INTRODUCTION

Verily this Qur'ān doth guide to that which is most right (or stable) (to run societies), " and giveth the glad tidings to the Believers who work deeds of righteousness, that .(they shall have a magnificent reward " (Sura Al-'Asrā, No. ١٧, verse ٩

We have sent down to thee the book explaining all things, a Guide, a Mercy, and " .(Glad Tidings to Muslims," (Sura An-Nahl, No. ١٦, verse ٨٩

When those come to thee who believe in Our Signs, say: ` Peace be on you: Your " Lord hath inscribed for Himself (the rule of) Mercy; verily, if any of you did evil in ignorance, and thereafter repented, and amended (his conduct), Lo! He is Oft- .(Forgiving, Most Merciful ", (Sura Al-An`ām, No. ٦, verse ٥٤

The collection of all the messages or revelations that Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) received is called Qur'ān. The Holy Qur'ān is the ` text-book ' of Islam. All the doctrines, principals, laws, commandments and prohibitions of Islam are enshrined in the Qur'ān. It was through the Qur'ān and Muhammad Mustafa (p.b.u.h.) that the message of Allah (s.w.t.) to mankind was completed, and through the inspired .commentary of Ahlul-Bait, religion was perfected

In this century of research and scientific progression of the computer, endeavours for the conquest of space, the finding of new stars and galaxies of even more than ٥٠ million light years away from us by modern instruments and the efforts of astronomers, and the faster means of communication have set in motion such rapid conveyances of men and material, which were far beyond the imagination of the former generations of the human race and which causes a vital change and exchange of thoughts and religious ideology, the light of the Qur'ān and

Islam is penetrating all curtains of every kind and is illuminating many individuals' hearts in nearly all parts of the world, inspite of heavy barriers and careful controls and religious interrogation exerted by not only many governments of non-Muslim nations, but also in some Muslim countries against their believing people, especially during the years after the Islamic Revolution of Iran

The effective influence of the light of truth together with the speed in the movement of the Age has brought forth a more vital change and exchange of thought and religious ideology in connection with the Holy Qur'ān. In regard to this, we refer to what the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) has said about it: "...When afflictions surround you like the dark night, refer to the Qur'ān, because, it is an Intercessor whose intercession is accepted. It reports the evils (of people) which will be confirmed. It leads the person to Heaven who puts it in front of himself (follows it); and he who puts it behind himself (neglects it) will be driven to Hell. This very Qur'ān is the best guide to the best ways. It is a Book in which there are useful explanations, statements and (gaining (of goals)). It is the Separator (of right and wrong)...", (Usul-i-Kāfī, vol. ۲, p. ۵۹۹

To recite the Qur'ān, obviously, those people whose language is not Arabic and know English, at first, refer to the Holy Book in English, because this is an international language and it is possible for all nations with any native language, to read and understand it in English. As far as we know, there are more than ۵۰ different English translations of the Qur'ān available in Iran, alone, and, probably some others can be found, besides them, in libraries (and homes) throughout the world. This makes it easy for the lovers of truth to receive the knowledge of the Holy Qur'ān and Islamic ideology, through the medium of English

.which formerly was acquired only directly by the Arabic and Persian languages

But, a fact should be mentioned here that although the Qur'ān is, on the whole, an easily understandable book in general, yet, not all of the words of Allah are easily understood by ordinary people and need explanatory commentary, ' Tafsīr '. Alongside this path, there are some problems that those eager to learn the Qur'ānic truth should know and be careful of. Hence, we deal, here, with some of the difficulties we recognized and were involved in when we were preparing this work; the fruit of our humble labour of more than three years, almost a pioneer service of its ,kind, was a translation of the commentary of over one part Volumes ١ and ٢, (of the ٣٠ parts) of the Holy Qur'ān from different-

.commentary sources

The Persian–Arabic original work, compiled by a group of Muslim scholars who preferred their names to be mentioned in the next world instead of this world, is based especially upon popular commentaries mostly accepted by Muslim scholars of both schools of thought, with the consultation of some other books and present living scholars, learned in the Qur'ānic Sciences, as our investigative sources on the path of producing this translated commentary in a simple standard of English easily understood by laymen. The style of writing, here, is a mixture of British–English and American–English, understandable by all the readers, even for those acquainted with only one of them; but excuse us for using some interchangeable spellings. If both are used, from time to time, they are acceptable; i.e.: defenceless and defenseless, or .favour and favor

Not All English Versions of the Qur'ān Are Acceptable

Some of the Western translators of the Holy Qur'ān, not all of them of course, and some of the producers of the literature on Islam in the English language are the anti-Muslim elements which are busy distorting the facts about the faith to create .disruption in the Islamic ideology

These hostile minds have done the worst possible work which is for them to black–list the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the religion of Islam, through their harsh, purposeful, and subtle mis–translations, mis–interpretations, mis–representations and distortion of the facts. The distortion and the misinterpretations are so strongly plastered with such attractive colors of their linguistic excellence and the delusive logic that the blind lovers of the English language, who are hardly or even totally unaware of the actual Qur'ānic factors of faith, get caught in the falsehood tempered with the eloquence and they swallow the `sugar–coated poisonous pills of deceit' and get themselves duly conditioned to serve the purpose of the publications of the hostile .camps

The current standing of Evil has always been against the Truth in the history of man, of course, or even before the recorded history, from when the sons of Adam (a.s.) came into existence

When these antagonistic elements have successfully extended their active influence upon our own religion, ideology and social tradition, we are also bound in our duty to Allah, His Final Word, the Holy Qur'ān, the Faith, and to Islam, to do our best, at least, to present to every sincere seeker of it a selection of the proper translation of the verses of the Holy Qur'ān from among the best translations appropriate to the meaning of the original Arabic text, and the ' Tafsīr ', commentary, applied in this book

By the way, we believe it is the essential belief of ' Shi` ah ' that the present Qur'ān, which is in our hands today, is the Holy Book of Allah, revealed to the holy Prophet Mohammad (p.b.u.h.), as arranged and compiled during his lifetime and was reread to him to assure accuracy and it contains nothing less or more than what was revealed.

(And it should be noted that, " Nay, but it is a Glorious Qur'ān, (inscribed in a tablet preserved." (٨٥: ٢١,٢٢), whose present arrangement is the order in which the various verses were assorted and arranged at the command of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), himself. This is the uncorrupted or undisturbed Word of Allah, the preservation of which has been guaranteed by Allah, Himself where He says: " We have, without doubt, sent down the Message; and We will assuredly guard it (from .(corruption) ", (١٥: ٩

Furthermore, the English translations next to the Arabic text of the verses, in this book, besides the careful investigation and searching through different lexical and commentary sources together with the consultation of various authentic translations of English versions of the Holy Qur'ān (the names of which are listed at the end of this book under the title of ' References ') contain the most specific possible senses in Arabic and English languages. These have been considered and applied to produce the closest meaning to the Word of Allah and the commentary. The translator did his best to preserve this Divine Message and, in conveying the Qur'ānic facts in English, there has been some divine assistance bestowed (by Allah) through seeking help from the Messenger of Allah, the holy Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), who brought this Message .to light

The translator of the current commentary, this writer, believes that the Word of Allah, the Holy Qur'ān, which is one of the two weights `Thaqalayn`, is too magnificent for him to translate, because of the fear of Allah, and he needed a kind of permission from Him to change the original text from Arabic into another language which, somehow, was finally granted to him by the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) : " Verily this is a revelation from the Lord of the Worlds ", " In .(the perspicuous Arabic tongue " , (۲۶: ۱۹۲ and ۱۹۵

? ' What is a ` Commentary

،A pure, correct, accurate translation of the Qur'ān is necessary

but it is not sometimes enough for the readers of it to understand all of the apparent and hidden meanings that some verses bear, and, it is the duty of every Muslim, man or woman, to read, understand and contemplate on the Holy Qur'ān according to his own capacity: "...read you, therefore, of the Qur'ān as much as may be easy for .(you..." , (۷۳: ۲۰

This reading has to be done not only with the tongue, voice and eyes; a mere recitation, but with the best light that our intellect can supply, and even more, with the truest and purest light which our heart and conscience can provide us. But, as was mentioned earlier, it is not always possible to understand the Holy Book by itself, fully, as Allah says: " That is indeed a Qur'ān most honourable," " Which none shall touch .(but those who are purified " , (۵۶: ۷۷,۷۹

Thus, some additional information is needed. For example, it is sometimes necessary for the understanding of the text to refer to the particular occasion of the revelation of a particular verse; or to know the philological changes of a word used at the time of revelation or before it and the meaning that it has in Arabic, today. Or, the alphabetical symbols which evidently and undoubtedly are secrets, and especially the ambiguous / mutašābihāt /, the knowledge of which has been announced to be with the / rāsixūna fil `ilm /, ` those deeply established in knowledge ', with even the names of the hinted custodians of the knowledge to remain concealed. They are some things that only `the particular ones, the sinless ones ', besides the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), himself, the agency or the sources authorized by Allah and the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) viz, Ahlul-Bait who were connected to the knowledge of Allah, (as He says: " And whom We had taught knowledge from Our own Presence " (۱۸: ۶۵), ) knew about all the Qur'ānic facts and talked about them in their traditions and narrations

p:٢٠

For instance, the Apostle, himself, answered the questions which used to be asked by people as to the meaning of certain words in the verses revealed, or details of certain historical or spiritual matters on which they sought more enlightenment. These answers and explanations, or, in other words, the commentaries were gathered by some Companions / aṣḥāb / and were afterwards written down which are called ' Ḥadīth ' or ' traditions '. Of course, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) had openly declared in Ḥadīth-uth-Thaqalayn that the Qur'ān is with the Ahlul-Bait, and to avoid going astray, the Muslims should be attached to these two. Later, Ahlul-Bait's explanations and narrations, concerned with the matter, were added to them and, together with the effect of expert religious scholars in the past and present, brought up ' Exegesis ' (explanation of the Qur'ān) which became a science in itself and was called ' Tafsīr ',
.commentary

Commentary ' shows how a group of verses or a particular verse was revealed to ' the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) for a particular occasion which also has a general meaning. The particular occasion and the particular people concerned have passed away, but the general meaning and its application remain true for all time, to enlighten the world, thoroughly. This is also one of the miracles of this Divine Book that, with the help of ' commentary ', the Qur'ān is always open and it .is always new for those new generations to come

The Current Commentary

As was mentioned earlier, the light of Islam is enlightening the corners everywhere in the world and seekers of truth, having referred to the translations of the Holy Qur'ān, ' find that they need ' Tafsīr '
.commentary

Some of them, the Shi`ah believers in particular, have been led to this Center, Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) Library, which received many letters requesting a clear, concise ' English Tafsīr, ' a commentary of the Holy Qur'ān

From the beginning of Islam until today (although many times the Holy Qur'ān has been translated into English and a few of them are published with brief, detailed commentary, as footnotes), there has rarely been, as far as we know, a fairly complete commentary in English sufficient for seekers of truth to find their answers. So, the decision was made to supply this commentary

Ayatullah `Allamah Mujāhid Al-Hāj Sayyid Kamāl Faghīh Imānī, the founder and responsible party of this Islamic Scientific Research Center, approached and reported the need for the commentary in English to the concerning scholars and appropriate research societies. Then, ۱۲ people, who had varying nationalities and educational backgrounds, especially from the point of English language and Islamic Theology, gathered. In their first gathering which was held on ۲۸th Safar, ۱۴۱۲ (۱۳۷۰ H. and ۱۹۹۱), they concluded that the commentary of the whole Qur'ān which they intended to supply in English, would take many years of time for the translators to produce

In order to quench the thirst of the lovers of Truth who had demanded it again and again, they decided to supply the translation of the commentary of the last section of the Qur'ān as a sample and after its publication and receiving the constructive comments of the readers, then, with better skillfulness, this writer (or writers), would continue the translation of the commentary from the beginning of the Holy Qur'ān to provide a complete one

Therefore, they thought it would be better that the sample, entitled `An Enlightening Commentary into the Light of the Holy Qur'ān', begin with Sura Insān, the end of the ۳۰th Section, because the Qur'ān was revealed for the improvement of Man and this Sura is about Man and his creation from a lowly life-germ which can develop unto the highest points where no other creature can ascend

But at the time of initiation, viz. when the translation of the commentary of the Qur'ān actually began, the number of the involved people dwindled down to two, the translator and the editor, who continued the endeavour until the English translation of the commentary of the thirtieth part of the Qur'ān was finished and then offered it to the truth seekers of the world in two volumes

Thanks to Allah, the Gracious, in addition to the extraordinary abundant appreciations and encouragements of the dear readers of these books from different parts of the world in their thousands of letters, the first and the second volumes of this commentary not only were elected nationally as the best translated books in Iran

p:۲۲

AH. and again in ۱۹۹۶ AD, ۱۴۱۷ / ۱۳۷۵ AH.) but, according to some eye ۱۳۷۴ / ۱۴۱۶ witnesses and many letters from various universities and scientific religious centers in the world, they have also been considered, up to now, the newest, most unique outstanding pioneer works of their kind and are used as authentic reference books of Islamic theology based on the view points of Ahlul-Bait (a.s.). Furthermore, they have been selected to be taught as English text books in some universities and religious schools in different Eastern and Western countries, even in England. Therefore, we ought to be very thankful to Allah Who let the Light of His Word spread so brightly and effectively thereby. All of these favours, of course, were the best spiritual worldly reward for this mortal and a form of encouragement to begin the endeavour from the beginning of the Qur'ān as was previously designed and decided. By the help of Allah (s.w.t.), he, as a translator, finished the translation of the current volume by himself, as he did the former volumes. Also, the investigation of the materials and verification of the conformity of them with their original sources was another achievement for him added to the auspicious task of translation. Yet, he believes and usually murmurs .by himself: " And my success (in my task) can only come from Allah

(In Him do I trust, and unto Him do I look." (۱۱: ۸۸

There have been, of course, some others such as the scholars, the editor, the library officials, the computer data entry operator and typist, those printing house-personell, etc. who sincerely had a share in the concerning activities until these published books .became ready to be delivered to the dear readers

Hence, we are completely grateful for their efforts and extend our thanks for their attempts as well as to those who financially or mentally and idealistically had any kind .of involvement and cooperation in this work

Attributes Needed for Working on This Kind of Commentary

This endeavour needed not only the knowledge and skillfulness in the English language, but also the knowledge of Arabic, Persian, and Islamic science and culture, because Tafsīr is an attempt to analyze and

,explain the meaning of verses in the Holy Qur'ān. Moreover, Allah Himself, says: " We have sent down to thee the book explaining all things, a

.(verse ٨٩

Then, it needs that those involved have sufficient understanding about almost all sciences and knowledge that human beings are concerned with when working with the commentary. Also, besides their structure, the phonetic sound systems of the two languages, English and Arabic, are different. Therefore, when an Arabic word from the Qur'ān is mentioned in the English text, to avoid using ' Arabic Script ' in the book, as far as possible, it is shown with the phonetic alphabet and in its special phonetical sign, i.e

A transliteration table of the Arabic letters and sounds and the corresponding phonetic signs, applied in this book, is given at the beginning of the book, (p. ٣١

The Problems in Translating

The translator has tried to avoid mixing up his own personal theories and conclusions with the interpretation of the text, itself, which is usually perfectly perspicuous as it claims to be. With the help of Allah, he did his best; at times asking for guidance from some learned clergymen, and using all the knowledge and experience he possessed in the service of the Holy Qur'ān for translating its commentary, hoping that Allah accepts it. But the nature of this sort of endeavour is so that, in the course of translation, some difficulties arise from various causes. For instance, cultures in the Arabic language and English language are different so that some of the words like / amrun bayn al amrayn / in the case of fatalism and freewill are nearly impossible to be translated into English; or because the concept is not found in English literature, it is sometimes rather difficult with, for example, what /sajdah/ ' prostration ' exactly means in Arabic. In such cases he selected the meaning of the words from among what the earlier commentators and philologists used and, also, where they were not unanimous, he used the ideas of the new writers who had reasonable advantages in their interpretations. Explanations, of course, are always helpful in conveying clear meanings, which he took benefit from, too

It is noteworthy that there are some circumstances in the text, of the commentary, in which a verse or verses of the Qur'ān from other

Suras rather than the Sura under discussion are mentioned as evidence or, thereby, for strengthening the idea. The text of these verses and, also, the traditions and narrations from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or

Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) are printed in English in bolder type than the running commentary in order to distinguish, at a glance, the substance from the shadow. Also, the mentioned verses are generally and subtly or roughly taken provisionally from A. Yusuf Ali's translation or other translations of the Qur'ān, the list of which is given at the end of the book. These verses should be changed or re-adjusted to those translations done by the writer in this book when the translation of the commentary of the Qur'ān ends

It Was Only By His Merciful Will

The translator has interesting factual stories to tell of how the way of this endeavour was paved by Providence and how he was divinely led to be absorbed into this task, Alhamd-u-lillah. A few words given here, in this regard, are not to be misunderstood as a display of vanity for any peculiar distinction; for there is none

It is purely to attract the attention of the readers to a living instance of the Providential implementation of the divine plan and how man drifts to his assignment and how matters are automatically manipulated, though, they seem yet only to be circumstantial. " ... Our Lord is He Who gave to each (created) thing its form and (nature and further gave (it) guidance." (۲۰: ۵۰

For example, once, on a night, the writer of these lines, the translator, had seen in a dream that the Holy Qur'ān, was placed, honourably, on a high position, wide open, high above a very great crowd of people amongst whom he was standing, watching. The full name of his was clearly written in the midst of the writings on the right page of it with magnificent bold letters

The dream was obviously a good one, but it did not have any particularly vivid meaning to him at that time

It was approximately four years before he found out, in the course of translating the commentary of verses ۱۱-۱۶ from Sura `Abasa, No. ۸۰, both the meaning of that true dream and the cause of later eventual changes in his career of twenty years, as a manager of a profitable Foreign Language Center, thanks to Allah. It is always true what the Qur'ān says: " You will not unless Allah wills, surely Allah is All-Knowing

(All-Wise." (٧٤:٣٠

By His graceful arrangement, this writer was separated from almost all his material gains, of this fleeting world, to be set toward the assured, perfect, pure, spiritual rewards of the next, everlasting world from Him, Allah Willing. When he began translating the commentary of the Qur'ān and entered this great Divine Ocean of Light, he found out that from earlier times such a success had been appointed and bestowed upon him by Allah. Therefore, all changes and graceful arrangements are directly from Him and it was His helpful Will that planned His graceful design and showered the ability and insight upon him to lead him to the present point. He is eagerly in hopes that He will help him and guide him in all cases to complete the task successfully so that He accepts it from him

Now, Alhamd-u-lillah, that the translation of the commentary of this part of the Qur'ān has been completed and handed to you, the dear reader, you are, in advance, honourably asked to, firstly, forgive whatever mistakes or typographical errs you may find in it, and, secondly, inform them clearly, if any, to the publisher's address, with your evidence or point of view to be utilized and the material be corrected in later prints

Finally, prayer is offered to Almighty Allah that He may endow the translator with life and strength enough to live to complete the series of this humble effort successfully under His Merciful confirmation and acceptance; and may He allow this book to go what small distance it can towards our ultimate salvation. Amin

The swelling, surging revolution of the Iranian Muslim nation has an essentially specific culture which is based on and has flourished because of adherence to the monotheistic school of thought, the Qur'ān, Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) and other Islamic theology. The nation of Iran has revolutionized in order to revive and expand that culture. One of the bases of this goal among the youth and other interested citizens (people) is the establishment of public scientific research centers wherein the means of study and research of Islamic science and culture are made available

Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali(a.s.) Public Library and Religious Scientific Research Center in Isfahan is one of these centers, which, from its earliest days of establishment, in addition to achieving this aim, has continuously had a share, as far as possible, in the publication of the works of some Shi`ah scholars from Iran as well as others in the world. The subject matter of these useful books were different. It commenced with the publication of an outstanding Islamic work on the subject of Imāmate. This work was comprised of two books containing some chosen materials from ۵۶ separate treatises composed by the leading traditionists of the Sunnite school of thought about Imam Mahdi, Allah's remaining emissary, and offered to the esteemed clerical class and all those interested in science and knowledge. Since then, this institute has published thirty one other valuable religious, scientific research works in Arabic and .Farsi

When these publications were distributed in different parts of the world, as one factor, together with the reflection of the social, cultural and religions revolution of Iran, they introduced this country as the `heart ' of the Islamic world. Therefore, those who love Islam and the Qur'ān and are interested in the school of thought of Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) communicated with this scientific research center from a variety of nationalities, races, and colours all over the world by way of letters, Fax messages, and telephone calls to demand that this beloved message, i.e., the Qur'ān and Islamic theology, which is the ideal of the truth-seekers of the world, be published in their own languages. ` The commentary of the Qur'ān in English ' was included among the demands of many people. Hence, the Founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the

the grand leader of the revolution, and the master of the affairs of Muslims, the Late Honorable Ayatullah-il-`Uzmā Al-Imam Khomeinī (s.a.), was informed of the immediate circumstance. He responded: "This idea ought to be put to action as soon as possible. The translation of the commentary of the Holy Qur'ān in English, as well as in other possible languages, should be made available to the knowledgeable ones and lovers of Islam and the Qur'ān." He even continued by saying: " There is much to ".be done and so little time

Imam Khomeinī (R.) was a man of knowledge, interested in study and research, a learned clergyman, a high ranking philosopher, and a grand unique politician who had attained his nourishment from the pure

.Fountain of Monotheism, the Qur'ān, and Ahlul-Bait's (a.s.) doctrine

He was truly a lover of Islam and the Qur'ān and a genuine follower of Ahlul-Bait's (a.s.) knowledge and teachings. The magnificence of his thought and his sincerity to the Qur'ān and Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) is apparent in his statements contained in ' the Last Message ' which is his last politico-divine will and testament. In this remaining work of his, after a notable explanation about the well-known holy tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " I leave behind me two weighty (very worthy and important) things: the Book of Allah (i.e. the Qur'ān) and my progeny, my Ahlul-Bait. Never, never will these two get separated from each other

" ... (until they meet me at the Haud of Kauthar (the Pond of Abundance

:Imam Khomeinī adds

We are honored and our beloved nation, which is totally committed to Islam and " Qur'ān, is honored t hat it wants to liberate the truths of the Qur'ān, which from end-to-end calls for the unity of Muslims and the entire humanity, from graveyards and cemeteries and present it as the greatest prescription for liberation from the chains which are wrapped around the hands, feet, hearts, and minds of human beings and drag them towards non-existence and destruction, slavery and subjugation to the Taqootis. We are honored that we are the followers of a madhab (school of religious

law) whose founder, on Allah's direction, was Allah's prophet and Ameer ul-Mu'meneen 'Ali Ibn Abi Tālib, this servant of Allah who was himself liberated from all chains and was designated, in turn, as the liberator of mankind from all chains of .(slavery (to other than Allah

We are honored that Nahjul Balagha, which after the Qur'ān is the greatest prescription for spiritual and material life, is the highest book for the liberation of mankind, and its spiritual and political prescriptions are the most valuable for liberation, is authored by our Ma'soom Imam

We are honored that the Ma'soom Imams from 'Ali Ibn Abi Tālib to the Liberator of mankind (A.S.) who with the power of Allah is alive and supervises all affairs, are our Imams. We are honored that the supplications, which are called the ascending Qur'ān are from our Ma'soom Imams

We are honored that the intimate prayers of Sha'banieya, the supplications of 'Arafat of Hossein Ibn 'Ali, Saheefa Sajjadiya (this Psalms of Āle Mohammad), and Saheefa Fatimah (which is an Allah-inspired book to Zahrāye Mardieya) are from us

We are honored that Baqir ul 'Ulūm, who is the highest personality of history and no one, other than Allah Ta'ala and the Prophet (S.A.W.A.W.S.) and the Ma'soom Imams, has been or will ever be able to understand his station is from us. And we are honored that our madhab is Ja'afari and that our Fiqh which is an infinite sea (of knowledge) is one of his (Imam Ṣādiq a.s.) contributions. And we are proud of all Ma'soom Imams (a.s.) and we are committed to following them

We are honored that our Ma'soom Imams (a.s.) lived in prisons and exile because they tried to raise the status of the Deen of Islam and implement the (teachings) of the Holy Qur'ān, one of whose dimensions is the formation of the Just Government, and finally became martyrs in attempts to irradicate oppressive governments and Taqootis of their own time. Today we are honored that we want to implement the ideals of the Qur'ān and Sunnah. For the sake of this magnanimous end, our people selflessly sacrifice their lives, properties, and loved ones in the Way of Allah

We are honored that our women, young and old, big and small, weak and strong, are present and work, side by side or even better than our men, in raising the status of

"... Islam and achieving the ideals of Islam in cultural, economic, and military fields

Hence, according to our Islamic religious and social duty, we took action towards the publication of the English version of the commentary of the Qur'ān. After three years of effort and endeavour on the part of all who were involved in the completing of this work, the first print of the first and second volumes of this commentary consisting of the thirtieth part (Juz') of the Holy Qur'ān entitled: ' An Enlightening Commentary into the Light of the Holy Qur'ān ' was urgently distributed throughout the world. These two volumes were so ardently and well received by the thirsty readers that over the following one and a half years we had to reprint them four times and, as a result, fortunately it happened that this Religious Research Center has been honoured to happily welcome more than four thousand letters received from various addresses all over the world, including those in European countries, different states of America, and many sites in Asia, Africa and Australia. The people of these locales, those busy in universities, research centers, and other similar institutes, or even in prisons, whose letters are all available in this library, frequently asked for these commentary books. They liked them very much and appreciated them abundantly, so much so that we .cannot evaluate its depth or extent

Now, by the might and strength of Allah, this most recent volume is presented to the lovers of Monotheism, the Qur'ān, and the Islamic theology hoping that it will be favourably accepted by Allah, the Merciful, and also be specifically regarded by His remaining emissary, the Expected Mahdī (May Allah hasten his glad advent) and, finally, be received by his true deputies, i.e., the grand ' marāji' taqlīd ' (sources of imitation) especially the great leader of the revolution and master of Muslims' affairs .at the present time: Ayatullah-il-Uzmā Sayyid Ali Khāminehee

p:٣٢

Sura Al-Fatiḥah (The Opening) No. 1

Point

(Verses ٧)

In The Name of Allah, The Beneficent, The Merciful

Contents of the Sura

Point

The Holy phrase `In The Name of Allah, The Beneficent, The Merciful' / bism-il-lāh-ir-raḥmān-ir-raḥīm / is, in fact, mentioned both at the onset of the Qur'ān and at the beginning of every Sura, except Sura ٩, (Sura Taubah - Repentance). And, since the purpose of Allah's Word, i.e. the whole Qur'ān, is to guide people; as Sura Al-Mā'idah, No. ٥, verses ١٥-١٦ say : "...Indeed, there has come to you a light and a clear Book from Allah ", " With it Allah guideth him who follows His pleasure to the ways of peace and safety ..."; therefore, this guidance, being a grant and a fundamental principle, begins .with Allah's Holy Name

This Sura, among all Suras of the Qur'ān, has an extraordinary radiance which : originates from the following merits

: The Tone of the Sura .1

This Sura, The Opening, in comparison with other Suras of the Qur'ān regarding its tone and melody, has a particular style which is clearly different and extraordinary. The other Suras contain instructions from Allah, Who gives commands and admonishments to His servants, but, in this Sura, His words are uttered on behalf of the servants. In other words, in this Sura, Allah has taught His servants how to .supplicate and speak to Him, simply and without a mediator

: Al-Fātiḥah, the Basis of the Qur'ān .٢

It is narrated that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has said : " By the One, in Whose hand is my soul, Allah has not sent down a similar Sura to this Sura (Al-Fātiḥah), neither in the Turah, nor in the Gospel, nor in the Psalms, nor even in the Qur'ān, and it is Umm-ul-Kitāb ";(۱) which means that it is .the basis and origin of all excellence

In fact, besides referring to the Resurrection, this Sura presents facts concerning the Unity of the Divine Essence, Unity of Attributes, Unity of Divine Acts, and Unity of .Worship. It is the essence of the whole meaning of the Qur'ān

It is narrated from Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) that : " All secrets of Allah are in Divine Books; and the contents of all those Divine Books are comprised in the Qur'ān; and what is found in the Qur'ān is condensed in Sura Al-Fātiḥah, and what is in Al-Fātiḥah is gathered in /bismillāh /, and what is in / bismillāh / is concentrated in /b/, (the (first letter of ` Bism-il-lāh ' )..." (۲)

Based on the entirety of great commentators' statements, it is understood that this tradition indicates clearly the importance of both the Holy Qur'an and /bismillah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim / in which science and knowledge, from the beginning to the end, is comprised. The interpreter and elucidator of these sciences is the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), and after him there are his true vicegerents including Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali
(a.s.). (۳)

: (Al-Fatihah, Magnificent Honour of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) (۴)

Sura Al-Fatihah, more so than the other Suras in the Holy Qur'an, was revealed to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) as a great bounty. It stands on a par with the whole Qur'an. The :seven verses in the Sura the sum up the whole Quran

And We have bestowed on the the even Oft-repeated (verses) and the Grand“ Qur'an", (Sura Al-Hijr, No. ۱۵, verse ۸۷). This meaning is also referred to in a narration from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) quoting the Prophet's (p.b.u.h.) tradition who said :" Verily, Allah, the Exalted, has bestowed (His) favours on me particularly for 'The Opening '(Al-Fatihah) and has positioned it on a par with the whole Grand Qur'an, and surely Fatihat-ul-Kitāb (the Opening of the Qur'an) is the dearest (item) in the treasures of the Arsh, (Throne of

: The Importance of its Recitation .۴

The recitation of this Sura, because of its extreme importance, is frequently emphasized in Islamic traditions and narrations

As for its virtue, it is narrated from the holy Prophet(p.b.u.h.) that: " The reward of any Muslim who recites the Sura Opening 's is like that of a person who has recited two thirds of the Qur'an, and so much reward would he receive as if he has given every (believing Muslim, man or woman, a free will offering" (۲

There are ten titles given to this Sura, as taken from Islamic narrations and commentary books, thus: Fatihat-ul-Kitab, Umm-ul-Kitab, Umm-ul-Qur'an, Sab-ul-Mathāni, Al-Wafiyah, Al-Kafiyah, Ash-Shafiyah, Al-Asās, Aş-Şalāt, and Al-Hamd.(۳

Commentary : Verse 1

Everything should begin in his holy name

It is a custom among most people of the world to recite the name of one of their great and very beloved personalities that the worthiness of their work might be elevated. That is, they relate that work to that personality from the very beginning of their .endeavour

Among all beings, the One Who is eternal is only Allah, and, therefore, everything and every activity should begin with His Holy Name. It should be enveloped in His Light, and help should be always asked only from Him. So, in the first verse of the Qur'an, we recite 'Bism-illah-ir-Rahmān-ir-Rahim' ( In The Name of Allah, The Beneficent, The Merciful ). This action should not be done only with the tongue, but it should be done truly and meaningfully, because this kind of connection with Him sets work in the right direction and keeps it far from any deviation. For this very reason, such a work will certainly be successful and blessed

Traditions and Narrations

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), in a tradition, has said: Any important work that begins (without mentioning / bismillah I, will remain invalid.)

After narrating this tradition, Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) added: "For every action that a person wants to do, he/she should recite / bismillah-ir-rahmān-ir-rahim I, which means that he/she begins the action with the Name of Allah, and every action (that begins with the Name of Allah is blessed."

On the excellence and importance of / bism-il-lah /, it is narrated from All-ibn-Musa-r-Rida (a.s.), who has said thus: " (The holy phrase "Bism-il-lāh-ir-Rahmān-ir-Rahim' is (closer to the Exalted Name of Allah than the pupil is to the white of the eye "

Again, Ibn-Abbas narrates from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) thus: "As soon as a teacher tells a child to say 'Bism-il-lah-ir-Rahmān-ir-Rahim' and the child says it, Allah records (immunity (from fire) for the child, his or her parents and the teacher"

Imam Sadiq (a.s.) has said: "No Holy Book ever came down from heaven but that it (began with 'Bism-il-lah-ir-Rahmān-ir-Rahim."

In 'Khisal' by Shaykh Sadaq it is cited that Imam Baqir (a.s.) has said: "... When we begin an action, great or small, it is appropriate to recite bism-il-lah-ir-rahmān-ir(rahim, and that action may be blessed "

.In short, the stability and permanence of an action is due to this very relation to Allah

The phrase / bism-il-lah / at the start of the Sura, teaches us to seek the help of Allah from His pure perfect Essence when we begin any action. That is why Allah, the Exalted, in the first verses revealed to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) instructed him to – proclamation of Islam – perform this great task with the Name of Allah: Proclaim in the Name of your Lord..." (Sura Al-'Alaq, No. 96, verse 1); and the words of Noah (a.s.) to his followers, at the time of the Flood are: "So he said: 'Embark ye on the Ark, in the Name of Allah, whether it moves or be at rest! ...'" (Sura Hus, No. 11, verse 41). Again, Soloman's letter to the Queen of Sheba begins, thus: "It is from Soloman, and is (as follows): 'In The Name of Allah, The Beneficent, The Merciful'" (Sura An-Naml, No. 27, verse 30).

Based on the same principle, all of the Suras of the Holy Qur'an, (except Sura At-Taubah, No. 9) begin with / bism-il-lah / (1) in order to pursue the essential aim of guiding man and leading him to prosperity with success, far from getting a taste of defeat.

In any event, when we begin our work with reliance upon the Supreme Power of Allah, Whose Power is above all power, we feel, psychologically speaking, far more powerful; therefore, we may be more confident. We may try more, be more persevering, and more courageous in challenging with difficulties, more hopeful, and, similarly, our intentions and the essence of our actions may be more purified. At the time of beginning any affair, reciting the Name of Allah is the secret to its success.

To whatever extent we further explain this verse, it will still be seen insufficient, because, according to a narration, Hadrat Ali (a.s.), regarding the commentary of the verse, talked to Ibn-Abbas from the beginning of a night until the next morning, but it was only for the commentary of /b/, the first letter of / bism-il-lah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim/. (2)

***

: Explanation

? Is the Phrase Bism-il-lah'a Part of Each Sura

Almost all Islamic scholars unanimously hold the opinion that / bism-il-lah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim/ is, as was stated before, a part of Sura

./The phrase /bism-il-h/ is used as a contraction of /bism-il-lah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim ۱ –۱
Makhzan-ul-'Irfan, vol. ۱, p. ۲۸ ۲ –۲

Al-Fatihah and, also, of the other Suras of the Qur'an (exc At-Taubah, No. ٩). In essence, the inclusion of /bism-il-lah/ at the beginning of all Suras of the Holy Qur'an, except the above mentioned one, is a vital piece of evidence bearing witness to this very fact, and the belief is so firm that no change has been made in the Qur'an and .(nothing has been added to it since it was revealed to the Prophet of Islam (p.b.ueh

Allah, the Most Inclusive Name of God

Mu'awiyat-ibn-Ammar, one of the companions of Imam Sadia (a s.), said that he had asked the Imam whether he should say bism-il-lah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim / at the beginning of Sura Al-Fatihah when he stood for prayer, and he (a.s.) replied: " Yes ". He had questioned him (a.s.), again, as to if he should recite /bism-il-lah/ when Sura Al-Fatihah ended and before reciting the next Sura. Then, Imam Sadiq (as.), again, \(answered: " Yes" \)

Dar Qutni, a Muslim learned researcher, according to a sound document, narrates from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) that someone asked him (a.s.):" What is As-Sab-al-Mathani (Seven Verses)?" " It is Sura Al-Hamd "he (a.s.) answered. The man said: " Sura Al-Hamd consists of six verses". He (a s.) replied: " Bism-illah-ir-Rahmān-ir-\(Rahim 'is also one verse." \)

Moreover, Muslims have always preserved the practice of reciting / bism-il-lah-ir-rahman-ir-rahim / at the beginning of every Sura (except Sura ٩ ) when reciting the Holy Qur'an, and it has been proven, on numerous accounts, that the holy Prophet .(p.b.u.h.) used to recite it, too

It has been said that Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) was asked to say whether / bism-il-lah-ir-rahmān-ir-rahim / was a part of Sura Al-Fatihah. He (a.s.) answered: " Yes, the Messenger of Allah used to recite it and considered it one verse (of the verses) of the Sura, and he said that 'Fatihat-ul-Kitab (The Opening) is the same as (seven \(verses\)," )

Allah, the Most Inclusive Name of God

The term /ism/ in the phrase /bism-il-lah/, as men of letters in Arabic literature say, is originally derived from /sumuww/ with the meaning of 'height, elevation'. The reason why any 'noun' is called by appellation is that after choosing to call a 'noun' by the particular given 'name' (ism), the hidden meaning of the expression appears, and The sense of the 'name' is elevated, therefore forsaking meaninglessness

In the phrase /bism-il-lah/, the word Allah is the most complete and comprehensive name among the Lord's many names. This is because each of Allah's names, which are found in the Holy Qur'an, as well as in other Islamic sources, truly reflects one particular aspect of Allah's Attributes. In other words, the only name that refers to all of His Attributes of Glory and Beauty, is Allah. That is why other names are often used as modifiers for the word 'Allah'. For example, "Allah is oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful", (Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ٢٢٤), refers to Allah's forgiveness; ".Allah heareth and knoweth all things", (No. ٢, verse ٢٢٧) shows His being well-acquainted with what is audible and what comes to pass, respectively; " And Allah sees well all that you do", (Sura Al-Hujurat, No. ٤٩, verse ١٥) states that He has information on everything that is done by anyone; "Surely Allah is He Who gives (all) sustenance, the Lord of Power, steadfast (for ever)", (Sura Ath-Thariyat, No. ٥١, verse ٥٨) points to His giving sustenance to all creatures and, at the same time, discloses that He is powerful and firm in His actions

And, finally, Sura Al-Hashr, No. ٥٩, verses ٢٣, ٢٤ reveals some other Attributes of Allah. The terms 'Creator' and 'Evolver' are suggestive of His creativeness and inventiveness, and 'Bestower of Forms' indicates His giving shapes: " Allah is He, than Whom there is no other god;-the Sovereign, the Holy One, the Source of Peace (and Perfection), the Guardian of Faith, the Preserver of Safety, the Exalted in Might, the Irresistible, the Supreme (in creating all creatures)...." "He is Allah, the Creator, the ....Evolver, the Bestower of Forms, to Him belong the Most Beautiful Names

Another piece of evidence which is a clear indication that this Name, Allah is all-inclusive is that the acceptance of Faith, in Islam, is possible only by reciting the sentence: / la ilaha illallah/" There is no god but Allah"; and each of the other phrases such as: All-Knowing or Creator', or 'Bestower of Sustenance, and the like, alone is not sufficient enough to proclaim as evidence of Monotheism in Islam. And, that is why in religions other than Islam, the God of Muslims is referred to as 'Allah', because it is only Muslims who use 'Allah' to refer to .what they do worship

:Allah's General and Specific Mercy

The words ar-Rahmān' (The Beneficent) and 'ar-Rahim (The Merciful) are adjectives, both derived from far-Raḥmah' (Mercy). The former word, the Beneficent, as it is popularly recognized among some commentators, refers to the General Mercy of Allah which is bestowed upon all creatures, among them are the believers and the disbelievers, good-doers and evildoers. And, as we can see, the Divine bounties of life are distributed everywhere and all human beings enjoy the endless merits therein. This is their sustenance. They draw it out of the abundant blessings encompassing the .whole world of existence

The word 'ar-Rahim' (The Merciful) refers to that Specific Mercy that is endowed upon the believing, obedient servants alone. The believers, because of their true belief, good actions, and faithful active obedience, deserve this special, exclusive mercy, of .which the disbelievers are deprived

The particular fact ratifying this topic is that the word Rahmān is always used in the Qur'an with the meaning of an infinite form of mercy, which is a sign of its generality, while the word Rahim sometimes used with the meaning of a finite form, which is a sign of its specificity such as: "... And He is full of Mercy to the Believers", (SUTA Al-Ahzab, No. ٣٣, verse ٤٣). And it is sometimes used in an in form such as in Sura Al-Fatihah .Fatihah

A narration from Imam Sadiq (a.s.) says: " Allah is the God of all things and is Beneficent to all His creatures, and He is Merciful, especially to the believers." \(1\)

Therefore, at the moment that we initiate any action, when we begin with the Name of Allah, we must seek His Mercy, General and Specific Mercy, both

It is interesting to note that this power, which has a broad concept much the same as gravitational pull, and has the ability to draw hearts closer together, is the very Attribute of Mercy. This Attribute of Mercy is the very means by which men can attain a close relationship with the Creator, also

That is why true believers, when reciting the holy verse bism-il-lah-ir-rahmān-ir-rahim, at the beginning of their affairs, detach their hearts from everything else and rely only upon Allah, and seek help only from Him, because He is the only One Whose Mercy is 'All-Encompassing' and no creature is deprived of it

Another fact that can also be understood from / bism-il-lah / is that Allah's acts are based on Mercy, and, punishment has an exceptional aspect which will not be fulfilled unless there are some exact, clear reasons for it

When we recite the supplication entitled, 'Jaushan Kabir', Section ۲۰ thus : " O'Lord, Whose Mercy surpasses His Wrath..." the above point becomes clear

Human beings should attach importance to mercy and affection and behave accordingly in their daily lives and use violence and harshness only for those times when it is clearly warranted

We conclude this discussion with a tradition, rich in meaning, from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), who, when commenting on the many different kinds of His All-Encompassing Mercy, said: "Verily, there are one hundred mercies belonging to Allah, from which, He has sent down to the Earth only one and distributed that one among His creatures. All the mercy and affection they have, issue from it. He, the Merciful, withheld the other ۹۹ for Himself to show mercy upon His servants on the Day of

Majma'-ul-Bayān, vol. ١, p. ٢١٢ -٢

All) praise is (only) Allah's, the Lord of the Worlds) *

The World is Full of His Mercy

After reciting the phrase / bism-il-lah-ir-Rahmān-ir-Rahim/ I, to begin the Sura, our first duty is to bring to mind the Great Creator and Cherisher of the world of being, and His endless bounties which have surrounded us thoroughly. In doing so, it is both 'a guide ' for us to observe the existence of Providence and 'a motive 'for showing our .servitude and worship to Him

It is 'a motive' because any man, after receiving a gift, wishes to know its giver at once, in order to show his gratitude and thankfulness to him. This quality is in man's .innate disposition prompting him to manifest his acknowledgment of Him

This same quality in man, in discussing the theological motives of 'the necessity of expressing thankfulness to the Bestower', according to what man's nature and .rationale leads him to, is considered one of those motives

And it is a guide to knowing the Lord and His bounties, because the best and the most direct way towards the acknowledgment of the Origin is the study of the secrets of .creation, especially, the existence o the bounties of life as related to human beings

Therefore, perhaps, it is for these two reasons that Sura Al-Fatihah, alongside /bism-il-lah/, begins thus:" (All) praise is (only Allah's, the Lord of the Worlds

Or, in other words, the verse" (All) praise is (only) Allah's, Lord of the Worlds" points to .both the Unity of Divine Essence, and Unity of Divine Attributes and Acts

Originally, qualifying Allah (s.w.t.), here, with the po /rabb-il-'alamin/ (the Lord of the Worlds) is, in fact, mentioni reason after stating the claim. It seems that someone has asked praise is (only) Allah's, and the response is that it is for the reason that .He is the Lord of the Worlds

This is one of the characteristics of Allah. In another occurrence, the Holy Qur'an says: "He Who has made every thing when He has created most good ...." (Sura As-Sajdah, (No. ٣٢, verse ٧

And again, in Sura Hus, No. ١١. verse ٤, it says: " There is no moving creature on the ...earth but its sustenance depends on Allah

It is, also, clearly understood from the word /al-hamd/, 'praise, used in this verse, that Allah has created all these bounties and benefits, basically, by His Choice and His Will

It is interesting to note that by stating the phrase, '(All) praise (only) Allah's, it is not only helpful to use it for the commencement of affairs, but, as the Qur'an teaches us, it is also used as a conclusion, like in Sura Yunus, No.١٠, verse ١٠, about the good-doers in Heaven, it says: "(This will be) their cry therein: "Glory to Thee, O God!' And 'peace' will be their greeting therein! And the close of their cry will be: Surely, the "!"Praise is Allah's, the Lord of the Worlds

Virtue of the Verse

Concerning the virtue of this Holy verse, there is a narration from Imam Sadiq (a.s.) which says that in a tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), he has said: " When a believing servant says 'The Praise is (only) Allah's, the Lord of the Worlds, such a praise that befits Him and His Rank, the angels are unable to record it. They will be asked by Allah why they did not record the reward of the phrase which the believing servant stated. Then, in response to their not recording the reward, they will ask how it is that they could even understand and estimate the high standard of saying such a phrase which contains the praise befitting and deserving only to Him. Allah, the Exalted, will tell them that they should record the phrase and it would be for Him to endow the servant with the reward of the praise as befitting Him " (١)

/The word /rabb

The word /rabb/originally means 'the owner of something who proceeds to train and !improve it

This word is absolutely applied to Allah, alone, and if it is

Maani-ul-Akhbar . p. ۳۲, tradition ۸; and, Tafsir Furāt-ul-Kufi, vol. ۱, p. ۵۲ ۱ –۱ applied, in Arabic, for other than Him, it is certainly used in a possessive form, as /rabb-ud-dar / the owner of the house, or /rabb-us-safinab 'the owner of the ship! In any case, the word, itself, conveys the meaning of 'training

There is another idea mentioned in Majma'-ul-Bayān that says: "/rabb/ means: 'an important person whose orders are obeyed.'" However, it is probable that both meanings refer to the same origin

/The term /alamin

The term /alamin/ is the plural form of /alam/ 'The world' and we cite it, here, with the meaning of 'a collection of different creatures with common characteristics or a common time and place'. For example, we say: the world of Man, the world of animals, and the world of plants, or, we say: the world of the East and the world of the West, or the world of today and the world of yesterday. Therefore, when /ālam/, which has a plural sense by itself, is used in a plural form, it refers to the 'universe

The writer of the Al-Manar Commentary says that it is narrated from Imam Sadiq (a.s.) that he has said /'alamin/ means "peoples", only. Then, the writer adds that the term is used in the Qur'an with the same meaning, for example: "...That it may be an admonition to all peoples", (Sura Al-Furqan, No. ۲۵. verse ۱).\(۱\)

It is true that the term /'alamin/ in many occurrences, in the Qur'an, is used with the meaning of 'peoples', but, sometimes, it is also used with a broader scope of meaning which envelops other creatures; for instance: "Then Praise be to Allah, Lord of the heavens and Lord of the earth, -Lord and Cherisher of all the worlds!", (Sura Al-Jathiyah, No. ۴۵. verse ۳۶). And, also, like: "Pharaoh said: "And what is the Lord and Cherisher of the Worlds ?" (Moses) said: 'The Lord and Cherisher of the heavens and (the earth, and all between them ...", (Sura Ash-Shu'ara No. ۲۶, verses ۲۳, ۲۴

It is interesting that in a narration from Hadrat Ali (a.s.), Şaduq has cited in the book "Uyün-ul-Akhbar", that he (a.s.), commenting on the verse, has said: " (The phrase) /'rabb-il-alarnin/ refers to all creatures whether they are inanimate or living"\(۲\)

,There is, of course, no contradiction between these traditions

Al-Manar Commentary, vol. ۱, p. ۵۱ ۱-۱

Nur-uth-Thaqalayn Commentary, vol. ۱, p. ۱۷ ۲-۲

because, although the meaning of the term /'alamin/ is very vast, Man is the most significant being among all creatures of the world, so, he is sometimes especially considered the central point of them, and other creatures are dependent upon him and in his shadow. Therefore, when, in the tradition of the Imam (a.s.), the term is rendered into peoples, the reason is that the main purpose of creation, in this great gathering of beings, is Man

macrocosm and microcosm

This point is, also, interesting that some have introduced two forms of /alam/ 'the world': 'the great world' (macrocosm) and the lesser world' (microcosm) by which they refer to Man as 'the lesser world', because the entity of a person alone, is a collection of different powers which govern 'the great world'. In fact,'man' is a sample of the whole world. So Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) in one of his poems, addressing Man, says: "You think that you are a small body, while (you should know that you contain ".the great world' (macrocosm) inside you

One of the factors that causes us to emphasize the vast meaning of / 'alām / the world', is that the term has occurred after the phrase /al-hamd-u-lil-lah/, in which we ,devote all the praise to Allah, only, and

The Lord of the then, we reason our statement with /rabb-il-'alamin/ Worlds! We say the praise is only Allah's, because all perfections, all bounties and all blessings, in this .world, belong to Him, the Lord, the Cherisher

The meaning of /ar-rahmān/' the Beneficent' and /ar-rahim/ the Merciful, together with their broad sense of meaning and the difference between them, was explained at length while commenting on /bism-il-lah/, the repetition of which is not required. \(1\)

I From the collection of Poems of Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali-ibn Abitalib (a.s.). p. ۱۷۵ -۱

A point that should be added to the commentary, here regarding 'ar-Rahman' and 'ar-Rahim', is that these two attributes which are the most significant attributes of Allah, are repeated at least ۳۰ every day, in our (۵) daily prayers, (twice in Sura Al-Fatihahana in the Sura we recite after it). In this way, we praise Allah sixty times as .being 'Merciful' each day

This, indeed, is a lesson taught to all human beings more than anything else that they should try to acquire this attribute, and practice it in their daily lives and activities. Moreover, it points to the fact that if we count ourselves among the true, obedient servants of Allah, we should not follow or imitate the manner in which tyrant slave owners use against their servants when dealing with our servants

The history of slavery indicates that the tyrant owners used to treat their slaves in horrifyingly cruel ways. For example, if a slave moved a little slow in performing services, he would receive harsh punishments: i.e. be whipped, put in chains or fetters, fastened to a mill-stone and forced to turn it, instructed to work in mines, imprisoned in deep, dark, wet holes and, if his faults were greater, he would be .hanged

Another reference in the history of slavery also shows that condemned slaves were put in wild animal cages. If the slave succeeded in staying alive, another animal would .be let in on him

These are some examples of the conduct of some owners with their slaves. But, Allah, the Lord of the Worlds, has mentioned repeatedly, in the Holy Qur'an, that Allah is Oft-Forgiving and Most Merciful to the servants who are repentant of their disobedience to Him. For example: Sura Az-Zumar, No.۳۹, verse ۳ says: "Say: 'O' My servants who have transgressed against their souls! Despair not of the Mercy of Allah: .for Allah forgives all sins, for He is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful

Therefore, the terms 'ar-Rahman' (the Beneficent) and 'ar-Rahim' (the Merciful) used after the phrase /rabb-il-'alamin/ 'the Lord of the Worlds' refer to the idea that, He,

with the absolute Power He has, s yet Merciful to all His creatures. This quality, which Allah possesses, attracts His servants to Him and they eagerly say: 'ar-Rahmān-ir-Rahim, (the Beneficent, the Merciful ## belief in Allah is the first of the five principles of Islam

It is here that one's attention is drawn to the fact that the behaviour of Allah, the Exalted, toward His creatures is, by far, different from that of masters toward their servants, in particular, during the horrible period of slavery

.Therefore, belief in Allah is the first of the five principles of Islam

****

ملك يوم الدين

".Master of the Day of Judgement "

Commentary : Verse ٢

Faith in the Resurrection', the Second Principle

In this verse, attention is paid to the second important principle in Islam, i.e. Resurrection and the Hereafter when it says

".Master of the Day of Judgement"

Thus, the focus of the idea of the Origin and End, which is the main foundation of all ethical and social improvements in Man, reaches the peak of perfection

It is noteworthy, here, that the mastership of Allah, or His Ownership, is pointed out, which illustrates His Sovereignty and Domination over everything and everyone on that Day, when all human beings will attend that Great Court for reckoning, before their real and genuine Master. They will see all their deeds and even their thoughts present without there being aught less than the original or anything forgotten. They will even have to accept their share of responsibility for any customs for which they have merely been the founders of, not necessarily the doers of them

Allah's Ownership

Allah's Ownership, on that Day, is not similar to our imaginary ownership of that which belongs to us from the things of this world. His Ownership, regarding the world of existence, is the real ownership. It is the special dependence of creatures on the Lord and their being in need of Him. If the flow of His blessings ceased even for a single moment, it

.would cause them to perish altogether

In other words, this ownership is the consequence of His Creatorship and Divinity. He, Who creates beings, gives them life every moment and cherishes them, protects them and guides them, is the real master of all creatures. As a matter of fact, He is the .only Ruler of all powers in the world of existence

? Is not Allah the Absolute Owner of this world

There is no doubt that Allah is the Lord of the Worlds . The question to be raised here is this: Is not Allah the Absolute Owner of this world ?' versus our statement to this effect that He is the Master of the Day of Judgement. The answer to this question lies in the fact that the Ownership of Allah though it comprises both worlds, enjoys further manifestation in the Hereafter. This is because all material ties and imaginary ownerships are cut off (in the Hereafter), and no one has anything of his or her own on That Day. Even intercession, if ever achieved, is by Allah's command, as the Qur'an says about the Reckoning Day: "The Day on which no soul shall have aught for (another) soul, and the command That Day shall be (wholly) Allah's" (Sura Al-Infitar, .(No. ٨٢, verse ١٩

In other words, occasions arise, in this world, when one helps another through his or her speech, money, power, advocates, plans, designs, and so on. On That Day (the Hereafter), however, certainly not a single trace of such affairs will exist. Therefore, when people are asked: " Whose will be the Domination This Day ?...", they answer: "... that of Allah, the One, the Almighty!" (Sura Al-Mu'min, No. ٤٠, verse ١٤). This is also an answer to those who reject the idea that when Allah is the Owner of everything why, ! then, He is called the Master of the Day of Judgement

Man, with no belief in the Hereafter and the Day of Reckoning, would have the potential to be the most immoral of beings, the biggest tyrant committing the worst and the most hideous crimes, for, in his view, there is not any one to question or punish him if he is clever enough not to get caught and, with such characteristics, sometimes, it would be so terrible or impossible for other fellow-creatures to continue their lives in this world. Therefore, faith in life after death and the Day of Judgement, which is an essential part of Islam, like prayer, is very helpful in controlling men .against committing sins Emphasizing the Ownership of Allah on the Day of Judgement has this effect, too, that it stands against the disbelief of disbelievers in the Hereafter. It is understood from the verses of the Holy Qur'an that Faith in Allah has been a common belief even among disbelievers in the Age of Ignorance. Sura Luqman, No. ٣١, verse ٢٥ says about them: " If thou ask them, who it is that created the heavens and the earth, they will certainly say: 'Allah...' ", while they did not accept the speech of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) about the Resurrection: " The Unbelievers say (in ridicule): 'Shall we point to you a man that will tell you, when ye are all scattered to pieces in disintegration, that ye shall (then be raised) in a New creation ?'" " Has he invented a falsehood against Allah, (or has a spirit (seized) him ?..." , (Sura Saba, No. ٣٤, verses ٧,٨

A tradition from Imam Sajjad (a.s.) says: " When All-ibn-il-Husayn (a.s.) began reciting Master of the Day of Judgement', he repeated it so many times that he was at the \(point of losing his life" .\(1

The phrase / yaum-id-din /, is repeated more than ten times in the Qur'an, exclusively with the meaning of the Hereafter': "And what makes you know what the Day of Reckoning is ? " " Again, what makes you know what the Day of Reckoning is ? " " The Day on which no soul shall have aught for (another) soul, and the command that Day (shall be (wholly) Allah's " (Sura Al-Infitar, No. ٨٢, verses ١٧-١٩

The phrase yaum-id-din/ is used in the sense of the Day of Judgement', for "That Day' is the day of rewards; and /din/ in Arabic philology means: 'reward, recompense'. The most evident procedure fulfilled in the Hereafter is the procedure of paying rewards or inflicting punishments. On That Day, the curtains will be removed and the deeds of all will be reckoned, precisely, and everyone shall reap the fruit of his own actions, be .they good or evil Imam Sadiq (a.s.) said in a tradition that the Day of Judgement is The Reckoning \(Day!\(2

It is also noteworthy to mention that some commentators believe that 'Resurrection' is called /yaum-ud-din/ because on That Day, everyone is recompensed for his own .religion, if he has followed it accordingly

.Thee (alone) do we worship and of Thee (only) do we seek help"

Man in the Presence of Allah

Here, this verse is a start for a servant to plea and ask his needs from Allah. In fact, from here on the tone of the statements changes, The former verses were the praise and attributes of Allah, and the statement of Faith in His Pure Unity, consisting of a confession to the belief in the Day of Resurrection. But, from this verse on, it seems that the servant, with that firm foundation of Belief in the knowledge of Allah, sees himself in front of Him, the Pure Essence. He addresses Him and speaks, firstly, about his own worship for Him and, then, about His help which he seeks from Him. Thus he says

".Thee (alone) do we worship and of Thee (only) do we seek help

In other words, when the concepts of the former verses settle in one's soul, and his entire entity is enlightened with the Light of Allah, the Cherisher of the Worlds, and when he recognizes His General Mercy' and 'Specific Mercy, the individual transforms into a complete person from the point of belief' and 'Faith'. The prime fruit of this deep belief in monotheism, for a person, in one respect, is to be a pure true servant of Allah, free from any idol and idolatry, far from tyrants and lusts; and, on the other hand, to seek help only from His Pure Essence

In fact, the former verses state the Unity of Essence and Attributes, while, here, the statement is regarding the Unity of Worship and Unity of Acts

Unity of Worship

Unity of Worship ' means that we acknowledge no person or thing worthy of worship other than Allah, Whose commands alone do we obey and Whose laws only do we follow, avoiding any kind of servitude and submission to other than Him, the Pure

.Essence

Unity of Acts

Unity of Acts' means that we clearly recognize Him as the only real' Author of Causes' in the world. It does not mean that we would refuse the world of 'cause' and be neglectful of searching for the causes of things, but it means that we would believe that any effect from any cause is under His command.

.It is He Who has given heat to fire, light to the sun, and vivacity to water

The outcome of this belief is that one relies on Allah alone, and knows that all authority and power are His only. In his view, other than Him is powerless, mortal and .perishable Allah is the only Essence to be relied on and worshipped. It is only He Who is deserving .of man's reliance for everything

This kind of thought and belief sets man apart from anyone or any thing else and joins him only to Allah. He obeys Allah even when he pursues after the world of ways and .means ', i.e. he sees the Power of Allah, the Cause of causes, in control of the means

This belief elevates the soul of man so high and the scope of his thought so broad that it reaches eternity and becomes free from any limited circumstances, in so far as, Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen, the Master of the Virtuous, Ali (a.s.), regarding Allah, says: " I worship you neither for the fear of the Fire (of Your Hell) nor for the desire of Your \(Paradise, but I found You fit for worshipping and I worshipped You.")

****

: Explanation

Allah: the Only Site of Reliance

According to the Arabic literature, when the object of the verb precedes its subject, in that language, the meaning of exclusiveness is understood, and, here, the word / iyyaka / Thou 'has preceded the words / na'bud / we worship and / nasta in /we seek help' which indicates exclusiveness in which its result is the very Unity of Worship and Unity of Acts that were explained before. Even in our own worship, we need His help for which we must ask Him. We may be involved in self-conceit, deviation, hypocrisy and similar things, which destroy our worshipping and servitude totally. Then, in all affairs and activities, our full attention should be exclusively on Allah, the Exalted

In other words, this, in itself, is one of the stages of monotheism, a high stage of it, which is rendered into 'monotheism in speculation'. That is, one should always and in all circumstances, think of Allah only. He should rely exclusively on Allah. He should fear nothing but Allah; and he should trust Allah only. He should see nothing save Allah; he should want nothing save Allah; and he should love none save Allah. As the Qur'an says: "Allah has not made for any man two hearts in his (one) body..." (Sura Al-Ahzab, No. ۳۳, verse ۴

The Social Aspect of Worship

The pronoun 'we', which is in the plural form, used in terms na'bud / 'we worship and nasta'in /we seek help, and in the next verses, shows that worship, especially prayer, is based on plural' and community

The servant must consider himself among the community even when he is standing in front of Allah for invocation, much less during his other daily activities

Thus, from the point of view of the Qur'an, any individualism, solitariness, and the like are not accepted in Islam. Particularly, the ritual prayer, from the prayer call: hayya 'alas-salat / 'hasten to the prayer', which is an invitation to initiate prayer, to Sura Al-Hamd at the beginning of the prayer, and the term assalamu 'alaykum... / 'peace be on you all...' at the end of the prayer, all are statements of verification to the concept that this worship basically has a social aspect; viz, it ought to be performed as a congregational prayer. It is true that the prayer performed individually is also accepted in Islam, but personal worship is considered as the secondary degree

We Ask Allah for Help in Confronting Forces

We have to confront different forces in this world, both the forces in nature and our innate, or inborn natural forces. To be able to challenge with these destructive, misleading factors, we need to be helped. Hence, we shelter under the protective umbrella of Allah. We

get up every morning and repeat the verse 'Iyyaka na'budu wa 'Iyyaka nasta'in / (Thee (alone) do we worship and of Thee (only) we seek help) to confess our servitude to Allah and to ask His Pure Essence help to make us successful in this great challenge. We do the same in the evening before we go to bed. We get up in the morning with His remembrance, and we go to bed in the evening with His remembrance, and each time we ask help from His Pure Essence. What an excellent state this is for the person who is in this stage of Faith! He never bows to any tyrant. He never loses himself for the attraction of material gain, and as the Qur'an reveals about the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), saying: "... Truly, my prayer and my service of sacrifice, my life and my death, are (all) for the Cherisher of the Worlds" (Sura Al-An'am No. ٦, verse ١٦٢).

Therefore, the recitation of this Holy Sura may provide the solution to all problems in our lives. It has plenty of properties which can bring us to safety. An example is from a narration cited by one of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). He said that in one of the battles, he was with the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.). When the fight became difficult, he (p.b.u.h.) lifted his head and said: " O'Master of the Day of Judgement! Thee (alone) do we worship and of Thee (only) we seek help". At that moment the army of enemies was defeated and many of them) were killed while the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and Muslims won.

It is stated in another narration:" When a difficulty arises for a believing servant, and (he recites this Holy verse, it will become easy for him".

إِهْدِنَا الصِّرَاطَ الْمُسْتَقِيمَ

"Guide us (O Lord) in the straight path"

Commentary: Verse ٦

Point

After confessing his obedience and servitude to Allah and reaching

---

Kanz-ul-Ummal, vol. ۴. p. ۳۶ (taken from Tafsir-i-Baqawi, and Amal-ul-Youm wal- ۱ -۱

Manhaj-us-Sadiqin, Comentary, vol. ۱, p. ۱۱۴۲-۲

the state of worship, and asking for help from Him, the first thing that the path of the the servant seeks is His guidance to the Straight Path righteous, the path of Justice, and the path of Faith and good deeds. So, he asks the Lord, Who has bestowed on him all of these bounties, to give him the bounty of guidance', too

Such a man, in the above stated condition, is a believing one who is acquainted with the Lordship of his Lord, but it is possible, too, that suddenly he would cease to receive this bounty because of some component of wickedness, and, consequently, he would stray from the Right Path

Therefore, he must ask his Lord, at least ten times a day, to protect him from any kind of aberration

Moreover, this Straight Path', which is the very Divine creed, has some stages. All people are not on the same level of spiritual preparedness necessary for attaining these stages. Whatever stages a person attains, there are still some higher stages above them that a believing servant might ask Allah to guide him to reach

?Why must we always ask Allah for guidance

Here, a question arises: "Why must we always ask Allah for guidance to the Straight Path', as if we are being misguided

Besides, supposing the statement is true about us, the ordinary believers, but what about the holy Prophet and sinless Imams (p.b.u.th.) who were the examples of complete human beings? In answer to this question, we may say

Firstly, the fact is that Man is liable to deviate from the Right Path with each step that he takes as he is walking along the path of guidance. So, he should rely on Allah and ask Him to keep him firm on the 'Straight Path

We must not forget that our existence, our being, and all the bounties which always come to us, are from His Origin. To clarify the matter, we cite a simple example

All creatures, including human beings, (from one point of view) resemble an electric lamp. We see that the light of a lamp, when it is on, appears to be constant and monotonous. The reason is that the electrical current flows constantly from a generator to the lamp. The generator continuously produces some new electrical power, a part of which reaches the lamp by some connective wires. Our being is similar to the lamp. Although it appears as a sustained being, it is, in fact, a continually renewed being that flows ceaselessly to us from the Original Being, the Bountiful .Creator

Therefore, as the continually new being reaches us, we need constant new guidance, too. It is natural that if something wrong or some barriers manifest themselves in our spiritual connective wires with

Allah; the vices, injustice, wrong doings, etc., will disrupt our connection with the .Origin of guidance. At that moment, we may deviate from the Straight Path

We ask Allah that these barriers be removed and not obstruct our way that we may .remain steadfast along the Straight Path

Secondly, receiving 'guidance' is the same as travelling the path of 'development' along which man can gradually promote from lower degrees to higher and higher .ones

We also know that the path of development is endless and continues towards ."infinity

So, it is no wonder that even the prophets and sinless Imams (p.b.u.th.) ask Allah to guide them to the 'Straight Path', because the Absolute Perfection is Allah and all of us, without any exception, are on the path of perfection, then it is acceptable that .they, too, ask Him for higher promotions

Do we not often send greetings to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) by the special formula of Salawat'? Does Salawat' not have the meaning of requesting new blessings from Allah ? (for Prophet Mohammad and his descendants (p.b.u.th

Is it not expressed in the Qur'an regarding the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who used to say: "... ?(O' my Lord ! advance me in knowledge ", (Sura Taha, No. ۲۰, verse ۱۱۴ Does the Holy Qur'an not say: " And Allah doth advance in guidance those who seek guidance..." ,(Sura Maryam, No.۱۹, verse ۱۹) ? And, again, does it not say: " But to those who receive guidance, He increases the light of) Guidance, and bestows on them their ? (piety and restraint (from evil) (Sura Muhammad, No. 47, verse 17

This explanation makes clear the answer to the question regarding the benediction which we recite for the Prophet and the sinless Imams (p.b.u.th.) by which we beseech Allah, in fact, for a higher and better

p:57

.(position for them all (p.b.u.th

: Here are two traditions which make the above idea clearer

Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) commenting on the verse 'Guide us (O'Lord) on the Straight Path', says: " It means: '(O'Lord) continue bestowing Your blessings on us as You did during the days passed by which we succeeded to obey You, so that we can ,obey You in the future of our lives Imam Sadiq (a.s.) has said about the verse: " It means: '(O'Lord) show us the way which ends in Your love, leads us to Your Paradise, and prevents us from following our (destructive desires or our own wrong and destroying decisions" (2

(too' (1

? 'What is the Straight Path

According to what is understood from the verses of the Holy Qur'an, the 'Straight Path' is the same as the 'Monotheistic Creed'; the religion of Truth and the belief in the instructions of Allah, as Sura Al-'An'am, No. 6, verse 161 says: "Say: Verily, my Lord hath guided me to a way that is straight,- a religion of right, the path (trod) by "Abraham the true in faith, and he (certainly) joined not gods with Allah

the belief aspect

Here, 'a religion of right' and 'the theistic path of Abraham (a.s.) as the true faith', in which he called on no god but Allah, are introduced as the Straight Path'. This shows .the belief aspect

the practical aspect

But, Sura Yasin, No. 36, verses 60 and 61 say: " Did I not enjoin on you, O'ye children of Adam, that ye should not worship Satan; for that he is to you an enemy avowed ?"" And that ye should worship Me, (for that) this is the Straight Way ?" These verses, here, point to the practical aspects of the 'religion of truth'. They urge us not to

.commit any Satanic deed or any wrong action

Clinging to Allah, the Qur'an says, is the key to reaching the 'Straight Path': "...
Whoever holds firmly to Allah will be shown a way that is straight", (Sura 'Al-i-Imran,
.(No. 3, verse 101

It is necessary to mention this point, that the Straight

Maani-ul-Akhbar. p. 484 2 -2

Path' is always only one way, not more than that, because the shortest distance .between two points is always only one straight line

Therefore, when the Qur'an says that the Straight Path' is the very true belief in the Divine religion with its moral and practical aspects, it is because it is the shortest route to a spiritual connection with Allah

And it is also for this same reason that 'the religion of truth' is not more than one:" The Religion before Allah is Islam (submission to His Will..." , (Sura 'Al-j-Imran, No. ٤, verse
. (١٥٣)

Later it will be made evident that 'Islam' has a vast meaning which envelops all the monotheistic religions that were lawful at their own times but were nullified by the new one. Thus, it clarifies that all different commentaries that commentators have .cited on the matter, i.e. the Straight Path', refer, indeed, to the same thing

Islam, the Pure Unity, Qur'an, the Prophet, and his vicegerents (p.b.u.th.), are some explications that commentators have offered for the meaning of the Straight Path'. All of the stated explications refer to the Divine religion in the aspects of Faith' and !practice

Also all of the various narrations and traditions cited on the subject in the Islamic sources, each of which points to a separate dimension of the question, in substance,
:refer to one essence. Some examples are as follows

It is narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who has said: "The "Straight Path'is the (path of prophets and they are those on whom Allah hath bestowed His Grace" .(١)

Here are three traditions from Imam Sadiq (a.s.), who, when commenting on this (verse, said: "It is the 'way' and the 'cognizance' of Imamate " .(٢) Again, in another tradition, he (a.s.) says : " By Allah, we (Ahlul-Bait) are the Straight (Path' " .(٣)

Another tradition from the same Imam (a.s.) says: "The Straight Ahmad-ibn-Mohammad-ibn-Ibrahim Al-Tha'labi, a Sunni scholar, has narrated from Abu-Buraydah Al-Aslami, who was one of the companions of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), that he said: " The Straight Path is the path of Mohammad and his \(descendants " \(2\)

This means that their path is based on the doctrine of Islam which consists of the belief in: 'Oneness of Allah', 'Justice', 'Prophethood', 'Imamate', and the 'Hereafter'. There is no doubt that the path of Ahlul-Bait (p.b.u.th.) is the Straight Path', and that adhering to it causes prosperity and salvation, while pursuing other than that leads to .loss and injury

Ibn-il-Maqazisi has narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who has said: "The example of my household (Ahlul-Bait) is similar to the Ark of Noah. He who embarked it was rescued (from drowning and destruction), but, he who refused it drowned (and \(perished\)" \(3\)

Other traditions narrated from Ahlul-Bait (p.b.u.th.) also confirm the concept. In addition, the well-known tradition. Thaqalayn ' from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), is another good clear witness to the matter, too. It says: " I leave behind me amidst you two Great things; should you be attached to these two, never, never shall you \(become astray: the Book of Allah \(the Holy Quran\) and my progeny, my Ahlul-Bait." \(4\)

As was previously stated, it is certain that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), Hadrat Ali-ibn-Abitalib (a.s.) and all of the other infallible Imams (a.s.) invited people to the theistic religion of Allah, an invitation to Faith and practice in truth, which elevates Man to the .climax of ability, guidance, dignity, and human excellences

By the way, it should not be neglected that there are two kinds of guidance: Divine .'Guidance' and 'Religious Guidance

Divine Guidance

Divine Guidance' is the human intelligence bestowed on a person by Allah, which' recognizes the difference between: good and bad, right and wrong, gain and loss, felicity and wretchedness, virtue and vice, and so on. It is, in fact, the inner messenger of a person

Religious Guidance

Religious Guidance means that Allah sends prophets, Divine Books and legislation to guide Man to all merits of this world and the next, as well as making him aware of the injuries and damages of the two worlds. Of course, when Man is guided by the above guidance and acts accordingly, he will be worthy of receiving the blessings of the next world; this is made possible through the development of the soul by acquiring knowledge, good habits, and commendable moral qualities in which state he will certainly attain the happiness of this world and that of the next, together with the infinite grace of Allah Intellect' is called a 'guide in that it enlightens man as to what is right and what is wrong. The Prophets (p.b.u.th.), Imams (a.s.), and scholars are called 'Guides, too, because they guide the human race to the salvation and felicity in both worlds. But, really, Allah is the main Supreme Guide, and these are the means appointed for the guidance of Man

صراط الذين أنعمت عليهم غير المغضوب عليهم

The path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed Thy bounties, not (the path) of those inflicted with Thy wrath

".nor (of those) gone astray

Commentary : Verse ٧

Two Paths of Deviation

This verse is, indeed, a clear illustration of the Straight Path' which was dealt with in the previous verse. It says that the person asks Allah to guide him onto the path of those on whom He has blessed with many kinds of bounties; (such as the blessings of guidance, success, the leadership of people of truth, knowledge, good actions, holy wars and martyrdom); not those who deserved His wrath because of their wrong doings, nor those who neglected the right path and went astray. "The path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed Thy bounties, not (the path) of those inflicted with

".Thy wrath, nor (of those) gone astray

In fact, we are not familiar with the method of guidance, so the Lord's command, in this verse, is that we ask for the path of the prophets, good doers and all of those to .whom Allah has extended His bounties, blessings and favours

It also warns us that there are two deviated paths in front of us: the path of those .inflicted with His wrath, and the path of those gone astray

: Explanation

? 'Who are those upon whom Allah has bestowed His bounties .!

Sura An-Nisa, No. ٤, verse ٦٩ has introduced these people, thus: " All who obey Allah and the Apostle are in the company of those on whom is the Grace of Allah,- of the prophets (who teach), the Sincere (lovers of Truth), the Witnesses (who testify), and "! the Righteous (who do good): Ah ! What a beautiful Fellowship

As it demonstrates, this verse introduces the people on whom the bounties and Mercy of Allah are bestowed. They are four groups: the Prophets, the Sincere, the .Witnesses, and the Righteous

These four states may refer to an idea that: for the attainment of a sound, progressive and faithful society, prophets and Divine leaders should form the .foundation

After the prophets are the sincere truthful missionaries and preachers whose words attest to their actions by which they are able to extend the prophets' missions
.throughout their societies

Following this period of the formation of these structural states, naturally, some evil-minded individuals, who serve as barriers on the path of truth, may appear in the way.

There should be some others to stand against them. In this struggle a few of these defenders of truth may be gifted with martyrdom, whose blood would then water the .tree of Theism

The fruit of these struggles and devotions is yielded as the Righteous' with whom the society can be pure, efficient, and abounding with spirituality

Therefore, in the Holy Sura Al-Fatihah (The Opening), we are encouraged to repeatedly ask Allah, during the day and night, that we be led on the path of these previously mentioned four groups, and, obviously at each time, we must emphasize with sincere effort and endeavour, on one of these four states more than the others in order to perform our duty and mission well

? Who are the Last Two Groups in this Verse .؟

Point

The separation of these two groups from each other indicates that each group has some defining characteristics

:To make distinction between these two groups, there are three commentaries

Commentary A

A) From the application of these two words in the Qur'an, it is so understood that /magdubi 'alayhim/ those inflicted with His Wrath' are in a worse condition than /dallin/ those gone astray'. in Owc, words, 'those gone astray' are the ordinary misguided and /magdubi 'alayhim/ 'those inflicted with His Wrath' are the misguided who are obstinate or hypocritical. And, for these two very reasons, the Curse and Wrath of Allah have been cited towards them in frequent occurrences in the Qur'an. The followings are some instances

But such as open their breast to Unbelief, – on them is Wrath from Allah, ...", (Sura ..."
(An-Nahl, No. ۱۶, verse ۱۰۶

And that He may punish the Hypocrites, men and women, and Polytheists, men and women, who imagine an evil opinion of Allah. On them is a round of Evil; the Wrath of Allah is on them. He has cursed them and got Hell ready for them: and evil is it for a

.(destination ", (Sura Al-Fath No. ٤٨, verse ٤

However, this group, ie. 'those inflicted with His Wrath were those who, besides their unbelief, pursued the path of obstinacy and enmity against Allah, and whenever they could, they even injured the Divine leaders and prophets (p.b.u.th.). As Sura 'Al-Imran, No. ٣, verse ١١٢ says: "...They draw on themselves Wrath from Allah, and pitched over them is (the tent of destitution. This because they rejected the

p:٤٣

Signs of Allah, and slew the Prophets in defiance of right; this because they rebelled
."and transgressed beyond bounds

Commentary B

B) Some of the commentators believe that /dallin/ 'those gone astray' refers to the misguided of the Christians; and /maqdami 'alayhim/ 'those inflicted with His Wrath' .refers to the misguided of the Jews

This idea was formed because of the particular responses that these two groups showed in reply to the invitation to Islam. For, as the Qur'an has clearly pointed out in different verses, the misguided Jews used to show a special grudge and enmity against the invitation of Islam, though, at the beginning, their scholars and learned men were the bearers of the glad tidings of Islam. Very soon, though, under the effect of deviation of thought, belief and notion, and, also, because their financial gains were being endangered, they became the most obstinate enemies of Islam and they did whatever evil they could against the progression of Islam and Muslims. (Even today, Zionism and Zionists hold the same position regarding the manner in which they treat (Islam and Muslims

Therefore, to render these people as 'those inflicted with His Wrath 'seems very .correct

But, the misguided of the Christians, who upon encountering with Islam were not so grudging, but were misled because of their misperception of the Divine religion and therefore refusing the Truth, were rendered into / dallin / ' those gone astray. They believed in the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost instead of clinging to true Monotheism, the worship of Allah. This is, in itself, one of the greatest examples of
."astray' and 'aberration

In the Islamic traditions, too, / magdami 'alayhim/' those inflicted with His Wrath are interpreted as the Jews, and / dallin / ' those gone astray' as the misguided of the Christians. The foundation of this interpretation is the same as was mentioned in the

Commentary C

C) It is also probable that /dallin/ 'those gone astray' refers to those who are misguided but do not insist on making others go astray, while / maqdabi 'alayhim/' those inflicted with His Wrath' refer to those who both 'go astray' and ' lead others .astray'. They try vigorously to change others to become like themselves

The references to this meaning are the verses that introduce the persons who obstruct the way of guidance of others and are mentioned in the Holy Qur'an as 'those who would hinder (men) from the Path of Allah. Sura Ash-Shura, No. ٤٢. verse ١٤ says: " But those who dispute concerning Allah after He has been accepted, - futile is their dispute in the sight of their Lord: on them is Wrath, and for them will be Penalty terrible Other traditions have also been cited concerning the matter, including a narration from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.). It says: "Everyone who has disbelieved in Allah, on him is Wrath, and he is astray

In 'Ma'ani', a book of traditions, it is narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " Shi'ah (the followers) of Ali (a.s.) are those on whom Allah has bestowed the bounty of Wilāyat, love of Ali-ibn-Abutalib (a.s.); His Wrath is not on them, and they are not on \(the wrong path" \(٢\)

: Supplication

O'Lord! Count us not among those inflicted with Your Wrath' and 'those gone astray', (but consider us among true believers, the followers of the school of Ahlul-Bait (a.s

!O'Lord! Guide us on the Straight Path in our every circumstance and in all our affairs O'Lord! We thank you for this Divine blessing and say: "Praise belongs to Allah (alone)

Point

(Verses ٢٨٦)

Contents of the Sura

Point

This Sura contains ٢٨٦ verses, rendering it the longest Sura in the Holy Qur'ān. It is indisputable that this Sura was not revealed all at once, but partially and in increments as necessitated by the various Islamic social circumstances and conditions found at different times in Medina. But, the fact is that the inclusiveness of this Sura from the point of Islamic doctrine in Faith and many practical issues (social, political, economical, and religious) is not deniable, for, there are various subjects discussed in it, including the followings

various subjects discussed

There are some discussions about Monotheism and gaining knowledge of Allah, .١ especially by way of studying the mysteries of creation

There are many statements about the Resurrection and life after death with a few .٢ tangible examples, like the story of Abraham (a.s.) and how the birds became restored to life, and the story of Ezra

There are some facts about the inimitability of the Qur'ān and the significance of .٣ this Heavenly Book

There are long discussions and explanations concerning the Jews and hypocrites .۴ and their peculiar positions against Islam and the Qur'ān, evidenced by their various mischievous hindrances against them

There are some narrations about the history of the Great Prophets, including .۵ Abraham (a.s.) and Moses (a.s.) in particular

There are some passages that contain a few Islamic rules .۶

related to varying subjects, such as : prayers, fasting, Holy War on the path of Allah, the pilgrimage to Mecca, the change of the Qiblah (the direction of prayer) from Jerusalem to Mecca, marriage and divorce commerce, debt, and a great many of the ordinances concerning usury. Donation for the sake of Allah, is abundantly discussed. The problem of retaliation, the banning of different kinds of forbidden meat, and also gambling and wine drinking are discussed, in addition to a few other ordinances related to the subjects of writing wills, testaments, and the like

The appellation ' Al-Baqarah ' (the Cow), the title of this Sura, is taken from the story of the Israelites' Cow, mentioned in verses ٢٧ to ٧٣ of this Sura, whose description will (be explained later in this very commentary (on pages ٢٠٨ to ٢١٣

: The Virtue of Studying this Sura

Point

There are some significant traditions and narrations on the virtue of studying this Sura, cited in Islamic literature, including the followings: The Late Ṭabarsī has so cited in Majma' -ul-Bayān that once the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was asked : " Which Sura of the Qur'ān is the best ? "He (p.b.u.h.) answered : " Al-Baqarah ". They asked : " Which verse of the Sura (is the best) ? " He (replied : " 'Āyat-ul-Kursī, the ' Verse of the Throne ' , (verse ٢٥٥)". (1)

The superiority of this Holy Sura is, apparently, due to its comprehensiveness, and the preference of the ' Verse of the Throne ' (verse ٢٥٥) is because of its special monotheistic content, which will be dealt with later in this commentary. It is not contrary to the fact that some other Suras of the Qur'ān are considered superior in other aspects. All the Suras of the Qur'ān have been considered from different points of view. Again, it is narrated by Alī-ibn-il-Ḥusayn (a.s.) that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said : " He who recites the first four verses of Sura Al-Baqarah, the ' Verse of Throne ' (verse ٢٥٥) with its next two verses (٢٥٦,٢٥٧) together with the last three verses of the Sura, will not meet any trouble in himself, in his family members, and in his wealth; and Satan will not approach him, and he (having paid attention to the Qur'ān in his life) will not forget the Qur'ān". (1)

Nur-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ۱, p. ۲۶; and Majma'-ul-Bayan, vol. ۱, p. ۳۲ ۱ –۱

(Also, ` Ubayy-ibn-i-ka` b quotes from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h

thus : " He who recites this Sura (Al-Baqarah) will be encompassed by the bounties of Allah and His Mercy; and He will reward him as much as that of a person who has fought fearlessly on the path of Allah for one year". (2)

Then, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) added that Muslims should study this Sura, know it, and do it accordingly in order to be benefited by the Mercy of Allah in this world and the next

Imam Ja`far Ṣādiq (a.s.) is narrated to have said : " He who recites Al-Baqarah and 'Āl-i-`Imrān, these two Suras will come above his head on the Day of Judgement like two clouds similar to two umbrellas, (and will protect him from the heat of That Day) (3)

Every Virtue Closely Corresponds with the Contents

Here, it is necessary to mention the important fact that those rewards, virtues and significant compensations that have been cited for studying the Qur'ān or some special Suras and verses of the Qur'ān never meant that one simply should be contented with the fact that one has recited them as invocations

On the contrary, the recitation of the Qur'ān is for understanding, and understanding is for contemplation, and contemplation is for action

As a matter of fact, every virtue, which is mentioned for a Sura or a verse, corresponds very much with the contents of that Sura or verse

For example, among the virtues of reciting Sura An-Nūr, No. ۲۴, we see that it says that Allah may protect the person and his children from committing adultery and slander when he perseveres in studying it

This consequence is because the contents of Sura An-Nūr contains some important instructions on resisting sexual deviations; i.e. the instructions advising single persons to hasten to marriage; the instructions about 'cover' (ḥijāb); the instructions about refraining from ogling and desirous looks; the instruction that forbids spreading any

---

(Thawab-ul-A'mal (according to the citation of Nur-uth-Thaqalayn vol. ١, p. ٣٦ ١-١ Manhaj-us-Sadiqin, vol. ١, p. ١٢٠; and Majma'-ul-Bayān, vol. ١, p. ٣٢ ٢-٢
Al-Burhan Fi Tafsir-il-Qur'an, vol. ١, p. ٥٢ ٣-٣ rumours and accusations about others; and, finally, the instruction on executing the punishment for fornication and adultery upon any perpetrators : be they men or .women

It is obvious that when the content of this Sura be observed by the members of a society or a family, the iniquity of adultery will not appear therein. It is the same ,concerning the verses of Sura Al-Baqarah mentioned above. They are all related to the subject of Monotheism, belief in ' Qayb ' (the Invisible), knowing Allah, and resisting evil temptations. So, if a person recites them and observes the instructions in them carefully and from the depths of his soul, .he will certainly obtain those virtues

It is certainly true, however, that the recitation of the Qur'ān deserves rewards, but, besides the original and essential rewards given by Allah, its effects on personal behavior will exist only when this

.recitation is a premise for contemplation and action

The Abbreviated Letters of the Qur'ān

At the beginning of ۲۹ Suras of the Holy Qur'ān, there are several certain abbreviated letters, the Muqatta`āt, which seem separate from each other; i.e. they do not form an apparently meaningful word, but wherever they occur, in the Qur'ān, the Sura follows immediately with some expressions about the Qur'ān and its importance. This in itself indicates that there is a relation between these letters and the origin of the : Qur'ān. As an example, Sura An-Naml, No. ٢٧, verses ١-٢ say

p:٧١

Ṭā. Sīn. These are verses of the Qur'ān, a Book that makes (things) clear." There are," also, many other examples, similar to this one, in the Qur'ān

The abbreviated letters of the Holy Qur'ān have always been considered mysterious. In the words of scholars and commentators, the letters that are prefixes to some Suras, such as 'Alif `A', Lām `L', Mīm `M', and the like, are among the `metaphorical expressions' of the Qur'ān. They are secrets that none knows except the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and, after him, his successors (a.s.) who have left some traditions and : narrations which testify to this very matter

Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) said : " Every book has an elite and the elite of this Book .) \(\(The Qur'ān\) is the `abbreviated letters' ." \(1

It is narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said : " 'Alif `A', Lām `L', Mīm `M', are the .) letters among the (whole) letters of the ` Exalted Name ' of Allah, which are separated and scattered in the Qur'ān and whenever the Prophet and the sinless \(Imams \(p.b.u.th.\) call Allah by that ` Exalted Name', their prayer will be accepted." \(2

It is narrated from Imam Ali-ibn-il-Ḥusayn (a.s.), thus : " The Quraysh and the Jews .) refuted the Qur'ān and said: ` It is mere magic and he has made it by himself '. So, Allah said: ` 'Alif, Lām, Mīm. This is the (True) Book...', i.e. ` O' Muhammad, this Book that is sent down to you, is made up of the abbreviated letters and 'Alif, Lām, Mīm are among them. They are the same as the letters of the alphabet that you (people) use in \(your words. Bring similar to it if you are genuine '." \(3

It is narrated from Ibn-Abbas and ` Akramah who have said that these letters are .) the ` letters of oath', as well as ` the Name of Allah', by which He (s.w.t.) has sworn

The reason why Allah has sworn by these letters is, perhaps, for their importance and greatness through which the Glory and Highness of Allah and the secrets of the world of creation are stated. All sciences, from the beginning to the end, daily activities and arrangements of affairs in societies and their communications throughout the world, the development of industries, the trading and commercial activity between people, their marriages, the social laws, regulations, and the jurisprudence of the religions of human beings, all in all, depend on the letters of the alphabet. The transmission of ancient civilizations and cultures from old generations to the later ones has been possible only through transcribing and recording them essentially with the help of the bounty of alphabets. Even this very commentary book, which is the statement of the Divine laws and the description of the Qur'ānic concepts, is being published and distributed throughout the world in different languages including the English language, because of the existence of the letters of the alphabet. Furthermore, an oath is usually taken to an important and great subject. These abbreviated letters have such an importance and greatness. Hence, Allah, the Exalted, taking an oath to a letter of the alphabet, says : " Nūn. By the Pen and by the (Record) which (men) write," (Sura

Tafsir-us-Şafi, vol. ۱, p. ۷۸ ۱-۱

Makhzan-ul-'Irfan, commentary, vol. ۱, p. ۶۶ ۲-۲

Al-Burhan, commentary, vol. ۱, p. ۵۴ ۳-۳

However, there are more than one hundred other traditions on the abbreviated letters of the Qur'ān cited by Muslim scholars in many authentic commentary and tradition books. Another aspect is that some eminent men have said that these letters refer to the idea that this heavenly Book, with such splendour and reputation that it stirs wonder in the great speakers, both Arab and non-Arab, and that has made the men of letters and all others unable to challenge it, is composed of the sort of the very alphabetical letters that are within the reach of everyone. This fact shows that the Qur'ān has not been produced by the mind of Man, but it is an absolute revelation and, therefore, none can produce the like of it. Imam Ali-ibn-Musā-ar-Ridā (a.s.) is narrated to have said in a tradition : " Verily, Allah has sent down this Qur'ān narrated by the very letters that all Arabs apply ordinarily ". And, thus, Allah, Glory be to Him and Highly Exalted is He, says : " Say, `If the whole of mankind and Jinns were to gather together to produce the like of this Qur'ān, they could not produce the like thereof, even if they backed up each other with help and ذَلِكَ الْكِتَابُ لَا رَيْبَ فِيهِ هُدًى لِّلْمُتَّقِينَ

This is the (True) Book wherein is no doubt, a guidance "

",to the pious ones

Commentary : Verse ٢

Following the abbreviated letters, the Sura, referring to the importance of this : heavenly Book, says

This is the (True) Book wherein is no doubt, ..." This meaning may point to the idea " that Allah promised His prophet (p.b.u.h.) to send down to him a Book for the guidance of men and now it was done. For, it is a Book wherein is a source of guidance for all truth-seekers, and, these believers, in fact, have no doubt in it. The Qur'ān says that there is no doubt in this Book, and this statement is not a mere claim. It means that the content of the Qur'ān has such a style that it, in itself, attests to the authenticity of itself. In other words, the signs of truthfulness, greatness, and firmness together with the depth and synthesis of meanings, the sweetness and elegance of the words and its stylistic form found in the statements are so evident that no doubt or temptation can interfere and every truth-seeker reaches the limits of certitude. It is interesting that over the course of time not only the freshness of the Holy Qur'ān does not decrease, but, with the progress of science and the secrets of created things being uncovered, the facts of the Holy Qur'ān become more manifest. As the international standards of development, science, and industry are raised, the luminosity and .resplendence of these verses become more evident

This is not only a claim but it is a reality that will be dealt with in this very commentary .book, Allah-Willing

? What is Guidance .1

Point

The term 'guidance' is utilized in many occurrences in the Qur'ān. In all these cases the root meaning of the word refers to two main guidances : Divine Guidance and Religious Guidance

Divine Guidance

Point

A) Divine Guidance is the guidance that exists in all creatures of the world. (In other words, 'Divine Guidance' means the leadership of Allah upon creatures under the regulation of creation governed by some definite laws and secrets of the world of existence)

Characteristics of Two Groups Who Lack in Faith

It can also be said that those who are in lack of Faith are characterized in two groups. The members of the first group are those who generally seek for the truth and hold enough piety in their souls so that wherever they confront the truth they accept it

The second group are some obstinate, fanatical, lustful people that not only do not seek for the truth but wherever they find it, they try to blow out its light. It is certain that the Qur'ān, or any other heavenly Book, has always been beneficial for the first group, but the second group does not take any advantage from it. Hence, the Qur'ān says : " And We send down (stage by stage) of the Qur'ān that which is healing and a mercy unto the believers, but it adds not to the unjust but perdition ", (Sura Al-Asrā', (No. 17, verse 82)

However, it is a fact that saline soil does not grow flowers such as hyacinth though it rains a thousand times on it. But, if the land is ploughed, fertilized and prepared for

.planting, the life-giving droplets of rain will be useful for it

The land of the self of man is similar to this parable. It should be empty of obstinacy and enmity, otherwise, the seed of guidance will not grow in it. So, Allah qualifies the

."Qur'ān as: "(The Qur'ān is) a guidance to the pious ones

B) ` Religious Guidance ' is introduced by prophets and Divine Books. It is through their teaching and training that men can progress on the path of development. The references to this fact are found abundantly in the Holy Qur'ān, including the verse that says : " And We made them Leaders guiding (men) by Our Command..." , (Sura Al-`Anbiyā, No. ۲۱, verse ۷۳

? Why is Guidance Particular to the Pious Ones

Why is Guidance Particular to the Pious Ones ? It is certain that the Qur'ān was sent .۲ down for the guidance of all human beings. So, the question is that why the guidance .!is introduced as particular to the ` pious ones

The reason is that it is impossible for Man to take benefit from the guidance of the Divine Books unless he attains some degrees of submission and kindles the light of .piety in his self

Piety in Lexicon and Religion

The term / taqwā / , philologically, is derived from / wiqāyah / ` to protect from what harms '. Allah, the Exalted, says : "... save yourselves and your families from a fire..." , (Sura At-Tahrīm, No. ۶۶, verse ۶). Then, piety, in this sense, is ` the protection of .!oneself from what one fears

And, in religion, the pious are ` people who preserve their selves from what harms .! them in the Hereafter

The Stages of Piety

First Stage

.There are some stages of piety

The first stage is to avoid and restrain from committing sins and wrong doings; as it is narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that none reaches (this stage of) piety unless \(he avoids unlawful things. \(1

In a tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), deeds of people are divided into three kinds :

1) Those that are clearly lawful, whose

Makhzan-ul-Irfan, vol. 1 p. 11 - 1 lawfulness is vividly apparent. ۲) Those that are clearly unlawful, whose unlawfulness is certain. ۳) Some dubious things that are situated between these two. They are lawful but resemble the unlawful. The person who avoids even the dubious things will (never approach the unlawful ones.)

Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s) is narrated to have said : "A pious person is he whose deeds would not include anything shameful if they are put in a tray and (displayed it around the world (to show them) ".

Second Stage

The second stage of piety is the full obedience to what is revealed to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Thus, piety consists of performing obligatory things (Wājibāt) and avoiding the unlawful things

Third Stage

The third stage of piety is to rid the heart and soul of everything save Allah. In this sense, a pious person is one who strains out from his wishes, those that are not pleasing to Allah, and relies not on individuals but on Him only; viz, he forsakes from hoping in every other being and hopes only in Him; he focuses his view on observing the Beauty and Glory of His Lordship. This is real piety; so the Qur'ān says: " O' you who believe! Be careful of (your duty to) Allah with the care which is due to Him...", (Sura 'Āl-i-` Imrān, No. ۳, verse ۱۰۲

Commentary : Verse ٣

The Effects of Piety on Man's Spirit and Body

Regarding the Faith and practices in Islam, the Qur'ān, at the beginning of this Sura, : divides people into three different categories

١. The pious ones (Muttaqīn), who accept Islam in all aspects .

٢. Unbelievers, who are in the exact opposite state as compared to the first group. They confess their infidelity and do not refrain from expressing hatred and acting .hostilely against Islam

Undoubtedly, the harm of this group, for Islam, is greater than the second group. Hence, the Qur'ān, concerning them, is more severe. This quality, of course, is found not only in Islam but also in all ideological schools of the world. Their members are either faithful to the doctrine of that school, or are clearly opposed to it, or they are conservative hypocrites. Furthermore, this proposition does not refer only to a .specific time, it has always existed in all ages of the human world

The Pious Ones, the First Group

Point

The verses under discussion deal with the first group. These verses explain the special characteristics of the pious ones from the point of view of Faith and practice in five matters: Faith in the Unseen, establishment of prayer, spending in charity from all of the divine merits they possess, belief in the invitation of all prophets, and Faith in the the

p:٧٨

: Faith in the Unseen .1

"...At first, the verse describes the pious ones as those : " Who believe in the Unseen

The world of the Unseen ' and ` the world of the senses ' are two concepts opposite ` each other. ` The world of the senses ' is the visible and physical world, while ` the world of the Unseen ' is a world beyond our senses. Therefore, the term /qayb/ is used ` for that which is concealed from us '. The Qur'ān says : "...the Knower of the unseen ,and the seen; He is the Beneficent, the Merciful", (Sura Al-Ḥashr, No. ٥٩

Faith in the Unseen ' is just the first characteristic that separates the believers from ` unbelievers. Thus, the believers in heavenly religions contrast with the deniers of God, revelation, and Resurrection. It is for this very reason that ` Faith in the Unseen ' has .been mentioned as the first characteristic of ` the pious ones

The believers have cleft the limits of the world of ` materiality' and freed themselves from their restrictions. They have stepped into a quite vast open world and, with this broad scope of view that they have obtained, they have connected themselves with the realm of an extraordinary, bigger, and greater world. But, the contrary group insists on confining Man, as an animal, inside the walls of the world of materialism. They call this retrogression, which is a kind of life filled with lusts and excessive luxuries, an advanced civilized life. Comparing the concepts and doctrines of these two groups, we conclude that the ` pious ones' believe in ` the Unseen', a world very much wider and bigger than what can be seen or touched with the external senses in the world of existence. The Creator of this universe is Omniscient and Omnipotent, Who has infinite Glory and Insight. He is Eternal and has no end. He has planned the .world in a good, regular, and precise design

In the world of believing men, the spirit of Man has produced a great distance between humans and animals. For them, death does not mean an end. On the contrary, it is one of the stages of progression

p:79

towards man's development. Death is an opening to a broader and greater world. Whereas, a materialist believes that the world of being is restricted to what we can see. He says that natural science has proved that the rules of nature are a chain of obligatory rules by which, without any designs or special programs, this world has been fashioned. They believe productive power of the world has no intellect even as little as that of a child. And, Man is a part of nature, i.e., when he dies everything ends. His corpse is decomposed in a few days and joins with nature again as a natural component. They conclude that there is no life after death for Man, and there is no .difference between Man and animal

Are these two people with these two different methods of thinking comparable with ? each other ? Are their actions and behaviours in the society the same

The first one cannot ignore that which is right, just and benevolent, and helping other fellow members. But the second does not see any reason for any of these matters. He cares for only what is effective and beneficial in his physical life at present or in the future. That is why that, in the lives of truthful believing people, there is purity, brotherhood, mutual understanding, and cooperation; while in the lives governed by materialism, colonialism, exploitation, plunder and murder are seen. Therefore, the Holy Qur'ān, in the above mentioned verses, considers ` Faith in the Unseen ' the first .stage of piety

Opinions are divided among the commentators as to whether Faith in the Unseen, here, points to Faith in Monotheism, or to a vast meaning that covers Faith in the world of revelation, Resurrection, angels and, in general, what is beyond the external .senses

We already pointed out that Faith in ` the world of beyond the external senses ' is the first phase of separation of the believers from unbelievers. This makes it clear that the term ` Unseen ', here, contains the same vast meaning as the term that was pointed out. Moreover, the application of the word in this verse is absolute and unrestricted. There is nothing included in the verse that would confine its meaning to .a specific one

In some traditions from Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) \(1\), the term 'Unseen', in the verse under discussion, is rendered to the '12th Imam (a.s.)', who, as we believe, is alive right now but is concealed from the eyes of people. This idea does not contrast with what was said in the above, because it is one of the aspects of 'Unseen', too. And, in other words, 'Unseen' is something which is not possible to be seen or heard by our external senses, such as sight or hearing or things outside the grasp of our other senses. The Existence of Allah is apparently hidden because of the limit of our external senses. The Hereafter, the status of the next world, is concealed from our eyes. In this gloomy time in which we live, the presence of prophets and our sinless Imams (p.b.u.th.) are necessary for us, but, even our Expected Imam (a.s.) whom we need to be our guide out in front of us, whose light of mastership, which would help us follow along this dim, murky, dangerous road that lies before us upon which we must travel until we reach the sound abode of ours, is absent from us. Apparently, he is out of our reach. Though, he, the esteemed one (a.s.), is never heedless of his true followers and he is always aware of their circumstances. (There will be a more comprehensive discussion concerning the '12th Imam (a.s.)' later in the \(commentary

This statement shows that at this time, which is the worst of the ages, how high the position of the persons with complete Faith is! And, as it is narrated, there is reason for the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to say about them : " How much I am eager to see my \(brothers \(who will come to being\) in 'the end of time'!". \(2\)

We may consider that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), with such high rank and glory, has expressed his eagerness for seeing the true believers of this time, and has introduced them as his 'brothers

: Relationship with Allah .2

Point

Another speciality of the 'pious ones' mentioned in the Qur'ān is their prayers. Prayer, which is the key to communion with Allah, holds the believers in permanent and perpetual contact with that great Origin of Creation. They have found the way to the world beyond this world, viz, the world of the supernatural. They bow only to Allah and submit only to the Great Creator of the World of Being. That is why there is no place for submission or surrender to any tyrants and oppressors in their agenda

---

Nu-uth-Thaqalayn, vol.۱, p. ۳۱ ۱ –۱

Such a human feels that he has been promoted to a situation higher than that of all other creatures for that he has the honour of standing in front of Allah and is worthy of speaking directly with Him. This status is the greatest factor necessary for training

The person who, with his whole heart and mind, stands in front of Allah, at least five times a day, and sincerely utters invocation, his thoughts, his actions and his speech altogether will become divine. How is it possible that a person like that could do anything against Allah's pleasure

The Excellence and Importance of Prayer

Prayer is the pillar of Faith, the means of attaining nearness to Allah, the expression of obedience to Him, the thanksgiving for His infinite Mercy, the imitation of the examples of the holy Prophet and immaculate Imams (p.b.u.th.), the strong link between a person and Allah, and the constant means of seeking and receiving His Guidance and Assistance and avoiding errors and evil. Prayer is the only way in which faith, that lives in the heart, can be made manifest in our actions, and can ensure admission to the realm of everlasting happiness in our life in this world as well as the life in the next world

There are many verses in the Holy Qur'ān and plenty of traditions in Islamic literature on the importance and virtue of prayer. Intellectual and religious considerations approve its excellence, too

words of the Late Şāhib Jawāhir

Here, we narrate the words of the Late Şāhib Jawāhir cited in 'Jawāhir-ul-Kalām', vol. ۷, page ۱. The words and ideas are based on the contents of the verses of the Qur'ān and some authentic traditions

Prayer is an action that prevents the performance of hideous indecent deeds. This " status causes the Fire of Hell to extinguish, and any pure believer to be linked with ,Allah by which he can make, spiritually progress. Just as the water of a stream washes away dirt from the body, prayer washes away the sins of believers; and, its repetition five times a day is similar to washing the body in that stream repeatedly. Allah told Jesus (a.s.), and other prophets (p.b.u.th.) as well, to pray throughout their lives ". " However, prayer is the basis of Islam and it is the best deed and the best subject (which is legislated by the religion). It is the standard and criterion of other deeds of people. Thus, when a person has performed the prayer completely, the reward of all other of his deeds is complete, because all of his good deeds are accepted. Therefore, prayer, comparing with other religious practices, even the religion itself, is considered as a pillar similar to the central pole of a tent. For this reason the first deed of a mortal, which will be questioned about in the next life and will be discussed, is `prayer'. If prayer is accepted from a person, other (good) deeds of his lifetime will be evaluated and accepted from him. But, if it is refused, his other deeds will not be looked at and will be refused and returned to him. So, regarding this, it is not surprising if an abandoner of prayer is called an `unbeliever '. Yes, it is certainly so when the reason of its abandonment is especially for the scorning of the religion. Prayer is something that Imam Şādiq (a.s.) did not know anything better or higher and more beloved than that with Allah. Even, he (a.s.) has said that these five daily canonical prayers are obligatory. He who establishes them and observes them at their proper times, will meet Allah on the Judgement Day, and He holds a covenant stating that because of this he will enter Paradise. But, he who does not keep up these obligatory prayers and does not observe them at their proper times, then, it will be up to Allah whether to forgive him or to punish him. And, the obligatory prayer is better than twenty Hajj-performances, each of which is better than a room full of gold that would completely be paid as donation in the way of Allah. Or, the obligatory prayer is better than one thousand Hajj-performances, every one of them being better than the whole world with all its contents. Verily, obedience to Allah is service to Him on the earth, and no service is comparable with prayer. That was why the angels called Zachariah (a.s.) while he was praying in his sanctuary. When a person is preparing for saying prayer, the Divine favours come down from heaven to him on the earth and some angels surround him. An angel proclaims that if this prayerful believer knew what existed in the prayer, he "... would never neglect it

Hadrat Ridā, the 11th holy Imam (a.s.), wrote as an answer to the problems of " Muhammad-ibn-Sanān that the reason of (the importance of) prayer is that it is the confession to the Lordship of Allah, Almighty and Glorious, and lack of attributing partners to Him. Prayer means to stand in front of the Almighty, Glory be to His Majesty, in a manner of humility abasement and wretchedness and to seek forgiveness for the sins committed. In prayer, a servant puts his head down on the soil several times a day in order to glorify Allah, Almighty and Glorious, and to furnish His remembrance all the time. To stand in the presence of Allah in prayer, causes a believing person to avoid evils, and it hinders (him from all kinds of sin and corruption." (1)

: Relationship with People .۲

Besides the constant communion with Allah, the pious ones have a close and permanent relationship with people, the creatures of Allah. For this very reason, the Holy Qur'ān introduces their third characteristic in this verse as thus : "(They) spend (in charity) of what We have provided them

It is noteworthy that the Qur'ān does not say that ' They spend (in charity) of what they have ', but it says : ' of what We have provided them'. In this manner, it generalizes the subject of ' charity' so broadly that it includes all the material and spiritual gifts of Allah

Therefore, the pious ones are those who donate not only from their material bounties but also from their spiritual gifts such as knowledge, science, intellect, physical power, or social abilities, and, in short, from all they have in their own possession. They donate from their own capital to those who are in need of them, and, in the meantime, they do not expect any recompense from them

Another point is that the regulation of donation is a general regularity in the world of creation and, also, in the bodily system of every living creature. The heart of a man does not beat for itself alone but it donates of whatever it has to all of the cells. The brain and the

lungs, as well as other organs of the body, continually donate the vital results of their active functions. And, generally speaking, social life with the lack of donation is meaningless.

Sincere coherence with human beings is, in fact, coherence and attachment to Allah. A person who is attached to Allah, and knows that all bounties and sustenance proceed from Him, not from himself, will not be displeased with giving charity but will be happy to donate His gifts to His servants on His way, and, as a consequence, he gains the physical and spiritual merits for doing it for himself. (For the importance of charity and its effects, refer to later explanations concerning Sura Al-Baqarah, No.2, verses ۲۶۱-۲۷۴). At any rate, this kind of thinking purifies the soul of man from miserliness and envy. It changes the world of 'struggle for existence' to the world of 'humanity and civilization', a world in which everybody bonds himself to sharing his bounties with all the needy in his environment and, like the sun, gives light to his surroundings without expecting any favor in return or recompense.

It is notable that on the meaning of the phrase : "(They) spend (in charity) of what We have provided them", a tradition from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) says : " It means that they share (and teach to those who need) the knowledge and science Allah has taught them." \(1\)

It is obvious that this statement does not mean that donation is specific to knowledge but, since when speaking about charity almost all the attention is usually turned to monetary donations, Imam Şādiq (a.s.), by mentioning this kind of spiritual donation, 'wanted to clarify the broadness of the meaning of 'donation

So therefore, this idea makes it very clear that the word 'charity', referred to in the verse under discussion, is not restricted to the 'obligatory alms giving' (Zakāt), but refers to alms in general, irrespective of obligatory or recommended ones; therefore, it has a vast meaning which includes any kind of help given gratuitously

Majma'-ul-Bayan vol. ۱, p. ۳۹; and Nur-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ۱, p. ۳۲ ۱-۱

وَالَّذِينَ يُؤْمِنُونَ بِمَا أُنزِلَ إِلَيْكَ وَمَا أُنزِلَ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ وَبِالْآخِرَةِ هُمْ يُوقِنُونَ

,"(And who believe in what has been revealed to you (Muhammad " and what has been sent down (to other apostles) before

".you; and of the Hereafter they are certain

Commentary : Verse ƒ

Belief in Divine Revelations

Another characteristic of the pious ones is belief in all of the prophets and the Divine designs. The Qur'ān says that they are those who believe in what has been revealed to Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) (i.e. the Qur'ān) and what has been sent down (to other apostles preceding him like the Turah, the Evangel, the Psalms of David and the .(rest of the Divine Books

Therefore, not only they do not feel that there is any difference in the basis of the invitation of prophets, but they know all prophets to be similar truthful teachers and trainers who came, one after another, in this great school of the world of human beings to persuade people to pave the path of their development. Further, the pious ones not only do not consider the Divine religions the cause of dispersion and hypocrisy, but, regarding their fundamental unity, recognize them as a means of .relation and sincere communication among nations

Those who have this sort of concept and this point of view would cleanse their souls and minds from the dirt of obstinacy, and believe in all that the prophets of Allah have brought forth for the guidance and development of the human race. They would .respect all the `guides' of the path of `Monotheism

Belief in the instructions of the prophets of the past (a.s.), of course, does not mean that they do not adapt their thoughts and deeds to the religion of the last prophet (p.b.u.h.), which is the last and completing link of the series of religions. If they do .anything other than that, they, in fact, regress on their path towards development

Faith in the Resurrection is an epithet which is mentioned as the last quality in this series of qualities for the pious ones. (۱) It says : "... and of the ." Hereafter they are certain

In the phrase /wa bil 'āxirati hum yūqinūn/ the word /yaqīn/ is the state of conviction and certainty reached through accepting undoubtable evidence or unquestionable proof in /muttaqīn/. One of the epithets of 'the pious ones', /muttaqīn/, is having an unshakably firm conviction and certainty that the ultimate purpose of life here lies in .the realm beyond it, in the direction towards the Absolute

They are sure that Man is not created uselessly and purposelessly. The creation has defined a route for him which will never end with death, for, if everything came to a completion in this world, all of these statements and tremendous activities and movements in the universe would certainly be in vain if it was meant only for a brief
.temporary life

He accepts that the Absolute Justice of Allah is waiting for all humankind and it is not so that our deeds in this world will be disregarded without having any reckoning and
.compensation

This belief provides him with ease and tranquility. The stresses resulting from the fulfilment of responsibilities not only do not hurt him, but on the contrary he receives them willingly. He stands firmly in front of misfortunes. He does not resign to any unjust matter. He is sure that even the smallest action, good or evil, will be compensated; and, after death, he will be transferred to a more comprehensive world where no cruelty or oppression exists. But he will meet the infinite favour and
.Mercy of Allah, the Just

Certainty of the Hereafter

Belief in the Hereafter means cleaving the binding walls of materialism and reaching a happy realm, better and higher than that. The present world is like a school wherein Man should best prepare himself for the coming world. The present life is not the final
.goal but it is a preparation for the next life which will be eternal

This Life Likened to the Prenatal Period of Foetus

The life in this world is also similar to the prenatal period of a

پ:۸۷

True Faith is, indeed, accompanied with /yaqin/'certainty'. This status in a person ۱ – ۱ may be defined from different scopes of view. The most important one of them is 'certainty of knowledge', which has been described as having three stages. More details are given on page ۲۰۸, vol. ۲, the current commentary foetus in the mother's womb. This period is not the purpose of the creation of man, of course, but it is an evolutionary stage for the next period of life. Yet, if this foetus does not finish its course safely and without any defects or harm until the baby is born, it will not be happy and prosperous in its next life

Profound Effect of Belief in the Hereafter

Belief in the Hereafter brings a profound effect in the behaviour of human beings. It gives them courage and bravery, because, 'martyrdom' in the way of a Divine holy purpose, which is life's climax of honour and pride in this world, is the most beloved thing to a believing person. Since, to him, martyrdom is the beginning of an eternal and everlasting life

Belief in the Hereafter controls man against sins. In other words, our sins have a reverse ratio with our Faith in Allah and the Hereafter. The more that Faith is firm and decisive, the less the amount of sin is

One reference is the words of Allah where He commands David (a.s) : "... and do not follow desire, lest it should lead you astray from the path of Allah: (as for) those who go astray from the path of Allah, they shall surely have a severe punishment because (they forgot the Day of Reckoning ", (Sura Şād, No. ٣٨, verse ٢٤

Yes, this forgetfulness of the 'Day of Reckoning' in man is the origin of the kinds of disobedience, cruelty, and corruption which are the total source of grievous punishment

أُولَئِكَ عَلَىٰ هُدًى مِّن رَّبِّهِمْ وَأُولَئِكَ هُمُ الْمُفْلِحُونَ

They are on (true) guidance from their Lord; and they are "

".the ones who are the successful

Commentary : Verse ٥

Both guidance and success guaranteed to the pious ones by Allah

The last verse in the verses under discussion refers to the fruit and the destination of : the pious ones who have acquired the above five attributes. It says

They are on (true) guidance from their Lord; and they are the ones who are the " :successful

In fact, both their guidance and their successfulness are guaranteed by Allah. So, it can be said that the only path towards felicity and salvation is the path of this group who, with these five special attributes, have received the guidance of Allah. The reason for the restriction, / 'ulā'ika / the pious ones only , is clear in that His guidance is always universal but only the people with such characteristics who have chosen His narrow path, and none else, can be benefited by it, and will be .successful in their life-journey in this world and the next

It is worthy to note that the term / hidāyat / ` guidance ', as was stated before, has a vast meaning including many kinds of guidance, all of which originate from Him alone, such as : Divine Guidance, Religious Guidance, and Natural Guidance. Some details about ` guidance ' were discussed when commenting on verse ٤ from Sura Al-

For further explanation about 'guidance' review pages ٥٥-٦١ in this very ١ - ١ commentary book. * By the way, imitating the style in Sura Al-Fatihah, these five beginning verses of the Sura, which were mentioned as a group at first, are exceptionally repeated again one by one both in Arabic and English when commenting on each of them. The cause of this repetition was the length of their descriptions. But .from here on, only the English translations and the descriptions will be mentioned

٧ خَتَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَىٰ قُلُوبِهِمْ وَعَلَىٰ سَمْعِهِمْ وَعَلَىٰ أَبْصَارِهِمْ غِشًا ۖ وَهُوَ وَكَفَّ عَنِ عَذَابٍ عَظِيمٍ

6. Surely, (as for) those who reject Faith, it is the same to them "

whether you have warned them or have not warned

"them, they will not believe

7. Allah has set a seal on their hearts and on their hearing " and over their eyes is a covering, and there awaits

"them a great punishment

Commentary : Vesre ٦-٧

Disbelievers, the Second Group

Point

The followers of this group are just the opposite of 'the pious ones'. Their characteristics are concisely expressed in the above two verses. In the first verse, it says

Surely, (as for) those who reject Faith, it is the same to them "

whether you have warned them or have not warned

"them, they will not believe

The first group, i.e., the pious ones, in all aspects and with all of their talents and faculties, are thoroughly ready to accept the truth and follow it when they receive it

But this group, i.e. disbelievers, insist on their aberration so rigorously that they do not agree to show any inclination towards the truth even when it becomes completely clear to them. The Qur'ān, which is a guide for the pious ones, is totally noneffective for this group. It makes no difference to them whether you describe for them or not, warn them or not, give good tidings to them or not. In principle, they are not spiritually .ready to follow the `right path' or submit to it

The second verse refers to the reason behind the existence of this bigotry and stubbornness. It indicates that they have sunk into impiety, infidelity, and enmity so : deeply that they have lost their power of distinction. It says

Allah has set a seal on their hearts and on their hearing, and over their eyes is a " "..." ,covering

And for that reason, a great penalty is appropriate for them as the consequence of their deeds, and they deserve it. As Allah warns: "... and there awaits them a great ". punishment

Thus, the eyes by which the pious ones see the signs of Allah, the ears through which they hear the words of right, and the hearts (and minds) wherein they conceive realities, are of no avail to the second group. They have minds, eyes, and ears but, when it comes to realities, they are not able to understand, to see, or to hear, indeed, because their disgraceful actions, their stubbornness, and their enmity, like curtains, .have covered over these means of acknowledgement

It is certain that man is worthy of being guided before he reaches this state, even if he is rather astray. But when he loses his sense of distinction, there will not be any way for him to attain felicity, because he does not have the means of acknowledgement. So, it is natural that `the great punishment awaits him'. This case is like the situation of a lazy student who, by his own mischoice, does not strive to study hard enough and .consequently becomes involved in the torment of ignorance and lack of certification

The important fact is that one should be careful of sins, and when he commits one, he should repent soon and wipe it out with doing good deeds, lest the sin will remain as a fast colour stain on his heart, that which would seal the heart (with sin). The turning of the mind and the heart from the `real ' towards the `unreal', when it gets rigid is .termed in the Holy Qur'ān as `sealing

A tradition from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) says : " There is not a believing servant but there is a white bright site on his heart. When he commits a sin, there appears a black dot in that site. If he repents, the black dot will disappear. But if he continues committing sins, that black dot enlarges until it covers the white bright site completely. When this site is covered (with blackness) the holder of this heart will never return back to doing good deeds. This is the meaning of the words of Allah, Almighty and Glorious, when He says : ` Nay! Rather what they used to do has put rust upon their hearts '." (Sura (Mutaffifin, No ۸۳, verse ۱۴). \(۱\)

Infidelity and its Meaning

Point

Philologically, the term /kufir/ means `to cover, to conceal'. In religion it means : `to deny the Grace or the Existence of Allah, His prophet, the prophecies of the apostles, and the Resurrection'. He who denies these principles of the religion, even only one of them, according to the consensus of Muslims, is out of the Circle of Islam and .becomes counted among the disbelievers

'Infidelity, `the corrupt tree

Anyhow, infidelity is `the corrupt tree' whose root is false ideas, its trunk is immorality, its branches and leaves are sins and vices, and its fruit is disgrace in this world and punishment in the coming world. But Faith is `the good tree' whose root is true conviction, its trunk is fair virtues, its branches and leaves are good deeds, and its fruit is the happiness and prosperity in this world and the next world which, itself, is .eternal salvation

'Faith, 'the Good Tree

Sura 'Ibrāhīm, No ۱۴, verses ۲۴-۲۶ say : " Have you not considered how Allah sets forth a parable of a goodly word (being) like a goodly tree, whose root is firm and whose branches are in heaven," "Yielding its fruit in every season by the leave of its Lord ? And Allah sets forth parables for men that they may receive admonition ". " And the parable of an evil word is as an evil tree pulled up from the surface of the earth, it has ." no stability

Hypocrites, the Third Group

Point

The above verses state a short but very expressive explanation on `hypocrites' and their spiritual specialties and characteristics illustrated by their actions

Attention should be attracted to the fact that : In a special period of its sensitive historical course, Islam was faced with a specific group among the whole of the people, who neither had the courage to truly accept the invitation of Islam, nor had the power and boldness to openly oppose it

This third group, whom the Qur'ān calls, in Arabic terminology, /munāfiqūn/ `hypocrites', are also termed the two-faced ones. They penetrate in the rows of true Muslim communities and become a great danger for Islam and Muslims. It is usually difficult for the faithful believers to recognize them, because they appear in the society with the same manner as other Muslims do. But the Qur'ān yields some clear exact signs and specialties about them which identify their hidden routines everywhere and in all centuries. These particular qualifications can provide good criteria for the real Muslims to recognize them. At the beginning, it gives an illustration : of hypocrisy itself, saying

And of the people there are some who say : `We believe in Allah and the Last Day', "
".but they do not really believe

They imagine this action of theirs as a kind of cleverness or, so to speak, an advantageous policy. Therefore : " They seek to deceive Allah and those who have "...Faith

It is not such as they think : "... but they deceive none save themselves, and they are not aware". Having deviated from the Straight Path, they spend their whole lives misled. They apply their power and potentials in vanity where their gain is nothing but .failure, infamy, and a painful Divine penalty

****

p:95

Hypocrites, a Disease

In the next verse, the Qur'ān points to the fact that hypocrisy is, indeed, a disease. A safe and sound person does not have two faces

There is complete harmony ruling between his soul and his body, since outward and inward, as well as body and spirit, are complementary to each other. If a person is a believing one, his entire being cries Faith and indicates his conviction. And if he goes astray, his deviation is revealed both outwardly and inwardly. This dissimilarity of spirit and body possessed by the hypocrite is a new additional disease. It is a sort of contradiction or duplicity or cleft that governs over the self of a man

"... ,Then, it says : "In their hearts is a disease

Hence, in the regularity of creation, everybody who choses a path and equips himself with the necessary means to pave it would go forth on that very path. Or, in other words, the abundancy of actions and imaginations of a man on his chosen route would make the above idea much more colourful and secure. Then, the verse continues saying

"...so Allah has increased their disease ..."

The investment of the hypocrite is `lies'. They adjust the contradictions found in their lives, as much as they can; each lie with its own set of excuses. Therefore, at the end of the verse, it says : "... and there awaits them a painful punishment for that they were lying

'Hypocrites, Claim to be 'Reformers

Then, the Qur'ān refers to their specialties, the first of which is the claim of being : `reformers', while they are, in fact, mischief-mongers, saying

And when it is said to them : `Do not make corruption in the earth', they say : ` " "!' Verily, we are only reformers

".Indeed, they themselves are the corruptors, but they are not aware "

Both their persistence on the path of hypocrisy and their accustomedness to these hideous disgraceful agenda have caused them to think, gradually, that their activities are useful and constructive. And, as it was mentioned previously, when sin is in excess and treads the limits, it seizes the sense of distinction, or even, it reverses the man's

.distinction. In this state, impurity and impiety prevail as his second nature

****

Hypocrites, Think Themselves Wise

Another specialty of this group is that they think themselves wise and clever while they think the believers are some simple-minded and credulous fools; as the Qur'ān
: says

: And when it is said to them : ` Believe as the people believe', they say "

"...'?Shall we believe as the fools believe`

Thus, they accuse the truth-seeking, pure-hearted people of foolishness, for that these people, observing the signs of reality and rightfulness in the content of the invitation of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), have humbly accepted it. The hypocrites consider corruption, duplicity, and hypocrisy signs of their cleverness and wisdom.

.Yes, in their logic, intellect has changed its place with foolishness

So, the Qur'ān, answering them, says : "... Beware! Truly, they themselves are the ".fools, but they do not know

Is this not, within itself, a kind of foolishness, that a person does not specify his conviction, but changes colour according to whatever group or class of ideology he joins, and assumes duplicity or even multifariousness? Is it not silly for a person to spend his faculties and abilities in doing evil and making plots for destruction and, in ?the meantime, to count himself among the wise

****

Hypocrites, Change colour everyday

The third specialty is that they change colour everyday, and choose the direction of :every group they meet. As the Holy Qur'ān says

: And when they meet those who believe, they say"

."...'(We believe (in what you believe`

They tell the believers that they follow the same school of thought as theirs, that is,
.they have accepted Islam eagerly and there is no difference between them

: but when they are alone with their evil ones, they say ..."

"... ;Verily, we are with you`

They tell their fellow men that they are mocking the believers when telling them that ".they have believed : "... we were only mocking

They say to them that they are deceiving them and, actually, they are supporters of their fellow men whom they have taken friend with and, keep their secrets safe and hidden.

****

:Then, the Qur'ān, with a beating and decisive tone says

Allah shall pay them back for their mockery, and He leaves them alone in their "inordinancy, blindly wandering on

The concluding verse, on this subject, expresses their final fate which is a very grievous, inauspicious, and dark end, thus

These are they who have bought error (in exchange) for guidance, hence their "transaction yields them no profit, nor are they guided (aright

For this very reason, their purchase not only is of no avail for them, but also they have lost even their investment

: Explanations

The Appearance of Hypocrisy and its Roots

When a revolution takes place in a society, particularly a revolution like the Islamic Revolution which was founded on the virtues of Right and Justice, the interests of an oppressive, tyrannical, and selfish group will be exposed and possibly placed in danger. At first, this group mock it, then they apply the power of guns, economic sanctions, and continuous social propagation in order to try to subvert it. But when the signs of triumph are made manifest for all of the forces and authorities of the region, some of the opponents change their practical style of opposition and apparently resign themselves, but, in fact, they organize a hidden antagonistic group against the revolution. These vicious individuals who are termed 'hypocrites', because of their actual duplicity, are the most harmful enemies of the revolution, because their position is not quite clear so that the revolutionists can recognize them and avoid them. They deceitfully imitate and join the faithful people and occupy some social positions in the rows of the pure, truthful believers. They sometimes attain the sensitive posts, even

Until the time when the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) emigrated from Mecca to Medina, Muslims had not established a government. The prime essential basis of the Islamic government was founded when the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) arrived in Medina. This process was made more manifest with the occurrence of the triumph of Badr, viz., a small but progressive government was formally organized

It was at that time that the profits of many authorities in Medina, particularly that of the Jews, who were respected by Arabs, were being threatened. The Jews were respected at that time, mostly because they were of 'the People of the Book'. (1) They were fairly learned, and they were economically advanced. It was they who, before the advent of the prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) used to give the good news of his coming

There were others, too, who were aspiring for the leadership of the people of Medina and were disappointed due to the migration of the Messenger of Allah. The cruel, selfish chieftains of Medina and their plunderous adherents saw that people, even their relatives, were tending to Islam and abundantly believing in the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). They, after resisting for a short time, understood that they could not help but to accept Islam, though only outwardly. They realized that if they had opposed and stood against the new process, besides the damages of war and economical problems, they would have faced the danger of destruction; particularly because the total power of the Arab was his tribe, but their tribes had separated from them for the most part

For this reason, they had developed a grudge in their hearts against the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and his mission. So, they secretly planned to subvert Islam. Therefore, they selected a third way. They decided to accept the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) apparently, and to follow their own plots hiddenly. (2)

.For the meaning of the People of the Book 'see p. ۲۰۲ ۱ –۱

This example also happened in the Islamic Revolution of Iran where they played ۲ –۲ the same role but, luckily, under the light of Allah's Grace and through the awareness
.of this honourable nation, they failed

In short, the appearance of hypocrisy in a society is usually the effect of one of these two causes. The first is the triumph and power of the existing revolutionary school of thought in the society. The second cause is the spiritual weakness and the lack of nobility and courage needed to challenge such a force

The Necessity of Knowing the Hypocrite

Point

Undoubtedly, hypocrisy and the hypocrite were not only particular to the time of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.); they are found in any society and at any time. They should be recognized, of course, according to the defined criteria that the Qur'ān has introduced them with, in order to prevent their probable damages or harms

A few of their characteristics

There are various characteristics mentioned about the hypocrite in the former verses, as well as through Sura Al-Munāfiqūn, No. ٤٣, and, also, in numerous Islamic traditions. Here are a few of these characteristics

Great public outbursts and high claims with lots of boasting, but little action making .١
.their claims and actions unparalleled

To swing to every side in any environment with any group; to speak among any .٢ society with the ideas of that society's school of thought, and to show themselves adherents in the society of true followers but, in the meantime, to cooperate with the .oppositional group

To separate their affairs from those of the people and to form secret hidden .٣
.societies with specific plans

.Characterized by tricks, deceit, lies, flattery, breach of promises, and treachery .٤

To act before others with self-aggrandizement and self-conceit, counting people .٥

.silly, simple, and foolish, while knowing themselves wise and clever

In short, duplicity of personality, or contrast between internal and external, which is the clear characteristic of the hypocrite, has different effects on their personal and .social behaviour, which can be easily figured out by the keen observer

How beautifully the Qur'ān puts it when it says : " In their hearts is a disease, ...". Which sickness can be worse than the sickness of duplicity of outward and inward character? What disease is more painful than the illness of self-aggrandizement or lack of courage for challenging the things that we do not believe in ?

However, the disease of hypocrisy, though it is hidden, is recognizable by its different features. It is similar to heart disease which cannot be concealed wholly; although it is unseen, its signs and symptoms can be seen in one's face and limbs quite vividly Hypocrisy, in its specific meaning, is the condition of some faithless persons who are apparently counted among Muslims, but their hearts are actually pledged to infidelity. They are the most dangerous group, not only for Islam but also for any revolutionary progressive school of thought. The hypocrites penetrate into the communities of Muslims and misuse any chance or opportunity for hindering affairs. For this very hostile position that they have, they are the object of serious attacks in the Qur'ān. One complete Sura of the Qur'ān is revealed about their circumstances which is entitled ' Al-Munāfiqūn '. They have also been reproached and condemned very strongly in the narrations of Ahlul-Bait (a.s

To introduce the hypocrite, a tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who has narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) says : "There are three specialities that when they are in a person, he/she is a hypocrite even the one who observes the fast, practices prayers and considers oneself a Muslim: he who is treacherous when he is trusted, when he speaks he tells lies, and when he promises he fails it" . (1)

Here, we attract your attention to the noble words of Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali : (a.s.) about the hypocrites. He says

" O' creatures of Allah! I advise you to fear, and I warn you against the hypocrites. " They themselves are misguided and they will misguide you. They are lost in the labyrinth of sins and vices and will make you lose your straight path in that tortuous maze. They change their colours to suit their surroundings, and their words always have double meanings. To convert you to their views and to win your sympathies they will resort to every sort of fraud and pretence, will adopt varieties of artifices and

Safinatul-Bihar, vol.2, p.605-1

pretexts and will apply all possible allurements and deceptions. They always lie in ambush to seduce you. They pretend to be sincere and honest but their hearts are full of hypocrisy and vileness. Their movements are very subtle. To mislead you they work so artfully and cunningly that you cannot easily find out their purpose. They poison your minds without your knowing it, like a disease spreading inside your body without your realizing the fact. They behave as if they are ministering cures to your ailments. They talk as if they really feel for your troubles, but the result of their activities and their persuasions will affect you like an incurable disease

Happiness and prosperity of others make them jealous and unhappy. They will do their worst to drag others into difficulties, reverses, and troubles. They will exert themselves to convert hopes of others into disappointments and despairs. And they have their victims in every walk of life

They know how to touch your heart and how to gain your ears. For your every sorrow they have crocodile tears to shed and for every pain they offer you a balm, ineffective or injurious. If they praise you, it is with the hope of getting louder praises out of you. If they want to get something out of you, they will pester you with their demands. If they wish to slander anybody they will expose him threadbare. If they pass judgments they always forsake equity and justice " \(1\)

Commentary : Verses ١٧-٢٠

Two Interesting Parables Illustrating the Hypocrite

After stating the epithets and characteristics of the hypocrite, the Holy Qur'ān, in : order to illustrate their condition, likens them to two expressive parables

In the first parable, the idea is that they are similar to a person who kindles a fire (by .١ dark night) (to distinguish the right way from the false way under its light and reach
: the destination). It says

The likeness of them is as the likeness of a man who kindled a fire, and when it lit all "
".about him Allah took away their light, and left them in darkness unseeing

They think they can challenge against the darkness they are in with a small little fire. But, it happens that suddenly a storm arrives, or a heavy rain falls, or their fuel runs out and the fire dies in coldness; so, they remain helpless, wandering in the terrible darkness

Then, it adds : "(They are) deaf, dumb, blind so they shall not return (to the right path)", because they no longer have the essential necessary means of grasping the truth in their possession

Allah, the Exalted, stating the status of the hypocrites and unbelievers, informs His Messenger that they have totally lost their human innate potentialities. They, abusing it, have destroyed the talent which Allah has originally put in their created nature and they should revive it in order for it to be used correctly. They have entirely deprived themselves of the real function of the divine faculties of sight, hearing, and speech. These sense organs are practically left useless and ineffective

.In the second parable, the scene of their life is illustrated in another way .r

It is a dark fearful night, full of terror and danger. The rain is heavily falling and lightning flashes in the corner of the horizon every now and then. The horrible crashes of thunder seem to tear the eardrums. A defenceless person, amazed at the situation in this vast dark dangerous plain, gains no benefit. For this frightened person, whose back is wet from the rain, there is neither a safe and secure shelter to take refuge, nor does the darkness let him step forth towards his destination

The Holy Qur'ān, in a short sentence, explains the situation of such a wandering passenger, thus : " Or (their) likeness is as a rainstorm from heaven wherein is "... darkness, thunder and lightning

Then, it adds : "...They put their fingers in their ears against the thunderclaps, fearful "... ;of death

And, at the end of the verse, the Qur'ān points to a fact that wherever the disbelievers go, they are under the forceful control and watch of Allah. It says : "... thus Allah

".encompasses the infidels

***

p:۱۰۵

.In this situation lightning brightens the expanse of the sky again and again

"... ,The lightning well-nigh snatches away their sight "

Whenever the lightning strikes and lightens the dark spread of the desert, they walk a few steps under that light, but, immediately after that, they find themselves in the : same darkness they were in before whenever it gives them light, they walk therein, and when it darkens over them..."

"... .they stand still

Every moment, they feel the danger in front of them because there is nothing in this desert, such as a mountain, a tree, or anything else for them to seek refuge in order to protect themselves from the danger of the flash of lightning and thunderbolt. At any moment they may be seized by the lightning as its prey and be laid in ashes in a :blink of an eye

There is even the danger of the sound of thunder tearing their eardrums and the sharp flash of lightning blinding their eyes. Yes, it is true : "... Had Allah willed, He would have taken away their hearing and

".their sight. Truly, Allah is All-powerful over all things

At the time of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the quick spread of Islam, like the lightning, dazzled their eyes, and the verses of the Qur'ān, which uncovered their secrets, surrounded them as quick as lightning. They thought that another verse might come down, too, and remove the curtains from some other secrets, so, they would become .publicly more disgraced

The Qur'ān also points to this very meaning where it says : " The Hypocrites are afraid lest a Sura should be sent down about them, showing them what is (really passing) in their hearts, say: `Mock you! But verily Allah will bring to light all that you fear (should .(be revealed)'. " (Sura At-Taubah, No. 9, verse 64

Again, the Qur'ān, verifying that the hypocrites were always in terror and fear that, with their secrets being manifested, Allah's command would come down for the Muslims to fight them, the worst interior enemy of Islam, and destroy them, says : "Truly, if the Hypocrites, and those in whose hearts is a disease, and those who stir up sedition in the City, desist not, We shall certainly stir thee up against them: then will they not be able to stay in it as your neighbours for any length of time:" " They shall have a curse on them: wherever they are found, they shall be siezed and slain

..((without mercy))." (Sura Al-Aḥzāb, No. ٣٣, verses ٦٠ and ٦١)

In the Islamic literature, as was mentioned before, the traditions and data narrated about the hypocrite are abundant. One of them is the tradition that Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) quoted from his father and grandfathers who, in turn, had narrated from the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) who, addressing Hadrat Ali-ibn-Abī-tālib (a.s.), said : " There are three signs for a believer : prayer, fasting, and alms. There are also indications referring to a hypocrite : when he speaks he tells lies, when he promises, ,he breaks them

(and when he is entrusted with (something), he proves himself to be dishonest" (١)

Again, `Abdullāh `Umar narrates from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that there are four characteristics which are the signs of hypocrisy: lie in speech, excuse in promise, (wickedness in enmity, and dishonesty in deposit. (٢) a canopy, and has sent down water from heaven, wherewith He brings forth fruits for

Commentary : Verses ٢١-٢٢

!Do Worship Allah

In the former verses, Allah describes the statuses of three groups of people (the righteous, the disbelievers, and the hypocrites), by explaining that the righteous are inside the circle of the Divine Guidance and the Qur'ān guides them; while the hearts of the disbelievers are sealed with ignorance and, because of their own deeds, their eyes are covered with negligence which has taken away their sense of perception. And, the hypocrites are some ill-hearted people whose evil actions increase their sickness.

In the verses under discussion, after that vivid comparison, the path of felicity and salvation is specified as following the path of the first group, the righteous : " O' mankind! Worship your Lord Who created you, and those before you, so that you may ", (guard yourselves (against evil

? What is Servitude and Worship

The word 'servitude' in lexicon means : 'the condition of subjection, submissiveness and obedience of a slave to a master'. Worship is the utmost aspect of submissiveness to the One Who is at the highest degree of virtue, kindness, benevolence, and magnanimity. That is why He has distinctly commanded : "...That (you worship none but Him, ..." (Sura Al-Asra, No. ١٧, verse ٢٣

The person who has a little understanding can apply his intellect to know himself and his own Lord. When he recognizes himself, the one who has been considered the most noble creature, he will know his own Lord and Cherisher, too. This is a popular tradition that the person who after knowing himself, would know his Lord and Cherisher by that recognition. Then, as it is said, the key to the recognition of Allah is the recognition of one's self. When he finds himself in his servitude and his Lord in His Divinity, he understands that he should concentrate his obedience, humility, submissiveness and servitude unto the One in Whose hand and Will is his soul and entity; the One from Whom (s.w.t.) he takes sustenance constantly. If the emanation of existence from the Absolute Bountiful Origin ceased from him even for a moment, .he would be deprived of the bounty of existence

: Some Explanations

Regarding the above verses, there are some points, here, that : should be paid attention to

The phrase /yā ayyu-han-nās/ 'O' mankind', which occurs twenty times in the Holy Qur'ān, has a general and collective meaning that envelops all human beings of any race, tribe, or colour. This clearly shows that the Holy Qur'ān does not pertain exclusively to a special group of people, but it invites every single person to its invitation, in general. It persuades everybody to accept Monotheism and refuse any .idolatry and deviation from the path of theism

To invoke the sense of people's thankfulness and to concentrate their attention on .۲
the worshipping of Allah, it begins from the greatest bounty, i.e., the bounty of the .creation of all human beings

It is a bounty that illustrates both the Power of Allah and His Knowledge, in addition to His `General Mercy' and `Specific Mercy', because in the creation of Man, the best creature in the world of existence, the signs of His infinite Knowledge and Power, together with His vastly distributed bounties, are clearly seen

The reason that some do not bow before Allah and do not worship Him is mostly because they do not contemplate their own creation and the creation of those who came before them. They do not take into consideration that it is not right to attribute this magnificent creation to the blind and deaf causes of nature. We cannot think of these accurate, reliable and incomparable bounties, which are vividly seen in the body and the spirit of Man, from any origin except Allah, Who is the source of all knowledge and power. Therefore, the remembrance of these bounties is both a reason for theology and a stimulus for thankfulness and worshipping, along the path of Allah

The fruit of this worshipping is piety and righteousness : "...so that you may guard .۴ .", (yourselves against evil

Thus, our worshippings and prayers do not add anything to the Dignity and Glory of Allah, just as the abandoning of them does not take anything from His Greatness and Beauty. These kinds of practices are some training classes to teach man piety, which is synonymous with having a sense of responsibility, and, the standard of measuring one's personality. Finally, it is worship that causes man to attain the epithet of being pious, a good mood in the spirit of man, that comes into being as a result of worship and servitude unto Allah

The emphasis on the phrase : `Those before you', in the verse, may refer to the .۴ idea that if you agree with the custom of your ancestors that you should worship idols, Allah is the creator of both you and your ancestors. He is the Master and the Cherisher of you and your ancestors both. So, worshipping the idols, either done by you or by your ancestors, is not anything but aberration

The Sky and the Earth are Bounties

Point

The Sky and the Earth are Bounties In the next verse, it points to some other great bounties of Allah that can serve to motivate men to be thankful. At first, it refers to the : creation of the Earth and its Creator

"... ,Who has spread out the earth as a resting place for you "

The Earth

The earth is like a mount that carries you on its back. It continues moving at a wonderful speed in space. It has different movements but you feel no shaking at all. .So the earth is one of Allah's great bounties

The Gravity

Another bounty is the gravity of the earth which enables you to walk, rest, build houses and to prepare gardens, fields, and all kinds of vehicles, instruments, etc; for your usage. Have you ever thought that if the gravity of Earth did not exist, because of its rotation, all of us and all of our houses and furniture, or, in general, everything ? on the globe would be immediately thrown floating into space

The term /firāsh/ `a resting place' not only has the meaning of rest and tranquility, but .also contains the concept of being pleasant and warm with a moderate temperature

It is interesting that, commenting on this verse, Ali-ibn-il-Ḥusayn, the fourth Imam of the Shi` ah school (a.s.), has clearly explained this meaning, thus : " Allah has arranged the earth adapted to your nature and appropriate for your bodies. He made it neither very hot so that it roasts you, nor very cold so that it freezes you. He made it neither too aromatic so much so that its odor hurts your brains, nor too foul-smelling to cause your death. He planned it neither too soft so that you be drowned in it, like in water, nor too rigid and stable to enable you to build houses and make graves to bury the corpses of your men (which cause many disasters when they remain unburied)... Yes,

[it is for this reason that `He has spread out the earth as a resting place for you'." \[\\(1\\)\]\(#\)](#)

The word /banā'/, considering the term /`alaykum/ `above you', refers to the meaning that the heaven is made up above you like a canopy. This idea is mentioned in another place in the Holy Qur'ān, saying: " And We have made the heaven as a canopy well guarded..." , (Sura

This statement may seem amazing to some of those who are acquainted with the intrinsic structure of the heaven and earth from the point of modern astronomy. They may ask where and how this canopy is. Does this idea not call to mind the Ptolemaic Theory which indicated that planets are set over each other in the sky like the layers of an onion? The subject will be made clear when the following explanation is considered.

The Sky

The term /samā'/ has been used in the Qur'ān in different places whose common meaning is something alongside the solution to the above problem. One of those meanings is referred to in this verse. It is the very atmosphere around the earth, that is, the thick aerial distance with a mass of gases that has surrounded the globe whose thickness, according to what specialists have said, is, roughly speaking, hundreds of kilometers, though it is not distributed uniformly in the vertical direction.

If we contemplate the essential and vital function of this mass of air, generally called the atmosphere, which has enveloped the whole earth, we will understand how this strong and stable canopy, or ceiling, is effective in protecting the lives of human beings.

This special amount of air which, as a crystal ceiling, has surrounded us, the inhabitants of the earth, is so strong and resisting that in comparison with a steel dam several meters thick, it is stronger; while it does not hinder the brilliant sunshine, which has a vital, life-giving and pleasant ray, from reaching us.

If this ceiling were not over us, the earth would be continuously beaten with showers of celestial meteorites, wherein human beings would have no peace and calmness. But this several hundred kilometer thick airy ceiling burns almost all the celestial meteorites before they reach the surface of the earth, except a few of them which can sometimes pass through it and fall somewhere on the ground to warn the earthly living creatures as a ring of danger. This small number of stones has never succeeded to destroy the security of human lives yet; except on those occasions that Allah used them to destroy previous generations for their evil deeds

The atmosphere, a vast and complicated physical system, has a

.basic environmental influence on plant, animal, and human life

One of the references which shows that one of meanings of the Arabic word /samā'/ as 'the atmosphere of the earth', is a tradition cited by the sixth Imam, Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) describing the colour of the sky for one of his followers, Mufaddal. He said : "O Mufaddal! Contemplate the colour of the sky which Allah has created so that it seems blue, a colour that is the most appropriate for the eyes, and looking at it strengthens the vision." \(1\)

We all know today that the blue colour of the sky is nothing but the reflection of sunlight on the intense thick air around the earth. Therefore, the word /samā', 'sky', \(here, refers to the very 'atmosphere of the earth'. \(2\)

Sura An-Naḥl, No. ١٦, verse ٢٩ says : " Do they not look at the birds held poised in the midst of (the air and) the sky? " Then it refers to rain, thus : "...and has sent down "...water from heaven

But, what water! It is a life-giver, an essential producer of vital energy, and the origin of all inhabited regions containing many material blessings

The Rain

The phrase : " and has sent down water from heaven ", confirms the fact, once more, that /samā', here, means the atmosphere of the earth. And we know that it is clouds that produce rain and clouds are the formation of water vapor floating in the air, above the surface of the earth

Commenting on the bounty of rain coming down from the sky, Ali-ibn-il-Ḥusayn, : Imam Sajjād (a.s.), has cited an interesting narration which says

Allah has sent down rain from the sky to water the peaks of mountains, and hills, " ditches and, on the whole, all sites high or low (saturating them completely). He planned for it to rain continually and gently, with raindrops being individual and separated from each other; sometimes in the form of drizzles or mistlike, and sometimes in the form of

---

(Tauhid-i-Mufaddal (Theism), p. ۱, (Persian version ۱ –۱

Other meanings of the sky will be dealt with when discussing verse ۲۹ of the ۲ –۲ current Sura. Explanation about the atmosphere, when commenting on verse ۲۲, is helpful, too (rainfall, in order to let it go down in the soil and saturate and fruits" .(1

Then, the Qur'ān refers to the kinds of fruits and nutritious foods that are produced because of rain and awarded to men as their sustenance. It says : "...wherewith He ."...;brings forth fruits for your sustenance

This process of producing fruits is one of the most valuable proofs of His Existence. On one hand, it indicates the vast extent of Allah's Mercy unto all human creatures, and on the other hand, it specifies His Power by which, from colourless water, He can create thousands of colours in fruits and grains whose different properties are useful : for men, as well as other living creatures. Hence, immediately after that, it adds

."so do not set up rivals with Allah while you know..."

Verily, you know that these idols, or partners, which are the creations of your own fancy, have neither created you nor given you sustenance nor any of your bounties. Then, how do you go after those false gods? Do not adopt any equals for Allah and be .devoted to Him to translate His Will into a practical life

: Explanation

Idolatry in Different Forms

It is necessary to note that the false gods are not exclusively wooden or stone idols, or, for example, recognizing a man such as Jesus Christ (a.s.) as one of the trinity, but the concept has a broader scope of meaning. The false gods may be superstitions, self, or even some great or glorious things like rank, position, art, poetry, science, or, kinds of pride which can be the hidden forms of idolatry when they are set up as rivals to Allah. So, in general, knowing anything save Allah, effective in life is a kind of .idolatry

A Detailed Scientific Meaning of Atmosphere

The Qur'ānic term /samā'/ 'sky', wherefrom the rain, for example, comes down, sometimes has the meaning of atmosphere, whose explanation according to some : encyclopedias is as follows

The 'atmosphere' is the mass of 'air' surrounding the earth to a distance of several hundred kilometers. It appears insubstantial but in reality it has enormous mass. It is not simply a formless mass of gases which can be divided into several layers on the basis of meteorological and electromagnetic considerations, but it consists, roughly, of three major layers which differ widely in their characteristics. These layers are: the troposphere, the stratosphere, and the ionosphere. The troposphere is the layer of air that lies next to and immediately above the earth's surface. The height of the troposphere varies from the poles of the earth to the Equator, being about four or five .miles at the poles and about 10 miles at the Equator

Stratosphere was the term formerly applied to the entire atmosphere above the troposphere. Later it was found that the temperature did vary significantly with the height and also that there existed various stratifications. Some scientists have introduced rather detailed terminology to describe various layers of increasing, decreasing, and constant temperature in the atmosphere and the Ozone layer. But here the distinction will be made between two layers only : the 'stratosphere' extending upward from the tropopause to the ionosphere, and the ionosphere, whose .lowest ionized layer is found at a height of 35 to 40 miles

The standard pressure of the atmosphere (760 millimeters) is very nearly equal to 100000 dynes per square centimeter and is often referred to as the 'bar'. The 'millibar' is 1/1000 of this quantity, sanctioned by the International Meteorological Conferences as .the standard for the expression of barometric pressure

If the atmosphere were of uniform density at a standard pressure of 760 millimeters of mercury and at a temperature of 0C, its height could easily be calculated based on the weight of a cubic centimeter of air being 0.0012928 grams. The height of such a uniform atmosphere is 7.99 kilometers (4.97 miles), and is known as the 'height of

.homogeneous atmosphere ' conveniently useful in certain physical computations

The actual height of the atmosphere is somewhat difficult to determine since it becomes very tenuous at great heights. We may, however, infer its extent from three sources : (1) the duration of twilight which depends upon scattered sunlight from high atmospheric particles; (2) the height at which meteors become luminous; and (3) observation of auroral streamers. Twilight has been observed to exist until the sun is about 18 below the horizon, which, at a latitude of 45, indicates the existence of sufficient atmospheric particles to scatter sunlight at a height of over 60 kilometers (37 miles). Meteors have been observed to become luminous as high as 300 kilometers (186 miles). Auroral streamers have been seen to stretch upward to a height of 1100 kilometers (680 miles). It is very difficult to assign an upper limit to the earth's atmosphere. Atmospheric gases in an exceedingly tenuous condition probably extend hundreds if not thousands of miles above the earth's surface

Point

After Allah (s.w.t.) explains the state of the hypocrite and disbelievers, and, through the creation of the heaven and the earth, sending down rain and growing plants on the ground, proves the existence of the Creator and Cherisher of the universe, He begins to validate the rightfulness of the Holy Qur'ān and the truthfulness of His Messenger

In order to show everyone the miraculousness of the Qur'ān with clear evidence, according to one's portion of wit and understanding, that the Qur'ān will be an argument for all, Allah confirms the prophethood of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) and the authenticity of the Holy Qur'ān by suggesting a challenge, a direct confrontation, not only to all the contemporaries of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) but also to men in all ages. " And if you are in doubt of what We have sent down to Our (faithful) Servant (Muhammad)...."

It addresses all the rejectors, with a concrete test, saying that if you imagine that the Qur'ān, which has been sent down from Pure Holiness to the chosen servant of Allah in the form of statements and with the combination of ordinary alphabetical letters, is not from Him and it is the word of a human, then since outwardly you are in the same state from the point of being a human as the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) is, you should be able to produce a Sura like that of the Qur'ān and call your own witnesses that are like you, the disbelievers of the Qur'ān. You would compare your evidence with one of the Suras of the Qur'ān, even if it be a small one such as Sura Kauthar and the like. If those two were similar in comparison in all their qualities, merits and privileges, you could .rightfully reject the legitimacy of the Qur'ān

The disbelievers and pagan Arabs, who were the masters of literature and eloquence, refrained from accepting this challenge despite their pride and haughtiness in eloquence and avoided the competition. Therefore, inevitably, they turned the literary contest into a bloody battle. Thus, getting killed was easier for them than being disgraced and defeated in a literary contest. The Arab literature became helpless and meagre against the challenge of the Qur'ān. Neither those who lived at the time of the Qur'ān's revelation, nor the people born in the centuries after that could bring anything like this Holy Book, or could do anything against it, inspite of trying with their .utmost strength. They were thus forced to retreat after exerting utmost efforts

? Why is the Holy Qur'ān a Miracle and How

Being complete true revelation, the Qur'ān is itself a miracle. As it is authentically known and also was mentioned in the above, at the time of the Qur'ān's revelation the literary talent and eloquence of Arabs were at their peak, yet the miraculousness of the Qur'ān is not confined to its inimitable literary excellence and eloquence. It stands on its own innumerable different merits some of which are beyond the reach of the complete conception of the literary geniuses of the Arab world. It has such a rhetorical capacity and linguistic excellence that is able to express different views and knowledge in a manner that is understood and appreciated by every rational human being of any standard and accomplishment of all the ages. Then everybody in any time, once provided with the opportunity to become acquainted with the Holy Qur'ān, which offers information by which all of his/her arguments will be completed, he/she can find himself or herself convinced by it. Such extensive knowledge and such power of expression is beyond the limitations of human ability.

,Even of the literate Arab people as were previously referred to, especially at the time of the Qur'ān's revelation when the literature of the Arabic language had reached its climax, none dared to bring a Sura similar to even its shortest one. This very single point is the smallest miraculous aspect of the Qur'ān

There is no doubt that if the Qur'ān were the word of a human and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), himself, who was known to the world as an illiterate one, had produced it, they would bring many Qur'āns like it and would prove that this is not the word of Allah revealed to him (p.b.u.h.). In that condition, the enemies of Islam would maintain their works which would be available everywhere and in any ages so that they could publish and distribute them, even now, to defame the one genuine Qur'ān, but there is none

Apart from its inimitable literary excellence, the Holy Qur'ān with its other names such as `Furqān' and `Tibyān' referring to the abilities it has, presents to the human world definite prophecies fulfilled and yet to be fulfilled, and long after. It contains some facts about endowments in nature which the human knowledge of science as it progresses will have to understand, for its further advancement. The perfectness of such nature, naturally, will be the last word with regard to the ideas, religious and social laws, sciences, and many many other things that it contains and will remain for ever, until the Hereafter

This universality of the truth expressed in the idea and beauty and the attractive force of the language is so divine that, as we said before, it is beyond the reach of the expressive power of any limited being. It is in this regard that the Holy Qur'ān claims to be not only the word of Allah, inimitable, but the Final Word in respect to truth and justice the better or even the like of it is impossible to be produced by any one. However, it is true to say simply and shortly that the Holy Qur'ān is a miracle with respect to its contents which is the source of all knowledge and science, as it itself says : " Say : If the sea were ink (wherewith to write out) for the words of my Lord, the sea would surely be consumed before the words of my Lord are exhausted, though ,We were to bring the like of that (sea) to add thereto for its aid", (Sura Al-Kahf

Thus, this verse, by itself, is a vital piece of evidence regarding the correctness of the \(above stated claim.\)

? Why do Prophets Need Miracles

We know that the Divine mission of prophethood is a great rank endowed upon some of the purified distinguished members of the human race. Since the purpose of prophethood is the comprehensive guidance ruling over the body and spirit of individuals, and society, toward perfection and the laying down of a legal system and social order for mankind, the assumption of responsibility involved is necessarily heavy and taxing. So, it requires great capacity and energy. Allah, therefore, bestows the position of prophethood on those who have the ability and capacity to receive and follow through the light of revelation. This unique privilege and speciality of prophets is also shown in their miracles, which all of them had. And, to prevent some false, deceitful impostors from claiming the position, it is necessary that, besides the revelation, the real ones should have sufficient evidence to bear testimony to the truth of their declaration and prove the claim that they are sent by Allah. That is, a prophet should utter such words and exhibit such deeds which could not be uttered or performed by any natural means within the power of a finite being, such as : restoring the dead to life again, communicating with animals and inanimate bodies, and the .likes of them. These supernatural events are termed as miracles

The prophet who has a miracle should introduce it to people and invite them to challenge with it. If they can produce none similar to that, thus, by the means of his .miracle, he proves the truthfulness of his declaration

O' dear respected reader of this book! Have you ever thought that when more ۱ – ۱ than two of the globe is covered with sea water and if we consider it twice as much when we use it entire as ink in order to write out the science and secrets of the Qur'an, i.e. the word of Allah so sooner would the doubled oceans of the globe be exhausted than would the words of Allah, the science and secrets of the Qur'an? Then be careful

!when considering how magnificent the Glorious Qur'an is

! (.The Holy Qur'ān,The Everlasting Miracle of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h

Amongst the miracles issued by the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), the Qur'ān is the best remaining evidence of his rightfulness. We know, of course, that, according to what the leading scholars of Islam have said, he (p.b.u.h.) had about ۴۴۴۰ miracles. But the Qur'ān is a Book beyond the thoughts and mind of a mortal being. None has been able .to bring one similar to it yet. It is a great heavenly miracle

The reason that amongst all the miracles of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) the Qur'ān has been chosen as the greatest remaining evidence of legitimacy of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) is that it is a miracle which is `expressive', `everlasting', .`world-wide', and `spiritual

Each of the former prophets (a.s.) had to accompany his miracle to prove its inimitability when he used to invite his opponents for challenging and bringing the like of it. In fact, his miracle or miracles could not express themselves and it was the explanations of the prophet that would complete them. This statement is also true for .all the miracles of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) except the Holy Qur'ān

The Qur'ān is a clear miracle which need not be introduced. It invites others to itself, demands the rejecters to challenge it while it defeats them, condemns them, and it always stands victorious. That is why it, after passing centuries, viz., since the departure of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) up to the present, has been continuing its invitation the same as it did during his lifetime (p.b.u.h). It is both religion and miracle; law, and .the document of the law

The Holy Qur'ān, Global and Eternal

The reputation of the Holy Qur'ān cleft the bonds of time and distance and influenced beyond them. The miracles of the prophets before the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), and even his own miracles save the Qur'ān, happened in a special period of time, at a definite place and for a specific group of people. For example : the utterances of the holy little child of Virgin Mary, and raising the dead by Jesus (a.s.) were done at some definite times and places before the eyes of some particular people. And we know that regarding the things that depend on time and place, the farther we move away from them correlatively the weaker they become. This is one .of the properties of affairs related to time

But, the Holy Qur'ān does not depend on time and place. Its brilliance and authority that illuminated the darkness of Arabia fourteen centuries ago continues unwaveringly to shine with its original splendor. Besides that, the passing of time, the advancement of science and the development of information have made it possible for us to understand it and take its advantages even more than the nations of former ages did. It is evident that what time and place cannot influence will continue to be everywhere in the world for eternity. It is also clear that a world-wide everlasting religion should have a world-wide everlasting document of legitimacy in its .possession

: Then we can discuss the Holy Qur'ān

;from the point of modern science

;and the scientific explorations

;and the rotation of the Earth

;and reproduction in the plant kingdom

;and general reproduction in all the particles of the world

;and general gravity

;and the surrendering of the Sun and the Moon

Commentary : Verse ٢٥

The Specialties of the Bounties in Heaven

Bountiful Gardens

The Specialties of the Bounties in Heaven In the aforementioned verse, the infidels and the rejecters of the Qur'ān were severely threatened with a grave chastisement. Now, in this verse, to make the fact clear, by comparing the destinies of the two contradictory groups, as the style of the Qur'ān is, the destiny of the true believers is referred to as the antithesis to the painful fate of the disbelievers

First, it says : " And (O' Muhammad) give glad tidings to those who have Faith and do
" ... good deeds that for them are gardens beneath which rivers flow

We know that those gardens that have not a permanent source of water and need to be occasionally irrigated are not so bountiful and pleasant because of frequent difficulties concerning their upkeep. The complete freshness is of those gardens which always have enough water easily available and within their reach. The water that belongs to them, making them self-sufficient, will never end. Then drought and shortage of water will never threaten them. The gardens of Heaven

.have such a condition

Then to point out the numerous kinds of fruit in those gardens, it says: "...Every time they are provided with fruits therefrom, they shall say: `This is what we were provided with before

The commentators have cited some rather different commentaries concerning this statement

Some of them have said that the objective meaning of this statement is that these blessings are for the good deeds they did formerly in the world. It was those deeds that were previously sent before them and the path was paved for them in the Hereafter

The Fruits

Some others have asserted that when the Heavenly fruits are brought for them for the second time, they say that these fruits are the same as they had before, but when they eat them they sense a new taste and a fresh pleasure in them. Or, for example, when we eat grapes and apples in this world, every time we eat them or drink their juices they have basically the same tastes; but the fruits in Heaven will have a different taste every time they will be tasted, although they are apparently alike. This is one of the privileges of that world being as if there is no monotony in it

Some have also said that it means that when they see the fruits of Heaven, they find them like the fruits in this world in order not to be odd and curious for them, but when they eat them they sense the flavor quite newly-tasting and excellent

There is no controversy that the above statement refers to all these meanings and even to some other interpretations beyond them, because the words of the Qur'ān sometimes bear several meanings

"...,Then it adds : "...and they shall be given the like thereof

That is, from the point of beauty and wholesomeness, all of the various Heavenly fruits are alike and they are at such a high standard that none of them can be preferred over others. They are not like the fruits in this world that some may be too ripe or aromatic while some others are, for example, too green or tasteless. The fruits in the gardens of Heaven, likening them with those of this world, are all pleasantly .fragrant, delicious, wholesome, and beautifully interesting

Purified Spouses

And finally, the last bounty, which is referred to in this verse, is ` purified spouses ', : where it says

p:۱۲۴

"...and there for them shall be spouses purified ..."

The spouses are purified and are free from all the dirt and taints, bodily and .spiritually, which they may have in this world

One of the problems that man is confronted with, concerning the bounties in this world, is that at the same time that he possesses a bounty he thinks of its perdition and is worried about the time he is going to be in lack of it. For this very reason, the bounties in this world can never produce real tranquility for him. But the bounties in Heaven are eternal. They have no end and no perdition or discontinuation. They are full, complete, soothing and calming. So, to confirm this meaning, at the end of the : verse, it says about the believers

****

: Occasion of Revelation

On the occasion of the revelation of this verse, the leading commentators have narrated from Ibn-Abbas as saying : " This verse has been revealed on the virtue of Hadrat Ali-ibn Abitālib (a.s.) and the true believers", \(1\) (since they have both `Faith' .('and `good deeds

****

: Explanations

Faith and Deeds .1

In many of the verses in the Qur'ān, `Faith' and `good deeds' are mentioned to be so closely together that they seem to be inseparable. True, it is so because Faith and .practice are complementary to each other

If Faith influences the depths of man's soul, its radiance will certainly reflect in his acts and cause his deeds to become `good deeds'. It is like a room wherein a bright light is kindled whose beams radiate outside through all the doors and windows. The same is the bright light of the lamp of Faith when it is glowing inside a man's enlightened heart

Tafsir-us-Safi, vol. ۱, p. ۸۹, and Tafsir-i-Burhan, vol. ۱, p. ۷۰ -۱

If this occurs, the light of that brilliant lamp of Faith radiates from his eyes, ears,
.tongue, hands and feet

Sura At-Ṭalāq, No. ٦٥, verse ١١ says: "... And those who believe in Allah and work righteousness, He will admit to Gardens beneath which rivers flow, to dwell therein
"...for ever

Also, Sura An-Nur, No. ٢٤, verse ٥٥ says: " Allah has promised, to those among you who believe and work righteous deeds, that He will, of a surety, grant them in the "...(land, inheritance (of power

Fundamentally, `Faith' is as the root of a plant, and `good deeds' are its fruit. The existence of pleasant sweet fruit shows evidence to the soundness of the root which .causes that useful fruit to be produced

Some unbelieving persons may occasionally do some good deeds but that act will surely not be performed continuously. What is noble and certain to bring forth good deeds is the Faith that has penetrated the depths of man's soul and causes him/her to .have a feeling of responsibility

The Purified Spouses .۞

It is interesting that the only epithet that is mentioned in this verse to qualify the Heavenly spouses is the attribute of `purified'. This is an indication to the idea that the first and the most important status of a spouse is `purity', and all good qualities other than that are totally outshone by its radiance. The well-known tradition that is narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) makes this fact even clearer. He has said : " Avoid the green plants grown over dunghill". The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) was asked what he meant by `the green plants grown over dunghill', and he answered : "
It is the beautiful women who have grown up among filthy family members."(۱)

The word /azwāj/ in the plural means mates or wives which in the case of the female sex means husbands. This may mean the faithful wives of the faithful husbands i.e., women who had been true and faithful believers in the truth and who had been the wives of the men

Wasa'il-ush-Shi'ah, vol. ١٤, p. ١٩ -١

.who were also believers

However, the women in Heaven, whether they are `houri' (angels) or `human creatures', are purified and clean both from the point of outward dirt such as : blood, urine, feces, semen, menstruation, postpartal bleeding, excessive menstruation, dirtiness, and the like; and from the point of inward dirt such as : bad qualities of character, evil dispositions like : rancour, grudges, envy, habitual frowning, and the like of them; and also from the point of some hideous behaviours like : adultery, fornication, and all kinds of similar vices. They, having the total aspects and conditions .of purification, are clean from all sorts of corruption and possess purity in its entirety

Sa`id-ibn-`Āmir has narrated a tradition from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) which says : " If one of the women of Heaven looks once towards the earth the whole world will be full of perfume of musk and the radiance of her light will prevail over the light of the \(sun and the moon" . \(1

The Material and Spiritual Blessings in Heaven .۴

In many of the verses of the Qur'ān the words are about the blessings of Heaven, bounties such as : gardens beneath which rivers flow, castles, purified spouses, .numerous fruits, loyal and faithful companions, etc

But, besides these bounties, some other excellent blessings are also mentioned whose splendour and magnificence is impossible to be estimated with the worldly criteria that we have. For example, Sura At-Taubah, No. ۹, verse ۷۲ says : " Allah has promised to Believers, men and women, Gardens under which rivers flow, to dwell therein, and beautiful mansions in Gardens of everlasting bliss. But the greatest bliss ".is the Good Pleasure of Allah : that is the supreme felicity

And, in Sura Al-Bayyinah, No. ۹۸, verse ۸, after mentioning some material blessings in Heaven, it says : "...Allah is well-pleased with them and they are well-pleased with ".Him

And truly, if a person reaches the position that he feels his Lord is pleased with him and he is also pleased with Him, he will dismiss all other pleasures. He will attach only to Him and will think of none else. This is a spiritual pleasure that cannot be described .with any words nor in any language

Finally, since the Resurrection has both `spiritual' and `physical' aspects, the bounties in bliss have both of those aspects, too, in order that their comprehensiveness be established and everyone, according to his/her worthiness and eligibility, will enjoy .them

٢٦ إِنَّ اللَّهَ لَا يَسْتَحْي أَن يَضْرِبَ مَثَلًا مَّا بَعُوضَةً فَمَا فَوْقَهَا فَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا فَيَعْلَمُونَ أَنَّهُ الْحَقُّ مِنْ رَبِّهِمْ وَأَمَّا الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا فَيَقُولُونَ
مَاذَا أَرَادَ اللَّهُ بِهَذَا مَثَلًا يُضِلُّ بِهِ كَثِيرًا وَيَهْدِي بِهِ كَثِيرًا وَمَا يُضِلُّ بِهِ إِلَّا الْفَاسِقِينَ

Allah does not disdain to set forth the parable even of a gnat, or anything greater " .٢٦
.than that. As for those who have Faith, they know that it is the truth from their Lord

' ?And for those who reject Faith, they ask : ` What does Allah mean by this parable

Thereby He leads many astray and guides many, and He leads none astray save the ."transgressors

Commentary : Verse ٢٦

Point

The purpose of a parable is to make the meaning of an abstract idea more clear and explicit with the help of a material thing in order to assist the mind in catching the idea through consideration. The more man's wisdom is dependent on his base understanding, the less vigorous strength he has to conceive the spirit and reality of things when his imagination interferes. That is why that in the Divine Book and in the words of the wise and men of letters, the essence of meanings are stated in the form of parables to make complicated concepts plain, hence through a logical thing find a .way to the philosophical

The Parable of the Gnat

A `gnat' is a small insect which is perceptible by the naked eye. Gnat is mentioned in this verse, perhaps, to show that striking a similitude between small things or beyond it is not inappropriate for the Glorious Dignity of the Essence of Allah, but to confirm that the proportion of His Sovereignty is the same over big or small, high or low and, in general, all are encompassed by His Power and are benefited by His endless Mercy and Grace. Furthermore, if we observe carefully, we will see that all the creatures, whether complex or simple, like a chain, are linked to one another. They are so interrelated and perform their duties with such surprising harmony and regularity that it is as if they have formed a .single unit to take part in a general service

The term 'gnat', in this verse, may refer to the greatness and fairness that is used in .the creation of a gnat, this very small creature

Concerning this meaning, there is a tradition from Imam Şādiq(a.s.) who said : " Verily, Allah (s.w.t.) has set forth a parable of a gnat because He has created 'gnat', with that small size it has, consisting of all that He has created in 'an elephant' with that bigness it possesses, and He has added two other limbs (for gnat) in order to stimulate (the attention of) the believers to notice the delicacy and frailness of His (creation and His wonderful production." 1

In another occurrence in the Qur'ān, He (s.w.t.) has said: " Do they not look at camels, (how they are created ? ", (Sura Al-Qāshiyah, No. ٨٨, verse ١٧

Upon the importance of the intriguing creation of living creatures, Amir-ul-Mu'mineen
:Ali (a.s.) in one of his sermons has said

How could it be ? Even if all the animals of the earth whether birds or beasts,..."
stabled cattle or pasturing ones, of different origins and species, dull people and sagacious men all jointly try to create (even) 'a gnat' they are not able to bring it into being and do not understand what is the way to its creation. Their wits are bewildered and wandering. Their powers fall short and fail, and they return disappointed and tired, knowing that they are defeated and admitting their inability to produce it, also "... .realizing that they are too weak (even) to destroy it

: The verse continues saying

"... .As for those who have Faith, they know that it is the truth from their Lord ..."

Those who have believed in Islam and accepted the Word of Allah know that these miraculous statements are issued from the Origin of revelation. They know quite well that these parables are vivid and appropriate and are revealed from their Lord. They conceive the fact in this way because their hearts are empty of envy,grudges and

.pride and their souls are the site of the light of illumination and knowledge

p:۱۳۰

Nur-uth-Thaqalayn- vol. ۱, p. ۴۶, Tradition ۶۵ ۱ -۱

Those who have disbelieved and covered the light of Faith with the curtain of infidelity have ultimately blinded their own insight. They have made their ears, which were able to hearken to the Divine Words, deaf. They, ignorantly or mockingly, inquire that what was Allah's aim by giving this for a similitude that He causes many to err by it and .many He leads aright

In Tafsīr-ut-Tibyān, vol. 1, page 19, Shaykh Ṭūsī says : " It is like that a speaker asks what Allah means by this parable that thereby some may be led astray and some be guided. In answer to this question, Allah says that none will be led astray save the transgressors; but the way is open to the believers to reach the climax of ".understanding and conception with knowledge and true Faith

Occasion of the Revelation

When the previous verses, i.e., the verses that say : " The likeness of them is as the likeness of a man who kindled a fire..." and " Or (their) likeness is as a rainstorm from the heaven...", (2:17,19) were revealed, the hypocrites said that Allah is much exalted to : bring forth these parables. So, to refuse their guise and statements, it says

Allah does not disdain to set forth the parable even of a gnat or anything greater " ".than that

: Explanation

Some commentators have cited their ideas about the verse under discussion as : follows

The Arabic term /yudillu/ means : ` misleading'. Wherever this word is used in the Qur'ān, relating to Allah, it means the withdrawal of His Grace and allowing the individual to have the way of his own choice as a punishment, consequent to the individual's rejecting the

p:۱۳۱

.Divine Guidance voluntarily offered to him

The Holy Qur'ān presents the justification to the frequent metaphorical expressions in the form of parables, to stimulate the human mind and heart. The result is obvious: that a healthy mind grasps the Truth whereas the perverted mind increases its doubts as to what Allah meant by the parable. Thus the one and the same expression has two opposite effects. The right impression is 'guidance' /hidāyat/ which is assigned to 'the pious' /muttaqīn/, and the wrong impression is /dalālat/ 'going astray' which is allotted to the wrong-doers, and pointed out in the next verse. The two important characteristics of the wrong-doers are: the breach of the Covenant of Allah, after it has been confirmed and /qata` a mā amarallāh/ i.e., the severing of the relation or the connection with what Allah has commanded man to establish, and .doing things subversive and harmful to the harmonious life on earth

Those who break the covenant of Allah after its confirmation and cut asunder " .٢٧ what Allah has commanded to be joined, and they make corruption on the Earth; they "are the losers

Commentary : Verses ٢٧

! The Real Losers

In the aforementioned verse, the subject was partly based on the wrong-doers and their mischievous deeds. In this verse, these people are introduced clearly by three : qualities

: Referring to the first quality it says

"...Those who break the covenant of Allah after its confirmation "

Then, it refers to their second quality, saying : "... and cut asunder what Allah has "... ,commanded to be joined

Many of the commentators have pointed out that this verse refers especially to the desertion of kinsfolk and breaking off ties of relationship. But careful attention to the concept of the verse leads us to a broader and more general meaning, in which the desertion of kinsfolk is one of its examples. The evidence that supports the above idea is that the verse indicates that the makers of corruption cut the ties that Allah has commanded to remain fixed and firm. These joining ties cover the union of kindred, meeting of friends, social relationships, connections with the divine leaders, and relation with Allah. Therefore, we should not confine the meaning of the verse to a .single idea alone

In some Islamic narrations, however, the phrase : `What Allah has commanded to be joined' is rendered in connection with Amir-ul- Mu'mineen Imām Ali (a.s.) and the .(entire Ahlul-Bait, the immaculate,(a.s

The third quality of the makers of corruption on the earth, which is lastly referred to in
" ... ;this verse, is : "...and they make corruption on the Earth

It is, of course, evident that they have neglected the path of Allah and disobeyed Him. These disbelievers, who do not observe mercy even towards their relatives, certainly treat others with cruelty. They pursue their own pleasures and personal interests. It does not matter to them where the society may be led. Their central aim is to increase their profit and to obtain their desires. They do not care if they must do any wrong or commit any offense to reach their goals. It is obvious how destructive the result of .this kind of thinking and acting may be in the society

: The Qur'ān, at the end of this verse, says

" .they are the losers ..."

