow. Such belief is a remnant of the superstitions of the second of the four periods through which mankind has passed

There was first the period of mythology, followed by that of religion. Then came the era of philosophy which was replaced by that of science. Presently, we are living in this era, and it follows the knowledge and rejects myths and superstitions

.Comment: This in itself is a myth. These people talk without knowledge

They have said: “Belief in religion is a blind following.” The fact is otherwise. Religion is a composite entity; it consists of the gnosis of the beginning and final destination of man, the laws regulating the rites of worship and social dealings (which are based on revelations brought by the prophets whose truth was definitely proved by rational proofs), and some information given by the same truthful prophets

Evidently, when one follows the religion he follows the knowledge, because the truth of the prophet concerned was fully established by proofs

:We have written something on the topic of “following”, under the verse

.(Surely Allah commands you that you should sacrifice a cow (۲:۶۷

There is another amusing aspect of this objection. This disparaging condemnation comes from those who have got nothing in their hands except blind imitation and who uncritically follow their desire, without ascertaining its value

This aping encompasses their whole being, right from their principles of life to the social customs – be it food or drink, dress or residence, marriage or other social relations. Of course, they have given a new name to this imitation: They say, they have adopted the ways of the .developed nations

Thus the blind following remains firmly-rooted in society, but the name is discarded; the bottle is the same, the label has been changed. The result: “Do as the Romans do” :becomes a scientific adage, a sign of social advancement; and (do not follow desire, lest it should lead you astray... (۳۸:۲۶

!!is treated as a blind religious following, a superstitious view

They have divided the progress of human species into four stages. But what we definitely know concerning the history of philosophy and religions refutes this division. It is wrong to say that philosophy came after religion. Ibrahim (a.s.) brought his religion long after the rise of philosophy in India, Egypt and Chaldea; and the religion .of 'Isa (a.s.) came after the Greek philosophy

Likewise, the religion of Muhammad (S), that is, Islam, was promulgated after the philosophy of Greece and Alexandria. In short, philosophy reached its zenith long before the rise of religion. We have also mentioned earlier that the religion of .monotheism was the first and earliest of all religions and systems

The Qur'an divides the path of human progress in a different way. There were two periods only: First, the period of simplicity when all were of one nation, and then the period when materialism and revolt took its hold. We shall describe it in detail under :the verse

Mankind was

..(but one nation; so Allah sent the prophets... (٢:٢١٣)

Commentary

Qur'an: O you who believe! eat of the good things that We have provided you with:
The preceding verses were addressed to the "men" in general; now a selected group
..among them (i.e., the believers) is especially spoken to Thus, this talk issues forth from the preceding one. It seems as though Allah is turning away from an intractable and self-opinioned group that was impervious to reason, and looks towards those who would listen to, and accept the call of, the Speaker,

..because they believe in Him

The difference in the two speeches springs from the change of the audience. The believers were expected to accept what was said to them. Therefore, they were told to "eat from the good things that We have provided you with". The expression is more loving than the previous impersonal phrase addressed to the general public: "eat the ..lawful (and) good things out of what is in the earth

The loving expression of the verse under discussion paves the way for the direction that they should be thankful to Allah alone, because they are monotheists, they do not worship anyone other than Allah. It was for this very reason that Allah said, "that We have provided you with", and did not say, 'what you have been provided with', or .."what is in the earth

The Qur'anic expression (in active voice) shows that Allah is .known to them and near them, is affectionate and compassionate to them

The Arabic phrase translated as “the good things that We have provided you with”, would be literally translated as 'the good things of what We have provided you with' – in genitive case. Apparently the adjective (the good things) is the first construct, related to the second construct (what We have provided you with); and means in effect, 'eat from Our sustenance that is all good

This meaning is appropriate in this context which is meant to show Allah's kindness and compassion for the believers. The phrase is not meant to restrict the second construct with the first one. In other words, it does not mean, 'eat from the good provisions, not from the bad ones': because such meaning would be quite irrelevant in this setting in which Allah wishes to remove prohibition, telling them not to abstain from any provision given by Allah – as, such behaviour would be a self-imposed unauthorized legislation, would be a talk without knowledge

Qur'an: and give thanks to Allah if Him it is that you worship: Apparently it should have been 'give thanks to Us', but the Qur'an says, “give thanks to Allah”. This expression is more appropriate for the theme of monotheism which the verse leads to

And for the same reason the next phrase, “if Him it is that you worship”, was preferred to a shorter, 'if you worship Him'. The present expression restricts and confines the worship to Allah alone

Qur'an: He has only forbidden you what dies of itself, and blood, and flesh of swine, and that over which any other (name) than (that of) Allah has been invoked: Invoking any name other than Allah's, means slaughtering for any thing other than Allah, for example, .sacrificing for idols

Qur'an: But whoever is forced (to it), not revolting, nor exceeding the limit: That is, when he is not unjust, nor does he exceed the limit; is driven to it because of :emergency. The meaning is therefore as follows

Whoever is forced to eat some of these forbidden things, because of some emergency, while he does not like at all to go against the law of Allah, nor does he .exceed the limit, there shall be no blame on him

But if he was trapped into that emergency because of his own revolting behaviour or because he had exceeded the limit and was then driven to that necessity, then he is .not allowed to eat from these things

The sentence, "surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful," shows that the above permission is just a concession given by Allah to the believers; otherwise, the basis of prohibition is .present even in this case