Truly, it is so. What a greater loss than this that a man spends his entire physical and ! spiritual capital on the way to the destruction and disaster of his own life

What fate can they have save this dreadful one when some people step out of the circle of obedience to Allah's Command to the extent of the meaning of the term /fisq/
? ' ` mischief

Mischief', in Islam, is one the most abhorred crimes, as the Qur'ān says : " Mischief is` more grievous than murder ", (٢:٢١٧). This is one of the many indications that Islam
.stands for peace on earth and never tolerates anything which disturbs it

٢٨ كَيْفَ تَكْفُرُونَ بِاللَّهِ وَكُنْتُمْ أَمْوَاتًا فَأَحْيَاكُمْ ثُمَّ يُمِيتُكُمْ ثُمَّ يُحْيِيكُمْ ثُمَّ إِلَيْهِ تُرْجَعُونَ

٢٩ هُوَ الَّذِي خَلَقَ لَكُمْ مَا فِي الْأَرْضِ جَمِيعًا ثُمَّ اسْتَوَى إِلَى السَّمَاءِ فَسَوَّاهُنَّ سَبْعَ سَمَاوَاتٍ وَهُوَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمٌ

How can you deny Allah and you were dead and He gave you life, then He will " .٢٨ cause you to die, then again restore you to life, and unto Him you will be returned ? "

(.Therefore, neither your life nor your death is in your will; what you have is Allah's

It is He Who created for you all that is in the earth; then turned (His Will) to " .٢٩
".heaven and fashioned it into seven heavens, for He is All-Knowing of all things

Commentary : Verses ٢٨–٢٩

! The Mysterious Bounty of Life

In these couple of verses, through a series of the Divine blessings and some of the marvelous phenomena of creation, the Holy Qur'ān attracts man's attention to the Lord of the world and His Magnificent Sovereignty. It very clearly completes the undisputable evidence set forth for the acknowledgment of Allah's Omnipotence, that .was previously cited in verses ٢١ and ٢٢

It must be remembered that the correct conception of Allah is the basic need for proper faith. This faith serves as guidance from the main generative source (Allah) for the whole system of religion. The most practical method of acquiring this basic knowledge about the existence of the Essence of Allah is to carefully observe and thoughtfully reflect on the creation which is before our own eyes. This is a point that nobody can deny or express any doubt about. This method is repeatedly impressed and demanded in the Holy Qur'ān. The course adopted in the Holy Qur'ān to educate man is the most scientific

.and the most modern one, i.e. of proceeding from the concrete to the abstract

At first it inquires : " How can you deny Allah and you were dead and He gave you
" ...,life

The Qur'ān reminds all individuals that formerly they were inanimate like the pieces of stone, wood, and the like of them. The water of life had not been poured on you and the breeze of vitality had not blown through the garden of your being to open the .blossom of your lifetime in the realm of your entity

Now, you are gifted with the bounty of life and you are actually living. Numerous organs and limbs, and various integral systems of sensing to form conceptions are bestowed upon you. Who has given you this very blessing of life and being ? Did you yourself give it to your own self ? It is clear that every rational person will unhesitatingly confess that this blessing is not from his own origin, but it has come from a knowing, mighty source, the One Who knows all its secrets and its complicated arrangements; and Who is able to design it totally. In this case there will arise the .question of why you deny the One Who has granted you life

Today, it has been proven by the scientists of the world that there is not anything more complicated than the phenomenon of life. Man has surprisingly gained a great deal of successful progress in the field of science, in general, and experimental natural science, in particular, but the secret of the riddle of life has not been uncovered yet. This subject is so mysterious that it has remained inexplicable for millions of learned individuals whose thoughts and efforts have been left fruitless in conceiving it. Possibly, in the future, under the light of further scientific development, man will gradually become more acquainted with the secrets of life. But the main question is : Can anybody ascribe such an extraordinarily delicate and precise phenomenon, which is full of mysteries and is in need of superior knowledge and power for itself, to the irrational nature, which itself

? does not have `life' from its own

That is why we say the phenomenon of life, in the world of nature, is the greatest evidence for the affirmation of the existence of Allah about which abundant books have been compiled. The

.Qur'ān, in the above verse, emphasizes on the very matter, too

p:۱۳۶

After the citation of this bounty, it refers to another vivid example, i.e., the : phenomenom of death. It says

"... ,then He will cause you to die..."

Everybody usually sees that his relatives, kinsfolk, acquaintances, companions, and friends die one after another, and their lifeless bodies are buried in the soil. This actual circumstance is also a station of contemplation : Who took their beings from them ? If their beings were theirs by themselves, they would be eternal. When it is taken from .them, it is further proof that life is bestowed upon them by someone else

True, the ` Bestower of life ' is the ` Bestower of death ', as the Qur'ān says : " He Who created Death and Life, that He may try which of you is best in deed ...", (Sura Al-Mulk, No. ۶۷, verse ۲). The Qur'ān, after providing these two clear statements as proof for the Essence of Allah in order to make the soul of man disposed to grasp other problems, refers to the subject of Resurrection and being restored to life after death.

"... ,It says : "...then again restore you to life

This phenomena of life after death, indeed, is not so surprising because it is not unfamiliar and man has formerly seen the same situation in nature. Therefore, regarding the first statement, viz. ` the enlivening of the inanimate', the acceptance of raising the dead after the decomposition of the body, it is not so difficult, but it is easier than the first time He created man; (although the easiness and hardness is .(meaningless for the Essence Whose Power is infinite

It is odd that there have been some people who have been doubtful about man's life .after death. They believe that the first life has originated from some inanimate things

It is interesting that the above verse has made everything, from the beginning to the end, manifest before the eyes of man. In a short argument, it has expressed the advent of life to its last point in this world, death, and then the Resurrection is .illustrated for him

The objective meaning of the phrase " Unto Him you will be returned " is returning to Allah's blessings; that is, you will return to the blessings of Allah in the Hereafter. The witness to this meaning is Sura Al-'An`am, No. 6, verse ۳۶ which says : "... As to the ."dead, Allah will raise them up; then will they be turned unto Him

The objective of " Unto Him you will be returned " may be a reality more delicate and fragile than that. It is to say that : all creatures, in the process of development, begin from the station of non-existence, the zero point, and go forth towards `infinite', which is the Pure Essence of Allah. Thus, the path of development does not end with death, but, in the Hereafter, man will continue his life again, miserably, or prosperously with a higher standard of living to pave the path of his further .development

: Conclusion

The Arabic term /kuntum/, (the second person plural), applied in the above verse, may address the human ego which was not as it is now as a conscious entity. The previous state is termed as `being dead', brought into the present conscious state, by Allah's means of `enlivening'. The departure of the conscious self from the body, is termed death appointed by Allah. The state of the human cognitive self, after its departure from the body, is termed as the `enlivening' and from that state proceeding to the other states, up to the Infinite point of the return to Allah. This shows that once our life begins, there is no reversion or regression. It is the continuous process from one state to the next, dying from the previous state and entering life into the succeeding one. Be the succeeding state pleasant or painful, it is the evolutionary consequence of .the preceding state

Also, this single verse alone denotes the continuous evolutionary transformation and the transcendence of a conscious human entity up to the communion with the Infinite, not in the sense of annihilation or the absorption of the finite into the infinite, but in the sense of the realization of the fact that nothing is real but the One, the Cause of all .causes : the Essence of Allah, the Exalted

After mentioning the blessing of life and pointing to the ` Origin and End ', it refers to another Divine bounty from among the immense bounties of Allah. It says : " It is He "... ,Who created for you all that is in the earth

In this manner, it specifies the worthiness of the existence of man and his high mastership over all beings in the earth. It is just this very matter that clarifies for us that Allah has created Man for a very worthy and magnificent affair. It is so important, that everything in the world is created for him! What is he created for? Yes, he is the most excellent being in the world of existence and the worthiest of all. A partial explanation will also be provided when commenting on verses ۳۰-۳۳ of the current Sura

It is not this verse alone that defines the majestic position of Man but there are also abundant verses in the Holy Qur'ān that reveal the same and introduce Man as the main goal of the whole world of creation; for example : " And He has subjected to you, as from Him, all that is in the heavens and on the earth : ...", (Sura Al-Jāthiyah, No. ۴۵,verse ۱۳

: Some further instances from the verses of the Holy Qur'ān are as follows

.(Who hath made the ships subject to you, ...", (۱۴: ۳۲..."

.(And the rivers (also) hath He made subject to you..." , ( ۱۴: ۳۲..."

.(And the Night and the Day hath He also made subject to you." (۱۴: ۳۳..."

.(It is Allah Who has subjected the sea to you, ...", (۴۵: ۱۲ "

And He hath made subject to you the sun and the moon, ...", (Sura Ebrahīm, No. ۱۴, " (verse ۳۳

On this subject, we will have some explanations later, too, when commenting upon Sura Ar-Ra`d, No. ۱۳, verse ۲, and Sura Ebrāhīm No. ۱۴, verses ۳۲ and ۳۳

Again, it turns to the concept of monotheism and says : "...then turned (His Will) to ".heaven and fashioned it into seven heavens; for He is All-knowing of all things

The word /samā'/, as oppose to /'ard/ `the earth', in the lexicon means : `to be lofty, upward'. This is a collective meaning which encompasses numerous concepts, in which some of the dimensions were formerly mentioned.<sup>(1)</sup> But what is the objective meaning of the phrase `seven heavens' here? The Islamic scholars and the commentators of the Holy Qur'ān have offered different arguments on the subject, but the important idea which seems to be the most correct is that the purpose of .!` seven heavens' is its very actual meaning of `seven firmaments

Yet, from the verses of the Qur'ān, it is understood that the whole of celestial bodies : planets and fixed stars that we can see, are totally in the first heaven, and there are six other heavens that are not visible to us and even our modern scientific equipment are not able to show them. Therefore, there are, on the whole, seven firmaments (which make up the very `seven heavens'.<sup>(2)</sup>

The evidence to this statement is the words of the Qur'ān where it says : "...And We (adorned the lower heaven with lights,...", (Sura Al-Fuṣṣilat, No. 41, verse 12

In another occurrence it says : " We have indeed decked the lower heaven with (beauty (in) the stars,...", (Sura Aṣ-Ṣāffāt, No. 37, verse 6

These verses clearly indicate that what we see in the sky, which are generally called stars, are completely located in the first heaven. Beyond this heaven, there are six .other heavens about whose details we do not have any exact data at present

The reason why we said that there are six other heavens which are unknown to us yet, and science may realize them in the future, is that human knowledge is still incomplete. The more developed it becomes, the more new surprising facts about the creation it discovers. For instance, the science of astronomy has now reached a point where earthly telescopes are incompetent and satellites equipped with

For the word /sama / in the sense of atmosphere, look at the commentary on ۱ – ۱ verse ۲۲ Sura Baqarah, this vol. , pp. ۱۱۳–۱۱۴

An imaginary, approximately similar meaning to this idea is seen in Milton, Paradise ۲ – ۲
.Lost, iii ۵۶, ۴۸۱. The same imagery will be found in Dante powerful radars and specific means for the purpose, are utilized instead. What the great astronomical observatories and the modern equipment with the help of spacecrafts and scientific excavations have discovered, in the Arc of Descent, is a distance as far as about one thousand million (a billion) light years away from us wherein they have discovered innumerable solar systems other than ours. The astronomers themselves have confessed that this is just the beginning of the way of the world, not the end of it, and the discovery of further such systems is yet expected with the successful invention of or the enhanced structure of stronger telescopes or more advanced means of celestial excavations. Therefore, there is no doubt that, in the future, with the further progress in astronomy and science, other galaxies and .firmaments, or the like, might be discovered

! Man, Allah's Deputy on Earth

Through the previous verses we have understood that Allah has created all the endowments on the earth for Man, whereas in these verses the leadership and vicegerency of Man is formally proclaimed. Thus, here, Man's spiritual rank and worthiness of all these merits, are exposed

In these verses, which begin from verse No. ٣٠ and end with verse ٣٩, the creation of Adam (the first human) is referred to and the following three fundamental subjects are set forth

Allah informs the angels about man's vicegerency on the earth and their questioning of Him

Angels are commanded to prostrate before the first human, Adam. This situation is referred to in numerous verses in the Holy Qur'ān concerning different circumstances

The illustration of the situation of Adam and his life in Heaven and the events causing him to be sent out from Heaven, and then, his repentance and the order that he and his children were to live on the earth, are pointed out

The verses under discussion speak about the first stage. It was His Will, so He created a being on the earth to be His vicegerent. The attributes of this deputy would be a reflection from the rays of Allah's Attributes, and his position somehow higher than that of the angels. It was His Will that the earth and all its endowments, i.e. forces, treasures, mines, and all its potentials be subjected to the will of such a human being

Such a being must have a vast share of wisdom, intelligence, conception and a special capacity so that he can undertake the leadership and mastership of the earthly beings

:Therefore, in the first verse, it says

:When your Lord said to the angels "

"...,' I am appointing on the earth a deputy `

According to what the leading Islamic scholars and learned men, and experts in commentary, have said, the objective meaning of

p:١٤٣

khalīfah' (deputy) is the divine vicegerent on the earth, because the question which the angels asked later, saying that the human race may make mischief and shed blood on the earth while they (the angels) celebrate His Praise, reinforces this very meaning, that Allah's vicegerency on the earth is incompatible with these deeds

Also, teaching the names to Adam, whose explanation you will read in the following verses, is good evidence supporting this claim. Again, the angels' humility and veneration before Adam is another witness to this idea

However, Allah was pleased to create a being above all the creatures of the universe, the best creation, appropriate for being a Divine vicegerent, Allah's Deputy on the Earth

Commenting on these verses, Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) in a tradition has referred to the same meaning and said that the angels, after recognizing the position of Adam, realized that he and his children were deserving to be the deputies of Allah on the earth and serve as His guidance among peoples.

Then, in the current verse, the angels put forth a question, in order to understand the reality and not to protest, as it says they said: `Will You place therein one who will make mischief therein and shed... blood, ..." "...while we celebrate Your Praise and extol Your Holiness? '..." But, here in this verse, Allah's answer to them is a complicated reply whose details will be given in later verses. "...He said: `Assuredly I know what you know not

As it is realized from their words, the angels had comprehended that this human was not a docile one : he makes mischief, sheds blood, does wrong, etc. But how did they know it

It is sometimes said that Allah had previously told the angels the future of Man in brief, while some others have cited that maybe the angels had comprehended the idea themselves from the term /fil'ard/ (on the earth). They knew that Man would be created from soil; and, because of the complexity of `matter' , naturally it is the center of conflict and difficulties. For, this limited world of matter cannot satiate

Tafsir-i-almizan, vol. ۱, p. ۱۲۱ ۱-۱

the avaricious nature of human beings, even if the whole world were given to a single one, he would not be satisfied. This status can sometimes be the main cause of mischief and bloodshed particularly when there is not enough sense of responsibility

Some of the other commentators believe that the predication of the angels resulted from the fact that Adam was not the first human creature on the earth, but, before him, there had also been some other humans who had lived on the earth and had committed corruption and shed blood. This bad record caused the angels' suspicion about Adam and his descendants

These three commentaries are not so contradictory to one another; viz, they, comprehensively, may have caused the attention of the angels to be attracted towards this subject. And, incidentally, this fact that they expressed was never denied by their Lord in His answer to them, but, besides this fact, He pointed out that there were some other more important facts about man and his capabilities that the angels did not know

They thought that if the purpose were only for worshipping and servitude, they would be the best examples, because they were always praising Him and were the most appropriate ones for being the vicegerents! They did not consider that when lusts, wrath and various desires have no chance to influence on their behaviours and selves, their worshipping is different from the servitude and worshipping of Man whose lusts and desires have surrounded him and Satan's temptations attack him from every side. What a long distance there is between the obedience of this feeble being and the adoration of those holy and pure angels

They did not know that in the seed of Adam there would come such great prophets as Mohammad (p.b.u.h.), Abraham (a.s.), Noah (a.s.), Moses (a.s.), Jesus (a.s.), and some Imams as the twelve sinless Imams (Ahlul-Bait) (a.s.) in addition to many pious believers, martyrs, and a great many men and women who lovingly donated the whole of their properties in the way of Allah. There would be some offsprings of Adam whose one hour of contemplation is equal to years of worshipping of the angels. It is noteworthy that the angels emphasized on three aspects about their characteristics: /tasbīḥ/ (glorification), /ḥamd/ (praise, eulogy) and /taqdīs/ (sanctification). Undoubtedly, both the first and the second mean : celebrating His Praises and knowing Him and His Glory absolutely pure and perfect, free from any impurity or imperfection or from anything derogatory. But what is the main objective meaning of /taqdīs/ `sanctification'? Some have considered it as the purification of Allah from any imperfection which is, in fact, an emphasis again on the very meaning

.of /tasbīḥ/ `glorification

Some others believe that the term /taqdīs/ is derived from the root /quds/ which means: `to purify the earth from the wicked and corruptors', or `to purify oneself from anything bad, evil and immoral in order to clarify the soul and body for the sake of Allah '. They have considered the term /laka/ (for you) in the phrase /nuqaddisu-laka/, `we extol Your Holiness (for you) ', as its witness. The angels did not say: `we extol You', but they meant to say: `we purify ourselves and assist those who obey
.!You, for You, or towards You

In fact, they wanted to say: if the purpose is obedience and servitude, they are obedient; and if it is worship, they are always busy doing it; and if the purpose is the purification of themselves or throughout the expanse of the earth, they are doing that too. But this matter-made human is both immoral, himself, and makes mischief on the .earth

To clarify the facts completely for the angels. He set them on trial in order that they themselves might confess that there was a great difference between them and
.Adam

Angels on Trial

Adam, being given effective faculties by Divine favour, had an extraordinary receptive
:potential for the facts of the world of being, and as the Qur'ān says

"... ,And He taught Adam all the names "

The commentators, from the point of view of their various styles of commentary, have delivered different ideas on the phrase `teaching names', but it is certain that its aim is not that of teaching some insignificant words or meaningless `names', because this could not be counted an honour for Adam. The aim is teaching the nature of these names and the concepts and the things that they refer to

Of course, this acknowledgement of the nature and the facts of the world of creation and the secrets of the world of being with its different properties in different creatures, was a great honour for Adam.

It is narrated in a tradition that Imam Şādiq (a.s.) was asked about the meaning of this verse and he (a.s.) said: " The purpose (of names) is: lands, mountains, valleys, riverbeds (and on the whole, all things). Then he looked at the rug under him and said ".that even that rug was among the things He taught Adam

Therefore `teaching names' has not been something like teaching words but it refers to the philosophy and secrets of the properties and qualities of things. He taught Adam this knowledge in order that he could use the merits and advantages of this world alongside the path of his development towards perfection

He (s.w.t.) also taught him the capacity of language learning and the skill of writing with its proper application to be able to nominate objects and whenever he needs them, instead of showing them, he merely calls their names. This is a very great bounty of the Lord bestowed on man. We can comprehend the importance of this subject when we observe that what modern science and human beings have is under the shade of the existence of language and writing. All the scientific and cultural, historical ancient records have been kept and preserved as treasures in man's written collections generation after generation. If he could not use language and pen, it would be impossible for him to convey the knowledge and experimental data from old generations to the recent nations and the coming ones then He presented them before the angels, and said: ` Tell Me the names of these if ..."

".!you are right

****

But the angels, who were in lack of such knowledge, failed in that trial and could not

:pass the divine examination successfully. So, their response to Him was such

Majma-ul-Bayan, vol. ۱, p. ۷۶ –۱

They said: ` Glory be to You ! Of knowledge we have naught save what You have "
"taught us. ..." " ...Surely, You (alone) are the All-Knowing, the All-Wise

They said that they did not know anything regarding this matter and their question was simply because of their lack of knowledge. They were unaware of the capacity and wonderful power of Adam (a.s.), his God-given endowment. It was a great privilege to him above the angels. They accepted that Adam (a.s.) really deserved to be the vicegerent of Allah on the earth and in the world of all beings, where without .him, the whole creation would remain incomplete

Then, it was Adam's turn, by the command of Allah and in the presence of angels to speak and explain the names and secrets of beings in His creation along with the insight to the knowledge of the realities or the latent properties or the hidden native .endowments in each of them

"... ! He said: ` O Adam, tell them their names "

And when he had told them their names, He said: ` Did I not say unto you that I... " surely know the unseen things of heavens and the earth, and (that) I know what you " '? reveal and what you were hiding

Allah, having the knowledge of all the hidden things of the heavens and the earth, knew also what the angels did hide in their imaginations, which was that they deemed themselves more deserving of the high office of being the Deputy of Allah among His creation. This belief of the angels made them inquire into the Divine Will about Adam's .being the vicegerent

But when Adam (a.s.) spoke and the angels observed that surprising glory in him, they respected Adam for the vast knowledge and immense information and worthiness that radiated from him. Thus, it was made clear for them that it was only Adam (a.s.) .who was apt enough to be His Deputy on the Earth

Adam in the Garden

In the former statements, the high rank and glory of Man was discussed. Now, in these verses, another aspect of the subject is dealt with. At first, to call upon our minds, the Qur'ān says

:And when We said to the angels "

'Prostrate yourselves before Adam`

;They all prostrated themselves except Iblīs

"... ,he refused and was full of pride

Yes, he was proud and it was for this very pride that he became one of the :unbelievers

."and so he became one of the infidels..."

It should be noted that the above verse is the most valid piece of evidence and a vivid witness to the magnificence and nobility of Man whom, after his being created, all the angels were commissioned to make obeisance and pay homage to, and bow before that splendid creation. He was really appropriate for the position of being the divine deputy and His vicegerent on the earth. This one, who had such a high glorious rank, that was apt to bring up, from his seed, some refined and respectful children, some of whom would be prophets, was worthy of such obeisance and honour

You may consider the position of an ordinary learned person who knows some definite formulas in a branch of science, and think of how immensely we respect him. Then, the position of Adam with all of his glory and vast knowledge about the world of being, is obvious

? Why did Iblis Disobey

We know that 'satan' is a common noun that envelops both the first Satan and all other satans. But, 'Iblīs' is a proper noun which refers to the same one that tempted Adam (a.s.). According to the

p:١٥٠

verses of the Qur'ān, Iblīs was not of the same nature as the angels, but he was from a different genus i.e. of the Jinn, of the nature of matter, who had been assembled among the angels. One of the verses wherein Iblīs is spoken of as a Jinn is as follows

And when said We unto the angels: 'Prostrate ye unto Adam': then they (all) "(prostrated but Iblis; he was of Jinn,...)", (Sura Kahf, No. 18, verse 50.

His motive in this disobedience was pride and a special bigotry which had dominated his behaviour. He imagined that he was superior to Adam (a.s.) and he should not have been ordered to prostrate himself before him (a.s.). He thought Adam should prostrate before him. The explanation of this idea will be discussed later, in comments referring to Sura Al-A`rāf, No. 7, verse 17

The cause of his blasphemy was also that he considered the wise command of Allah rather inappropriate. He not only disobeyed practically, but also protested theoretically. Thus, his pride and self-conceit annulled a life-time of his worshipping !' and rendered it worthless! Beware, pride has many effects of ` this kind

The phrase: "...so he became one of the infidels" shows that before this command, too, he had changed his path from the path of angels and obeying the command of Allah, and had had ideas resulting from pride in mind. Perhaps, he had told himself that if the order of obeisance were given to him, he would certainly never obey it. The phrase: "...what you conceal", in verse 33, may hint to this meaning. This idea is also referred to in a tradition from Imam Hassan `Askarī, the eleventh Imam (a.s.), cited in \(Tafsīr-ul-Qummī\)

? Was the Prostration for Allah or for Adam

There is no doubt that /sajdah/ or a formulated prostration with the purpose of worshipping is deserved by none but Allah alone and the meaning of `Unity of Worship ' means the same: that we worship and make obeisance to none else other ,than Allah, or it will be `shirk

i.e. associating the object with Allah). Therefore, it is beyond doubt that the infallible beings like the angels prostrated themselves for Allah, but it was for the creation of such a splendid being, Adam, that they obeyed Him by prostrating. Or, if they prostrated for Adam, their prostration was a kind of 'obeisance' not an act of worshipping.

In the book 'Uyūn-ul-Akḥbār' by Shaykh Ṣadūq, it is cited that Imam Ali-ibn-Mūsā-r-Ridā (a.s.) said: "The angels' prostration was for the adoration of worshipping Allah, on one side, and for the obeisance and respect of Adam (a.s.), on the other side, (because we (Ahlul-Bait) were in his seed." (1)

***

?Why was Adam and his Spouse Originally Placed in the Garden

Realization of Responsibilities

However, after that episode with Iblīs and the trial of the angels, Adam was ordered that he and his spouse ought to abide in Paradise

And We said: 'O' Adam, dwell you and your spouse in the " (Garden and eat of the plentiful therein (both of you ,wherever you desire, but do not approach this tree ".! lest you become one of the unjust

It is understood from the verses of the Holy Qur'ān that Adam (a.s.) was created to live on the earth, this very terrestrial globe, but, at the beginning He had temporarily placed him (and his wife) in a beautiful and prosperous Garden, bountiful with blessings and free from any trouble and incommmodity

This arrangement occurred, maybe, because Adam was not acquainted with the process of living on the earth. It was difficult for him to tolerate immediately all the troubles therein. Therefore, at first, he was to obtain some more information about the kind of life to expect on the earth, and hence, it stood to reason that he should remain for a length of time in the Garden and learn the necessary skills there in order to find out that life on earth is accompanied with accepting some responsibilities and performing some duties whose accomplishments would bring his felicity, development and continuity of blessings, whereas, their refusal would cause him to .be involved with pain and hardship

Limits of Freedom

Also, he must know that although he has been created free, this freedom is limited. He cannot do whatever he wishes, but he must do without some of the things existing in this world for his own good. And again, he need know that it is not so that if he does a .wrong or an err all the doors of felicity and happiness will be closed to him

Understanding Repentance

He can return and repent and promise not to do anything against the order of Allah, and in such a case, when his repentance is accepted, he will return to the divine .blessings

Recognizing Friends and Enemies

Adam (a.s.) had to remain in that environment to gain some experience in order to be able to recognize his friend and his enemy, to learn how to live on the earth. Yes, there were a series of skills which were necessary for him to learn before stepping onto the earth. Those were the things that both Adam (a.s.) and his children needed for their future lives. Hence, the one who was created to be the vicegerent of Allah on the earth might stay in the Garden, perhaps, so that some instructions could be given .to him for his information and practical use

The following enlightening paragraph cited in Almizan upon the idea may also be mentioned here. " It should not be overlooked that even when Allah pardoned them (the couple) after their repentance, He did not return them to the Garden they were sent down to the earth to live therein. If their eating of the tree, the covering of their private parts and the life of this world were not a confirmed divine plan, and an irrevocable predetermined decree, they would have been returned to their place in the Garden as soon as they were forgiven for their mistake. In short, it was the divine plan that they should spend some time in the Garden to get them prepared for the life in this world; and their removal from the Garden, according to the causal relation decreed by Allah, was caused by their eating from the forbidden tree and becoming aware of their nakedness, and this happened because they listened to the whispering (of Satan." (1

(Almizan, vol. ١, p. ١٨١ (English version –١

Adam found himself in a position that it was best for him to follow the instruction of Allah about restraining from eating of the forbidden tree. The whisperer, Satan, had sworn to be busy whispering and making Adam (a.s.) and his children stray. As some other verses of the Qur'ān indicate, Satan assured Adam (a.s.) that if he and his wife ate from that tree they would become angels and would live in the Garden for ever. Satan even swore to them both that he was their sincere adviser: "...Most surely I am
.(a sincere adviser to you", (Sura Al-A`rāf, No. 7, verse 21

But Satan caused them to fall therefrom, and brought them out from the state (of "
"... .felicity) in which they had been

Yes, they were removed from the Garden where they had been in ease and tranquility, far from any pain and trouble. This event took place as the direct result of .the effect of Satan's deceit

Then the Qur'ān says: "...And We said: ` Get down all of you, and be enemies one of another,..." . In this enmity, Satan was on one side, and Adam (a.s.) and his wife were
.on the other side and for you on the earth will be your dwelling place and..."

"! your means of livelihood for a time

It was at this time that Adam (a.s.) realized that he had really done injustice to himself, because he was removed from the Garden for his submission to the whispers of Satan, and was to sojourn in a place full of pain, toil, and trouble. True that Adam (a.s.) was a prophet and was immaculate, but, as we will discuss later, if a prophet commits an err, Allah will react severely towards him as if an ordinary person had committed it. It is the same for the ordinary

.people when they commit sins

****

The Heavy Forfeit Paid by Adam

The Late Allamah Ṭabatabaie pointed out his point of view about this subject concerning Adam (a.s.) and his spouse as follows

The injustice or wrong that they had done was against their own selves; it was "neither a sin (as this term is used in the Sharī`ah) nor an injustice against Allah. It shows that the prohibition was in the nature of advice, pointing out to them what was good for their own comfort; it did not have the force of an ordained law. Adam and his wife did wrong to themselves, because their disregard for that divine advice caused their removal from the Garden

When a man commits a sin (i.e. offence, from the Sharī`ah point of view), he is given a punishment. Then if he repents and his repentance is accepted, the punishment is completely removed, and he is returned to his previous position as though he had not committed the sin at all. If Adam (a.s.) and his wife were guilty of such a sin, they should have been returned to their place in the Garden soon after their repentance was accepted. But it was not done. It clearly shows that the prohibition did not have the force of an ordained law; it was only advice. Even so, neglecting it had its natural effect on both of them and they had to leave the Garden. But this removal from the Garden was not a punishment for any sin or crime; it was the natural consequence of \(the wrong they had done against their own selves.\)

For a more detailed explanation about the subject, an expressive narration from Ḥadrat Ridā, the eighth Imam (a.s.), mentioned in `Uyūn-ul-'Akhbār, p. ۱۰۸ and ۱۰۹ which is also referred to in Bihār-ul-Anwār, vol. ۱۱, pp. ۷۸ and ۱۰۴, can be studied, as well as another one on p. ۱۵۶ from Imam Bāqir (a.s.). Muhammad Jawād Muqniyyah, in his well-known commentary: At Tafsīr-ul-Kāshif, vol. ۱, pp. ۸۴-۸۶ has also cited some considerable details upon the matter. All of these references can surely be helpful in clarification of the meaning

Adam's Return to Allah

After the temptation of Iblis and the removal of Adam from the Garden, Adam realized that he had truly done injustice to himself when he was removed from that quiet environment full of bounties as a result of the temptation of Iblis and was placed on the earth, a grievous environment full of toil and pain. At this time, Adam thought of compensation for his mistake and earnestly attended to the Lord with his whole heart .and soul, but with a great deal of regret and penitence

At the same time, the Mercy of Allah was bestowed on him with `some effective words' by the means of which Adam repented and He accepted his repentance :mercifully; as the Qur'ān says

"... Then Adam received (certain) words from his Lord "

"... (And He turned towards him (mercifully ..."

".It did happen because: "...Truly He is Oft-Pardoning, the Most Merciful

The term /taubah/ originally means: 'to return'. In the statements of the Qur'ān, it means: 'to return from sin'. This meaning is applied when it refers to a sinful person. But, sometimes, the term is used when concerning Allah. In this case, it means 'to return to His Mercy'; that is, the mercy which a person was deprived of because of committing sin. When a sinful one returns to the path of obedience and worship, He returns that Mercy to him/her, too. That is why the Lord is attributed as 'Oft-Returning', too

/The True Meaning of Repentance/taubah

By the way, it should be noted that the Arabic word /taubah/, which is generally understood as 'repentance', does not imply the mere utterance of any verbal prayers. It demands a real and active change in the behavior as well as the active attitude of the individual towards the purity of his/her life. It demands a moral conversion with a strong and definite determination on the part of the repenting individual, never again to return to the mistake or the wrong that had been committed before

In other words, the term /taubah/ 'repentance' is a word commonly used both for Allah and His servants. When it is used for the servants of Allah, it means that 'they have returned to their Lord', because any sinner, in fact, has abandoned his Lord, and when the servant repents, he/she returns to Him

When servants fail to obey their Lord, it seems that they cause Him, also, to turn away from them. When Allah is attributed with /taubah/, it means that He returns His Mercy and Favour to them

It is true that Adam, indeed, did not do any unlawful thing against the Lord, but that very mistake was counted as 'a comparative wrong' regarding him. Adam (a.s.) immediately felt his condition and returned to his Lord. He repented by the means of the `words' he received, and his repentance was accepted. But what the nature of . ' the `words' was will be discussed separately under the title of ` Explanation

****

Anyhow, Adam's repentance was accepted but not abstaining

p:۱۵۷

from the use of the fruit of the prohibited tree which had a potential innate effect ultimately resulted in the form of his settlement on the earth. This consequence remained unchanged for the couple, as the above verses say

We said: ` Get you down from it, all together; until there shall come to you a " guidance from Me, for whoever follows My guidance, no fear shall be upon them, nor " ! shall they grieve

****

But those who reject Faith and deny Our Signs, they are the inhabitants of the Fire, " ".dwelling therein forever

****

: Explanation

The ` Words ' Adam (a.s.) Learnt from the Lord

Commentators have cited different ideas commenting on the quality and the meaning (of the ` words' that Allah taught Adam (a.s

Mere common sense suggests that what was bestowed upon Adam by the All-Knowing, All-Merciful Lord could not have been anything of an ordinary prayer. It must have been something very special or extraordinary which the All-Merciful Himself bestowed upon him by means of which Adam (a.s.) or anyone could unfailingly invoke the Mercy of the Lord after having displeased Him

It is popularly accepted that the ` words' were the same words and meanings revealed in Sura Al-'A` rāf, No. ۷, verse ۲۳, thus: " They said: ` Our Lord! We have wronged our own souls: if Thou forgive us not and bestow not upon us Thy Mercy, we " ! shall certainly be lost

A group of commentators have said that the purpose of the ` words' might have been :this invocation

O' Lord! There is no deity but You! Glory be to You, and Yours is the Praise! O' my " Lord! I have indeed wronged my soul! Do Thou then forgive me! For Thou art the Best of those who forgive". Or, "...And have mercy upon me: for Thou art the Best of those who show mercy!" Or "...And turn unto me (in Mercy); for Thou art verily the Oft-Returning, Most Merciful

,(.This idea has been cited in a tradition narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s

Some phrases similar to the above ones have occurred in the Qur'ān. For example, Jonah (Yūnus) (a.s.), asking Allah to forgive him, says: "...Glory to Thee: I was indeed wrong!", (Sura Al-'Anbiyā , No. ۲۱, verse ۸۷). And, about Moses (a.s.), the Qur'ān says: "He prayed: ` O' my Lord! I have indeed wronged my soul! Do Thou then forgive me! ' (So (Allah) forgave him..." , (Sura Al-Qaṣaṣ, No. ۲۸, verse ۱۶

Many Islamic traditions narrated from Ahlul-Bait (a.s.), such as Tafsīr-i-Durrul-Manthūr, denote that the objective meaning of the ` words ' taught to Adam (a.s.) by Allah was the holy names of the Holy Five; viz: the holy Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), his cousin and son-in-law Hadrat Ali, his daughter Fatimah, and his sons (i.e. grandsons) Hassan and Husayn (a.s.). Adam (a.s.) relied on these ` words' and asked .Him to forgive him. Then, Allah accepted it and forgave him

These three commentaries do not contradict one another since the entirety of the ` words' might have been taught to Adam (a.s.) in order that, through their (the ` words ') reality, depth, and innate nature, he could obtained a pure perfect spiritual change in his heart and soul totally so that Allah would shower him with His Grace and .Guidance

٤٠ يَا بَنِي إِسْرَائِيلَ اذْكُرُوا نِعْمَتِيَ الَّتِي أَنْعَمْتُ عَلَيْكُمْ وَأَوْفُوا بِعَهْدِي أُوفِ بِعَهْدِكُمْ وَإِيَّايَ فَارْهَبُونِ

O' Children of Israel, remember My blessing wherewith I blessed you, and fulfil " .٤٠
".My covenant and I shall fulfil your covenant, and have awe of none but Me

Commentary : Verse ٤٠

The Remembrance of the Favours of Allah

The Remembrance of the Favours of Allah In the previous verses we learnt about the commission of Adam's vicegerency on the earth, the respectful treatment of the angels towards him, Iblīs's reaction of pride, and the negligence of his covenant with Allah, and, consequently, his removal from the Garden and, thereafter, his penitence. Through these events, this fundamental principle was made clear that: in this world, there are two opposite forces, i.e. right and wrong, or just and unjust, which are always at odds with each other. He who, following the temptations of Satan, chooses the wrong path gets farther and farther away from felicity and salvation and involves himself in toil and pain, the fruit of which is remorse and regret

But those who, heedless of the Satanic temptations and those of vicious fellows, choose the path of obedience of Allah will live a happy life, free from spiritual pain and grief

There is a close similarity between the story of Adam (a.s.) and that of the Israelites when they were rescued from the clutches of Pharaoh before their vicegerency on the earth, and, after that, their negligence of their solemn promise to Allah which caused them to be involved in pain and misery. Their fate not only resembles that of Adam's, but it can also be considered as a subdivision of that general principle. Hence, in the above verse and several verses after that, Allah refers to some different aspects of the lives of the Children of Israel and their lamentable end to complete with them the educative lesson which He started with the story of Adam's fate

,He addresses the Israelites and says: " O' Children of Israel remember My blessing wherewith I blessed you, and fulfil My covenant and I shall ".fulfil your covenant, and have awe of none but Me

Those three instructions (the remembrance of the great blessings of Allah, being loyal
.to His covenant, to be in awe of only Him) are, indeed, the basis of all Divine programs

The remembrance of the blessings of the Lord leads Man to the knowledge of Allah, and provokes a sense of gratitude in him. Then, believing that those bounties are not given unconditionally and He has taken a covenant for them, makes man aware of his duties and responsibilities. After this, not having awe of anybody or any power in the way of performing the Divine duties, causes Man to remove all the barriers and obstructions from his way and fulfil faithfully his responsibilities and promises, for, having awe of this and that, is one of the greatest obstacles on this way, especially in the case of the Israelites who were under the control of Pharaonic governments and,
.consequently, fear had become a part of their lives

: Explanations

Jews in Medina

It is interesting that, according to what historians of the Qur'ān have cited, Sura Al-Baqarah is the first Sura that was revealed in Medina. This Sura talks mostly about Jews, because they were the most dominate group of the ` People of the Book ' there.
Before the advent of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), as their own religious books indicated, they were waiting for such an advent, and used to give its glad tidings to others. They were also in a very good economical condition at that time and, on the .whole, they had a deep influence on the social affairs of Medina

But, with the advent of Islam, many of them not only did not accept the invitation of Islam, but stood, hiddenly and openly, against it, because Islam hindered them from their unlawful interests and did not let them continue their evil social projects. Now, after the passing of more than fourteen centuries, this same hostility is still alive and active

p:161

.against Islam

It was at that time when the above verse and the verses after that were sent down which blamed them intensively and, by mentioning the sensitive aspects of their historical background, moved them so violently that those Jews, who had the least sense of justice and truth-seeking, awoke and accepted Islam. Besides that, this admonishment was a comprehensive lesson for all the Muslim believers, too

In the discussions of the verses that will come later, we shall talk about some of the outstanding circumstances of these people such as their rescue from the grips of Pharaoh, the cleaving asunder of the sea and the drowning of Pharaoh and his horsemen, the appointing place of Moses (a.s.) on Mount Sinai (Toor), the calf (of gold) worshipped by the Israelites when Moses (a.s.) was not among them which caused them to receive the instruction of the bloody repentance and, thereafter, the special bounties of Allah were sent down for them, and some other events similar to these, each of which contains a lesson or lessons to be learnt by all

The Jews' Twelve Covenants with Allah

As it is understood from the verses of the Holy Qur'ān, the covenant mentioned in the above verse is the very covenant of worshipping Allah; to treat parents, kindred, orphans, and the needy with kindness; to have fair behaviour with people, to attend and be steadfast in ritual prayers; to pay alms; to avoid doing grievous wrongs, and to avoid shedding blood

:The witness of this statement is Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ۲, verses ۸۳ and ۸۴

And (remember) when We made a covenant with the Children of "

Israel (instructing): ` You shall not worship any but Allah; and

,you shall do) good to (your) parents)

,and to the near of kin and to the orphans, and the needy

,and speak kind words to people, keep up the prayer

! (and pay the poor-rates (zakāt

,Then you turned away, except a few of you ".(and you backslide (even now

:And (remember) when We made a covenant with you "

You shall not shed your blood, nor expel one another from your `

".dwellings ', then you confirmed it while you bore witness

These two verses, in fact, refer to the ten different covenants that Allah had taken from the Jews. When we consider, and add, the two other covenants of Sura Al-Mā'idah, No. ٥, verse ١٢, which advises them to believe in the Divine prophets and help them respectfully, the fact is made clear that they had given numerous covenants to Allah for those great Divine blessings; and they had been promised by Allah to be settled in the Gardens of Heaven under whose trees and castles streams flow, if they :would have kept their promises, thus

Allah did aforetime take a Covenant from the Children of Israel,... and Allah said: ` I " am with you: if ye (but) establish regular Prayers, practise regular Charity, believe in My apostles, honour and assist them,... And admit you to Gardens with rivers flowing " ...,beneath

But, unfortunately, inspite of the long expectations of the Jews based upon the prophecies in their sacred scriptures, they, finally, observed none of those promises and they continued their most vehement and the most torturous opposition and persecution against Islam and Muslims not only at the advent of Islam but they have also been continuing it until the present time. The fruit of their evil actions was that they became vagrant, and this condition will always be seen in their lives till the time when they will be destroyed. If we see that, with the support of this or that, they flourish in their authorative existence for a short length of time, it cannot be counted a real reason for their final victory. We know it well that one day the true followers of Islam, free from any tribal or racial adherences, and only under the light of the Holy .Qur'ān, will rise and put an end to all these vanities

!Allah will Fulfil His Covenant, too

The bounties of Allah have never been given unconditionally and every blessing is accompanied by a responsibility or responsibilities

A tradition from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) says that the objective meaning of the phrase: 'I shall fulfil your covenant', mentioned in this verse, is that Allah will (fulfil His covenant in admitting them into Heaven.)

It is not surprising that, in this tradition, the belief in the mastership of Hadrat Ali (a.s.) is mentioned as a part of this covenant, because one of the items of the covenant of the Children of Israel was the acceptance of the prophecy of the Divine Apostles and the assisting of them. And it is evident that the acceptance of their vicegerents is also a part of the acceptance of that leadership and mastership, which should be established at any time appropriate with that age. At the time of Moses (a.s.), it was he who held that position; and at the time of Hadrat Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), he did, and thereafter Hadrat Ali (a.s.) continued it

By the way, the phrase: "... and have awe of none but Me", referring to an awe of His punishment because of their disobedience of His command, is an emphasis on this subject that, in fulfilling their covenant with Allah, they should fear of no one and no circumstance

? Why are Jews Called the Children of Israel

Israel' was one of the titles of Jacob, Yūsuf's (Joseph) father. Both the well-known commentators Ṭabarsī in his book: 'Majma' ul-Bayān' (vol. 1, p. 92), and Shaykh-ut-Ṭā'ifāh the Late Ṭoosī in his commentary book entitled: 'at-Tibyān Fī Tafsīr-il-Qur'ān' (vol. 1, p. 180) have expressed: "Israel is the same as Jacob, the son of Issac (Ishāq) the son of Abraham (a.s.)...". These two great commentators believe that the word /isrā'il/ is a combination of the term 'Isr', /'abd/, with the meaning of 'servant' and 'il' with the meaning of 'Allah

.Then, the word means 'the servant of Allah'; and it is a 'Hebraic' word

Commentary : Verses ٤١-٤٣

The Lord commands the Jews that they should believe in His revelation, the Qur'ān, and accept it because the acceptance of the Qur'ān is just the same as the :acceptance of the Turah

And believe in what I have revealed (the Qur'ān) confirming that (Scripture) which is "
" ...,with you

This statement indicates that the Turah, in which they believe, itself has pointed out the glad tidings of the advent of the promised Prophet, Hadrat Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), and the revelation of the Holy Qur'ān. Thus, the requisite belief in the content of the .Turah is belief in the Qur'ān

" ...,and be not the first to reject Faith therein..."

The verse addresses the Jews and says that those people, who are of the " People of the Book " and among whom there are scholars and learned men who believe in God and have accepted the Divine prophets, should not be the first group to reject the Qur'ān and deny its rightfulness. When their scholars do not accept the truth, many others also follow them and reject it

"...;and sell not My Signs for a miserable price..."

Some authentic narrations denote that many of the scholars and Rabbis of the Jews used to sell the verses and some features of Hadrat Muhammad, the promised Prophet (p.b.u.h.), mentioned in the Scripture of old, the Turah, to some of the rich Jews at that time and perverted the verses of the Turah in exchange for taking money from them. Here, Allah scorns them and forbids them from doing this abominable action and directs them not to corrupt the Scripture for that little sum of money. The money they used to take was, of course, a large sum, but, in comparison with what they committed, it was very little. Allah's Signs are worth more than all their paltry considerations, and changing and perverting those Divine Signs is a very great sin so that gold and silver, howsoever much they may be, or even high social positions, seem naught in comparison with it. So, He says

"and be in awe of none but Me ..."

And confound not the truth with falsehood, nor conceal the truth while you know "
"((it

This verse provides another emphasis on the above meaning. The Jewish scholars are told, here, not to mix up the truth with falsehood by perverting the verses of the Turah and hiding its revelations about the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), when they are supposed to make them manifest, because they recognize them and, in connection to this, know the difference between right and wrong very well

And keep up the prayer, and pay the poor-rates (zakāt), and bow down in prayer "
".(with those who bow down (in congregation

In Islam, next to the belief in Allah, His Messenger, and the Resurrection, prayer and alms (zakāt) are the two essential pillars of Faith without which the establishment and

.endurance of Faith is impossible

Prayer and poor-rates, as well as observing their proper times, are strictly and repeatedly emphasized in the concerning verses of the Holy Qur'ān and Islamic traditions and narrations. The excellence and importance of prayers are briefly pointed out in commenting on verse ۳, the current Sura on pages ۸۰-۸۳ in this .volume

p:166

: Explanation

Islam, the Means of discipline and training

Islam, as a religion, has revealed information with the perfection necessary to train mankind and to discipline the human race and to enable them to raise themselves from the depths of material degradation to the unlimited elevation of spiritual glory in order to qualify each individual as an adherent, as much as he or she personally desires, to rise towards the divinity in store for every sincere seeker of it. The curbing of the physical desires of a human being is sure to have the natural consequence of sublimating it by the resulting moral effect on the mind which can gradually put it well on the way to receiving the enlightenment of the higher meanings of life. A certain degree of piety and devotion is essential for a human being to be initiated into the realm of spiritual bliss. All the previous religions, particularly the creed of the Jews and the Christians, were limited to some extreme systems of optional ascetic hermitage of extremes which did not agree with the natural demands of the social life of the people. The imposition of such extremes, with the freedom to do it or not, could help only a few to follow the order, discarding completely their worthy life but the bulk of .the people had sunk deep into hypocritical observances and practices

Islam, as a practical and fully regulated religion, bases its foundation first on humbling the ego of man by making him conscious about his relation to his Creator and thus making him yield to the Lord, his God, in complete submission to Him by worshipping in a way suiting his humble position. By this, Islam brings man in the presence of his .Lord

The purpose of Prayer

The first cardinal doctrine or ordinance of Islam is `ṣalāt' or `prayers' which develops in a human being the appropriate feeling in relation to God and puts the individual in direct contact with the great qualities of the Absolute Divinity

٤٤ أَتَأْمُرُونَ النَّاسَ بِالْبِرِّ وَ تَنْسَوْنَ أَنْفُسَكُمْ وَ أَنْتُمْ تَتْلُونَ الْكِتَابَ أَفَلَا تَعْقِلُونَ

Do you enjoin righteousness upon people while you forget your own selves (to " .٤٤
" ?practice it)? And you read the Scripture? Have you then no sense

Commentary : Verse ٤٤

This verse is apparently addressing and scorning the scholars of the Jews who, before the Divine invitation of Hadrat Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), recommended people to embrace Islam. They enjoined them to pay charity and favour each other, but they did not do these good deeds themselves. They did not accept Islam in order to .continue their mastership, nor pay charity lest they might become poor

But, the verse, in fact, addresses and admonishes all those who habitually .recommend others to piety and neglect their own souls

Do you enjoin righteousness upon people while you forget your own selves (to "
" ... ?(practice it

It is not logical that a person enjoins his fellow men to help others and work righteousness but, he himself does not observe it. That is why, at the end of the verse, :it says

" ?And you read the Scripture? Have you then no sense ..."

It inquires, how you do not understand that you should enjoin righteousness on yourselves first and do accordingly to be as an example, then expect others to obey you and receive your recommendation, with their whole hearts. Experience has proved that words which are uttered only by the tongue, as simple statements, physically strike the ears and perish. But reasonable speech that arises from the soul .and reality, settles in souls firmly and affects hearts deeply

Point

To enable Man to overcome his latent low desires and to clean his mind from the love
:of position and rank, the Qur'ān says

And seek you help (from Allah) through patience and prayer; and most surely it is a "

" ,hard thing, save upon the humble

How to Overcome Difficulties

.To overcome difficulties and solve problems demands two fundamental principles

Patience and Prayer

The first principle is a strong inner will, and the second one is a firm outward refuge.
These two principles are referred to in the above verse as ` patience ' and ` prayer ' .
Patience, here, has been rendered into ` fasting ' and ` perseverance ' during difficulties while prayer is a connection with Allah and a means of communication with
.this Helpful Refuge

About the term /ṣabr/ ` patience ' , one of the commentary books (١) says that it is a natural phenomena well-known to every enlightened one that bodily mortification is to some extent necessary in disciplining the human ego accommodated in the physical framework, to lighten it by liberating it from the clutches of the desires and passions of the material world otherwise it would sink deeply into its own devious personal interest. This is essential to elevate it unto the heights of the spiritual realms. A religion merely consisting of some mere formal rituals and the offering of chanting or the recitation of some verbal prayers or charms without the demand on the individual for the practical control of the animal-self in him can hardly be worth anything. The truth endowed or the spiritual strength one gets through overcoming his selfish passions, is by itself a very vast subject to be dealt with in the brief notes meant to explain the particular aspects of the wordings of the Divine verses here. However, an Islamic tradition says that Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) was once asked about the meaning of the word /ṣabr/ 'patience', mentioned in this verse, when he said: "Patience means (fasting)." (1)

Again, commenting on this verse, the leading commentators have cited that whenever any difficulty confronted the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), he used to resort to (fasting' and 'prayers' to be helped with. (2) Also, Hadrat Ali (a.s.) did the same. (3)

It is also narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who has said: "It does not matter that when one of you is involved in a grief out of the griefs of the world, you would make ablution and enter a mosque. Then, you would recite a prayer and offer a petition therein to Allah, because I know He has commanded: 'And seek you help (from Allah) through (patience and prayer'." (4)

Yes, verily prayer connects Man to an everlasting Power, to Allah, for Whom all the hard problems and complicated difficulties are easy. This very feeling causes man to .be calm, powerful, and steadfast against misadventures

And with prayer, what else can ever be imaginably more effective or successful than any individual in his helplessness approaching the All-Merciful, Almighty through ? prayers for help

In the verse following the above one, the Holy Qur'ān introduces the humble ones, : thus

---

Al-Burhan Fi Tafsiril Qur'an, vol. 1, p. 14 and Tafsir-uş-Şafi, vol. 1, p. 111 1-1

Majma'-ul-Bayan, vol. 1, p. 99 2-2

Ibid, p. 100 3-3

Usuli-Kafi, vol. 3, p. 480 4-4

Those who bear in mind the certainty that they will meet their Lord and that verily " .unto Him shall they return

So, it is narrated from Amir-ul Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) who has said that one of the characteristics of the humble ones who are the same as the believers, is knowledge and certainty about their meeting with Allah which will take place in the Hereafter. \(1\)

? ' What is ` Meeting with Allah

The idea of ` meeting with Allah ' has been mentioned repeatedly in the Qur'ān where it totally means ` Presence in the Hereafter '. It is obvious that the purpose of ` meeting with the Lord ' is not a physical meeting like the meeting of people with each other face to face. We also know that Allah is not a bodily substance to have colour or place, or to be seen with the eyes. Then, as some commentators have said, the purpose of the phrase may be the observation of the effects of His Power in the scene .of the Hereafter, such as: His bounties, rewards, and punishments

Or, it means an esoteric intuition in the heart or soul, because, sometimes, Man reaches a point that he sees the Lord in front of him by his heart's eye, and in that .case no doubt will continue for him

This state may come to being for some people in this world as a result of piety, worship, and purification of the carnal soul. The following explanation, cited in Nahjul :Balāqah, attests to the idea

One of the companions of Amir-ul Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.), Di` lib al-Yamānī, who was a learned man, once asked him (a.s.) whether Ali (a.s.) had seen Allah, his Lord, when he (a.s.) replied: " Do I worship the One Whom I have not seen? " Then the man asked him to explain it more and Ali (a.s.) added: " Eyes do not see Him face to face, but (hearts (souls) perceive Him through the (light of) realities of Faith. ..." \(2\)

However, in the Hereafter, all human beings will attain this esoteric intuition, since, therein, the effects of the Glory and Power of Allah will be so manifested that none .can deny them, and all will have a decisive Faith in everything nor shall intercession be accepted from any one, nor shall any ransom be taken from " .(any one, nor shall they be helped (from outside

Commentary : Verses ٤٧-٤٨

The Vain Imaginations of the Jews

In these verses, again, the Lord addresses the Children of Israel and reminds them of :His bounties bestowed on them, thus

"... ,O' Children of Israel, call to mind My favours which I bestowed on you "

These bounties were numerous consisting of Faith, Divine Guidance and their rescue from the grips of pharaohs which led them to regaining their splendour and .independence

Then, among these bounties He has pointed out the bounty of their being made to excel the nations of their time which in itself is a combination of different bounties. He " .(continues and says: "... and that I made you excel the nations (of that time

Some may think that the objective meaning of the phrase, " I made you excel the .nations " , is that He has made them excel the nations all over the world and for ever

But, regarding other verses, the Qur'ān makes it clear that the application of the address ` you ' is meant for those immediately present at that time and in their own locality, because in another occurrence the Qur'ān, addressing Muslims, says: " You are the best of peoples, evolved for mankind, ..." (Sura 'Āli-` Imrān, No. ٣, verse ١١).

Another verse about the Israelites says: " And We made a people, considered weak (and of no account), inheritors of lands in both East and West ...", (Sura Al-'A` rāf, No. ٧, verse ١٣٧). It is obvious that the Children of Israel did not inherit the world entirely at that time. So, it means that they inherited the east and the west of their own region. Therefore, their preference to other nations means preference to the other nations in their environment at that time

****

The Qur'ān rejects the vain considerations of the Jews. They thought that, on the Day of Judgement, their forefathers and ancestors, who were prophets of Allah, would make intercession for them; or they imagined that on that Day those prophets could give ransom for their sins the same as some of their people employ bribery in this world

:The Qur'ān says

And guard yourselves against a day when no one in the least shall "

"... avail another

"...nor shall intercession be accepted from any one ..."

"... ,nor shall any ransom be taken from any one ..."

"...nor shall they be helped (from outside ..."

In brief, the ' Judge ' on that Day is He Who accepts, from the servants, only pure good actions done with true belief, as the Qur'ān says about it: " The Day whenon neither wealth nor sons will avail," " But only he (will prosper) that brings to Allah a (sound heart ", (Sura Shu` arā, No. ٢٩, verses ٨٨ and ٨٩

The verse under discussion, in fact, is a hint to this reality that, in this world, saving a sinful person from punishment by applying all possible means is an ordinary custom. Sometimes someone undertakes the payment of another person's compensation and pays it. If this way fails, intercession may be resorted to and some respectable personalities who have power and influence may be brought forward to intercede for him. If intercession does not avail either, the person tries to save himself by paying for the fine. And, if this, too, provides no results, he asks his friends and fellow men to help him somehow, so that he can escape from the grips of .punishment

There are different ways of fleeing from punishment in this world, but the Qur'ān says that the chastisements in the Hereafter are completely different from those in this world and none of these behaviours are acceptable there. The only way of rescue is to refuge under the shade of Faith and righteousness, and to ask help from Allah, the .Merciful

O' Lord, the Creator, the Cherisher! We humbly ask You to guide us so that, at the end, ".You will be pleased with us and we can be prosperous

Intercession in the Qur'ān and Traditions

The term /ṣafā`at/ ` intercession ', with all its derivations, has occurred about thirty .times in the Qur'ān. This status shows the depth of the importance of the matter

Undoubtedly, the punishments of the Lord, whether in this world or in the next, are not for revenging at all, but they are, in fact, to warrant the obedience of the Divine ordinances and, consequently, the development and progress of men. Therefore, everything that weakens this security should be avoided in order that people would .be less likely to commit sin and vice

On the other hand, the way of repentance and return to righteousness and improvement should not be completely closed to the sinners. They must have the opportunity and possibility of improving themselves which results in piety and .returning to the path of Allah

Thus, intercession means that, on the Day of Judgement, prophets, saints, and some special righteous ones will intercede with Allah's permission for those who have not cut their tie of Faith with Allah and preserved their spiritual relationship with Him and .His Messengers

In other words, intercession, in its proper meaning, exists for the preserving of this equilibrium. It is a means for the sinners and the wrong-doers to return from their present way to the path of obedience and servitude

We may emphasize that the doctrine of intercession is quite natural, reasonable and logical. It is a natural, just, and merciful classification of souls according to the natural affinity and the bonds of love and sincere attachment which existed between the individual and the faithful servants of Allah, viz. the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the holy Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) whose purity of spirit, flawlessness of conduct and character, selfless services and matchless sacrifices for the cause of truth, are universal factors and whose goodness is unreservedly acknowledged by the Muslims and even by the non-Muslims as well

However, as it was mentioned before, there are numerous verses in the Qur'ān concerning 'intercession'. To understand these verses completely and correctly, all of them should be studied carefully and considered as a whole to follow the unity of purpose they are meant for

It is absolutely wrong that for proving our claim we take only one verse from amongst the numerous verses on intercession and neglect the others. The errs that have come into being upon the subject of intercession, as well as upon some other rational subjects, are the effect of such wrong and imperfect investigations. This method, in which we take a single verse and refuse or neglect other verses that can be elucidative and frames of reference for that particular verse, is far from the right manner of researching

Then, firstly, besides all the other arguments of the various expositions on the validity of intercession based upon the other verses of the Qur'ān, as was mentioned formerly, and with further assurance by the traditions of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), it is a natural and logical conclusion, beyond all doubt, that on the Day of Judgement intercession cannot be but an undeniable fact. That is, Allah's regard for His holy and faithful servants is accepted as a natural and logical necessary factor

Secondly, it is certain that the Holy Qur'ān in many places, some of which are mentioned below, asserts the effectiveness of intercession under some conditions, on the Day of Judgement, when those

p:175

:authorized by the Lord shall have the right to do it. The Qur'ān says

On that Day shall no intercession avail except for those for whom permission has " been granted by (Allah) Most Gracious and whose word is acceptable to Him ", (Sura (Ṭāhā, No. ۲۰, verse ۱۰۹

No intercession can avail in His Presence, except for those for whom He has granted " (permission..." , (Sura Sabā, No. ۳۴, verse ۲۳

And those whom they invoke besides Allah have no power of intercession; only he " who bears witness to the Truth, and they know (him)", (Sura Az-Zukhruf, No. ۴۳, verse (۸۶

For further elucidation on the doctrine of intercession some of the verses which can also be referred to are: ۲۶: ۱۰۰, ۲: ۱۲۳ and ۲۵۵, ۷۴: ۴۸, ۲۱: ۲۸, and ۱۹: ۸۷

In the authentic literature of Muslims, both the Sunnite and Shī` ah schools, through some Islamic narrations, there are many implications to the existence of ` intercession ' in the Hereafter which are presented as explanatory statements for the .aforementioned verses on intercession

Some of these books are: Bihār-ul-Anwār, Majma` -ul-Bayān, Tafsīr-i-Almīzān, At-Tibyān fī Tafsīr-il-Qur'ān, Al-Burhān fī Tafsīr-il-Qur'ān, Al-Khiṣāl by Shaykh Ṣadūq, Usūl-i-Kāfī, Sunan-i-Ibn-Mājih, Musnad-i-Aḥmad, Muwatta'-i-Mālik, Sunan-i- ... , Tarmazī, Sunan-i-Dārmī, Ṣaḥīḥ-i-Muslim, Ṣaḥīḥ-i-Bukhārī

Out of the many traditions and narrations cited in the above mentioned books, a few :of them have been chosen here

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has said: " I will be the first one who intercedes and the .۱ (first one whose intercession will be accepted (by Allah)." (۱ Hadrat Ali (a.s.) said: "...We will intercede and those who love (and follow) us will do .۲ (so, too. ..." (۲

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) also said: "...I have been bestowed on (five privileges: the .۳

first is) ` intercession ' which I have kept for my followers(Ummah). Intercession is ((permitted) for the one who associates no partner with Allah ..."﴿

Again, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) has said: "...The most .﴿

And (remember) when We delivered you from the people of Pharaoh who had " .٤٩ afflicted you with evil torment, slaughtering your sons and sparing your women-folk, ".and in that was a great trial from your Lord

The Greatest Bounty Bestowed on the Children of Isreal

In this verse, the Qur'ān points to another great bounty out of the bounties He bestowed on the Children of Israel. This favour is the bounty of deliverance from the grips of those transgressors. This is the greatest bounty amongst the bounties of :Allah on them and He reminds them, saying

" ..And (remember) when We delivered you from the people of Pharaoh "

" ... ,who had afflicted you with evil torment... "

"... ,slaughtering your sons and sparing your women-folk... "

.They let your women-folk live as maid-servants and serve hard for them

".and in that was a great trial from your Lord..."

To illustrate the torments of Pharaoh upon the Israelites, the Qur'ān has particularly applied the term /yasūmūna/ in the future tense of the verb, which, in Arabic, indicates the duration and continuity of that evil torment. Thus, they saw for themselves that their innocent sons were slaughtered before their eyes and their daughters were taken away from them to serve in the Egyptians' houses as maid-servants. That conduct caused them to tolerate and experience torture permanently, too. They were considered as servants, workers, and slaves of the Coptic people in Egypt and of the .men of Pharaoh

It is a matter of importance that the Qur'ān counts this event as a great and grievous trial for the Children of Israel and, of course, bearing all those bitter harsh afflictions

.had been a hard tremendous trial

p:178

It is also probable that the term /balā'/ ` trial ', here, has been used with the meaning of ` punishment '. The reason is that before that event, Israelites had been enjoying an abundancy of bounties with great power and authority. But they became .ungrateful and the Lord punished them

Anyhow, the day when the Children of Israel were delivered from the tyrannical clutches of the Egyptian monarch, the Pharaoh, was a very important historical day in .their lives on which the Holy Qur'ān has emphasized repeatedly

Slavery of Females, Past and Present

In the history of the Israelites, their bondage in Egypt was indeed a tremendous trial for them. Even the Egyptians' wish to spare the lives of the Israelites' females when the males were slaughtered, as the Qur'ān declares, added to their bitterness. So, .their rescue from that cruelty was really counted as a bounty

It seems that the Qur'ān intends to warn all human beings that they should try to .obtain their rightful freedom however hard it may be, and protect it

Hadrat Ali (a.s.) has pointed out this matter in one of his sermons: "...Real death is in \(the life of subjugation while real life is in dying in the way of freedom...")

But the modern world is different from that of the ancient in this manner. At that time, for example, Pharaoh, through his peculiar cruelty, slaughtered the men and the sons of the people who were his enemies and let their females remain alive to serve Egyptians. While, today, in this modern world, the spirit of manhood among males is often slaughtered under some other circumstances, and their females are mostly made slaves for the lustful pleasure of a group of filthy men. Sometimes, the Pharaohs of the Age have pity upon neither men nor women; neither sons nor daughters; neither adults nor infants. They have verified this statement in the massacres they have committed in some Islamic and non-Islamic countries by using chemical bombs and the likes of them. Their actions are often even worse than what the Pharaohs of Egypt

.used to do

Now, why did Pharaoh decide to kill the Israeli boys and let their women-folk live ?
Some of the commentators believe that the reason for that murderous decision was the dream that Pharaoh dreamed. A more appropriate answer to this question will be discussed when commenting on Sura Al-Qaṣaṣ No. ٢٨, verse ٤. Therein, you will come to know that the reason for that murder was not only Pharaoh's dream, but he and his clique also stood in awe of the increasing number of the Children of Israel and that they might become powerful and destroy the government of Pharaoh. This factor .helped them make that hostile decision

Some details about the miserable lot of the Israelites under the bondage of Pharaoh and how they were rescued, are also explained in Exodus the opening chapter of the .Bible i.e. Chapter ١

And (remember) when We divided the sea for you, and delivered you and " ٥٠
".drowned Pharaoh's people while you were looking on

Commentary : Verse ٥٠

! The Rescue from Pharaoh

Point

In the previous verse the miraculous rescue of the Israelites from the tyrannical grips of the Egyptian monarch, the Pharaoh, was briefly pointed out. The present verse is, in fact, an explanatory statement of that rescue, which itself is a sign of the great :bounties of Allah upon the Children of Israel. It says

"... ,And (remember) when We divided the sea for you " and delivered you and drowned Pharaoh's people while..."
".you were looking on

The incident of the drowning of Pharaoh and his horsemen in the sea, and the rescue of the children of Israel from their cruel clutches is expressed in several Suras of the Qur'ān, including: Sura Al-'A`rāf, No. ٧, verse ١٣٦ – Sura Al-'Anfāl, No. ٨, verse ٥٤ – Sura Al-'Asrā', No. ١٧, verse ١٠٣– Sura Ash-Shu`arā', No. ٢٦, verses ٦٣ and ٦٦ – Sura Az-Zukhruf, No. ٤٣, verse ٥٥– and Sura Ad-Dukhān, No. ٤٤, verses from ١٧ on

More or less all the details of that happening are stated in the above Suras, but by the verse under discussion the story is hinted at only from the point of the favour and grace of Allah upon the Children of Israel in order to attract them to the invitation of .Islam, the new religion of salvation, and to invoke them to accept it

As you will read the explanation of this subject in detail through the aforementioned Suras, Moses (a.s.), after a long time of preaching and inviting Pharaoh and his people to the Divine Faith and showing them numerous miracles and receiving no positive response from them, was commissioned that he and the Children of Israel move from Egypt

p:181

was commissioned that he and the Children of Israel move from Egypt at midnight. But when he reached the seashore, he realized that Pharaoh and his horsemen were .closely pursuing them. The Israelites were terribly afraid

They had the frightful sea in front of them and at their heels the forceful army of the Pharaoh, whom they could not challenge, threatened them. At that time Moses (a.s.) was commanded to strike the water of the sea with his Rod and he obeyed. Then several dry paths appeared in the sea on which Moses (a.s.) and his people passed. When they crossed the sea from between the walls of water and arrived on the other side of the sea safely, Pharaoh and his army, who were following them, entered the same paths. They reached the midst of the sea when the walls of water came together and all of them drowned. Their corpses were floating over the sea water as the Children of Israel were watching them and witnessing how helpless their enemies .were in front of their eyes

That terrible anxiety and the horrible fear they had compared with this miraculous rescue both deserved to be contemplated, and demanded that they express .thanksgiving to Allah

In this manner, the Qur'ān tells the Jews that Allah has granted them His Mercy so that they could rid themselves of that anxiety and awe; then why do they repudiate ?the Prophet of Islam, Allah's Messenger, and do not accept Islam

By the way, this verse teaches the human race to rely on Allah and trust in that everlasting Power in their lives. They ought to try hard and not stop in their endeavours and seek His help, because He helps them even in their most grievous .moments

Detailed Account from the Bible

.A detailed story of this miraculous event is given in the Bible, Exodus; Chapter ١٤

.And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying .١

Speak unto the children of Israel, that they turn and encamp before Pi-hahiroth, . 2 between Migdol and the sea, over against Baal-zephon: before it shall ye encamp by .the sea

For Pharaoh will say of the children of Israel, They are entangled in the land, the . 3
.wilderness hath shut them in

And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, that he shall follow after them; and will be . 4 honoured upon Pharaoh, and upon all his host; that

.the Egyptians may know that I am the LORD. And they did so

And it was told the king of Egypt that the people fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and .5 of his servants was turned against the people, and they said, Why have we done this
? that we have let Israel go from serving us

.And he made ready his chariot, and took his people with him .6

And he took six hundred chosen chariots, and all the chariots of Egypt and captains .7
.over every one of them

And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, King of Egypt, and he pursued after .8
.the children of Israel and the children of Israel went out with an high hand

But the Egyptians pursued after them, all the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and .9 his horsemen, and his army, and overtook them encamping by the sea, beside Pi-
.hahiroth, before Baal-zephon

And when Pharaoh drew nigh, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and, .10 behold, the Egyptians marched after them; and they were sore afraid: and the .children of Israel cried out unto the LORD

And they said unto Moses, Because there were no graves in Egypt, hast thou taken .11 us away to die in the wilderness wherefore hast thou dealt thus with us, to carry us
? forth out of Egypt

Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt, saying, Let us alone, that we may .12 serve the Egyptians ? For it had been better for us to serve the Egyptians, than that .we should die in the wilderness

And Moses said unto the people, Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of .13 the LORD, which he will show to you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen
.today, ye shall see them again no more for ever

.The LORD shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace .14

And the LORD said unto Moses: Wherefore criest thou unto me? Speak unto the . 15
.children of Israel, that they go forward

But lift thou up thy rod, and stretch out thine hand over the sea, and divide it: and . 16
.the children of Israel shall go on dry ground through the midst of the sea

And I, behold, I will harden the hearts of the Egyptians, and they . 17 shall follow them: and I will get honour upon Pharaoh, upon all his host, upon his

.chariots and upon his horsemen

And the Egyptians shall know that I am the LORD, when I have gotten honour upon .18
.Pharaoh, upon his chariots, and upon his horsemen

And the angel of God, which went before the camp of Israel, removed and went .19 behind them; and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and stood behind
:them

And it came between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel; and it was .20 a cloud and darkness to them, but it gave light by night to these: so that the one came
.not near the other all the night

And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; and the LORD caused the sea to .21 go back by a strong east wind all that night, and made the sea dry land, and the .waters were divided

And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon the dry ground: and .22
.the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand and on their left

And the Egyptians pursued and went in after them to the midst of the sea, even all .23
.Pharaoh's horses, his chariots, and his horsemen

And it came to pass that in the morning watch the LORD looked unto the host of .24 the Egyptians through the pillar of the fire and of the cloud, and troubled the host of .the Egyptians

And took off their chariot wheels, that they drave them heavily: so that the .25
Egyptians said, let us flee from the face of Israel: for the LORD fighteth for them
.against the Egyptians

And the Lord said unto Moses, Stretch out thine hand over the sea, that the waters .26
.may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots and upon their horsemen

And Moses stretched forth his hand over the sea and the sea returned to his .27 strength when the morning appeared; and the Egyptians fled against it; and the .LORD over-threw the Egyptians in the midst of the sea

And the waters returned, and covered the chariots, and the horsemen, and all the .ַא host of Pharaoh that came into the sea after them; there remained not so much as .one of them

But the children of Israel walked upon dry land in the midst of the sea; and the . ٢٩
.waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left

Thus the LORD saved Israel that day out of the hand of the Egyptians; and Israel . ٣٠
.saw the Egyptians dead upon the sea shore

And Israel saw that great work which the LORD did upon the Egyptians: and the . ٣١
.people feared the LORD, and believed the LORD, and his servant Moses

Commentary : Verses ٥١-٥٤

The Israelites' Greatest Deviation

In these four verses, the Qur'ān refers to another episode in the adventurous history .of the Children of Israel and reminds the Jews of some shaking events of theirs

These verses speak of their greatest deviation throughout the history of their lives which was their aberration from the path of monotheism to the worshipping of the calf. The Qur'ān warns them that they had gone astray once in their history because of the temptations of the mischief makers. Now they should beware not to repeat that mistake. They should be attentive that the way of pure monotheism, viz. the way of Islam and the Qur'ān, is open to them

: They must not detach from it. First the verse says

"... And (remember) when We appointed forty nights for Moses "

When he (Moses) departed from you and his thirty night appointment delayed for forty nights, "...and you then took the Calf (for worship) after him, and you were unjust to yourselves

This event will be scrutinized when commenting on Sura Al-'A`rāf, No. ۷, verse ۱۴۲ and Sura Tāhā, No. ۲۰, verses ۸۶ on

:The story in brief is as follows

After the deliverance of the Children of Israel from the tyrannical grips of Pharaoh and his men, who drowned in the sea, Moses (a.s.) was commanded to leave for Mount Sinai to stay there for thirty days and nights in order to receive the Law or the Turah on the Tablets from the Lord. Subsequently, the term was extended by ten more days and nights for the trial of the people. The delay in the return of Moses (a.s.) to his people at the end of thirty days, owing to the extension of the time by ten days and nights, was sufficient to create in the minds of the Israelites doubt about the authenticity of Moses (a.s.) as a true Prophet, on one hand, and for fallacious seductive Sameri to make a golden Calf possessing a special sound in order to deceive the Israelites, on the other hand. They, thereby, were deluded into calf-worship

The majority of the Children of Israel joined him. Aaron (a.s.), the deputy and brother of Moses (a.s.) with a minority of people remained faithful to their monotheistic creed. They tried very much to restrain others from that great deviation, but they failed finally

When Moses (a.s.) returned from the Mount and observed the circumstances, he became angry about it and scorned them severely. They understood that they had done wrong and decided to repent. Moses (a.s.) on Allah's command suggested to them an important repentance, whose explanation will be presented in future verses

p:١٨٧

: In the next verse it says

".Then We pardoned you after that in order that you might be thankful "

****

Then, it continues mentioning the series of happenings that had occurred before,
:saying

And (remember) when We gave Moses the Book as a Criterion (between right and "
".(wrong) so that you might be guided (aright

And (remember) when Moses said to his people: ` O' my people, you have indeed "
"... ;wronged yourselves by worshipping the Calf so turn (in repentance) to your Creator..." your repentance should be fulfilled in this..."

definite form: "...and slay yourselves (the wrong doers), ...", in which the righteous had to kill the wrong doers. Of course, those who had not worshipped the calf were not condemned to death, but they were commissioned to slay those calf-worshippers among themselves, be they their own kith and kin, i.e. their own fellow menwhom they loved the most because they had associated a partner, the Calf, to the Lord, the "... .One True God.\(1\)" ...that will be better for you with your Creator

Then, He turned toward you (mercifully). Truly, He is the..."

".Oft-Pardoning, the Most Merciful

'Their Punishment ` you have indeed wronged yourselves

The phrase /innakum zalamtum anfusakum/ ` you have indeed wronged yourselves', here, is also noteworthy because: in Islam, sin which a man or a woman commits, is done against the individual's own self. For, the first and the immediate effect of a sin committed is that the individual becomes degenerated and thus gets far away from .Divine Mercy

****

٥٥ وَإِذْ قُلْتُمْ يَا مُوسَىٰ لَنْ نُؤْمِنَ لَكَ حَتَّىٰ نَرَىٰ اللَّهَ جَهْرَةً فَأَخَذَتْكُمُ الصَّاعِقَةُ وَأَنْتُمْ تَنْظُرُونَ

٥٦ ثُمَّ بَعَثْنَاكُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَوْتِكُمْ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَشْكُرُونَ

And (remember) when you said: ` O' Moses! we will never believe in you until we " .٥٥
".see Allah manifestly', so the thunderbolt struck you while you looked on Then We raised you up after your death in order that haply you might be " .٥٦

".thankful

Commentary : Verses ٥٥-٥٦

! An Unjust Demand

Point

These two verses remind the Children of Israel about another bounty amongst the .great bounties that Allah bestowed upon them

This illustrates how stubborn and obstinate those people were, and how the divine grievous torment encompassed them as a result of their unjust demand. But,
:thereafter, the Mercy of Allah blessed them again. It says

And (remember) when you said: ` O' Moses! we will never believe in you until we see "
"... , ' Allah manifestly

Result of their Demand

This kind of demand might originate from their ` ignorance ', because the minds of ignorant ones usually cannot understand beyond the impressions of their senses.
Their minds are not able to conceive anything invisible. So, they demanded to see the .Lord openly with their own eyes

Or, it originated haply from their stubbornness and their habit of seeking pretext
.which was one of the characteristics of those people

At any rate, they frankly told Moses (a.s.) that they would never believe in him until .they saw the Lord manifestly and with their very eyes

Here, they insisted on seeing Him. This placed Moses (a.s.) in a helpless predicament. So, they saw, instead, one of the creatures of Allah that they did not have the ability to look upon. This incident might have made them understand that the eyes of the head were not able to see even many of the creations of Allah, much less their ability to see His Pure Self, the Almighty. Then, a thunderbolt came down and struck the mountain. It issued an amazing light with a horrible sound and an awful earthquake so that everybody there, because of their intensive fear, fell down dead. So, the Qur'ān, following the above sentence says: "...so the thunderbolt struck

".you while you looked on

Resurrection from the Dead

Moses (a.s.) was very worried about that event. Seventy persons from amongst the great leaders of the Israelites had died in that occurrence. It was a very crucial event for the Children of Israel to endure and they would make life hard for Moses (a.s.). Then he (a.s.) asked Allah to raise them up and let them live again. His supplication
:was accepted, as the Qur'ān says

".Then We raised you up after your death in order that haply you might be thankful "

This short explanation of the above two verses is also expounded more comprehensively in Sura Al-'A`rāf, No. ۷, verse ۱۵۵ and Sura Nisā, No. ۴, verse ۱۵۳. Concerning seeing God, we have in Exod. ۳۳: ۲۰: " And He said: ` Thou canst see My "! face: for there shall no man see Me and live

Biblical Account

:See the Bible, Exodus ۱۹: ۱۶ and ۱۷, too, which is as follows

And it came to pass on the third day in the morning that there were thunders and .۱۶ lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding
.loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled

And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God; and they .۱۷ stood at the nether part of the mount

This story shows that while inviting the ignorant and stubborn people to the right path, the great prophets of Allah were involved in many complicated problems. Sometimes, the people asked for improvisatorial miracles from the prophets; and sometimes they went further and demanded of them to see the Lord openly with their physical eyes. They said decisively that they would never believe in them unless their demand was actually performed. They insisted on their vain thoughts and put forth some new excuses even when they were faced with respective violent responses from the Lord. But, the Grace and Mercy of Allah assisted the prophets on their path, else it was impossible for them to resist and stand firm when receiving all those .excuses

This tendency of demanding extraordinary and silly manifestations as miracles had also been the habit of the opponents of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), (the Holy Qur'ān ۴: (۱۵۳, and ۱۷: ۹۰-۹۶

By the way, this verse is one of the verses that attests to the existence of the possibility of ` restoration of life ', in this world, because its occurrence in one respect .is evidence of its possibility in other respects, too

! Abundant Bounties

As it is understood from Sura Al-Mā'idah, verses ٢٠ to ٢٢, when the Children of Israel were saved from the hostility of the Pharaoh and his army, Allah commanded them to move toward the Holy Land of Jerusalem and enter in it. But the Israelites did not obey the command saying: "...in this land are a people of exceeding strength: never shall we enter it until they leave it: if (once) they leave then shall we enter ", (the Holy .(Qur'ān ٥: ٢٢ Those rebellious people's disobedience did not stop there. They even told Moses (a.s.): "...Go thou, and thy Lord, and fight ye two, while we sit here (and watch) ", (Sura Al-(Mā'idah, No. ٥, verse ٢٤

Moses became very displeased with their words and told the story of his grievance to the Lord. Finally, it was appointed that the Children of Israel wander through the .desert (of Sinai) in distraction for forty years

A group of those people regretted their wrong action and returned to the Lord repenting of that sin. Then, He bestowed His bounties on them again, a part of which :is referred to in the verse under discussion, where it says

"... ,And We outspread the clouds to shade you "

It is obvious how happy a wandering passenger, who has been walking under the hot sun in the desert that he has to pass through without any shelter from morning till evening, is when he receives the welcome shade of clouds

True, it is probable that shady clouds sometimes appear in the sky of the deserts, but the verse clearly declares that the event was not an ordinary thing that occurred for the Children of Israel. It was the favour of Allah that often showered upon them and they enjoyed it

At the same time, during that long span of time, the passengers in that hot dry desert needed food and sustenance. That problem was also solved for them by the Merciful Creator, as the verse continues saying

"... ,and We sent down ` manna ' and ` quail ' upon you..."

, "...' saying): ` Eat of the good things We have provided for you)..."

in order that you may enjoy of the pure delicious nutritious sustenance and not disobey Him. Yet, they were not thankful to Him

But they rebelled); to Us they did no harm, but they were putting themselves to)..."
".destruction

The terms ` manna ' and ` salwa ' are differently interpreted by different philologists and commentators. However, the fact is: ` manna ' and ` salwa ' refer to the heavenly provisions the Israelites were provided with, without any strain or burden on their part

Commentary : Verses ٥٨-٥٩

The Israelites' Intensive Obstinacy

Point

Here we are dealing with another aspect of the life of the Children of Israel :concerning their entrance in the Holy Land. It says

"...(And (remember) when We said: ` Enter this city (Jerusalem "

The term /qaryah/ in our ordinary speaking usually means: ` a village or a town ', but in the Qur'ān it is applied for any place where people are gathered to live in, whether it .is a city, town, or village. The meaning, here, is Jerusalem and the Holy Land

:Then it adds

" ... ,and eat of the plentiful therein, wherever you desire..."

"... ,and enter the gate with humility and ask forgiveness..."

".' We shall forgive you your sins, and give more (the portion of) those who do good..."

It should be noted that the term /ḥittah/ philologically means: ` a putting down ', and, here, it means: ` a petition for the putting down of a heavy burden of sin from them
'and asking Allah to forgive their faults

The Lord commanded the Israelites to say that phrase with their whole hearts and spirits for the purpose of asking, thereby, for the putting down of their heavy burdens from them, because they needed to be put down from them before entering the Holy Land. And, they were promised that they would be forgiven their sins if they did perform the command accordingly. Maybe, it is for the same reason that one of the doors of Heaven is entitled ` Bāb-ul-Ḥittah ' (the door of forgiveness). Abū Ḥayyān Andalusī says that the objective meaning of /bāb/, here, is one of the doors of (Jerusalem which is known as ` Bāb-ul-Ḥittah ' .(1)

The verse finally proclaims that as for the doers of good, besides forgiving their sins,
:there will be endowed some additional bounties and rewards upon them, too. It says

"and give more (the portion of) those who do good..."

Refusal by some to repent

However, Allah ordered them to express this phrase sincerely as a sign of their repentance and request for forgiveness in order to show their humility unto Him. The Lord promised them that He would forgive them their sins if they followed through with the command. In that case, He would also increase His favour and reward for the .good doers among them along with the forgiveness of their faults

But, as we know and are acquainted with the stubbornness and obstinacy of the Children of Israel, some of them even refused to utter the phrase and mockingly they :said another incongruous word (Hinta) ` wheat' instead of it. Then, the Qur'ān says

But those who were unjust substituted a saying other than that "

"... ,which had been spoken unto them so We sent down upon those who were unjust a torment from heaven for what..."

".they used to pervert

Divine Punishment in some form or other awaits those who unwarrantedly and unjustly change the word of Allah and His covenant, to something other than the .original presented to them

Commentary : Verse ٦٠

! The Miracle of Water Gushing Forth in the Desert

Again in this verse, Allah has pointed out one of the important favours bestowed upon
:the Children of Israel, saying

" ... ,And (remember) when Moses sought water for his people "

When Moses (a.s.) prayed for water, Allah accepted his plea as the Qur'ān says: "...so "...! We said: ` Strike the rock with your staff

"... .Then there gushed forth from it twelve springs..."

Each of those springs flowed for a definite tribe so that among all of the tribes of "... .Israelites: "... Each (group of) people knew their (respective) drinking place

There are a variety of ideas about what kind of stone that rock was and how Moses (a.s.) was supposed to strike that rock, and in what form the flow of water appeared from it. What the Qur'ān says is not more than that Moses (a.s.) struck the rock with .his staff and then twelve springs gushed forth therefrom

This incident is referred to in Exod ١٧: ١-٦, with the only difference being that the number of twelve springs that gushed forth

.from the rock is not mentioned

However, the Lord, on one hand, sent ` Manna ' and ` Salwa ' (quails) for them, and, on the other hand, provided them enough water, easily available, and told them: "...` Eat and drink of Allah's provision, and commit you not evil in the earth, doing ".! corruption

In fact, the Lord advises them, as a showing of gratitude for these great bounties, that at least they should lay stubbornness and obstinacy aside and stop hurting .(.prophets (a.s

".That was because they disobeyed, and went on transgressing

Commentary : Verse ٦١

Demanding a Variety of Food

To continue the description mentioned in the former verses about the different bounties Allah bestowed on the Children of Israel, here in the verse under discussion, the unthankfulness and ingratitude of the Israelites for those great favours is illustrated

The verse indicates how obstinate they were, so much so that perhaps no people can be found in the history of the human race similar to them from .the point of being ungrateful for Divine favours

At first it says: " And (remember) when you said: ` O' Moses! never can we (always)
" ... ,endure one sort of food so beseech your Lord for us, to produce for us of what the earth groweth, its pot-..."

"... .herbs, and cucumbers, garlic, lentils and onions

But in reply to them: " He (Moses) said: ` Would you have in exchange what is worse
" ...?for what is better

"...! Now that it is so: " ... Enter a city, thus you shall get that which you demanded

Then, the Qur'ān adds that: "... Abasement and humiliation were stamped upon them,
"...;and they incurred wrath from Allah that was because they went on rejecting Allah's Signs and slaying the prophets..."

"... .unjustly

".That was because they disobeyed, and went on transgressing..."

? Why were the Israelites Stamped with Abasement and Humiliation

As the above verse indicates, they incurred humiliation and wretchedness because of two things : the first was because they went on disobeying the orders of Allah and
.straying from the path of monotheism to that of infidelity

The second factor was that they used to kill the righteous and apostles of Allah. This hard-heartedness and heedlessness of the Divine laws and even against most human laws, that even today clearly continues among the Jews, might be the cause of that .humiliation and abasement

Right now, as we are writing these lines, the territory of Lebanon is being invaded savagely by this hard-hearted tribe where thousands of men and women, among whom are innocent, old persons, infant babies, hospital patients and the like, are unjustly and tyrannically being slain in a pitiable way. Their bodies are lying lifelessly on the ground in wait of burial. We are sure that this tribe will certainly have to pay the .penalty for their cruelty in the future

Verily those who believed (in the Prophet of Islam), and those of Jews and " ٦٢ Christians and Sabians, whoever believed (truly) in Allah and the Last Day, and worked righteousness for them is their reward with their Lord, and no fear shall be " upon them, nor shall they grieve

A General Principle for Salvation

The Qur'ān, here, points to a general and common principle when it proclaims that that which is worthy is ` truth ' and ` reality ' . With Allah, only ` true Faith ' and ` good deeds ' are accepted

Verily, those who believed (in the Prophet of Islam) and those of Jews and Christians " and Şabians, whoever believed (truly) in Allah and the Last Day, and worked " ... ,righteousness for them is their reward with their Lord

:Therefore, they will have no fear in the future nor any grief for their past

" .and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve..."

This verse, with nearly the same form, has occurred in Sura Al-Mā'idah, No. ٥, verse ٦٩; and with a further variation on the same subject in Sura Al-Hajj, No. ٢٢, verse ١٧

A careful study over the verses cited after this verse in Sura Al-Mā'idah, makes it clear that the Jews and Christians boasted that their religions were better than other .religions. They imagined that all of Heaven would be for them alone, exclusively

That very pride, perhaps, was seen in the manner of some Muslims, too. The current verse denotes that superficial faith, especially with the lack of doing good deeds, whether it proceeds from Muslims or Jews, Christians and Şabians, or the followers of any other religion, is worthless. Faith in Allah and the Last Day of Judgment is noted worthy by Allah when it is true, pure, and sincere, and accompanied with righteous deeds. Only this agendum deserves .rewards and causes peace, security, and salvation for a believer

? Who are the Şabians

There are a variety of opinions as to who the Şabians are. Here you are introduced to a few of them which are usually referred to. For example, the description cited in: ` An :Arabic English Lexicon, Part ٤, ' p. ١٦٤٠, by Edward William Lane is, in brief, as follows

The term /şābi'ūn/ in the Kurān is said to mean: ` Those who depart from one religion to another ...[The Şabians,] said to worship the stars secretly, and openly to profess themselves to belong to the Christians: They are called /aş-şābi'ah/ and /aş-şābi'ūn/ : and they assert that they are of the religion of Şābi the son of Sheyth [or Sheth] the son of Adam: their appellation may also be pronounced /aş-şābiyūn/...or the Şābi'ūn are a certain class of the people who possess revealed scripture: or a people whose religion resembles that of the Christians, except that their Qiblah is towards the place where blows the [south, or southerly, wind called] Janūb... or according to some, their Qiblah is the Ka` bah: and they assert that they are of the religion of Noah. It is said that they are thus called in relation to Şābi the son of Lāmak [or Lamech], the brother of Noah. It is said that they are worshippers of angels: and it said that they are the worshippers of the stars: and that their appellation is Arabic; from /şaba'/ ` he departed from a religion '; or from /şaba/ ` he inclined ', because of their inclining from .Truth to falsehood

Another idea about ` Şabians ', the appellation mentioned in the Holy Qur'ān, is what the known scholar, Rāqib, cites in his book, ` Mufradāt '. He says: " They are a group of followers of Noah (a.s.), and their name mentioned along with the names of Believers, Jews, and Christians, is also an evidence that they have been a religious group of people, believing in one of the heavenly religions who believed in God and the ".Hereafter, too

Some other commentators have said that the idea that some have called them pagans and star worshippers, or some others have considered them Zoroastrians, does not seem right, because Şabians believed that: first, the heavenly Holy Books were revealed to Adam (a.s.) and then to Noah (a.s.) and after him to Sām (a.s.), then to Rām (a.s.) and thereafter to Abraham (a.s.), then to Moses (a.s.) and after him to John (a.s.) the son of Zachariah, all of which were sent rightfully and Divinely

? ' Who are the ` People of the Book

The Qur'ānic phrase / 'ahlul kitāb / ` the People of the Book ' has occurred in more than ٣٠ different verses of the Qur'ān where it mostly means both the Jews and the .Christians or either of them

The above mentioned Arabic-English Lexicon, part one, page ١٢١ explains the phrase / 'ahlul-kitāb / thus: ` (the people of the Scripture, or Bible; and) the readers, or reciters,
'of the Mosaic Law, and of the Gospel

Apparently, all the adherents of the prophets who had revealed Books, the clearest example of whom are Jews and Christians, may be called ` the People of the Book '. If so, we can also consider the Prophet's tradition when he was asked about the number of the Books Allah revealed and he (p.b.u.h.) replied: " One hundred and four books were revealed: ten books to Adam (a.s.), fifty books to Shīth, thirty books to Ukhnūkh (Enoch) and he is the first one who wrote by pen, ten books to Abraham, the Turah to Moses, the Ingeel to Jesus, Zabūr to David, and the Qur'ān to Muhammad (the (Prophet of Islam)." (1)

Thereafter, you turned back, and had it not been for the Grace and Mercy of Allah " ٦٤ ".on you, you had certainly been among the losers

Commentary : Verses ٦٣-٦٤

! Hold the Signs of Allah Firmly

In these verses, the subject of taking a covenant from the Children of Israel for the practicing of the contents of the Turah and, then, breaching that covenant, is pointed :out. At first it says

And (remember) when We made a covenant with you, and raised the Tūr (Mountain) " "... ;above you

"... ,saying): ` Hold you fast that which We have given you with the strength) ..."

and remember all that is therein (to do accordingly); haply you shall guard..." "(yourselves (against evil

*****

.But you people neglected your covenant

"... ,Thereafter, you turned back " and had it not been for the Grace and Mercy of Allah on you, you had certainly been..." ". among the losers

The objective of the covenant, here, is the same that has been mentioned in verse ٤٠ of the current Sura and what is in verse ٨٣ and ٨٤, which will be discussed later. The items of that covenant are: worshipping only Allah; treating parents, relations, orphans, and those in need with kindness; speaking to and treating people fairly; attending and being steadfast in ritual prayers, paying alms, avoiding shedding blood, .the like of which had been mentioned in the Turah, too

Sura Al-Mā'idah, No. ٥, verse ١٢, also denotes that Allah had taken a covenant from the Children of Israel to believe in all of the Divine prophets and help them, and practice regular charity in the way of Allah. Then, at the end of the same verse, Allah promises that if they keep this covenant and actually do it, they will be allowed to .abide in Paradise

? How was the Mountain Raised over the Israelites' Heads

The leading famous commentator, the Late Ṭabarsī, has narrated from ` Abūzeyd ' that when Moses (a.s.) returned from Mount Sinai and brought the Turah with him, he told his people that he had brought a Divine Book consisting of some religious instructions and rules about lawful and unlawful things. He told them to take the \(instructions that Allah had ordained and practically observe them in their lives.\)

But the Jews, with the excuse that he (a.s.) had brought them difficult duties to perform, disobeyed and exceeded the limits. The Lord commanded the angels to raise .a great big rock from Tūr Mountain above them

At that moment Moses (a.s.) announced that if they promised to perform the orders of Allah and repented for their disobedience, that punishment would be removed from .over them, else they would be destroyed

The Jews, who expected that the Mountain would fall on them at any moment, submitted and accepted the Turah and prostrated for Allah. Then, finally, that chastisement was warded off because of their

This very occurrence, with a little difference, is mentioned in verse ٩٣ of the current Sura; and in Sura An-Nisā', No. ٤, verse ١٠٤; and in Sura Al-A`rāf, No. ٧, verse ١٧١. It is necessary to note, here, that as for the suspending mountain and as to how it could stand high above as a covering overhead for the Israelites, some commentators believe that it was by the command of Allah that Tūr Mount was shaken and taken up from its place and, then, suspended above them as a canopy.<sup>(١)</sup> A more detailed explanation will be referred to when commenting on Sura Al-'A`rāf, No. ٧, verse ١٧١.

The above mentioned event as described in the Qur'ān was quite known by the Jews, who had these original statements in the Turah about it with them. Besides that, this event is also recorded in Talmud Aboda Sara. ١: ٢ which says: ' I will cover you with the mountain like a roof '. Talmud

! Those Who Exceeded on the Sabbath

These two verses, like the previous verses, point out the disobedience and transgression dominating the souls of the Jews, and their intensive interest in .economic gain

At first, it says: " And certainly you have known those among you who exceeded the " ... ,limits on the Sabbath

And, also, you have known that: " ... so We said to them: ` Be you (as) apes, despised " ! and rejected

Some may think that the present state of the Israelites and their apparent progress, after the first and the second World Wars or after their unlawful occupation of the Holy Land does not tally with this but yet they are hated by most nations and they have no rest in the real sense of the term, and the term ` a Jew ' has passed into a proverb for a niggardly, miserly person this is due to their own vanities and their hatred towards the others which, for example, they have shown in many places such .as Palestine and Lebanon, both openly and hiddenly, during these recent years

****

So We made it an exemplary punishment to those who witnessed it "

"...and to their posterity

p:206

"and an admonishment to the pious ones..."

It is worthy to note that Imam Bāqir (a.s.) and Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) are narrated from, who, on the meaning of this verse, have said: "The purpose of the phrase /mā bayna yadayha/ `those who witnessed it' is the generation of that time, and the objective of the phrase /mā xalfahā/ `their posterity' is about us Muslims."\(1\) . That is, that exemplary lesson was not exclusive to the Israelites alone, but it was meant for all of us, the Muslims, too; or, all who come after them until the Day of Judgement and who .do the same as they did

:They are as follows

(The Rod of Moses (a.s.) becoming a serpent. (٧: ١٠٧, ٢٤: ٣٢ .١)

(The Palm of Moses (a.s.) shining brightly. (٧: ١٠٨, ٢٤: ٣٣ .٢)

The Story of the Israelites' Cow

Among what we have already studied about the Children of Israel in Sura Al-Baqarah, all of the facts were mentioned shortly and briefly

The event of the Israelites' Cow which is referred to in the above verses, in contrast to all of the previous incidents, is explained in detail and comprehensively. This is so, perhaps, for the reason that this story is mentioned in the Qur'ān only once

Besides that, there are many instructive subjects involved in it which requires such an extensive explication. One of these subjects which is vividly seen throughout the story, is the persistency of the Israelites in seeking for excuses. It also illustrates their level of faith in the revelations brought forth by Moses (a.s.). Most important of all is that the story provides clear emphatic evidence to the possibility of the Resurrection

As it is understood from the Holy Qur'ān and its commentaries, the incident was described that one of the Israelites was murdered in a mysterious way, in which his murderer was not at all known

So, there arose a dispute among the different tribes and divisions of the people as to who murdered the man. Every tribe accused the members of another tribe of the crime and announced that the members of its own tribe were innocent. For its judgement and solution, the problem was brought to the Apostle Moses (a.s.). On one hand, that crime was committed hiddenly and the murderer of the man could not be found by any ordinary means employed at that time. On the other hand, that dispute might have led to a great complicated disturbance among the Children of Israel. Then, finally Moses (a.s.), by the help of the Grace and Guidance of Allah and through a miraculous way, whose explanation will come later, solved the problem

: The Qur'ān begins the description of the event as thus

: And (remember) when Moses said to his people "

"... ! Surely, Allah commands you that you should sacrifice a cow `

"...! ? They said : ` Do you mock us ..."

"! !He said : ` I take refuge with Allah from being one of the ignorant ..."

That is, causing division and mocking others are acts of the ignorant and never is a prophet of Allah of such people

When the Israelites realized that it was not a mockery and the matter was serious, "...! They said : ` Ask your Lord for us to make it clear to us what she is

The phrase : ` Ask your Lord ' which is repeated several times in their demands, carries a kind of hidden impoliteness and ridicule in itself. It seems that they considered the Lord of Moses (a.s.) a different

.Lord from their own Lord

: However, as a reply to their demand

Moses said : ` He says: Surely she is a cow neither old nor young, but of middle... " "...! ;age

In order to stop them from prolonging the matter by bringing new excuses forth to postpone that fulfillment of the command of Allah, at the end of the statement, it has : been added

".' so do what you are commanded ..."

.But, they still continued their insistence and obstinacy

"...!. They said : ` Ask your Lord for us to make it clear to us what colour she should be "

Moses replied : ` He says she should be a yellow cow, bright in colour, giving delight ..." ".! to the beholders

.Anyhow, this cow should be very good and interesting in colour

The colour should be so bright and beautiful that any beholder wonders and becomes .delighted when looking at it

It is amazing that they were not satisfied with that and went on seeking for excuses
.by which, every time, they made the fulfillment of their duty more difficult

A tradition says that Imam Ridā (a.s.) has said that any cow would have been sufficient, but they imposed the particulars upon themselves, and the more they did so, the more did Allah impose the restrictions as a punishment for their persistent demands for unnecessary details. All this, while Moses (a.s.) acting under inspiration, was driving them to purchase a particular cow belonging to a particular man who was very holy and pious and deserved to be favoured. They had to pay him an enormous price for this cow which .was the only one then available

(Hence they were very near to not doing it. ↩)

****

They said : ` Ask your Lord for us to make it clear to us what kind of a cow must it "
" ...,be for surely to us the cows are all alike, ..." "... and, if Allah wills, we shall surely be ..." "

"!guided aright

****

(Again, "(Moses) said : ` Verily, He says: Verily, she is a cow not (yet

"...!.trained to till the soil or to water the fields; sound and without blemish

They said : ` Now you have brought the truth.'..." So, they tried with much effort to ..." "
...find that particular cow, and, finally,they found it

"...(Then they offered her in sacrifice, though they had not the mind to do (it ..." "

****

After describing this story in detail, again the Qur'ān retells it briefly, and generally
: through the following two verses, thus

And (remember) when you killed a man and disputed thereon : but Allah was to bring "
"...forth what you were hiding

"...!(So, We said : ` Strike him (the corpse) with a part of it (the sacrificed cow "

"...Thus, Allah gives life to the dead ..."

".and shows you of His signs, so that you might understand ..."

Nu-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. 1, p. 88-89 1-1

In the last verse of the verses under discussion, the hardness of the hearts of the Israelites is referred to. It points out that after witnessing all these events and observing the Signs of Allah and the miraculous evidence that Moses (a.s.) prepared for them, yet their hearts became hard, even harder than stone, because, there are some rocks that bring forth water, or shatter and fall down for the fear of Allah. It : says

"... ;Then your hearts hardened after that as stones or even worse in hardness "

"...,for verily, among stones there are some from which rivers gush forth ..."

"...,and others that split asunder and water issues out of them ..."

."... ,and others tumble down through fear of Allah ..."

So, your hearts are even harder than these rocks, because neither a spring of passion, love, or knowledge flows out of them nor tremble they from the fear of Allah.

: Then in the last sentence of the verse, it says

".and Allah is not heedless of what you do ..."

This is a subtle threat against this group of Israelites and all others who behave like .them or do the same as they did

And when they meet those who have Faith, they say : ` We believe ' , but when " ٧٦ they are alone with one another, they say : ` Do you speak to them of what Allah has revealed to you, that they may thereby dispute with you about this before your Lord ? " ' ? Have you then no sense

What ! Do they not know that Allah knows what they hide and what they make " ٧٧ " ? known

: Occasion of Revelation

Upon the occasion of the revelation of these first two verses, some of the commentators have narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) who has said: "A group of the Jews, who had not enmity with the truth, when they met the Muslims they would tell them of what had been mentioned in the Turah about the specialties of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.). The leaders of the Jews understood the matter and told them to avoid informing Muslims of what was cited in the Turah about the epithets of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) lest they would argue with the Jews about (it before their Lord. Then this verse was revealed." ↩

: Commentary

! A Futile Expectation

Point

As noted from these verses, the Qur'ān has discontinued the story of the Israelites and, with an instructive conclusion, has turned to the Muslim believers, saying : " Do you then hope that they would believe in you (in Faith), and a party among them indeed used to hear the Word of Allah, then perverted it after they had understood it, "?(and they know (this

Therefore, when you see that they reject the inspiring words of the Qur'ān and the miracles of the holy Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), you should not be annoyed. They are the children of the same people who, as the elected members of the tribe, went to Mount Sinai, heard the words of Allah, and understood His instructions, but when they .returned they altered them

It is perceived from the phrase : ` ... and a party among them indeed... ", that not all of them but a party, who probably formed the majority in them, were of those who .perverted Allah's Words

It is cited in ` Asbāb-un-Nuzūl ' that when some of the Jews returned from Mount Sinai, they told their people : " We heard that Allah ordered Moses, ` Whenever you can do My instructions do them, but when you cannot, leave them ", and this was the .first perversion

However, at the advent of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), it was expected that the Jews would accept this religion before others embraced it, because they were the followers of the Book, whereas the pagans were not. Besides that, they had learnt the epithets of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) from their own books. But the Holy Qur'ān says that, considering their previous bad reputation, your hope is of no avail. The reason is that some deviated characteristics which dominated the spirits of this group, caused them to separate from truth, though it was well within the realm of their ability .to embrace it

The next verse uncovers another bitter fact about this deceitful

p:۲۱۵

Majma`-ul-Bayān, vol. ۱, p. ۱۴۲ ۱-۱

: hypocritical group. It says

?What Allah has revealed to you

"...,'And when they meet those who have Faith, they say: ` We believe "

:but when they are alone with one another, they say ..."

"... ,Do you speak to them of what Allah has revealed to you ` that they may thereby dispute with you about this ..."

" ' ? before your Lord ? Have you then no sense

In commenting on this very verse, this probability also exists that the initial words of the verse are about the hypocritical Jews who pretended to be believers in the presence of the Muslims but in their absence they denied it. They even scorned those pure-hearted Jews who had conveyed the secrets of the Turah to the Muslims

At any rate, this is a confirmation to what was said in the previous verse that a group with such attributes governing their spirits should not be expected to become faithful

The phrase : / fataḥallāhu `alaykum / ` what Allah has revealed to you ' may mean : ` the Divine command which was in the authority of the Children of Israel '. Or, the phrase may refer to the idea that Allah had opened the doors of the divine secrets and the prophecies about the coming religion unto them

It is noteworthy that this verse clearly shows that the Faith of this hypocritical group in Allah was so weak and hollow that they considered Him as an ordinary person and imagined that if they could conceal a fact from the Muslims, it would be concealed from Allah, too

*****

Then, in the next verse, it frankly says : " What ! Do they not know

" ? that Allah knows what they hide and what they make known

" .and mere conjectures

Allah,' so that they may sell it for a little price, so, woe to them for what their hands
" .have written and woe to them for what they earn

: Occasion of Revelation

A group of the learned men of the Jews altered the epithets of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) mentioned in the Turah. This perversion was contrived to protect their social positions and benefits which they used to obtain from their common people over the .years

When the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) announced his mission and they recognized his epithets coincided with what was mentioned in the Turah, they were afraid that their profits would be endangered if the fact became evident. Therefore, they wrote some .epithets completely different from what was actually cited in the Turah

The ordinary Jews, who had heard the true epithets of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), more or less, asked their scholars frequently whether this Prophet was the same promised prophet whose advent they had given them glad tidings of. Then the Jewish savants and scholars decided to recite some perverted verses from the Turah to .them in order to make them content thereby

The Jewish Learned Men's Plots of Oppression Against the Laymen

Following the previous description about the vicious deeds of the Jews, these verses divide them into two definite groups : the laymen and the deceitful learned men. A few of the Jewish scholars, of course, accepted the truth and believed in Islam and joined : the community of Muslims. It says

And there are among them illiterates, who know not the Book, but only fancies and " : .mere conjectures

The phrase /ummīyūn/ ` the illiterates ' is the plural form of the term /ummī/ which, here, means an illiterate person who remains the same in his native endowments as he was when he was born without any external education or training from anyone whosoever; and this state is ordinarily known as illiteracy. Or, this case also occurs because some mothers, because of their naive motherly love for their children, .ignorantly do not let their children separate from them and go to schools to study

The term /'amāniyy/ is the plural form of /'amniyyah/ ` conjecture ', and, here, it may refer to the privileges, vain desires, wishful thinking and mere conjectures of the Jews .that they considered for themselves

The second group was the Jewish priests and savants who often altered the facts for : their own benefit, as the Qur'ān says

:So, woe to those who write the Book with their hands and then say "

" ... , ' ; This is from Allah `

" ...,so that they may sell it for a little price ..."

" ...so, woe to them for what their hands have written ..."

" .and woe to them for what they earn ..."

From the last meanings of the verse, it is well understood that they had used impious
.means and had come up with an incorrect conclusion

And they said : ` The Fire shall not touch us but for a few days ' . Say: ` Have you " ٨٠ taken such a promise from Allah, for He never fails in His promise ? Or do you speak " ' ? against Allah what you do not know

Yea! whoever earns evil and is encompassed by his sins, these are the " ٨١ ".inhabitants of the Fire, therein shall they abide forever

And those who have Faith and do deeds of righteousness they are the inhabitants " ٨٢ ".of Paradise, therein shall they abide forever

Commentary : Verses ٨٠-٨٢

The Qur'ān, here, points to one of the false statements of the Jews of which they were proud and that very pride was the origin of part of their deviation. Thus the : Qur'ān responds to it "...!And they said: ` The Fire shall not touch us but for a few days "

Say: ` Have you taken such a promise from Allah, for He never fails in His promise? ..." ""?Or do you speak against Allah what you do not know

One of the most obvious reasons for the stubbornness and egoism of this group is their belief in the ` preference of the Jewish race over all other races, and that they are different from other nations, and that their sinners will have to tolerate the Fire only for a few days as their punishment and, therefore, Paradise will be theirs ' .exclusively forever

This claim of privileges is not logical in any aspect, because, before Allah, there is no difference between the members of the human race from the point of rewards or .punishments for their deeds

Can they support the expectation to their claim of being exceptional among nations and therefore receiving special treatment regarding the general law of penalties by ? describing something they have done to deserve it

However, the above verse with a logical statement, refuses their vain imaginations and denotes that their claims depict one of these two conditions : they should either have taken a particular promise from Allah on the matter that they have not or, they .tell lies and calumniate against Him

****

The next verse expresses a common and universal law which is logical from any point :of view. It says

Yea! whoever earns evil and is encompassed by his sins, these are the inhabitants of " ".the Fire, therein shall they abide forever

This is a general rule for the sinners belonging to any sect, nation, in any locality, and .at any time

****

There is also a universal, general law for the pious believers, which the next verse : announces

And those who have Faith and do deeds of righteousness they are the inhabitants of " ".Paradise, therein shall they abide forever

****

: Explanation

Earning Sin

The Arabic term /kasb/ and /iktisāb/ both mean: ` to earn or gain something willingly
' and consciously

Earnings are received in return for something done to profit one's self. This is quite different from merely falling into evil. It is to selfishly seek one's own gain that is evil.

One sin leads to another sin and thus the conscience of the individual gradually becomes deadened until sinning becomes natural and normal for that person and he is totally abandoned to evil and attempts to justify his actions and to deny that he deserves eternal punishment. The law of cause and effect works in its natural order in the case of evil as in the case of virtue. Those who devote themselves wholly to evil, must naturally find themselves beset on every side by the consequent evil effects of the causative evil factors wrought by the individual. But those who struggle against evil, however long it may take for them to overcome it, the inclination towards the evil, cannot be considered equivalent to those who are out to earn evil. Those who struggle to overcome evil hate and detest it and the individual's earnest and sincere effort to overcome evil, naturally ends in the triumph of good in the human nature. With this endeavour of good against evil, the natural consequence of the struggle strengthens the nobility in the individual's personality. But, purposefully yielding to evil with a selfish motive for any selfish gains, gradually erects a fortress of evil for the individual so that the access of good becomes more and more difficult and ultimately renders the individual's approach to any goodness as impossible. As the individual is totally lost, for all times, to evil, he convicts himself to the perpetual consequences of the evil all around him for ever

: These kind of people are those who are referred to, later, in Sura ۲: ۸۶ which says

Those are they who have bought the life of this world at the price of the Hereafter, "
".for them the punishment shall not be lightened, nor shall they be helped

****

! The Breachers of the Covenant

In a few of the verses mentioned before, the covenant of the Children of Israel was hinted at, but no details were given about it

Through the verses under discussion, Allah reminds them of some of the items of this covenant. Most of these items or all of them should be counted as the fundamental principles and permanent laws of the Divine religions, because this same covenant and these instructions, in some form or other, are comprehensively found in every religion

In these verses, the Qur'ān severely scorns and blames the Jews because they broke their covenant, and threatens them with disgrace in the life of this world and the most grievous punishment in the Hereafter

This covenant, that the Children of Israel were witnesses of and confessed to, contains the following items

1. Monotheism and worshipping Allah, as the verse says

" And (remember) when We made a covenant with the Children of Israel "

" ... ;(instructing): ` You shall not worship any but Allah )

" ... ,and (you shall do) good to (your) parents ... " ٢

" ... ,and to the near of kin and to the orphans, and the needy ... " ٣

" ... ,and speak kind words to people ... " ٤

" ... ,keep up the prayer ... " ٥

" ... !.(and pay the poor-rates (zakāt ... " ٦

Then you turned away, except a few of you, and you ... "

".(backslide (even now

****

:And (remember) when We made a covenant with you " .v

" ...,You shall not shed your blood `

" ... ,nor expel one another from your dwellings ..." ^

".then you confirmed it while you bore witness ..." .9

: This item of the covenant is perceived from the sentence)

("?Do you then believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in (another) part "

****

p:۲۲۴

.But you disregarded many of these aspects of your covenant with Allah

"... ,Yet you kill one another and expel a group of your people from their dwellings "

"... ,helping others against them in sin and enmity ..."

.All of these deeds you did are a breach of the covenant you had taken with Allah

"... and if they come to you as captives, you ransom them ..."

"... ,yet their very expulsion was forbidden for you ..."

It is surprising that you, in paying ransom, and setting your captives free, comply with
:the ordinances of the Turah and the Divine Covenant

"...? Do you then believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in (another) part ..."

What shall be the recompense of those of you who do that, but disgrace, in the life ..."

"... ,of this world and on the Day of Resurrection to be consigned to the most terrible punishment ..."

"...?"

" .And Allah is not heedless of what you do ..."

Then, He, the Just, will take all of them into account and will judge upon you according .to your deeds in the Divine Court of Justice

****

The last of the verses under discussion, in fact, states their main motive for doing
 : these contradictory actions. It says

,Those are they who have bought the life of this world at the price of the Hereafter "

For this reason : " ... for them the punishment shall not be lightened, nor shall they be " .helped

The Best Strategy for the Survival of Nations

These verses have been revealed about the Children of Israel, but they contain a series of universal laws for the whole human race throughout the world. These laws consist of some advice for those nations who wish to survive and to exist successfully, as well as the secrets of failure and destruction

From the view point of the Qur'ān, nations will be happy and able to continue living when the individuals of that nation, avoiding sins, attach themselves to the greatest Power and rely on that Everlasting Source for help in all conditions. It is obvious that this Origin can be none but Allah, the Exalted. Therefore, they should obey Allah and bow only to Him, i.e. being sincere unto Him alone in obedience. If nations follow this law, they will be afraid of none. Genuine sincerity and perfect intentions of a believer in the way of Allah, do not tolerate the yielding of himself, in any regard, to anything or anybody else other than the One and Only True God, Allah. For it will mean the individual's surrender to his self which is nothing more than surrender to Satan which is the equivalent of worshipping him

As it was already pointed out, the means of salvation, i.e. for a nation to survive and endure successfully, is firm adherence of its members to the Divine Covenant and their faithful and loyal attachment to the divinely commissioned guides. It is obvious that misdeeds or sins weaken faith, adherence, and the love of goodness, and the excess of it may result in the total severance of the Holy connection, and in the individuals becoming totally lost in the darkness of infidelity, hence eternal punishment and no salvation in either this world or the coming world will be the result for such a nation

These verses of the Holy Qur'ān, if studied properly and judged dispassionately almost suffice to illustrate what is meant by the religion Islam and what kind of life Islam invites its believers, or all nations to live. And if the members of nations act upon these commandments, how peaceful, pleasant, and enjoyable will be the life here on

These are on one side, but on the other side, the secret of the failure and defeat of nations, which finally leads to their destruction and abolishment, lies in the existence of hate and enmity between them and between the members inside each nation, i.e. being heedless to the above mentioned commandments. Such a nation will soon perish because of disregarding Allah's covenant by not relying on Him, by not respecting and helping their parents, family members, kindreds, neighbours, and all fellow men, by shedding blood and by not observing the rights of others by expelling them out of their houses or lands in order to occupy their : properties

p:۲۲۶

"... ,You shall not shed your blood, nor expel one another from your dwellings ..."

And, finally, one of the factors of the destruction of nations is unjust discrimination in the execution of laws, i.e. when they observe those laws which protect their personal .profits but neglect what is beneficial for the society

"... ?Do you then believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in (another) part ..."

And these are some of the causes of either the development or failure of nations from .the view point of the Qur'ān

Commentary : Verses ٨٧-٨٨

Their Covered Hearts

In these verses, again, the Children of Israel are addressed. Yet the concepts and .criteria mentioned in them are universal and apply to all

"...At first, it says: " And We gave Moses the Book

"... ;and after him sent Messengers in succession ..."

.There came Messengers such as David, Solomon, Joshua, Zacharia and John and We gave Jesus, son of Mary, clear Signs, and confirmed him with the Holy ..."

"... Spirit

****

Is it that whensoever (thereafter) there came to you a Messenger, with what your ..."

"... ? selves desire not, you became arrogant

:This domination of desire on you was so intense that from among those prophets

"Some you denied, and others you slay ..."

This verse makes a fact clear that the Divine apostles, when communicating their prophecies, on the path of Allah, were heedless of the oppositions of the materialists. And, it must be so, because a correct sincere leadership is not anything save that. If prophets tend to follow the unconditioned desires of people and adapt themselves to people's selfish inclinations, they will be the followers of 'the misled' rather than being a divine leader for the followers of the path of truth "...! And they said: 'Our hearts are covered'"

"... Nay! Allah has cursed them for their disbelief ..."

"And it is for the same reason that: "... Little is that which they believe

The above sentence may be about the Jews who either rejected the prophets (p.b.u.h.) or killed them. It is also probable that it refers to the Jews who were contemporary with the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and used to inflexibly oppose him with obstinacy and enmity. However, it states the fact that Man, following his desires, may reach a point that he be cursed by Allah and be deprived of His Mercy. It is in this case that his heart is enclosed in a covering so tight that the truth can rarely penetrate into

٨٩ وَلَمَّا جَاءَهُمْ كِتَابٌ مِنْ عِنْدِ اللَّهِ مُصَدِّقٌ لِمَا مَعَهُمْ وَكَانُوا مِنْ قَبْلُ يَسْتَفْتِحُونَ عَلَى الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا فَلَمَّا جَاءَهُمْ مَا عَرَفُوا كَفَرُوا بِهِ فَلَعْنَةُ اللَّهِ عَلَى الْكَافِرِينَ

When there came to them a Book from Allah, confirming what was with them " ٨٩ and, from before, they had been praying for victory over those who rejected the Truth when there came to them that which they recognized (to be Truth), they " .disbelieved in it. So Allah's curse is on the disbelievers

Evil is the thing they have sold themselves for, denying in what Allah has sent " ٩٠ down, out of envy that Allah should send down of His grace on whomever He wills of His servants, and they have incurred Wrath upon Wrath, and for the disbelievers " .awaits a humiliating punishment

!A Religious Adherent and an Infidel

The words in these verses are again about the Jews and their lives. They formerly had an ardent love and were desirous for the advent of Islam and Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) for which they had settled in Medina waiting to see the signs of the new Prophet (p.b.u.h.) about which they had studied in their heavenly Book, the Turah.

From before, they usually gave each other the happy tidings of the advent of such a Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and they hoped that his appearance would help them to be able to defeat their enemies. But when they received a Book from Allah, the Qur'ān, which contained the same message that the Jews had had with them, in the Turah, they .rejected it

When there came to them a Book from Allah, confirming what was with them and, " from before, they had been praying for victory over those who rejected the Truth when there came to them that which they recognized (to be Truth), they disbelieved
" ... .in it

" .So Allah's curse is on the disbelievers ... "

Yet, it sometimes happens that a person eagerly pursues a certain fact, but when he reaches it and finds it opposite to his personal interests, he, being affected by his low
.desires, refuses it and abandons it, or even sometimes he stands against it

In fact, the Jews have willingly acquired defeat. Those people who, with the purpose of accepting and following the promised Prophet (p.b.u.h.) had emigrated from their own homes and, with many difficulties, had settled in Medina in order to attain their goal, ultimately joined the camp of the pagans and hostile disbelievers. Therefore, the
:Qur'ān says

" ...,Evil is the thing they have sold themselves for " denying what Allah has sent down, out of envy that Allah should send down of His ... "

" ... ,grace on whomever He wills of His servants

It seemed they expected that the promised prophet (p.b.u.h.) would be one from among the Children of Israel. They were displeased of the Qur'ān having been sent down to someone else. Then they, surrendering themselves to infidelity and disbelief in the Truth, showed their envy to the holy Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.). Therefore,
:at the end of the verse, it says and they have incurred Wrath upon Wrath, and for the disbelievers awaits a ... "

".humiliating punishment

٩١. " Believe in what Allah has sent down " ' When it is said to them: `

! (they said: ` We believe (only) in what was sent down to us (before

But they disbelieve in what is beyond that, while it is the Truth confirming what is with them. Say

٩٢. " And, also, Moses came to you with clear signs; yet you took to worship of the Calf " .after him (in his absence) and you were (willful) wrongdoers

Hold you fast that which We have given you with the strength, and hear (Our ` :commandments) ' . They said

We hear and disobey ' ; and they were made to imbibe (the love of ) the Calf into ` .their hearts because of their disbelief

! Say: ` Evil is what your faith bids you if you be, indeed, faithful

Racial Bigotries of the Jews

In commenting on the previous verses, it was said that the Jews tolerated a lot of trouble and toil on the path of reaching the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that the Turah had promised, but when he (p.b.u.h.) came, they did not believe in him, because of envy, or for the reason that this prophet (p.b.u.h.) was not from the Children of Israel, or .because their personal interests were in danger

Now, through the verses under discussion, the Qur'ān refers to the racial bigotries of :the Jews by which they are known throughout the world. It says

When it is said to them: ` Believe in what Allah has sent down ', they said: ` We " believe (only) in what was sent down to us (before) '. But they disbelieve in what is " ... ,beyond that

The Jews believed neither in the Evangel (Ingīl) nor in the Qur'ān, but they paid .attention only to the racial aspects and their personal benefits

The Jews said that they believed in what had been revealed to them, i.e. to the Israeli prophets (a.s.) and they would not believe in anything revealed to a non-Israeli prophet (i.e. the holy Prophet Mohammad (p.b.u.h.)). The reply to this arrogance is given in this verse saying that that which has been sent down to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is truth verifying that which is in the Book with them, referring to the :prophecy proclaimed in Duet. ١٨: ١٥–١٨. And, now, the Qur'ān says

" ... .while it is the Truth confirming what is with them ... "

Then, the Holy Qur'ān uncovers their falsehood and says that their excuse for their :disbelief is that Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) is not from among them

Say: ` Why then were you slaying the Prophets of Allah in former times, if you were... " " ' ? (indeed) faithful

If they truly believed in the Turah, the Divine Book in which murder is considered a

.major sin, they would not slay the great prophets of Allah

Furthermore, this statement that they say: " We believe (only) in what was sent down to us (before) ", is a clear deviation from the path of Monotheism, or, in other words, it is, in itself, blasphemy. This is a kind of arrogance and selfishness whether it be in the form of a personal issue or racial one

p:۲۳۳

The purpose of Monotheism is to eradicate these disgraceful habits from the unity of human beings so that they accept Allah's commandments merely because they are issued from that Origin

In other words, if the acceptance of the Divine instructions is only on the condition that they be sent down to us, it is, in fact, ` disbelief ' rather than ` belief ', or it is infidelity rather than ` faithfulness ' in Islam. The acceptance of such instructions is not at all true evidence of Faith

It is worthy to note that when the above verse says: " When it is said to them: ` Believe in what Allah has sent down,'... " it refers neither to Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) nor to Moses (a.s.) nor to Jesus (a.s.). It merely says

"Believe in what Allah has sent down "

****

To make their falsehood clearer, in the next verse, the Quraān provides further evidence against them. It says

And, also, Moses came to you with clear signs; yet you took to worship of the Calf " after him (in his absence) and you were (willful) wrongdoers

The Qur'ān tells the Jews that if you are true and you believe in your prophet, why did you worship the Calf after those clear signs and that monotheistic evidence ? What kind of faith is it that when Moses (a.s.) goes to the Mount, in his absence, it escapes from your hearts and immediately infidelity is substituted therein; or the Calf takes the place of Monotheism

Yes, with this wrong action, you committed an injustice both to yourselves and your society, and to your coming generations

In the subsequent verse, the Holy Qur'ān cites another example

p:۲۳۴

proving the meagreness of their claim. It refers to the covenant of Mount Sinai and
:says

And (remember) when We made a covenant with you, and raised the Mount, above "
:(you, (saying

Hold you fast that which We have given you with the strength, and hear (Our ` :commandments) '. They said

"... ;' We hear and disobey ` and they were made to imbibe (the love of) the Calf into their hearts because of ..."

"... .their disbelief

Yes, blasphemy and mammonism, whose symbol was the love of the golden Samaritan Calf, had influenced their hearts and took root throughout their souls. That .was why they forgot their Lord

Strange! What sort of Faith is it that condones both the slaying of prophets and the ? worshipping of the Calf, but neglects the observance of firm Divine Covenants

".' Yes, " ... Say: ` Evil is what your faith bids you if you be, indeed, faithful

The Jew's Claim on Heaven

"... ,Say: ` If the Last Abode with Allah is yours exclusively and not for other people "

From the former verses, it was understood that the Jews claimed that they would not be touched by the Fire but for a few days when they worshipped the Calf, saying: " The Fire shall not touch us but for a few days ". Also, when they were told to believe in Allah's revelation, they replied that they would believe only in their Book, the Turah: " We believe (only) in what was sent down to us (before). " They imagined that they were the only people who would be qualified for salvation and felicity, while other nations would be punished and receive eternal destruction in the Hereafter. Then, to cancel this kind of idea and to verify that the case is not as they considered, it is told
:them

".' then long for death if you are truthful ..."

The Messenger of Allah is commanded to tell them that if the abode of the Hereafter and the blessings of Heaven are exclusively theirs, they must strive to reach such bliss and invoke for death in order to get rid of the disasters and miseries of this world. It is in this situation that they would attain eternal happiness which they falsely think
.belongs to them alone

****

Allah Challenges the Jews' Claim

" ... ;But never will they long for death, because of what their hands have sent forth "

".for Allah well knows the unjust ..."

:And in another occurrence, as a protest to them, the Qur'ān says

If you think that you are friends to Allah, to the exclusion of (other) men, then ..."
.(invoke your desire for death if you are truthful! ", (Sura Al-Jumu` ah, No. ۶۲, verse ۶

Yes, a sincere friend desires to be with his friend, someone in love wishes to see one's love, and a seeker of a particular thing is anxious and desirous to obtain that which .one is seeking

Worldly affairs and materialism often stand as a curtain or barrier between Allah and His servants. They usually do not let one approach Him and be acquainted with his / ,her Creator deservingly. Therefore the true sincerity towards Him is the desire of death. Then, here, to unveil the falsehood of the statement of the Jews, Allah announces that if they truly believe that the future abode with Allah is exclusively theirs and think that only they are those who are the favoured people of Allah, not any other people, they must invoke death with their tongues, hearts, and actions to reach Him without any natural barrier

p:۲۳۸

Indeed, you will find them the greediest of people for life, even more than those who " ...; (associate partners (to Allah

But they never invoke death because they are the greediest of all people for the life of this world. They love the long life of this world even much more than pagans and idolators

" ... ,each one of them is covetous to live (even) a thousand years ..."

Besides their hideous deeds and that they do not seek death in order to meet the Lord, each of them would like to live one thousand years

The figure ' one thousand years ' metaphorically refers to the idea that they wish to live a long life. This is evidence to their lie and they know that neither the Last Abode with Allah is theirs, nor are they the friends of Allah. They arrogantly state these things, based on bigotry, in order to tell the Muslims that both the Jews and their ancestral religion are right, and Muslims are wrong and their religion is untrue

Then Allah, by this clear evidence, made their falsehood manifest by stating that the friends of Allah are those who are desirous of death to attain their goal yet the prolongation of his life shall not remove him further away from the ..."

"... .punishment

" .Allah sees what they do ..."

That is, the Jews will never long for death, then how can they desire a long life when it does not save them from the punishment ? Yet, they are the greediest people for the low life of this world which can be a barrier obstructing entrance into the everlasting felicity of the life in the coming world. Furthermore, the members of this group having belief in the Hereafter and the life after death, are greedier for the life of this world than pagans and blasphemers, who wrongly believe that Man will be destroyed and .perish after death

"... ,Say (O' Muhammad): ` Whoever is an enemy to Gabriel "

p:۲۳۹

The commentators believe that as `Abdullah-ibn-Abbas cites, the occasion of :revelation of this verse was as follows

One of the scholars of the Jews by the name of Ibn-Şūriyā, with a group of Jewish people from Fadak, was attending the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) when he put forth some .questions to test his gift of prophecy

Thereby being convinced that Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) was a true prophet of Allah, he asked as to which of Allah's angels had conveyed the

.Divine messages to him, and he (p.b.u.h.) answered that Gabriel had

The Jew said he would not believe, as Gabriel was the enemy of his people and he is the angel of punishment, annoyance, displeasure, indignation, and execution; while Michael was not, and if Michael would have been the one who came down to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), then they would believe in him (p.b.u.h.). So, Allah (s.w.t.) sent down this verse and told the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to say that he who is the enemy of :Gabriel, is the enemy of the one "... ,who brought down (the Qur'ān) upon your heart by Allah's leave ..."

" ; ' confirming what was before it, and a guidance and glad tidings for the believers ..."

Thus, the Qur'ān attests to the rightfulness of all the heavenly Books such as the Turah, the Evangil, Psalms of David, the Written Sheets (Scriptures), and what Allah .(had sent to other prophets (a.s

The word /hudan/ ` a guidance ' here, may refer to the guidance of the Qur'ān for all of the believing members of the Jinn and humans. The guidance is apportioned to the believers perhaps for the reason that it is only the believers who are benefited by the .Qur'ān, so therefore, the glad tidings are given to them

Now, this verse reiterates the subject matter of the previous verse but with more :emphasis and accompanied with a threat. It says

And whoever is an enemy to Allah, His angels, His Messengers, Gabriel and Michael "
" .(should know that) Allah is surely an enemy to the infidels

This statement is an indication to the meaning that these instances

This statement is an indication to the meaning that these instances are not separable. The Essence of Allah, angels, all His Messengers, Gabriel and Michael or any other angels, from this point of view, are all the same and to have enmity with one of them .is, in fact, having enmity with the others

In other words, Allah's ordinances, which are helpful on the path to development of the human race, have been revealed from His Origin unto prophets (p.b.u.th.) by means of angels. And if there be any difference between their missions, it is a difference of the division of responsibilities, not a contrast in missions. They are all alongside the path of the same goal. So, being an enemy against one of them is .showing enmity against Allah

****

Upon the occasion of revelation of verse ٩٩, there is a narration from Ibn-Abbas who said: " Ibn-Şūriyā, a Jewish scholar, told the Prophet (p.b.u.h.): ` O Muhammad, you have not brought anything for us that we understand it, and also the Lord has not sent a clear sign to you so that we follow you thereby '. Then, Allah sent down this verse \(which was a frank vivid answer to that statement.\)

! None Denies Divine Signs Save the Transgressors

Through this verse, the Qur'ān points to the fact that Allah has given the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) enough evidence and sufficient Signs all of which are so clear that nobody can deny them. Hence, those who deny them, indeed, have recognized the rightfulness of his invitation, but, because of their .special evil intentions, they oppose it

Verily, We have sent down to you clear Signs, and none denies them except the " .transgressors

Contemplation over the verses of the Qur'ān makes the way clear for any pure-hearted truth-seeker. By reciting these verses, the reality and truthfulness of the invitation of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), as well as the greatness of the Qur'ān, can be understood. But, only those can understand this meaning that their hearts have not been darkened

Majm-ul-Bayan, vol. ۱, p .۱۶۸ ۱ -۱ as a result of committing sin. Thus, it is not surprising that transgressors and those who have stained themselves with sins by disobeying the commands of Allah, never believe in Islam

****

"What! Whenever they made a covenant, a group of them cast it aside "
" Nay, most of them do not (truly) believe

With reference to the previous verses, this verse is also a protest against the Jews as to why some of these people neglect and breach their covenant that they make with Allah. They not only break their covenant but also have no faith at all. It may refer to this idea that if they believed in Allah and His prophets (a.s.), they would never break their covenant or never fail in their promise

And when there came to them a Messenger from Allah, confirming what was with "
" ... ,them

The purpose of the term ' Messenger ', here, may be the Last Prophet (p.b.u.h.), or it may refer to all those prophets (a.s.) who came after Moses (a.s.), because, according to the previous verses, the Qur'ān protests against the Jews for rejecting all of the great prophets after Moses (a.s.). These prophets (a.s.), with their Divine commissions, abrogated Moses' religion whereas, in the meantime, they confirmed the rightfulness of what the Jews had in their hands the Turah yet, some of them (the :Jews) put the Book of Allah behind their backs

,a part of them who were given the Book cast the Book of Allah behind their backs ..."

Some of the learned men of the Jews put the Book of Allah, the Turah, which attested to the prophethood of the Last Messenger of Allah, Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), " behind their backs " and, by neglecting his specific description which was recorded in

:the Turah, they abandoned it totally

Solomon (a.s.) and the Sorcerers in Babylon

Solomon Accused of Being a Sorcerer

It is understood from the Islamic literature that, at the time of Solomon (a.s.), some of his fellow countrymen used to practice the art of sorcery. Solomon (a.s.) ordered that their records and related materials be gathered and kept locked in a safe place. (Their preservation was, perhaps, for the purpose that there may have been some pieces of paper among them helpful for breaking the spells of the sorcerers' magic

After the departure of Solomon (a.s.), a group of people took them out and began spreading and teaching others sorcery. Some, taking advantage of this opportunity, said that Solomon (a.s.) was not a prophet at all, and the wonderful power that he had over the realms of nature was through witchcraft; so it was with the help of those magic tricks that he could dominate his country and do extraordinary things

By following this group, some of the Israelites were severely engaged in the art of sorcery; so intensively that they put the Turah aside

When the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) announced his invitation and, through the verses of the Qur'ān, proclaimed that Solomon (a.s.) had been one of the apostles of Allah, some of the Jewish rabbis told their people: ` Are you not surprised that Muhammad ' ? says Solomon was an apostle while he was a sorcerer

This statement by those Jews was counted a great accusation against this Divine prophet (a.s.), because when they said he was a sorcerer it insinuated that he was a liar and not a true prophet. This action caused him to be considered a blasphemer. Then, the above verse responded to their false accusation

However, the first verse of this group of verses illustrates another dimension of the heinous actions of the Jews : that they accused the apostle of Allah, Solomon (a.s.), of :sorcery and witchcraft. It says

"... ;And they followed what the Shaitans chanted of sorcery in the reign of Solomon "

The pronoun ` they ', existing in the Arabic word /wattaba` ū/, ` they

p:۲۴۵

followed', may refer to the Jews contemporary with the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) or those contemporary with Solomon (a.s.) or all of them

The objective meaning of the term /šayātīn/ may be the evil people, or devils of the Jinn, or both of them

:Then, after stating the above idea, the Qur'ān adds

"... ,and Solomon disbelieved not ..."

Solomon (a.s.) never did practice sorcery, and he did not take any advantage from it in attaining his goals

"... ;but the Shaitans disbelieved by teaching people sorcery ..."

"... and that which was sent down to the two angels, Hārūt and Mārūt, in Babylon ..."

: Yes, they stretched their hands toward sorcery from two sides one, from the side of sorcery which was taught by the Shaitans during the time of Solomon (a.s.); and the other side was the instructions that Hārūt and Mārūt taught people for the purpose of breaking the spells of sorcery

: Even though they (the two) never taught anyone without saying ..."

"... ! We are only a trial for you, therefore do not disbelieve `

The Story of the two Angels, Harut and Marut

In short, when these two angels appeared in the society, sorcery was in fashion among those people and a popular item in their marketplace. At that time, most of the people were captured in the grips of sorcerers. The two angels taught people the ways in which they could counter the effects of such wicked practices (the witchcraft) of the sorcerers as an art of self-defense. But learning this art demanded, firstly, that they learn about the magic itself. So, in order to be able to negate sorcery, they initially had to learn sorcery itself, and the ways in which it might work effectively, as

.good skillful magicians

The spread of sorcery

But Jewish mischief mongers took this matter as a means for spreading sorcery more and more. They expanded it so vastly that they accused the Divine prophet, Solomon (a.s.), of sorcery and said that if nature, or even Jinns and humans, obeyed him (a.s.), it was merely the effect of sorcery. Yes, this is the common habit of the vicious: to .accuse the great men as being their followers to justify their own school of thought

At any rate, they could not pass this Divine trial successfully and

.consequently, failed in keeping the right path, the true Faith

So they learned from these two (magic spells) by which they might cause ..."

"... ,separation between a man and his wife

.But the Power of Allah is above all these abilities

"... .though they cannot hurt anyone (thereby) but by Allah's leave ..."

"... ;They learn what harms them and profits them not ..."

Yes, they altered this divine constructive training. Instead of utilizing it on the path of improving their society and using it as a means of defense against the witchcraft of .the sorcerers, they applied it to doing evil

: Occasion of Revelation

Ibn Abbas, the leading commentator, is narrated to have said that the early Muslims, when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was speaking and teaching them the divine verses and commandments, often asked him to speak slowly so that they could comprehend the material well and could have opportunity enough to ask their questions. For this purpose, then, they applied the phrase /rā`inā/ derived from the root /ar-ra`ā/ ` to give respite ', which means: ` give us respite, wait for us ' (۱) But the Jews took the same word from the Arabic root /ar-ra`ūnah/ used with the meaning of ` foolhardiness, thoughtlessness, foolishness ', which means: ` make foolish of us ' and (۲) suggests an insult.

Here, the Jews had found something by which they could ridicule

Jami-ul-Bayan, by Muhammad-ibn-Jarir Tabari, vol. ۱, pp. ۴۶۹-۴۷۳ ۲-۲

.and make fun of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the Muslims

The first verse of the above verses was revealed to prevent this derisive usage of the word by the Jews. It commanded the believers to use /unḡurnā/ instead of /rā`inā/ which had the same meaning, but was plain and unambiguous. Thus, the enemies .could not misuse it

Some other commentators have said that the phrase /ra`inā/ was employed by some Jews in whose language it had an uncomplimentary meaning. They repeated it again .and again

Some others of the commentators have also said that the Jews pronounced /rā`inā/ instead of saying /rā`inā/ and, addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) with that term which .meant `our cattle-tender, shepherd', ridiculed him

These occasions of revelation do not contrast with each other, so that all of them may .be right

****

:Commentary

! Leave No Pretext for Enemies

Regarding what was said about the occasion of revelation, the first verse of the : verses under discussion says

"... ;' O' you who have Faith! Do not say (to the Prophet) `rā'inā' but say `unḡurnā "

".and hearken (unto him), and for unbelievers awaits a painful punishment ..."

It is well understood from this verse that the Muslims, should be careful to avoid giving their enemies any pretext, because they may misuse even one short sentence against them. The Qur'ān advises the Muslims to avoid uttering even the smallest common word which they might transform into a term of reproach in order to weaken the spirits of the Muslims. They should be careful not to select words which have multiple or ambiguous meanings that may be misused by the enemies to mock them thereby but rather should choose appropriate, unambiguous words. They must guard themselves against the cynical trick of using

.words which sound complimentary to the ear but have a hidden barb in them

When Islam is so meticulous that it does not let Muslims give their enemies pretext for these little things, the duty of Muslims is clear for greater and more important subjects, both concerning their interior affairs and international matters

It is also noteworthy that the phrase /rā`inā/, besides what was stated before, is not free from impoliteness in meaning, because this term may also be derived from the word /murā`āt/, which means that `you should observe us and we will observe you likewise '. Then, the Qur'ān has bidden the Muslims not to use it anymore, since it contains a sense of impoliteness, besides the abusing of it by the Jews

A Precise Meaning

The honorific and enlivening sentence /yā 'ayyuhallāina 'āmanū/ `O' you who have Faith ', addressed to the believers, has occurred ٨ times in the Qur'ān. The above verse is the first one which contains this phrase

It is interesting that this phrase has occurred only in the verses that have been revealed in Medina, viz. it is not seen in the Meccan verses. It may be for the reason that with the emigration of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to Medina, Muslims gathered together and it was then that the situation of Muslims became stabilized, especially when they formed a strong, powerful government. Hence, Allah (s.w.t.) addressed them with this phrase

" !O' you who have Faith "

This phrase conveys another meaning, too. It indicates that now that you have Faith and have submitted to the truth, i.e. you have taken a covenant with Allah, you should obey Him according to the commandments that have come along with it. In other words, your Faith necessitates that you follow these instructions accordingly

It is also notable that in many references of Islamic literature, including the ones of the Sunnite, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is narrated to have said

No verse has Allah revealed with ' O' you who have Faith ' save that Ali is at its top "
(and is its chief. "1)

****

The curtain on the enmity and grudge

In the next verse, the Qur'ān pulls back the curtain on the enmity and grudge of the :pagans and the People of the Book towards the believers. It says Neither those who reject Faith from among the people of the (earlier) Book, nor " those who take partners to Allah, wish that any good should be sent down upon you

"... ,from your Lord

:But this is not but a bare wish for them, because

"...and Allah chooses especially whom He pleases for His Mercy ..."

".and Allah is the Lord of Mighty Grace ..."

Because of their envy and enmity, the enemies of Islam did not want to be witnesses to this honour and glory given to Muslims, and they could not adapt to the fact that a great Prophet with a Divine Book from Allah could be appointed for them (Muslims).
But, it was impossible for those hostile enemies to hinder the Mercy and Grace of Allah

" ? or the like of it. Do you not know that Allah has power over all things

Do you not know that to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the " ١٠٧
" ?earth and that, besides Allah, you have neither guardian nor helper

Commentary: Verses ١٠٦–١٠٧

Purpose of Abrogation

The central meaning of these verses, is again the Jewish evil propaganda against the .Muslims

The Jews occasionally said that the true religion was the religion of the Jews and the real Qiblah was the direction that they used for their prayers. The evidence supporting their idea was that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) used to pray toward their Qiblah (Jerusalem). But when the command for changing the Qiblah from Jerusalem to the Ka`bah came down and, according to verse ١٤٤ from this very Sura, Muslims had to pray toward the direction of Mecca (Ka`bah), this pretext was taken away from the Jews. Therefore, they tried to assert a new pretext and said that if the first Qiblah was right, then what was the second instruction for ? And, if the second instruction was correct, then the Muslims' previous religious actions performed towards Jerusalem would be considered invalid

The Qur`ān replies to their objections through these verses and, thereby, enlightens
:the hearts of the believers. It says Whatever We abrogate of a verse or cause it to be forgotten, We bring a better or "

"... the like of it

:And it is easy for Allah, of course

" ? Do you not know that Allah has power over all things ..."

"...Do you not know that to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth "

Allah has the right to change His ordinances in any form He pleases and He is the .most knowledgable of all as to the welfare of His servants

" ? and that, besides Allah, you have neither guardian nor helper ..."

In fact, the first part of this verse denotes the absolute sovereignty of Allah in religious ordinances and that He is able to recognize and has the required knowledge to decide what is good for His creatures. Then, believers should not hearken to the vain words of some self-centered fellows who have doubt in the abrogations of the .Divine Ordinances

And the second part of the verse is a warning to those who choose refuge and .support in other than Allah, because there is no real support in the world save Allah

It should also be noted that the term /nasx/ ` abrogation ' in philology means: ` to abolish, destroy ', and from the point of view of religion it means: ` to nullify a rule and substitute another in its place'. The detailed explanation about this subject will be .discussed later

Or do you desire to question your Messenger (Muhammad) as Moses was " ١٠٨ questioned aforetime ? And he who exchanges Faith for infidelity, he has surely "strayed from the right way

:Occasion of Revelation

In the commentary books you may find some apparently different occasions of revelation for this verse, but their conclusions are nearly the same. A few of them are as follows

One of the occasions of revelation upon the above verse has been narrated by Ibn Abbas. It is stated that once Wahab-ibn-Zayd and Rāfi`-ibn-Ḥarmalah came to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and asked him to bring a letter from Allah for them to read and then they might believe. Or, it happened that he (p.b.u.h.) was asked to make some streams appear and flow for them so that they might follow him

Some other commentators have said that a group of Arabs wanted from the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) the same things that the Jews wanted from Moses (a.s.). They asked him to show the Lord clearly so that they could see Him with their own eyes and then they would believe

.As a response to them for their demand, the above verse was revealed

: Commentary

Some Futile Pretexts

The addressees, in this verse, are some Muslims whose Faith was feeble, or the pagans. The Jews are not mentioned directly in this verse but, as we will explain later, it is not far removed from the story of the Jews

It was, perhaps, after the event of the change of the Qiblah that some of Muslims and pagans, affected by the temptations of the Jews, requested some vain and futile demands from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the examples of which were cited in the :above. Allah, the Almighty, forbade them to ask such questions. The Qur'ān says

Or do you desire to question your Messenger (Muhammad) as Moses was " questioned aforetime ? ..." But you have decided, indeed, to evade believing by the .acceptance of these vain pretexts

In view of the fact that this action is a way of exchanging Faith for blasphemy, at the :end of the verse it adds

And he who exchanges Faith for infidelity, he has surely strayed from the right ..." .way

It should be noted that Islam has never prevented people from asking scientific or logical questions, as well as asking the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to perform miracles in order to prove the Divine rightfulness of his prophecy, because the means of gaining understanding and Faith are the same. But there were some people who asked some futile questions and demanded some irrational pretexts in order to shirk the invitation .(of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h

And keep up the prayer, and pay the poor-rates; whatever good you shall " ١١٠ .forward for yourselves, you shall find it with Allah; surely Allah sees what you do

Envy and Obstinacy

There were many members of the People of the Book, especially those of the Jews, who not only disbelieved in Islam but they also urged the believers to abandon their Faith. Their motive, for this action, was nothing but envy

:Through the above mentioned verses, the Qur'ān addresses this matter by saying

Many of the people of the (earlier) Book wish they could turn you back to be infidels, " after you have believed, out of their own envy, even after the truth was manifest to them "...

Here, the Qur'ān bids the believers to forgive them their evil

:endeavours aiming at the destruction of Faith until Allah sends His command Nevertheless) forgive and overlook till Allah brings about His command, truly Allah) ..."

".has power over all things

This is, in fact, a tactical instruction given to Muslims that they should stand firm before the intense pressure of the enemies; and in this particular circumstance utilize the weapon of forgiveness while they focus their abilities upon constructing themselves and their Islamic society, and wait for the command of Allah

As a great many of the commentators have said, the purpose of ` the command of Allah ', here, is ` the command for the Holy War ' which at that time had not been revealed yet. The reason for the delay may have been that their conditions were not completely appropriate for that command. That was why, according to many of the commentators, the idea in this verse was changed by the subsequent verses .regarding ` the Holy War ', which will be referred to later

Prayer and Alms-giving

The verse following the above one bids the believers to perform two great constructive commands. One of them is about ` prayer ' which establishes a firm relationship between the servant and his Lord. The second is alms-giving which is the secret of cohesiveness among the members of societies. These two are necessary :for defeating enemies. It says

" ... ;And keep up the prayer, and pay the poor-rates "

.By these two deeds you may strengthen both your spirit and body

Then, it adds that you should not think that the good deeds you do and the material :wealth you pay as poor-rates in the way of Allah will be lost totally. It is not so, but "... ;whatever good you shall forward for yourselves, you shall find it with Allah ..."

".surely Allah sees what you do ..."

Thus, He definitely knows which deeds you have done for His sake and which ones for .the sake of other than Him

۱۱۲ بَلَى مَنْ أَسْلَمَ وَجْهَهُ لِلَّهِ وَهُوَ مُحْسِنٌ فَلَهُ أَجْرُهُ عِنْدَ رَبِّهِ وَلَا خَوْفٌ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا هُمْ يَحْزَنُونَ

And they said: ` None shall enter Paradise except one who is a Jew or a "

"! Christian.' Such are their fancies. Say: ` Bring your proof, if you are truthful Yes! Whoever submits himself entirely to Allah, and he is a doer of good, his "

".reward is with his Lord; no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve

Commentary: Verses ۱۱۱–۱۱۲

Point

In the above verses, the Qur'ān has referred to one of the other vain, inappropriate statements of a group of the Jews and the Christians, and then, it has responded to them with a knockdown answer. It is as thus

! And they said: ` None shall enter Paradise except one who is a Jew or a Christian "

"...

:In reply to them, at first, it says

Such are their fancies. ...", and they will never reach such ..."

:wishes. Then, addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) it says

"! Say: ` Bring your proof, if you are truthful ..."

***

Every claim needs its own proof for verification. When the fact became clear that they had not any proof for their claim and that their insistence that Paradise was exclusively theirs, which was merely a bare desire of theirs, the essential basic criterion for entering Paradise was given, as a general law in this verse, as it says

Yes! Whoever submits himself entirely to Allah, and he is a doer of good, his reward " ... ;is with his Lord

".Therefore, " ...no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve

In short, the fact is that entering Paradise, the reward of Allah, and attaining felicity and salvation in the coming eternal life is exclusive to no tribe or particular race, but :these merits belong to the ones who have the following two attributes

The first attribute is that the person should submit himself wholly to the commands of Allah, and obey all of His commandments without considering any difference between this ordinance or that one. It should not be so that he accepts those commandments that are compatible with what he considers his benefit and puts aside those that are .opposite to that which he desires. Yes, such ones are entirely submitted to Allah's Will

The second attribute is that the effect of Faith is illustrated in their deeds in the form .of good actions. These people are good to all human beings in all of their affairs

The Quran Nullifies Racial Bigotry

By this statement, in fact, the Qur'ān, as a general rule, nullifies the inappropriate racial bigotries, and absolutely dismisses true salvation and happiness from the confinement of a special tribe. To sum it up, the verse distinguishes Faith and good .deeds as criterion for true felicity

****

The Jews rest on naught'; yet they (both) recite the (same) Book. Even so, similar to `their sayings, spoke those who know not. Allah will judge between them on the Day of "Judgement in what they differ

: Occasion of Revelation

Some of the commentators have narrated from Ibn Abbas that when a group of Christians who were from Najrān were attending a gathering of the Prophet's (p.b.u.h.), some of the Jewish scholars were there, too. These two groups began disputing with each other before the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Rafi`-ibn-Ḥarmalah, one of the Jews, turned to the Christians and said that their religion was based on naught.

.Thus, he was rejecting the prophethood of Jesus (a.s.) and his Divine Book

Then, a man from among the Christians from Najrān, too, replied to him with a similar expression and said that the religion of the Jews was based on naught. Thus, he also rejected both the prophethood of Moses (a.s.) and the Turah. It was at that time that the above verse was revealed and reproached both groups for their fabricated

(statements.)<sup>(۱)</sup>

:Commentary

Exclusivity, the Fruit of Ignorance

In the previous verse, we became acquainted with a portion of the proofless claims of a group of the Jews and the Christians. The verse under discussion indicates that when a proofless claim comes forth, it results in .exclusivity and then leads to contradiction

:The Jews said: ` The Christians rest on naught ' , and Christians said "

"...;' The Jews rest on naught `

The phrase: ` rest on naught ' may mean that they have no rank and honour with
.Allah; or their belief is not a thing worthwhile

:Then, to complete the above idea, it adds

"... .yet they (both) recite the (same) Book..."

That is, with the Divine Book that they have in their hands which can guide them toward the right path concerning these problems, it is surprising that they say such .words which originate from nowhere except prejudice and enmity

:Then the Qur'ān continues saying

".Even so, similar to their sayings, spoke those who know not..."

(.Although these are the People of the Book and those are pagans or idolaters)

This verse introduces ignorance as the origin of bigotry and prejudice, because ignorant people are always shut in their own worlds and do not accept other than that which they know. They seriously believe only in the Faith that they have been acquainted with from their early childhood, even if it is false or superstitious.

.Therefore, they put aside everything other than that which they believe

:At the end of the verse, it says

".Allah will judge between them on the Day of Judgement in what they differ..."

It is in the Hereafter where the facts will be entirely evident and the proof and references of all things will become perfectly manifest. None will be able to deny what is right and, thus, there will remain no dispute. Yes, one of the special characteristics .of the Resurrection Day is that all disagreements will come to an end

By the way, the above verse reminds Muslims that although the followers of these religions have stood against them and rejected Islam, therefore, they need not be worried because the Jews and Christians do not verify even themselves. Each of them nullifies the other and, in principle, ignorance is the origin of bigotry and bigotry is the .source of exclusivity

١١٤ وَ مَنْ أَظْلَمُ مِمَّنْ مَنَعَ مَسَاجِدَ اللَّهِ أَنْ يُذَكَّرَ فِيهَا اسْمُهُ وَسَيَعَى فِي خَرَابِهَا أُولَئِكَ مَا كَانَ لَهُمْ أَنْ يَدْخُلُوهَا إِلَّا خَائِفِينَ لَهُمْ فِي الدُّنْيَا خِزْيٌ وَ لَهُمْ فِي الْآخِرَةِ عَذَابٌ عَظِيمٌ

And who is more unjust than he who prevents the mosques of Allah of His Name " ١١٤ being remembered therein and strives for their ruin? Such (people) might never enter them, save in fear. For them is disgrace in this world, and in the Hereafter a great ".punishment

: Occasion of Revelation

It has been narrated from Ibn Abbas, cited in the book `Asbāb-un-Nuzūl', that this verse was revealed about Fatlus-ur-Rūmī, a Roman, and his friends. They fought against the Children of Israel and burnt the Turah. In that war, Jewish children were \(made captives, and Jerusalem was ruined and filled with corpses. \(1\)

The Late Ṭabarsī, a great commentator, narrates from Ibn Abbas, in his book `Majma`ul-Bayān', that this strive for the destruction of Jerusalem was continued \(until when that Holy Land was conquered by Muslims. ... \(2\)

A tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) says that this verse was revealed about the Quraysh when they prevented the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) from entering Mecca and the \(Ka`bah. \(3\)

Also, a third occasion of revelation is cited for this verse. It says the verse is referring to the sites in Mecca where Muslims used to pray at, which pagans destroyed totally after the emigration of the Prophet

(p.b.u.h.) from that City. (۱)

There is no discrepancy in saying that all three of these occasions of revelation refer to their own individual incidents. Therefore, each of them illustrates one of the dimensions of the subject

: Commentary

! The Most Unjust Ones

When dealing with the occasions of revelation of the above mentioned verse, it is understood that the words are about all three groups: the Jews, the Christians and the pagans, while the words in the previous verses were mostly about the Jews and sometimes about the Christians

At any rate, the Jews, creating mischief about the Qiblah, tried to return the direction of the prayers of Muslims toward Jerusalem in order to appear to have, by that manner, a kind of superiority in the eyes of the community of Muslims and also (weaken the lustre and elegance of the Sacred Mosque and the Ka`bah. (۲)

The pagans of Mecca, having prevented the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and Muslims from visiting and pilgrimaging to the Sacred House, the Ka`bah, practically stepped forth toward the desolation of this Holy Structure

The Christians, too, having conquered Jerusalem and having performed actions which gave rise to what was said to be the occasion of revelation of this verse, as narrated by Ibn Abbas, tried to ruin it

:The Qur'ān, warning these three groups and all others who pave a similar way, says

And who is more unjust than he who prevents the mosques of Allah of His Name " ... ?being remembered therein and strives for their ruin

Thus, the Qur'ān considers this prevention unjust and introduces contrivers of it as 'the most unjust people. Indeed, what greater ` unjust

---

.Maima-u-Bayan, Vol.۱, p. ۱۸۹ Almizan, the commentary of the verse ۱ –۱

Tatsir Fakhri-Razi, vol. ۴, p.۹ ۲ –۲

could be committed than that they strive to ruin the Monotheistic centers and prevent people from remembering the Name of their Providence, whose consequence would ! be the spread of polytheism and corruption in the society

: Then, the verse continues saying

"... .Such (people) might never enter them, save in fear ..."

That is, Muslims and monotheists of the world should stand so firm against these transgressors that their hands be curtailed from these sacred sites so that none of .them can freely and without fear enter therein

In commenting on the above verse, a possible meaning is that these kind of unjust people with these kind of actions will never truly succeed in taking these Holy shrines and places of worship under their own control. The final circumstance will be such that they will not be able to enter them save in fear. They will be subject to just the same .fate and fortune that the pagans of Mecca had regarding the Sacred Mosque

Finally, through the concluding words of the verse and with a shocking statement, the Qur'ān has referred to the penalty of those transgressors both in the present world :and the coming world. It says

" .For them is disgrace in this world, and in the Hereafter a great punishment ..."

.And this is the end of those who want to separate servants from their Providence

Explanation

Mosques and the Ways of their Desolation

There is no doubt that the above verse has a vast meaning which is not confined to a particular time or place. The verse, from this point of view, is like other verses of the Qur'ān which have been revealed in relation to a specific condition or circumstance referred to as the occasion of revelation, but their ordinances are valid in all ages. Therefore, anyone or any group who strive in any form to ruin the mosques of Allah, or prevent the Name of Allah from being remembered and adored therein, will be faced with the same disgrace and great

.punishment which have been pointed out in this verse

It is also necessary to pay attention to this fact that the prevention of worshippers from entering into the Sacred Mosque and the barring of the remembrance of the Name of Allah and His adoration along with striving for ruining it, does not only refer to the mosque being destroyed by shovel and pick, but involves any actions that .cause mosques to be ruined or seem dull and lustreless

As it will be explained when commenting on Sura Al-Taubah, No. ٩, verse ١٨, the purpose of the Qur'ānic phrase /ya` muru masājid/, mentioned in the verse, according to the clear meanings of some Islamic narrations and traditions, is not merely ` to build or to mend the mosques '. Attending these holy shrines and remembering the Name of Allah and adoring Him therein not only is a means of maintaining them but .also is counted as their most important form of maintenance

Therefore, in the opposite case, whatever causes people to neglect the remembrance of the Name of Allah and keeps them apart from the mosques, is a very grand
.injustice

****

: Supplication

!O' Lord ! Guard us from, and against, any deviation and corruption

****

p:٢٦٥

۱۱۵ وَ لِلّٰهِ الْمَشْرِقُ وَ الْمَغْرِبُ فَاَيْنَمَا تُوَلُّوا فَثَمَّ وَجْهُ اللّٰهِ اِنَّ اللّٰهَ وَاَسِعَ عَلِيمٌ

And to Allah belong the East and the West, wherever you turn, there is the " ۱۱۵
".Presence of Allah. Surely Allah is All-Embracing, All-Knowing

: Occasion of Revelation

There are different narrations cited on the cause of the occasion of revelation of this
.verse

Ibn Abbas says that this verse concerns the change of the Qiblah. When Muslims' Qiblah was changed from Jerusalem to the Ka`bah, the Jews tried to reject it by objecting to the Muslims and demanding of them how the Qiblah could be changed. This verse was revealed and replied to their objection that the East and the West of \(the world belong to Allah. ۱\)

Another tradition indicates that this verse has been revealed regarding ` the recommended prayers '. It refers to this meaning that one can pray his supererogatory prayers in any direction that his mount moves towards, even if he is \(facing opposite to the Qiblah. ۲\)

Some others have narrated from Jābir who said that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) once sent some of the Muslims to fight in a war. When the dark of night fell and they wanted to pray their night prayer they could not confirm the correct direction of the Qiblah. Then, every one used an approximate direction towards the Qiblah and offered his prayers. At the break of dawn they found out that they had prayed towards a direction other than the Qiblah. They informed the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) about it and the above verse was revealed declaring that their prayers were all correct in such a \(condition. ۳\)

Manhaj-us Sadiqin, vol. 1, p. 348, and AbulfuTuh-Rāzi, vol. 1, p. 3022-2 Tafsir-ut-Tibyān, vol. 1, p. 424 and Tafsir Nimūnah, vol. 1, p. 4133-3

This religious creed, of course, has some conditions that should be studied in ) (jurisprudent books

It is realistic that all of the above occasions of revelation are correct for this verse. That is, the verse refers to the idea of the change of the Qiblah as well as reciting the supererogatory prayer when riding on a mount, and the obligatory prayers performed when the correct direction of the Qiblah is not recognizable. Besides, no verse, in principle, is allocated exclusively to its occasion of revelation, but its content should be considered as a general ordinance; and, sometimes, what a great number .of different ordinances can be derived from it

: Commentary

Allah, the Omnipresent

The previous verse was about the oppressors who prevented worship in the mosques of Allah, and strived for the destruction of them. The verse under discussion is a :continuation of the same idea. It says

And to Allah belong the East and the West, wherever you turn, there is the Presence "
"... .of Allah

It is not such that if they prevent you from entering the mosques of Allah and attending the monotheistic centers, the path of adoring Allah would be entirely closed to you. The East and the West of the world belong to Him. Whithersoever you turn, He is there. Also, the change of the Qiblah, which was ordained because of some particular circumstances, has not the least effect on our worship. Can any place be found where Allah is not there. In principle, Allah has no limited place. (A further .(explanation can be studied on page ۳۲۲

:That is why at the end of the verse, it says

".Surely Allah is All-Embracing, All-Knowing ..."

The point noteworthy here is that the East and the West mentioned in the verse should not be taken as confined to the directions where the sun rises or sets, as they are only relative expressions. The emphasis on the East and the West may be because the first directions that man is able to recognize are these two directions, and the other

.directions can be figured out by determining them

The Qur'ān, concerning these directions, also says: " And We made a people, considered weak (and of no account), inheritors in both East and West, ...", (Sura 'A`rāf, No. ۷, verse ۱۳۷)

****

Philosophy of the Qiblah

Point

The first question that arises here is that if ` wherever we turn, there is the Presence of Allah ', then why is it necessary that we observe the direction of the Qiblah

As we will explain later, observing the Qiblah does not mean to confine the Presence of Allah to a particular direction. Since man is a creature dependent on material and concrete thought, he should pray towards whatever direction the commandment has mandated. All should pray towards a single direction in order to unite all Muslims in .single rows, and to avoid dispersion and disorder

Imagine how disgraceful it would be if every individual prayed toward a separate .direction or in dispersive rows

By the way, the direction which is appointed as the Qiblah ( the direction towards the Ka`bah ) is a holy place and it is the most ancient sacred site of monotheism whose .consideration evokes monotheistic remembrance

The phrase / wajhullah / does not mean ` the face of Allah ', as some have rendered, .' but it means, here, ` the Unity or Presence of Allah

As it was stated before, in the occasion of revelation, and many Islamic narrations attest to, this verse has been taken as the basic reference to certify the validity of the prayers offered by those who would pray toward a direction other than the direction of the Ka`bah by mistake or because of lack of the capability of verification. This very verse is also referred to for the validity of reciting prayers when riding on a moving mount. (For more details concerning this subject, refer to the jurisprudential books ` (' Wasā'il-ush-Shī`ah ', ` Kitāb-uş-Şalāt ', and ` Abwāb-ul-Qiblah

Three authentic traditions

Here, we attract your attention to three authentic traditions about the term / : wajhullah / and its meaning

It is cited in the book ' Al-Tauḥīd ' from Salmān Fārsī, through a tradition known as .1 Jāthlīq, who asked Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) some questions which were comprehensively replied to. One of them was that he asked him (a.s.) which direction his Lord's presence was. Hadrat Ali (a.s.) told Ibn Abbas to have some firewood fetched for him (a.s.). The firewood was brought and was kindled. When the fire was flaming, Hadrat Ali (a.s.) asked the man which direction the face of the fire was, and .the Christian answered that its face was on every side Ali-ibn-Abītalib (a.s.) said: " This fire which is a material, is not recognized by its face, then Allah, its Creator, is not like that. ` To Allah belong the East and the West, \(wherever you turn, there is the Presence of Allah.' ..." \(1\)

Again, keeping in mind that the commands given by the Holy Messenger (p.b.u.h.) .2 are those that he has received from Allah, it is narrated from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) who said that the manifestation of Allah (s.w.t.) is Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) who are the guides and Imams for people whose obedience to them has been enjoined by Him the same as it has been enjoined to Him and His Messenger (p.b.u.h.). That is, the only way to the cognizance of / wajhullah / ` the Presence of Allah ' and the Divine Majesty is through Ahlul-Bait (a.s.), who are His witnesses. \(2\) That is, haply, why they (Imams) have said: " It is through us that people know Allah, and through us (with our \(guidance\) they worship Allah." \(3\) Tāriq-ibn-Shahāb has narrated in a tradition from Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali .3 (a.s.) who said: " O Tāriq ! Imām is the Word of Allah, the Proof of Allah, the Presence \(of Allah, the Light of Allah..." \(4\)

There are some other expressive narrations on the subject cited in Biḥārul-Anwār, .vol. 93, p. 228, which can be referred to, too

Commentary : Verses ١١٦–١١٧

The Jews, Christians, and Pagans and their Superstitions

The superstitious belief that Allah has got a child is accepted by the Christians, a group of the Jews, and some pagans. All of them believe that He has chosen a child for Himself.

Sura At-Taubah, No. ٩, verse ٣٠ says: " The Jews call ` Uzair (Ezra) a son of Allah, and the Christians call Christ the son of Allah. That is a saying from their mouth; (in this) they but imitate what the Unbelievers of old used to say. Allah's curse be on them: " !how they are deluded away from the Truth

:Also, about the pagans, Sura Yūnus, No. ١٠, verse ٦٨ says

"... !They say: ` Allah has begotten a son!' Glory be to Him! He is Self-Sufficient"

There are many other verses in the Holy Qur'ān that refer to this inappropriate idea of theirs.

:To condemn this superstition, the first verse of the verses under discussion says

"... !They said: ` Allah has taken to Himself a son '. Glory be to Him "

Why would Allah need to take a son for Himself? Is He in need of one? Is He limited?
?Does He need to be helped? Or, is it necessary for Him to have any descendants

"...;Nay, to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on the earth..."

"...all are obedient to Him ..."

He is not only the Possessor of all things and creatures in the world of existence, but "...;also," Originator (is He) of the heavens and the earth

And He has created all of them without any previous design, preparation, or without .being in need of any pre-existing material

What necessity is He forced by to have a child while everything is immediately ready ?for Him

"...and when He decrees a matter to be, He only says to it 'Be' and it is ..."

Explanation

Besides the above verse, the phrase / kun fayakūn / 'Be! and it is' has occurred in :several verses of the Qur'ān, including the followings

Sura 'Al-i-`Imran, No. ٣, verse ٤٧ .١

Sura 'Al-i-`Imran, No. ٣, verse ٥٩ .٢

Sura Al-An`ām, No. ٦, verse ٧٣ .٣

Sura An-Naḥl, No. ١٦, verse ٤٠ .٤

Sura Maryam, No. ١٩, verse ٣٥ .٥

Sura Yāsīn, No. ٣٦, verse ٨٢ .٦

Sura Qāfir, No. ٤٠, verse ٤٨ .٧

This phrase is about the Will of Allah and His Absolute Sovereignty on the subject of

To understand this well, we should know the meaning of the Unity of Acts and the creation of all created beings by Allah's Will. Precisely, Unity of Acts, in terms of His acts, does not need any help or helper from outside Himself. Should He use any means for that purpose, the means itself is created by Him and used by Him. It is not that He needs some help from outside Himself which is not connected to Him, and to be brought from somewhere else, or if so Allah would not be able to do whatever He wants to. No, it is not like that at all. Allah's Acts need none but Himself and His Will alone

The explanation is that the objective meaning of the phrase / kun fayakūn / ( ' Be! ' and it is ) is not that Allah issues a verbal command with the word ' Be ', but the reality is that when He wills something to exist it exists. There will be no time between that Will and its existence, not even a moment

In other words, the phrase / kun fayakūn / ( ' Be! ' and it is ) is only to bring home to the human mind the Omnipotent Will which, properly speaking, can never be translated into any verbal expression

Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali ibn-AbīṬālib (a.s.), of whom the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) had declared: ' I (i.e. the holy Prophet himself) am the City of knowledge and Ali is its Gate ', in referring to the phrase mentioned in this verse; regarding the Divine Omnipotence and the execution of His Will says

Not by sound uttered, nor by voice heard, His Word, blessed be He, is Action " (proceeding from Him " (1)

There is a similar idea in a tradition from Ḥadrat Musa-ibn-Ja`far, the seventh Imam (a.s.), cited in Al-Kāfī as well as in Touḥid Ṣadūq. (2)

This meaning, with a slightly different explanation, is also mentioned in Tafsīr-Burhān, vol. 1, p. 146

١١٨ وَ قَالَ الَّذِي نَ لَا- يَغْلَمُ- وَ نَ لَوْ لَا يُكَلِّمُنَا- اللَّهُ أَوْ تَأْتِينَا- آيَةٌ- كَذَلِكَ قَالَ الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِهِمْ مِثْلَ قَوْلِهِمْ تَشَابَهَتْ قُلُوبُهُمْ قَدْ بَيَّنَّا الْآيَاتِ لِقَوْمٍ يُوقِنُونَ

١١٩ إِنَّا أَرْسَلْنَا-كَ بِالْحَقِّ بَشِيرًا- وَ نَذِيرًا- وَ لَا تُسْئَلُ عَنْ أَصْحَابِ الْجَحِيمِ

And the ignorant said: ` Why does Allah not speak to us or a Sign comes not to us? ' Even thus said those before them, the like of what they say; their hearts are all alike.

"Indeed We have made clear the Signs to people who are sure

Verily, We have sent you ( O' Muhammad) with the truth as a bearer of glad tidings and a warner and you shall not be questioned about the inhabitants of the Blazing Fire

Commentary : Verses 118-119

Another Pretext

Similar to the pretexts of the Jews, in the initial verses of the above group of verses, another party of pretext-seekers are referred to, whom, apparently, were the Arab pagans. It says

?And the ignorant said: ` Why does Allah not speak to us or a Sign comes not to us " ...

This group of unbelieving people, whom the Qur'ān has referred to as / alla...īna lā :ya ` lamūna / ` the ignorant ' had, indeed, two illogical demands ١ . Why does Allah not speak to them ?

٢ . Why does a Sign not come to them ?

:In answer to these selfish demands, the Qur'ān says

;Even thus said those before them, the like of what they say ..."

their hearts are all alike. Indeed We have made clear the Signs to people who are ".sure

If they truly intend to understand the Truth, these very verses revealed to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) are clear Signs to the rightfulness of his Call. Why should some verses be independently and directly revealed to each individual separately? And, what does it mean that a person insists that Allah must speak to him, himself, directly

A similar idea to this is also stated in Sura Al-Muddaththir, No. ۷۴, verse ۵۲, thus: "
" :Forsooth, each one of them wants to be given scrolls (of revelation) spread out

This manner, in principle, besides that it is not necessary, contrasts with Divine Wisdom, because firstly, the rightfulness of the prophethood of prophets has been proved to all peoples by way of the verses which were revealed to them themselves. Secondly, it is not possible for verses and miracles to be revealed to every individual, for this needs a special kind of eligibility, preparation, and purity of soul. It closely resembles to a situation in which all the wires of the vast electrical system of a city (the strong thick wires and the very thin ones) be expected to receive the same extraordinarily high amount of electricity that immediately arrives into the initial thick wires directly from the main generator. This expectation is certainly a vain, incorrect expectation. The engineer who has arranged these various wires for different purposes has calculated the capability of each wire. Some of them convey the electricity directly and immediately from the generator, while some others do it by means of some intermediary wires and with a variety of voltages

****

The Prophet's (p.b.u.h) Duty Defined in Regard to their Pretext

The next verse addresses the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and defines his duty regarding their demands for miracles and other pretexts. It says

Verily, We have sent you ( O' Muhammad) with the truth as a bearer of glad tidings "
"... and a warner

That is, O' Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) your responsibility is that you proclaim Our commandments to all people, to illustrate the miracles, and to express the facts logically and with clear statements. This action should coincide with persuading the good doers and warning the evil doers. This is .your duty

".and you shall not be questioned about the inhabitants of the Blazing Fire ..."

****

: Explanation

! Their Hearts are All Alike

In the above verses we learnt that the Qur'ān declares: " Even thus said those before ".them, the like of what they say; their hearts are all alike

This idea points to the fact that the passing of time and the instructions of prophets (p.b.u.h.) should have had such an effect that the later generations could gain a larger portion of knowledge so that they would put aside vain statements which are a sign of ignorance. But unfortunately, this group of people usually have no share in the process of development. They are always retrogressive so that it seems as if they belonged to thousands of years ago, and the passing of time has not affected the .least change in their minds

****

Two Instructive Principles

Point

Glad tidings ' and ` warning ' or ` encouragement ' and ` threat ' form a great part ` of the motives of educational and social affairs. A person should be both encouraged for his good deeds and punished for his wrong actions, in order to be prepared for .paving the first path and avoiding the second route

Mere encouragement is not enough for the attainment of improvement in an individual or a society, because in this condition the individual is sure that committing

.sin does not harm him

Mistaken Belief in 'Ransom' for Sins

The present followers of Christ (a.s.), for example, believe in `ransom'. They think that Jesus (a.s.) has been sacrificed for their sins. Even their clergymen sometimes promise them Heaven, and forgiveness

p:275

for their sins on behalf of the Lord. It is evident that such a group of people may easily
.commit sins

In a Guide to Christian Workers of the New American Standard Version Bible (pg. ١٢٩٥),
:(it is cited about Christ (a.s

"He tasted death for me, thus He bore the supreme penalty of my sins "

Surely this incorrect idea makes its followers bold in committing wrongs and .corruption

In short, those who think mere encouragement is enough in training men (irrespective of children or adults) and threats, punishment and revenge have no place and should be completely put aside, are completely wrong. On the other hand, those who, neglecting the encouraging aspect, think that training is based only on
.threats and terror are on a wrong path as well

These two groups have a mistaken conception of Man, because they do not have this fact in mind: that Man is made up of a combination of hope and fear, love of living and .hatred of destruction. His nature is to attract gain and to repel loss

Observing the parallel between encouragement and punishment for training people

Observing the parallel between these two principles is particularly essential since if encouragement and hope goes beyond limits, it results in boldness and negligence.
And when threats and punishment is abundant, it produces despair and extinguishes
.the flames of love and vitality

For the exact same reason, in the verses of the Qur'ān, the terms ` glad tidings ' and ` warning ' have occurred in conjunction with each other. It has happened that the term ` glad tidings ' has sometimes preceded the term ` warning ', like in the verse under discussion; and sometimes it is vice versa, as in Sura Al-A` rāf, No. ٧, verse ١٨٨, which
:says

"I am a warner and a bringer of glad tidings to those who have Faith ..."