Qur'an: Surely those who conceal what Allah has revealed of the Book: It is an allusion to the People of the Book. There were many good and lawful things – in the rites of worship and other matters – which their elders and leaders had arbitrarily forbidden them – while they had got the Book and that Book

.contained no sanction against those good things

These people did not conceal what they did but only because they wanted to protect their high position and prestige in the community, and because they did not like to stem the flow of gifts, riches and properties which their power supposedly entitled them to

This verse unambiguously proves that a man's deeds are embodied and assume the form of a body; and it is the deeds that finally emerge as their own results. In this verse, Allah first says that their action of taking a small price for the Divine Revelation is one and the same with their eating the fire into their bellies

Then the description of their concealing and price taking is changed to that of buying error for the guidance; then this gives way to bartering chastisement for forgiveness. Then it ends on the words, "Oh! how (bold) they are to endure fire". Thus, their misdeed itself is transformed into the fire, although what they had done was to conceal the revelation and to continue on that behaviour

Traditions

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the words of Allah, but whoever is forced (to it), not revolting) is one who desires = (أَلْبَغِيّ) revolting, nor exceeding the limit: 'al-Baghi (exceeding the limit) is thief = (أَلْعَادِيّ) hunting (1), and al-'adi

They are not allowed to eat dead (animal) even if they are faced with emergency. It is forbidden to them. This (concession) does not cover them as it does (other) Muslims.

And they are not

p: ٤٢٤

Another meaning of al-baghi is "desirous"; the explanation in the tradition is based on this meaning. (tr

(allowed to shorten the prayer (in such journeys).” (al-Kafi (Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “al-Baghi is unjust and al-'adi is usurper.” (al-'Ayyashi Hammad narrates from the same Imam that he said: “al-Baghi is one who revolts ” against the Imam, and al-'adi is thief Abu Ja'far and Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.) have said: “Not revolting against the Imam of the Muslims, nor transgressing the path of the righteous ones with disobedience.”

«(Majma'ul-bayan

The author says: All these are various applications of these words; and they support
.the meaning we have given earlier

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the words of Allah, Oh! how (bold) they are to endure fire:” (It means,) how bold they are to commit the deeds which, they know, will take (them to the fire.” (al-Kafi Ali ibn Ibrahim narrates from as-Sadiq (a.s.) about this sentence: “How daring they' (are to (risk) the fire.” (Majma'u\–bayan

” as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “How active they are in the deeds of the people of the fire

The author says: These traditions are in fact similar in their meanings: The first tradition explains boldness for fire with boldness in perpetrating the causes of the fire; the second one gives its meaning as daring to enter the fire; the third one interprets it as boldness to commit sins that would lead to the fire – and it is almost the .same with the meaning of the first tradition

It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards the East and the West, but righteousness is the one who believes in Allah and the last day and the angels and the Book and the prophets, and gives away wealth out of love for Him to the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer and the beggars and for (the emancipation of) the captives, and keeps up prayer and pays the zakat, and the performers of their promise when they make a promise, and the patient in distress and affliction and in time of conflict – these are they who are true and these are they (who are the pious) (177).

Commentary

It is said that when the qiblah was changed from Baytu 'l-Maqdis to the Ka'bah, there ensued a long drawn out controversy and conflict in the public. It was then that this verse was revealed

Qur'an: It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards the East and the righteous), it is a perpetual = (الْبَرُّ = righteousness); al-barr = (الْبَرُّ = West: al-Birr a certain = (الْقِبْلَةُ = towards, in the direction of), al-qiblah = (الْقِبْلَةُ = adjective. Qibal .direction) is derived from it

(Dhul-qurba ذُو الْقُرْبَى) = al-yatama = (الْيَتَامَى) relative); al-yatima is plural of al-yatim (الْيَتِيمُ)

(المَسْكِينُ) al-miskin (orphan; he who has lost his father); al-masakin = (الفَقِيرُ) al-faqir = miserably poor, one who suffers a worse condition than al-faqir = is plural of ar- (الرَّقَابُ) ar-riqab = (إِبْنُ السَّبِيلِ) Ibnu 's-sabil (is a masdar like al-bu's (البَأْسُ) 'neck; it refers to slave). al-Ba'sa = (الرَّقَبَةُ) raqabah (البُؤْسُ) both having the same meaning: hardship, poverty , and both mean affliction with (الضَّرُّ) too is a masdar like ad-darr (الضَّرُّ) 'ad-Darra injury or loss, for example, when a man is afflicted with a disease, injury, or loss of (intensity of war = (البَأْسُ) property or child. al-Ba's

Qur'an: but righteousness is the one who believes in Allah: Instead of defining righteousness, the verse turns to describing the righteous ones; thus it introduces the people in the light of their attributes. In this way, it points to the fact that abstract ideals and abstruse ideas have no value in Islam unless they appear in concrete .shape in the character of a man

It is a well-known style of the Qur'an that it explains and defines a condition and a rank by introducing the people having that rank and condition; it is never satisfied .with mere theoretical explanations of good and bad, virtue and vice

The words, "the one who believes in Allah and the last day..." define the righteous ones, and explain their real state. The verse introduces them with all three aspects of belief, deeds and morals, in three stages. the first stage begins with the words, “the one who believes in Allah;” the second is the sentence, “these are

”they who are true;” and the third is, ”and these are they who are the pious

Allah begins the first stage, saying: “the one who believes in Allah and the last day and the angels and the Book and the prophets”. It is a comprehensive description of all the true gnosis which Allah wants His servants to believe in. The belief referred to in this .verse is the perfect belief which can never fail to produce its effect