In fact, in the majority of these verses of the Qur'ān, 'glad tidings' has preceded 'warning'. This may be because, in general, the Mercy and Grace of Allah have preceded His Wrath and punishment, as we call Him in supplications: "O' He Whose

"Mercy precedes His Wrath

: Occasion of Revelation

On the occasion of revelation of the first of the above verses, it is narrated from Ibn Abbas that the Jews in Medina and the Christians from Najrān expected that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) would traditionally accept the same Qiblah as they had. When Allah altered the Qiblah from Jerusalem to the Ka`bah, they became disheartened with the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). (Perhaps, some of the Muslim believers, too, criticized that they should not do anything that would offend the Jews .(and the Christians

The above verse was revealed and informed the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that that group of Jews and Christians would be satisfied with him neither by coming into agreement upon the Qiblah nor by anything else

\(except that he would follow their creeds.\)

Some others have narrated that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) insisted very much on convincing them to accept Islam. The above verse was revealed telling him (p.b.u.h.) to disregard that idea because never would they be pleased with him unless he followed their religion.

There are also various narrations upon the occasion of revelation of the second of the above verses. Some of the commentators believe that this verse was revealed about those people who came with Ja`far-ibn-AbīTālib from Abyssina to Medina. They had joined Islam and accompanied him when he left there. They were ۴۰ men, thirty-two of whom were from Abyssina and eight men were from the monks of Syria among whom there was a famous Christian monk by the name of Baḥīrā.

Some other commentators believe that the verse was revealed about some people from among the Jews such as Abdillāh-ibn-Salām, Shu`bat-ibn-`Amru, Tamām-ibn-Yahūdā, and so on who accepted the invitation of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) and became true believers.

: Commentary

! Two Unsatisfiable Groups

The previous verse relieves Hadrat Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) of any responsibility concerning those stubborn misguided people. Now, this verse, elaborating on the same idea, informs the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) of the reason why it is so

For, never will the Jews be pleased with you nor the Christians unless you follow "
" ... their religion

" ... !Say: ` Behold Allah's guidance is the only (true) guidance ..."

Majma'-ul-Bayān, vol. , p. ١٩٧ ٢-٢

Majma'-ul-Bayān, vol. ١, p. ١٩٨ ٣-٣

Ibid, and Tafsir Abul-Futūh Rāzi, vol. ١, p. ٣١٠ ٤-٤

Allah's guidance is a guidance which is not adulterated with superstitions and wrong thoughts of ignorant people. Yes, such pure noble guidance should be followed

:Then, it adds

And verily if you follow their desires after the knowledge has come to you, you shall ..."
".have from Allah neither protector nor helper

****

But, since some of the Jewish and Christian truth-seekers accepted the invitation of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and embraced Islam, the Holy Qur'ān, after scorning the aforementioned group, commemorates this group well by saying

Those to whom We have given the Book read it as it ought to be read, they are the "
"... ,ones that truly believe in it

".and whoever disbelieves in it, they shall (surely) be the losers ..."

These people were those who truly read their Divine Book as it ought to be read and followed it accordingly. This manner of striving resulted in their being guided. Therein, they had studied the glad tidings of the advent of the promised prophet and they found those attributes congruous with Muhammad, the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), so thereby they submitted, and Allah, therefore, appreciated them

****

: Explanation

Point

The phrase / wa la 'initaba` ta 'ahwā'ahum /, ` and verily if you follow their desires ', may prompt the readers of the verse to ask this question: Was it possible that Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) would, with his inerrant position of prophethood, follow the ?desires of those misguided Jews

In answer to this question we say that these statements, which are frequently cited in the verses of the Qur'ān, do not contradict with the state of inerrancy of prophets (p.b.u.th.), because on one hand, it is a conditional sentence, therefore the mentioning of the protasis does not .mean that the action will definitely be performed

On the other hand, the state of being immune from sin does not refute the capability of committing sin and err by prophets (p.b.u.th.). Although prophets and Imams (p.b.u.th.) are able to commit sin and their free will is not taken away from them, they would never contaminate themselves with corruption or even taint their souls with a single sin. In other words, they can commit sins but their belief, knowledge, and virtue is so intense that they never draw near to any sin. Therefore, such admonishments as .the above are completely appropriate for them

Thirdly, this statement, although addressing the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), may envelop .all believers entirely

Pleasing Enemies has its Limits

It is true that one should attract the enemies' attention towards his invitation with the magnetic power of excellent ethics and superior character, but there are some who never accept the truth. They are not worth worrying about. They will never believe in .the true path, hence, endeavouring to attract their attention is a waste of time

Allah's Guidance is the Only True Guidance

This fact is also understood from the above verses that the only law which can lead man towards salvation and happiness is the law and guidance of Allah, because to whatever extent the knowledge of man progresses, it is still interwoven with ignorance, doubt and deficiency from the points of view of various aspects. Hence, the guidance which comes forth under the shade of such incomplete knowledge cannot be considered an absolute guidance. The only One Who can provide `Absolute , ' Guidance ' is the One Who possesses ` Absolute Knowledge .without any ignorance or imperfection. This Attribute applies only to Allah

Point

This meaning is an expressive one which defines a clear path for us regarding the Holy Qur'ān, the Divine Book. Now, those who read the verses of the Qur'ān are defined in several groups

Three Groups of Readers Defined

One of these groups emphasize on the forms of pronunciation and articulation of the phonemes and morphemes and also the overall intonation of the verses of the Qur'ān with their own proper Arabic points of articulation. They always think of linguistical regulations for the Arabic pronunciation of the signs and sounds, pauses and extensions, and, finally, for observing the special letters in the Qur'ān known as yarmalūn. They usually are not particularly concerned with the meaning and the content of the verses they read. When they disregard the meaning of the Qur'ān, their actions accordingly are obvious. The example of this kind of people is depicted in the Qur'ān saying: "...is as the likeness of the ass bearing books...", (Sura Al-Jumu` ah, (No. ٤٢, verse ٥

The second group are those who, in addition to the verbal utterances, pay close attention to the meanings of the verses and contemplate over the elegancies and exquisite points of the Qur'ān

They try to understand the sciences described therein, but they do not actually comply with its ordinances

The third group are those true believers who accept the Qur'ān as a mandate of action and use it as a comprehensive program for their lives. They consider the recitation of this great Book, contemplation over its meanings, and conception of its purposes as preliminary for their actions. That is why whenever they recite the Qur'ān, a fresh and pleasing state encompasses their souls allowing them to make new decisions with vigorous intention and a strong inner feeling of preparedness for their actions. This is, perhaps, the privilege granted for reading the Book in the way in which it ought to be read

A tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.), commenting on this verse, says: " They recite its verses slowly, and understand it, and act according to its orders, and hope for its promises, and are afraid of its threats, and take lessons from its stories, and obey its commandments, and desist from what it prohibits. By God, it does not mean ,memorizing its verses and studying its letters, and reciting its chapters, and learning its one-tenths and one-fifths. They remembered its words and neglected its boundaries. And what it means is meditating on its verses and acting according to its orders. Allah, the High, has said: ` (It is) a Book We have sent down to you abounding in good, so that they may ponder (over its verses' ...", (۳۸: ۲۹), (Irshādul-Qulūb, ad-Daylamī).\(۱\)

Commentary: Verses ١٢٢–١٢٣

Point

Once again, in these verses, Allah addresses the Children of Israel and reminds them of His favours bestowed on them; particularly that He preferred them to all other .nations of their time

O' Children of Israel ! call to mind My favour which I bestowed on you and that I " .١٢٢
".(made you excel all the nations (of that time

***

Blessings Come with Responsibilities

But, since every blessing is followed by a corresponding responsibility, and, therefore, Allah gives man a duty or a responsibility to undertake for each bounty which is given :him, in the next verse He threatens him by saying

" ... ,And guard yourselves against a day when no one in the least shall avail another "

" ... ,neither shall any ransom be accepted from any one ... "

" ... ,nor shall intercession profit any one ... "

And, if you think that anyone can help others that day, save Allah, you are mistaken,

:because He says

ρ:ϰⲁϣ

"(nor shall they be helped (from outside...")

Therefore, none of the means of rescue that they would grope for in this world to save themselves, will be available there. There will be only one way open to them .which is the path of Faith, good action, repentance of sins, and self-improvement

Intercession

These two verses are quite similar to verses ٤٧ and ٤٨ of the current Sura, where we explained the idea of intercession in detail. Here, it is referred to, again, reminding that the warning, i.e. that 'intercession shall not be of any avail', does not at all mean that the intercession by the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or any other of his divine allies will also be ineffective on the Day of Judgement. It is a warning against the disbelievers who, as a figment of their own fanciful imaginations, think that their guardian deities, gods or goddesses will come to their aid, or to those of the Jews and Christians who stubbornly claim the intercession of Moses (a.s.), or that Christ's (a.s.) blood has been paid as a ransom for the sins of his followers. This verse clearly denies any such ransom for sins or intercession for the sinners who do not believe in the divinely promised Last Apostle of Allah, Muhammad Mustafā (p.b.u.h.), and reject faith in the truth which he preached. But, as it was mentioned before, the intercession of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or the other holy ones (a.s.) will be accepted by the leave of Allah .(.(s.w.t

Imāmat, the Climax of Abraham's (a.s.) Honour

From this verse on, the topics of discussion are Abraham (a.s.), the honourable prophet of Allah and the hero of Monotheism, the structure of the Ka` bah, the sacred site of worship, and the importance of this great monotheistic center. These subjects are referred to in the next eighteen verses. Three main ideas were the objectives of :these verses

The first aim was that they might provide people with the necessary preparation for the change of the direction of the Qiblah and to inform Muslims that the Ka` bah is a legacy of Abraham (a.s.), the idol-breaker. If pagans and idol-worshippers used it as an idol temple, it was only temporarily and it did not decrease the glorious high rank of .the Ka` bah at all

The second goal was to address the problem of the Jews and Christians who were claiming to be the heirs of Abraham (a.s.) and his religion. These verses, reflecting back on the numerous former verses about the Jews, clarify how very unfamiliar they (.were with the creed of Abraham (a.s

The third purpose was that Arab pagans believed in a special incessant ancestral link ,between them and Abraham (a.s.). They, too had to be made to understand that their belief systems and codes of behavior had no similarity with that of Abraham (a.s.), the iconoclastic prophet

:In this verse, at first, it says

And (remember) when his Lord tested Abraham with words (of command) which he " ... fulfilled

Yes, this verse speaks about the important occurrences in Abraham's life, i.e. his great tests and how he passed them successfully, which illustrates his high rank and superior personality and manifests the worthiness of his being

When Abraham (a.s.) passed these trials successfully, Allah saw fit to give him a gift as a prize. Therefore, addressing him

"...! He said: ` Verily, I have appointed you an Imam (leader) for mankind..."

In order that this Divine gift would continue in his seed, and prophethood and ` :Imāmat ' would not come to an end with his death

"...! ?Abraham) pleaded: ` And of my offspring) ..."

: The answer to this question was

"! He (Allah) said: ` My covenant does not include the unjust..."

That is, I accepted your plea, but only for those of your offspring who are doers of righteous deeds and are pure and sinless i.e. those who are worthy of this rank

****

: Explanation

? What does ` Words ' Mean

Studying the verses of the Qur'ān and noting the great and important deeds that Abraham (a.s.) fulfilled and, hence, being appointed to the position of Imāmat by Allah, leads us to the conclusion that the term / kalimāt / meaning ' words ', or the Divine commandments by which Abraham (a.s.) was tried, were not those of the usual sort. It clearly indicates that the tests were not connected with matters of ordinary reasoning or faith. They can never be considered ordinary tests. The purpose of the ' words ' was a series of heavy, hard, laborious, grave duties which were given to Abraham, the sincere pure prophet (a.s.), and he was the only one who had the qualifications to successfully : complete them. Some of those commandments were such as the followings

.One trial was concerning the steadfastness of his faith in Allah

Abraham (a.s.) was commanded through a vision in a dream to slay his son Ishmael. When he awoke, he unhesitatingly acted as he was bidden, (۳۷: ۱۰۵-۱۰۸). This indicates that Abraham (a.s.) already knew that he was Allah's prophet and what he saw in the vision was no other than Allah's command. With such a certainty in his mind, he was willing to do, by Allah's command, something that no other loving or sensible father .possibly could slay his own son

In another incident, by Allah's command, he took and left his wife and his infant son to .an area of dry land, where no food and water or any inhabitants could be found

He also stood against the idol-worshippers of Babylon and very bravely defended Monotheism in his historical trial after he had broken their idols. He miraculously held .firm in faith and patience when he was thrown into the midst of fire

Recalcitrating, he emigrated from the land of idol-worshippers, and went to a .faraway region in order to proclaim his prophecy

He did many things similar to those mentioned above and each of those trials was, indeed, heavy and difficult for a man to undertake, but he, with the power of Faith, was able to perform them successfully thereby proving himself worthy of the position .of ` Imāmat ', Divine leadership

****

Eligibility for Imāmat

Point

Precisely speaking, it is understood from the above mentioned verse that the position and rank of Imāmat which was bestowed upon Abraham (a.s.), only after successfully enduring those frequent difficult trials, was above and beyond the rank of

.prophethood

?Imam–What Does it Mean

The primary sense of meaning of the term / imām / is that of being foremost, but it :also has other different meanings including

p:۲۸۷

A) Leadership in the worldly social affairs of people, (as the Sunnite school of thought believes

B) Authority over the religious affairs of people in this world (as some others of them (have interpreted

C) Responsibility of bringing religious duties into action, whether it is through the establishment of government in its vast meaning or performing the commandments and ordinances of Allah, and the execution of social justice along with the training of souls, both outwardly and inwardly. The rank of Imāmat is higher than the rank of prophethood, because prophethood and messengership is only a matter of receiving some commandments from Allah and preaching them as glad tidings and warnings. All of these are true in the case of Imāmat, in addition to practicing the Divine ordinances and training the souls of individuals, outwardly and inwardly. (It is clear, of course, (that many of the prophets had had the rank of Imāmat, too

Imāmat, in fact, is the position of presenting the aims of religion practically, and ' guidance is ` attaining the ideal ' not merely ` showing the way

Besides that, Imāmat includes ` Divine Guidance ', too. It means the innate quality of the Imam's spiritual influence and the attracting glow of his pureness encompassing, deeply touching, and truly effecting the realm of receptive people's hearts which results in their spiritual guidance

From this point of view, an Imam is just like the sun that, with its life-giving light, fosters and gives vitality to all living creatures. The function of an Imam in spiritual aspects is the same as the physical function of the sun

The Holy Qur'ān says: " He it is Who sends blessings on you, as do His angels, that He may bring you out from the depths of Darkness into Light: and He is Full of Mercy to (the Believers ", ( Sura Al-Aḥzāb, No. ٣٣, verse ٤٣

It is well understood from this verse that the special mercies of Allah and the hidden aid given by His angels can lead the believers and those who trust in Him to come out

.' from ` darkness ' into ` light

This is also true about an Imam. The innate authority of an Imam and the great prophets (a.s.) who had also possessed the rank of Imāmat as well as their vicegerents, had a deep effect on receptive individuals by which they could train them and therefore bring them from the depths of ignorance and error into the light of guidance

There is no doubt that the purpose of Imāmat in this verse is the third meaning, because it is understood from many of the verses of the Qur'ān that the concept of 'guidance' lies within the meaning of Imāmat, as Sura As-Sajdah, No. ٣٢, verse ٢٤ says

And We appointed, from among them, leaders, giving guidance under Our "Command, so long as they persevered with patience and continued to have Faith in ".Our Signs

This guidance does not mean merely 'showing the way', because, in principle, Abraham (a.s.) had the rank of prophethood and Messengership for giving guidance in the sense of 'showing the way' before becoming an Imam

(Imamate Bestowed on Abraham (a.s

However, the Qur'ān clearly attests to this fact that Imāmat was bestowed on Abraham (a.s.) when he persevered with patience in tolerating the difficulties which he encountered as he paved the path of certitude alongside his Faith, and passed his various great tests successfully. This rank was above and beyond the rank of guidance with the meaning of preaching glad tidings and warning people

Therefore, guidance within the concept of Imāmat is nothing save 'attaining the ideal', cherishing the soul of religion and bringing forth training programmes for the individuals who are prepared to grasp them

This meaning is cited in an expressive tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) which says: "Verily, Allah, the Blessed, the Sublime, took Abraham (a.s.) as His slave before He took him as a prophet. And verily Allah took him as His prophet before He took him as a messenger. And Allah took him as His messenger before He made him a confident (khalil). Allah took him as a confident before He appointed him as an Imam. When He had brought all these things together in him: He (Allah) said: 'Verily, I have appointed

"!you an Imam (leader) for mankind

The Imam (a.s.) continued: " Since this was something very great in the eyes of Abrahām, he said: ` And of my offspring (as well)? ' He (Allah) said: ` My covenant
"! does not include the unjust

The Imam (a.s.) concluded: " A stupid person cannot be the Imām of the pious." This means that only those seed of Abraham (a.s.) who were pure and infallible were worthy of being Imām

Prophethood, Messengership, Imāmat and their Differences

As it is understood from the verses of the Qur'ān and various ideas existing in traditions and Islamic literature, those who were commissioned by Allah had different ranks

A. Prophethood means the ability to receive revelation from Allah. Then, a prophet is one on whom the Divine revelation comes down and whatever he receives by revelation he delivers to people

B. Messengership means to preach the Divine revelation, to spread the ordinances of Allah, and to train the souls and minds of individuals through education and acknowledgement. Therefore, a Messenger is he who is commissioned, by effort and endeavour and utilizing any acceptable and proper means available to him, to invite people unto Allah and His commandments in order to elicit an ideological, convictional, educational and mental transformation in them

C. Imāmat, means to guide and lead people. In fact, an Imam is he who tries to execute, actually, Allah's ordinances by acquiring the power necessary to organize a godly government; and if he is not able to organize a formal government, he does his best in carrying out the ordinances of Allah, both personally and socially

In other words, an Imam is commissioned to execute Allah's commandments and assure their performance, while a Messenger is commissioned to preach those commandments. Again, in other words, a Messenger shows the path but an Imam, besides his other heavy responsibilities which were pointed out before, paves the path for attaining the ideal

,Let it not remain unsaid that it is clear that many of the prophets

.like the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), were possessors of all three ranks

They had Divine revelation bestowed upon them. They preached the commandments of Allah, and endeavoured in organizing godly governments for executing His ordinances, while they were training the souls of people according to their own religions

.In brief, Imāmat is the essence of leadership in all aspects materially and spiritually, physically and theologically, apparently and hiddenly. Imam is the chief of government as well as the leader of the society, a guide in religious affairs, and a teacher of ethics to train people both inwardly and outwardly

It is the Imam who, with his mysterious spiritual strength, guides receptive persons forward along the path of inner development, instructs the ignorant ones with his ability and knowledge, and, by means of his government or other executive resources enforces the principles of Justice

(.Imāmat, the Climactical Rank of Abraham (a.s

In defining the reality of Imāmat, it was made clear that a person may become a prophet or a Messenger while he has not been appointed as an Imam. This position demands special eligibility in all aspects. It is the same position that Abraham (a.s.) attained after successfully passing many difficult tests and proving his genuine worthiness; this being the last step of his development to qualify for that rank

Some may imagine that the qualifications of an Imam is only that a person ` be worthy and a model '. They do not consider the fact that this condition existed in Abraham from the very beginning of his prophethood. Furthermore, not only Abraham, but also all prophets and Messengers, had had this epithet from the onset of their calling. It is for this reason that a prophet should be sinless since his deeds are considered as models. Therefore, Abraham (a.s.), who was a prophet and Messenger of Allah, was gifted the rank of Imāmat by Allah after he passed his trials successfully and proved that he was worthy of it

p:291

The objective meaning of the Arabic word 'the unjust' mentioned in this verse: " My covenant does not include the unjust " is not only ' being unjust to others '. But the term ' unjust ' (in contrast with the philosophical meaning of ' justice ' which means to set everything in its own proper place), here, is used with its broad sense of meaning.

Thus, committing an ' unjust ' act means that ' a person, an action, or a thing has ' been arranged in a situation which is not appropriate.

Since the position of Imāmat and the outward and inward leadership of people is an extraordinarily splendid position with many responsibilities, the committing of the slightest sin or disobedience disqualifies a person from attaining this rank.

So, in the traditions of Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) we see that, for proving the vicegerency of Hadrat Ali (a.s.) immediately after the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), they have quoted this very verse as justification, indicating that others had been idol-worshippers before Islam, in the age of ignorance, and the only person who did not prostrate before an idol, besides Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), even for a moment was Ali-ibn-Abitālib (a.s.). What unjust act is greater than that a person performs idol-worshipping! Did Luqmān not tell his son: " O my son

Join not in worship (others) with Allah: for false worship is indeed the highest wrong-doing " ? (Sura Luqmān, No. ۳۱, verse ۱۳) Hishām-ibn-Sālim, as an example, narrates from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said: " Surely, Abraham was a prophet but he was not an Imam until when Allah said: ' Verily, I have appointed you an Imam (leader) for mankind '. Abraham pleaded: ' And of my offspring (as well)? ' He (Allah) answered: ' My covenant does not include the unjust '.

(Those who have worshipped an idol, they will not be an Imam (leader))."\(1\)

In another tradition, ' Abdillāh-ibn-Mas'ūd narrates from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " Allah told Abraham: ' I do not give you My covenant (of Imāmat) for the unjust of your children.' Abraham said: ` Who are these unjust whom Your covenant

' ?does not include of my offspring

Allah said: ` Whoever prostrated before an idol, leaving Me, I will never

An Imam, by Allah's Commission

It is also understood from the current verse that an Imam (a sinless comprehensive leader of people) should be appointed by Allah. The reason is that: firstly, Imāmat is a kind of covenant from Allah and it is evident that such a person should be ordained by Him, the One Who is the Maker of the covenant

Secondly, the persons who have even tainted their lives with iniquity, even as small as a dark spot, whether it is against themselves or against others, or if there is a sign of idol-worshipping even for a short period of time in their lives, they are not eligible for Imāmat. They should be perfectly sinless throughout their whole lives in order to become an Imam

It is Allah who knows the hearts and minds of men and has given us criteria by which to evaluate them. This point will be discussed more comprehensively at a later time

If we want to recognize the vicegerent of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), according to the (above criterion, there would not be any one save Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s

It is noteworthy that the writer of Al-Manār narrates from Abū-Ḥanīfah that he believed the government of the time was exclusively suitable for the Alawites. That was why he approved rebellion against their ruling government (which was headed by Mansūr of the Abbasides). And it was also for the same reason that he did not agree, himself, to be in charge of the position of Supreme Court Judge in the government of the Abbasides

Then, the writer of Al-Manār adds that the four kalifs of the Sunnite school of thought all did not agree with the governments of their time, whom they did not approve as ,worthy chiefs of the Muslims

(because the governors were some cruel unjust ones.)

It is ironical that, in our time, some of the Sunnite scholars approve and support the tyrannical governments whose relations with the enemies of Islam are certain and definite, and their mischief and unjust acts are clear to all. But, this is insignificant compared to the fact that, they also consider them / 'ulul'amr / ` political and religious 'chieves' and / wājib ul 'itā` ah / ` necessary to be obeyed

Two Questions

This fact should also be noted that the concept of Imāmat does not necessarily mean that an Imam forcedly leads all people to the Truth; but it means that people having their own free will, together with their potential for receptiveness and their eligibility, can take advantage of and use the Imam's quality of effectiveness in outward and inward leadership in order to be guided

It is just like we stated earlier, that the sun has been created to furnish light, heat and energy for all living creatures which have the potential to receive these bounties and are capable of development

Another question that may be proposed is that according to the above commentary it seems that, every Imam previously must have been a prophet or a Messenger and then be appointed as an Imam, whereas the sinless vicegerents of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) were not in such a position

As an answer, we say that it is not necessary that the Imam, himself, be previously a prophet or a Messenger and then reach that position. When his predecessor had the rank of prophethood, Messengership and Imāmat, (such as the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.)), the eligible vicegerent can continue executing the duties of Imāmat as an Imam. This situation occurs when a new Messenger is not needed, like after the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), who is the seal of the prophets

In other words, if the process of receiving Divine revelation and communicating all the ordinance have been formerly performed and only the stage of their execution remains, the true successors of the prophet can continue the prophet's line of execution, and it does not necessitate that he, himself, be a prophet .or a Messenger

(.The Distinguished Personality of Abraham (a.s

Abraham's (a.s.) name is mentioned in the Holy Qur'ān in ٢٩ occurrences which are gathered in ١٥ Suras. In these verses, this great prophet (a.s.), whose worthy epithets are mentioned therein, is highly praised and appreciated by Allah from all aspects. He .was a prototype, an example, of a complete human being

The supremeness of his knowledge about Allah, his clear logical statements against idol-worshippers, his intense efforts and endeavours in challenging with the tyrants of his time, his dedication and forbearance in obeying the commands of Allah, and his unique perseverance against the storms of adventures and grievous trials, are all good examples for Muslims, and those who pave the path towards Allah, to take and .follow in their lives as their models

As the Qur'ān says about Abraham (a.s.), he was of the elect and good, (١) in the ranks of the Righteous,(٢) a model,(٣) a man of truth,(٤) most tender-hearted, and forbearing.(٥) Furthermore, he was incomparably brave and extraordinarily generous .as well

Allah Willing, we will offer a more detailed explanation concerning this matter later when commenting on some of the verses of Sura Ibrāhīm, No. ١٤, especially the last .part of the Sura

Commentary : Verse ١٢٥

The Magnificence of the Ka`bah

After explaining the high rank of Abraham (a.s.) stated in the previous verse, the Qur'ān, in this verse, directs attention towards the magnificence of the House, the Ka`bah in Mecca, which was built by Abraham and his son (a.s.). It says

And (remember) when We made the House (the Ka`bah in Mecca) a resort and a " " ... ,secure sanctuary for the people

Since the term / maābah /, originally based on / aub /, means` a place to which people return ' or` a place where people assemble ', and the Ka`bah has been a center where monotheists gather every year, then, by this assembly, believers, not only bodily but also spiritually, return to Divine Unity and to their intrinsic nature. So, that may be why the term / maābah / (a resort, an abode, a house) has been used for this Sacred House. And, since a man's house is the continuous returning site of its inhabitants who, after having completed their affairs, can experience rest and tranquility therein, there lies this sense of resting and tranquility in the meaning of the term / maābah /. This emphasizes the concept of its next word / amnan / ' secure sanctuary ' especially with the word ' people ', which indicates that this secure center is a common refuge for all people of the world.

This is, in fact, the acceptance by Allah of one of the requests that Abraham (a.s.) sought. (We will discuss this subject on page ۳۰۰.

:Then, it adds

"...!.saying): ' Take to yourselves Abraham's Station for a place of prayer) ..."

The opinions of the commentators are divided as to what ' Abraham's Station ' is. Some of them have said that the whole Hajj is Abraham's Station. Some others have rendered it to / ' arafah / ' the Mount of Recognition ', / maš`arul ḥarām / ' Sacred Monument ', and /jamarāt/ ' lapidations '; while others believe that the entire sacred premises of Mecca is considered the ' Station

But, as many Islamic narrations denote, and many of the commentators have said, too, the verse apparently refers to the very standing-place of Abraham which is located close to the Ka`bah where pilgrims offer their circumambulatory prayer after performing their ritual circumambulation of the Ka`bah. Thus, the purpose of the term /muṣallā/, mentioned in the verse, is ' the place of prayer ', too

Then, it refers to the covenant that He made with Abraham (a.s.) and Ismail (a.s.) about the purification of the Ka`bah, where it says

:(And We enjoined Abraham and Ismail (saying ..."

Sanctify My House for those who go around it, for those who abide in it and pay ' devotion, and to those who bow down and prostrate themselves

What is the meaning of sanctification here? Some have said that the meaning of sanctification here is purification from the existence of idols

Some others have said that the purpose is purification from outward dirt like blood and the contents of animals' stomachs which people sacrificed therein, because there were some ignorant persons who thoughtlessly did such deeds as leaving these .remains behind

Furthermore, some believe that sanctification, here, means `purity of intent' when .building this House of Monotheism

p:۲۹۷

There is no reason for us to confine the meaning of sanctification here. Its purpose is purification of this ` House of Monotheism ' from
.any dirt, physically and spiritually

It is for this reason that in some traditions we read that this verse has been rendered into sanctification from pagans and in some others
.into washing and purifying the body from dirt

: Explanation

The Secure Refuge, its Social and Educational Effects

According to the above verse, ` the House of Ka`bah ' has been chosen and proclaimed as ` a secure refuge ' by Allah. We know that there are resolute rules in Islam instructing every believer to avoid any quarrel, war, fight and bloodshed within the limits of this Holy land, Mecca. It is so that not only the members of humankind, regardless of nationality, race, gender, group, or condition, should be safe and secure there, but also animals and birds are protected there, in that nobody is allowed to hurt
.them

In this world, where fighting and wars are always within the overall scene, the existence of such a peaceful center can function as a special helpful fortress within which the problems of many nations can be solved. The security of this region lets different peoples, with all their differences and enmities that they may have, gather together therein, sitting, speaking, and solving their difficulties. Thus, one of the most important problems which usually exists, initiating face to face oral communications
.about dismissing or decreasing enmities between nations, can be solved

It frequently happens that the two sides of a conflict or the opposing governments in the world are willing to put an end to their antagonism and have parley for this purpose, but they cannot find a secure and respectable place wherein both sides can feel free to speak therein peacefully and securely. This case has been anticipated in .Islam, and Mecca is introduced as such a center

Now that most of the Muslims of the world are unfortunately involved in some hostile conflicts, they can make use of this sacred secure land, and, under its banner of holiness and special spirituality which enlightens the hearts, begin speaking with each other to solve their problems

? Why the ` House ' of Ka ` bah

In the above verse, the Ka ` bah is referred to by the Lord as ` My House ', while it is clear that neither is Allah bodily substance nor does He need a House. The purpose, here, is to honour and glorify the Ka ` bah by stating its honour and lofty status, and, therefore, it is called /baytullah / ` the House of Allah

۱۲۶ وَإِذْ قَالَ إِبْرَاهِيمُ رَبِّ اجْعَلْ هَذَا بَلَدًا آمِنًا وَارْزُقْ أَهْلَهُ مِنَ الثَّمَرَاتِ مَنْ آمَنَ مِنْهُمْ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ قَالَ وَمَنْ كَفَرَ فَأُمَتِّعُهُ قَلِيلًا ثُمَّ أَضْطَرُّهُ إِلَىٰ عَذَابِ النَّارِ وَبِئْسَ الْمَصِيرُ

And (remember) when Abraham said: ` My Lord, make this a secure City and " ۱۲۶ provide its people with fruits such of them that believe in Allah and the Last Day.' He :said

And whoever disbelieves, I shall let him enjoy himself for a little while, then I shall ` " ' ! drive him to the Punishment of Fire and an evil destination it is

Commentary : Verse ۱۲۶

! Abraham's (a.s.) Petition to Allah

In this verse Abraham (a.s.) asks Allah two great requests in favour of the inhabitants :of this Holy land, one of which was referred to in the previous verse. The Qur'ān says

"... And (remember) when Abraham said: ` My Lord, make this a secure City "

As it was pointed out in the previous verse, Allah accepted this invocation from Abraham (a.s.) and set this Holy land as a secure center, both outward and inward .security

:His second petition was thus and provide its people with fruits such of them that believe in Allah and the Last ..." " ...! .Day

It is interesting that Abraham (a.s.) requested ` security ' first, and then he asked for material gifts which itself is a reference to the fact that a safe and sound economic .status is not possible unless there exists security in a town or country

The opinions are divided amongst the commentators as to the meaning of the term 'fruits' here. On the whole, it seems that the word has a vast meaning, so broad that it includes any material bounty whether it is fruits or other nutritious substances, as well as spiritual bounties

Concerning the meaning of this term in the above verse, Imam Şādiq (a.s.) in a tradition has said: "It is the fruits of hearts."<sup>(1)</sup> This indicates that Allah attracts the attention and affection of human beings to the people of this Holy land

This is also noteworthy, that Abraham (a.s.) invokes this petition only for the believers in Allah, the only True God, and the Last Day, because he might have realized from the statement: "My covenant does not include the unjust," cited in the former verse, the fact that some groups of his future offspring would follow the path of polytheism and injustice; then, to show reverence in a courteous

Allah's answer

.manner, here, he did not include them in his petition

:However, Allah's answer to this invocation of Abraham (a.s.) was

"... ,He said: ' And whoever disbelieves, I shall let him enjoy himself for a little while ..."

" ' ! then I shall drive him to the Punishment of Fire and an evil destination it is..."

This is, in fact, the same 'General Mercy' of Allah by which His unlimited bounties are available to all creatures so that good doers and evildoers equally enjoy from His vast bountiful Table in this world, but in the next world, where His 'Specific Mercy' comes forth, wrongdoers will have no share of it and also they will have no way to rescue themselves

Our Lord, send amongst them an Apostle of their own who shall recite unto ` them Your revelations, teach them the Book and the Wisdom, and purify them; for "!' surely You are Almighty, All-Wise

Commentary : Verses ١٢٧–١٢٩

The Structure of the House of Ka` bah

It is clearly understood from the numerous verses of the Qur'ān, the Islamic traditions, and some historical records that the House of Ka` bah had been founded before Abraham (a.s.) and that it had been established at the time of Adam (a.s.). Sura Ibrāhīm, No. ١٤, verse quoting from the tongue of Abraham (a.s.), says: " Our Lord ! Surely I have settled a ,٣٧

" ... ,part of my offspring in a valley unproductive (of fruit) near Your Sacred House

This verse confirms that when Abraham (a.s.) with his wife and his infant son Ismail arrived at the Holy land of Mecca, there was no sign of the Ka` bah seen therein, but .he was guided there by Divine inspiration

Another verse says: " The first House (of worship) appointed for men was that at .(Bakka: full of blessing..." (Sura 'Āl-i-` Imrān, No. ٣, verse٩٦

It is certain that the worshipping of Allah and the structure of the center of adoration
.(did not begin from the time of Abraham (a.s

.(It had started before that and was established at the time of Adam (a.s

The idea mentioned in the verse under discussion indicates the same meaning, too. It
:says

And (remember) when Abraham and Ismail raised up the foundations of the House; " (saying): ` Our Lord, accept (this service) from us; for surely You are All-Hearing, All-
".Knowing

This statement refers to the concept that the foundations of the Ka` bah had existed
.from before, and Abraham (a.s.) and Ismail (a.s.) raised them up

Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) in one of his sermons known as Qāṣi` ah also says:
" Do you not see that Allah, the Glorified, has tried all the people among those who came before, beginning with Adam, up to the last ones in this world with stones... He made those stones into His Sacred House... Then He commanded Adam and his sons (to turn their attention towards it. ..." \(1\)

.(The Ka` bah originally built by Adam (a.s

In short, the verses of the Qur'ān and the Islamic narrations confirm this historical fact that the House of Ka`bah was originally built by Adam (a.s.). Then during the Flood at the time of Noah, it fell down. Then, later, it was rebuilt by the hands of .(Abraham (a.s.) with the aid of his son Ismail (a.s

The second of the above two verses attests to the fact that Abraham (a.s.) and his son Ismail (a.s.) sought from Allah five important invocations. These prayers, which were offered when they were busy building the Ka`bah, are so exact and consistent with all the necessities of material and spiritual life, that they can lead man to the recognition of the magnificence of the souls of these two great Apostles of Allah

Abraham (a.s) and Ismail's (a.s) Invocations

:At first, Abraham (a.s.) prays

"... ,Our Lord, make us submissive (Muslims) to You ` "

"... ,Then he invokes: "...and of our progeny an Ummah (a nation) submissive to You

He continues saying: "... and show us our ways of worship, ..." (so that we can adore
.(You in a way worthy of Your Highness

:After that, he (a.s.) seeks Allah for repentance, thus and turn to us (mercifully); for surely You are the Oft-Returning, the Most Merciful ..."
"!

****

The fifth invocation, which was sought from Allah at the time of constructing the Holy
:Ka`bah by Abraham and Ismail (a.s.), is this

"... Our Lord, send amongst them an Apostle of their own ` " who shall recite unto them Your revelations, teach them the Book and the Wisdom, ..."

"... ;and purify them

".for surely You are Almighty, All-Wise..."

Commentary : Verses ۱۳۰-۱۳۲

Abraham (a.s.), a Human Prototype

.In the former verses, Abraham's personality was partly introduced

Some of his services and quite a few of his comprehensive invocations, which included
.material and spiritual aspects, were discussed

From the totality of these words, it is concluded that this great Apostle can be a good model for all the truth-seekers throughout the world, and his school of thought can be .an instruction guideline for all human beings

:Based on this very matter, in the first verse of the above verses, it says

"... ?And who turns away from Abraham's creed but he who makes a fool of himself "

Is this not foolishness that one forsakes such a pure brilliant creed and goes astray along the misleading paths of polytheism, blasphemy, and corruption? This is a religion which is appropriate for and coinciding with the soul and nature of man. It is a process that parallels wisdom and logic. This creed is beneficial for man both in the present world and the next world

Then, it adds: "... Indeed, We chose him in this world, and in the Hereafter surely he will be among the righteous

Yes, Abraham (a.s.) is chosen by Allah, and he is among the ranks of the righteous and that is why he should be chosen as a model

****

Abraham's (a.s) Submission

The next verse, as an emphasis, refers to one of the other outstanding qualities which is, in fact, the origin of the rest of his qualities

,When his Lord said to him, ` Submit ', he said "

".'I have submitted to the Lord of all worlds `

Yes, it is when Abraham (a.s.), that pure true believer and self-sacrificer, hearkens to the call of his innate nature that the Lord enjoins him ` Submit ', and he submits himself totally to His command

Abraham (a.s.) sees that the stars, the moon, and the sun, all in all, have precise settings. Then he, with his mind and perception finds out that they are subject to the regulations of creation. Therefore, he proclaims that none of them can be his Lord, and he says: " For me, I have set my face firmly and truly, towards Him Who created the heavens and the earth, and never shall I give partners to God." (Sura Al-An`ām, (No. 6, verse 79

Worthiness, the Byproduct of Purity and Sincerity

In fact, the first step to attaining worthiness for a person is through purity and sincerity, and it was owing to this same quality in Abraham (a.s.) that he was able to submit exclusively to the command of Allah, therefore He was pleased with him and chose him, and for this same reason He selected him to introduce His religion

The entirety of Abraham's (a.s.) deeds, throughout his life, from beginning up to the end, were unique. One of his expressions of faith was through his challenge with idol worshippers and star worshippers. Another was when, while in the midst of fire, he showed such strength of faith that his hostile enemy, Nimrod, was so affected by him that he unwillingly said:

" If a person wants to take a god, he should take one similar to the God of Abraham (a.s.)." (1)

Also, bringing his wife and suckling son to that hot dry land, i.e. the Holy land, building the House of Ka`bah, and taking his beloved son into the place of sacrifice, each was .an example of the resoluteness of his manner

****

Abraham's (a.s.) bequest to his children

Abraham's (a.s.) bequest to his children at the last moments of his life was also a :model, as the last verse of the verses under discussion says

" ... ,And this did Abraham bequeath to his sons, and (so did) Jacob "

Each of them told their sons: "... ` My children, Allah has chosen for you the Faith,
".therefore die not unless you are Muslims

It seems that the Qur`ān by stating the bequest of Abraham (a.s.) intends to reiterate the fact that you human beings are not only responsible for your children while they are with you but you are responsible for their futures, too. When you are on your deathbed, do not think of only your financial affairs and that of your children after .your death; you had better think about their spiritual life, too

Not only did Abraham (a.s.) bequeath such a testament, but also his grandson, Jacob (a.s.), imitated Abraham's same manner and at the last moments of his life enjoined his children to attain the secret of victory, success and happiness via this short
'phrase: ` Submit to the Lord of the worlds

The mentioning of Jacob from among all prophets, here in this verse, is perhaps with the aim of telling the Jews and Christians, who each in their own way used to join themselves to Jacob, that the blasphemic creeds which they followed and the lack of pure submission in the Truth that they showed by their actions, did not coincide with .the manner of the one whom they joined themselves to

Occasion of Revelation

A group of the Jews believed that when Jacob (a.s) was on his deathbed, he enjoined on his children the same religion which the Jews currently believe in (with all its corruption of the scriptures). For the nullification of their belief, Allah sent down this
.verse

: Commentary

Everyone is Responsible for his Own Deeds

Point

,As it is also understood from the apparent meaning of the verse

there were some rejectors of Islam who falsely charged Jacob (a.s.), the prophet of Allah, regarding this matter. (The matter was mentioned in the description of the (occasion of revelation

:To reject this false claim, the Qur'ān says

:"...? Nay, were you witnesses when death approached Jacob "

?Were you there when he frankly questioned his children the way he did

.Yes, that which you (Jews) charge Jacob (a.s.) with is not true

:The factual account which occurred was that "...' ? When he said to his sons: ` What will you worship after me..."

They said: ` We will worship your God and the God of your forefathers Abraham,..."

".' Ismail and Isaac, the One (true) God (alone) and to Him we do submit

Yes, he did not enjoined them with anything but to believe in monotheism and to submit to the command of Allah, which is the root of submission to all the Divine ordinances

It can be deduced from this verse that when Jacob was on his deathbed, a feeling of anxiety and worry existed in him about the future of his children. Finally he expressed his anxiety and asked his sons what they would worship after him. He especially asked ` what (thing) ' and he did not ask ` whom ', because there were some idol-worshippers in the locale who used to prostrate before some particular ` things '. Jacob wanted to know whether there was any tendency towards those beliefs in the depths of their hearts. But when he heard his children's answer, he found, again, his peace of mind

This is also noteworthy that Ismail (a.s.) was not Jacob's father or forefather, but he was Jacob's uncle, whereas in the verse under discussion, the term / 'ābā' / which is the plural of the word / 'ab / (father) has been applied. This makes it clear that, in the Arabic language, this word was sometimes used for ` uncle '. Hence, we say that if this word has been used regarding 'Āzar in the Qur'ān, it does not negate the fact that

'Āzar was Abraham's uncle, not his father

***

The last of the above verses mentioned is an answer to one of the delusions of the Jews. They emphasized very much on their ancestors

p:۳۰۹

.and the honour and glory they ascribed themselves in relation to Allah

They imagined that even when they tainted themselves with sin, they could be :rescued under the comforting shade of such ancestors. Then, the Qur'ān says

That is a nation that has passed away; theirs is that which they have earned, and "
"...;yours is what you have earned

,And, in the same way that they are not responsible for your deeds, also

".you shall not be questioned for what they had been doing ..."

Improve your own Faith and deeds

Therefore, instead of expending all your energy trying to prove that you, by right of ancestry, deserve the honour and high position that your pure ancestors enjoyed, you
.should try to improve your own Faith and deeds

The addressees in this verse are apparently the Jews and ` the People of the Book ', but it is evident that this statement is not specifically referring to them alone, in that
.this basic principle, pertains to us Muslims, too

.and (in) that which was given to all prophets from their Lord

,they indeed are guided (aright); but if they turn away

;then they are clearly in schism; Allah will suffice you against them

".He is the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing

Occasion of Revelation

Upon the occasion of revelation of these verses it is narrated from Ibn Abbas that some of the Jewish scholars and some Christians from Najrān were disputing with the Muslims. Each of these two groups considered their own creed more superior than the other's regarding the Truth, then they negated each other. The Jews said that their prophet, Moses (a.s.), was superior and their Book, the Turah, was the best. The Christians, on the other hand, had the same claim. They said Jesus (a.s.) was the best guide and the Evangel was the best among the heavenly Books. Even though they could not settle their own disputes between themselves, the followers of both creeds invited the Muslims to their own religion. The .above verses were revealed and answered them both

****

: Commentary

! Only Our Creed is True

Point

Egoism and self-conceit usually cause one to think that Truth is exclusively his own and therefore, he considers others wrong. This very person, consequently, tries to divert others to his own way of seeing things, as the Qur'ān through the first verse of :the above verses says

"...!And they said: ` Be Jews or Christians, you shall be guided aright "

:Tell them that distorted religions can never be the source of guidance, but Say: ` Nay ! Rather the creed of Abraham, the upright; and he was not of those ..."

".' who associate partners to Allah

How to recognize the Pure Religion

The true believers in pure Faith are those who follow the pure Monotheistic creed, i.e. the Monotheism which has never been tainted with any form of polytheism. The most important basic principle for recognizing the pure religion from the corrupted ones is

.by keeping in mind this very perfect creed of Monotheism

Islam instructs us not to make distinction between the divine prophets and to respect their religions totally because the fundamental principles of all Divine religions are entirely the same. Moses (a.s.) and Jesus (a.s.) reinstated the pure (ḥanīf) doctrine of , (Abraham (a.s which is to live and die with faith in the One True God. They believed in the non-polytheistic creed of Abraham (a.s.), the pure Monotheist, although their religions were later contaminated with polytheism by their ignorant followers. The Jews, though they taught Unity, went after false gods, and the Christians invented the trinity or borrowed it from pagans. (Of course, if they search for the pureness of truth, they will realize that there is no difference between what their prophets preached and what was brought forth by Islam and that they, in performing their duties today, should follow the divine creed of Islam which has come down from the direction of Allah for this Age

****

Concerning the statements of the Muslims' opponents, the next verse enjoins the followers of Islam thus Say: ` We have believed in Allah and that which has been sent down "

,to us, and (in) what was sent down to Abraham, Ismail, Isaac

Jacob and the tribes; and (in) that which was given to Moses and Jesus and (in) that which was given " ... .to all prophets from their Lord

"! We make no distinction between any of them, and to Him do we submit..."

Accepting All Prophets of Allah

Self-conceit and tribal or racial prejudices should never lie at the root of our accepting some of the prophets and rejecting the others. They were all Divine teachers who spent their lives training and guiding people in different eras of time. Their aim was only to guide human beings towards pure Unity, Truth, and Justice, although each of them had some particular duties and special qualifications related to their own specific periods of time

****

: Then it adds

"...; (If then they believe in what you believe, they indeed are guided (aright "

"...; but if they turn away, then they are clearly in schism ..."

p: ۳۱۳

If they do not mix their racial and tribal problems, and the likes of them, with the religion, and formally accept all the prophets, they are also guided, otherwise they .have put away the truth and followed the wrong

The term / šiqāq / originally means ` cleft, conflict, and fight ' and, here, it has been rendered into ` blasphemy ', and sometimes into ` misleading ', or ` separation from Truth and tending to falsehood ', all of which, in fact, basically point back to the same .fact

Some of the commentators have cited that when the former verse was revealed whereby Jesus (a.s.) was mentioned in a row with some other prophets, some of the Christians said that they did not agree with that statement because Jesus (a.s.) was not like other prophets; he was the son of God. The last verse of the above verses was sent down \(1\) and warned them that they were misguided and they were in .schism

However, at the end of the verse, it encourages the Muslims not to be afraid of the :plots of enemies; saying

"Allah will suffice you against them; He is the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing ..."

****

: Explanation

The Oneness of the Prophets' Invitation

In several occasions, the Holy Qur'ān points out that there is no difference between the prophets of Allah because all of them had received the revelation from one single Source and pursued one goal. Therefore, the Qur'ān enjoins the Muslims to respect all of the Divine prophets equally. But, as it was stated before, this exhortation does not conflict with the idea that every new religion sent down from Allah abrogates the .former religions and Islam is the last religion in the world

Of course, no religion on earth, except Islam, has ever demanded of its adherents to believe equally in the truthfulness and flawless godliness, sinless purity of conduct and character of the other apostles

Majma`-ul-Bayān, vol. ۱, p. ۲۱۸ ۱-۱

of Allah and in the other sacred scripts as the revealed Word of Allah. This command in Islam was given because the Divine Apostles were like some teachers and every one of them instructed the human race as one class. It is evident that when the period and the course of one class finishes, the trainees will be promoted to another teacher, to a class of a higher degree. Therefore, all nations are to fulfill the requirements given by the last prophet of their times, which is the last stage of the development of the religion in their period of time. This statement will never contrast the rightfulness of the invitations of other prophets

? ' Who were ` Asbāt

The term / sebt / originally means: ` stretching, or expanding of something easily '. A tree is sometimes called ` sabat ' because its branches expand freely. The leading lexicologists expressly declare that / sebt / the plural of which is / asbāt / includes sons' \(children and daughters' children.\)

The meaning of the term / asbāt /, here, is the groups and tribes of Israelites who came forth from Jacob's twelve sons, and, since there were some prophets among them, in the above verse they are counted among those upon whom the Divine verses have been sent down

So, the objective meaning of the term, here, is the tribe of Israelites or the tribes of Jacob's children who consisted of some prophets, not all the children of Jacob. Some of those children were not entirely eligible to be prophets because they committed sin in their dealings with their own brother

/ The meaning of / ḥanīf

The Arabic term / ḥanīf / is based on / ḥanaf / with the meaning ` orthodox, true ', or ` inclined from misguidance to right opinion '. So, those pure monotheists who turn away from polytheism and incline to

Arabic-English Lexicon, part ٤, p. ١٢٩٤, by: E.W.Lane ١ -١

! this basic principle, are called ` Ḥanīf

! It is also for this reason that one of the meanings of / ḥanīf / is ` true, straight

This explanation makes it clear that the meaning offered by the commentators for the term / ḥanīf / such as Hajj, the pilgrimage to the Ka` bah, adhering to truth, following Abraham (a.s.), and the pureness of deeds, are all reflections of that inclusive meaning and each of them is an example of it

".yours is what you earned; you shall not be questioned for what they had been doing

The Baptism of Allah

Following the invitation, in the former verses, to the adherents of all religions to accept the Divine messages of all prophets, in the first verse of this group of verses, it commands them all to "... Receive) the baptism of Allah)"

Which is the same as the purification by Faith and true monotheism resulting in the manifestation of one true colour. Then, it adds

".and who is better than Allah in baptizing? And Him do we worship ..."

Thus, the Qur'ān commands that all racial, tribal and other separative colours be put aside and that every one take on (symbolically) the colour of Allah

Some commentators have recorded that it was a custom among the Christians to baptize their new-born children in baptismal water which was mixed with dye or a colour, signifying that the baptized person received new colour in life. They said that this baptism, especially with this particular colour, caused the person to be cleaned (from the original sin that he had inherited from Adam (a.s

The Qur'ān rejects this baseless logic and tells them that in order to purify their souls and minds from any stain of sin instead of using colours of rituals, superstitions and dispersiveness, they had better accept the colour of truthfulness and godliness

Truly, what a delicate and beautiful sentence it is! How nice it would be if all people accepted the godly colour, i.e. the colour of unity, purity and virtue! Viz the colour of colourlessness, the colour of justice, equality, patience and perseverance. Under the light of the colour of unity and sincerity, all conflicts and fights can be put to an end and the main weed of polytheism and dispersion might be rooted out

.This is, in fact, that very colourlessness, or in other words, pulling away of all colours

In several traditions, commenting on this verse, it is narrated from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) who has said that the objective meaning of /şibqatallah / ` the baptism of Allah ' is the .pure creed of Islam.\(1\) This idea is also a reference to what was said in the above

Nu-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ۱, p. ۱۳۲ ۱ -۱

Some of the Jews, and some others, occasionally disputed with the Muslims claiming that all the prophets were chosen from among them and their religion was the oldest of all religions, and their book was the most ancient of Divine Books. They said that if Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) had really been a prophet, he would have been appointed from among them. They sometimes said that their race was superior to the Arab race, for the acceptance of creeds, and they were more receptive to revelation than Arabs, .because they had practically been idol-worshippers while the Jews were not

The Jews considered themselves the sons of God, the ones who claimed Heaven exclusively theirs. The Qur'ān refuses all of these false imaginations. At first, it tells
:(the Prophet (p.b.u.h

Say (to the Jews and Christians): ` Would you dispute with us concerning Allah Who "
" ... ?is our Lord and your Lord

This Lord is not exclusively for one particular tribe or a certain race. He is the Lord of .all human beings and all creatures in the world of existence

Addressing them, it adds that they should also know that: there are no privileges for :anyone except for those attained by a person's good deeds

"... :For us are our deeds and for you are your deeds ..."

But there is a difference between those deeds. We serve Him sincerely and associate :(none with Him, (while most of you have polluted Unity with polytheism

".' and we are sincere to Him..."

****

Prophets before Moses (a.s), neither Jews nor Christians

:The next verse replies to some other vain claims of theirs. It says

Or do you claim that Abraham, Ismail, Isaac, Jacob, and the tribes were Jews or "
"...?Christians

"...? Say: ` Who then knows best, you or Allah ..."

.Allah knows best of all that they were neither Jewish nor Christian

You also know, whether you admit it or not, that many of those prophets came in to this world before Moses (a.s.) and Jesus (a.s.), and

p:319

if you do not know it, then you have ignorantly charged them with such a belie which
:in itself, is a great sin and an attempt at hiding the true fact. Thus

"... ?Who is more unjust than he who conceals testimony received from Allah ..."

"And Allah is not heedless of what you do ..."

What a wonder! When it happens that a person's mind is dominated by obstinacy and prejudice, he denies even the well-known facts of history. For instance, the Jews counted the prophets such as Abraham (a.s.), Isaac (a.s.) and Jacob (a.s.), who came into the world and passed away before Moses and Jesus, as being from among the followers of Moses (a.s.) and Jesus (a.s.). They denied the above mentioned fact which is pertinent to the fate of their people and defines their Faith and religion. It may be for this very reason that the Qur'ān introduces them as the most unjust. There is no unjust action worst than that some persons intentionally deny some facts in order to
.misguide people so that they wander aimlessly in that misguidance

****

Thrive on Your Own Excellencies

In the last of the verses under discussion, which is also the last verse of the first part (out of the thirty parts) of the Holy Qur'ān, the Qur'ān answers them in another style
:indicating that supposing all these claims were correct, then, this is the answer

"...That is a nation that has passed away; theirs is that which they have earned " and yours is what you earned; you shall not be questioned for what they had been..."
".doing

In conclusion, a nation should rely upon its own deeds, not on its past history. As a .person should thrive on his own excellencies, not on those of his ancestors

Commentary : Verse ۱۴۲

Occasion of the Change of Qiblah

This verse together with a few verses following it refers to one of the great happenings in the history of Islam which caused a huge wave of excitement among the people of that time. The explanation for the occurrence is that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), under divine direction, prayed towards the direction of Jerusalem for thirteen years in Mecca after proclaiming his mission and then, also, for several months in Medina after his migration. But again, under divine direction, the Qiblah (i.e. the direction of prayer) was changed and Muslims were commissioned to pray towards the Ka`bah

The commentators are divided as to the length of time that Muslims worshipped facing towards Jerusalem in Medina. The duration of this ritual situation has been cited from seven to seventeen months. However, during this period, Muslims were always entangled with the reproaches of the Jews, because Jerusalem was originally the Jewish but verses about the theme of Qiblah in the Qur'an is still continued. Hence, to complete the idea, we had to add some verses of Part ۲, here, at the end of this .volume

Qiblah. Since the Muslims used to pray towards the direction of Jerusalem, the Jewish Qiblah, during that time, they blamed that their (Muslims) acceptance of their (Jewish) Qiblah proved, as they thought, that the Jews were right in their creed and Muslims, who were not independent for themselves in the direction of prayer, were not

These statements were difficult for the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and Muslims to bear. They were, on one hand, showing obedience to the command of Allah, and, on the other hand, the ceaseless sarcasm of the Jews was intolerable. It was for this reason that by night Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) occasionally turned his face towards the heavens in a way that showed he was expecting to receive Divine revelation

After some time of waiting, finally the command for changing the Qiblah was revealed. It was while the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was praying the noon prayer and he had already performed only two rak`ats of the prayer in Banī-Sālim Mosque towards the direction of Jerusalem when Gabriel was commissioned by Allah to take the arm of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and turn his face towards the direction of the Ka`bah

The Jews were annoyed with this occurrence and according to their old traditional style, they began seeking pretexts. Aforetime, they used to say that they were superior to Muslims because Muslims were dependent on the Jews regarding their Qiblah. But, when the command of changing the Qiblah was sent down by the Lord, a party of the Jews protested; as the Qur'ān says

The fools among the people will say: `What has turned them from their Qiblah " "...? (direction of prayer) which they were facing at

The Jews disputed about why the Muslims altered the former prophets' Qiblah that day. They said if the first Qiblah was correct, then why the change? And, if the second one was right, then why had they been praying towards the direction of Jerusalem for ?more than thirteen years

:The Lord ordered His Apostle thus

Say: "Allah's is the East and the West; He guides whoever He pleases to a straight way."

Similar to this circumstance the words East and West, besides the verse under discussion, have occurred in four other verses of the Qur'ān

There is a short explanation about their ۹:۷۳, ۲۸:۲۶, ۱۷۷:۲, ۱۱۵:۲

objective meaning when commenting on verse ۱۱۵ (pg. ۲۶۷ this vol.). The content meaning of these terms refers to the Omnipresence of Allah as the Absolute Reality, the hold of which penetrates the universe in its every part and particle as well as its whole, meaning both the rise of the light in the East and its setting in the West are the various aspects of manifestation of Allah's Mighty and Glory i.e., whichever direction .the mind turns there is this aspect of His

This verse was a decisive clear reasonable answer for those who sought pretext by letting them know that Jerusalem, the Ka`bah and all other places belong to Allah, and, intrinsically, Allah has no house and no place; He is the Omnipresent. The main principle here is that we servants should submit to His command and whatever direction He appoints for prayer, that direction is sacred and respectable and that direction should be prayed towards. Without His commission, no place has excellence .or preference in its own essence

And, the change of the Qiblah, in fact, is one stage of the many different stages of trial and development, each of which is an example of Divine Guidance. It is He Who ! guides people to the ` Straight Path

Allah would never let your Faith be wasted truly Allah is to mankind Most Affectionate, Most ".Merciful

Commentary : Verse ۱۴۳

An Ummat of Middle Standing

In this verse a part of the philosophy and secret of the change of the Qiblah is .referred to

:At first it says

"...And thus have We made you an Ummat of middling stand "

A nation that is a medium one from any aspect, viz. it is in a state that is neither in .excess nor defect and can be brought forth as an example

But, why is the Muslims' Qiblah a middle one? Haply, it is because most of the Christians were living in countries west of their Qiblah. In order to stand towards the direction of the birthplace of Jesus which was located in Jerusalem they had to stand nearly towards the direction of the East. Therefore the East was considered the direction of their Qiblah. The Jews, who mostly were living in Syria, Babylon and the like, prayed towards Jerusalem which was located nearly in the West for them. Hence, the West was considered the direction of their Qiblah. But, for the Muslims of that time (Muslims in Medina), the Ka`bah was located in the South, between the East and the West which, thereby, was considered a middle ground

All of those meanings, in fact, are understood from the phrase /waka`ālika/ ` and thus ' stated in the verse. The Qur`ān, however, apparently, may intend to refer to the position of all Islamic programs and that not only the Muslims' Qiblah is middle standing but also in all other aspects they have this specialty that you may be witnesses over mankind, and the Messenger may be (a) witness..."

"...over you

The expression of the Muslims being ` witnesses ' over the people of the world, and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) bearing ` witness ' over the Muslims may be an insinuation to ` being as a model ', since witnesses are always chosen from the eligible ones. Thus, the purpose might be that you (Muslims), with these instructions and this creed, are a model nation, as the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is a model among you

You, by your deeds and behaviour bear witness that a man can be both a man of action and a man of religion while he is living in this very world. He, being sociable, can quite properly protect the limits of his spiritual and moral aspects. Portraying these thoughts and activities, you bear witness that not only there is no contradictions between religion and science, or the present world and the coming world, but they serve one another

Then, the Qur`ān has pointed to one of the secrets of the change of the Qiblah when it says

(We did not make the (former) Qiblah (direction of prayer..."

,towards which you were facing at except that We might distinguish him who

p:۳۲۵

"...;follows the Messenger from him who turns back upon his heels

It is interesting that the Qur'ān does not say: ' him who follows you ' but it says: ' him who follows the Messenger ' which confirms the fact that you (Muhammad) are commissioned by the Lord and you are a guide. So, they must be obedient to your command in all things. In this relation, the change of the Qiblah is simple; if the command were beyond that, it should be obeyed and their seeking pretext in it is a .sign of their holding on to the customs of the age of paganism and idol worshipping

" The Qurānic phrase " from him who turns back upon his heels which originally means ' to turn on ones heel ' is a hint to a kind of retrograde manner .or retrogression

"... .it was indeed hard except for those whom Allah has guided ..."

Yes, the soul of absolute submission to the command of Allah will not come to being unless there is Divine Guidance. This is an important matter, that one ought to be so submissive that he does not feel in his self even the slightest heaviness for the execution of such commandments; on the contrary, because it is from Allah, he .embraces it willingly and eagerly

Since the seductive enemies or the ignorant friends thought that with the change of the Qiblah our services would become futile and our reward be wasted, at the end of :the verse it says

Allah would never let your Faith be wasted truly Allah is to mankind Most..."
".Affectionate, Most Merciful

Allah's commandments are issued as prescriptions for the purpose of our remedy; then one day this one is useful and the next, something else. Each of them in its proper place is the best to provide our felicity, prosperity, and development. Thus, the change of the Qiblah should not create any anxiety for you about your former prayers and worshippings nor those in the future, because all of them have been right and .proper

Turn Towards the Sacred Mosque

As it was mentioned before, Jerusalem was the first, but temporary, Qiblah of the Muslims. So, as the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was waiting to receive the command from Allah to change the Qiblah, especially after he had migrated to Medina and continued praying towards the same direction, i.e. towards the direction of Jerusalem, the Jews used to very frequently taunt the Muslims at not having a Qiblah of their own and stated that but for the Jews' faith, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) would not even know the direction towards which, by the direction of Allah, he should turn in prayer. Owing to the sneers of the Jews he (p.b.u.h.) desired a change and Allah granted it to him. In the above verse this subject is referred to when the command of the Qiblah has been issued to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). It says thus

"... ,Indeed We see turning your face (O' Muhammad) to the heavens "

"... and now We shall turn you (in prayer) to a Qiblah that you shall be pleased with ..."

"...Turn then your face towards the Sacred Mosque ..."

"...(and wherever you are, turn your faces towards it (for prayer ..."

According to the Islamic traditions, we know that this change of the Qiblah happened in Medina, at a very sensitive moment when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was praying the noontime prayer. The bringer of Divine revelation took Muhammad's (p.b.u.h.) arm and turned him from the direction of Jerusalem to the direction of the Ka`bah. At the same time Muslims immediately changed their rows, too. It is also said that in that event even the women had to change their place of prayer with the men. (It should be noted that in that occurrence Jerusalem was located approximately towards the North while the direction of the Ka`bah was towards the South

It is also noteworthy that the change of the Qiblah had been one of the signs of the Call of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) written in the former scriptures. The Jews had learnt therein that he (p.b.u.h.) would pray towards two directions for his Qiblah

:Therefore, in the above verse, after the command of the Qiblah, it adds and those who have been given the (earlier) Book know well that it is the truth from ..."
"... their Lord

The phrase " those who have been given the (earlier) book " means the Jews who through the prophecies in their scriptures (Vide Deut 18: 15 and 18) already knew that the holy Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) was a true prophet, thus

The Lord, thy God, will raise up unto thee a prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren like unto Me; unto him you shall hearken:" Deut 18: 15

I will raise them up a prophet from among their brethren, like unto thee, and will put My words in his mouth; and he shall speak unto them all that I shall command him."

Deut 18: 18,19

Moreover, the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) did not follow the customs of his locale at first, and put aside the Ka`bah which was the center of idols that the Arabs loved very much. He formally accepted the direction of the Qiblah of a limited minority, i.e. Jerusalem. This was, in itself,

.considered proof of the rightfulness of his invitation and the Divinity of his Call

:At the end of the verse, it adds

".And Allah is not at all heedless of what they do ..."

That is, instead of introducing the change of the Qiblah as a sign of his rightfulness, they rejected it and raised a tumult. But Allah is heedless neither of their actions nor of .their intentions

And if you follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you will "surely be of the Unjust

Commentary :Verse ۱۴۵

! They will Never be Content

Commenting on the previous verse it was described that the ' People of the Book ' knew that the change of the Qiblah from the direction of Jerusalem to the direction of the Sacred Mosque not only was not an objection to the authenticity of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), but that it was one of the signs of his rightfulness to prophethood, because they had learned through their religious books that the Apostle of Islam (p.b.u.h.) would pray towards the directions of two Qiblahs. But their vain religious fanaticisms did not let them accept the fact

In principle, until when a person has not made a decision on a subject yet, by bringing proof, reasons, logic, and miracles for him, he might be made to understand the fact or the fact, itself, might be proved and be manifested to him and consequently, he changes his belief. But, when formerly he has decidedly confirmed his position, especially in the case of a zealous or ignorant person, it is not at all possible to change his mind

:So the Qur'ān decisively says

And even if you were to bring every Sign to those who have been given the (earlier) "
"... ,Book, they would not follow your Qiblah

Therefore, do not tire yourself, for they will never surrender to the truth because the .truth-seeking soul has died in them

Unfortunately, all of the Divine prophets were faced with such persons who were either of the rich puissant ones, or of the deluded and mammonish scholars, or of the .ignorant zealous laymen

: Then, it adds

"... ,nor would you be a follower of their Qiblah ..."

That is, if they think that, with their sayings and uproars, the Muslims' Qiblah may change again, they are mistaken. This Qiblah is permanent and it is the final .everlasting Qiblah for all Muslims

This kind of speaking is, in fact, one of the ways of concluding the reproaches of opponents by standing firm and proving that those futile uproars will not change
.anything

:Then it adds that they are so fanatic in their creed that

"... .neither are they the followers of each other's Qiblah ..."

Neither would the Jews follow the Christian's Qiblah nor would the Christians follow
.the Jews' Qiblah

:(.Then, again for more emphasis, it warns the Prophet (p.b.u.h

And if you follow their desires after the knowledge that has come to you, then you ..."
".will surely be of the Unjust

Such warnings which are stated in the form of conditional sentences, addressing the :Prophet (p.b.u.h.) are frequently seen in the Qur'ān, the purpose of which is threefold

The first is that all know that, regarding the law of Allah, there is no difference between the servants of Allah and even the Divine prophets are included under those laws, therefore, if, for the sake of argument, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), too, were to delude from the Truth, he would also be involved with the Lord's punishment, though such a supposition is impossible concerning the prophets (a.s.) with their Faith and immense knowledge and whose ranks of virtue are known

And, as it was stated before, a conditional proposition does not necessarily verify the) (.existence of a protasis

The second thing is that, taking into consideration the above circumstance, other people would think about their own situations and know that when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is being warned, then how much more they should be careful about their responsibilities and duties. They must never follow their enemies' perverted desires
.or give attention to their uproars

The third aim is to make it clear that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), too, has no right on his own to change anything in Allah's ordinances. It is not so that any one can collide or
.come to terms with him, since he is a servant, too, and obedient to His Command

" ۱۴۷. The Truth is from your Lord, therefore be not one of the doubters "

Commentary : Verses ۱۴۶-۱۴۷

Point

Following the former discussions about the obstinacy and bigotry of a party of the :People of the Book, the first verse of the above says

Those to whom We have given the (earlier) Book, recognize him (the Prophet) as " "... ,they recognize their sons

Characteristics of Prophet Mohammad (p.b.u.h) Contained in (Earlier) Book

They have learnt about his name and his specific characteristics in their religious .books

"... (but a group of them most surely conceal the truth while they know (it ..."

Some of them, of course, having seen those clear signs of the promised Prophet (p.b.u.h.) embraced Islam. It is quoted from ` Abdillah-ibn-Salām, who previously had been one of the Jewish scholars and then accepted Islam, that he said that from before, he knew the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) better than he knew his son, (۱) and the .other scholars knew the Prophet of Islam well, too

This verse uncovers an important fact. It denotes that the earlier Divine Books had contained a very vivid and distinct illustration of the physical and spiritual characteristics of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). It had been so clear that those who .were acquainted with those Books could draw a clear image of him in their minds

Can anybody imagine that any name or description about the

Al-Manar, vol. ۲ and Al-Tafsir-ul-Kabir, Fakhr-i-Razi, vol. ۴, p.۱۲۸-۱

Prophet of Islam's (p.b.u.h.) characteristics could not be found mentioned in the Torah and the Evangel? Certainly not, because, as the above verse indicates, the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) was announced openly and very clearly before their eyes by his epithets that were cited in the books of the ' People of the Book '. If this statement were not true, might the scholars of the ' People of the Book ' not rise against it

Would they not present their books to him and insist that he should prove his claim thereby according to their Books? Was it possible that even one of their learned men would surrender to the invitation of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) without sufficient cause

Thus, such verses in the Holy Qur'ān are, themselves, clear evidence for them to the (rightfulness of the prophethood of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h

****

Then, to emphasize upon the former statements about the change of the Qiblah or the ordinances of Islam in general, it says

"The Truth is from your Lord, therefore be not one of the doubters "

The announcement to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that he, in fact, is the Apostle from Allah sounds to some as a consolation to the holy Prophet himself (p.b.u.h.) so that he would never doubt when the enemies sneered or scorned upon either the change of the Qiblah or about other problems, even if all of them allied with each other against him. As it was mentioned before, any warning or threat addressed to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is always and invariably meant, not for the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), but for his followers. He never doubted in the Divine revelation because the revelation was, for him, on the level of ' certainty of sight

.towards all that is good

Wherever you (may) be, Allah will bring you altogether (unto Him); surely Allah is All-
".Powerful over all things

Commentary : Verse ۱۴۸

Every Religion has a Qiblah

This verse is, in fact, an answer to the Jews who made a vast uproar about the event :of the change of Qiblah. It says

"... ,Everyone has a direction to which he turns "

There had been different directions of the Qiblah during the history of prophets. The change of the direction of a Qiblah is not a strange thing, because it is not like the principles of the religion which are permanent, nor is it similar to Divine affairs which are impossible to interfere in. Therefore, do not make such a big deal about the .Qiblah

"... .so hasten to precede each other towards all that is good ..."

Instead of spending all your time on talking about this minor subject, you had better pay attention to doing good deeds and having pure intentions which have a broad racing field where you can challenge to precede each other, because the criterion of .the value of your existence is your pure good actions

This meaning is just like what is stated in verse ۱۷۷ of the current Sura: " It is not righteousness that you turn your faces towards the East and the West, but righteousness is that one should have faith in Allah, the Last Day, the angels, the "... ,Book, and the Apostles

If you want to examine Islam or Muslims, you can utilize this criterion for analysis, not

.the problem of the change of the Qiblah

p:۳۳۵

:Then, as warning to the objectors and encouraging the good-doers, it says

"... ;(Wherever you (may) be, Allah will bring you altogether (unto Him ..."

.in the Great Court of the Hereafter which is the final stage of reward and punishment

It is not such that some be busy doing righteous works and some others do not do anything but destruction and spend their time spoiling others' deeds and, yet, these two groups be treated equally without having any reckoning or any recompense

The idea may seem surprising for some people that how it is possible that Allah gathers the particles of the scattered dusts of men wherever they may be, and brings them into a new life, then, it immediately says

".surely Allah is All-Powerful over all things ..."

Indeed, the existence of this statement at the end of the verse is evidence for the statement preceding it, which says

" (Wherever you (may) be, Allah will bring you altogether (unto Him "

: Explanation

The Day When Imam Mahdi's (a.s.) Adherents Assemble

According to numerous traditions narrated from the holy Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) cited in Islamic literature, the expression: " Wherever you (may) be, Allah will bring you altogether (unto Him) " has been rendered into the adherents of Imam al-Mahdi, the (twelveth Imam, (a.s

It is quoted in ' Raudat-ul-Kāfī ' from Imam Muhammad Bāqir (a.s.) who, after mentioning this expression, said: " It means the adherents of Imam Ghā'im (a.s.) who consist of three hundred and thirteen men. By Allah, they are the objective meaning of the phrase / ummat-ul-ma` dūdah

By Allah, they all will gather together at the same time like the autumnal wind-driven broken clouds that become cumulus."

---

Raudat-ul-Kāfī, vol. ۸, p. ۳۱۳, Tradition ۴۷۸ ۱ –۱

It is also narrated from Ali-ibn-Mūsa-ar-Ridā, the eighth Imam, who has said: " By Allah, when al-Mahdi (a.s.) rises, Allah will gather all our followers from all cities unto (him." (1)

There is no doubt that this commentary is one of the deep innate meanings of the verse. Based on Islamic traditions, we know that there are layers upon layers of meaning concerning the verses of the Qur'ān

One of them is the apparent meaning which is universal and general; and others, which are the deeply hidden ones which none knows except the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the sinless Imams (a.s.), and those whom Allah wills

In other words, these traditions refer to this very meaning that the Creator, Who is able to gather the particles of the scattered dusts of men from different parts of the world, can easily bring the adherents of al-Mahdi (a.s.) on one day and at one time together to strike the first spark of the establishment of the revolution for the settlement of the godly government in order to put an end to tyranny and transgression, and establish Divine Justice among people throughout the world

Turn Your Face Towards the Ka'bah

In the previous verse where the direction of the Sacred Mosque is referred to, it concerns Medina, the city where most Muslims inhabited at that time. But, in the first of the above verses, the meaning is more general and it says that from wherever you .come forth and set out for travelling, turn your face towards the Ka` bah in prayer

And from whatever place you come forth, turn your face towards the Sacred " Mosque ...

Point

:Here are some points and messages that can be noted

Fulfilment of Prophecy.۱

In numerous verses of the Qur'ān, the subject of the Qiblah and turning towards it is .۱ repeated and emphasized. These repetitions are not undue. Through every one of these verses, besides the proposition of the Qiblah, a new point is propounded. In the current Sura,\(۱\) after commissioning the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the Muslims to turn their faces towards the Qiblah, the Sacred Mosque, it says: " ...and those who have been given the (earlier) Book know well that it is the truth from their Lord..." , because they had learnt from their religious books that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) would ,pray towards two Qiblahs, so ,"We shall turn you (in prayer) to a Qiblah that you shall be pleased with..."

in order to fulfil the prophecy which was given to the ` People of the Book ' cited in .their Book which they were expecting

Here, the subject is emphasized again, thus: "...Indeed, this is the truth from your " ... .Lord

In the next verse, there is another reason mentioned for these reiterations which will .be referred to in the following

Reiterated to be renewed and settled in the minds and hearts of people.۲

Whenever a new subject is proposed, the matter should necessarily be reiterated .۲ to be renewed and settled in the minds and hearts of people. It is narrated in a tradition that the first phrase in the prayer call (i.e. Allāhu-Akbar) is repeated four times in order that people be prepared and receptive, but the phrases following that are repeated only two times, because people's attention has already been attracted

.by the proclamation of the call to prayer

:The Lord warns those who disobey His Command, saying

"And Allah is not at all heedless of what you do..."

***

In the second of the above verses, too, immediately after the ordinance of turning the :face towards the Sacred Mosque, the Lord says

"...so that people shall have no dispute against you..."

As it was formerly pointed out, the ` People of the Book ' knew that the Prophet of ,Islam (p.b.u.h.) would pray towards two Qiblahs, so

Sura Al-Baqarah, No ۲, verse ۱۴۴ ۱ -۱

if that had not come to pass, they would have questioned or objected that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) lacked the qualities mentioned in the earlier heavenly Books, or they would have sneered and despised the Muslims accusing them that they, who had not an independent Qiblah for their own, were the followers of the Jewish Qiblah. This objection was not, of course, only from the side of the Jews, but the pagans also assisted them in their ridicules, criticizing : ' Why does not Muhammad respect the Ka` bah, the Holy House built by Abraham and Ismail (a.s.), exclusively for the prayer to God and does yeild towards the religious centre of the Jews? ' The hypocrites, too, were busy objecting to the change of the Qiblah. They said that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.)
.was not firm in his decision

However, this verse, with emphasis and repetition, prepares the Muslims for acceptance and perseverance. It informs them that those people who accept proof and reasons will not object to you, but those who are wrong doers and unjustly conceal the truth will not stop seeking pretexts. "...so that people shall have no dispute
"... against you, save those of them that are unjust

Therefore, you should neither give heed to them nor be afraid of them. You should
.fear only Allah

"...;Have no awe of them, but stand in awe of Me..."

Another point which is noteworthy, here, is that the Qiblah is the symbol of Monotheism. The Qiblah, the direction of prayer, is the emblem of the Muslims. In Nahjul-Balaqah, Sermon ۱۷۳, the Qiblah is referred to as ' a clear sign, or a distinguishing flag '. Idol worshippers and star worshippers, when worshipping, turned towards idols or stars or the moon. Instead of those misguided directions, Islam introduced the Ka` bah as the Qiblah for Muslims. Thus turning towards the Sacred Mosque is considered a sign of being mindful of the Lord. Some traditions indicate that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) usually sat towards the direction of the Qiblah. We are even advised by the Holy Ahlul-Bait (a.s.) to lie, to sleep and to sit down towards that direction. This action has been counted as a form of worship. There are some special obligatory ordinances on observing the Qiblah while performing certain ritual actions.

For instance, slaughtering animals to be used for food, burial of a Muslim corpse in the grave, and establishing the obligatory prayers should be done towards the Qiblah. Elimination of bodily wastes

p:۳۴۰

.while facing or with one's back to the Qiblah is unlawful

In addition to what was said in the above, the Qiblah is the sign and the factor of uniting Muslims. If we look from above the earth down at the Muslims of the world, we see that they turn towards the Qiblah at least five times a day with special regularity and in a particular order. Throughout history, the Ka`bah has been the center point of the godly movements and revolutions, including that of Abraham (a.s.), Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), up to Imam Husayn's (a.s.); and in the future, Imam Mahdi (May Allah hasten his advent) will start his blessed movement from the site of the Ka`bah.
:Then, we conclude that

The Ka`bah is the Qiblah of Muslims, all of whom, wherever .1

Conclusions

(.Messengership of the Prophet (p.b.u.h

The subject matter of the first verse is the Messengership of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) which was in answer to the invocation of Abraham (a.s.) who had asked: " Our Lord, send amongst them an Apostle of their own who shall recite unto them Your revelations, ...", (Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٢٩). Besides, that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) also repeatedly said: " I am (the fruit of) the very acceptance of my father's \(invocation, Abraham \(a.s.\)."

Thus, Allah sent a prophet to the people from among themselves who was familiar with their demands, needs, and wishes. He used to communicate with them through .their own language, and he lived amongst them

Even as We have sent among you a Messenger of your own who recites Our " revelations to you that purifies you and teaches you the Book and the Wisdom, and ".teaches you that which you did not know

****

p:٣٤٢

Through the second verse, Allah has promoted the rank of Man by saying that He and
.we remember each other

"... ,Therefore, remember Me, and I will remember you "

The level and standard of knowledge and understanding of people is different, so, Allah tells a group of servants : "...Remember Allah's favour on you...", (Sura `Āl-il-`Imrān, No. ٣, verse ١٠٣), while he addresses some others of them thus: "... remember Me...", as in the current verse. The remembrance of Allah is a prerequisite to being thankful to Him, hence, it has preceded the term thankfulness. This is an illustration of the consideration of Allah's honour for Man as a reflection of His Grace unto His servants. On one end of this scale, there is Man with his ignorance, poverty, mortality, and feebleness, while on the other end, there is Allah, the All-Knowing, the All-Sufficient, the Eternal, and the All-Mighty Who wants him to remember Him in order to show his gratitude for the great blessings of the Qiblah and the Messenger of Islam, and He promises to remember him, too. This very remembrance is also a
.favour from Allah bestowed upon His servants

No doubt, if a person neglects Allah in life, He, of course, will be heedless towards him,
.too

".and be thankful to Me, and be you not ungrateful ..."

: Explanation

Descriptions and messages derived from the above verses

Here, your attention is attracted to the following descriptions and messages derived :from the above verses

The recitation of Divine revelations, the purification of receptive souls, the . ١ instruction of the Book and Wisdom, and teaching of people what they do not know,
.are among the duties of prophets

That leader is successful who is from amongst the people themselves, because he is acquainted with their problems and speaks the same language as theirs

"...a Messenger of your own who recites Our revelation to you..."

Human beings are not able to solve all their scientific problems by themselves. That is why He did not say in the verse / mālāta `lamūn / ` (He teaches you) what you do not know ', but He said: / mālamtakūnū ta` lamūn / ` (He teaches you) that which you did not know ' in order to remind us that if the prophets (a.s.) had not existed, Man could never have found the answers to many of his problems. For example, he could not have found out what his future (the next world) will be, or, he could not recognize which path was the true path of felicity and salvation

Prophets were not merely the teachers and leaders of ethics and theology, but they were also the instructors of science. Without their leadership in science, human knowledge would have remained undeveloped in all fields

"and teaches you that which you did not know..."

The remembrance of Allah is not only the cause for the Grace of Allah, but with the remembrance of Allah the hearts will gain peace and rest. Sura Al-Ra`d, No. ۱۹, verse ۲۸ says

".Certainly! By Allah's remembrance are the hearts at rest..."

Establishing prayer is the best way to remember Allah, as in Sura Tāhā, No. ۲۰, verse ۱۴, Allah Himself says

"...keep up prayer for My remembrance..."

p:۳۴۴

O' you who have Faith! seek you help (from Allah) through patience and prayer, " ١٥٣ .
".(verily Allah is with the patient ones (in the time of adversity

Commentary : Verse ١٥٣

Point

The phrase / yā'ayyuhalla...īna'āmanū / " O' you who have Faith! " addresses all those who have Faith entirely, foremost of whom Hadrat Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) and the rest of the immaculate Imams are distinguished. This idea is expressed in many Islamic narrations; for instance, it is quoted from Ibn Abbas narrating from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " No revelation containing ` O' you who have faith ' was \(sent down except that Ali is at its top and is its chief." \(١\)

Again, it is narrated from `Akramah who narrates from Ibn-Abbas that has said: " Allah has sent down no verse in the Qur'ān consisting of ` O' you who have faith ' but \(Ali-ibn-Abī tālib \(a.s.\) is the leader of it and the chief of it " \(٢\)

Of course, the more complete and the higher the degree of Faith is, the content of the verse about it is more clear and more apparent. (This phrase has also been discussed more comprehensively when commenting on Sura No, ٢ verse ١٠٤ on pages ٢٥٠ and \(٢٥١\) in the current volume

The phrase / wasta `īnū / " seek you help from Allah " is a guiding imperative phrase because at every moment and in all affairs a mortal is in need of Allah's help, whether it is something which is inside his free will, because he is not an absolutely independent subject, though he is created free in will; or it is something which is outside of his will. Man is in complete need of Him (s.w.t.) and he should constantly invoke for

.everything and seek help from the Lord

A person most naturally and reasonably can be qualified for the special blessings from God. If this verse is to be taken as referring to the conquest of Mecca, even then it holds good, if it means to say that the people must prove their worthiness or value to the Truth in Islam by bearing the hardest trials with constant prayers to the Lord; for prayer suggests the praying individual's acknowledgment of God's Omnipotence and the individual's confidence in God being the All-Merciful one, as the only One who can .grant the prayers of the sincere supplicants

Aid of Allah Requires Eligibility

Point

Real Faith can never be mere empty words. It must express or manifest itself through patience or endurance in all that befalls the individual to show his faithfulness to God, .and the help from God must be sought through prayers or supplications to the Lord

:The aid of Allah requires eligibility. This eligibility is confirmed by two things

Patience

The first is having patience in worldly hardships and perseverance in bearing its bitter circumstances. And also having patience in tolerating the hardship of performing Divine services, and obtaining knowledge and good ethics, patience in withholding one's self from lusts and the fleeting pleasure of committing sins and yeilding to low desires, is necessary. This bitterness of hardship, which is short in time, finally results in a sweet fruit which lasts a long time. Concerning the epithets of the true believers, Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) has said: " The short period of patience resulted in a long \(period of tranquility for them.\)"

! The term / ṣabr / ` patience ', in this verse, is rendered into ` fasting ' and ` holy war

The second thing is ` prayer ' which is the highest means of turning towards and approaching Allah by which we may seek help and aid from that Origin of favour and

.Grace

Some commentators have rendered the term / ṣalāt / into ` supplication ' whose
.explanation demands a separate chapter

Some others, based on some Islamic traditions, have interpreted it into the ` obligatory prayers ' and ` supererogatory prayers' . For

p:۳۴۶

Bihar-ul-Anwār, vol. ۶۸, p. ۱۱۳, Tradition ۴۸۱ –۱ example: it is cited in Tafsīr `Ayyashī narrated from Fudayl from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) who said: " O' Fudayl, convey our salam (regards) to our followers whom you visit and tell them I say that I avail you aught (in keeping you far) from the punishment of Allah save by piety. Then, they must control their tongues and be careful of their hands. They should be attentive to patience and prayer. Verily Allah is with the patient ones." (1)

The first part of the verse has also occurred in verse ۴۵, the explanation of which can be referred to on pages ۱۶۹ and ۱۷۰.

The objective meaning of the phrase " Allah is with the patient ones" is that His help, assistance, guidance, success, favours, the protection from pests, the perfection of intentions, as well as His other blessings are showered upon the patient by Him

Above all of the aforementioned bounties, there is the reward of Allah granted to the patient believers in the Hereafter about whom He says: " Those who patiently persevere will truly receive a reward without measure! ", (Sura Az-Zumar, No. ۳۹, verse ۱۳)

١٥٤ وَ لَا تَقُولُوا لِمَنْ يُقْتَلُ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَمْوَاتٌ بَلْ أَحْيَاءٌ - وَلَٰكِن لَّا تَشْعُرُونَ

:And do not say of those who are slain in Allah's way " .١٥٤

" .They are dead.' Nay (they are) alive, but you perceive (it) not `

Commentary : Verse ١٥٤

The Qur'ānic phrase ` of those who are slain in Allah's way ' refers to those who are slain (i.e. martyred) in the battles led by the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or Imams (a.s.) or one of their specific deputies, as well as anyone who is martyred on the path of Islam and propagation of the religion of Allah. The content of the verse is inclusive of not only all who are slain in the path of Allah such as: the immaculate Imams (a.s.) their ministers, Muslim scholars and believers, although the occasion of revelation of the verse is reported that it was revealed about the Muslims who were martyred in the battle of .Badr, but also any one other than them

:And do not say of those who are slain in Allah's way "

"...'.They are dead `

The phenomenon of martyrdom is more clearly described in Sura 'Āli-` Imrān, No. ٣, verses ١٦٩,١٧٠ which gives further information about the truth that those who surrender or sacrifice their lives in the way of Allah (i.e. the martyrs) are alive .receiving their sustenance from their Lord

And reckon not those who are killed in Allah's way as dead; nay they are alive (and) " are provided sustenance from their Lord;" " Rejoicing in what Allah has given them " ... ,out of His grace

The term /šahīd/ ` martyred ' used in many occurrences in the Qur'ān refers to this .blissful state of realization

Therefore, this stage of life, i.e. the life immediately after death, i.e. the purgatory life, is not allocated to martyrs alone, though the verse is about them, but it envelops all people, because stating something does

.not mean that the unstated, but applicable, instances are not involved

For example, when we say `this man is just', it does not mean that justice belongs to him exclusively and there is not any other just person; while there may be thousands .of people who are just

Purgatorial life for all

Thus, this verse, here, confirms the purgatorial life for the martyrs. This life, the intermediate state, according to many verses of the Qur'ān and abundant Islamic traditions, exists for all believers and nonbelievers both, with a distinction. The soul of a believer, after departing from its physical body, will settle in a body similar to this one and will be sustained in that world until when the Hereafter comes forth; while the soul of a nonbeliever, during the time when passing this course, will be in torment, as the Qur'ān says: " (In falsehood will they be) until when death comes to one of them, he says: ` O' my Lord! send me back (to life), " " In order that I may work righteousness in the things I neglected. ' By no means! It is but a word he says, Before them is a partition till the Day they are raised up." (Sura Al-Mu'min, No. ۲۳, verses ۹۹ .(and ۱۰۰

Martyrdom

It is narrated from Yūnus-ibn-Thibyān who said he was sitting with Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) when he was explaining about the believers' souls and he (a.s.) said: " O' Yūnus! when Allah gets the soul of a believer taken, He puts his soul in a setting like his body that was in this world. So, they eat and drink and when a comer enters he recognizes them (in the same form as they were in the world.)"

Also, Abū-Baṣīr narrates from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who, about the believers' souls, said: " (They will be) in Heaven with the same features as their (worldly) bodies were so (that if you see him (one of them) you will surely recognize him and say who he is.)"

:Then the Qur'ān continues saying

"... ,Nay, (they are) alive..."

Life is divided into four sorts: the plant-life, the animal-life, the human-life, and the Faith-life.

Plant-life is the power of growth which is common among plants and animals including human beings. The death of this particular life is

---

Majma`-ul-Bayān, vol. ۱, p. ۲۳۶ ۱ –۱

Ibid –۲

.when that power stops

Animal-life is the power by which feeling and conscious movement come to being.

.Human beings and animals have this life in common. It dies when this power ceases

Human-life is the faculty of general reasoning and perceiving by which Man is distinguished from animal. This phenomenon emerges because of that abstract and .rational soul which administrates this body

Its death causes the interruption of this administration and breaking off its connection with the body but there is no destruction for it and it remains to return to the body again when the Resurrection occurs. So, this purgatorial state exists not only for .martyrs or Muslims, but for the soul of every conscious being

Faith-life is the peace of mind, assurance of self, and clearness of heart all of which come into existence for a believer through Faith and knowing Allah. It is in this state that he can live in rest and tranquility with joy and pleasure because the toils, hardships, and miseries of this world would not create any awe, worry, anxiety or .instability for him

This very condition originates from his reliance and belief in Providence, Who gives .only goodness

:This life is the same as the ` good life ', about which the Lord says

Whoever works righteousness, man or woman, and has Faith, verily, to him will We " give a new life, a life that is good and pure, and We will bestow on such their reward according to the best of their actions." (Sura An-Naḥl, No. ١٦, verse ٩٧). And, the Qur'ān also says: " O' you who have Faith! give your response to Allah and His Apostle, when .(He calleth you to that which will give you life; ..." (Sura Al-Anfāl, No. ٨, verse ٢٤

It is said that the utterances in a language indicate meanings so that letter and spirit correspond with each other. For example, the term `light or lamp ' is applied to any means which is used in darkness to get brightness from. Then, whatever has this function, the application of that term for it is correct, although the substance is

.different from the point of material, form and other qualities

Life is a general sense which is recognized by the appearance of the effects which are expected from it. In this sense, the term ` life ' is used for the Essence of Allah, too.

The example of this idea is recited

p:۳۵.

in Sura 'Āl-i-`Imran, No. ٣, verse ٢ which says: " Allah! there is no god but He, the Living, the Self-Subsisting, Eternal." That is, the Essence from Whom the effects of .knowledge and power are clear and manifest

Allah, the living

That is why some scholars said that Allah's life is His very Knowledge and Power. Of course, the Essence of the Knower and the Mighty is alive. Therefore, wherever the effects of this meaning exist, the application of this utterance is correct, but it is not necessary that its kind and its characteristics and properties, which are appropriate to those particular situations, be the same everywhere and in all circumstances. Hence, the life in Purgatory, from the point of quality for martyrs and other people, is of the quality of the same world. It is for this reason that the people of this world with their senses, the quality of the nature of which is of the quality of this world, can not .perceive that which is of the quality of the nature of that world

"..but you perceive (it) not..."

By the way, this verse clears the doubt of materialist and pagans who believe that with death, man's life becomes extinct, i.e. there is no life after death. Here, the Qur'ān warns all, Muslim or non-Muslim, that

.MAN'S LIFE DOES NOT PERISH AFTER DEATH, BUT IT DOES REMAIN

So, with this in mind, we realize that there is nothing more valuable or worthwhile than the time spent striving for the perfection of such a life. May Allah help us all to follow His Ordinances that He so graciously made available to us by way of the Qur'ān .in order that we might experience success in this life and in the Hereafter

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ بُرْهَانٌ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ وَأَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكُمْ نُورًا

مُبِينًا (سوره نساء ۴ آیه ۴۷۱)

O' mankind! Verily there has come to you a convincing proof (the Messenger and the " Qur'ān) from your Lord: for We have sent unto (you a light (that is) manifest." (Holy Qur'ān ۴: ۱۷۴

إِنَّا نَحْنُ نَزَّلْنَا الذِّكْرَ وَإِنَّا لَهُ لَحَافِظُونَ (سوره الحجر ۵۱ آیه ۹)

We have, without doubt, sent down the Message and We will assuredly Guard it " ((from corruption))." (Holy Qur'ān ۱۵: ۹

الْقِيَامَةِ أَعْمَى (سوره طه ۰۲ آیه ۴۲۱)

But whosoever turns away from My Message (the Qur'ān), verily for him is a " straitened toilsome life, and We shall raise him up blind on the Day of Judgement." ((Holy Qur'ān ۲۰: ۱۲۴ وَأَنْزَلْنَا مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ مَا هُوَ شِفَاءٌ وَرَحْمَةٌ لِّلْمُؤْمِنِينَ (سوره اسراء ۷۱ آیه

In ` Ikmāl-ud-Din ' a tradition, through ` Jābir-il-Ju`fi ' , is narrated from ` Jābir-ibn-` Abdillāh ' thus: " I said: ` O Messenger of Allah

we have known Allah and His Apostle; then who is ` Ulul-Amr ' , those that Allah has made their obedience the same as your obedience? ' Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: ` O Jābir! they are, after me, my successors and the Guides of Muslims; the first of them is Ali-ibn-Abitalib; then (Imam) Hassan, and (Imam) Husain; then Ali-ibn-il-Husain; then Mohammad-ibn-Ali; known in the Turah as Bāqir, whom you will see. O Jābir! When you visit him, give my regards to him. After him, there is Sādiq, Ja`far-ibn-Muhammad; and after him Mūsa-ibn-Ja`far; then Ali-ibn-Mūsā; then Muḥammad-ibn-Ali; then Ali-ibn-Muhammad, then Hassan-ibn-Ali; and after him

سوره النجم (٣٥) - لآيه ٣ و ٤

Nor does the Apostle speak out of desire. It is naught but revelation that is revealed "

(Sura Najm, No. ٥٣, verses ٣,٤)

قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ (صلى الله عليه و آله):

The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " I leave behind me two weighty (very worthy and important) things: The Book of Allah (i.e. the Qur'ān), which is a stretched string from the heaven to the earth, and my progeny, my Ahlul-Bait; for verily Allah, The Merciful, The Aware, informed me that never, never, will these two get separated from each other until they meet me at the Houd of Kauthar (the Pond of Abundance). Therefore, be careful and contemplate on how you will treat them (after me) ". And, in another tradition it is added: " Never, never, shall you get astray if you attach yourselves to these TWO

Upon the Second Part of the

Commentary of the Qur'ān

The Qur'ān is the Divine Revelation and the Book of human training in the school of Islam. The commentary of the Holy Qur'ān is an explanation which not only makes its subjects clear but also expands the range of knowledge in human beings, and increases the insight of those who believe in it and act according to its contents

In the introduction of the previous volume of this commentary of the Qur'ān, part one, a rather detailed explanation has been written about the reason for compiling and introducing this series of the holy book, in the English version, entitled: " An Enlightening Commentary into the Light of the Holy Qur'ān ". The need and frequent requests of people, with various nationalities throughout the world, from this Scientific Religious Research Center for a commentary of the Qur'ān in English has been the main factor that prompted the staff of the Center to take action on compiling and publishing these existing volumes in order to make them available for the seekers of this heavenly Book. In that preface, a short definition upon ' Commentary ' and the history of the commencement of the commentary of the Qur'ān, and the effective phenomena contained within, is precisely presented. Therefore, by referring to that introduction, the readers can become acquainted with the quality and circumstance of the contents of this magnificent book and the difficulties that naturally exist in this great field, in general

The matchless and warm appreciation of the truth seekers of the contents of this exegesis has been the best encouragement and, in fact, the driving force that, with the help of Allah and ceaseless striving and cooperation of all people involved in the course of its development, caused this volume, with no pause and in a good status, to be published and distributed among people of different countries immediately

.following the previous volume

The certain need of Muslim believers in the newly independent countries of the Eastern Europe for the Qur'ānic literature and obtaining its guiding meanings and enlivening concepts, especially flourishing with the godly traditions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.), in the Russian language, was another grace of Allah (s.w.t.) which was showered upon the staff of this Researching Center and caused that the existing volumes of this commentary of the Qur'ān, besides being translated into English, to be expressed in Russian, too, and distributed throughout the region

May Allah, the Almighty, bestows upon all of us the opportunity to be capable of continuing this humble service on this sacred and godly path so that we can compile, publish and distribute the commentary of the whole Qur'ān successfully and praiseworthy in Persian, Russian, and English languages, in a way that the Lord, Glory be to His Majesty, may accept this small endeavour with the sanctity of the honour and rank of His Authority over the earth (May Allah hasten his glad advent), and because of that may He receive it from the servants of the Qur'ān and Islam assembled in this Center. Amin

Trial: The Necessity of Patience and Steadfastness

١٥٣ يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا اسْتَعِينُوا بِالصَّبْرِ وَالصَّلَاةِ إِنَّ اللَّهَ مَعَ الصَّابِرِينَ

O' you who have faith! seek you help (from Allah) through patience and prayer, " ١٥٣ ".
".(verily Allah is with the patient ones (in the time of adversity

Commentary: Verse ١٥٣

"O' you who have Faith "

The phrase / yā'ayyuhalla...īna'āmanū / " O' you who have Faith" addresses all those who have Faith entirely, foremost of whom hadrat Amir-ul-mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) and the rest of the immaculate Imams are distinguished. This idea is expressed in many Islamic narrations; for instance, it is quoted from Ibn Abbas narrating from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " No revelation containing ` O' you who have faith' was sent down except that Ali is at its top and is its chief." (٢)

Again, it is narrated from `Akramah who narrates from Ibn-Abbas that has said: " Allah has sent no verse in the Qur'ān consisting of ` O' you who have faith ' but Ali-ibn-Abī-tālib (a.s.) is the leader of it and the chief of it " (٣)

,Of course, the more complete and higher the degree of Faith is the content of the verse about it is more clear and more apparent. (This phrase has also been discussed more comprehensively when commenting on Sura No. ٢, verse (١٠٤) on pages ٢٥٠ and ٢٥١ in the previous volume

The phrase / wasta`inū / " seek you help from Allah " is a guiding imperative phrase because at every moment and in all affairs a mortal is in need of Allah's help, whether it is something which is inside his free will, because he is not an absolutely independent subject, though he is created free in will; or it is something which is outside of his will. Man is in complete need of Him (s.w.t.) and he should constantly .invoke for everything and seek help from the Lord

Eligibility Required for the Aid of Allah

A person most naturally and reasonably can be qualified for the special blessings from Allah. If this verse is to be taken as referring to the conquest of Mecca, even then it holds good, if it means to say that the people must prove their worthiness or value to the Truth in Islam by bearing the hardest trials with constant prayers to the Lord; for prayer suggests the praying individual's acknowledgment of Allah's Omnipotence and the individual's confidence in God being the All-Merciful One, as the only One Who can .grant the prayers of the sincere supplicants

Real Faith can never be mere empty words. It must express or manifest itself through patience or endurance in all that befalls the individual to show his faithfulness to God, .and the help from Allah must be sought through prayers or supplications to the Lord

The first is having patience in worldly hardships and perseverance in bearing its bitter circumstances. And also having patience in tolerating the hardship of performing Divine services, and obtaining knowledge and good ethics, patience in withholding one's self from lusts and the fleeting pleasure of committing sins and yielding to low desires, is necessary. This bitterness of hardship, which is short in time, finally results in a sweet fruit which lasts a long time. Concerning the epithets of the true believers, Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) has said: " The short period of patience resulted in a long period of tranquility for them." (1)

! The term / ṣabr / 'patience', in this verse, is rendered into 'fasting' and 'holy war

The second thing is 'prayer' which is the highest means of turning towards and approaching Allah by which we may seek help and aid from that Origin of Favour and Grace.

Some commentators have rendered the Qur'ānic term / ṣalāt / into 'supplication' whose explanation demands a separate chapter

Some others of the commentators, based on some Islamic traditions, have interpreted it into the 'obligatory prayers' and 'supererogatory prayers'. For example: it is cited in Tafsīr 'Ayyashī narrated from Fudayl from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) who said: "O' Fudayl!, convey our salam (regards) to our followers whom you visit and tell them I say that I avail you aught (in keeping you far) from the punishment of Allah save by piety. Then, they must control their tongues and be careful of their hands. ". They should be attentive to patience and prayer. Verily Allah is with the patient ones

The first part of the verse has also occurred in verse ٤٥, Sura Al-Baqarah, the explanation of which can be referred to on pages ١٤٩ and ١٧٠ in the previous volume

The objective meaning of the phrase "Allah is with the patient ones" is that His help, assistance, guidance, success, favours, the protection from pests, the perfection of intentions, as well as His other blessings are showered upon the patient by Him

Above all of the aforementioned bounties, there is the reward of Allah granted to the patient believers in the Hereafter about whom He says: "Those who patiently persevere will truly receive a reward without measure!", (Sura Az-Zumar, No. ٣٩, (verse ١٣

١٥٤ وَلَا تَقُولُوا لِمَنْ يُقْتَلُ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَمْوَاتٌ بَلْ أحيَاءٌ وَلَـكِن لَّا تَشْعُرُونَ

And do not say of those who are slain in Allah's way: 'They are dead'. Nay, (they " ١٥٤ "are) alive, but you perceive (it) not

Commentary: Verse ١٥٤

Martyrs

The Qur'ānic phrase: 'of those who are slain in Allah's way' refers to those who are slain (i.e. martyred) in the battles led by the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or Imams (a.s.), or one of their specific deputies, as well as anyone who is martyred on the path of Islam and propagation of the religion of Allah. The content of the verse is inclusive of not only all who are slain in the path of Allah such as: the immaculate Imams (a.s.), their ministers, Muslim scholars and believers, although the occasion of revelation of the verse is reported that it was revealed about the Muslims who were martyred in the battle of Badr, but also any one other than them

:And do not say of those who are slain in Allah's way "

"...!They are dead`

The phenomenon of martyrdom is more clearly described in Sura 'Āli-`Imrān, NO. ٣, verses ١٦٩,١٧٠ which gives further information about the truth that those who surrender or sacrifice their lives in the way of Allah (i.e. the martyrs) are alive receiving their sustenance from their Lord

And reckon not those who are killed in Allah's way as dead; nay they are alive (and) " are provided sustenance from their Lord;" " Rejoicing in what Allah has given them " ... ,out of His grace

The term /šahīd/ `martyred' used in many occurrences in the Qur'ān refers to this blissful state of realization

Purgatory life

Therefore, this stage of life, i.e. the life immediately after death, i.e. the purgatory life, is not allocated to martyrs alone, though the verse is about them, but it envelops all people, because stating something does not mean .that the unstated, but applicable, instances are not involved

For example, when we say `this man is just', it does not mean that justice belongs to him exclusively and there is not any other just person; while there may be thousands .of people who are just

Thus, this verse, here, confirms the purgatorial life for the martyrs. This life, the intermediate state, according to many verses of the Qur`ān and abundant Islamic traditions, exists for all believers and nonbelievers both, with a distinction. The soul of a believer, after departing from its physical body, will settle in a body similar to this one and will be sustained in that world until when the Hereafter comes forth; while the soul of a nonbeliever, during the time when passing this course, will be in torment, as the Qur'ān says: " (In falsehood will they be) until when death comes to one of them, he says: `O' my Lord! send me back (to life), - " " In order that I may work righteousness in the things I neglected.' By no means! It is but a word he says, Before them is a partition till the Day they are raised up." (Sura Al-Mu'min, No. ۲۳, verses ۹۹ (and ۱۰۰

It is narrated from Yūnus-ibn-Thibyān who said he was sitting with Imam Sādiq (a.s.)
when he was explaining about the believers' souls and he (a.s.) said: " O' Yūnus! when Allah gets the soul of a believer taken, He puts his soul in a setting like his body that was in this world. So, they eat and drink, and when a comer enters, he recognizes (them in the same form as they were in the world." \(۱

Also, Abū-Baṣīr narrates from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who, about the believers' souls, said:
" (They will be) in Heaven with the same features as their (worldly) bodies were, so (that if you see him (one of them) you will surely recognize him and say who he is." \(۲

:Then, the Qur'ān continues saying

" ... ,Nay, (they are) alive..."

Life is divided into four sorts: the plant-life, the animal-life, the human-life, and the .Faith-life

---

Majma-ul-Bayān, vol. ۱, p. ۲۳۶ ۱ –۱

Ibid ۲ –۲

Plant-life is the power of growth which is common among plants and animals including human beings. The death of this particular life is when that power stops

Animal life

Animal-life is the power by which feeling and conscious movement come to being. Human beings and animals have this life in common. It dies when this power ceases

Human Life

Human-life is the faculty of general reasoning and perceiving by which Man is distinguished from animal. This phenomenon emerges because of that abstract and rational soul which administrates this body. Its death causes the interruption of this administration and breaking off its connection with the body, but there is no destruction for it and it remains to return to the body again when the Resurrection occurs. So, this purgatorial state exists not only for martyrs or Muslims, but for the soul of every conscious being

Faith Life

Faith-life is the peace of mind, assurance of self, and clearness of heart, all of which come into existence for a believer through Faith and knowing Allah. It is in this state that he can live in rest and tranquility with joy and pleasure, because the toils, hardships, and miseries of this world would not create any awe, worry, anxiety or instability for him

This very condition originates from his reliance and belief in Providence, Who gives only goodness

This life is the same as the 'good life', about which the Lord says: "Whoever works righteousness, man or woman, and has Faith, verily, to him will We give a new life, a life that is good and pure, and We will bestow on such their reward according to the best of their actions." (Sura An-Nahl, No. 16, verse 97). And, the Qur'an also says: "O' you who have Faith! give your response to Allah and His Apostle, when He calleth you

.(to that which will give you life; ..." (Sura Al-'Anfāl, No. ٨, verse ٢٤

It is said that the utterances in a language indicate meanings so that letter and spirit correspond with each other. For example, the term `light or lamp ' is applied to any means which is used in darkness to get brightness from. Then, whatever has this function, the application of that term for it is correct, although the substance is .different from the point of material, form and other qualities

Life is a general sense which is recognized by the appearance of the effects which are expected from it. In this sense, the term ' life ' is used for the Essence of Allah ,too. The example of this idea is recited in Sura 'Āl-i-` Imrān, No. ٣, verse ٢ which says: " Allah! there is no god but He, the Ever-Living, the Self-Subsistent (the subtainer and protector of all things)." That is, the Essence from Whom the effects of knowledge and power are clear and manifest. That is why some scholars said that Allah's life is His very Knowledge and Power. Of course, the Essence of the Knower and the Mighty is alive. Therefore, wherever the effects of this meaning exist, the application of this utterance is correct, but it is not necessary that its kind and its characteristics and properties, which are appropriate to those particular situations, be the same everywhere and in all circumstances. Hence, the life in Purgatory, from the point of quality for martyrs and other people, is of the quality of the same world. It is for this reason that the people of this world with their senses, the quality of the nature of which is of the quality of this world, can not perceive that which is of the quality of the .nature of that world

By the way, this verse clears the doubt of materialist and pagans who believe that with death, man's life becomes extinct, i.e. there is no life after death. Here, the Qur'ān warns all, Muslim or non-Muslim, that MAN'S LIFE DOES NOT PERISH AFTER .DEATH, BUT IT DOES REMAIN

So, keeping this in mind, we realize that there is nothing more valuable or worthwhile than the time spent striving for the perfection of such a life. May Allah help us all to follow His Ordinances that He so graciously made available to us by way of the Qur'ān .in order that we might experience success in this life and in the Hereafter

Allah (s.w.t.) tests all human being

Point

Allah (s.w.t.) tests all human beings, but with varieties. All the different sites of the world are the testing-places, and all the members of humanity, even the prophets, are under trial, and all the pleasant and unpleasant things are the means of trial. We ought to know that the Divine examinations are not done in order to clear out the ambiguity, but they are to evoke and train the capacities and abilities of humankind

The means of this trial are all bitter and sweet happenings of Man, including: fear, hunger, loss of property, lives, agricultural products, fear from enemies, economic siege, and taking part in Holy War himself, or by sending children and dear ones to the battle of war

These trials were experienced in the first war of Islam (battle of Badr), and will also come forth at the time of the reappearance of the Expected Mahdī, the twelfth Imam (May Allah hasten his glad advent), for which Muslims should be prepared

The inflictions, which human beings encounter with, are usually concerned with wealth, life, children, or the fear of the loss of either of them

Fear

The secret of mentioning 'fear', among the means of trials, first, may be that the purpose is the fear for the lack of either of those three things. It is always before the loss of the very things that one fears of losing them

Hunger

Then, next to fear, hunger is pointed out, which comes into being as a result of .poverty. Yet, in this respect, fasting is counted one of the examples of hunger

Loss of property

Loss of property has been situated in the third degree. The loss of wealth, of course, is very bitter, especially for a rich person when he

---

Nahj-al-Balāqah, sermon ۱۴۳۱ -۱

.becomes poor

Loss of life

Then there comes the loss of life, which often occurs because of different ailments or .after being wounded: in a battle-field and Holy War in the way of Allah, and so on

Famine

And, finally, the loss of fruits comes forth. Some of the commentators have rendered .this loss into the death of one's child, which is the heaviest calamity

"...but give glad tidings to the (steadfast) patient..."

It addresses the prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) that he gives glad tidings to those people .who persevere with patience in their calamities and difficulties

Glad tidings to Those Who persevere with patience

Some commentators have said that this ` glad tidings' points to the reward of Heaven and the merit of Divine forgiveness for them, as Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) has said: "Allah, Mighty and Glorious, said: `...but give glad tidings to the (steadfast) patient', or, (that (is), with Paradise and forgiveness."\(1\)

Imam Al-Mahdi

But in another tradition, Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) has rendered the concept of ` glad tidings ' :into the reappearance of Imam Al-Mahdī (a.s.), where he says

Before the rise of Ghā'im (Al-Mahdī) (May Allah hasten his auspicious reappearance) " there will appear some signs by which Allah tries the Muslim believers. " Muhammad-ibn-Muslim, (who was one of the special followers of the Imam), said that he required to know what those signs were; and he (a.s.) answered:" Those are the same that Allah, the Glorious, has expressed in the Qur'ān, thus: ` And We will surely test you (all) ;with something of fear and hunger and loss of property, lives and fruits

So far as he (a.s.) recited: `...but give glad tidings to the (steadfast) patient', and continued to say: ` This means to give glad tidings to the believers who show patience and perseverance in these calamities for the advent of the Ghā'im (a.s.), (viz., Hadrat Mahdī, May Allah (s.w.t.) hasten his glad advent." \(۲\)

Yes, the world is anxiously awaiting the advent of this great

.reformer (a.s.). When he comes, he will fill the world full of justice

Then, there will be no inequity, no cruelty, and no transgression. Allah will open the doors of blessings out of the earth and heaven because of his auspicious appearance. At that time, the believing people can continue to live peacefully and easily under his .esteemed government, to prove their worship and servitude to Allah Concerning this meaning, in a tradition, the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has said:" Al-Mahdi is mine. His luminous forehead is high and wide, while over whose nose there is a little projection. He will fill the earth with justice, just as it is filled up with aggression and (cruelty." (1

****

:Who, when a calamity befalls them, (by showing perseverance), say"

".'Verily we belong to Allah, and certainly unto Him shall we return `

After recounting different calamities, and giving glad tidings to the patient, it introduces this group of patient who, with this competency, rightfully deserve to be given glad tidings. It is clear that every ordinary person is not fit to be rewarded with .all these excellences and dignities

Hence, that reward, i.e. the glad tidings, is specialized to the ones whose patience originates from a firm foundation. This particular glad tidings is qualified by a special .blessing and Mercy from the side of Allah

These kind of people are those ones whose hearts turn to their Lord at the moment of :meeting with a calamity when, they say

".'Verily we belong to Allah, and certainly unto Him shall we return ...`

They treat such because they have realized, through knowledge of certainty or by visual certainty, that whatever exists belongs to Allah and is under His Will. So, whatsoever He has given to human-kind in this world, such as: soul, property, .children, and all other similar respects, are fictitious

They also know that whatever Allah has bestowed upon them

Tara'if, by sayyid-ibn-Tawus, p. ۱۷۷; and Sunan Abi-Dawud, vol. ۴, p. ۱۵۲ ۱ -۱ has been based upon His Wisdom, and when He takes it from them, it is not taken because of miserliness, but it is for His good that He takes a blessing from a person to mercifully impart a better one. They have found out that their return, their destination, as well as the return of every thing, is undoubtedly unto Him

****

However, he who, based on these foundations, knows and remembers that his soul, wealth, and whatever he possesses belongs to Allah and is under His Authority, surrenders to His divine decrees. The one, with this awareness, will be patient and thankful properly and reasonably. Such a person, of course, is one of those eligible :believers for whom Allah says

Those are they on whom are blessings and Mercy from their Lord,...", and they are " prosperous

/ṣalawāt /

Some of the commentators have said that / ṣalawāt/ (blessings and peace), which comes from Allah (s.w.t.), is the same as 'forgiveness', while some others believe that 'it is 'praise

The term /ṣalawāt/ (blessings) is said in the plural form because it refers to the abundant mercy of Allah. It may mean that there are many frequent blessings for these steadfast patient from Allah which do not cease

It is narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said:" The person who receives a calamity and thereafter, whenever the one remembers it, utters the phrase ' Verily we belong to Allah, and certainly unto Him shall we return ', Allah gives the believer once again the reward of the day when the one received that calamity". (Even though (there has passed a long time after that calamity). (1)

He (p.b.u.h.) has also said in another tradition that, for such a person, Allah will amend (that calamity with a better quality than before and his destiny will conclude well. (2)

"(and they are the ones that are guided (aright..."

This group of the patient, as was mentioned in the above, when they entangle with a calamity, are patiently steadfast, since they have known that they themselves and what they have are all Allah's, and in His possession. They also know that their return is unto Him, and they express this fact, too, by their tongue and with uttering the above holy phrase. Such people have attained the rank and position of nearness to Allah. Their march is gain after gain, i.e. an ever progressive gain. They are, in fact, .guided aright

١٥٨ إِنَّ الصَّفَا وَالْمَرْوَةَ مِنْ شَعْبِ آثَرِ اللَّهِ فَمَنْ حَجَّ الْبَيْتَ أَوْ اعْتَمَرَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْهِ أَنْ يَطَّوَّفَ بِهِمَا وَمَنْ تَطَوَّعَ خَيْرًا فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ شَاكِرٌ عَلِيمٌ

Behold, Safā and Marwah are among the Symbols (appointed by) Allah; so " ١٥٨ whoever makes the pilgrimage (Hajj) to the House, or performs `Umrah, therefore it is no blame on him to go round them both. And for whoever (obeys Him and) initiates "good, then verily Allah is Grateful, All-Knowing

:Occasion of Revelation

Running between Safā and Marwah, is obligatory with the Shi`ah, the followers of Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.), and it is one of the main actions in both greater pilgrimage (Hajj) and lesser pilgrimage (`Umrah). But, at the beginning of Islam, those Muslims were not willing to perform it because they had imagined that there had been something wrong in it, for, at the Age of ignorance, there had been an idol in Safā called: 'Usāf, and another in Marwah named: Nā'ilah, which pagans used to touch both while running therein. So, this very verse was revealed to make the Muslims free from that false imagination. This very meaning is cited in At-Tibyān fī Tafsīr-il-Qur`ān, narrated from Imam Muhammad Bāqir (a.s.) and Imam Ja`far Ṣādiq (a.s.). (١) The idea is also cited with more details in Majma`-ul-Bayān, narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.). It begins :thus Muslims had usually seen some signs of innovation from the pagans of pre Islamic " (era of Ignorance, (so they disliked to circumambulate them

(Then, Allah sent this verse down (to remove that aversion)."(٢)

The expansion of this description is thus that before the advent of Islam and also at the time of revelation some pagans and idol-worshippers used to go to Mecca to make Hajj pilgrimage with a particular form which was common at that time. Their fulfilment of Hajj pilgrimage was principally originated from Prophet Ebrāhīm (Abraham) (a.s.) but with a mixture of superstitions and polytheism

Some of their ritual actions were: halt at `Arafāt, sacrifice, circumambulation, and run between Safā and Marwah, which were done in a special state

Islam, clearing out that noble performance from superstitions, accepted Hajj pilgrimage as a great worship and approved all of its correct and pure ceremonies

One of the deeds which was to be done then was /Sa`y/, i.e., running between two hillocks called Safā and Marwah, over which the aforementioned idols were kept and pagans touched them when climbing those two hillocks

Hence, Muslims were averse to going to these hillocks and thought that in that circumstance it was not right for them to perform running between Safā and Marwah

Then, it was at the time of `Umrat-ul-Ghadā (in seventh A.H.) that the above verse was revealed and announced that Safā and Marwah are among the Symbols of Allah and, although some ignorant people have polluted them with idols, it is not right that Muslims abandon the obligatory running between them

Acts Done Ignorantly

This verse, regarding the particular psychological conditions that was mentioned in the occasion of revelation, preliminarily informs Muslims that Safā and Marwah are among the symbols of Allah

"...;Behold, Safā and Marwah are among the Symbols (appointed by) Allah "

:After this introductory sentence, it subsequently comes to the meaning that so, whoever makes the pilgrimage (Hajj) to the House, or performs 'Umrah,..."

"... therefore it is no blame on him to go round them both

The wrong behaviour of pagans, that had polluted the symbols of Allah with those .idols, should never decrease anything of the importance of those two sacred sites

:At the end of the verse, it says

And for whoever (obeys Him and) initiates good, then verily Allah is Grateful, All- ..."
".Knowing

Therefore, the Lord, by giving good rewards bountifully, thanks the servants for their obedience and doing right actions; while He is completely aware of their intentions
.and knows who is interested in the idols and who is averse to them

:Explanation

It may be worthy to say that the terms Safā and Marwah are referred to in the Qur'ān
.only once

.These two hillocks stand nearly ٤٢٠ meters opposite each other

This distance is now set up as a covered hall under whose ceiling the pilgrims perform the running, /sa`y/. The height of Safā Mount is ١٥ meters, and that of Marwah is ٨
.meters

These two terms, used now as proper names for those two hillocks, are philologically meaningful, too. The term /safā/ means a hard smooth stone, while /marwah/ means
.a hard rough stone

The Qur'ānic term /ša`ā'ir/ is the plural form of /ša`īrah/ which means `ritual sign'.
Therefore, the phrase /ša`ā'irillāh/ means anything which reminds a person of Allah, and revives a sacred remembrance in one's mind which, itself, would be an act of .virtue or devotion to Allah

The term /i`tamara/, derived from /`umrah/, originally means the additional parts that are added to a building in order to complete it. This word, used in religious terminology, is applied for special deeds added to the performances of Hajj Pilgrimage. (When `Umrah is done separate from Hajj pilgrimage, it is called / `umrah .(mufradah/, a single `Umrah

This minor pilgrimage to Mecca is very much similar to Hajj pilgrimage in many .aspects, but its difference is not so minute, of course

۱۵۹ إِنَّ الَّذِينَ يَكْتُمُونَ مَا آتَيْنَاهُم بِالْبَيِّنَاتِ وَالْهُدَىٰ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا بَيَّنَّاهُ لِلنَّاسِ فِي الْكِتَابِ أُولَٰئِكَ يَلْعَنُهُمُ اللَّهُ وَيَلْعَنُهُمُ

۱۶۰ إِلَّا الَّذِينَ تَابُوا وَأَصْلَحُوا وَبَيَّنُّوا فَأُولَٰئِكَ أَتُوبُ عَلَيْهِمْ وَأَنَا التَّوَّابُ الرَّحِيمُ

:Occasion of Revelation

Jalāl-id-Dīn Suyūṭy has narrated in his book, 'Asbāb-un-Nuzūl, from Ibn-Abbas that several Muslim people, such as Ma`āth-ibn-Jabal, Sa`d-ibn-Ma`āth, and Khārijat-ibn-Ziyd asked scholars of the Jews several questions about some subjects in the Torah (which concerned the advent of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.)). They concealed the reality of the subject and, (in their answers), did not refer to the main idea. The above (verse was revealed about them. (1

Commentary: Verses ۱۵۹–۱۶۰

Point

In the occasion of revelation it was mentioned that the addressees in this verse were the scholars of the Jews, but the meaning is general and never limits the concept of .the verse to them only. It covers all whosoever that conceal the truth

:This holy verse intensively blames such people, saying

Verily, those who conceal what We have revealed of the clear evidence and the " ;guidance, after We made it clear for mankind in the Book they are those that Allah does curse them and (also) curse them (all) those who curse ".((such ones

By this verse, we realize that both Allah and the servants of Allah and angels totally hate this action. In other words, concealing the fact is an action that stimulates the .wrath of all adherents of truth from jinn, mankind, and angels

What a treachery is greater than that the scholars, for the sake of their personal interest, hide the Messages and evidences of Allah, which are His deposits, and cause .people to go astray

The phrase: " after We made it clear for mankind in the Book;" indicates that such persons, in fact, attempt to spoil the struggles of prophets and the devotions of the godly people alongside the path of the propagation of the Messages of Allah. This .action is really a great sin so that none can ignore

The Qur'ān, as a book of guidance

The Qur'ān, as a book of guidance, never blocks up the way of return and does not shut the windows of hope to people. It never makes people despair for the Mercy of .Allah, however much they are sinful

Repentant Ones

:Hence, in the next verse, it shows the way of repentance of this great sin, thus Except those who repent, and amend (themselves) and make manifest (the truth). " These it is unto whom I turn (mercifully); and I am the Oft-Returning (to mercy), the ".(Merciful (to people

The phrase: " and I am the Oft-Returning (to mercy), the Merciful (to people)," regarding that it has occurred next to the phrase: " These it is unto whom I turn (mercifully)" refers to the particular affection and kindness of Allah unto the repentant ones. It says if they return, Allah will return, too. If they return to the obedience and servitude, and reveal the fact, Allah will return to Mercy and again shower over them .the blessings He had ceased

Repentance at the moment of death

It was described in the former verses that if the people who conceal the fact repent and express the reality, they will be involved in the mercy and grace of Allah. But in this verse they are warned that if they do not repent and remain in the state of infidelity until they die, they will be in the same situation that Allah, angels and all people curse them. Of course, the repentance that occurs before death is accepted, .but the repentance at the moment of death is not helpful

:At first, it says

Verily those who reject faith, and die while they are infidels, upon them shall be the " ١٦١
".curse of Allah, (of) the angels, and (of) mankind all together

This group of infidels, similar to the aforementioned group, are involved in the curse of Allah, angels, and people, too. The difference is that this group, because of their continuous insistence on being faithless, can not have a way to return to the right .path

****

:Then, it adds

Abiding therein forever, the torment shall not be lightened for them nor shall they be "
".given respite

Faith in theism

Since the principle of the Faith in theism can put an end to all these misfortunes, in the :last verse of this group of verses, it says

" ... .And your God is One God "

:Again, to emphasize more, it says

" ...;There is no god but He ..."

Then, at the end of the verse, as the reason for that statement, it adds:"...He is the ".Beneficent, the Merciful

Yes, only the One, Whose general mercy encompasses all creatures, on one side, and on the other side, Whose specific Mercy reaches the true believers, deserves
.servitude, and no one else

Commentary: Verse ۱۶۴

Existence of Providence

The previous verse spoke about the Oneness of the Lord. Then, here in this verse, there is the reason and evidence to prove the existence of the Providence and that there is only One God, the Glorious. He, the Almighty, is the cause of all causes and the .source of knowledge, power, order, and regularity Primarily, we attract attention to the fact that uniformity and order, in general, are signs for the existence of intelligence and knowledge, where harmony is a reason for the being of unity. Based on this principle, the explanation of which has been stated in the books of theism, when we deal with the various aspects of ` order ' in the world of existence, we come to the harmony and the unity of action in the regular working of the universe, on one side, and on the other side, we encounter with a single source of .knowledge and power that all these glorious effects originate from

Harmony of Universe

Point

So, the native uniformity and the perfect and the never disturbed harmony in the working of the universe, loudly and most eloquently suggests and clearly manifests the Unity of the Creator and the unchallengeable or unquestionable supremacy of its Single Master or Lord. Man is exhorted to reflect over the creation and realize the divine unity in the midst of the diversity and the manifoldness of the innumerable objects in the heavens and the earth and in the forces of nature and the perfectly .harmonious working of the natural phenomena

The uniformity and the harmony in the objects and the working of the universe is .constantly referred to in the Holy Qur'ān as a sign of the Unity of the Maker

Taking this short introductory explanation into consideration, we continue explaining .the commentary of the verse again

In this verse, there are six aspects of the indication of regularity in the world of existence, each of which is a symbol for the unity of that Infinite Essence or an .indication to the Eternal One, the pure Essence, the Supreme Being

:Creation of the heavens and the earth

The first symbol, which refers to the Unity of the Creator, is the creation of the . ۱
:heavens and the earth

"...Surely in the creation of the heavens and the earth "

Yes, this glorious universe with all its stars and planets, including millions and millions of illuminating suns, some of which meaningfully twinkle at us when we look at the sky at night or show themselves far from behind some great telescopes, all in all are the signs and means of reflection of His Power, Knowledge, and Unity

It is surprising that the more the knowledge of the human race increases, the clearer the greatness and vastness of this universe is recognized, and it is not evident that how large and up to when this scientific expansion of the recognition of the still secrets of the universe will continue

Today, scientists and astronomers inform us that there are thousands and thousands of galaxies in the universe where our solar system is only a part of one of them. In our galaxy alone, there are hundreds million suns and bright stars among which, according to the scientists' data, there can be found some millions of inhabitable planets

.What a Splendour! What a Power

In addition to the tradition narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) (ﷺ) and Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) about some of the verses of the Qur'aān confirming the existence of the living creatures in the Heaven and other planets (earths) besides our dwelling earth, there have been written many scientific books on this subject by a lot of Islamic and non-Islamic scholars that the followings are a few examples out of hundreds of similar examples

a) The Earth, the Sky and the Stars from the View of the Qur'ān; by Dr. Muhammad Sādiqī

b) The Qur'ān and the Modern Science; by: ` Abdul-Qanī- Al-Khatīb; translated by: Dr. Asadullāh Mubashshirī

c) Jahān 'Āfarīn; by: Husayn Nūrī, one of the esteemed scholars in the Religious Teaching Center of Qum

d) The Earth and the Sky; by: A. Welkuf; translated by: Ali Dukhāniyātī.e) Galaxies and Quasars; by: William J. Kaufmann, I (Department of Physics, Sandiego, State University)

It should be noted that the life found on other planets may be, of course, rather in a different form from what exists on our globe

Therefore, in investigations of the matter, we must not consider only the kind of the life on the earth as a standard, because those globes have their own life-conditions for themselves which are certainly different from the circumstances of the life on the earth, so that, in a great deal of cases such as temperature, water, air and light, they are incomparable with that of the earth

Constant change of the day and the night

The second indication is seen in the constant change of the day and the night, .۲
:where it says

"...,and the alternation of night and day..."

Yes, the constant change of night and day, the absence of

p: ۳۹

Bihar-ul-Anwār, vol. ۵۸, p. ۱۰۲, ۱۰۶ ۱-۱

darkness and the presence of light, with that regularity that they have, and, that one ceaselessly becomes shorter and the other one becomes longer, that as a result of which the four seasons come into being, when trees, plants, and animals obtain their evolutions under these gradual changes, are totally the signs of His Exalted Essence and Attributes

If these gradual changes were not, or they happened without order, or they were always either day or night alone, there would be no life throughout the world at all

Then, it points to the ships which move on the water of the seas for the benefit of Man

"...,and (in) the ships that sail on the sea with what profits mankind ..."

Man travels long voyages over the seas and oceans by small and large ships towards different points of the world to perform his purposes. This kind of transportation over sea-water can be afforded by employing some factors, particularly when it is done by a sailer

The first factor is the regular winds that blow from the surface of the seas towards the land and vice versa, including the ceaseless winds blowing from the North Pole and South Pole called ' Arctic winds and Antarctic winds ', or the regional winds which blows in their own proper times and let the ships utilize this natural force gratuitously setting forth to their destinations

Another factor is the natural property of wood against the special pressure of water which causes that it floats over water

Again, there is the two invariable magnetic poles of the earth which fix the hands of a compass

The arrangement of the stars in the sky, which lead people to their destinations, is also counted a factor

Yes, it is with the combination of all these arrangements that the application of ships, with their abundant benefits alongside the help of men, can be made possible. Thus,

.all these processes are indications of His Pure Essence

Ships that Sail on the Sea

Concerning the sailing ships, it is surprising that today, with the invention of the force of powerful engines used in the ships, not only this meaning has not lost its importance but it has also gotten a higher position in this respect, because the great gigantic ships are still among the best means of transportation and communication between people of different spots. Some kinds of modern ships are as large as a town, having arenas, pleasure centers, playgrounds, and even a market-place for shopping. Or, in some particular .ships, there are airports where several aeroplanes can land on or take off from

Now, the rain, the life-giving water which is sent down from the sky to the earth, is .۴ :pointed out. It says and (in) the water which Allah sends down from heaven and enlivens therewith the..." ,earth after its death

" ...,and spreads in it all kinds of animal

Yes, wherever the pure life-giving drops of rain fall down, thereby, life, freshness, blessing, abundancy, and movement may appear therein. This lifeless but splendid water, which falls down with special order, and waters all those plants and living .creatures continually, is the harbinger of His Power and Grandeur

:Then, for the useful currents and regular and irregular blowing of the winds, it says .۵

" ...and in the change of the winds..."

The winds blow not only over the seas and oceans and cause ships to move about, but also over the surface of lands, mountains, valleys, and plains. They sometimes take the male pollen from stamens and pollinate the pistil and help their pollination in order .to yield us fruits

They also scatter seeds in different spots of the land to grow. They, at a time, frequently move the waves of the seas to stir them and make the conditions .conducive for the living creatures

With transferring the hot weather of the warm regions to the cold regions, and transferring the cold weather of the cold regions to the warm regions, the winds are .effective in making the climate of the globe moderate

Sometimes, the winds push the polluted and poisonous air of the cities, which has not enough oxygen, out into the deserts and forests and cause the fresh air, full of .oxygen, to come unto the reach of human beings and other living creatures

Yes, the wind, that blows and gifts man with benefits and blessings, is another sign of
.His Infinite Grace and Wisdom

The last indication, mentioned in this verse, is clouds which, as .۶

servants, in spite of the gravity, are suspending between the sky and the earth to be moved here and there, carrying millions of tons of water easily with them without posing the least danger for anybody

Rain

:Hence, they are counted as a sign of the Greatness of the Creator, where He says

"...;and the clouds controlled (for service) between the sky and the earth..."

However, if there were not the management of the irrigation of the clouds, there would not be any water throughout the world for man to drink, nor any spring or stream for plants to grow and, everywhere, the lands would be dry and dead.

.Therefore, this is also another trace of the Knowledge and Might of Allah

".surely there are signs for a people having understanding ..."

Yes, all of the above mentioned indications are the evidence of the existence of that Pure Essence, but for the people who understand and contemplate, not for the unaware ones and the people of little wisdom who have eyes but have not eyesight, or have ears but are deaf

١٦٥ وَ مِنَ النَّاسِ مَن يَتَّخِذُ مِنْ دُونِ اللَّهِ أَنْدَادًا يُحِبُّونَهُمْ كَحُبِّ اللَّهِ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَشَدُّ حُبًّا لِلَّهِ وَلَوْ يَرَى الَّذِينَ ظَلَمُوا إِذْ يَرُونَ

".and that Allah is severe in (enforcing) the Penalty

Commentary: Verse ١٦٥

Disbelievers/Pagans

Disbelievers have gone astray. Their affection to things other than Allah, is like the wish and desire of a sick person unto eating the food which is harmful for his sickness but the patient ignorantly persists on having it. In contrast with them are the believers. So those who have Faith surely love Allah very intensively and more than anything or anybody else

The pagans, who have done unjustly to themselves, will see their miserable destination on the Day of Reckoning, when they will recognize their wrong thought and their deviation. On that Day they will understand fully that the entire Power belongs to Allah and that they had gone a wrong way when they had referred to other than Him. The intensive punishment of Allah, on that Day, will be upon those who, thoughtlessly and unreasonably, had left out the attachment to Allah and clung to some vain and chaffy imaginations

Then, it is so that in Sura 'An`ām, No. ٦, verse ١٠٢, to guide them, Allah warns them
:thus

,That is Allah, your Lord, there is no god but He; the Creator of all things "

"therefore serve Him, and He has charge of all things

By the way, it is narrated by Muhammad-ibn-Muslim that Imam Muhammad Bāqir (a.s.) and Hadrat Şādiq (a.s.) , speaking about the phrase: "...but for those who have faith, their love is more intensive " had said: " They are the progeny of Muhammad ((p.b.u.h.) ". \(1\)

When would those that were followed disown those who followed and they " ١٦٦ ".would see the torment and their ties (between them) are cut asunder

Commentary: Verse ١٦٦

Beware who your leader is

Beware who your leader is and whose love you carry in your heart! Those of you who love these tyrants and pay your affections to other than Allah, should know that they (the tyrants) want you for their own interests in this world. Therefore, they abuse your abilities and sincerity to obtain their own wishes, power and authority. But, on the Resurrection Day, they will avoid you and, hating you, will leave you alone

This meaning should also be noted that in Tafsir-ul-Burhān and in the book ' Ikhtisās ', by Shaykh Mufid, there are some traditions cited about the meaning of the phrase: " when would those that were followed disown those who followed...". Among them, there is a tradition from Imam Bāqir (a.s) who said: " By Allah, O' jābir, these are the leaders of transgressors and their means for injustice." (١)

Beware of Whose Love You Carry in Your Heart

Therefore, in contrast with this group, as was referred in the previous verse, are the truly faithful ones, who bear the intensive love in their heart for Allah. They love not only the genuine leaders of the religion but also everything that Allah loves. The basic reason for this is that every thing they love is only for gaining Allah's pleasure. Even when they love their own family and issues, they love because it is their duty to do so as prescribed by Allah

١٦٧ وَقَالَ الَّذِينَ اتَّبَعُوا لَوْ أَنَّ لَنَا كَرَّةً فَنَتَّبِعَ اللَّهُ مِنْهُمْ لَمَا كُنَّا مِنَ الْقَائِلِينَ وَهُمْ فِي النَّارِ

Commentary: Verse ١٦٧

Following Unfaithful Leaders

These mislead followers, who see the unfaithfulness of their leaders so evident, :console themselves by saying

Had there been for us a return (to the world), then we would disown them even as " "... .they have (now) disowned us

But, what a pity! It is too late, because there is no possibility for them to return to life .again

:Then, at the end of the verse, it says

.Thus Allah will show them their deeds; bitter regrets will be upon them ..."

".And never shall they get out of the Fire

Yes, they can afford nothing but sigh and regret bitterly. A regret for the wealth they gathered but others took the benefit of it. A regret for the extraordinary opportunities that they had had for attaining prosperity and being saved, but they missed them all easily. A regret for adoring some incapable worthless leaders instead of adoring Allah, .the Almighty

But, it is a vain regret, because it is neither the time of action nor the occasion for making up for the past. Nay! it is only the time of punishment and receiving the results of one's own deeds

According to some traditions, there are some different halts in the Hereafter. In a few of these halts people cannot speak anything and silence dominates lips, where they can merely look at others regretfully and shed tears. In some other of these halts, there are people who ask

p: ۴۶

each other for help, while some others curse and hate each other for their former
.deeds

The Cruel leaders Will Disown Their Faithful Followers

This verse indicates that at this time when the cruel leaders, who were adored, loved, and followed formerly, here, disown their followers and accept no responsibility for them. So, the followers disown them, too, and regret very much why they loved them, supported them, and followed them. But they gained naught. They regret in heart and express their regret by tongue in this manner that if they could return to life once more, they would never follow them. They say that these people who are so disloyal that they denounce their followers here on this Day (the Reckoning Day), they (the followers), too, would denounce them if they could return to the world again. They regret, but what is the use of this regret? It is of no use, and they cannot come out
.from the blazing Fire of Hell

Sura Al-Ma'idah, No. ٥, verse ٩٠ ١ -١

Sura Al-An'am, No. ٦, verse ١٤٢ -٢

In some of the historical narrations it is cited that a few of the Arab tribes had unreasonably forbidden a part of their crops and their animals for themselves, where they used to sometimes attribute those prohibitions to Allah. Then, the above verse was revealed to dismiss that ambiguity

Islam pays also specific attention to the material life of people. At the top of these things is the food necessities about which there are found tens of Qur'ānic verses and hundreds of traditions in Islamic literature

One of the duties of prophets has been to define the lawful and unlawful edible materials and drinks beside the introduction of the advantages and disadvantages of each of them. This verse emphasizes that we have to consume from what is religiously lawful and pure /ḥalāl/ on the earth

"...;O' mankind! eat of what is in the earth lawful and good "

And that we must not prohibit ourselves from some things under the effect of the Satan's temptation, because it is certain that Satan is our open enemy

"and do not follow the footsteps of Satan. Surely he is a manifest foe for you..."

Imam Bāqir (a.s.) has narrated a tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: "Worship of Allah is divided into seventy divisions, the best of which is earning a living lawfully." (1)

Again, in another tradition, the very holy Imam, the fifth Imam, (a.s) has said: " He who seeks for sustenance in this world in order to be independent of people for his needs, to provide for his family members, and to stretch affection unto his neighbours, will meet Allah, Almighty and Glorious, on the Day of Judgement while his face will be as bright as the full moon." (2)

****

It is cited in Tafsīr-i-Rouh-ul-Bayān that Satan has some different stages in his invitations unto temptations. At first, he invites to

---

Tafsir Al-Burhan, vol. ۱, p. ۱۷۳ ۱-۱

Al-Kafi, vol. ۵, p. ۷۸ ۲-۲

infidelity. If he fails in this phase, he invites to innovation. If he does not succeed, he invites to lesser sins. Failing in these stages, Satan invites to doing good and lawful deeds instead of worshipping Allah

When he fails in this phase, too, he invites to performing worships with lower qualities than the noble ones in order to stop a person from promoting to higher degrees. (1)

Thus, the statement of the verse is a warning against what Satan does and how he leads men astray by his different forms of evil whispers when the Qur'ān says

Verily, he (Satan) enjoins you evil acts and indecency and that you should speak " against Allah what you know not

Commentary: Verses ١٧٠-١٧١

Blind following of the ancestors is condemned

Blind following of the ancestors is condemned The previous verse warned us to avoid following the whispers and footsteps of Satan. Now, in this verse, one of the examples :of those footsteps, which is the blind following of others, is pointed out. It says

:And when they are told "

'Follow what Allah has sent down `

"...!,they say: ` Nay! We follow what we found our fathers upon

They mean that they do not care what the verses of Allah say or the Messenger of :Allah invites to. So, in answer to them, the Qur'ān says even though their fathers had no understanding of anything nor were they guided...
".aright

This statement refers to the fact that: if their fathers had no wisdom and understanding by themselves nor had they accepted the godly guidance of the prophets, then, would they follow their fathers

p: ۵۱

yet? If their ancestors or the infidels themselves had wisdom or were guided, it would .not matter, but it is not so

****

There are two comparisons in this verse: ١) the likening of the caller of Truth to a shepherd; ٢) the likening of infidels to some beasts that understand nothing from the speech of the shepherd save a call and a cry. This simile has been confirmed in a tradition by Imam Bāqir (a.s.), too. The parable means that the invitation of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) from that faithless crowd to Truth and breaking the dam-like barrier of blindly imitation, is similar to the person who shouts to a cattle of sheep or some .animals in order to save them from danger but they do not understand this message

And the parable of those who reject Faith is as the likeness of the one who shouts to "
"... ;that which hears no more than a call and a cry

Then, at the end of the verse, to emphasize more and to explain it more clearly, it
:adds

".deaf, dumb, and blind (are they) wherefore they do not understand ..."

O' you who have Faith! eat of the good things We have provided you with, and " ١٧٢ .

Commentary: Verse ١٧٢

Gratefulness

In this verse, too, Allah advises us to be grateful for using the blessings and bounties, and thank Him. There is a tradition from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), cited in Tafsīr-uṣ-Ṣāfi, stating that Allah says that He creates people, but they worship other than Him; .and, He provides (them) sustenance, but they thank others save Allah

It is made clear in this verse that we ought to eat from the good wholesome foods .that Allah has provided us sustenance and be thankful to Him

O' you who have Faith! eat of the good things We have provided you with, and be " (grateful to Allah, ...) (١)

.Intellect necessitates the act of thankfulness to the giver of a bounty, too

".if Him it is you worship ..."

However, being thankful to Allah is a means of continuity and abundancy of bounties.

.And, to be grateful to Allah is a sign of sincerity and the purity of one's Faith

It is narrated from Imam Hādī (a.s.) who said that the wrath of Allah encompasses those who prohibit or deprive themselves from the godly lawful things and (permissible deeds. (٢)

But whoever is forced (by necessity), not desiring nor transgressing, no sin shall be on ".him; surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful

Commentary: Verse ۱۷۳

Point

Following the previous subject, this verse states that certain edible things are lawful to eat, and we should not prohibit the lawful things of Allah to ourselves opinionatedly and because of some vain imaginations. Yet, Allah has forbidden us carrion, blood, swineflesh or the flesh of any animal slaughtered invoking the name of anybody else :other than God, as it says

Verily, He has forbidden you only carrion, blood, swineflesh, and whatever has other " "... (name) than Allah's been invoked upon it

Logical Reasons for the Laws of prohibition of Particular Food

There are some logical and acceptable reasons cited for this Divine law of prohibition, :of course. For example, it is narrated from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) who said

No one obtains anything from carrion but weakness of his body, decrease of his " strength, and cease of his offspring. And, the consumer of carrion dies not but by a (sudden death. Those who consume blood (as food stuff) become hard-hearted. ..." (1)

According to some hygienical advice, the flesh of swine is the carrier of two kinds of microbes called tapeworms and trichina. (The latter is a very small nematode worm trichinella, whose larvae infest the intestines and voluntary muscles of man, pigs etc., .(causing trichinosis

Wasa'il-ush-Shi'ah, vol. ١٤, p. ٣١٠ ١-١

Today, it is forbidden to use swineflesh even in some Eastern countries. In former divine religions, such as the religion of the Jews, the flesh of swine has been held in great detestation. In the Bible, the sinners are also likened to swine

May eat Unlawful Food Only if Forced by Necessity

There is an exception, of course, where the term /qayrabāqin/ denotes not for enjoyment but forced by unavoidable necessity, and term /`ādin/ means without any intention to revolt against the prescribed laws of Allah or not exceeding the bare limits of the actual want or the bare necessity. If anybody under circumstances beyond his control or forced by necessity, to save his life, takes such things, it will not be a sin upon him

But whoever is forced (by necessity), not desiring nor transgressing, no sin shall be..."
"...;on him

:This permission is because of the Mercy and Grace of Allah, as the verse itself says

".surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful..."

It is cited in Tafsīr-i-Nūr-uth-Thaqalayn in an expressive tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said: "Whoever is forced (to eat) carrion or blood, or swineflesh and he (avoids eating something of it until he dies, then he is an infidel." (1)

:Explanations

Islam's attention to the problem of food–stuff

Islam has paid full attention to the problem of food–stuffs. It has frequently warned Muslims against the putrid, harmful, and unlawful food. The prohibition of swineflesh, carrion and blood is found in four occurrences in the Qur'ān. The Messages of this prohibition were preached two times in Medina and two times in Mecca

Invoking Allah's name at the time of slaughtering animals

Considering Allah, and invoking His name at the time of slaughtering animals, is . ۲ necessary. This is to warn us to know and be aware that everything belongs to Allah and therefore, none of our deeds should be done out of the circle of theism

Islam, a complete and an easy religion

Islam is a complete and an easy religion. It stops in no .۳ circumstance. Every ritual duty or religious prohibition can be changed when there is .emergency

'Do not misuse the exception made for 'necessary circumstances

.No one must misuse the necessary circumstances in this respect .۶

:General Conclusion

Here in this verse, and in the similar other verses of the Qur'ān, is laid down the principle of the Islamic law to be observed under normal conditions and the law of
.exception for the state of emergency

The things forbidden under normal conditions may be permissible in the emergency. The spirit of the law to be observed in both the cases is the sense of obedience, and sticking to the prescribed limits. Under no circumstances any revolt against any law is .allowed

This is because Allah has sent down the Book with the Truth; and surely those " .١٧٦ " .who differ in the Book are in flagrant schism

Commentary: Verses ١٧٤–١٧٦

Prophet Muhammad's (p.b.u.h.) advent recited by the Jews

Before the advent of the holy Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), the Jewish scholars used to tell their people about that happy advent and described the signs of that promised .Prophet for them from the Torah

But as soon as the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) was divinely appointed and announced his Call, they did not confess the prophethood of Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) for they thought they would lose their position, wealth, etc. It was why they neglected every thing and concealed the Truth. Such people, by concealing the fact, might remain in their position receiving some presents and gifts for a length of time but this is a little price comparing to that .great sin of theirs

Surely those who conceal any part of the Book which Allah has sent down (to them), "
" ... -and sell it for a small price

What they take and eat in this bargain is naught, indeed, but Fire. This meaning is similar to the content of the verse where eating the wealth of orphans is likened to :Fire, too, as if they ate Fire in their bellies. (1)So, it says

" ... ,they shall eat naught but Fire into their bellies..."

Results of Barring the Truth

On the Day of Resurrection, Allah will not speak to these people mercifully, while the believers can speak with Him then. This talk, of course, may be either through some waves created in the space, or by inspiration and the mute tongue of the heart. On .that Day all believing people can become interlocutors of Allah

Those persons, who tried to bar the influence of the sound of truth from reaching the ears of people, have shut, in fact, the way of the speech of Allah on the Reckoning Day to themselves. They will not hear a word of kindness, but hear the word of wrath in :Hell, being addressed with words such as

(Go away into it and speak not (to Me) ...) ".(2) "

Allah will not purify them from their sins then, because there will be a painful .punishment prepared for them as a result of their evil actions in this world and Allah will not speak to them on the Day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them,..."

".and theirs will be a painful punishment

:Explanations

Selling Faith is a loss

Selling Faith, in any case and rate, is a loss and the obtained price is a little: "...and .۱

Punishment should be appropriate to the crime. Those who bar the way of reaching the word of Allah for people to hearken in this world, must be deprived from the pleasure of hearing the speech of Allah in the next world

Concealing the truth

Concealing the truth is not only about the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Those who conceal the truth about the true successors of Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), receive the same punishment, too. That is, those who have hidden the announcement of the Messenger of Allah in Qadīr-i-Khum and obliterated it from their history and commentary books and perverted the process of the verses of the Qur'ān with their own justifications in order to mislead Muslims towards some particular ones other than the immaculate Imams, have concealed the Truth, too

Those who conceal the Truth are some persons who exchange misguidance for guidance and punishment for forgiveness

Do they not know that they somehow share with the corruption and aberration of mankind throughout history by their action when they conceal the Truth? Do they ? think that they are able to bear the punishment of Allah

" !how they shall endure the Fire ..."

It is narrated in a tradition that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), speaking with Ali-ibn-Abī-Tālib (a.s.), said: " The worst of men is he who sells his coming world for his present life, and more evil than this is the one who sells his coming world for the present life of

There are some people who sometimes help the poor while they do not pay their religious obligatory payments. There are also some other believing people who pay their obligatory payments but are often indifferent to the poor and the deprived. And in (the law of) retaliation there is (saving of) life for you, O' people of " ١٧٩ .

:Occasion of Revelation

The custom in the Age of Ignorance among some Arabs was so that when an individual was murdered from their tribe, they would decide to kill as many members from the murderer's tribe as they could. That thought was so harsh that they were ready to destroy even the entire people of the murderer's tribe for only a single murder. Then, the above verse was sent down and announced the just law of (retaliation, (Qisās

This Islamic decree was, indeed, a medial status between the two different injunctions which were current at that time. Before the revelation of this ordinance of Islam, some people considered retaliation necessary, with no changes, so that nothing else was permissible to substitute it, while some other groups believed that only the rule of blood-wit should be followed. So, Islam decreed the law of retaliation in the case of the discontent of the heirs of the .murdered, and blood-wit when both parties agree upon it

Commentary: Verses 178–179

:Saving of Life in Retaliation

Point

From this verse on, in the current Sura, a series of decrees and ordinances of Islam .are stated and completed

At first, it begins with the protection of the value of blood which is an extraordinary important problem in social connections. Through this verse, Islam makes all the :concerning old customs invalid. The Qur'ān, addressing the believers, says

O' you who have Faith! Retaliation (Qīṣāṣ) is prescribed for you in the matter of the " " ...:(unlawfully) murdered

The Holy Qur'ān, in the case of some indispensable commands, sometimes makes use of the phrase: " It is prescribed for you " to state the matter. The above verse, for example, is an instance of this application where the coming verses, which speak about ` making bequest ' and ` fasting ', are other ones. In any case, this particular phrase makes the importance and emphasis of the theme clear, because those matters are always written that, from any point of view, have reached to the state of .positiveness, and are earnest

As it was pointed out in the occasion of revelation, these verses, with the application of the term retaliation and in order to moderate the intemperances which the Age of Ignorance fulfilled about murder, show that the heirs of the murdered are rightful to accomplish, against the murderer, exactly the same that that person has committed

.upon the murdered

But the Qur'ān does not suffice only to this amount. In this very verse, it exposes the problem of equality to discussion with a particular explicitness where it continues
:saying

p: ۶۶

"...the freeman for the freeman, the slave for the slave, the female for the female..."

Allah willing, we will explain that this idea is not an evidence, as some have considered, for the superiority of the male-blood to the female-blood, and that a male murderer, under certain conditions, can be punished by the law of retaliation for the murder of a woman

Then, to make it clear that the subject of retaliation is merely a right for the heirs of the murdered and it is not a convincing ordinance for them when they can simply forgive the murderer, if they wish, and take a blood-wit, or even, they can take no blood-wit at all, it immediately adds

But for him who is forgiven somewhat by his (aggrieved religious) brother, then ..." prosecution (for blood-wit) should be made according to a fair manner (ma`rūf) and "...let the payment be made to him with kindness

Thus, on one hand, the avengers of blood are advised not to be immoderate in taking a blood-price if they dispense with retaliation, and take the blood-wit with a fair price and according to what Islam has appointed and also by installments so that the party be able to pay it

And, on the other hand, through the sentence: "...let the payment be made to him with kindness", it recommends the murderer to pay the blood-price in a right style and without any negligence so that his debt be entirely paid on time. Therefore, the Qur'ān has defined the duty of each party and how they should treat to each other

At the end of the verse, for emphasis and to attract the attentions to the fact that transgressing the limits of Allah, from the side of whoever it may be, deserves a severe punishment, it says

This is an alleviation from your Lord, and a mercy; so whoever transgresses the ..." limits after this, he shall have a painful punishment

, 'This equitable command for `retaliation' and `forgiveness which makes up a quite, logical manly assemblage, condemns, on one hand, the wrong method of the Ignorance Age which considered no equality in retaliation and, similar to the tyrants of this very age of space, sometimes killed hundreds of people in excuse of the murder of

.one person

And, on the other hand, it does not shut the door of pardon to people. In the meantime, it does not lower the respect of blood, and does not allow murderers to become bold and presumptuous. And also, thirdly, it announces that neither of the two parties are permitted to transgress the limits after accepting the principle of pardon and blood-wit. This command was issued in spite of the old custom of the Ignorant tribes where the heirs of the murdered might kill the murderer even after .forgiving him and taking the blood-wit

Answers to Questions Regarding Retaliation

The next verse, in a short but very expressive sentence, answers a great deal of questions in regards to the problem of retaliation. It says " And in (the law of) ,retaliation there is (saving of) life for you, O' people of understanding ".(so that you may guard yourselves (against evil

This verse, which in the Qur'ānic text consists of ten particles, is expressed in utmost eloquence and clarity. It is so interesting that its first phrase has become as an Islamic motto used by common Muslim people. It clearly shows that Islamic law of retaliation is not for revenging at all, but it is a door-way to life for men to let them continue .living

Retaliation, on one hand, guards the safety of the life of the society, because if the ordinance of retaliation were not in any form at all, the hard-hearted persons would feel security and, consequently, the lives of people would be in danger. The evidence for this is the countries wherein the law of retaliation has been nullified and the .number of murders and crime has incredibly increased

On the other hand, the law of retaliation causes the life of a homicidal person be saved since it prevents him considerably from the thought of murder and brings him

.under control

For the sake of the necessity of equality and order, the law of retaliation is a hinder against the frequent slaughters and puts an end to the customs of some Ignorant tribes in which a single murder has been the pretext of several murders and the latter, in turn, has been the cause of further slaughters, too. By this way, the law of retaliation has also stopped some of those homicides and caused a few societies continue to live peacefully

p: ۶۸

Regarding the fact that it is only in the absence of pardon that the ordinance of retaliation can be executed, the existence of the Islamic law of retaliation, in general, is also another phase opened to life and living

The concluding phrase which says: "... so that you may guard yourselves (against evil)" completes this wise ordinance of Islam. This meaning is also considered as a warning which halts or retards any oppression and transgression

Retaliation and Pardon, a Complete Assemblage

Islam, in all respects, follows the problems inclusively and with their proper practical aspects. It has stated the right perfect idea about the proposition of unlawfully murdered, far from any injustice or excessive progressiveness. This Islamic law is similar neither to the perverted Jewish law, which emphasizes only on mere retaliation, nor to the present Christianity, which advises its followers to pave only the way of either pardon or compensation; because the latter causes to embolden the homicides and the former can become a factor of harsh vengeance and brutality

Suppose that the murdered and the murderer be two brothers, or they have some background of friendship or social connections. In this case, bonding to retaliation, may produce a new additional grievance for the family of the murdered, especially when the concerning people are full of human love and affection, then, forcing them to execute the act of retaliation, itself, can be considered another grief and torture upon them. On the other hand, limiting the law to pardon and compensation alone, also makes the corruptive people bolder

This is why Islam has decreed the law of retaliation as the main ordinance and, to moderate it, has added the ordinance of pardon beside it and along with it

In other words, the heirs of the murdered are rightful to choose one of the following varieties

.To pardon without taking any blood-wit –۲

To pardon with taking the blood-wit. (In this case, of course, the consent of the –۳ (.murderer is also necessarily considered

Other Questions Concerning Retaliation Addressed

:Explanations

It is possible that some groups object that the command in the verses of retaliation is that a ` man ' should not be killed for the murder of a ` woman ', then, what is the difference between the life of a man and that of a woman? Why should a male not be killed under the punishment of the law of retaliation for the slaughter of an innocent female, a gender (i.e. the feminine gender) that forms half of the population over the
? earth

The answer to this question is that: the verse does not mean a ` male ' should not be retaliated against by capital punishment for a ` female '. But according to what is detailed in the books of Islamic jurisprudence, the heirs of the murdered woman can punish the male-murderer by the law of retaliation (i.e. capital punishment) on .condition that they pay half of the blood-price

In other words, the purpose of the lack of retaliation (Qiṣāṣ) of a ` man ' for the slaughter of a ` woman ' is a retaliation without any condition; but his killing is .permissible, of course, when half of the blood-price is paid

No explanation is necessary here that the payment of the aforementioned sum for the execution of the punishment under the law of retaliation does not mean that a woman, from the point of philanthropy, is lower than a man, or a female is less dear than a male. This is, indeed, absolutely a wrong and illogical imagination. The apparent form of the term ` blood-price ' may have been the origin of the appearance of this imagination. The act of the payment of the half sum of blood-price is only for the compensation of the loss that the man's family members suffer from his capital
.punishment by the law of retaliation

The expansion of the explanation is that: males are usually the effective financial factor of their families. It is often men, in families, who earn a living and pay money for the expenditures, in general, and p: v.

run the economical affairs therein. Therefore, the difference between a man and a woman, from the point of economy and finance in their own family, is quite clear to everybody. If this difference be not observed, the remaining family members and the innocent children of the murdered man have surely to suffer an amount of unreasonable financial damage. Hence, Islam, with the rule of the payment of half of the blood-wit for the punishment of a 'man' by the law of retaliation, has considered the rights of all members, and prevented the unforgivable injury and stroke that a family may be given. Islam never lets the rights of some individuals, such as the children of the person who has been punished by the law of retaliation, be trod under the pretext of the term 'equality'

It is possible, of course, that some women earn a living in their own family better than men there. But we know that a law or an ordinance does not turn around the pivot of an individual, and we must compare the totality of men with the totality of women

Another point that attracts the attention, and is understood from the phrase "by his brother", is that Islam strengthens the relation of brotherhood between its followers so firm that even after the illegitimate shedding of blood it is still valid. So, to encourage the heirs of the murderer to forgiveness and moderation, and also to put their affection in motion, Islam introduces them as the brothers of the murderer. And, this meaning is both surprising and interesting. The mentioned situation, of course, is about those murderers who have taken action in this great heinous sin under the force of emotion, wrath, and the like of them, and the murderers have also become regretful and repented of their wrong action. But, the murderers who are proud of their crime and, with no regret or repentance, boast about it, are neither worthy of the appellation of 'bretheren' nor are they eligible for pardon

Bequest in a Fair Manner

Point

The speech in former verses was about problems such as life, murder, murdered, and retaliation, while in these verses a part of the ordinances of bequest in relation with
:the financial affairs is referred to, where it says

It is prescribed for you, when death approaches (any) one of you, and if he leaves " behind wealth for parents and near relatives that he makes

"... a bequest in a fair manner

:Then, at the end of the verse, it adds

"...this is) a duty (incumbent) on the pious ones) ..."

Bequest should not be considered as a bad omen. Some persons think that bequest is a sign of death or passing away soon, while bequest is a kind of providence and farsightedness. So, if the verse tells us to leave a bequest at the presence of death by saying: " When death approaches (any) one of you, ...", it is for the reason that those moments are the last occasions; else, an individual can lay down a bequest years before the time of death

Some Islamic groups have considered the bequest an obligatory ordinance, but as it is understood from the phrase "...this is) a duty on the pious ones " this action is voluntary, otherwise it would say: this is a duty on the believers

According to the attitudes of the Islamic commentators and jurists, leaving a bequest is, of course, incumbent when the one is in debt to people or there is a religious duty upon the one which must be fulfilled. These duties may be such as: one fifth levy (khums), poor-tax (zakāt), performance of pilgrimage (Hajj), etc., and in other ordinary cases, similar to them, leaving a bequest is emphatically praiseworthy

By the way, in this verse, the Arabic term ' khayr ' has been applied for ' wealth ' to make it manifest that Islam knows wealth a good thing and a blessing from Allah when it has been earned in a lawful way and is spent alongside the path of the help and benefit of people. This idea nullifies the wrong attitudes of those who think of wealth substantially as a bad thing. Islam hates those deviated pretenders to piety who have not recognized the spirit of Islam and think of Islamic piety as a quality equivalent to poverty. The wrong thought and behaviour of such apparent believers cause the stagnation of some Islamic societies and, consequently, the development of the exploiters

In the meanwhile, this very meaning of the verse is a slight hint to the idea that the logical abundance of wealth is lawful in Islam. The evidence is that the unlawful wealth that a person leaves behind in this .world is not ` fair ', but it is adversity and evil

Some Islamic traditions indicate that the word `khayr', here, refers to the considerable wealth that needs being bequeathed. Therefore the inconsiderable properties, which the heirs can divide between themselves according to the canonical law of heritage, need not be bequeathed. In other words, a small amount of wealth is not something that one separates one third of it to leave a bequest for. (1)

The phrase: "...when death approaches (any) one of you," is for the statement of the last opportunity available for leaving down a bequest so that if it be postponed, it may be missed. At any rate, it is fairly appropriate that we, having forethought and utilizing our opportunity, prepare ourselves by writing down our bequest. This manner, as it is understood from the Islamic literature, not only is good but also quite admirable

The Messenger of Allah said: " Whosoever dies and has left a bequest, has died as a martyr." (2) This meaning is considerably mentioned in some other traditions, too. Then, it is from improvidence of a person who imagines that leaving a bequest is a bad omen through which a person pushes his death forward. But, bequeathing is a kind of undeniable factual farsightedness which, although it might not prolong the longevity, will surely never shorten the life time

Bequest restricted with the term / bil ma` ruf / (in a fair manner) shows that a bequest must be reasonable in all respects. It should be done in a fair manner both from the point of amount of wealth and in respect of the person to whom the bequest is addressed, so that customary law and common-sense know it rationally a good action; not a sort of unjust discrimination which usually causes conflicts and deviation from the limits of justice and truth

When a bequest contains all the abovementioned qualities, it is respectable and sacred in all aspects. Hence, any change or conversion in it is forbidden and is counted unlawful (ḥarām), as the verse itself

---

Tafsir-i-Nur-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ۱, p. ۱۵۹ ۱ –۱

Wasa'il-ush-Shi`ah, vol. ۱۳, p. ۳۵۲ ۲ –۲

:says

Whoever then changes it (the bequest) after he has heard it, the sin thereof shall be "
"... .on those who change it

And, if they imagine that Allah does not know their plots, they are intensively in err, as
:it says

"Surely Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing..."

This verse may also point to this fact that the wrong actions committed by the executor of testament never nullifies the reward of the testator. When such an evil happens, the sin is only upon the executor of testament who has changed something from the quality or quantity of the testament or has interfered with the fundamentals of the testament itself. Yet, the testator will obtain his own concerned godly reward .whether the testament that he has left be changed later, in any form, or not

Another probability has also been cited in the commentary of the verse. It says that the purpose is: when the property of the dead, as the result of the wrong actions of the executor of testament intentionally is given to some ones who are not deserving of it, (and they are not aware of that wrong action), there is no sin on them. So the sin .is only on the executor of testament who deliberately has committed such a wrong

It should be also noted that there is no contradiction between these two .commentaries, and both can be gathered from the meaning of the verse

Circumstances Under Which Bequests can be Changed

So far, concerning this Islamic decree, it has become quite clear that any change, of any kind and of any amount, in testaments is a sin. But, since there may be exceptions :in a law or ordinance, then, in the last verse of this group of verses, it says

But if any one fears injustice or sin on the part of a testator, and establishes " agreement among them (the parties concerned), then there is no sin upon him; surely "Allah is Forgiving, Merciful

Thus, the exception is only due to the instances where the testament has not been arranged properly. It is only in this status that a change made by the executor of testament is permissible. Then, if the testator is still alive, the executor must notify him/her of that intention to change the testament, but if the testator has passed away, the executor takes action on changing it himself. This situation, from the point of the Islamic jurisprudence, is restricted to the following cases:

When the testator has bequeathed more than one third of his total wealth. . . According to the Islamic literature based on the traditions narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the Immaculate Imams (Ahlul-Bayt) (a.s.), a person can make a bequest on his wealth only up to one third of it, since more than that is not religiously permissible in Islam. (1)

Therefore, making bequest over the entire property benevolently for good intentions, which is common among some unaware people, is, regarding the Islamic laws, perfectly wrong. So, the duty is upon the executor of the bequest to decrease it up to one third of the remaining wealth.

If the testator has bequeathed something of sin, transgression, and evil to be performed, it is up to the executor to change it. For example, when the testator makes bequest that a part of his wealth be spent on the spread and development of some mischievous centers, or, also, when the bequest causes a necessary duty to be abandoned unreasonably, the executor is allowed to change it.

When something of the bequest brings about means of conflict, corruption, or bloodshedding, in this case, the circumstance should be adjusted under the direction of the Islamic judge.

By the way, the Arabic term /janaf/, which means a deviation from the path of Justice and a unilateral inclination, hints to the deviations that seize the testator unconsciously; while the term /im/ (sin) refers to the intended deviations.

The final phrase of the verse which says: "... Surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful " may point to the fact that if the executor of testament effectively removes or improves the wrong that the testator has done and returns him to the right way, Allah forgives him,

.too

:Explanation

:The Philosophy of Testament

Regarding the law of heritage, only a particular group of relatives, and with a definite portion, inherit the wealth. This situation may be in the case that some other near and far relatives, or some of the close friends and local people, are in dire need of some financial aid

In addition to that, sometimes it happens that the religiously ordained portion, ordained concerning the amount of heritage, is not sufficient to supply the needs of some heirs

The inclusiveness of the Islamic laws does not let these gaps be left unfilled. So, it has issued the law of testament alongside the law of heritage. It lets Muslims decide on one third of their wealth to be spent after their death in a manner they like

Besides that, sometimes a person wishes to do some good actions, but during his life-time he is not able to perform them, because of some financial necessities that he has. The logic of intellect demands that he decides on a part of the wealth, that he has suffered to earn during his life, to be spent on these good affairs after his death, at least, and not to be deprived of them

All these circumstances have caused that the law of testament be decreed in Islam, "and it has been emphasized with the phrase: " (this is a duty on the pious ones

Testament is not restricted only to the above mentioned aspects, of course, but a person should explain all his debts to people, the deposits that others have given him to charge of, and the like of them in the testament so clearly that there may remain no ambiguous subject concerning the rights of men or the rights of Allah which have been upon him

In Islamic literature, testament is frequently emphasized on. For example, a tradition narrated from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) says: " It is not appropriate for a Muslim believer to sleep at night except that his (testament is under his head." (۱)

The phrase 'under his head', mentioned in the above tradition, is, of course, for emphasis and the purpose is that he must always be prepared in this respect

Justice in Testament

Taking the abovementioned explanation about the lack of transgression in testament in mind, there are many traces in Islamic traditions emphasizing upon the lack of 'transgression' and 'damage' in testament which, on the whole, indicate that as much as making a testament is a good and worthy deed, the same quality transgression in it is blameworthy and counted among grievous sins

Imam Muhammad Bāqir (a.s.), in a tradition, says: "He who regards justice in his testament is like the person who has given the same amount as charity (in the way of Allah) during his own life; but the one who treats unfair in his testament will meet Allah (on the Day of Judgement while He will have turned away His Grace from him." (۲)

Transgression, treating unfair, and damage in testament is that a person bequeathes more than one third of his wealth and deprives the heirs from their religiously lawful rights. Or, he may make some undue distinctions for the sake of his unreasonable loves and hatreds. In the cases that the heirs are in dire need, even, the recommendation is that bequeathing one third of the wealth be decreased to a quarter or one fifth of the wealth. (۳)

When we study the Islamic narrations and the statements of the leaders of Islam in relation to the subject, we understand the emphasis and importance that they have considered for the existence of Justice in testament. The following tradition is one of the concerning instances

Once at the time of revelation, one of the men from the Ansār tribe passed away. He had some little children, but he had spent his wealth on the path of Allah in a manner that there remained no more

---

Wasa'il-ush-Shi` ah, vol. ۱۳, p. ۳۵۲ ۱-۱

Wasa'il-ush-Shi` ah, vol. ۱۳, p. ۳۵۹ ۲-۲

Ibid, p. ۳۶۰ ۳-۳

property from him. When the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) became aware of it, he asked: " What did you do with that man? " Then, the people thereby answered that they had buried him. The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: "If I had been informed of it before, I would not have permitted you to bury him in the graveyard of Muslims, because he has left his ".little children reduced to beggary

Bequest, Obligatory or Recommended

As it was said before, making testament, in essence, is among the emphatically recommended actions, but sometimes it becomes obligatory for some people. For instance, when a person has neglected or failed to pay the godly obligatory rights, or there are some things with him belonging to people, (formerly deposited to him), and the one thinks that their rights may be transgressed if he does not bequeath, then bequeathing is obligatory. More important than that is when the position of a person in a society is so that if he does not make a bequest it is probable that the safe system of that society or their religion be inflicted an irreparable severe blow upon. So, in all .of these circumstances, it is obligatory to bequeath

Bequest, is Changeable During the Life

The testator is not restricted by Islam to what he has bequeathed himself. A person is allowed to review the amount, the manner, and the executor of the bequest as long as he is alive, because when the time passes, circumstances may vary and his
.attitudes upon the aforementioned subjects change, too

This point is also necessary to be mentioned that we must make use of bequest as a means of repairing our former shortcomings, in a manner that even if some of our relatives had shown unkindness to us, we dispaly affection to them by the way of testament. It is cited in some Islamic narrations that the leaders of Islam bequeathed some money especially for those relatives who were not kind to them in order to .attract their affection again

Fasting, the Origin of Piety

Next to several important ordinances of Islam stated in the former verses, these current verses refer to another ordinance, i.e. fasting, which is one of the most serious acts of worship. The Qur'ān, with the same tone of emphasis that was applied
:for the previous verses, says

O' you who have Faith! Fasting is prescribed for you as it was prescribed for those "
" ... ,before you

Then, immediately after this, it refers to the philosophy of this humanizing worship
:and, in a short but meaningful sentence, says

".(so that you may guard yourselves (against evil ..."

According to what the Late Kolayny says in his famous book (Al-Kāfī), piety is rendered into one's restriction from sin. Most sins originate from wrath and lust. Fasting brings the extravagance of this instinct under control, which, consequently, (decreases corruption and increases piety. (1

Yes, fasting is a great effective factor in the process of training the spirit of piety in all

.dimensions of every field. This will be addressed in detail later

Since this worship is accompanied with deprivation from some material pleasures and one must suffer some troubles especially when it

p: ۸۱

---

Al-Kafi, vol. ۲, p. ۱۸۱-۱

is in summer, there are different particular meanings used in the above verse to make
.the mind of believers ready for the acceptance of this decree

To attract the attentions and to make the subject an interesting one for the :addressees, it begins with the phrase

" !O' you who have Faith "

Then, it refers to the statement of the fact that fasting is not appointed only for .Muslim Ummah but it had been practised by the former nations, too

Finally, the philosophy of fasting, and that the fruitful results of this Divinely ordered
.duty return totally to you, is stated

:A tradition narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) says

The pleasure found in (the phrase: ` O' you who have Faith! ' is so that) it has "

Some Specifics Regarding Fasting

In the next verse, again, in order to reduce the hardship of fasting, it states a few :other commands regarding this. It initiates the subject thus "... .Fast for) a certain number of days)"

It is not so that you be obliged to fast all the year through or a considerable part of it,
.but fasting is for only a small section of the year

:Another matter is that

But whoever among you is sick or on a journey, then (he shall fast) the same..."

"... ,number of other days

Then there comes the third group, those who are absolutely unable to fast, such as elderly men, elderly women, the constant patients with chronic diseases, where it

:says

and for those who are hardly able to do it, (there is) a redemption by feeding an ..."
"... indigent

"... ,But whoever volunteers to do good, it is better for him ..."

And finally, at the end of the verse, the fact is restated, which

---

Majma` -ul-Bayān, vol. ٢, p. ٢٧١ -١

:itself is another emphasis on the philosophy of fasting, thus

"And it is better for you that you fast, if you did (only) know ..."