When a believer attains to this stage of faith, his heart is never assailed by any doubt or confusion; he does not take a dim view of whatever befalls him, nor is he offended
.if afflicted with a misfortune

Likewise, his morals and actions are safe from adverse influences. This interpretation is further supported by the phrase, “these are they who are true”. Truth, in this verse, is general and unconditional; it is not restricted to any condition of man's heart or any :activity of his limbs. It means, they are real believers, true in their belief; as Allah says

But no! by your Lord! they do not believe until they make you a judge of that which has become a matter of disagreement among them, and then do not find any straitness in their hearts as to what you have decided and submit with

.(total submission (۴:۶۵

:Thus, their condition fits the fourth stage of the belief, described under the verse

When his Lord said to him, Submit (yourself), he said: "I submit myself to the Lord of .(the worlds" (۲:۱۳۱

After description of belief, Allah mentions some of their deeds: "and gives away wealth out of love for Him to the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the wayfarer and the beggars and for (the emancipation of) the captives, and keeps up
."prayer and pays the zakat

:Here their prayer is mentioned, and it concerns the Divine Worship. Allah says

; (surely prayer keeps (one) away from indecency and evil... (۲۹:۴۵ ...

:also, He says

.(and keep up prayer for My remembrance (۲۰:۱۴ ...

It is followed by mention of zakat; and it is a financial obligation promulgated for economic good of the society. And before it all, the verse refers to their giving away wealth to various groups; this habit of theirs spreads the good and enlarges the circle of non-obligatory munificence, in order that the need of the poor may be fulfilled and .their condition improved

Lastly, the verse cites some of their excellent moral characteristics: "and the performers of their promise when they make a promise, and the patient in distress to promise; to commit oneself to = (العهدُ) and affliction and in time of conflict". al-'Ahd .something). The verse mentions "their promise" unconditionally

Yet, it does not cover the belief and the resulting obligation of following the laws of the shari'ah (as some people have said). Why? Because on going further we find the proviso, “when they make a promise”; and clearly acceptance of true faith and sub-mission to its concomitants is .an unconditional obligation; and is obligatory on all the people at all the times

It does not depend on one's commitment. However, the “promise”, by its generality, covers every commitment made by man. For example, when he says: I'll surely do it; or, I'll never do it. It includes every deal made in business transactions, every word .spoken in social and family circles

Patience is steadfastness in face of hardship, be it a series of benumbing misfortunes .or a fight against formidable adversaries

These two excellent virtues – fulfilment of promise and patience – do not cover all the necessary virtues; but when they are found somewhere, the other virtues invariably always follow suit. One of these two virtues (patience in hardships) has a passive .quality, while the other (fulfilling the promise) has an active role

By mentioning them, Allah in effect says that when they say something they surely .proceed to do it, and do not withdraw from it even if they have to face difficulties

The second stage of introduction is contained in the phrase, “these are they who are true”. Truth is a comprehensive virtue, encompassing all attributes of knowledge and action. Truth is an inseparable concomitant of all basic virtues – continence, bravery, wisdom and justice – and of their branches., Man's life is made up of his belief, words .and actions

When he is true, all the three aspects conform with each other. He does not do except what he says, and does not say except that which he believes

Man by instinct accepts the right and truth; and even if he pretends otherwise, he submits to it in his heart. When he believes in the right truthfully, his word conforms with his belief, and his action with his word. It is then that he reaches the perfection in all three aspects of belief, morality and deeds. His faith becomes pure, his character virtuous and his deeds good

:Allah says

.(O You who believe! fear Allah and be with the true ones (۹:۱۱۹

The restrictive style, “these are they who are true”, puts emphasis on the description of the righteous. It means – and Allah knows better – that if you want to find the true ones, then these are the righteous

The third and final stage of their introduction is the phrase, “and these are they who are the pious”: This restrictive style looks at the level of perfection. Piety cannot be complete and perfect, unless righteousness and truth have attained their completion and perfection

The attributes ascribed here to the righteous are the same which Allah has described in other places. Allah says

Surely the righteous shall drink of a cup the admixture of which is camphor. A fountain from which the servants of Allah shall drink; they shall make it to flow a (goodly) flowing forth. They fulfil vows and fear a day the evil of which shall be spreading far and wide. And they give food out of love for Him to the poor and the orphan and the captive. We only feed you for Allah's sake; we desire from you neither reward nor thanks; surely we fear from our Lord a stern, distressful day. Therefore Allah will guard them from the evil of that day and cause them to meet with radiance and happiness; and reward them, because they were patient, with garden and silk

.(۷۶:۵-۱۲)

These verses, about some righteous personalities, describe their attributes of belief in Allah and the last day, their spending for the sake of Allah, their fulfilling the vows and :their patience. Again, Allah says

Nay! Most surely the record of the righteous shall be in the 'Illiyin. And what will make you know what the 'Illiyin is? It is a written book; see it those who are near (to Allah). Most surely the righteous shall be in bliss, on thrones, they shall gaze. You will recognize in their faces the radiance of bliss. They are made to quaff of a pure drink that is sealed. The sealing of it is (with) musk; and for that let the aspirers aspire. And the admixture of it is a water of Tasnim, a fountain from which drink they who are drawn

.(nearer (to Allah) (۸۳:۱۸-۲۸)