This meaning also refers to the fact that the worship of fasting, as other worships, does not add anything to the Glory and Dignity of Allah but all its merits are for the worshipper. Islamic traditions confirm the same meaning, too

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h) has said: " He who fasts during the fasting month for the (sake of Allah, all his sins will be forgiven." (1)

It is also cited in a divine tradition that Allah says: " Fasting is Mine, and I do reward (it." (2)

:Also, in another tradition it is narrated from the holy Prophet (p.h.u.h.) who said (There is an alms for every thing, and the alms of bodies is fasting." (3) "

Hence, it makes clear that the phrase: "...it is better for you that you fast, ..." addresses all those who fast, not only a particular group of them

The last verse of this group of verses introduces the time of fasting and a part of its ordinances and their philosophies. At first it says that those certain days that you must :fast are the month of Ramadān, and

"...The month of Ramadān is that wherein the Qur'ān was sent down "

:And this Qur'ān is the same that is to be a guidance for mankind, and as clear signs of guidance and a criterion..."

"... ((between right and wrong

Then again, the command for the passengers and the sick is restated and, as an :emphasis, it says

Therefore, whoever of you is present (at his home) during the month, he shall fast..." therein, and whoever is sick or on a journey, he shall then (fast) the same number of "...;other days

The repetition of the ordinance of the sick and passenger in this verse and the previous one may be for the purpose that some people, thinking that not to fast is absolutely a disgraceful action, insist on fasting when they are sick or are on a journey, so the Qur'ān, by this repetition, makes the Muslims understand that fasting is a divine duty for the safe and sound persons while, in the same manner, not fasting is also a divine command for the sick and passengers (with their proper conditions) so that the offense of it is a sin

At the end of the verse, it pays attention to the philosophy of the divine legislation of fasting once more, and says

"... :Allah desires ease for you, and He does not desire hardship for you ..."

It points to this fact that although fasting is apparently a kind of strictness and limitation, its conclusion is ease and tranquility of man, both spiritually and materially

This sentence may hint to this matter that the Divine commands are not similar to the commands of tyrants. In the case that the fulfilment of an action is very laboursome, Allah enjoins an easier duty to be performed. Therefore, the ordinance of fasting, with all its importance, was exempted for the sick, passengers, and those feeble ones unable to perform it

:Then, it adds

"... ,(So you should complete the number (of days decreed..."

This means that every one who is safe should fast one month a year because it is necessary for his health. For this reason, if a person is sick or on a journey during the month of Ramadān, the one must belate the accomplishment of fasting those days until the same number is completed. Even menstruous women, who are excused from establishing prayers, are not exempted from fasting at a later date

:So, in the final sentence of the verse, it says and exalt Allah for His having guided you, and that haply you might be grateful (to..."

".(Him

Yes, we must exalt Allah for the guidances He has endowed upon us, and be thankful to Him for all those blessings He has mercifully given us

It is noteworthy that the act of thanksgiving is mentioned with the term 'haply', while the matter of exalting Allah is stated conclusively. This difference of statement may be for the reason that the fulfilment of this worship (fasting) is, at any rate, the exaltation of the Essence of Allah, but thanksgiving, which is the same as using the blessings in their proper sites and taking benefit from the effects and practical issues of fasting, has some conditions which will not be fulfilled unless those conditions be obtained, the most important of which are: a perfect sincerity, the recognition of the reality of fasting, and acknowledgement about the philosophy of fasting

Fasting and Its Educational, Social, and Hygienical Effects

From the point of various effects that fasting may spiritually and materially produce in the unity of man, it has different dimensions that can be discussed. The ethical dimension and the philosophy of fasting are the most important of all

Fasting makes the soul of man elegant, then strengthens his will, and moderates his instincts

The one who observes the fast, although he is hungry and thirsty, must restrain himself from eating food and drinking water, and also, from the pleasure of sexual intercourse when he is fasting. One must prove that he/she can hold the rein of his/her restive passions and is able to dominate his/her desires and lusts

Indeed, the most important philosophy of fasting is this very spiritual status of it. A person who has many kinds of food and drinks available at his reach to use of them whenever he is hungry or thirsty cannot be so tolerant at the time he is in lack of them. But the one who observes the fast is like a plant which grows in a dry desert. It resists when water is rare, stands steadfast against strong storms and intense cold. Such people can deal with deprivations when they are challenged with them, and, therefore, can be firm and perseverant

Fasting trains the soul of a person. With temporary restrictions, fasting gives man perseverance, authority in will, ability of challenging with severe deprivations, and, since it controls restive instincts, it showers light and inner purity into the heart

However, fasting causes man to promote from the animate nature so that he can ascend unto the rank and the world of angels

The phrase: "...haply you might be grateful (to Him) " may point to

p: ۸۵

.the same fact

And, also, the famous tradition from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) is another hint to the same matter which says: " Fasting is a protector from Fire." \(۱\)

Another tradition narrated from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) says that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was asked what they would do that Satan be banished, and he (p.b.u.h.) answered: " Fasting blackens his face; charity breaks his back; the love in (the path of) Allah, and persistence in righteous deeds put an end to him, and seeking (Allah's) \(forgiveness cuts his aorta." \(۲\)

When Ali-ibn-Abī-Tālib (a.s.), stating the philosophy of worship, speaks about fasting and he, says: " (Allah has laid down) fasting as a trial of the people in their \(sincerity..." \(۳\)

In another tradition, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has said: " Verily, there is a door for (entering) Heaven by the name of ` Al-Rayyān ' (quenched of thirst) none enters \(therein but fasting ones." \(۴\)

Explaining this tradition, the Late Ṣadūq cites in his book ` Ma`āny-ul-Akhhbār ' the reason that this name has been taken for that door of Heaven is that much of the toil of a fasting person is because of his thirst. So when the fasting ones enter this door,
.they will be so saturated that they will never become thirsty thereafter

The Social Effect of Fasting

Every intelligent person realizes that fasting works as a lesson of equality among the members of a society. By practicing the religious command, the rich realize perceptibly both the state of the hungry and the deprived of their society, and, with
.saving in their daily meals, can help them well

It is possible, of course, that by explaining the status of the hungry and the deprived ,to the rich, it will make them understand that status

Bihār-ul-Anwar, vol. ۹۶, p. ۲۵۶ ۱-۱

Ibid, p. ۲۵۵; aotra is the main artery of the body carrying blood from the left ۲-۲
.ventricle of the hear to arteries in all organs and parts

Nahjul-Balaqah, Saying No. ۲۵۲ ۳-۳

Bihar-ul-Anwar, vol. ۹۶, p. ۲۵۲ ۴-۴

but if this condition becomes perceptible and objective, it will react more effectively.

.Fasting gives this great social subject a perceptible form to those who observe it

It is narrated from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) in a well-known tradition that Hishām-ibn-Ḥakam asked him about the reason for the divine legislation of this ordinance when he (a.s.)said: " Allah has enjoined fasting in order to settle equivalence between the rich and the poor, and this is for the sake that the rich feel the taste of hunger and, consequently, be merciful toward the poor (by giving them their rights). And, since the things are usually available for the rich, then Allah, the Exalted, is pleased when equivalence is erected between His servants. So, He, thereby, has ordained that the rich feel the taste of hunger and pain so that they feel sympathy for the weak and be (merciful toward the hungry.)"

Verily, if the populations of rich countries throughout the world customarily fast a few days a year and feel the taste of hunger, will there

? still remain so many hungry people in the world

Fasting and Its Hygienical and Remedial Effects

In modern medicine, as well as the old one, the miraculous effect of 'abstinence' in curing kinds of sicknesses have been proven so evidently that it cannot be deniable. Few of physicians have not pointed out this fact in their scientific notes. As all of us know, the reason of the origin of many diseases is gluttony, because the unabsorbed extra materials of food-stuffs in the form of obtrusive tallow or additional sugar in blood remain in different parts of the body. These additional materials, inside the levies of muscles of body, are, in fact, as some putrid oozy sites where kinds of microbes of some infectious diseases can grow. The best way of defending against these sicknesses is to annihilate them by means of abstinence and fasting

Besides this property of fasting, which causes the additional and unabsorbed materials of the body to be burnt, fasting is a considerable

.factor for servicing the body with giving a rest to the organs of digestion

This rest is extremely necessary for these organs. They are the most important parts .of the body and are continuously busy working throughout the year

It is clear that one who observes the fast, as Islam advises, ought not to eat too much food at the time of breaking the fast and just before the dawn during the fasting month of Ramadān in order to enjoy the result of the hygienical effect of fasting,
.otherwise the consequence may become contrary

Alexy Sufurin, a Russian scientist, writes in his book that by means of fasting a specific :result can be obtained in treating diseases such as anemia, dyspepsia, chronic extended enteritis, furuncle and inner abscess, consumption, rheumatism, gout (padagra, chiragra, gonagra), dropsy, sciatica, some .ophthalmic diseases, diabetes, skin diseases, renal diseases, and so on

Treatment through fasting is not limited to the foregoing diseases alone, but also the sicknesses concerning the fundamentals of the body involving the bodily cells like (cancer, syphilis, and plague can be cured by means of fasting.)

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is narrated to have said in a famous tradition: "Fast to be (healthy)."

Again, in another tradition he (p.b.u.h.) has said: " The stomach is the site of all (ailments, while dietary (abstinence) is the head of all remedies."

Fasting in Former Religions

The existing Torah and Bible indicate that the Jews and the Christians had fasting, too, (Math.6:16,17;and Luke 5: 33-35). The followers of some other religions used to fast
.in times of sorrow and affliction

In the Lexicon of the Bible it is cited that fasting, in general, has always been practised among every nation and in any religion at the \(time of an unexpected sorrow or disaster. 1\)

It is also caught from the Torah that Moses (a.s.) had forty days of fasting. It is cited in the Old Testament thus: " When I was gone up into the mount to receive the tables of stone, even the tables of covenant which the Lord made with you, then I abode in the ,mount forty days and forty nights

\(I neither did eat bread nor drink water." 2\)

Also, at the time of repentance and seeking the pleasure of the Lord, the Jews fasted. So, it is cited in the Lexicon of the Bible that when the Jews got the opportunity that they wanted to state their weakness and humility before the Lord, they fasted in order that they confess their faults and to obtain the pleasure of His Essence by \(means of that fasting and repentance. 3\)

It is probable that ` the Great Fasting with atonement ', which was for one particular .day a year, was common among the Jewish people

They had, of course, some other temporary days to fast in remembrance of the \(destruction of Jerusalem, etc., too. 4\)

.As the Bible indicates, Jesus (a.s.) had also forty days of fasting

:It says thus

Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. 1) "\(And when he had fasted forty days and nights, he was afterward an hungred." 2\)

It is also understood from the Evangel that the disciples of Jesus used to fast. It says: " 33) And they said unto him, Why do the disciples of John fast often and make prayers, and likewise the disciples of the Pharisees; but thine eat and drink? 34) And he said unto them, Can ye make the children of the bridechamber fast, while the bridegroom is with them? 35) But the days will come, when the bridegroom shall be taken away from

Thus, the Qur'ānic sentence saying: "... as it was prescribed for those before you, ..." is also confirmed with many historical religious evidences existing in other divine religions even after they had been perverted

Ramadān, the Transcendent Month

The month of Ramadān has been selected for fasting because it has a preference to other lunar months of the year. In the verse under discussion, this preference is stated such that the Qur'ān, which is the Book of Guidance for humankind and, with its commands and legislations, has separated the right from wrong to lead man toward prosperity, was revealed in the month of Ramadān. Besides that, both some verses of the Qur'ān and the Islamic literature indicate that all the great heavenly Books, such as the Torah, the Bible, the Psalms of David, the Books of Ibrāhīm, and the Qur'ān, have all totally been sent down in this month

In this respect, Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) said: " The Torah was sent down on the sixth of Ramadān, the Bible on the twelfth, the Psalms on the eighteenth and the Qur'ān by \(the Night of Destiny \(Laylat-ul-Qadr\) in Ramadān." \(3

Thus, the month of Ramadān had always been the month of the great heavenly Books to be sent down. This month had been the month of education, since training without teaching and practice is fruitless. The training aim of Fasting should also be parallel with the more and the utmost profound knowledge about the divine instructions so that it

.wipes out the soul and self of man from sin

Once, on the last Friday of Sha`bān, the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) delivered a sermon about the significance of the month of Ramadān to prepare his companions for receiving this sacred month. In that great sermon he (p.b.u.h.) said

O' people! Allah's month has approached you laden with blessing, mercy and " forgiveness. It is a month which Allah regards as the best of all months

Its days, in the sight of Allah, are the best of days; its nights are the best of nights; " and its hours are the best of hours

It is a month in which you are invited to be the guests of Allah, and you are regarded " during it as worthy of Allah's Grace

In this month, your breathing praises Allah, and your sleeping adores Him. Your " deeds (of worship) are accepted, and your pleas are answered therein

Therefore, ask Allah, your Lord, in sincere intentions and pure hearts to enable you " to observe the fast and to recite His Book (the Qur'ān) during this month, for only a " wretch is the one who is deprived of Allah's Forgiveness in this great month

Let your hunger and thirst during it remind you of the hunger and the thirst of the " Day of Judgement. Give alms to the poor and indigent among you, respect your " elderly and be kind to your youngsters, and strengthen blood-kinship of yours

Safeguard your tongues (from sin), do not look at what Allah has prohibited your " eyes from watching it, and do not listen to what your ears are forbidden to hear. Be kind to the orphans of other people, so that your own orphans be consequently given " ... affections, too

' The Principle of ` No Hardship

In the above mentioned verse, this matter was pointed out that Allah's Will is not that you be troubled and uneasy, but He ordained so that you feel ease. It is certain that this ordinance here is about the proposition of fasting and its benefits together with the concerning commandment due to passengers and sick persons. But, regarding its universality, this ordinance has been used as a general principle upon all Islamic rules, and the verse has been taken as a reference for it which is known as the rule of 'No Hardship' (lā-ḥaraj) among jurists

This religious rule says that the foundation of the Islamic legislation is not based upon hardship. So, if, somewhere, an ordinance creates intense hardship, it can be exempted temporarily. For instance, the jurists have said that when performing one's ablution or standing erect, and the like of them, due to establishing prayers requires much pain, it changes to dry ablution and prayers in sitting position

Concerning the lack of hardship in Islam, it is also stated in Sura Hajj No. 22, verse 28, "thus: "...He has chosen you and has not laid upon you any hardship in religion

Also, another hint to this subject is the famous tradition of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) where he says: "I was appointed to a tolerant and facile religion." (

Conclusion

In these verses, the philosophy of fasting accompanied with some concerning ordinances are stated for the benefit of Muslim believers to follow

By the way, fasting had been in vogue in every religion in some form or other. It is one of the cardinal doctrines of the practice of the faith, in Islam, taking its rank next only to the obligatory five times daily prayers. These verses of the Qur'ān show that fasting was enjoined by all the prophets of Allah who preceded the holy Prophet (Muhammad (p.b.u.h

It should also be noted that fasting in Islam is to train to suppress our natural appetites and shun evil. It does not mean abstaining only from food but from every kind of evil. Abstention from food is only a step towards the realization that if one has to abstain from that which is lawful, how much more he must abstain from what had been forbidden by Allah. The main object of the Islamic fast is to purify the conduct and character and get the soul charged with divine attributes of Allah in the practical life for one complete month. It helps the Muslims to guard themselves against evil as well as conditioning with restraint by habituating themselves to suffer physical affliction and self-control and resistance and fortitude which they must always be prepared to suffer in the defence of faith and the faithful

On the other hand, since Islam is a tolerant and easy religion, fasting is not allowed for those who are on lawful journey. Or, it is exempted for Muslims in the case of the risk of any illness being aggravated, testified by a reliable doctor. This status is for that Islam does not will intense hardship for its followers

١٨٦ وَإِذَا سَأَلَكَ عِبَادِي عَنِّي فَإِنِّي قَرِيبٌ أُجِيبُ دَعْوَةَ الدَّاعِ إِذَا دَعَانِ فَلْيَسْتَجِيبُوا لِي وَلْيُؤْمِنُوا بِي لَعَلَّهُمْ يَرْشُدُونَ

(:When My servants ask you concerning Me, then (say unto them " ١٨٦.

verily I am nigh: I answer the prayer of every supplicant when he calls on Me; so (they " .should) hearken unto My call, and believe in Me, in order that they may be led aright

Occasion of Revelation

Point

Once someone asked the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) whether Allah was near so that they could whisper to Him or He was far so that they would speak to Him loudly. Then, the (above verse was revealed (to answer that Allah is close to His servants.).(1

An Armament Called Supplication

Since one of the means of approaching to Allah for His servants is the phenomenon of supplication, next to the statement of a great part of Islamic ordinances in the former verses, this verse pays particular attention to this subject. This phenomenon is a general process for all supplicants and those who want to resort to Allah, yet its occurrence among the verses related to fasting gives it an additional concept. The reason is that the spirit of every worship is obtaining nearness to Allah by the sincere .wailing or cry of the heart

:This verse, addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) says

"...;When My servants ask you concerning Me, then (say unto them:) verily I am nigh "

I am closer (to them) than they may consider. I am closer than you to yourself; and closer than your life-vein to you. In another occurrence in the Qur'ān, Allah, referring to man, says: "...and We are nearer to him than his life-vein ", (Sura Qāf, No. ٥٠, verse (١٦.

:Then, it adds

"...;I answer the prayer of every supplicant when he calls on Me..."

"... ,so (they should) hearken unto My call..."

"...,and believe in Me..."

"...in order that they may be led aright..."

It is noteworthy that, in this verse, Allah has pointed to His pure Essence seven times, and to His servants, too, seven times. Thus, He has illustrated thereby His utmost connection, nearness and love unto His servants

Abdullah-ibn-Sanān says that he heard that Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) said: " Try to pray very much because it is the key of Allah's forgiveness and the means of obtaining any want. There are some blessings and graces with Allah that reaching them is impossible but via supplication. And, do know that any door which you knock it will finally be opened."

Yes, He is near to us. How can He be far from us while His site is between the self of man and his heart, as the Qur'ān says: "...and know that Allah intervenes between \(man and his heart,..." (Sura Al-'Anfāl, No. ٨, verse ٢٤

?How Are Supplications Answered

Before that we expect our supplications be answered, we must practise purifying our heart and soul, repent from our sins, and follow the way of the divine leaders' career

Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) is narrated who has said: " Be aware, any one of you, not to ask – ١ his Lord any thing of the necessities for this world and the coming one unless the one initiates with praising Allah and paying tribute to Him, and with benediction upon the Prophet and his progeny (p.b.u.th.). Thereafter, he ought to confess his sins (before \(Him\) and then asks his want." \(٢

A person should strive to sanctify his life from properties that he has obtained by – ۲ usurpation, oppression and cruelty so that his food-stuff would not be from any unlawful origin. There is a tradition

p: ۹۵

---

Al-Usul-min-al-Kafi, vol. ۲, p. ۴۶۸ ۱ –۱

Bihār-ul-Anwar, vol. ۹۳, p. ۳۱۲ ۲ –۲

from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who has said: "He who wishes that his supplications be answered must surely purify his food and his earnings (to be lawful)." (1)

A person should not restrain from struggling against corruption and inviting others – ۳ unto right and truth, since those who abandon the act of enjoining right and forbidding wrong, their supplications are scarcely ever answered. It is narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said: " You should enjoin right and forbid wrong, or Allah may set up your wicked ones as absolute masters over your good ones. Then, (whatsoever the good pray it will not be answered." (۲)

The abandonment of this great duty, in fact, creates some disorders in the society, the result of which is boldness of the vicious of the society with no defence therein. In this case, supplication for the removal of its fruits is useless, because those evil effects are the direct consequence of the behaviour of those people themselves

True faith, righteous deed, faithfulness and uprightness are some other conditions – ۴ of the fulfilment of supplications. Hence, the person who does not keep his promise before Allah should not expect to be involved among those whom Allah has promised to answer

Once, someone went to Imam Amir-ul-mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) and complained about why his supplications were not answered though Allah had said: "...call upon Me, I will (answer you,..." (Sura Al-Mu'min, No. ۴۰, verse ۶۰

In answer to that question, the holy Imam said: " Your hearts (minds) have acted :treacherously toward eight characteristics, (so, your supplications are not answered

You have known Allah but you have not paid His right such that has been enjoined – ۱ upon you. Therefore, your cognition does not benefit you anything

You have believed in His Messenger while thereafter, you have opposed his – ۲ ?Sunnah. You are in his religion, then, where is the fruit of your Faith

Surely you have recited his revealed book but you do not act – ۳ accordingly. And, you said: " We have heard and we obey " \(1\) , whereas you opposed

.it then

You say you fear the Fire (of Hell), While you always commit your own sins, and you –۴
?approach it thereby; then, where is your fear

You say you are eager and interested in Heaven (the Divine reward) but you always –۵ do some things which send you away from it; so, where is that inclination that you ? have to it

.Verily, you eat the blessing of Allah but you do not show gratitude about it –۶

Certainly Allah has ordered you to be the enemy of Satan, and He has said: " Surely –۷ the Satan is your enemy, so take him for an enemy;..." (Sura Fātir, No. ۳۵, verse ۶).
Verbally you claim that you are his enemy but actually you make friends with Satan
.without opposing him

You have put the faults of people before your eyes and your own ones at your –۸ backs. Then, what supplication of yours can be answered for you with this case that you yourselves have closed its doors? So, fear Allah and improve your deeds, purify your intentions, and enjoin right and forbid wrong. It is in this case that Allah answers \(۲\) you your supplications."

This expressive tradition clearly says: the promise of Allah to answer supplications is a conditioned promise, not an absolute one. It is conditioned that you fulfil your promises and covenants, too; whereas you have broken promises in eight ways. So, if .you put an end to this breach of promise, your call will be answered practising upon the foregoing eight instructions which are, in fact, the conditions of supplications to be answered, is enough for training Man and employing his faculties

.alongside a productive and fruitful path

Another condition of the answering of supplication is that it should be accompanied .(۵ by struggle, effort and studious action. Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) says: " He who prays but does not exert

---

Sura al-Nisā, No. ۴, verse ۴۶ ۱ –۱
Bihār-ul-Anwar, vol. ۹۳, p. ۲۷۶ ۲ –۲

effort is like the one who shoots without a bow-string." (1)

Regarding to the fact that a bow-string is the means of sending an arrow towards the target, the function of effort and action in the efficacy of prayer is made manifest

All the aforementioned five conditions illustrate this reality that not only supplication should not substitute the natural phenomena and ordinary means of obtaining the goal, but for its being answered, a general change is also necessary to occur in the career of the supplicant. His spirit should be renewed, and his former deeds must be reviewed so that the demanded results come into existence for the supplicant

Thus, reverting to supplication or the efficacy of prayer does not at all exclude the necessity on the part of the supplicant of the use of the necessary external means of achieving the desired object. The connection between the practical means and prayer is indissoluble. Any sincere seeker of an object will naturally look for the practical means to achieve it. In the search for the means one must endeavour as best as possible for him, employing all his native faculties, devoting the necessary time and attention to achieve the desired object. When one is in his search for the means, open and hidden, he naturally desires guidance from the Higher Power from which nothing is hidden and for which nothing is impossible or difficult. Prayer blesses the supplicant by granting him the guidance necessary for the realization of the desire

A Few Narrations Upon Supplication

It is narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) – 1 said: " The most beloved deeds on the earth with Allah, Mighty and Glorious, is prayer; and the best worship is piety ". Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) added that Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) was a man who used to pray very much. (2)

Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who – 2 said: " Prayer is the believer's armour, the pillar of religion, and the (spiritual) light of The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " Shall I not lead you to a weapon which saves you -۴

:Occasion of Revelation

It is so understood from the Islamic literature that at the advent of the revelation of the command of fasting, Muslims were allowed to eat a meal before sleeping at night.
So, if anyone occasionally fell asleep at night and then awoke, eating and drinking was .unlawful (ḥarām) for the one

Once, one of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) by the name of Mat`am-ibn Jubayr, who was a weak man, fasted in that situation. In the evening, he entered home for breaking the fast. When his wife went to prepare food for him, he fell asleep because of fatigue and weariness. After some while he woke up and, then, he said he was not allowed to eat and he could not break the fast, and, therefore, with the same state of hunger, he slept. Next morning, in the state of fasting, he attended a place around Medina to dig ditches in order to prepare themselves for the battle of aḥzāb. While he was in the effort and struggle of digging, he fainted as a result of hunger and weakness. Then, when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) came to him he was touched upon seeing his situation

Also, a group of young Muslims, who could not control themselves, associated with their wives during the nights of Ramadān

It was in that circumstance that the revelation was sent down and let Muslims eat and drink during the length of night and associate (sexual intercourse) with their own wives as well

Commentary: Verse 186

Point

As it was mentioned in the occasion of revelation, at the advent of Islam, association with wives was forbidden during night and day in Ramadān. Eating and drinking after sleeping was also not permissible

That was, perhaps, a trial as well as a preparation for Muslims so that they would accept the ordinances of fasting

The verse under discussion, which consists of four Islamic ordinances about fasting and the act of devotion in the mosques, initiates the matter thus

"...;It is made lawful for you to go in unto your wives on the night of the fast "

:Then, it pays to the philosophy of this subject and says

"... they are a garment for you and you are a garment for them..."

The primary thought or the meaning accommodated in the description of clothing used here relating to the mutual relation of husband and wife and the mutual comfort and protection they afford to each other, is superb and unique in its expression. There cannot be a

p: ۱۰۱

better description of the position of a man and wife and their relation to each other,
.which is unsurpassed in beauty

Clothing, on one hand, protects man against heat and cold, and also against the danger of foreign bodies scraping or penetrating the skin. On the other hand, clothing not only covers the disgraces of the body, but also is an ornament for a person. The .metaphor mentioned in this verse is a hint to all of these meanings

Two spouses protect each other from deviations. They hide the faults and blemishes of each other. They provide the means of rest and tranquillity for each other. Each of .them is counted as the ornament of the other

This meaning makes the utmost spiritual connection and coherence of man and woman clear as well as their nearness to each other. It also points to the equality of man and woman in this respect, since whatever thing is said about men equally, and .with no change, is mentioned about women

:Then, the Qur'ān refers to the reason of the change of this divine law and says Allah knew that you used to act unfaithfully among yourselves, so He has turned to"

"...you (mercifully) and pardoned you

Yes, in order that you commit no more sin, Allah mercifully made that duty easy for .you and decreased the length of its restriction

"... .So now you may associate with them and seek what Allah prescribed for you..."

This matter is certainly not in the sense of obligation but it is a permission after that
.state of prohibition. So, the idea can be taken as an evidence of permissibility

The phrase: "...and seek what Allah prescribed for you ..." points to this fact that utilizing this permission and reduction, which is on the path of the laws of creation and
.preservation of the regularity of ' seed permanence ', is no problem at all

:Then, it refers to the second ordinance and says

Eat and drink until the white thread (of dawn) becomes manifest unto you from the..."

"... ,black thread (of night) at the dawn-break

Therefore, Muslims could eat and drink all the night long until the dawn when they .would stop

p: ١٠٢

:Then the statement is upon the third ordinance, thus

"...then complete the fast till nightfall..."

This statement is another emphasis on the prohibition of eating and drinking and sexual intercourse during the day time for those who observe the fast. It is an indicative point to the beginning and the end of a fast which begins from the dawn and ends at night

:Finally, it points to the fourth ordinance when it says and do not approach them (your wives) while you are at your devotion in the..."

"... .mosques

The statement of this ordinance is like an exception for the former ordinance, because in this situation, the length of which is at least three days, they fast but during this limited time they can have sexual intercourse neither in days nor at nights

:At the end of the verse, alluding to all the foregoing ordinances, it says

"... .These are limits (set by) Allah, therefore do not approach (violate) them"

Approaching the bounds is sometimes tempting and causes that man violates them ,and commits sins. Yes

Thus Allah makes clear His Signs for mankind, so that they may guard themselves..."
".((against evil

:Explanation

Allah's Limits

As is was mentioned in the commentary of the above verses, the Holy Qur'ān, after stating some ordinances about fasting and being at devotion, renders these ordinances, as the `limits set by Allah': the bounds between lawful (ḥalāl) and unlawful (ḥarām) matters, and the limits between prohibited and permissible things. It is noteworthy that the Qur'ān does not say `do not pass the limits', but it says: " do not approach them", because approaching the limits is tempting and sometimes, under the influence of lusts or because of being involved in mistakes, a person may violate .them

It is for this very reason that some Islamic laws forbid man from stepping into the situations that may cause him to slip and commit sins, such as taking part in a society of sinners, even though he himself does not share in it; or being with a non-relative, of the opposite sex in a lonely private place wherein no one can enter

The term originally means 'to seclude oneself in a place, or to remain a long time beside something'. In religion it means keeping to the mosques for the purpose of worship. The duration of this retreat is three days during which the person fasts and abandons some pleasures. This worship has a profound effect in purification of the soul and attending to the Providence. The manner and conditions of this worship are mentioned in the books of Islamic jurisprudence. This worship, of course, is essentially counted among the recommended deeds, but in some particular circumstances, exceptionally, it becomes obligatory. At any rate, the verse under discussion refers to only one of its conditions because of its connection to the proposition of fasting, i.e. the lack of association with wives whether at night or in the daytime

The Dawn

The term /fajr/ basically means 'break open', hence the light of the dawn, which breaks the gloom of night with its bright advent, in the Qur'ānic term is called /fajr

In the verse under discussion, in addition to the above term, the dawn has been rendered thus until the white thread (of dawn) becomes manifest unto you from the black thread..."

"...((of night

It is interesting that a tradition says that 'Udayy-ibn-Hātam, one of the believers, once came to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and said that he had put two white and black threads in front of him watching them, but it (the dawn) did not become manifest for him. Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) laughed so that his holy teeth appeared. Then, he (p.b.u.h.) said: " O' son of Hātam! verily, it is the whiteness of day (dawn) and the (darkness of night. Then, begin from this time." (1)

At the end of the night, at first a very weak white colour rises in the sky without extending laterally and appears to be black, presenting itself like an obstacle on the horizon, and is compared to the tail of a fox whose narrow end is onto the horizon and its conical shaped end is in the mid-sky. This is the `False Dawn'. But after a while a clear white light appears, rising, filling the horizon with its whiteness, like a white thread stretched beside a black thread, and, thereafter, spreads throughout the sky with a special brightness by which the night ends and the day begins. This is the `True Dawn ' when the morning prayer can, then, be performed

Piety, the Beginning and the End

It is interesting that in the first verse concerning the ordinance of fasting it was stated that the ultimate aim of it is piety. This very meaning is also exactly repeated at the end of the last verse of this group of verses saying: " So that they may guard themselves (against evil)." This shows that all of these rites are a means of training the spirit of piety and self-restraint in man in order to produce a faculty of guarding against evil and to feel responsibility before the duties of mankind

Verse 188, Arabic; English Translation

١٨٨ وَلَا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ وَتُدْلُوا بِهَا إِلَى الْحُكَّامِ لِتَأْكُلُوا فَرِيقًا مِنْ أَمْوَالِ النَّاسِ بِالْإِثْمِ وَأَنْتُمْ تَعْلَمُونَ

And do not devour your property among yourselves by wrongful means, nor " ١٨٨ offer it as a bribe to judges, with intent that you may unlawfully swallow up a portion ".of other people's property, while you know

Commentary: Verse 188

Point

This verse prohibits Muslims from committing a very indecent action. It tells them not to swallow up the property of other people unrightfully, and not to earn wealth through a wrong way. They should be aware not to occupy the belongings of others forcefully and unjustly and then the oppressors refer to the judges so that haply they might give them something as a present or bribe in order to appropriate people's properties oppressively. If so, they have done two great wrongs

.devouring others' rights, and bribery

And do not devour your property among yourselves by wrongful means, nor offer it " as a bribe to judges, that you may unlawfully swallow up a portion of other people's ".property, while you know

:The subject of bribery is so important in Islam that Imam Sādiq (a.s.) says about it (and bribery in judgement is the same as disbelief in Allah, the Exalted." (١)...

:The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is narrated to have said in a famous tradition Curse of Allah be upon the bribee, the briber and the one who makes every effort " (between them." (٢)

Something similar to this meaning is expressed in Sura An-Nisā'. No. ٤, verse ٢٩ where it says: " ... do not devour your property among yourselves falsely, except that it be " ... ,trading by your mutual consent

The verse under discussion clearly says that if some ones gain a

p: ۱۰۶

Bihār-ul-Anwar, vol. ۱۰۴, p. ۲۷۴۲-۲

case by giving bribes, the wealth under the suit which they win will be unlawful for them. Thus, the mere apparent winning in the court does not make the properties lawful. This very fact is clearly referred to in a tradition from the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) where it says: " Verily, I am a human being (who is commissioned to judge between you through apparent means). If a conflict comes forth to me in which some of you may have stronger evidence than that of the other party, then I will judge in favour of him according to it. So, if I thereby judge for him upon the right of a Muslim, it is a piece of fire. He can take it or leave it off."

Bribery, a Calamity

One of the calamities that humankind had been entangled with from the earliest times, and which is running with a more intense speed today, is bribery. It has been one of the greatest barriers of the execution of social justice. It causes that the regulations and laws, which must basically preserve the rights of the oppressed groups, to be employed, in most societies, to support the interests of the authoritative groups

It is the rights of the weak, in fact, that law must support, for the rich and powerful people, with the possibilities they have, are always capable to defend their benefits. Evidently, if the path of bribery be opened, laws and judges may produce just a contrary result, because it is usually the powerful ones who are able to spend in bribery. Therefore, as a consequence, laws can be a new toy for them to continue their Satanic game of transgression and cruelty against the rights of the oppressed

For this reason, when bribery influences in a society, it destroys the foundation of the social life of those people. In this situation, transgression, inequity, injustice and undue distinction penetrate in all organs and, as a result, there remains but a bare name of laws and justice

That is why Islam, showing the foulness of bribery, has condemned it intensely so that it has been counted a great sin in the view of the

.religion

It is worthy noting that the ugliness of this indecent action is often covered in some other fallacious arguments and charming terms. This status causes that bribers and :bribees usually make use of words such as present, offering, dedication, tip, reward, recompense, and so on, for the bribe. But it is clear that these variations of names do not change the nature of bribery at all, and, .(however the money paid or taken thereby is certainly unlawful (ḥarām

It is cited in Nahjul-Balāqah that Ash`ath-ibn-Qays went to Ali-ibn-Ali-Tālib (a.s.) in a night with a closed flask full of honey paste to give it to him (a.s.) as a present hoping that he would win the case in the court of Hadrat Ali (a.s.). But Ali (a.s.) surprised and :violately said

Childless women may weep over you. Have you come to deviate me from the " " ?... ,religion of Allah

By Allah, even if I am given all the domains of the seven (stars) with all that exits " under the skies in order that I may disobey Allah to the extent of snatching one grain of barley from an ant, I would not do it. For me, your world is lighter than the leaf in .the mouth of a locust that is chewing it

What has `Ali to do with bounties that will pass away and pleasures that will not last? (...)"(

Islam has condemned bribery in any form and by any name. It is narrated in the history of the life of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) that once he was informed that one of his governor-generals had received a bribe in the form of a present. Then the :Prophet (p.b.u.h.) harshly told him

" ?Why do you take the thing which is not your right "

Then the man, apologizing to him (p.b.u.h.), said that it was a present. Again, the :Prophet (p.b.u.h.) expressed

If you were to remain at home while you were not a governor from my side, would " people present you with anything?"

Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) ordered the present to be taken and be sent inside the Muslim public treasury, when he dismissed him from his rank

---

Nahj-al-Balāqah, Sermon, No. ٢٢٤ ١-١
Al-Imam Ali (a.s), vol. ١, pp. ١٥٥, ١٥٦ ٢-٢

Even, in order that a judge would not confront with bribery in its hidden shapes, Islam advises that judges would not go shopping in the market themselves, lest discounts unconsciously affect on them and, when judging the suit, they eventually take the .side of the giver of the reduction

How good it is that Muslims, inspired by their heavenly Book, do not sacrifice all their !holy things at the foot of bribery

It is also said that the purpose of the verse is that they do not spend the wealth and .properties of each other by means of vain pleasures like gambling or other games

It is narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said: " The Quraish used to play games upon .their wives, children, and personal wealth, losing them

\(Allah prohibited them of doing that.\)

It is better to consider all of these commentaries for the verse, because it can bear .the meanings of them all totally

Section ۲۴: Fighting in Self–defence, Pilgrimage under Restrictions

Point

Religious Calendar to be according to the Lunar Year Regard for the sanctity of the Sacred Month Fighting in self–defence Regard for the sanctity of the holy city Self–defence during the sacred month Pilgrimage under restrictions combining ` Umrah ' with ` Hajj

۱۸۹ يَسْئَلُونَكَ عَنِ الْأَهْلِ قُلْ هِيَ مَوَاقِيتُ لِلنَّاسِ وَالْحَجِّ وَلَيْسَ الْبِرُّ بِأَنْ تَأْتُوا الْبُيُوتَ مِنْ ظُهُورِهَا وَلَكِنَّ الْبِرَّ مَنِ اتَّقَىٰ وَأْتُوا الْبُيُوتَ مِنْ أَبْوَابِهَا وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ لَعَلَّكُمْ تُفْلِحُونَ

:They ask you concerning the new moons; say " ۱۸۹.

.'They are times appointed for mankind and (for) the Hajj `

It is not righteousness that you should enter dwellings from their backs but righteousness is this that one should guard himself (against evil); and enter the dwellings by their (proper) doors, and fear Allah

".that you may be prosperous

:Occasion of Revelation

It has been said that Ma` āz–ibn–Jabal came to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and said that he was frequently asked about the crescent of the moon and that why it gradually changes to a full shape and then alters to its first status

Also, it is narrated that the Jews asked the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) what the crescent of the moon was for and what the use of it was. At that time the above verse was sent down and announced that the different states of the moon have different material and spiritual advantages in the system of the human beings' lives

As mentioned in the occasion of revelation of the verse, some people asked the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) a few questions about the reason of the different peculiar shapes that the Moon seemed to have and the concerning use of them

In answer to these questions, Allah ordered the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to tell them the effects and the different usages of the crescent for all people

:They ask you concerning the new moons; say

'They are times appointed for mankind and (for) the Hajj`

It is not righteousness that you should enter dwellings from their backs but righteousness is this that one should guard himself (against evil); and enter the dwellings by their (proper) doors, and fear Allah

".that you may be prosperous

The rising of the Moon at the beginning of each lunar month in the form of crescent, and then its gradual change, can be the source of many uses in the act of practising worship and the accomplishment of religious duties by people, and in their material career as well. Every body can easily count days of the month and enumerate the month of the year by the help of the varying shapes or forms of the Moon when dealing with trading and writing agreements due to appointing the times of promises and contracts. Besides that, fasting , the performance of the great worship of Pilgrimage and festivals, etc., prescribed by Islam, are timed according to the lunar months. The best way for people to recognize them and decide to arrange the affairs is this very form of the crescent in various shapes when they see them differently at the beginning, in the middle, and at the end of the months

It is obvious that the regularity of the social life of man without a common and precise means of dating is impossible. So, the Moon, indeed, is a natural calendar for all human beings. It is a natural phenomenon that the entire people, whether literate or illiterate, wherever in the world they are, can make use of it

For this reason, the Creator, the Great, has made this worldly calendar available for the use of the human race in their life system

p: ۱۱۱

One of the advantages of Islamic laws is that their orders have usually been arranged corresponding with the natural measures, for these measures are some means that are available to all people and, besides that, the passing of time does not affect them

But, on the contrary, unnatural scales are not within reach to all human beings for every thing. For example, the population of the world have not been able to use of some international measures for timing the evening yet

Therefore, we see that Islam has sometimes assigned the measure of a span, or a man's height and the like of it. And, for appointing a time, phenomena such as sunset, break of dawn, decline of sun from the meridian and the vision of the Moon are usually pointed out

"...It is not righteousness that you should enter dwellings from their backs "

In this verse the statement is partly about the Hajj Pilgrimage which can be performed at its proper time by visual noting the crescent of the Moon. It has also pointed to one of the superstitious customs of the Age of Ignorance accomplished in the rites of pilgrimage which Allah prohibited them from

It was the practice among Arabs that after getting into the pilgrim garment (Iḥrām) they considered it unlawful to enter their house through the usual doors. Hence they cut a new entrance under the ground from behind their premises. They did so because they thought it was a good action since it was a desuetude of habit and, therefore, they would complete the act of the pilgrim garment which was a desuetude (of habits.)

But the Qur'ān explicitly says that righteousness lies in piety, not in the superstitious customs. So, it immediately tells them seriously to enter their houses from the very ordinary doors

But the object and the significance of the revelation of this verse is reasonably wider, greater, and more common. For the fulfilment of any action, whether it is a ritual action or a non-religious one, we should

---

Tafsir-Baydawi, vol. ١, p. ٤٠١ -١

enter it through its proper way, not from a deviated path. Here, entering from behind is a figurative expression for turning aside from the right course, and entering by the door means sticking to the right path. This meaning is narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s.)
(by Jābir, one of his companions.)

In the commentaries from Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) it is narrated about this verse that they :have said

"(We are the doors and the ways of Allah that invite unto (His) Heaven..." )

This tradition means that in your total religious affairs you should arrive by the main door and take your agenda from them (a.s.) whom are trained in the school of (revelation and the Divine Messages were revealed in their house, (Ahlul-Bayt

The phrase: " It is not righteousness..." may point to another narrow meaning saying that your question about the crescent, instead of inquiring about theology, is like the manner of the one who has put the main and right path of the house aside and enters it through a burrow from behind the premise. What a disgraceful manner

And fight in the cause of Allah (against) those who fight you, but be not " .١٩٠
".aggressive, for surely Allah loves not the aggressors

:Occasion of Revelation

It is narrated by Ibn-`Abbās that this verse was revealed about the ` Peace of Hudaibiyah '. The incident was in this manner that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) started on a journey to go to Mecca for `Umrah accompanied by ١٤٠٠ people out of his companions. When they arrived Hudaibiyah, (a land near Mecca), pagans hindered them from entering into Mecca and doing the sacred rites of the `Umrah. After a lot of debates and discussions, they agreed with the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that Muslims would go to Mecca the following year when the pagans would empty the City for them to .circumambulate the Sacred House for three days

The next year, when they set out towards Mecca, they were scared that the pagans might not be loyal to their promise and prohibit them, hence, consequently, a battle could come forth and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was not willing to fight in the forbidden month. So, this verse was sent down and permitted them to defend and fight against .the enemies if they initiated fighting

Point

In this verse, the Qur'ān has issued the command of fighting upon those who initiate war against Muslims. It lets Muslims use swords or any weapons and defensive means in order to stop the enemies. This condition, in fact, is for the time when the circumstances require and the course of patience in Muslims has ended, so they can .openly and courageously defend their rights

? Fight: Why and Against Whom

There are three subjects pointed out in this verse. They make manifest the logic of Islam about war

The first phrase of the verse points to the ideal of the wars in Islam. It says: " And – ۱
" ...fight in the cause of Allah

Then, the main goal in Islamic fights (jihād) is the cause of Allah and the stretch of the Divine laws including: truth, justice, monotheism, and eradication of transgression, degeneration and deviation

Thus, Islam condemns the wars aiming for: vengeance, ambition, conquering other countries, taking lands of others, and obtaining spoils of war. So, taking weapon and setting to war is right only when it is done in the path of Allah

Now, the question is that against whom the holy struggle is right. The second – ۲
:phrase of the verse answers
" ... ,against) those who fight you)..."

It clearly says that Muslims should not begin war unless the opponents initiate fighting by using weapons, except for some peculiar cases which will be pointed out when discussing the verses about Holy War

By the way, it is understood from this verse that civil people (women and children in particular), who have not risen for fighting, must not be invaded and they are, therefore, privileged from invasion

Basing on this principle, the great leader of Islam, Ali-ibn-Abī-tālib (a.s) orders his soldiers thus

Do not fight them unless they initiate the fighting, because, by the grace of Allah, you " are in the right and to leave them till they begin fighting will be another point (of right) (from your side against them. ..."۱)

:The limit of war is defined by the next clause, saying -۳

"... ,but not aggressive..."

The basis of this meaning is that fighting in Islam is for the sake of Allah and in the path of Allah, where there should not be any transgression and aggression

p: ۱۱۵

---

Nahj-al-Balāqa, letter No. ۱۴۱ -۱

"for surely Allah loves not the aggressors..."

That is why Islam, in spite of the wars of our Age, advises Muslims to observe many ethical principles in war. For example, it tells them not to kill in fight those who put down their weapons and surrender, those who have lost their ability of fighting or, basically, are not able to fight, like old men and women and children. Such people should not be invaded. Gardens and trees should not be destroyed. Muslims must not poison the water that their enemies use as their drinking water by poisonous ingredients (the chemical and microbial war

:Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) says

If, by the Will of Allah, the enemy is defeated, then do not kill the runner away. Do... not strike a helpless person. Do not finish a wounded. And, do not inflict on women even though they may attack your honour with filthy words and abuse your officers, (...)"

The above mentioned explanations prove the invalidity of the numerous accusations of the enemies of Islam against Islam about the Islamic Holy wars. With these clear statements of the Qur'ān, upon the aims of fighting in Islam and the different dimensions that the Holy War has, the answer to the objections of the enemies is made manifest

There will come forth some more explanations, of course, when commenting other verses of Jihād. Allah willing

Commentary: Verses 191–192

This verse tells Muslims to fight against the idol worshippers of Mecca, who had expelled them (Muslims) from their own home and city, and to drive them (the idol worshippers) out from that city, since they had persecuted the Muslims for years. That treatment was more grievous than slaughter, because slaughter is taking the worldly life of a person instead of which the one reaches the prosperity of the next world, while in torture the one has neither the comfort of the present world nor the .pleasure and ease of the coming world

Yet, it enjoins Muslims not to fight at the Sacred Mosque in order to preserve the security and sanctity of it. But, if pagans did not observe the respect of the Mosque .and fought against Muslims, they would do the same and punish them

:Explanations

Reciprocation and conclusiveness with harshness is certain in –١

.some respects

Sacred premises of Mecca and the Sacred Mosque are holy but the esteem of the –۲ blood of Muslims is more sacred. So, here, the comparison of the state of important
.and more important is considered

Since Muslims should not initiate in fighting, they must not initiate destroying the –۲
.sacred things, either

Knowing the reason of a commandment is the secret of mirth and obedience. The –۴ Qur'ān expresses the reason for the command of fighting. It says that they persecuted you for years, and that torture is more grievous and dangerous than slaughter. If the Qur'ān issues the command of expulsion, it is for the reason that they .had expelled the Muslims from their houses for years

And slay them wherever you find them, and drive them away from where they drove "
.you away

.And persecution is more grievous than slaughter

And fight not with them at the Sacred Mosque unless they fight with you therein; then,
".if they fight with you, slay them; such is the retribution of the infidels

****

In the next verse it says that Allah accepts their repentance if they put aside the custom of infidelity and idolatry and, consequently, they will be brethren of Muslims.
They will be even exempted from the taxes and from the punishments that offenders .must tolerate

".But if they desist, then surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful "

The clemency enjoined by Islam upon its adherents even against their blood thirsty enemies in the battle-field, has no match in any religion. The Muslims have been definitely commanded to sheathe their swords if the enemy desists from fighting. The fight allowed by Islam has to be only against the wrong done, and there should be no rancour against the enemy when they correct themselves or even when they end the .hostility

:Commentary

In this verse, the purpose of the Holy War in Islam (Jihād) is stated. It says that fighting is not for the sake of ordinary aims that humankind usually follow in their battles, nor for the sovereignty over the earth and conquest, nor for earning so much spoils, nor for preparing some selling markets and obtaining sufficient food stuff, nor .for giving superiority to a group or a race over another group or race

The aim of Holy Struggle is one and only one thing, and that is the attraction of Allah's pleasure which lies in the settlement of social justice, supporting the persons who have encountered with deceit and aberration, wiping out the environment of human societies from infidelity and idolatry, and, finally and particularly, setting the .instructions of Allah up in action

Therefore, as it is realized, fighting is for eradication of persecution among .humankind and settling the creed of monotheism in them throughout the world

And fight with them until there is no (more) persecution, and the religion is only for " Allah ... "

And, at the end of the verse, it adds that if they return and leave out infidelity, corruption and idolatry, Muslims should not bother them to revenge the past. They must ignore the past because opposition and reciprocal fighting is used only against .oppressors when the circumstances require

:Islamic Holy War (Jihād), in fact, can be divided into three categories

The Preliminary Holy Wars for Freedom – ١

Allah has designed some commands and programs for the sake of happiness, freedom, development, prosperity, and tranquility of Man

He has commissioned His prophets (a.s.) to communicate these commands to people. Now, if a person or a group of people imagine that this communication is against their personal mean benefits so that they produce some barriers on the way of Prophets' invitation, the prophets are rightful to remove those barriers from their way and acquire the freedom of delivering propagation, at first, through a peaceful way and, if it is not possible, then with the use of violence

In other words, people of all societies have the right to hearken to the heralds of truth and be free to accept their invitations. Now, if some persons decide to deprive them of their lawful right and do not let the call of the heralds of truth reach the ears of their spirits and, as a result, become free from the bounds of mental and social slavery, the adherents of these agenda are rightful to employ any means in order to obtain that freedom. Hence, the necessity of preliminary Holy Wars (Jihād) in Islam, as well as other heavenly religions, is made manifest

Also, if some persons bear pressure upon some Muslim believers to invert them to their previous religion, they can apply any means to remove that pressure

A Defensive Holy War – ٢

It sometimes happens that war is posed to a person or a group of people, viz, they are unexpectedly invaded or unawaresly transgressed by an enemy. Here, all the heavenly laws and human rules consider the attacked person or group of persons rightful to rise and defend themselves. Alongside this defense, they can use all their potentialities powerfully and do their best to protect their entity. This kind of struggle is called defensive Holy War. Wars such as the Battles of Aḥzāb, 'Uhud, Mūtah, Tabūk, Ḥunain and some other battles at the advent of Islam are counted among this kind of Holy War, which have had defensive forms

At the same time that Islam invites the people of the world unto its call, which is the last and highest godly creed, it respects ` freedom of belief '. For this reason, it gives the nations who have the heavenly Book an enough respite to study and contemplate over Islam and willingly accept it. If they do not accept it, they will be treated as ` a confederate minority ', in a peaceful life under some particular conditions, of course, .which are neither complicated nor difficult

But infidelity and idolatry is neither a religion nor a creed nor is counted respectful. It is but a kind of superstition, a deviation, and stupidity. In fact, it is a kind of mental and .ethical disease which should be, with any possible means, rooted out

The terms ` honour ' and ` respecting others' opinions ' are used in the cases that those opinions have a safe and sound foundation. But, sickness, deviation, superstition, and aberration are not some things that can be counted respectable. That is why Islam orders that idolatry be rooted out from the human societies, however much costly it may be, even at the cost of fighting. Idol-temples and the .signs of idolatry, if not possible peacefully, should be destroyed by force

? Why Was Holy War Legislated in Medina

We know that Holy War was enjoined for Muslims in the second year A.H. while it was .not compulsory before that

The reason of this subject is clear because, on one hand, the number of Muslims in .Mecca was so small that rising practically meant suicide

On the other hand, the enemy was quite powerful in Mecca, and, indeed, Mecca was counted the main center of anti-Islamic powers. The opponents of Islam were so .strong there that it was impossible to fight them inside Mecca

But, when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) entered Medina, a great deal of people believed him, so many that he was able to spread his invitation clearly inside and outside of Medina. He (p.b.u.h.) could form a simple government and prepare the necessary means for fighting with his

p: ۱۲۱

enemies, and since Mecca was a rather far distance from Medina, he succeeded to do it with tranquility and peace of mind, and the revolutionary Muslim troops could .prepare themselves for fight and defense against enemies

Whoever then commits aggression (by fighting) against you, attack him in like manner ;as he attacked you

".and have awe for Allah, and know that Allah is with the pious ones

Commentary: Verse ١٩٤

According to the Islamic calendar, there are four lunar months in every year which are specifically respected, and fighting is unlawful and forbidden therein. One month of these four months, i.e., Rajab, is separate while the rest, i.e., Zilqa`dah, Zil-Hajjah, and Muharram, are consecutive. One of the reasons that the month Zil-Qa`dah is so .called is that in this month it is necessary to have a halt of fighting

This is the law of Islam that enjoins the adherents not to fight during four particular months of the year, but non-Muslim enemies always lie in ambush to misuse the opportunities. So, they may think that since Muslims are obliged to observe this law, they had better attack. This verse says that if your opponents rush upon you during these four months, you can stand against them, too, and fight in the same months. So, you may apply the sacred month for the sacred month, because the sanctity of the blood and protection of the system of Islam is much more than the sanctity of these .months

"... ,The sacred month for the sacred month

Then, whosoever did not regard with reverences should be treated under the law of .retaliation

".and all sacred things are (under the law of) retaliation"

:Hence, as a general rule, it says

Whoever then commits aggression (by fighting) against you, attack him in like manner
;as he attacked you

p: ۱۲۳

Islam is not a religion of aggression and transgression, but it does not accept the aggression of others. Yet, the style of action should be in a manner that piety be always observed, and in retaliation, limits would not be violated when we do know and ought to be aware that Allah is with the pious ones

"and have awe for Allah, and know that Allah is with the pious ones..."

Commentary: Verse ١٩٥

Point

Holy War needs as much money and property as it needs the sincere, strong experienced battle men, because in Holy War, the existence of both the spiritual and physical preparation, and suitable weapons, artillery and other fighting equipments for troops are necessary. True it is that the most important effective factor of the fate .of a war is the involving soldiers, but a soldier needs to be equipped

Hence, the verse emphasizes that the lack of spending wealth in this way is to bring .themselves and other Muslims to destruction

And spend in the way of Allah; and cast not yourselves "

" ...:by your own hands into perdition

At the time of revelation, in particular, a great deal of Muslims were full of ardor and emotions for Holy War, but they were so poor that they could not prepare the artillery. As the Qur'ān states, they used to come to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and ask him to supply the necessary means in order to send them to the battle-field. But they usually came back with sorrow and grief while their eyes were shedding tears because the required means could not be supplied. The statement of the Qur'ān in Sura At-Taubah, No. ٩, verse ٩٢ is thus; "...they went back while their eyes overflowed with tears on account ".of grief for not finding that which they should spend

Spending, a Prevention of Destruction

A general fact and a social rite can be taken from this holy verse in account of disbursing, although the subject is mentioned next to the

p: ۱۲۵

verses of Holy War. The idea is that spending, in general, causes the members of a society to be delivered from perdition. And, on the contrary, when the custom of donation be neglected and the properties be compiled in one pole of the society, there will come forth a majority of the poor and deprived. So, very soon, a great burst happens in the society in which the selves and wealth of capitalists will be burnt by the fire of that revolution. Here, thereby, the relation of `donation' and `prevention of .destruction ' is made clear

Therefore, disbursement is useful for capitalist, before it would be beneficial to the state of the deprived; that is, the justification of wealth is a protector of wealth. Imam :Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) has pointed to this very fact where he says guard your properties by paying alms tax..." (۱)..."

Next to the stage of Holy War and donation, it leads to benevolence and, at the end of the verse, it commands to doing good because the stage of doing good is the highest :stage in the course of human development which Islam regards to fully. It says

"and do good (to others), for verily Allah loves the doers of good..."

The occurrence of this phrase at the end of the verse on donation points to this meaning that the act of donation must be fulfilled with an absolute sincerity and affection: far from any term of reproach or what annoys or hurts the person whom .the favour is done to

That is for the one whose family members do not dwell near the sacred Mosque. Have "awe of Allah, and know that verily Allah is severe in penalty

The Rites of Pilgrimage

The visitors of the holy shrine of Mecca usually perform the ceremonies of minor pilgrimage first. The rites are as follows

They put on pilgrim's garb ('ihram) from some definite sites known as 'Trysting Place'. It means that they undertake to abandon doing a series of deeds which are unlawful for the person in a pilgrim state. They cover themselves with pilgrim's garb which consists of two pieces of unsewn cloth, and they continually say 'labbaika' while going towards Ka`bah. When they reach Mecca, at first, they circumambulate Ka`bah in seven rounds. Then, they keep up a two-rak`at-prayer in a place called Maqām-i-Ebrāhīm (Station of Abraham). After that, they ply to and fro between two mountains named Safā and Marwah for seven times. Finally, they, .having cut a piece of a nail or some hair of theirs, take off the pilgrim's garb

Then, again for the ceremonies of Pilgrimage, they put on pilgrim's garb and go unto `Arafāt, which is a land ٢٤ kilometers far from original city of Mecca, in order to stay therein on the ninth of Zil-Hajjah, from noon until sunset, busy praying with invocation. After sunset, they move to Mash`ar-ul-Ḥarām (Sacred Monument), which is located at a distance of ١٥ kilometers from Mecca, where they must remain until morning. When the sun rises, they move into Mina, a land nearby there, and, on the same day, which is known as Feast of Sacrifice, they throw seven pebbles at a special Pillar called: `Jamarah `uqbā', and then they sacrifice before shaving their heads (while women cut off a piece of hair from their heads). When they did their hair cut .(Taḡṣīr), they take off their pilgrim's garb at last

They return to Mecca the same day or after that and perform the ritual circumambulation of the Ka`bah, circumambulation prayer, running between Ṣafā and Marwah, Nisā' circumambulation and Nisā' circumambulation prayer. On the eleventh and twelfth of the month, they throw pebbles at three special pillars in Minā which are called `Jamarāt', one after another seven times at each pillar each day .while, during the nights before these days, they have to remain in Minā

Thus, they accomplish the rites of the formal Pilgrimage (Hajj) each of which is the survival of one historical event and that they are some effective hints and implicit declarations to the matters of refinement of character and social philosophies. (The description of each philosophy will be delivered when commenting on the concerning .(verses

Now it is necessary to notify that the verse indicates that all these actions should be fulfilled for the sake of Allah and according to His commandments, not for making .display and pretence nor for the sake of idols

Therefore, the first clause of the verse proclaims that in the deeds of Pilgrimage, both the formal Pilgrimage (Hajj) and the lesser formal one (ʿUmrah), no motive should .interfere but seeking to be nearer to Allah

"... ;And complete the Hajj (Pilgrimage) and the ʿUmrah for the sake of Allah "

Then it adds that if something like sickness and fear of enemy happens that hinders you from performing the ritual rites of Hajj and ʿUmrah after you are clothed in .pilgrim's garb you must sacrifice an animal as it is possible for you but if you are prevented (to complete it), then (send) whatever offering (sacrificial ..."

 "... ;animal) as may be obtained with ease

It should be noted, of course, that if the prevention is as a result of sickness and the like and the pilgrim's garb is done for the lesser formal Pilgrimage (ʿUmrah Mufradah), the sacrifice should be sent to Mecca, but if it has happened from the side of an enemy, the duty of sacrifice must be done at the same place where the prevention has occurred. The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) behaved in the same manner in Hudaibiyah, too. But, if the person is in the pilgrim's garb of Hajj and becomes sick, the one must send .the sacrifice to Minā

"... ;(and do not shave your heads till the offering reaches its place (of sacrifice ..."

Rites Regarding Hajj and Umrah

One of the rites that should be done in Hajj (Pilgrimage) is shaving the head (for men, and cutting some hair of the head for women). But they must be careful that they are .not allowed to do this duty before sacrificing the offering in the place of sacrifice but whoever among you is sick, or has an ailment in his head, then he (should)..."

"... .make redemption by fasting, or alms-giving or sacrificing

The exception is for the person who has an ailment or a difficulty that has to shave before the appointed time. If the person did so, (i.e. shaved his head because of ailment and the like), it is necessary for the one to give ransom. This ransom can be three days of fasting, or feeding six indigents, or slaughtering a lamb

And when you are secure, then whoever enjoys from the `Umrah to the Hajj (he..." (should offer) of whatever offering is easily available (for him

But whoever finds none (to give), should fast three days during the Hajj (Pilgrimage), "...;and seven days when you have returned

When you are free from sickness and enemy and you want to perform the `greater Pilgrimage', you must sacrifice whatever you can from animals such as a camel, cow, or lamb. But if any of you cannot find the animal, or financially is not able to afford it, he must fast three days during the days of pilgrimage (the seventh, eighth, and ninth days) and seven days after returning from Hajj so that it makes ten days

"... these (make) ten (days) complete..."

It is evident that three days and seven days make ten days, yet the Qur'ān says that they are totally ten days complete. This meaning may point to the idea that the ten days can be substituted for the sacrifice completely

This greater Pilgrimage with these orders is for those who are not dwelling nearby the Sacred Mosque. (The known state among Muslimjurisprudents is that everyone who is sixteen kilometers far from Mecca his duty is to follow the rites of the `greater Pilgrimage', but those who are not far from Mecca by this distance, their duty is the `separation Pilgrimge' (Hajj-i-Qir'ān). This subject is detailed in books of (jurisprudence furnished with its concerning evidences

"...,That is for the one whose family members do not dwell near the sacred Mosque..."

Finally, at the end of the verse, the command is due to piety and that believers be aware not to have any shortcoming about the divine instructions in order to protect themselves from the severe punishment of Allah

"Have awe of Allah, and know that verily Allah is severe in penalty..."

This emphasis may be for this that Pilgrimage (Hajj) is a great Islamic worship so that if the rites of it be not carefully observed and its spirit be neglected, there will be a large loss for Muslims

p: ۱۳۰

This worship (Hajj) is the very one that Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) has considered it the 'flag' and 'magnificent motto' of Islam. At the last moments of his life, he (a.s.) has remarked in his will, thus Fear Allah (and) keep Allah in view in the matter of your Lord's House (Ka`bah). Do " not forsake it so long as you live, because if it is abandoned, you will not be spared." \(1\)

Some enemies of Islam have also said that while Pilgrimage is in process they cannot gain victory

One of the great believing men says: woe unto Muslims if they do not comprehend the meaning of Hajj, and woe unto others if they do not catch its meaning

Commentary: Verse ١٩٧

Hajj

"... ,The performance of) the Hajj (Pilgrimage) is in months well-known) "

In this verse, the Qur'ān remarks that the rites of Pilgrimage (Hajj) should be fulfilled in certain months of the year not throughout it. The books of tradition, Qur'ān commentary, and jurisprudence say that this great worship can be fulfilled only in Shawwal, Zil-Qa`dah, and during the first ten days of Zil-Hajjah, (a part of which relates exclusively to the ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth days of the month .(and another part of it can be performed during this whole length of time whosoever then undertakes (to perform) the Hajj therein, then let there be no ... "

"... .intercourse, nor indulge in ungodliness, nor disputing in the Hajj

This part of the verse indicates that those who have made the performance of Pilgrimage (Hajj) obligatory for themselves, by putting on pilgrim's garb and engaging in the rites of Pilgrimage, should restrain themselves from enjoying even lawful sexual association and committing wickedness. They must avoid obscene and vain debates or foul speech and all that appertains thereto, because the place is the site of worship, sincerity, and abandoning the material worldly pleasures. It is an environment from where the spirit must gain strength and, separating from the world of material entirely, find way into the world of super material. This status should be in .a manner that the relation of brotherhood and alliance can be tightened

:Then, it adds

" ... .And whatever good you do, Allah knows it ... "

This is the first reward which is given to a good doer, because the happiness of a true believer is, in the first stage, to know that his Lord is aware of the good action that the .one has done for His sake. This, by itself, is very delightful and delectable

" ... .And make provision, but surely the best provision is the piety ... "

.In this part of the verse the command unto the believers is due to making provision

It is said that at the advent of Islam some people, particularly from Yemen, used to journey to Mecca on pilgrimage without sufficient provisions for their sustenance on the pretence that they trusted in Allah's help. But Allah gives sustenance through natural ways and by ordinary means. So, in this section of the verse, the Qur'ān enjoins upon the pilgrims to first make the necessary provisions for the whole journey
.and then, taking it with them, proceed

By the way, the term `making provision' may point to a spiritual aspect, meaning that besides this material provision there is another necessary provision which should be made and that is the provision of

p: ۱۳۳

.'piety' and `righteousness`

This phrase contains a narrow hint to this fact that in the journey of Pilgrimage there are many instances for making spiritual provision which should not be neglected. In Mecca, the illustration of Islam, the lively scenes of the self-sacrifices of Abraham, the hero of theism, and some specific manifestation of the splendour of Allah are seen, the which that can be comprehended in no other place. Those who have a vigil spirit can gain spiritual provisions from this unique journey for their life in this world as well .as the coming one

:Then, it concludes the verse by saying

".So, have awe of Me, O' people of understanding ... "

This final phrase addresses the possessors of mind and intellect telling them that they should be pious, because it is they who enjoy the utmost merits of this excellent .educational process, while others only share a small portion of it

Economic Activities in Hajj Season

At the Age of Ignorance, people considered trading and taking passengers or baggages to different destinations during the Hajj season unlawful (ḥarām) and a sin. They counted the Hajj performances of those who did such activities invalid. At the season of Hajj, Muslims were naturally expecting to know whether the ordinances of that Age were still valid or they were worthless from the view of Islam. Then, the :above verse was revealed telling them

"... There shall be no sin for you to seek bounty from your Lord "

The verse under discussion announces the aforementioned ordinance of the time of ignorance, which counted bargain at the time of Hajj a sin, is incoherent. It proclaims that trade and the like activities are no problem during the season of Hajj, and it does not matter that people enjoy of the blessings of Allah and gain profit from their work

.and activities

As Islamic literature indicates about the philosophies of Hajj, in addition to the ethical, political and cultural philosophies, this verse points to the philosophy of economics, too. This idea says that the transportation of Muslims from different points of the world toward the Ka`bah and the formation of that great Islamic congress can be a good basis for a common movement due to economics in Islamic societies. In this great meeting, before or after the rites of Hajj, the thoughtful Muslim minds in economics can assemble, and, with cooperation and association of each other, establish a firm foundation for the economics of the Islamic societies. They can produce, by the help of correct commercial exchanges, for example, such a strong and fixed economy that they become independent and free from want from enemies .and non-Muslims

Therefore, these trades and commercial exchanges, themselves, are among the means of strengthening the Islamic nations against the enemies of Islam. The reason is that no nation will have complete independence without having a powerful economy. Yet, it is evident, of course, that the commercial activities should be set in a position after the ethical and worshipping aspects of Hajj, not prior and dominative to it. Fortunately, pilgrims have enough time for this job both before and after the rites .of Hajj

Hushām-ibn-Ḥakam said that he asked Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) about the reason that Allah .enjoined people to circumambulate the House (Ka`bah) and perform Hajj

:Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) replied

Verily Allah has created human beings ... and has enjoined them to do an action " (Hajj) which contains the obedience of religion and is good for the affairs of their world. He assigned that (at the time of Hajj), Muslims assemble from the east and west of the world in order to be acquainted with each other, and in order that every nation makes use (of the productions and) trades of other nations, and that the muleteers and cameleers make profit (in this journey by hiring out their vehicles to others), and that they become familiar with the effects (traditions) of the Prophet

((p.b.u.h.) (so that those traditions continue to survive by

p: ۱۳۶

remembering and not to be forgotten. If it were so that every nation spoke about only their own environment, and whatever there was therein, they would be destroyed and the cities would turn to ruin, and commercial profits would be wasted, and the traditions and signs of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) would be vanished. This is the philosophy (of Hajj." (1)

Then when you hasten on (in multitude) from `Arafāt, remember Allah by the ... "
" ... ,(Sacred Monument (Muzdalifah

In this section of the verse, the Qur'ān's command is due to this subject that after performing the rites that should be fulfilled in `Arafāt, they must move to Mash`ar-ul-Ḥarām (the Sacred Monument), which is located between Mina and `Arafāt, and
.remember Him therein

,remember Him as He has guided you ... "

Here, the speech of the verse remarks that for thanksgiving and being grateful for the guidance of Allah, remember Him (s.w.t.) in Mash`ar-ul-Ḥarām, a remembrance
.appropriate to the guidance that He has given you

At that time, Muslims could realize well the value of this great blessing, viz. guidance, because they were not so far from the time that the inhabitants of Arabian Peninsula had gone astray totally, and could see how Allah had saved them from all those aberrations and misfortunes by leading them to the blessing of this pure divine
.religion, Islam

".although before that you were surely of those who went astray ... "

?Why `Arafāt

It is said that `Arafāt is a land about 40 kilometers away from the center of Mecca where pilgrims halt from noon until evening on the ninth of Zil-hajjah. The origin of this appellation has been differently described. One of them is that when the harbinger of revelation, Gabriel, showed Abraham (a.s.) the rites of Hajj therein, he (a.s.) responded: "I recognized," , " I recognized"(`Araftu). But it is probable that this appellation points to another fact, too. That land, from which

Wasa'il-ush-Shi`ah, vol. ۱۱, p. ۱۴۱-۱

the first steps of the performance of Hajj begins, is a very fitting place for the recognition of the Pure Essence of Allah. Verily, that spiritual attraction that man finds in him at the arrival of that indescribable land, is not comparable with that of any .desert

In `Arafāt, originally everywhere is the same, everything contains a harmony, all pilgrims behave alike in that desert. They have relieved themselves from the noise of the cities and from the tumult and dazzling glare of the material world, busy contemplating therein, under the blue sky, in the clean fresh air clear from sin, where the harbinger of revelation has stretched wings, where accompanied with its breeze the murmur of Gabriel and the manly sound of Abraham (a.s.) strengthened with the delightful voice of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and the true believers of early Islam, are spiritually heard. In this remindful land where as if a window had been opened to the supernatural world, not only man can be drowned in the emanation of gnosis of Allah and may follow the common praising murmur of the whole creation but also he might find himself indise his own ego, the which he has lost for a lifetime and has been looking for. If so, he will also become gnostic to his own rank and will comprehend that he is not the one who works hard day and night and greedily pokes about here and there to earn a living and whatever more he obtains the less his thirst of greed is quenched. He finds out that there is another diamond-like nobility in his soul that he is, .in fact, the same worthy existence

Yes, this very land is called `Arafāt, the site of recognition. What an interesting and !appropriate appellation

Mash`ar-ul-Ḥarām

The statements cited about the appellation used for Sacred Monument as `Mash`ar-ul-Ḥarām ' denote that the place is a center for the `mottoes of Hajj', and it is a sign .for its great glorious divine concerning rites

However, it must not be neglected that the Arabic term / mash`ar / is derived from / .shu`ūr / which means : `sense, consciousness or awareness

In that exciting unique night, i.e., the night before the tenth of Zil-hajjah, when the pilgrims, after passing their training course in `Arafāt, have moved into Muzdalifah to spend a night long until after sunrise there, lying over the smooth sands under the starry sky, find themselves among a crowd which seems as a small pattern of the Great Resurrection in the Hereafter. This shattering scene, with that pure serenity that the surroundings has, makes the pilgrims, being covered in those innocently plain clothes of `Iḥrām, feel a special new spring of thought, understanding and awareness inside their own entity, so that, if they contemplate, they can clearly hear the fall of that consciousness in the depth of their hearts. That is why that venerable place is called `Mash`ar

****

"... ,Then hasten on from where the people hasten on "

By this verse, the Providence has notified the privileges that the Quraish had considered for themselves. The Quraish used to call themselves `Humus' (those who are firm in religion) and, counting themselves the offsprings of Abraham and custodians of Ka`bah, imagined themselves superior to the people of other Arab tribes. Hence, they stayed to avoid joining the other pilgrims in proceeding to the plain of `Arafāt under the pretext that it was out of the limits of Mecca, though they knew that it was among the rites of Hajj and a part of the creed of Abraham

In the above verse, the Qur`ān tells Muslims that they all must halt in one place (`Arafāt) and from there all should go towards Mash`ar from which they totally move to Mina. Thus, that wrong privilege of the Quraish passed off

".and seek forgiveness of Allah; verily Allah is Forgiving, Merciful ... "

It adds that they ought to avoid those wrong ideas of the age of ignorance and seek forgiveness of Allah because Hajj, or Islam, does not recognize any such distinctions and had already levelled every such difference and distinction. Then, it remarks that Allah is forgiving and merciful

Point

In addition to the aforementioned descriptions about the Pilgrimage, cited in the commentary upon verse No. ۱۹۶ under the title of 'The Rites of Pilgrimage', there are some detailed explanations given at the beginning of an English translation of the Qur'ān, by S. V

:Mir Ahmed Ali, which are exactly adopted here, as follows

It is incumbent on every Muslim who has the necessary means to do it, to visit, on "Pilgrimage, the Holy Mosque, the Ka`bah, in Mecca once in his life. The carrying out of this ordinance is subject to the condition that the individual has the means to do it

Main Conditions Related to the Pilgrimage

:The main conditions are

۱. The individual must be a major and not a minor .۱

۲. He must have the means to meet the expense of the journey, without detriment to his ability to continue his business or the means of his living .۲

۳. The health of the individual should permit the journey .۳

۴. There should be no risk of life in the journey .۴

(For exact details refer to `Fiqh)

The essential formality of Hajj is the Eḥram, i.e., the male should remove his stitched clothes and get himself wrapped with two pieces of unstitched, clean cloth, one covering his body from his neck to his loins and another from his waist to his feet. A female should wrap these two pieces over and above her usual clothes

The Eḥram cloth should have been lawfully acquired and it should not be silken or transparent

The moment the individual puts on the Eḥram, i.e., the garb of a Pilgrim, (i.e., a Haji), he becomes responding exclusively to the call of the Lord which was issued to mankind through the great Prophet Abraham

And (remember O' Our Apostle Muhammad!) when We fixed for Abraham the place " for the House, (saying): ` Associate thou not with Me aught, and cleanse My House for those who make the circuits and stand in prayer, and bow and prostrate themselves " .((unto Me And proclaim thou unto the people the Pilgrimage (Hajj)! They will come " unto thee on foot and on lean camel, coming from every remote (high) way! " ۲۲:۲۶, ۲۷

Putting on the Eḥram, the pilgrim in response to the call of the Lord issued through
:Abraham, calls

' Labbaik, Allahomma Labbaik! ' ` La Sharika laka Labbaik `

.Yes, here I am O' Lord, here I am. There is no partner for thee

.Yes, here I am

' Innal-Hamd laka wan-Ne` mata laka ' ` Wal Mulka laka Labbaik `

Verily, the Praise and the bounties are Thine. And the Dominion is Thine. Yes, I am " !here, O Lord

:Note

The above mentioned response of Hāji is cited in the aforementioned book. But the exact words that they actually recite now is as follows: Labbayk, Allāhumma Labbayk! Labbayka lā Sharīka Laka Labbayk! Innal-Hamda wan-Ni` mata Laka wal-Mulk, lā
!Sharīka Laka Labbayk

It is worth noting that the call of the Lord to mankind, issued through Abraham thousands of years ago has been made to ring and resound into the ears of men through Islam and today the Holy House of the Lord, the Ka` bah, is visited regularly and punctually every year on the fixed dates in the month of Zilhaj, the last month of .the Islamic Calendar year

:After putting on the Eḥram, the Haji or the pilgrim has to do the following

.Ṭawāf', i.e., circumambulation, i.e., going seven times round the Ka` bah` .۱

After the ` Ṭawāf ' is completed, a prayer (ṣalāt) of two Rak` ats, like that of the .۲
.Morning Prayers, must be performed

.(After the prayer, the pilgrim has to cut the nails (or the hair .۳

These formalities are performed immediately as the pilgrim arrives in the city of Mecca for the pilgrimage and this is called `Umrah and the cutting of the nails (or the hair) is called `Taqseer'. This could be performed from the first of the lunar month .Shawwal to the 12th of Zilhaj

.On the 1st Zilhaj the pilgrim should put on the Eḥram

On the 2nd Zilhaj the pilgrim should go to the plain of Arafāt and stay there until .sunset

After the sunset the pilgrim should proceed to the place called Mash`ar and stay
.there at night

On the morning of 3rd Zilhaj the pilgrim should go to the plain of Minā, offer sacrifice (and effect the `Taḡseer' (shaving his head clean

After this, the pilgrim should put off the Eḥram but must remain in Minā for two or .three nights

During the day the pilgrim goes to Mecca to perform `Ṭawāf' and offer two Rak`at
.prayer

After completing the `Ṭawāf' the pilgrim should perform the Sa`i between the two
.hillocks Safā and Marwa

After completing the Sa`i, the pilgrim should conclude the performance by repeating
'the `Ṭawaf' called the `Ṭawāf-i-Nisā

Caution: Be it known the above note about the performance of Hajj, is only a bare skeleton just to give an idea of pilgrimage in Shia`ism For the exact details one should (refer to `Fiqh

This completes the pilgrimage and the Haji now returns to Mecca. After the Hajj, the pilgrim proceeds to Medina to visit the shrine of the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the .graves of the Four Holy Imams (a.s.) in the Cemetery `Jannatul-Baqī` viz

.1 The Second Holy Imam Hasan Ibne Ali Al-Mujtaba .1

.2 The Fourth Holy Imam Ali ibnul Husain Az-Zainul`ābideen .2

.3 The Fifth Holy Imam Muhammad ibne Ali Al-Bāqir .3

.The Sixth Holy Imam Ja`far ibne Muhammad As-Sādiq .۴

The Mausoleums over graves of the above Holy ones have been demolished and the pilgrims are not allowed by the Saudi Rule to offer any prayers like Fātiha or the recitation of any salutation to the Holy Souls. Every sincere Muslim loyal to the Holy family of the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.); the Ahlul-Bait (a.s.), particularly the Shi`as, feel for the ruined condition of the holy graves and the unwarranted and unreasonable ban on the recitation of either the Holy Qur'ān or offering any salutation to the Holy Souls, and earnestly prays to God for the restoration of the freedom to offer the Salutation etc., on the Holy

.Shrines as it was before, and for the removal of the Un-Islamic ban

A Few of the Qur'ānic Verses on Hajj

Verily, the First House made for mankind is the one at Mecca, Blessed and a "
".Guidance for the worlds

In it are clear signs; the standing place of Abraham; and whoever entereth it is " secure; and (purely) for God, is incumbent upon mankind, the pilgrimage to the House, for those who can afford to journey thither; And whosoever denieth then Verily, God is Self-sufficiently independent of the Worlds." ۳: ۹۵,۹۶

The Time for the Pilgrimage and the Discipline Therein

The pilgrimage ' is performed in the known months; so whosoever determines the ` performance of the pilgrimage therein, there shall be then no foul speech nor abusing nor disputing in the pilgrimage, and whatever good you do, God knoweth it and maketh provision. `Verily the best of provision is the piety of oneself and fear Me, O'
'. men of understanding

There is no blame on you in seeking bounty from your Lord, so when ye hasten on from `Arafāt then remember God near the Holy Mash`ar, Monument, and remember Him as He hath guided you, though before that ye were certainly of those gone
.astray

Then hasten on from where the people hasten on, and seek forgiveness of Allah; "
".Verily, God is Forgiving, Merciful

So when ye have performed your devotions, then laud God as ye lauded your fathers, rather a greater lauding. But there are some people who say, ` Our Lord give us in .this world, and they shall have no portion in the hereafter Hajj is the months well-known, whosoever then undertaketh the pilgrimage therein, " then let there be no intercourse, nor bad language, nor quarrelling during the

Commentary: Verses ٢٠٠-٢٠٢

It is narrated from Imam Şādiq (a.s.) that in the Age of Ignorance when the performance of Hajj ended there usually formed a meeting of people where they used to boast about the fanciful honours that they had owned from their ancestors.

.They used to explain their stories in detail

The Qur'ān says that after finishing the rites of Hajj remember Allah, and speak about Him and His endless blessings in that large gathering. This remembrance of the Lord might be, at least, with the same enthusiasm and affection that you had in your boastings and glory towards your ancestors in the Age of Ignorance, though this one
.should be even more intense than the former one

When you have performed your (holy) rites, then remember Allah, as you remember "
" ... your forefathers or even with more intense remembrance

This verse also teaches us that greatness and honour is true under the shadow of .relation with Allah, not boasting for the vain honours of forefathers

"... :And there are some men who say ..."

After that, the Qur'ān makes the situation of people clear, and points out the standard of thought and understanding of people. There are some groups of people who do not look for anything but the material interest for themselves, and do not seek from Allah
:but for the same. They say

"... , ' Our Lord! give us in this world ` ..."

These people do not seek for any share of spiritualities, here in this life. They will not have any share of them in Hereafter, either. In the coming eternal world, where all need everything of that kind, they will have nought, and no portion of the good things
.of the next world will be given them

".They shall have no portion in the world to come..."

****

The second group are those whose thoughts are not limited to the material life alone.
They seek for both the good things of the life of this world, as the primary stage of the spiritual developement towards perfection, and the felicity of the next world. So, this verse defines, in fact, the logic of Islam due to the material subjects and spiritual .subjects

It condemns those who are drowned only in materialities as well as those who have .no regard and attention to the worldly life

But there are some who say: ` Our Lord! grant us good in this world and good in the "
" ... , world to come

They also ask Him to save them from the painful chastisement of the coming world,
:saying thus

".and save us from the torment of the Fire..."

, ' It is obvious that the term /ḥasanah/, which means ` goodness has a vast meaning in the verse so that it includes all the material and spiritual merits. But, in some traditions, it is narrated that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), in answer to the question that what the goodness of this world and the world to come was, said

He who has been bestowed a thankful heart, a busy praising tongue, and a pious wife who helps him in his affairs of this world and the next, then, surely, he has been given the good of this world and the good of the coming world, and will be kept off from the torment of Fire." (1)

Evidently, this meaning is among the kind of commenting on a general concept upon a specific one, and pointing to the clear examples rather than to be exclusive to these particular ones

***

;These shall have a portion of what they have earned "

".and Allah is quick in reckoning

Following the foregoing ideas, in this verse it says that these two groups of people will enjoy of what they have obtained, both those who seek Allah for only the things of this life and those who demand Him the good of this life and the next. Neither of them are deprived from what they seek for, but each group will be confined to their own demands

Allah will reckon the account of all people in the Hereafter in a short time without interfering one person's account with that of another person

:It has been narrated from Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) who said Verily Allah will reckon the human beings in a single whole time similar to (the way) " (that He provides them sustenance wholly in a time." (2)

:So, the Qur'ān says

".and Allah is quick in reckoning..."

In this verse, the question of speediness of reckoning from the side of Allah has been .pointed out

Commentary: Verse ٢٠٣

Point

This verse, following to the explanation of the remembrance of Allah at the conclusion of the performance of the rites of Pilgrimage, defines the process of it and that they, instead of vain boastings of the Age of Ignorance, must specifically remember Allah in a few days the minimum of which is two days. These days, based on the frame of reference of the former verses, are the days after the Feast of Sacrifice which naturally are the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth of the month. In the terminology of ' traditions, these days are called ` the days of Tashrīq

As this appellation denotes, these days are the time when the mind and spirit of a person can be delighted under the light of the performance of those splendid religious .rites

Celebrate the praise of Allah

Celebrate the praise of Allah during the appointed days (Dhul-Hijjah ١١,١٢,١٣), but " whoever hastens off within two days, it will be no sin on him, and whoso tarries " ... ,(there), on him (also) there will be no sin

In the Islamic literature, it is recommended that after the fifteen daily prayers, (the first of which is the noon prayer on the Feast of Sacrifice and its final one is the morning prayer on the thirteenth day of the month), the following inspiring phrases be :recited; the Arabic transliteration of which are pronounced thus

p: ۱۵۰

Allāhu akbar, Allāhu akbar, lā 'ilāha 'illallāhu wallāhu akbar, Allāhu akbar, wa lillāhil ḥamd, Allāhu akbaru `alā mā hadānā, Allāhu akbaru `alā mā razaqnā min bahīmatil-
" 'an `ām, wal-ḥamdu lillāhi `alā mā 'ablānā Allah is great, Allah is great. There is no God save Allah. Allah is great. Allah is great " and all praise is due to Allah. Allah is great in that He has guided us. Allah is great in that He has granted us animals for sustenance, and all praise is due to Allah for what ".He has destined for us

This part of the verse which says: " it will be no sin on him " may point to the choice of either two or three days in remembrance of Allah. Then, this clause means that there is no sin upon the one who chooses either of them. (And, the primary apparent (.meaning of the phrase is this very one

Also, these words may be rendered to the negation of sin absolutely for the pilgrims of the Sacred House. According to this interpretation, after the performance of the rites of Hajj, having been done faithfully and with full attention and sincerity, which ends with the above mentioned holy phrases, all the signs of former sins and their evil remaining consequences upon the heart and soul of pilgrims will be wiped out. It is at this time that the pilgrims, with clean souls and free from the burden of sins, leave that great site, i.e., that moral training land. The commentators have taken the term /li-man-it-taqā/, " (this is) for him who guards (against evil) ", as an attestation to this
.recent mentioned meaning

At the end of the verse, it advises us that we mortals should be in awe of Allah and be aware that our path is unto Him and we all will be mustered when our deeds, whether .good or evil, will be reckoned and we will be rewarded for them

".Then be in awe of Allah, and know that unto Him you shall be (all) gathered "

:Occasion of Revelation

These verses were revealed about a man by the name of 'Ukhnos-ibn-Shariq. He was a handsome man and of attractive speech

He pretended to the friendship of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and showed himself a Muslim. Whenever he went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), he expressed his Faith to him and, though he was a hypocrite, he took an oath that he loved the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and had believed in God. The Messenger of Allah spoke with him warmly and treated him with his kindness and affection

When there came a conflict between the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the members of the Thaqif Tribe, that man took Muslims by surprise and killed their beasts. He burnt their farming crops

Some other commentators have said that he passed by a farm belonging to Muslims and set its agricultural crops on fire. He

p: ۱۵۲

hamstringed their beasts, too, and, thereby, made his hidden hypocrisy manifest.
.Then, the above verses were revealed

Commentary: Verses ٢٠٤-٢٠٦

Hypocrisy

As mentioned in the occasion of revelation, the verse points to the hypocrisy of some mischief-makers and warns the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) against them. It says

And among people is he whose speech in the life of this world causes you to wonder, "and he calls on Allah to witness as to what is in his heart, yet he is the most violent of adversaries".