If you meditate on these verses in conjunction with those quoted above, you will see the reality of their attributes and their final destination. These verses praise the righteous that

p: ۴۳۴

.they are servants of Allah, and are drawn near to Him

:Now, Allah describes His servants in these words

; (Surely as regards My servants, thou hast no authority over them (۱۵:۴۲

:and He says about those drawn near to Him

And the foremost are the fore-most; these are they who are drawn near (to Allah), in . (the gardens of bliss (۵۶:۱۰-۱۲

It is now clear that the righteous are the foremost in this world in reaching nearer to .Allah, as they are foremost in the next world in attaining to the bounties of the garden

If you continue looking at the condition of the righteous in the light of these verses
.you will unearth many hidden nuggets of spiritual reality

The above discourse shows that the righteous are in the highest, that is, the fourth,
:stage of belief, as we have explained earlier. Allah says

Those who believe and do not mix their faith with iniquity, those are they who have . (the security and they are those who go aright (۶:۸۲

Qur'an: and the patient in distress: The word "patient" in the Arabic text is in accusative case while the other attributes are in indicative. This change has been .effected to point out its excellence, to show its importance

Also, it has been said that when a speech becomes a bit lengthy, several adjectives following each other, then the Arabs break the monotony by interposing negatives
.between the positives, or by exchanging accusative and indicative cases

Traditions

The Prophet said: "Whosoever acted in accordance with this verse, he surely ".perfected (his) faith

author says: Its reason is clear from the explanation written above. az-Zajjaj and al-Farra' are reported to have said: "This verse is reserved for the sinless prophets, because nobody, except the prophets, can perform these things as they should be

But this comment shows that they had not pondered on it properly. They seem confused regarding spiritual ranks. The verses of the Chapter of the Man (٧٩:٥-١٢) quoted above, were revealed about the family members of the Messenger of Allah (S); Allah in those verses has named them "the righteous", although they were not prophets

Of course, the rank of the righteous is very high, and their position is of very great importance. Allah praises the men of understanding saying that they: remember Allah standing and sitting and lying on their sides and reflect on the creation of the heavens and the earth

Then He quotes their prayer, which shows that their highest aspiration was that their Lord should join them to the righteous (and make us die with the righteous (٣:١٩٠-٣)

Al-Hakim at-Tirmidhi narrates from Abu 'Amir ash-Sha'bi that he said: "I said: 'O Messenger of Allah! What is the completion of righteousness?' He said: 'That you (should do in private what you do in public.' " (ad-Durru 'l-manthur Abu Ja'far and Abu 'Abdillah (a.s.) said: "The near of kin are the relatives of the (Prophet." (Majma 'u 'l-bayan

point

(178) يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ الْقِصَاصُ فِي الْقَتْلَى ۚ لِلْحُرِّ بِالنَّفْسِ ۖ وَاللَّعْبُدِ بِالْعَبْدِ ۖ وَاللَّائِي بِاللَّائِي ۚ فَمَنْ عُفِيَ لَهُ مِنْ أَخِيهِ شَيْءٌ فَاتَّبِعْ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ ۚ وَأَدَاءُ إِلَيْهِ بِإِحْسَانٍ ۗ ذَٰلِكُمْ تَخْفِيفٌ مِّن رَّبِّكُمْ وَرَحْمَةٌ ۚ فَمَنْ عَتَدَىٰ بَعْدَ ذَٰلِكَ فَلَهُ ۖ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ

(179) وَلَكُمْ فِي الْقِصَاصِ حَيٰوةٌ يَا أُولِي ٱلْأَلْبَابِ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَتَّقُونَ

O you who believe! retaliation is prescribed for you in the matter of the slain; the free for the free, and the slave for the slave, and the female for the female; but if any remission is made to any one by his (aggrieved) brother, then

p: 437

In Islam a slave was allowed to enter into an agreement with his master. This – ١ agreement, called al-mukatabah, entitled him to gain his freedom on payment of (.stipulated amount. Such a slave was called al-mukatib. (tr offender, giving him a punishment similar to that which he had inflicted upon his .victim

Qur'an: but if any remission is made to any one by his (aggrieved) brother: Its literal translation is: then whoever is remitted any thing by his brother. "whoever" refers to the murderer; the heir/s of the murdered person may waive his/their right of retaliation.

Therefore, "any thing" refers to that right; it is used here as a common noun, in order that the rule may cover all possibilities, whether there was a full remission or partial

Let us say, for example, that there are many heirs and only some of them waive their right; then there shall be no retaliation; instead the blood-money will be imposed

The heir of the murdered person who has the right of retaliation) has extraordinarily been described here as the "brother" of the murderer; this expression has been used to awaken the feeling of love and kindness in the heart of the aggrieved party, and gives a hint to him that remission and forgiveness is highly preferable in the eyes of Allah

Qur'an: then (the demand for the bloodwit) should be made according to the usage, and payment should be made to him in a good manner: Its literal translation is: then following according to usage, and payment to him in a good manner. Both phrases are subjects with their predicates implied

Thus literally it would mean: then it is obligatory on the aggrieved "brother" to follow ;that remission with demand for the blood-money according to usage and it is obligatory on the murderer to pay it to the aggrieved brother, that is, heir of the slain, in a good manner without any annoying delay

Qur'an: this is an alleviation from your Lord and a mercy: The permission to commute the retaliation into blood-money is an alleviation from your Lord, and therefore, once effected, it cannot be changed. The heir of the slain person cannot revert to retaliation after granting remission. If he transgresses the limit and retaliates after remission, then he shall have a painful chastisement

Qur'an: And there is life for you in the retaliation, O men of understanding, that you guard yourselves (against evil): This verse points to the philosophy of this legislation. It aims at removing a possible misunderstanding that – because Allah has allowed remission and blood-money, and also because remission expands the circle of mercy and affection – remission is more in conformity with public weal and social good

The verse shows that, although remission is an alleviation based on mercy, common good and society's peace depend on the retaliation. The only guarantee of life is the law of retaliation, and not remission, blood-money, or any other thing. Man has to accept this fact, if he has understanding. “that you may guard yourselves” that is, from murder. It gives the basic of the law of retaliation

The scholars have said that the verse, “and there is life for you in the retaliation,” is one of the most eloquent in its clarity, and the most refined in rhetorics, in addition to its having many other fine literary points, like brevity – it has so few words and such a small number of total letters – fluency of style and clarity of composition. It combines the force of argument with beauty of meaning, the fineness .of proof with clarity of result

Before this verse was revealed, the Arabs were fond of some adages and maxims (on the subject of murder and retaliation), of whose rhetorics and fluency they were very :proud. For example

To kill some is to keep alive all', and 'To increase killing is to decrease killing'. And the ' most remarkable in their eyes was the sentence: 'Killing stamps out killing.' But when .this verse was revealed all were forgotten

Some of its distinguishing points are as follows: The verse has fewer letters, and is easy to pronounce. “the retaliation” with definite article is a proper noun, while “life” is common noun – it shows that the resulting good is greater and more widespread than .the retaliation

It explains the result in clear words and describes the real philosophy of the law, that is, the life. It unambiguously shows by what means the desired result can be obtained: .Obviously, it is the retaliation that leads to life, and not the killing

After all, many killings are done unjustly, and they do not lead to life, they are) negation of life.) The word, “retaliation,” covers also other punishments besides killing, – .that is, the reprisal in the matter of injury, etc

.and such retributions too lead to the society's life

The word conveys another extra meaning, as it shows that the retribution has resulted from unjust killing. (Compare it with their maxim, “Killing stamps out killing”, (which does not give any idea that “killing” refers to any punishment

Then there is an exhortation in this sentence, as it points to a life reserved for the people, which they are oblivious of; it behoove them to take hold of it as it really :belongs to them; it is as if someone tells you

There is a property belonging to you with so-and-so, or in such and such a place. Lastly, the opening word of the verse, that is, “for you” makes it clear to the men of understanding that the law-giver only desires to protect their interest, and no benefit .is ever to accrue to him

These are a few of the fine points found in this verse. The scholars have mentioned some more points, which may be seen in the books of rhetorics. The fact is, the more deeply you look at this verse, the more dazzled you shall be by its brilliance and .radiance; and the word of Allah is the highest

Traditions

Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about the word of Allah, the free for the free: “A free man shall not be killed for the slave; but he shall be beaten a severe beating and be fined the blood-money of the slave. And if a man kills a woman, and the heirs of the slain woman) want to kill him, they shall pay half of his blood-money to the man's heirs.”)

((al-'Ayyashi

al-Halabi narrates from as-Sadiq (a.s.). He says: “I asked him about the word of Allah,
:the Mighty, the Great

; (but he who for-goes it, it shall be an expiation for him (٥:٤٥ he (the Imam) said: 'His sins shall be expiated, as much as he forgives.' And I asked :him about the word of Allah, the Mighty, the Great but if any remission is made to anyone by his (aggrieved) brother, then (the demand for the bloodwit) should be made according to usage, and payment should be made to .him in a good manner

He said: 'He who has got the right (i.e. the aggrieved party) should not put his brother (i.e. the murderer) in difficulty, when he has made settlement with him concerning the blood-money; and he who has got the duty (of paying the blood-money) should not delay in its payment when he has ability to do so; and he should pay it to him in a good
'manner

:And I asked him about the word of Allah, the Mighty, the Great

.so whoever exceeds the limit, he shall have a painful chastisement

He said: 'It refers to a man who accepts blood-money or forgives, or makes compro... mise, then exceeds the limit (and kills the murderer); so he shall be killed as Allah, the (Mighty, the Great, has said.' ” (al-Kafi

.The author says: There are many traditions of the same meanings

An Academic Essay on Retaliation

Before the advent of Islam, and until this verse was revealed, the Arabs believed in requiting a murder with killing. But the retaliation had no defined limit. It all depended on the strength or weakness of the aggrieved party

Sometimes they killed a man for a man, and a woman for a woman – thus keeping a balance between the crime and its punishment. At other times they killed ten persons for one, a free man for a slave, a chief for and ordinary man. Many times a tribe destroyed another just in retaliation of one man

The Jews believed in retribution, as we see in chapters ٢١ and ٢٢ of Genesis, and chapter ٣٥ of Numbers. The Qur'an quotes it in these words

And We prescribed to them in it that life is for life, and eye for eye, and nose for nose, (and ear for ear and tooth for tooth, and (that there is) reprisal in wounds (٥:٤٥)

The Christians reportedly recognize only remission and payment of blood-money in the matter of murder

All societies and nations, with all their differences, believed in, and practised, retaliation by killing, in one way or the other; although they did not have any fixed code for it even upto the recent centuries

Islam opted for a middle course between confirmation of retaliation and its negation. It prescribed retaliation but did not make it obligatory – it allowed remission and payment of blood-money. Then it laid the foundation of justice by prescribing equality between the murderer and the murdered, telling us that: the free for the .free, and the slave for the slave, and the female for the female

Objections have been laid against the law of retaliation in general, and the capital punishment, that is, retaliation by killing, in particular. The brunt of the argument is that nowadays the advanced nations do not recognize – or do not enforce – the law of :capital punishment. Their objections may be summarized as follows

Human nature disapproves the idea of a life for a life, when a man looks at this matter .from the point of view of mercy and service to humanity

The killing (i.e. the crime) had caused loss of one person; now the second killing (i.e. its .punishment) would be a further loss, a loss upon loss

Capital punishment is based on hard-heartedness and desire of revenge. These are not good traits; they should be eradicated from society through general training. Even a murderer should be punished through corrective measures; and it can easily be .done through prison and hard labour, not capital punishment

A criminal becomes criminal only because of psychology-cal sickness. He should be .put into mental hospital for treatment

Civil laws and penal codes follow the trends of society. As the society changes, so do the laws and codes. There is no reason why the law of capital punishment should .continue to plague the civilization – even the advanced nations – for ever and ever

Society should make use of its manpower to the maximum possible extent. A criminal may be given a punishment, which would be as effective as killing – without putting him to death. He may be imprisoned for life, or for a long period. It would satisfy both demands – that of the society and that of the heirs of the slain

These are the main objections against the law of retaliation with killing. The Qur'an has replied to all this criticism with one sentence whoever slays a soul, unless it be for man-slaughter or for mischief in the land, it is ... (as though he slew all men (5:32)

as the following explanation shows

The laws, observed by members of a society, are laid down by men and based on a subjective approach – with a view to serve the interest of the society. But the general and basic cause (which brings them into being) is the human nature which has real existence, and which demands that its deficiencies be made up and its needs fulfilled

This nature, this real being, has nothing to do with the number of the men, nor is it related to the composite unit, that is, the society. Because society is a handiwork of human nature, while we are talking about the man himself, about his nature itself

This nature, this real being, makes no distinction between a single man and a thousand; all are human beings; and as far as the existence is concerned, one man and the whole humanity have got equal weight, equal value

This really existing nature has equipped itself with powers and instruments to ward off harmful and destructive influences from itself, because it loves existence, and repels all things which could deprive it of .life. It defends its existence, by all possible means

It does not stop at any thing, and is ready and willing to kill and destroy the attacker who endangers its existence. Nature tells man to kill whosoever wants to kill him (if he .cannot be repelled by any other means). And no one denies justifiability of such killing

Look at these advanced and “civilized” nations. They have no hesitation in waging war in defense of their freedom, independence and national interest. What will they do if ?someone wanted to kill all their nationals

They think that supremacy of law is sacrosanct. They defend the rule of law, they try to preserve order in the society, by all possible means – even if it entailed killing some .offenders. They protect their national interest – even by war, if nothing else works

They justify war for this reason in high-sounding phrases – the war which shakes the world to pieces and destroys the tilth and the generations. There is a never-ending
:race for armaments

A country sacrifices its progress to arm itself with some sophisticated military hardware; and then its adversaries try to acquire even more advanced arms. Ask them, “Why this mad race?” They will say, it is essential for their defense, for the .safety of their society and civilization

Now, society and civilization is only a handiwork of the nature. How is it that the nature allows massacres, mass destructions and wholesale killings just to save a handiwork of its, and does not allow it for its own protection and safety? How is it that it allows to kill someone who intends to kill but ?has not killed yet, but forbids killing the man who intended to kill and killed

The nature has decreed that every action should have a reaction; so he who has done an atom's weight of good shall see it; and he who has done an atom's weight of evil shall see it. Now what type of nature is this which breaks its own law, violates its own decree, when it comes to giving death penalty to someone who has killed an innocent
?person

Moreover, Islam does not accord any value, any weight to man, unless he is on the religion of monotheism. One man believing in the one and the only God is equal in the .eyes of Islam to the whole human race

Therefore, whoever slays a believer, it is as though he slew all men – because he committed a sacrilege against the dignity of that believer. Likewise, whoever slays
.any person, it is as though he slew all men – looking at the reality of his existence

But so far as the civilized nations are concerned, religion has no value in their eyes. If they had accorded as much value (if not more) to religion as they give to civilization,
.they would have defended the religion to the same extent at least

Furthermore, Islam has brought the shari'ah which is meant for the whole world – not for a particular country or a selected group only. Let us say that what the advanced nations have legislated is good for their society

But they have opted for this course after they have made sure that the general training of their people has been effective; that their governments are faithfully discharging their duties; that according to crime statistics, these well-trained nations are now totally averse to murder and violence; that as a result of this aversion, no one indulges in crimes of violence – except in extremely rare cases

And because it happens so rarely, these nations have decided to punish murder in some ways other than death. Islam does not say that such training should not be given, or that if given it would not be effective

When that stage is reached, capital punishment may give way to remission – with the law of retaliation keeping its basic position unaltered. The relevant sentence in this verse points to this fact

but if any remission is made to any one by his (aggrieved) brother, then (the demand for the bloodwit) should be made according to usage, and payment should be made to him in a good manner

Clearly, the language used is that of moral training; and when a nation advances to a level where all take pride in forgiveness and remission, then they would not deviate from the path of remission to that of revenge

But what about other nations? We know their moral status is not so high. We see the condition of these societies, and the extent of the moral decay of their people. In these places, the criminals are not afraid of prison or hard labour; they are immune to sermons and exhortations; they do not understand such abstract ideas as human rights, nor do they give any importance to them

And the facilities which they are provided with in prisons are far much better and much more comfortable than the wretched life they are accustomed to at home

The result? They do not care about social disgrace or penal sentence; they are afraid of neither prison nor hard labour; beatings and floggings are just occupational hazards to them. That is why crime rates are going higher and higher in almost every country

Suppose there is there an ideal society we have mentioned earlier; still the overwhelming majority of nations come into this second less ideal category. Therefore, the general and basic law could only be the retaliation with possibility of remission

After that, if the ethical standard of a nation improved and if it advanced gracefully on the path of moral perfection (and Islam spares no effort for moral upliftment of its people), it would automatically opt for remission. If on the other hand, it continued its downward slide, and remained ungrateful to Allah's favours, then the law of retaliation would prevail – with possibility of remission even then

:Now, let us have a look at their objections

The talk about mercy and kindness to human beings is all very good. But not every kindness is good, nor is every mercy a virtue. Showing mercy to a hardened criminal who has no regard for others' life and honour, is a loathsome offence against good law-abiding people. Indiscriminate application of .mercy would disrupt the social system, destroy the humanity and nullify the virtues

The same applies to their criticism concerning hard-heartedness and revenge. Avenging an oppressed from the oppressor – in pursuit of justice and truth – is not objectionable in any way; nor is the love of justice a thing to disparage. Moreover, death penalty has not been legislated for revenge only; it serves also to train general .public in good character and to shut the door of mischief in the society

The assertion that the crime of murder is a psychological disease which should be treated in mental hospitals, has provided an excuse – and what a good excuse it is! – to the criminals. It has contributed a lot in the growth of murder, indecency and other .crimes of violence in the society

Why should a criminal refrain from making murder his hobby, when he knows that his urge of violence is but a psychological disease, and that it is an acceptable plea which would oblige the government to treat him with kindness and benevolence, arranging ?for his medication in hospitals

Now, we come to the view that society should utilize all available manpower, and as such should use the criminals in compulsory labour and other such work, by imprisoning them and cutting their access to the society. If these people really believe in what they say, if there is any truth in this sermon, then why do they forget it in those cases in which their legal system provides for capital punishment

We should not forget that there is in every civilized country provision for capital punishment for specified crimes. They give death penalty in those cases because they think those crimes to be extremely heinous and atrocious. But we have already explained that, in the eyes of nature, life of one man is as precious as that of the whole human race put together

(۱۸۰) كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمُ إِذَا حَضَرَ أَحَدَكُمُ الْمَوْتُ إِن تَرَكَ خَيْرًا لِّوَالِدَيْهِ لِّلْوَالِدَيْنِ وَلِلْأَقْرَبِينَ بِٱلْمَعْرُوفِ ۚ حَقًّا عَلَى ٱلْمُتَّقِينَ

(۱۸۱) فَمَن بَدَّلَهُ بَعْدَمَا سَمِعَهُ فَإِنَّمَا إِثْمُهُ عَلَى ٱلَّذِينَ يُبَدِّلُونَهُ ۚ إِنَّ ٱللَّهَ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ

(۱۸۲) فَمَن خَافَ مِن مُّوَضِّعٍ جَنَفًا أَوْ إِثْمًا فَأَصْلَحَ بَيْنُهُمْ فَلَا إِثْمَ عَلَيْهِ ۚ إِنَّ ٱللَّهَ غَفُورٌ رَّحِيمٌ

Bequest is prescribed for you when death approaches one of you, if he leaves behind wealth, for parents and near relatives, according to usage, a duty (incumbent) upon (those who guard (against evil)) (۱۸۰)

Whoever then alters it after he has heard it, the sin of it then is only upon those who (alter it; surely Allah is Hearing, Knowing) (۱۸۱)

But he who fears an inclination (to a wrong course) or an act of disobedience on the part of the testator, and effects an agreement between the parties, there is no blame on him. Surely

Commentary

Qur'an: Bequest is prescribed for you when death approaches one of you, if he leaves behind wealth: The language is that of an obligatory rule, because al-kitabah (أَلَيْكْتُ أَبَهُ) to write; translated here as "prescribed") is used in the Qur'an always for definitely = obligatory laws. It is further strengthened by the word "a duty" coming at the end of the verse, because duty too is used, like writing and prescription, for compulsory orders.

But the word "a duty" is qualified by "upon those who guard (against evil)"; this somewhat weakens the sense of obligatoriness; it would have been more appropriate, in case of obligatoriness, to say, 'a duty upon the believers

In any case, it is said that the verse was later abrogated by the verse of inheritance. If so, then it would only be its "obligatoriness" which was abrogated, not its being liked, recommended. Perhaps, the phrase qualifying "a duty" was used for this very purpose.

is wealth; it probably denotes considerable wealth, not an insignificant (الْخَيْرُ) al-Khayr amount. al-Ma'ruf (المَعْرُوفُ) = (known; common usage of good deed and favour

Qur'an: Whoever then alters it after he has heard it, the sin of it then is only upon those who alter it: The pronoun in "the sin of it" refers to the alteration; all the rest refer to the bequest according to usage; bequest is a masdar and is used both as masculine and feminine.

That is why the pronouns used in the verse are) of masculine gender.) “upon those who alter it”: Allah did not say 'upon them', because the wording used clearly indicates the nature of sin, that is, alteration of a will; also it paves the way for the next verse Qur'an: But he who fears an inclination (to a wrong course) or an act of disobedience on the part of the testator, and effects an agreement between the parties, there is no inclination; deviation); it is said that it indicates = (الْحَنَفُ) blame on him: al-Janaf shows their inward inclination. (الْحَنَفُ) outward inclination of the feet, and al-hanaf In any case, it is used here to denote an inclination towards sin and disobedience, as it is followed by “or an act of disobedience

The verse branches out from the preceding one. Its meaning is as follows (and Allah knows better): The sin of alteration is only upon those who alter the bequest (which was made according to usage

Of course, if someone fears that the bequest of the testator is, or shall be, an act of disobedience or inclined towards a wrong course, and then effects an agreement between the parties, free from error and sin, then there is no blame on him; because he has not changed a bequest made according to usage; rather he has altered only the wrong and sin found in it

Traditions

Muhammad ibn Muslim says that he asked as-Sadiq (a.s.) whether a bequest was allowed in favour of an heir. The Imam said: “Yes”. Then he recited this verse, “Bequest is prescribed... if he leave behind wealth, for parents and near relatives...” (al-'Ayyashi). This tradition is also narrated, with a slight change in wording, in al-Kafi and at-Tahdhib as-Sadiq (a.s.) narrates through his father from 'Ali (a.s.) that he said: “He who did not bequest at the time of his death for those of his near relatives who were not his heirs, surely ended his deeds with disobedience.” (al-'Ayyashi Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said about this verse: “(It is) a right which Allah has given in the properties of men to the Master of this affair (i.e. to the Imam).” The narrator says: “I said: 'Is there a prescribed limit for it?' He said: 'Yes'. I said: 'How much?' He said: 'Its (lower limit is one-sixth; and the higher, one-third.' ” (al-'Ayyashi

The author says: This theme has been narrated also by as-Saduq in his al-Faqih from the same Imam. It is a fine inference from this verse read in conjunction with the :verse

The Prophet has a greater claim on the believers than they have on themselves, and his wives are their mothers; and the possessors of relationship have the better claim in the ordinance of Allah to inheritance, one with respect to another, than (other) believers, and (than) those who have fled (their homes), except that you do some (good to your awliya'; this is written in the Book (۳۳:۶

This verse abrogated the system prevalent in early days of Islam by which a “muhajir brother” inherited from his “ansar brother”; and initiated inheritance between the relatives; then it made an exception (from this rule of inheritance by relationship), and that was about doing some good to (your awliya' (أولياؤك).

Now Allah has made the Prophet al-waliyy and his pure progeny al-awliya' of the believers. And this exception of doing good to the awliya' brings it within the jurisdiction of the verse under discussion: Bequest... for parents and near relative. And the Imams are also the “near relatives” (of the Prophet). Understand it

The Fifth or the Sixth Imam said about the verse, Bequest is prescribed for you...: “It is (abrogated. The verses of inheritance abrogated it.” (al- 'Ayyashi

The author says: This tradition may be reconciled with the preceding ones if we say that it was only its obligatoriness which was abrogated; thus the order will continue as (liked, recommended) even after that = (المُستَحَبُّ) al-mustahabb

Abu Ja'far (a.s.) said about the verse, But he who fears an inclination (to a wrong course) or an act of disobedience...: “al-Janaf is inclination to the side of error without (knowing that it is allowed (or not).” (Majma'ul-bayan Imam as-Sadiq (a.s.) said: “When a man has made his will, then it is not allowed to the executor to alter the bequest made; he should enforce it as (the testator) has bequeathed; except when (the testator) has made his will against the command of Allah, and done injustice (to an heir). Then it is allowed to the executor to bring the will to the truth (i.e

which has several meanings, important (الْوَالِيَّةُ) is plural of al-waliyy (الأولياء) 'al-Awliya - ١ among them being: friend, guardian, relative, a person close to Allah, and master. In (the explanation given in the text, it has been taken to mean master and guardian. (tr

.(the right course

Let us say, there is a man who has got some heirs; and he bequeaths all (his) property to some of the heirs, depriving the others. In such cases, it is allowed to the executor to bring the will to the right (course). And this is (the meaning of) the word of Allah, an inclination (to a wrong course) or an act of disobedience

And al-Janaf is inclination to some of his heirs, leaving the others aside; and al-ithm sin; act of disobedience) is that he directs to build fire-temples, and to take = (الإيثمُ) intoxicant. Then the executor is allowed not to do any such thing.” (at-Tafsir, al-Qummi

The author says: The explanation of al-janaf given in this tradition, makes clear the meaning of the word of Allah: and effects an agreement between the parties. The words refer to effecting reconciliation and settlement between the heirs, when there is conflict and quarrel among them because the testator was inclined to wrong course, and favoured one heir at the cost of the others

Muhammad ibn Suqah said: “I asked Abu Ja'far (a.s.) about the word of Allah: Whoever then alters it after he has heard it, the sin of it then is only upon those who alter it. He said: 'It has been abrogated by the next verse; But he who fears an inclination (to a wrong course) or an act of disobedience on the part of the testator, and effects an agreement between the parties, there is no blame

'on him

He said: 'It means that if the executor fears that the testator is inclined to a wrong course concerning his children in the bequest he has entrusted the executor with, in a way Allah is not pleased with, (and which is) against the truth, then there is no blame on him, (i.e. on the executor of the will) if he changes it to the truth, and to the way of (right that Allah is pleased with.' ” (al-Kafi

The author says: This tradition explains one verse with the help of another. Therefore, the word, “abrogated”, is not used here in its terminological meaning. And we have earlier mentioned that the word, “abrogation”, is sometimes used in the speech of Ahlu 'I-bayt, in a meaning different from the language of the Principles of Jurisprudence