There are some people who, with their smooth tongue, express Faith and indulge in plausible talk with many oaths. But, the same persons are the most harmful enemies and hostile ones against Islam; and, hiddenly they stir up quarrels and cause all sorts of mischief: they spoil the crops of the farms, strive to waste and defame the believing men and the religion of the Truth

Allah uncovers their tricks and makes their interiors manifest for His Messenger that they try in the path of making mischief. If they were true in their statements, they would not cast mischief and destruction, because everybody knows that Allah does not love mischief

And when he turns back, he strives to cause mischief on the earth, and to destroy "the tilth and the stock. But Allah does not love mischief

There may come forth this question that why the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) treated such people kindly. The reason was for that he was commissioned to accept the statements of all people as long as they did not show the contrary status. And such should be that, of course

Some commentators have said that the purpose of the phrase /wa'iðā tawallā/ "And when he turns back" at the beginning of the second verse may have been in the sense of ` government ', since the term /tawallā/ derived from the root /wilāyat/means government. Taking this consideration, the commentary of this verse is such: ` when the

p: ۱۵۳

hypocrites take the government in their control, they begin making mischief and destruction and stretching oppression and transgression amongst people. Then as the result of the spread of oppression and cruelty, the cities and societies turn to ruin and the lives and properties of people will be in danger. These wicked people are so that when they are prohibited from doing disgrace, their fanaticism and obstinacy will be excited, then, they not only do not hearken to the advices of the benevolent advisers but, with their own specific pride, increase their wickedness and evil actions.

.Such people cannot be controlled save with the Fire of Hell

, ' And when it is said to him, ` Fear Allah " pride drives him towards sin. So Hell shall be sufficient for him and it is an evil abode

".indeed

In fact, this verse is a hint to one of other characteristics of hypocrites which is a stable zeal and a harsh pride and obstinacy that drive them to the limits of the :greatest evil

"... .pride drives him towards sin..."

In contrast to this group, there are the believing people who, under the government
.of Faith, are apart from this hideous and dangerous quality

Commentary: Verse ٢٠٧

(The plot to kill Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h

Ibn-i-Abil-Ḥadeed, one of the scholars of the Sunni schools who lived in the seventh century A.H., has cited in his famous book, Sharḥ-i-Nahjul-Balāqah (the Explanation of the statements of Imam `Ali (a.s.)), that the commentators totally had said that the above verse was revealed about and in the praise of Ali-ibn-Abī-Ṭālib after that he readily slept in the bed of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) on the night known as Laylat-ul-Mabīt.

.This idea is in wide scale famous so that none can deny it but a pagan or a crazy one

The explanation of the event precisely is such that the pagans of Mecca decided to elect one person from each tribe to kill the Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) all together in order to prevent the rise of Banī-Hāshim tribe in vengeance for his bloodshed. They thought, in that way, they could be free from the Prophet's Call. But the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) became aware of their hostile plot before it was too late. Then, `Ali-ibn-Abī-Ṭālib (a.s.) accepted readily to sleep in the Prophet's bed so that he (p.b.u.h.) could get .out of Mecca safely

As soon as Ali (a.s.) slept in that bed instead of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the Providence questioned His two dear angels, Gabriel and Michael, which of them was ready to be devoted to the other, but neither of them was ready to do that. So, the Lord told them to watch then how `Ali-ibn-Abī-Ṭālib (a.s.) was ready to devote his soul .(for the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h

Many of the Muslim scholars have confessed to the above fact. The Late `Allāmah Amīnī has mentioned the names of such scholars in his famous book: Al-Qadīr, vol. ۲, p. ۴۸, including Musnad-i-Imam Aḥmad Ḥanbal, vol. ۱, p. ۳۴۸

It is cited in Atyab-ul-Bayān Fī Tafsīr-il-Qur'ān that the book called Qāyat-ul-Marām has narrated twenty traditions, nine of which are through the Sunnite scholars and eleven of them are narrated through Shi`ah scholars, denoting that the verse under discussion was revealed on the virtue of Ali-ibn-Abī-Ṭālib (a.s.) on Laylat-ul-Mabīt i.e. the night when he (a.s.) slept in the Prophet's bed and the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) (migrated to Medina.)

One of the books written in the third century A.H. entitled: Tārīkh-i-Ṭabarī, vol. ۲, p. ۳۳۳ has explained the description of the event of Laylat-ul-Mabīt, the night in which `Ali (a.s.) slept in the bed of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.). This event is also explained in Tarīkh-i-Ya`qūbī, vol. ۲, p. ۳۹

Ibn-i-Abil-Ḥadeed expresses in Sharḥ-i-Nahjul-Balāqah, vol. ۴, p. ۷۳ that Mu`āwiyah payed four thousand Dirhams in order that it would be said by people that the above .holy verse was revealed upon the virtue of Ibn-i-Muljam

Some of the books from both Sunni and Shi`ah schools, which have vividly considered :the revelation of this verse upon the virtue of `Ali-ibn-Abī-Ṭālib (a.s.), are as follows

Iḥyā'-u-`Ulūm-id-Dīn, vol. ۳, p. ۲۳۸ by Qazālī; Tathkirat-ul-Khawāṣ, by Sebt-ibn-Jauzī Ḥanafī; As-Sīrat-un-Nabawiyyah Ibn-i-Hushām, vol. ۲, p. ۲۹۱, by Ibn-i-Hushām; As-Sīrat-ul-Ḥalabīyyah, vol. ۲, p. ۲۹, printed in Maktabat-ut-Tijārīyat-ul-Kubrā, Egypt, by Ḥalabī; Al-Fuṣūl-ul-Muhimmah, by Ibn-i-Sabbāq Mālikī

Speech of evil person

Sometimes it happens that an evil person says something which seems wonderful: -۱ " And among people is he whose speech... causes you to wonder, ..." (the Qur'ān, ۲: ۲۰۴); but, in comparison with that, a true believer does something that causes the :world to wonder

Atyab-ul-Bayān, vol. ۲, p. ۳۸۶ ۱ –۱

"...And among people is he who sells his self "

Gaining Allah's pleasure

The most profitable bargain is the one that a person sells his best property, his soul, –۲ to Allah, his Creator. Such a bargain is done neither for Paradise nor for being safe :from the Fire of Hell, but it is merely performed for gaining His pleasure " ... ;to seek the pleasure of Allah..."

Facing Danger in the way of Allah

This is important that a person ventures his self and puts his soul in danger on the –۳ way of Allah by going forward towards the danger with no fear of it, whether the one .confronts that danger or not

Regarding to the occasion of revelation, the praise is for the one who exposes his soul .in the process of sale although there happens no adventure

The love and affection of Allah is the best reward. Allah has ordinarily assigned a –۴ definite reward for every action in the Qur'ān, but in this verse, instead of expressing :any sorts of reward, it simply says Allah is affectionate

".and Allah is affectionate unto His (faithful) servants..."

Verse ٢٠٨–٢٠٩; Arabic; English Translation

٢٠٨ يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا ادْخُلُوا فِي السَّلَامِ كَآفَّةً وَلَا تَتَّبِعُوا خُطُوَاتِ الشَّيْطَانِ إِنَّهُ لَكُمْ عَدُوٌّ مُبِينٌ

٢٠٩ فَإِنْ زَلَلْتُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَتْكُمْ الْبَيِّنَاتُ فَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ

O' you who have Faith! enter you all into submission (to Allah in being in peace), " ٢٠٨
" .and follow not the footsteps of Satan, for he is a manifest foe for you

But if you slip after clear arguments have come to you, then know that Allah is " ٢٠٩
" .the Mighty, the Wise

:Occasion of Revelation

It is narrated from `Akramah that this verse was revealed about the Jews who had converted to Islam, such as: `Abdullah-ibn-Salām, Tha`labat-ibn-Salām, Ibn-i-Yāmīn, Asad and Asīd (the sons of Ka`b), Shu`bat-ibn-Amr, Bahīrā-Rāhib, Sa`īd-ibn-Amr, and Ghays-ibn-Zayd. They went to the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) and asked him to allow them to glorify Saturday and recite the Torah; and, similar to the custom \(in the Age of Ignorance, to avoid consuming the milk and meat of camel. \(1

Commentary: Verses ٢٠٨–٢٠٩

Worldly peace

.The worldly peace is possible only under the Shadow of Faith

The Qur'ānic words /silm/ and /salām/ in lexicon mean `peace' and `quietness'. So, this verse invites all the believes to peace, and in view of the fact that it addresses the believers, the verse means that peace can come into existence only with the existence of Faith. Thus, war and anxiety cannot be removed only by relying on mere human made rules and laws based on material affairs. Then, it is only by the use of the spiritual power of Faith that human beings, in spite of all their differences, can live peacefully and in fellowship together when they, consequently,

.may form a worldly government

"... ,(O' you who have Faith! enter you all into submission (to Allah in being in peace "

It is evident that material affairs such as: language, race, wealth, geographical region, and social classes are totally the origin of separation and dispersion. They cannot provide the real worldly peace which needs a firm circle of connection between the hearts of human beings in the world. This linking circle is only Faith in Allah which is beyond those differences. Therefore, a certain worldly peace without Faith is impossible; the same manner that the inner peace and tranquillity in the unity of a .person and in his spiritual environment, without having a true Faith, is impossible

"... ,and follow not the footsteps of Satan ... "

Satanic temptations and deviations usually come forth gradually

As it was formerly mentioned, the Satanic temptations and deviations usually come forth gradually and , according to the meanings of the Qur'ān, each of them is counted as the following of a step of Satan. \(1\) Here, this fact is stated again that deviation from the right and following the stimuli of enmity, hypocrisy, fighting and blood-shedding usually begin from slight and simple stages. Believing people should be aware of their advent in order to stop them. There is a proverb common among Arab
.people which says: Verily, a destructive fight begins with a slap

" .for he is a manifest foe for you ... "

The enmity of Satan against human kind is not something hidden or unknown. Satan has decided and sworn to behave inimically towards man since the beginning of the creation of Adam, and does his best to settle this enmity among the human race. Yet, as it has been described before, this opposition and hostility can not harm the true
.believers but it is a secret alongside the path of spiritual development

" ... ,But if you slip after clear arguments have come to you "

p: ۱۵۹

---

The Quran, ۲: ۱۶۸; ۶: ۱۴۲; ۲۴: ۲۱ ۱ -۱

The path is clear; the program is clear; and the destination is also clear; so, there is no
.room for falling for the temptations of Satan

Yet, if you deviate from the straight path and go astray while you have all of these clear reasons in hand, it will be your own fault. Thus, do know that Allah is both
'Mighty' , so that no one can flee from His justice, and 'Wise' so that He judges
.nothing unjustly

" .then know that Allah is the Mighty, the Wise ... "

:Explanations

Another interpretation of the verse says: this verse indicates that the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) through this revelation was informed of what will happen to those who joined the ranks of Islam for some interest of their own or other. It is clearly stated in this verse that those who backslide after adopting the faith, may not foolishly imagine that their going astray is going to affect in the least, the cause of God or would cause any inconvenience to the cause of those who believe in God. Those who go astray, need not be arrogant as to imagine that they will defeat God's Power or Wisdom. The .loss will be of those who go astray and not in the least of anybody else

?clouds, with the angels

" .The matter has (already) been decided; and to Allah is the reversion of all affairs

Commentary: Verse ٢١٠

Signs and Evidence of Allah

In this verse Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) is addressed, where the Lord, following the previous subject, remarks whether all these available signs and clear evidences and ordinances are not enough to protect people from deviation and being safe from the (grips of their obvious foe, Satan

Do the followers of Satan's command, besides having all those clear signs, expect that Allah accompanied with the angels, should come unto them in canopies (١) of cloud and yield them some evidences more clear than the present ones? This is impossible, because Allah is not substance. Suppose this impossible happening becomes possible, ?what is the use of it when it is not needed

Are they waiting for aught but Allah should come to them in the shadows of clouds, "
" ... ?with the angles

It is in the case that the whole matter is decreed and determined, and nothing has .remained undone

"... ;The matter has (already) been decided ... "

.And the destination of everything is to Allah, thus the end of all affairs is unto Him

" .and to Allah is the reversion of all affairs ... "

Therefore, the apparently interrogative sentence at the beginning of the verse, in meaning, is a negative question which means such a

The term /zulal/ is the plural form of /pullah/ meaning: 'awning, sun-shade, canopy, ١ –١ tent..., or whatever that produces shade'. Thus, the phrase /zulalin min-al-qamam/ means: 'canopies of clouds thing cannot happen. (This is besides that, as we said, the occurrence of this impossible action is not necessary, because all the means of guidance have sufficiently been provided for the human race). So, according to this interpretation, there is nothing hidden in the meaning of the verse; and, therefore, the words of it .have exactly and totally been commented on

But, some of commentators have not taken the initial sentence of the verse as a positive interrogation with a negative sense. They have considered it a kind of warning against the sinners and those who follow the temptations of Satan, (a threat causing worldly punishment or the punishment of the world to come). In this case, the :meaning of the verse will be as follows

Are such people, with those unbecoming deeds and behaviour of theirs, awaiting for the command of Allah and His angels (of wrath) to come upon them for their punishment and put them in the chastisement of this world or the coming world, and put an end to their affairs? Of course, their deeds have no fruit for them but this very .mentioned one indeed

It is also worthy to note the explanation by al-`Allāmah as-Sayyid Muḥammad Ḥusayn at-Ṭabātabā'ī in Al-Mizān Commentary, vol. ۳, pp. ۱۵۲, ۱۵۳ (English version), :about the verse under discussion where it says

It is self-evident truth, which is also proved by the Qur'ān and the sunnah, that attributes of the body cannot be used for Allah, nor can He be described with adjectives of transient things. No such word, phrase or sentence can be used for Him .which implies transience, need, deficiency or want

Allah, the Self-Sufficient

Allah says: Nothing whatsoever (is there) like the like of Him. (۴۲:۱۱); and Allah is He Who is Self-sufficient (۳۵:۱۵); Allah is the Creator of everything. (۳۹:۶۲) There are numerous such verses; and all of them are confirmed and decisive ones to which the ambiguous verses should be referred. It is these confirmed verses which guide us towards the correct interpretation of the ambiguous ones. If any verse apparently attributes to Allah and action or a characteristic of transient things, then it must be referred to the confirmed verses and interpreted in a way which is not below His dignity nor opposed to His

Now here is a verse which attributes the action of `coming' to Allah. A few other verses also have used this word for Him. And comes your Lord with the angels arrayed in ranks (۸۹:۲۲); then came upon them Allah from whence they did not expect (۵۹:۲); so Allah came upon their structure from the foundations (۱۶:۲۶). In all such verses, it is necessary to interpret them with such meaning which are worthy of Divine sublimity. We may give them the meaning of, let us say, sending His chastisement upon them or surrounding them with His power of wrath. Accordingly, the meaning of `Allah should come to them' in this verse shall be: `Allah should .surround them with His power for enforcing His decree on them

Section ۲۶: Rejection of the Signs and the Apostles from Allah

Point

۲۱۱ سَلُّ بَنِي إِسْرَائِيلَ كَمْ آتَيْنَاهُم مِّنْ آيَةٍ بَيْنَهُ وَ مَنْ يُبَدِّلْ نِعْمَةَ اللَّهِ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَتْهُ فَإِنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ

Ask the Children of Israel how many clear signs We gave them; and whosoever " ۲۱۱ . changes Allah's blessing after it has come unto him, then, verily Allah is severe in " .retribution

Commentary: Verse ۲۱۱

Manner of the Children of Isreal

This verse points to the manner of the Children of Israel that how they were entangled with the punishment of Allah when they changed the blessings of Allah and .showed ingratitude after having those clear signs and divine favours

Ask the Children of Israel how many clear signs We gave them; and whosoever " "...,changes Allah's blessing after it has come unto him

The purpose of 'change of blessing' is that one misuses the blessings, favours, and material and spiritual sources of authority, potentialities and talents that the one naturally has in his possession on the path of destruction, deviation, transgression, .and vicious actions

Allah gave the Children of Israel both spiritual trainees and powerful leaders. He (s.w.t.) bestowed upon them all sorts of material and spiritual facilities and .possibilities, but they changed those bounties

That behaviour they had, not only ruined their lives in this world, but also causes that .there will be waiting a painful chastisement for them in the world to come

" .then, verily Allah is severe in retribution ..."

The problem of 'change of blessing' and its painful resulting fate is not conclusive to the Israelites. At this very present Age, the industrial world is also entangled with this great adversity. The human race of today has so much abundant and different bounties and facilities that no period in the history has recorded the like of them for human kind. Yet, as a result of being distant from the heavenly instructions of prophets and because of 'change of blessing', human beings of this Age have applied those bounties terribly alongside the way of their own destruction. They have produced the most dangerous destructive weapons out of them (those bounties) to ruin the world. Or, they have gained profits by misusing their own material natural potentialities for the spread of transgression, oppression, exploitation, and have changed the world into an insecure and unpeaceful site in all respects.

The initial phrase of the verse: "Ask the Children of Israel" is, in fact, for the reason that the blessing of Allah be confessed by them, and then, it be remarked why they were faced with that adversity: that they scattered wandering in the world

٢١٢ زُيِّنَ لِلَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا الْحَيَاةَ الدُّنْيَا وَيَسْخَرُونَ مِنَ الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا وَالَّذِينَ اتَّقَوْا فَوْقَهُمْ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ وَاللَّهُ يَرْزُقُ مَنْ يَشَاءُ بِغَيْرِ حِسَابٍ

The life of this world has been made to seem fair to those who disbelieve, and " ٢١٢ ,they mock those who believe but those who guard (against evil) shall be above them on the Day of Judgement and " Allah provides with sustenance for whomever He wills without measure

:Occasion of Revelation

Ibn-Abbas, the famous commentator, says that this holy verse was revealed about the chief leaders of Quraysh, a minority of wealthy people in their disbelieving tribe, who were living in easy circumstances. They used to mock a group of steadfast Muslim believers, who were poor from the point of finances. These disbelievers said: if the Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) had really been appointed from the side of God and was a noble prophet, the rich and authoritative ones would have followed him. Then, .this verse was revealed and answered their vain statements

Commentary: Verse ٢١٢

The occasion of revelation of the verse does not hinder us from taking the verse as a general and common rule, or consider it as the perfecter of the previous verse about :the Jews. The verse says

" ... ,The life of this world has been made to seem fair to those who disbelieve "

:Thus, they were so proud that they ridiculed those believers who were rather poor

" ... ,and they mock those who believe ... "

:Yet, in the meantime, the attention should also be paid to this condition that ... but those who guard (against evil) shall be above them on the Day of Judgement ... "

The reason for that condition lies in the coming world where the spiritual ranks will be illustrated in their objective forms and believers will be positioned in such elevated high ranks that these miserable people, comparing them to as if the believers are in high sky of honour, feel themselves in the lowest and deepest earthly abode of disgrace. This is not surprising, of course, because the foregoing detailed condition is
:the fruit of their own deeds

" .and Allah provides with sustenance for whomever He wills without measure ... "

These facts are, indeed, some glad tidings for the poor believers and also a severe
 .warning to the rich who are proud and faithless unto the Truth

And the phrase stating that 'Allah provides with sustenance for whomever (here, the believers) He wills without measure' may point to this idea that Divine rewards, from the view of quantity and quality, are never equivalent to our good deeds. They are bestowed according to His Grace and Generosity, and, also, we know that there is no
 .limit to the Grace and Generosity of Allah

٢١٣ كَانَ النَّاسُ أُمَّةً وَاحِدَةً فَبَعَثَ اللَّهُ النَّبِيِّنَ مُبَشِّرِينَ وَ مُنذِرِينَ وَ أَنْزَلَ مَعَهُمُ الْكِتَابَ بِالْحَقِّ لِيُحْكَمَ بَيْنَ النَّاسِ فِي مَا اختلفُوا فِيهِ وَ مَا اختلف فِيهِ إِلَّا الَّذِينَ أُوتُوهُ مِنْ بَعْدِ مَا جَاءَتْهُمْ الْبَيِّنَاتُ بَغْيًا بَيْنَهُمْ فَهَدَى اللَّهُ الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لِمَا اختلفُوا فِيهِ مِنْ الْحَقِّ بِإِذْنِهِ وَ اللَّهُ يَهْدِي مَنْ يَشَاءُ إِلَى صِرَاطٍ مُسْتَقِيمٍ

All) Mankind was but a single nation, then Allah raised Prophets as bearers of) " ٢١٣ .
good tidings and warners, and He sent down with them the Book with the Truth that it .might judge between people on that wherein they differed

And none were at odds over it, except those very (people) whom it was given unto, after clear arguments had come to them, revolting among themselves. So Allah guided by His Will, those who believed regarding that which people had differed about
.the truth

" .And Allah guides whomever He wills to the Straight Path

Commentary: Verse ٢١٣

Mankind, but a Single Nation

It is understood from this verse that human race had a simple and plain life at the beginning. Then, later, after the increase of population and the appearance of a .variety of tastes among them, little by little, diversities and oppositions arose

" (All) Mankind was but a single nation) ... "

As some Islamic traditions indicate, this period has been adapted to an Age before the time of Noah (a.s.) when people, with little information, used to live a simple limited
.life

But, sometime later there appeared some conflicts between individuals when they wanted to gain more and more interests especially by employing others for reaching the foregoing purposes via them. This caused that .the classes of people and social levels came into existence

"... ,then Allah raised Prophets as bearers of good tidings and warners ... "

The necessity of a social life is the existence of a firm and just law in that society. This law should be able to solve the problems of people. Allah appointed the prophets for solving the problems and removing the opposition created thereby. He (s.w.t.) sent some heavenly Books down to them, but some arrogant groups consciously stood against the invitation of the prophets and produced a new conflict, added to their .former ones

" ... and He sent down with them the Book with the Truth ... "

In this way, of course, Allah led some receptive people to His guidance with His grace and favour, and left those who, as a result of envy, jealousy, force, or oppression,
.resisted against the truth alone to themselves until they receive their retribution

"... .that it might judge between people on that wherein they differed ... "

:Explanations

Complexity of Life Varies with size of Population

The larger the number of contemporary people in one region is, the more variety of – ۱ demands will arise; and, when the life is simpler and the number of people is smaller,
.the less the contradictions will be

Necessity of a Judge

Wherever there lies a dispute, there needs a judge. Human made laws and – ۲ civilizations are not able to solve the discords of mankind, because all human groups or individuals usually look for their own personal needs or demands. The solution of the human problems should be made up via the path of Divine prophets and through the revealed laws which are free from any fault and falsification because they are .sent down from the side of Allah (s.w.t.) and by an infallible figure, i.e. a godly prophet

,And none were at odds over it, except those very (people) whom it was given unto ... "

" ...

Faith in the Resurrection

The best way of solution to contradictions is Faith in the Resurrection. This doctrine –۳ utilizes the subject of glad tidings to prevent the appearance of contradictions, and .uses the subject of warning as its remedy

p: ۱۶۹

Intentional Contradiction

The worst kind of contradiction is the intentional one which comes forth with the –۴
.aim of jealousy and oppression while there are clear evidences available

"... .after clear arguments had come to them, revolting among themselves ... "

Path to the solution of contradiction

The path to the solution of contradiction, therefore, is belief in Truth and obeying –۵
:the law of prophets

" ... So Allah guided by His Will, those who believed ... "

Judgement of prophets

The critical statement of the Qur'ān is targeted to that pertinacious contradiction in –۶ which a person does not accept the judgement of prophets appointed by Allah based on the Divine Law, else the contradictions and disputes that finally surrender to justice are not objected. This kind of diversity is similar to the two pans or scales of a .balance which move up and down until one finally parallels with the other

"... .regarding that which people had differed about the truth ... "

Dispute Between Believers

There sometimes appear disputes between the believers, too, but they will be led –۷ under the guardianship of Allah; while disbelievers will be wandering in darkness
.forever

" .And Allah guides whomever He wills to the Straight Path ... "

The Straight Path

" .Rescue from contradiction is, surely, counted "the Straight Path –۸

Verse ٢١٤, Arabic; English Translation

٢١٤ أَمْ حَسِبْتُمْ أَنْ تُدْخَلُوا الْجَنَّةَ وَلَمَّا يَأْتِكُمْ مَثَلُ الَّذِينَ خَلَوْا مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ مَسَّتْهُمُ الْبَأْسَاءُ وَالضَّرَّاءُ وَزُلْزِلُوا حَتَّى يَقُولَ الرَّسُولُ وَالَّذِينَ آمَنُوا مَعَهُ مَتَى نَصُرُ اللَّهُ أَلَا إِنَّ نَصْرَ اللَّهِ قَرِيبٌ

Or did you suppose you would enter Paradise untouched by the suffering which " ٢١٤
?was endured by those before you

They were afflicted by distress and adversity and were so shakened that the ,Messenger and those who believed with him said

'(When will Allah's help (come`

" !Surely Allah's help is (always) nigh

:Occasion of Revelation

Some of the commentators say that this verse was revealed on the occasion of the battle of Ahzāb, or the Confederate, when the Muslims got impatient and terribly terrified in the battle. So, they, being surrounded by the enemy, began asking about the help of Allah, the Almighty. Therefore, the revelation of this verse invited them to patience and perseverance and made them hopeful of triumph through the help of Allah

It is also reported that when Muslims were defeated in the battle of 'Uhud, `Abdillah-ibn-'Ubayy, reproaching them, inquired that until when those Muslims were going to give themselves in death and he added that if Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) was really the Messenger of Allah, then He (s.w.t.) would not let his companions be captured or killed.

.At that moment the above verse was revealed

****

:Intense Adversities as a Divine Practice

The above verse indicates that some of the believers thought that the main factor of arriving in Heaven was only the expression of Faith to Allah and, thereafter, no trouble or pain they might tolerate. Hence, Allah would arrange their affairs, they imagined, and destroy their enemies without any effort and endeavour that they themselves might suffer

Against this kind of wrong thinking, the Qur'ān points to the true and usual method of Allah. It says that the believers must be ready to devote themselves and to face with troubles and difficulties along the path of Faith and its influence. These difficulties are, in fact, some trials which make the real Faith from the unreal one manifest. The Qur'ān also explains that these trials and difficulties exist as a general law, and that is why they had afflicted the former nations and all previous sects, too

Or did you suppose you would enter Paradise untouched by the suffering which was " ... ?endured by those before you

The Israelites, for example entangled with many sufferings in order to be rescued from the oppressive grips of the Pharaoh. When they were amazed and did not know what to do, the grace and favour of Allah came and helped them to win their enemy. This situation was not exclusive to the Children of Israel alone, but, as the above verse points out in the phrase: " by those before you ", all earlier nations had a common status from this point of view, too. It seems that this is a Divine practice which is the secret of training and spiritual development in human kind

" ... They were afflicted by distress and adversity ... "

All dynasties should be involved in the current of adversities and calamities so that they be prepared for some more important and graver adventures, and also, by this way, the efficient and experienced ones be recognized and with repelling the unworthy persons, the society be filtered

,and were so shakened that the Messenger and those who believed with him said ... "
" ...

Another point that we must be aware of in commenting on this verse is that, at the end, it proclaims that afflictions and adversities had so intensely encompassed the former nations that even the believing people and prophets, all together, said

" ... '? (When will Allah's help (come` ... "

It is evident that the purpose, here, is not a protest against the Providence, but this manner of statement is itself a kind of invocation and a plea for help. So, the Qur'ān says

" !Surely Allah's help is (always) nigh ... "

Whatever you spend that is good, (from your material and spiritual wealth to avail) for parents, relatives, the orphans, the needy, and the traveller; and whatever you do " that is good, verily Allah is All-Knowing of it

:Occasion of Revelation

Amr-ubn-i-Jamūh was an old man who was rich, too. Once he asked the Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) what he would spend as charity and to whom he could give the charity. Concerning this matter, the above verse was revealed

Commentary: Verse ۲۱۵

Charity: What should be spent and on Whom

There are many verses in the Qur'ān which speak about charity in the way of Allah. The Lord of the world has variously encouraged Muslims to spend in charity and help the indigent, but the status of the verse under discussion is different. At the time of revelation, some people wanted to know what kind of property they should spend from

:So, it says

"... ;They ask you (O' MUhammad) what they should spend "

The verse, in answer to this question, besides explaining what should be spent, points to another problem, too. It adds the situations and persons that charity might be spent on. And, as it was mentioned in the above, the occasion of revelation also shows that both problems (the material which should be spent, and the persons whom charity should be given to) had been questioned about

In reply to the first subject, i.e. the matter that should be dispensed with by the way of charity in the way of Allah, applying the term `khayr' (good), there has been given a complete, expressive and inclusive answer to the question. The answer simply is whatsoever good that may benefit the others. Thus, it concludes all beneficial capital, irrespective of material or spiritual

p: ۱۷۴

,say, ` Whatever you spend that is good ... "

" ... (from your material and spiritual wealth to avail)

In reply to the second subject, i.e. the person and the order in which charity should proceed, a logical series is given. The claim of the parents and of the nearest relatives is made the first concern of the charitable. Then, it refers to the orphans and the indigents before paying to the needy travellers

"... ;for parents, relatives, the orphans, the needy, and the traveller ... "

It is self-evident that making provision for relatives, besides the ordinary effects that any charity has, contains a profound result in firmness of their relationship "! and whatever you do that is good, verily Allah is All-Knowing of it ... "

The dispensers of charity should not persist on the matter so that others understand their benevolence, and their good actions should be done for obtaining more sincerity. It seems that the secret of that fact lies in this sense that the One Who gives reward knows everything including whatever deed we do. So, the Exalted One in Whose possession is the recompense of all deeds, with Him are the accounts of all human beings, too

" .surely Allah knows, and you know not

Commentary: Verse ٢١٦

Fighting in the Cause of Allah

The previous verse was about charity while this verse is about donating soul and blood, both of which run in the field of devotion, both together in one rank

This verse states that, it is necessary for you to fight against the enemy. This command has surely been legislated and is incumbent upon Muslims, while human kind naturally is inconvenient with suffering toils and pains

"... Fighting (in the cause of Allah) is prescribed for you, although you dislike it "

The next part of the verse points to the fact that fighting and struggling with the enemy is basically hard and disagreeable, because it causes the death of some people, together with pain and loss of limbs and properties in an environment of terror and insecurity for some others. Yet, there are always some devoted persons who never withhold of any self-sacrifice in the way of their own sacred aims

But, the majority of ordinary people are those who, as was reasoned in the above, tend not to take part in the holy struggle and self-sacrificing practically

The Lord of the world, with a sharp tone, condemns this kind of thinking of theirs, but He opens a new doorway to them. The Qur'ān, addressing Muslims, says that you are not aware of the expediencies of affairs. How do you know? There may be something good behind what you suppose is inconvenient, and there may be something evil at the back of what you like. It is only Allah Who knows the whole secret of affairs. Yet, it is certain that those who are studious and clever (not the inattentive people) can find a way to the solution of a part .of the secrets of some qualifications

p: 176

Yet it may happen that you dislike a thing while it is good for you; and it may ... " ;happen that you love a thing while it is evil for you

This verse points to a fundamental principle in the Divine laws of creation and legislation. It develops the spirit of regulation and resignation in man unto these laws. It is so that human members, concerning the Divine laws, should not take their own distinction and concept as a criterion of judgement, because surely their knowledge is limited in all aspects and, comparing with their unknown quantities, it is naught, or as .if it were a drop of water in the face of a sea

Divine Laws of Creation and Legislation

Therefore, they must never frown at such laws which originate from the knowledge of Allah, the knowledge that is infinite from any points of view. But, they ought to know that all of these laws are totally alongside the benefit of the human race whether they are the laws of legislation such as: Holy War, alms tax, and the like of them, or the laws of creation and the incidents that occasionally occur in life and are never avoidable. They are like death and grievous inflictions unto our friends and relatives which come forth unexpectedly and unavoidably; or like the future secrets .which are concealed from Man, and the similar subjects

Holy War

.However, Holy War is one of the important applications of Islam

There are many verses of the Qur'ān as well as Islamic traditions from Prophet

Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) and Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) found upon the importance and virtue of
.Holy War

:It is narrated in a tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said Good deeds comparing with Holy War in the way of Allah are not but a

p: ۱۷۷

(corpse in an unfathomable sea." (1)

It is also narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who said: " Holy War (in Islam) is the best (of all) things next to the obligatory duties (such as: prayers, fasting, Hajj and alms (tax)." (2)

:Again, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) is narrated who has said (Heaven has a door which is called the Door of Strivers." (3) "

Holy War has not been allocated only to Islam. Other Divine religions before Islam had also had it, as the current Torah has narrated the injunctions of Moses (a.s) about fighting with several tribes other than the Israelites. Some definite references among them are

DEUTERONOMY, Chapters 7, 13, and Chapter 20; EXODUS, Chapter 22; and NUMBERS, Chapter 31

The prophet Jesus (a.s.) also has been commissioned to Holy War as it is recognized from MATTHEW, Chapter 10, No. 34 and LUKE, Chapter 19, No. 27 and Chapter 22, No. 36

Some stories of a few other former prophets who fought against disbelievers are referred to in the Qur'ān, too. A few examples are

Sura 'Āl-i-`Imrān, No. 3, verse 47; Sura Al-Baqarah, No.2, verse 246; and Sura Al-Mā'idah, No.5, verse 27. (4)

Referential texts from the Book of the Old Testament

A. Referential texts from the Book of the Old Testament, referred to in the above, are as follows

:The fifth book of Moses called DEUTERONOMY; Chapter 7, p. 219 No.2 to 5 say

And when the Lord thy God shall deliver them before thee; thou shalt smite them, 2 and utterly destroy them; thou shalt make no covenant with them, nor shew mercy unto them

Neither shalt thou make marriages with them; thy daughter thou shalt not give unto

.so will the anger of the Lord be kindled against you, and destroy thee suddenly

,But thus shall ye deal with them; ye shall destroy their altars ६ and break down their images, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven
.images with fire

:And, Deuteronomy, Chapter 13, pp. 227 and 228, No.9 and 10 say

But thou shalt surely kill him; thine hand shall be first upon him to put him to death, 9
.and afterwards the hand of all the people

And thou shalt stone him with stones, that he die; because he hath sought to thrust 10 thee away from the LORD thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from
.the house of bondage

And all Israel shall hear, and fear, and shall do no more any such wickedness as this 11
.is among you

If thou shalt hear say in one of thy cities, which the LORD thy God hath given thee 12
,to dwell there, saying

Certain men, the children of Belial, are gone out from among you, and have 13 withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, saying, Let us go and serve other gods, which ;ye have not known

Then shalt thou enquire, and make search, and ask diligently; and, behold, if it be 14
;truth, and the thing certain, that such abomination is wrought among you

Thou shalt surely smite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, 15 destroying it utterly, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the
.sword

:Again, Deuteronomy, Chapter 20, p.234, No.1-4 say

WHEN thou goest out to battle against thine enemies, and seest horses, and chariots, and a people more than thou, be not afraid of them: for the LORD thy God is
.with thee, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt

And it shall be, when ye are come nigh unto the battle, that the priest shall approach
,and speak unto the people

And shall say unto them, Hear, O Israel, ye approach this day unto battle against your enemies: let not your hearts faint, fear not, and do not tremble, neither be ye
;terrified because of them

For the LORD your God is he that goeth with you, to fight for you against your ٤
.enemies, to save you

Also, in the second book of Moses, called: EXODUS; Chapter ٣٢, pp. ١٠٤, ١٠٧, No. ٢٧-٢٩, it
:says

And he said unto them, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Put every man his sword ٢٧ by his side, and go in and out from gate to gate throughout the camp, and slay every .man his brother, and every man his companion, and every man his neighbour

And the children of Levi did according to the word of Moses: and there fell of the ٢٨
.people that day about three thousand men

For Moses had said, Consecrate yourselves to day to the LORD, even every man ٢٩
.upon his son, and upon his brother; that he may bestow upon you a blessing this day

However, in the fourth book of Moses called: NUMBERS, Chapter ٣١, p.٢٠١, No. ١-١٢
:says thus

,AND the LORD spake unto Moses, saying ١

Avenge the children of Israel of the Midianites: afterward shalt thou be gathered ٢
.unto thy people

And Moses spake unto the people, saying, Arm some of yourselves unto the war, ٣
.and let them go against the Midianites, and avenge the LORD of Midian

Of every tribe a thousand, throughout all the tribes of Israel, shall ye send to the ٤
.war

So there were delivered out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand of every tribe, ٥
.twelve thousand armed for war

And Moses sent them to the war, a thousand of every tribe, them and Phinehas the ٦ son of Eleazar the priest, to the war, with the holy instruments, and the trumpets to .blow in his hand

And they warred against the Midianites, as the LORD commanded Moses; and they v
.slew all the males

And they slew the kings of Midian, beside the rest of them that were slain; namely, ^ Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, five kings of Midian: Balaam also the son
.of Beor they slew with the sword

And the children of Israel took all the women of Midian captives, and their little ones, 9 and took the spoil of all their cattle, and

.all their flocks, and all their goods

And they burnt all their cities wherein they dwelt, and all their goodly castles, with ١٠
.fire

.And they took all the spoil, and all the prey, both of men and of beasts ١١

And they brought the captives, and the prey, and the spoil, unto Moses, and Eleazar ١٢ the priest, and unto the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the camp at the .plains of Moab, which are by Jordan near Jericho

:B. The referential texts from the Book of New Testament are as follows

:a. The Gospel according to St. Matthew, Chapter ١٠, P.٩٠٢, No.٣٤: such is recorded

Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a ٣٤
.sword

:b. The Gospel according to St. Luke, Chapter ١٩, p.١٠٧٤, No.٢٧ reports

But those mine enemies, which would not that I should reign over them, bring ٢٧
.hither, and slay them before me

:c. And, St. Luke, Chapter ٢٢, p. ١٠٨٠, No.٣٤ explains thus

Section ۲۲: Questions about various important topics

:Occasion of Revelation

It is said that this verse was revealed about the struggle of `Abd-il-lāh-ibn-Jaḥsh. The event was as follows

Before the occurrence of the battle of Badr, the Messenger of Islam (p.b.u.h.) sent for `Abdillāh-ibn-i-Jaḥsh. When he came, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), accompanying him eight men from among the Emigrants, gave him a letter and told him to start on a journey immediately, and after two days of paving the way, then he would open the letter to read and follow what it said. So, after two days of travelling, `Abdillāh opened the letter and found thus: "When you opened the letter, you go forward to `Nakhlah' , (a land between Mecca and Ṭā'if), and from there watch the situation of Quraysh. Then report to us the circumstances

Abdillāh told his companions the matter and added that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) had commanded him not to force them on that way. So, those who would be ready to be killed might follow him, and the rest could return. All the members decidedly started to go forward with him

When they reached Nakhlah, they encountered a caravan from Quraysh wherein was `Amr-ubn-i-Ḥadramī. That day was the last day of Rajab (one of the Sacred Months), so, they began consulting whether they could attack that group or not

.A few of them said if they left the caravan to continue their way they would enter the limits of the sacred town, Mecca, where it was forbidden to attack them. Hence, finally, the Prophet's agents invaded them bravely. They succeeded to kill `Amr-ubn-i-Ḥadramī and brought the caravan with two captives to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) said he had not ordered them to fight in a sacred month. Therefore, he did not mix himself with the booties and the captives. The victorious warriors felt annoyed and Muslims thereby began scolding them. Infidels also sarcastically stated that the Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) made fighting, bloodshedding, and capturing in the Sacred Months lawful. At that time the first verse of the above verses was revealed

After the revelation of this verse, `Abdillāh-ibn-i-Jaḥsh and his companions stated that they had strived on that way to obtain the reward concerning the Holy War. They also asked the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) whether they had got the reward of the strivers.

Then, the second verse in the above was sent down.

Commentary: Verses 217–218

Fighting in the Sacred Months

As the occasion of revelation denotes, the verse intends to answer the questions about fighting in Sacred Months. It clearly proclaims the prohibition of fighting in Sacred Months and counts such a fighting a great sin

They ask you (O' Muhammad) concerning the sacred month about fighting in it. Say: " ...; Fighting in it is a grave (sin

Yet, it emphasizes that the infidels who have committed great sins such as infidelity to Allah, banning people from being lead to the straight path, expelling the inhabitants of Mecca from their home, trampling on the divine sanctuary and security of the sacred premises of Mecca, where the birds, beasts and plants should be secured, are not rightful to object to a group of Muslims who took action in fighting by mistake during a Sacred Month

,but to bar (people) from Allah's way ... "

Sirah Ibn-i-Husham, vol. ۲, p. ۲۵۲ ۱ –۱ and to deny Him (to prevent access) to the Sacred Mosque, and to drive its people

"...therefrom is, a graver (crime) with Allah

In addition to that, pagans have made mischief, because any subversive move against truthful people and barring them from embracing the theistic creed is a movement to creating a mischievous environment full of infidelity and idolatry. This .crime is graver than fighting in a Sacred Month

"...Sedition is more gravous than slaughter ..."

Thus, these Qur'ānic words addresses Muslims and warns them to be careful not to be affected by the evil propagations of infidels. It informs them to have insight and be :conscious for pagans who always try to convert them from Islam. It says

They will not cease fighting against you until they turn you back from your religion, ... "
"...if they can

To prevent this situation, the Qur'ān warns that whoever of Muslims turns back from the Truth and dies in that status while the one is an infidel, this infidelity nullifies all his .good deeds of this world and the next world totally

But whoever of you turns back from his religion, and dies disbelieving such are they ..."
"...'whose deeds shall be of no avail in this world and Hereafter

When a person, with such a condition of disbelief, has no valid good deeds in .Hereafter, reasonably the one will be permanently involved in the torment of Allah

"...those are the inhabitants of the Fire, wherein they shall dwell forever ..."

Effects of Belief and Disbelief on Deeds

There is a discription about the Arabic term /ḥabt/ (forfeiture) in Almīzān,
:Commentary, a part of which is as follows

In short, 'ḥabt of deeds' means their coming to nothing and their being of no effect. It has been said that it is derived from /ḥabata / which is used when an animal over-eats

.and its stomach distends, often resulting in its death

The gist of the verse under discussion, like other verses of forfeiture, is that disbelief and apostasy make the deeds ineffective, i.e., such deeds lose their power to make ,life blissful. On the other hand

p: ۱۸۵

true faith and belief give life to the deeds and they create felicity, bliss and happiness in life. If someone acquires true faith after disbelief, his deeds are given a new life and they become effective in making life blessed and happy (although they were forfeited and ineffective before). Likewise, if he apostatizes after having been a believer, all his deeds become dead, null and void; they cannot make life in this world or in the Hereafter happy. Thereafter, if he leaves his apostasy and comes back to the fold of Islam, it is hoped that his deeds will be revived; but if he dies in the apostasy, the forfeiture will have been confirmed and misery unhappiness will be written down for \(him.\)

****

The Arabic term /jihād/ literally means striving that can be with wealth i.e. spending money in the way of Allah, or with life which means giving away life or getting killed in Allah's way i.e. for Allah's cause

Those who believed and those who migrated (suffered exile) and struggled in the " ... ;way of Allah – these are they who hope for Allah's Mercy

This point is also remarked in the second verse that some warriors in the cause of Allah (s.w.t.), as a result of being unaware or being insufficiently cautious, may make some errors, (the foregoing story of `Abdillāh-ibn-i-Jaḥsh was an example of this meaning), but Allah will forgive them for their greater services that they usually do faithfully and sincerely

" .and Allah is Forgiving Merciful ... "

Commentary: Verse ٢١٩

Wine and Gambling

The statement in this verse is about two questions and their divine answers. The first :question is about `wine' and `gambling', thus

"... .They ask you concerning wine and gambling"

The term `Khamr' in Arabic lexicon means `a cover' , hence the veil that women wear to cover their heads to observe `Hijāb ' , it is called ` khimār ' . Since the alcoholic beverages often delude the ability of the distinction of the person who drinks and, in 'fact, it covers the wisdom, in Arabic language that kind of liquor is called ` khamr

The term `Maysir' is derived from the Arabic word /yusr/ which means: `ease, easiness, and facility', as if, in gambling, each of the two parties wants to take the .wealth of the other easily

In answer to the question of some believers about wine and gambling, the verse,
:addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), says

"... ;Say: ` There is a great sin in both of them, and (some) profits for people ... "

This profit maybe refers to those interests that the producers of wine obtain through planting vineyards or preparing raisins for wine, or selling wine; or the money taken as taxes, charges, and custom-duties; or the profit some gain by establishing game-houses. But the sin and interior loss of these two is .graver than their exterior profits

Disadvantages Resulting from Drinking Wine and Gambling

Here are a few disadvantages resulting in drinking wine and gambling listed in some .commentary books

Shortening the lifetime .۱

The negative effects on the procreation of babies specially if the intercourse of the .۲ .couple happens when the person is intoxicated

The spread of immorality and the increase in the number of crimes such as: theft, .۳ .combat, murder, sexual offenses, and dangerous driving accidents

One of the scholars expert in natural science has said: " If governments in the drunkard nations close half of the vintneries, we will be able to close half of the ".hospitals and psychiatric asylums

Gambling is also known among the causes of: disturbance, neurasthenic diseases, apoplexies cerebral and hemacardiorrhagia, the increase of heartbeats, inappetence, paleness, and so on. Those who deal with the factors of crimes (in some societies) have formally issued that about thirty percent of the number of crimes are related to .gambling

By the way, gambling surely has a destructive function in the development of .economics, because it wastes the mirth of the useful work

Gambling has been announced forbidden and illegal in some of non-Islamic countries during the recent years. In England, for instance, that law passed to be executed in ۱۸۵۳, in America in ۱۸۵۵ (where it is again now practiced in some states), in Russia in .۱۸۵۴, and in Germany it passed in ۱۸۷۳

The second question is regarding to the quality of /`afw/ `charity', when the Prophet
:(p.b.u.h.) is asked about

:They ask you as to what they should spend. Say... "

'Whatsoever can be spared '

".Thus does Allah make the Signs clear to you, in order that you may ponder

In the Arabic dictionary, the term /`afw/ , in addition to the sense of 'pardon' and 'forgiveness', means: 'moderation, superfluous goods, and the best thing of the wealth'. Each of these meanings is fitting in the verse; and the purpose of the term /`afw/, here, may conclude all of these senses. That is, if you desire to spend, you should observe both moderation, and do not disburse all your property as charity so that thereafter you yourself become needy, and when you give something to someone, give that of your most beloved things; for the Qur'ān says

By no means shall you attain to righteousness until you spend (benevolently) out of " (what you love; ... " , (Sura `Āl-i-`Imrān, No.3, verse 92

:Explanations

When dealing a thing, we must be just. The verse does not connive the profits of wine and gambling, but it propounds the subject so that it animates the power and faculty of contemplation and meditation in us

Both wine and gambling are the means of destruction of body and soul. They are both causes of failure, so, they have come together in the Qur'ān

Protect both wisdom and peace. With the prohibition of wine, wisdom and contemplation has been protected; and by the prohibition of gambling, the safety of peace and spiritual and economical security have been guarded

As the commentary books indicate, at the advent of Islam, the prohibition of wine had been introduced step by step until when it was fully performed throughout the Islamic society

At the call of Islam, people habitually used to drink wine although it had been forbidden in the former religions. The Divine Messages gradually made them ready to accept its prohibition. In Sura An-Naḥl, No.16, verse 67 the revelation says: "And of the fruits of the palms and the grapes you obtain from them intoxication and goodly provision; ...", which means you may obtain both spirituous liquor and good provision from grapes, i.e., spirituous liquor is not a good provision

After that, concerning wine and gambling, the verse under discussion was sent down,
:saying that their harm, in comparison, is more than their profits

There is a great sin in both of them, and (some) profits for people; but their sin is ... "
" ... greater

Then, in another occurrence, a different verse of the Holy Qur'ān was revealed, (Sura
:An-Nisā', No. ٤, verse ٤٣), and commanded Muslim believers
".do not go near prayer when you are intoxicated ... "

And, finally, the prohibition of wine was completely made manifest and perpetual
:when the word of Allah announced in Sura Al-Mā'idah, No. ٥, verse ٩٠, thus

There are so many traditions and narrations from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and also from the holy Imams (a.s.) condemning the use of wine and as to what a miserable fate

".Mighty, the Wise

Commentary: Verse ۲۲۰

Point

The initial phrase of the verse: `over this world and the Hereafter' refers either to the subject of charity, which was mentioned at the end of the previous verse, meaning that your charity is for your happiness in this world and the next. This act of spending should, of course, be neither in a manner that you donate your whole wealth so that you fall into trouble in your life, nor in a form of stinginess that causes your .deprivation of the divine rewards in Hereafter

Or, it refers to pondering over that which was mentioned in the former verse. If so, it means that everybody should think about the affairs of this world and the next, because we have to obtain the spiritual rewards of the next world only in this very world. This pondering can simply be contemplating over the problems such as Unity of Allah, Resurrection, the secrets of creation, and the dominating laws of nature in order to understand them and to accept them, although the acceptance of the creed is not conditioned to the recognition of all

:secrets perfectly. So, the verse says

"... .Ponder) over this world and the Hereafter) "

Concerning Orphans

Concerning the question about orphans, the commentary books denote that: when the tenth verse of Sura An-Nisā' No. 4, was revealed announcing that those who swallow the property of the orphans unjustly, swallow fire into their bellies, the families who had orphans in their houses felt anxious so that some of them even exiled the orphans from their houses and some others separated the dishes of the orphans' food from those of theirs. In that situation both the orphans and the .householders encountered several annexing difficulties

Therefore, they went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and asked him about the quality of their manner towards the orphans. The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) replied to them that if they tried to improve the affairs of orphans it would be better for them. They should not dismiss the orphans and shirk the responsibility of managing them for that their wealth could be mixed with that of theirs while the orphans are religiously their brethren. So, it did not matter that they might mix their properties with each other in the case that their .intention in living with orphans was not to swallow their wealth

:And they ask you concerning orphans. Say..."

To set right for them (their affairs) is best; and if you become co-partner with them, ` "... .they are your brethren

They should also be aware that Allah recognizes good doers from evil doers; and His Will is not to ordain hardship for the believers; and He is, of course, Almighty and All- .Wise

Allah knows well the mischief-maker from the peace-maker; and had He willed, He..." .would have surely made, it hard for you

".Verily Allah is the Mighty, the Wise

Orphans are our younger brothers/sisters

Orphans are neither our sons nor our servants, but they are our younger brothers – ١ and are counted with us in number: " They are your brethren "; so, they must live with .us and be inside our lives

Endeavor Justly for Orphans

To shirk the affairs of orphans is not right, but public interest is – ٢

.that we, as a custom, endeavour justly for them with a good intention and brotherly

Beware not to consume the wealth of orphans unjustly

It is not important that some individuals claim for improvement, because Allah – ۳ knows who is a peace-maker and who is a mischief-maker. So, beware not to swallow the wealth of orphans under the pretext of improvement, nor to evade it for the fear .of mischief

Duties in Islam are not unbearable

There is no unbearable duty in Islam, (considering the occasion of revelation of the –۴ .(verse cited in the above

Any improvement given in the life of orphans is valuable. The term `improvement', –۵ mentioned in the verse, has come in an absolute form to encompass all sorts of improvement including: scientific, financial, practical, educational and theological .aspects

:Occasion of Revelation

Once there came a man into Mecca by the name of Marthad. He was a brave man who had converted to Islam. He occasionally met " `Anāgh ", the beautiful woman whom he was acquainted with formerly, at the time of Ignorance. She invited him to sinful actions as before, but Marthad, who had become a Muslim, did not accept her wish. Hence, the woman asked him to marry her. Marthad replied that it was contingent on the permission of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Then, after performing his affairs, he returned to Medina and told the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) about the matter. So, this verse was revealed and stated that the idol-worshippers and pagan women are not eligible to be married by Muslim men

Selection of an Appropriate Spouse

! The term /nikāḥ/ in Arabic philology means: ` matrimony, wedlock, and marriage

Islam has considered a number of conditions for the wife that a man wants to select. These conditions are identified in Islam because this religion takes the matrimonial life important for the sake of the assured heritable effects upon offspring, and, also, for the sake of the training issues of the family environment over the fate of the children. It says, for example, that a pagan woman is not suitable to be married by a Muslim. Supposing that such a woman be chosen for marriage, the resulting children will naturally obtain her spiritualities and qualities under the principle of heritage, and after birth, if they trained by that mother, (whereas it is often thus), these children may have an abominable end. That is why the Holy Qur'ān, in this verse, has explicitly .prohibited marriage with the women who are infidel or idol-worshippers

And do not marry idolater women until they believe, and a believing maid is definitely " ... preferable to an idolater (free) woman even though she may please you

In addition to that, if pagans, who are counted foreigners in an Islamic society, penetrate into the houses of Muslims by means of marriage, that society will be inflicted with disorder and interior enemies. In such a situation the different rows and categories therein are not recognized from each other. Hence, the Qur'ān, hereby, .tells them not to marry with that group of women

.However, Islam has not closed all the doors absolutely to them

Therefore, in order to use their sexual tendency towards their felicity, the Qur'ān :says

;Nor give (your women) in marriage to idolater men until they believe ... " and certainly a believing servant is preferable to an idolater (free man), though he "... .may please you

Similar to the statement at the threshold of the verse that prohibits men from marrying idolatress or infidel women, in this part of the verse, giving girls and women in marriage to infidels and idolater men is prohibited, too. And, similar to the idea that the believing maids are more eligible to marry with than the free idolater women even with admirable beauty or wealth, the believing servants and slaves are more eligible to marry with than the handsome men who are apparently of dignity but disbelieving. In fact, the wedlock of believing women with disbelieving men is forbidden while they are infidels; but there is no sin in marrying them when they accept the truth and believe. This is the .very way of return which was also pointed out at the beginning of the verse

In the subsequent sentence, the reason of the prohibition for the wedlock of believing :ones with idolaters and infidels, men and women, is expressed ,Those invite to the Fire while Allah invites to Paradise and forgiveness by His Will ... " " ...

The prohibition of marriage with an idolater is for the reason that they call their companions towards idolatry and some disgraceful manners. Their behaviour, of course, originates from idolism especially when this companionship is via matrimony whose intensity of mutual effect is deeper and more impressive. The fruit of this .conduct is the blazing Fire of Hell

Briefly speaking, acquaintance with them, particularly through the way of marriage, is inacquaintance with Allah; and approaching them is, indeed, keeping aloof from the .Lord

The believers, unlike that group, because of belief and high human qualities resulting from their true Faith, call their companions to the Truth and excellence. The fate of .this manner is Paradise and the forgiveness of Allah

In this occasion, regarding the close and sincere relation that the true believers have with Allah, He has applied His own appellation instead of using `believers' and has :said

" ... ,Allah invites to Paradise and forgiveness by His Will ... "

Section ۲۸: Regulation about Divorce

Verse ۲۲۲, Arabic; English Translation

Men not to go near women during the monthly course – Glad-tidings to the believers about their meeting Allah – period of waiting for divorced women – Reconciliation after the divorce and re-establishment of conjugal relations

۲۲۲ وَ يَسْأَلُونَكَ عَنِ الْمَحِيضِ قُلْ هُوَ أَذًى فَاعْتَزِلُوا النِّسَاءَ فِي الْمَحِيضِ وَلَا تَقْرُبُوهُنَّ حَتَّىٰ يَطْهُرْنَ فَإِذَا تَطَهَّرْنَ فَأْتُوهُنَّ مِنْ حَيْثُ أَمَرَكُمُ اللَّهُ إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ التَّوَّابِينَ وَيُحِبُّ الْمُتَطَهِّرِينَ

:They ask you (O' Muhammad) concerning menstruation. Say " ۲۲۲.

It is a hurt; so avoid (intercourse with) women during menstruation and do not` approach them till they be cleaned

When they are thus purified, then you may go unto them as Allah has commanded` you

Verily, Allah loves those who repent constantly, and (He) loves those who purify themselves

:Occasion of Revelation

Women have a state of menstruation every month the course of which is at least three days and at most ten days. It is discharging of blood from the woman's womb, with some special qualities which the concerning jurisprudent books detail. The woman in this condition is called: /ḥā'id/ `menstruous woman' and that blood is called` menstrual blood

The existing religious regulations among the Jews and the Christians due to sexual intercourse of men with such women are opposite to each other, so different that it creates questions for a person not from amongst them

Some of the Jews say that the association of men with such women is absolutely unlawful, even in the form of eating food with them at the same table, or living in one room. They say, for example, a man should not sit where a menstruous woman had sat before. So, if the man sat thereon, he would have to wash his clothing, else it is unclean, /najis/. Or, if he sleeps in her bed, he must wash both his clothing and body. In short, according to the current Torah, a woman, during this period, is considered an unclean one necessary to avoid. (The Torah, Leviticus, Chapter 15, p. 138, No. 19-29 _which is exactly narrated at the end of the current discussion

Christians are just opposite with this group. They actually make no difference between the menstrual period of woman and other than that. There is no bar for them to have any association with their wives including sexual intercourse during that period, even

Pagan Arabs, the ones who were living in Medina in particular, had become, more or less, sociable with the habits of the Jews, and treated menstruous women like the Jews did. They used to keep aloof from their wives when they were in their monthly courses. That very notable difference in those religious notions and the existing custom among their adherents, caused that some Muslims posed that question to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). In answer to their question, this verse was revealed

Hygienic Concerns During Menstruation

:They ask you (O' Muhammad) concerning menstruation. Say "

"...;It is a hurt`

,The Arabic term /maḥīd/ is an infinitive form which, here

:philologically means `menstruation'. Thus, the meaning of the verse is

O' Muhammad they ask you about menstruation and its injunctions. In answer to that, 'say `It is a hurt

In fact, this phrase states the philosophy of the ordinance of the prohibition of .sexually approaching women during their monthly course

p: 199

This matter is referred to in the subsequent sentence. Sexual intercourse with women in this state, besides being repugnant, brings forth many harms. This fact has been approved by modern medicine, too, which can be found in concerning medical books

:Some of these harms are as follows

At first, preparing a good environment for the increase of venereal microbes (as a .1 result of dropping particles from the mucus of endometrium in the womb during this .(period

The probability of the increase of venereal diseases, or STO, both in man and – ۲ .woman

.Creating a kind of hatred in man –۳

And, however, for more data, the books concerning the hygiene of women should be .referred to

.The continuation of the commentary of the verse is stretched in the next page so avoid (intercourse with) women during menstruation and do not approach them ..."

" ... .till they be cleaned

The beginning phrase of this verse, which enjoins avoidance and prohibits approaching and having intercourse with menstruous women, initially seems similar to the present regulations in the creed of the Jews. But, regarding to the sentence: 'then you may go unto them as Allah has commanded you' , which is upon the permission of sexual intercourse with women after being cleaned from the menstruation, it is recognized that the purpose of avoidance and barring the .approaching is only abstention from sexual intercourse during that period

Thus, Islam has paved a moderate path due to the monthly course of women. And, the method of Islam everywhere is always the middle way; so, it is always aloof from excess and defect. Here, it also condemns the excess of the Jews by saying that, any companionship and association with women in their course, except for sexual intercourse, does not matter. It also rejects the method of the Christians who consider no limitation for the association with menstruous women. In this way, Islam, observing the honour and personality of woman and abandoning her humiliation, has prevented the deeds which cause hygienical harms and hurts for both man and .woman

Permitted Sexual Intercourse

When they are thus purified, then you may go unto them as Allah has commanded ... "
" ... '.you

This part of the verse is, in fact, an explanation of the permitted intercourse with women. It is understood from the terms 'when they are thus purified' that as soon as women are free from monthly course, sexual intercourse with them is allowed for their husbands; because this phrase has occurred after the qualification of the uncleanliness of menstruation. That is, when women are cleaned from this uncleanliness, the prohibition will be removed. The interpretation of /tatahharna/ 'are thus purified' into ritual ablution /qusl/ for women is not fitting with the apparency of the verse, because there has not been any statement of

p: ۲۰۱

.obligatory `ritual ablution' /qusl/ at the beginning of the verse

In other words, the apparent meaning of the earlier phrase that says: `till they be cleaned' is that the prohibition is during the time of uncleanness of a woman; and the phrase: `when they are thus purified', which has begun, in Arabic, with a sign of subdivision, refers to the meaning of the earlier phrase, i.e. when they become cleaned, this prohibition will be removed. And, this is the same judgement that our great religious jurisprudents have also chosen in jurisprudence and have decreed that: sexual intercourse with women, after being cleansed from blood, and even .before performing their ritual ablution /qusl/, is permissible

By the foregoing explanation, it became defined that the phrase `are thus purified' , in spite of what some have supposed, does not have any indication to performing ritual .ablution, and the obligation of it has been proved through another reason

In the next sentence, it commands that you may approach your wives in the same :way that Allah has ordered you

"...' .then you may go unto them as Allah has commanded you ..."

.This phrase can be an emphasis on the previous statement, i.e you may have sexual intercourse only in the case of cleanliness of your wives, not in .other than that

It may also convey a wider and more general concept, viz. after being cleaned, the sexual approachment should also be performed in the limits of the commandments of .Allah

The commandment can evidently encompass both the genetic commandment of Allah and the divine legislation, because, for the purpose of the maintenance of the human kind, Allah has settled a kind of interest and attraction between the two sexes toward each other that, for the same reason, each party enjoys a special pleasure from the other one. But it is certain that the aim of that status has been for the maintenance of the generations of human kind, and this struggle and pleasure is a preparation for that aim. Therefore, sexual pleasure should be settled alongside the path of the maintenance of the human race. For this very reason, masturbation, sodomy and the like of them, which are a deviation from this genetic commandment, are totally forbidden. By no means can these disagreeable acts provide the main aim of sexual intercourse and are not even towards it (besides other grave harms that they have

Verily, Allah loves those who repent constantly, and (He) loves those who purify ... " themselves

The term 'repentance' means return from sin and regret from disobedience to the command of Allah

The main pillars of repentance are three

The acknowledgment that the one has ignorantly disobeyed the commandment of Allah formerly

To feel sorry about that action

A firm decision upon its abandonment in the future and making an effort to make up for the past

When such a situation appears in a person, the one is called /tā'ib/ 'repentant', and that action is termed /taubah/ 'repentance'. (More explanation about repentance and its conditions have been detailed and will be cited upon the verses of consequence

The objective meaning of the Qur'ānic term /tathīr/ 'purification' in this verse is 'not to be polluted by sin' and 'refrain from disobeying Allah

The occurrence of this phrase at the end of the verse is for that, after the command of the Lord enjoining the avoidance of the believers from sexual intercourse during the monthly period of women, some might not restrain themselves from that because of the intense pressure of their natural instinct and in spite of the order of Allah would commit sin. So, in order that this group of people be hopeful and could return to rightfulness, the Qur'ān remarks that if (such) people repent, Allah loves them, while those who keep purified themselves from the beginning and do not pollute themselves with this sin, have a larger portion of the love and grace of Allah

Old Testament: Concerning Menstruation

Old Testament, Leviticus, Chapter 15, p. 138, No. 19 to 29, concerning women at the :period of menstruation, says thus

And if a woman has an issue, and her issue in her flesh be .19

p: 203

blood, she shall be put apart seven days: and whosoever toucheth her shall be
.unclean until the even

And every thing that she lieth upon in her separation shall be unclean: every thing .۲۰

And whosoever toucheth her bed shall wash his clothes, and bathe himself in .۲۱

.seven days; and all the bed whereon he lieth shall be unclean

And if a woman have an issue of her blood many days out of the time of her .۲۵ separation, or if it run beyond the time of her separation; all the days of the issue of .her uncleanness shall be as the days of her separation: she shall be unclean

Every bed whereon she lieth all the days of her issue shall be unto her as the bed of .۲۶ her separation: and whatsoever she sitteth upon shall be unclean, as the uncleanness
.of her separation

And whosoever toucheth those things shall be unclean, and shall wash his clothes, .۲۷
.and bathe himself in water, and be unclean until the even

But if she be cleansed of her issue, then she shall number to herself seven days, .۲۸
.and after that she shall be clean

And on the eighth day she shall take unto her two turtles, or two young pigeons, .۲۹
.and bring them unto the priest, to the door of the tabernacle of the congregation

٢٢٣ نِسَاءُكُمْ حَرْثٌ لَكُمْ فَآتُوا حَرْثَكُمْ أَنَّى شِئْتُمْ وَقَدِّمُوا لِأَنفُسِكُمْ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ وَاعْلَمُوا أَنَّكُمْ مُلَاقُوهُ وَبَشِّرِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ

Your women are a tilth for you, so come into your tilth as you will, and forward " .٢٢٣ (good deeds) beforehand for yourselves, and be careful (of your duty) to Allah, and .know that you shall meet Him

".(And give glad tidings to the believers (O' Muhammad

A Means of Protection for the Human Race

In this verse wives are likened to a tillage. This metaphor about women may seem heavy in the eyes of some people because Islam has stated such a speech upon half of the population of the world. But there is a thin and delicate meaning in this comparison. By this statement, in fact, the Qur'ān intends to illustrate the necessity of the existence of women in the human crowd as an essential means of protection and .maintenace of humankind, not as a means of quenching the lust and venereal desire

Your women are a tilth for you, so come into your tilth as you will, ..." Similar to the " need of man for nourishment for the continuance of his life, that without farming and producing food stuff this aim cannot be obtained, the same is for the maintenance of human race wherefore, and as one of the reasons that, the existence of women is needed. This meaning is counted as warning to those who consider women as a toy .and a means of sensuality

"... ,and forward (good deeds) beforehand for yourselves..."

This phrase again is, indeed, a hint to this matter that the ideal of sexual intercourse is not a mere pleasure and seeking of enjoyment. Believing persons should utilize the gift of conjugal relations for producing and training good and eligible children which is itself a sacred service as a spiritual supply forwarded beforehand for their own coming

.life in the Hereafter

Hence, the Qur'ān attracts the attentions to this important fact that, in choosing a wife, observe some principles that lead to developing righteous offsprings and .supplying this great social and manly treasure

It is narrated in a tradition from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who has said: "When a person dies, (the continuity of) his deeds ceases except for three (things): the current charity, ".the knowledge that be benefited from, and the righteous child who prays for him

This means that after death there is no deed for a person, so the one can provide no more supply for himself except by means of three things that if the person possesses :them, they will be helpful for the mortal after death. These three things are

The first is ` the current charity ', that is the benevolent effects which are always used along the path of social benefits, such as: mosque, hospital, library and the like of them. The second is providing some scientific work, like: compiling a useful book, educating some righteous pupils, and so on. And the third is training some righteous children who, by their tongues and good actions, seek forgiveness for their parents .who have passed away and be careful (of your duty) to Allah, and know that you shall meet Him. And give..."

".(gladtidings to the believers (O' Muhammad

Since the subject under discussion (sexual intercourse) is very important and connects with the most attractive instincts of mankind, that is the very sexual instinct, the Lord has invited them to being careful of the problem of venereal association and :being attentive to His commandments; so, He says

"... ,and be careful (of your duty) to Allah..."

Then, it attracts their attention to the Resurrection that they will meet their Lord and :they will see the fruit of their deeds

"... and know that you will meet Him..."

Finally, it gives glad tidings to those believing ones who obey these orders, which are :useful for both the material and spiritual lives; saying thus

".(And give glad tidings to the believers (O' Muhammad..."

(Be Mindful of Your Future (Life After Death

Another commentator has rendered the phrase: /qaddimū li anfusikum/ `and forward (good deeds) beforehand for yourselves' into a rather different dimension of its meaning. This commentary says the phrase mentioned here clearly indicates in every manner or behaviour man should be mindful to see that this move advances something good for him for his future (or the life after death) and that it does not displease God, and a mortal should always remember that his ultimate object is meeting Allah, and this idea contains a good tidings to the believers and a warning to .the unbelievers

:Occasion of Revelation

Point

In many commentary books of the Qur'ān including Majma`-ul- Bayān and Rūh-ul-Bayān, the occasion of revelation of this verse shortly is narrated thus

There appeared a dispute between the bridegroom and the daughter of one of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) by the name of Abdullāh-ibn-Rawāheh. He had sworn not to interfere in their affairs and not to make peace between them. The .revelation was sent down and prohibited such oaths

Responsibility of an Oath Taken

The oaths which have been taken thoughtlessly, carelessly, or at the time of anger and with no intention or will; or the oaths taken because of loquaciousness and in .hurry-scurry speakings, are not legally valuable

"... ,Allah will not hold you liable for thoughtlessness in your oaths "

The liability to an oath is payable only when it is taken deliberately, in a normal situation, and by the Holy Name of Allah for a useful affair. This sort of oath is .religiously obligatory to be executed

Therefore, breaking it is unlawful and the atonement of which is detailed in Sura Al-Mā'idah. (٥) So, the expiation of it is the feeding of ten indigents, or a suitable clothing ;given to them, or the freeing of a slave

Commentary: Verses ۲۲۶–۲۲۷

Forswear in the Age of Ignorance

One of the methods that was customary in the Age of Ignorance for the separation of a husband from his wife was /'ilā/ ' forswear '. This method was also followed by those Muslims who had newly embraced Islam. The word means: ' oath of sexual
' abstention

At the Age of Ignorance, when a man displeased his wife, he sometimes took oath to abstain from associating with her, and by this unmanly way, he created a straitened circumstance for her. He neither divorced her legally to make her free to marry with her desired husband and obtain her own wishes, nor he himself was ready to make .peace with her and continue to live with her as a spouse

"... ,For those who swear to abstain from their wives "

So, the verse under discussion speaks about the design that Islam has planned for that problem to put an end to it. It says that husband has a respite of four months to make the woman free from this captivity and entanglement. He may either renounce
.his oath, and continue to live with his wife, or legally divorces her and lets her be free

"... ;there shall be a waiting of four months..."

Choosing the first way, and not to disturb the assembly of the family, is undoubtedly .reasonable and also pleases Allah

:Therefore, at the end of the verse, it says

".so if then they revert, surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful..."

p: ۲۱۱

The concluding sentence: "...surely Allah is Forgiving, Merciful" denotes that renouncing this oath will not be counted a sin, (though it is understood from the statement that the essence of taking oath is not an agreeable action

****

If the man decides to become separate from her and divorces her, forgiveness and mercy is not assured for his action, and Allah, Who is aware of all secrets, knows whether his sensuality has forced the husband to misuse the law of divorce, or his situation and conditions have really required that. The Lord is All-Hearing unto the apparent execution of divorce and is All-Knowing about the motive of it, as well

:So, the Qur'ān says

"And if they have resolved on divorce, then surely Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing "

But it should be noted that, although Islam has not absolutely nullified the proposition of forswear, but it has, indeed, wiped out its effects, because, it does not allow any man to separate from his wife and abandon sexual intercourse by forswearing and taking oath. If we see that the verse has given this kind of man a respite of four months' time to decide, it is not for showing that it is really possible to reject any right of the matrimonial rights by forswearing, but it is for the sake that sexual intercourse, as a religious obligation, is necessary at least once every four months. (It is, of course, so that the woman might not commit sin because of this length of time, otherwise, especially for the young ladies that may commit sin as a result of that long time, the length of time between the sexual intercourses should be shortened as much as that (her sexual need be provided for

Waiting Period After Divorce Prior to Remarriage for Women

In the previous verse the words were about divorce, and then, in this verse, a part of the ordinances of divorce and some of its concerning details are stated. There are five :ordinances mentioned in it. At first, it speaks about ` waiting period ', saying

And the divorced women should wait (not wedding anyone else) concerning "
"... ;themselves for three (monthly) courses

The Qur'ānic term /qurū'/, mentioned in the above verse, is applied in the sense of the period of cleanliness of a woman. And, since the accomplishment of divorce should be performed at the time that the woman is clean and has not had sexual intercourse with her husband, this cleanliness is counted once, and when, afterward, she passes two menstruations and becomes clean, one after another, as soon as the third cleanliness finishes and at the moment that menstruation is seen, the waiting period has passed and, at that very status, her marriage is permissible

:The second ordinance is and it is not lawful for them to conceal what Allah has created in their wombs, if..."

"...they believe in Allah and in the Last Day

It is noteworthy that the problem of the beginning and ending of the waiting period, that usually a woman understands herself rather than anyone else, has been trusted to the statement of the woman and it is accepted as a document

The third ordinance understood from the verse is that the husband can revoke during the waiting period of a revocable divorce. It says

And their husbands have a greater right (than others) to take them back in the..."
"... (meanwhile, if they wish for reconciliation (indeed

In fact, when the woman is passing the waiting period of the revocable divorce, the husband can begin the conjugal relation again without any ceremonies. This meaning may happen with any word or action which is with the intention of revocation

:Then the verse pays to the fourth ordinance, stating

„And they (women) have rights similar to those against them in a fair manner..."

"...;but men have precedence above them

Thus, as there are some rights for men upon the wives, there are also some rights for women upon husbands who are charged to observe them

Regarding to the clear difference between the physical and spiritual powers of woman and man, the administration of the family is up to man and its assistance has been given to the woman. This difference cannot be an obstacle that some women, from the point of spiritual offices, knowledge, and piety be in a higher degree than

.many of men

The Arabic term /ma`rūf/ which means a benevolent, logical and reasonable action, has been repeated ۱۲ times in these verses to be counted as a warning against men and women in order that they do not abuse their rights, but, by respecting the mutual rights of each other, they should try to fix their conjugal relations and obtain the pleasure of Allah

p: ۲۱۵

:Finally, at the conclusion of the verse, it says

".and Allah is the Mighty, the Wise..."

This concluding phrase of the verse points to the fact that the Wisdom and Prudence of Allah requires that in the society every person undertakes the very duties that the law of creation has assigned for the one and they are adapted to the structure of his body and spirit. The Wisdom of Allah also requires that similar to the duties that have been given over to women, there would be settled some certain rights for them, too, in order that there appears an equality and justice between duty and right

The significance of this meaning, and the difference between the sexes and their responsibilities, will be explained later when the occasion applies

Section ۲۹: Divorce and the Respect for the Law

Verse ۲۲۹, Arabic; English Translation

.Those are Allah's limits; so do not transgress them

And, whoever transgresses Allah's limits then these are they that are the (willful) wrongdoers

:Occasion of Ravelation

Once there came a woman to one of the Prophet's wives and complained about her husband that he repeatedly divorced her and then revoked again to create damages for her thereby. And, it was customary among pagan Arabs that a man could divorce his wife thousands of times and revoke it, while there was no limit in this regard. When this grievance was reported to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the above verse was revealed and limited the divorce to three times

Rules Regarding Divorce

It was pointed out in the commentary of the former verse that the regulations of `waiting period` and `revocation` are for the improvement of the conditions of family status and preventing from separation and dispersion. But, some of the new converted believers acted according to the old paganism and abused this regulation. To hurt their wives, they divorced them and revoked it again and again. So, this verse
:was sent down and prevented that ugly and unmanly action. It says

"... ,Divorce (is permissible) only twice "

This kind of divorce (revocable divorce), of course, should be accomplished in .different meetings, not in one session alone

Then, the Qur'ān adds that in each of these two meetings the husband should either keep his wife honourably with him and make peace with her, or kindly let her go and
.separate with her for ever

"... .then either maintain (them) in honor or let (them) go in kindness..."

Therefore, the third divorce has not any revocation, because when they had two occasions of dispute and divorce and then peace and revocation were fulfilled, they
.must put an end to it

The purpose of the phrase: `let (them) go in kindness` is that the husband ought to pay that woman her rights fully and does not let himself say unsuitable words behind her back after he separates from her. He must not make the attitude of other people bad against her and lets her retain the possibility of marriage. Hence, separation should also be accompanied with kindness and benevolence. That is why the verse
:continues saying

"... ,It is not lawful for you to take anything of what you have given them..."

It is not lawful for the husband to take or withhold anything out of what he has given or promised to give i.e. ' Mahr ' or dower to the wife. The dower amount is usually large and much of it usually remains unpaid by the husband, the payment of the dower amount, particularly when the divorce is pronounced, is another check upon .the husband resorting to an indiscriminate and unnecessary divorce of his wife

So, at the time of separation and divorce, the husband is not allowed to take back .from the woman forcefully what he has given her as a marriage-portion

In the next part of the verse, it points to the divorce of khul` , and says that it is only in one phase that taking the dower is possible. It is in the case that the woman does not want to continue the conjugal life and they both fear that they are not able to observe
.the limits of Allah in that kind of life

"... ;unless both fear that they can not keep (themselves) within Allah's bounds..."

Under this law the wife may seek to get freed of the wedlock by returning the dower to husband, if she has already received it, or to forgo it, if it be still due to her and take
.the divorce of khul` from Hākim-i-Shar` , viz. the Islamic judge

:Then it syas

and if you fear that they cannot keep (themselves) within Allah's bounds, it is no sin..."

".(on either of them about what she gives up to get herself freed (from the wedlock

In this phase, the origin of separation is, in fact, the wife. So, she must pay the indemnity of this action and let the man, who is willing to live with her, marry another
.lady with the same marriage-portion

At the end of the verse, it points to the whole of the ordinances that are stated in this
:verse, and says

Those are Allah's limits; so do not transgress them. And, whoever transgresses..."

".Allah's limits then these are they that are the (willful) wrongdoers

Messages

Divorce should not be taken lightly

Plurality of divorce is based on plurality of marriage, i.e. there should be a marriage –\nbefore a divorce. When a man, in one session, tells his wife: ` I divorced you thrice ', there has occurred, indeed one divorce, because he has not ceased more than one marriage. For this reason, in the jurisprudence of Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) it is cited that a number of divorces should be fulfilled in a number of stages; and before every divorce there should also be a wedlock. This plurality, besides the apparent indication of the verse, is for a closer common good, too. It is not convenient that the relation of a family be disturbed in one gathering and by one decision for ever

Occasion of Revelation

Once, at the time of Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), a woman came to him and said she had been the spouse of her cousin by the name of Rifā`ah, who divorced her thrice. After that, she married a man named `Abd-ur-Rahmān, but he, before any sexual relations with her, divorced her, too. Then, she asked the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) whether .she could return to her first husband

The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) did not agree and said that her marriage with that first husband was right if she had sexual intercourse with her new husband. The .above verse was revealed

Commentary: Verse ۲۳۱

Divorce in a Fair Manner

This verse, following the subject of the previous verse, states some limits that Islam has legislated upon divorce in order to prevent some disregards unto the rights and honour of women

The verse indicates that during the waiting-period, even if there is only one day remained from that term, man is allowed to return to his wife and retain her with the purpose of living together sincerely. But, if the circumstances are not favourable, he can set her free. At any rate, whatever his decision is: either revocation or separation, it should be fulfilled in a fair manner and with goodness and, consequently, far from any revengefulness

When you divorce women, and they have reached their waiting-period, then either " retain them in a fair manner or

Then the verse interprets the Qur'ānic term /ma`rūf/ (a fair manner) saying that the .revocation should be based on serenity and sincerity

,do not retain them for injury..."

so that you transgress (the limits); and whoever does that he indeed is unjust to his "... (own) self

Since, at the Age of Ignorance, divorce and revocation had often been used as a means of injury and avengefulness, the verse, with a severe tone, says that retaining a woman as one's wife should not be performed with the aim of hurting her or transgressing her, because this manner is not only unjust against her but also unjust
.to his own self

:This meaning may be for the sake that

The revocation which is based on the purpose of transgression contains no - ۱
.tranquility and peace with it

From the view point of the Qur'ān, in the system of creation, man and woman are - ۲ complementary parts of one unit. So, for a husband treading the rights of his wife is a .transgression and injustice to his own self

The one who acts unjustly against another person he, indeed, goes forward unto - ۳
.the punishment of Allah and, thus, he has done cruelty to himself, in fact

:Mock not Allah's Laws

Some people usually commit thousands of offences, but, to fly from the pressure of their inner sense or, as they imagine, to fly from the chastisement of Allah, they seek protection of some legal devices and cling to the apparent meaning of verses or .ordinances

The Qur'ān considers this style a kind of mockery to the revealed verses and the Divine laws. This swerve, unfortunately, is seen applied upon many of the ordinances, one of which is this very one of divorce. As it was said before, the right of revocation is up to husband for the sake that the wedlock remains steadily all the longer. But some people move exactly opposite to this direction, ie., abusing the right of revocation, they try to take revenge and hurt the woman. They cover their real cruel

.feature under the veil of acting upon Law

This is the same as mockery unto the Qur'ān and the Law. The verse under discussion remarks that we beware not to mock the Messages of Allah (s.w.t.) and remember the Divine great blessing of the religion of truth and the heavenly Book, too, which has .come for our happiness

And do not take Allah's Signs in mockery, and remember Allah's blessing upon you ..."
and what He has sent down unto you of the Book and Wisdom to admonish you
"... ,thereby

Religion and its collection of regulations has originated from the firm system of this very world, and has been legislated based upon the real interests of men. Therefore, it is not right that, by neglecting the requirements, we clasp to the apparent of some ordinances and make up some spiritless frames which put our interests in danger.

.They are also counted as heedlessness to Allah's Signs

At the end of the verse, in order to defend from the rights of women and to prevent from the divine ordinances probably being abused, it reminds of this fact that to be careful of your duties to Allah and know that He is aware of all your activities and all
.the secrets of this world

".and be in awe of Allah and know that Allah is All-Knowing of all things..."

Section ۳۰: Discipline During the Term, Re–marriage Negotiation

Verse ۲۳۲, Arabic; English Translation

۲۳۲ وَإِذَا طَلَّقْتُمُ النِّسَاءَ فَبَلَغْنَ أَجَلَهُنَّ فَلَا تَعْضُمُوهُنَّ أَنْ يَنْكِحْنَ أَزْوَاجَهُنَّ إِذَا تَرَاضَوا بَيْنَهُمْ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ ذَلِكَ يُوعَظُ بِهِ مَنْ كَانَ مِنْكُمْ يُؤْمِنُ بِاللَّهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخِرِ ذَلِكَمَ آزَكَىٰ لَكُمْ وَأَطْهَرُ وَاللَّهُ يَعْلَمُ وَأَنْتُمْ لَا تَعْلَمُونَ

And when you divorce women, and they have reached their waiting–period, do " ۲۳۲ not prevent them from marrying their (former) husbands, when they agree between themselves in a fair manner

With this is admonished whoever of you believes in Allah and the Last Day; that is "more virtuous and purer for you; surely Allah knows and you know not

Occasion of Revelation

One of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) by the name of Ma`qal-ibn-Yasār opposed the marriage of his sister with her former husband named `Āṣim ibn `Ady. This man, `Āṣim, had divorced her but, after concluding the prescribed waiting–period, both of them were willing to fasten their wedlock again by a new wedding

For this reason the revelation was sent down and prevented him (Ma`qal) from opposing such a marriage

It is also cited in another narration that the verse was revealed when Jābir-ibn-`Abdullāh opposed the marriage of his cousin with her former husband. Perhaps, in the Age of Ignorance, this right had been given to many close relatives

No doubt, in our jurisprudent, brothers and cousins have no guardianship (wilāyat) over their sisters or cousins, but, as we will explain in this discussion later, the meaning of the above verse is a general ordinance about guardians and other than them that neither of these people may rightfully oppose such a marriage: neither father nor mother, nor cousin, nor non-relative (persons

! Another Chain Was Broken

As was stated in the former explanations, in old times women were living bound in the chains of ignorance and were terribly captured by the will, desire, and lust of lewd men without having any regard for women's affection, thought and decision

One of the examples of that status was the subject of choosing husband where the like or dislike and willingness of women had no place. Concerning to this style, even when the woman was formally married and then separated from her husband thereafter, her second marriage with him again depended on the decision of her guardian or guardians, although those two (the man and the woman) wished to continue their former conjugal life

Their guardians, then, used to prevent that wedlock because of their (guardians') own interests or for some vain imaginations and superstitions

The Qur'ān has clearly condemned this style. It says that the guardians and other individuals have not such a right, because when both the man and woman, who are the main elements of marriage, have unanimity with each other and after that separation they are willing to marry again, opposition of others is meaningless

And when you divorce women, and they have reached their waiting-period, do not " prevent them from marrying their (former) husbands, when they agree between "... themselves in a fair manner

Thus, it is understood from this verse that divorcees need not to obtain permission or agreement of their guardians to marry again, and even the opposition of their guardians, if any, is invalid. Now, the question is about the marriage of the virgin girls that: is it necessary to

p: २२१

obtain her guardian's permission? The above verse is silent in this regard and we must refer to the jurisprudential books for its explanation. It only continues saying

"... ;With this is admonished whoever of you believes in Allah and the Last Day..."

This part of the verse means that these ordinances, that are stated for individuals' benefits, affect on those who believe both in Allah, the Creator of the world, and in the Day of Judgement. It is in this case that a person, under the light of theology, can detach from egoism and, controlling his low desire, rescues himself from deviation

".that is more virtuous and purer for you; surely Allah knows and you know not..."

This concluding statement points to the fact that the fruit of one's action upon these ordinances is perfectly his, but as a result of insufficient information some individuals may not be aware of the philosophy of divine ordinances; while the Lord, Who knows all the secrets, has assigned these instructions for the sake of protecting their interests and purification and cleanliness of family members

It is noteworthy that, in this sentence, acting upon these instructions are introduced as the causes of both virtue and purity, (more virtuous and purer), which means that acting upon these instructions removes both the different impurities, resulted from doing some wrong deeds, from families so that it purifies them, and attains development, improvement, favour and blessing for them

****

Point

In Arabic philology the term /wālidah/ is used for 'mother' while the term /umm/ has a wider meaning and, besides applying the term for 'mother', its concept sometimes refers to the 'root' or 'source' of everything.

In this verse, the Qur'ān points to several instructions about the problem of suckling and the different rights that mother, child, and father have in this regard. These instructions, on the whole, are seven various ordinances.

:Seven Instructions Upon Suckling

The right of nursing the child for two whole years is specialized to mother, because it is she who can suckle and look after her child during this time. In view of the fact that the nutrition of the baby, bodily and spiritually, has a close and firm relation with mother's milk and affections, although the guardianship of little children has been given to father, the right of protection and maintenance of a child is given to mother. On the other hand, maternal affections should be observed, too, because the mother cannot bear to see that her bosom is empty from her child and remain silent in such sensitive moments. Therefore, specializing the right of suckling and maintenance of a child to mother is a kind of mutual right which is helpful for both the circumstances of the mother and the conditions of her child.

"... And the (divorced) mothers shall suckle their children for two whole years "

It is not necessary that the duration of suckling to be positively two years. This two-year-suckling period is for the one who wants to accomplish it perfectly.

"... .for him (father) who desires to complete the period of suckling..."

But, regarding to the position of the child's body and observing its health, the mother has also the right to diminish this course when she thinks it is favourable.

A tradition from Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) says that the whole course of suckling is two years
.while its incomplete course is twenty one months

p: ۲۳۰

This idea may be abstracted from gathering the concepts of this verse and verse ١٥ from Sura Al-Ahqāf, No. ٤٤, where it says: "...and the bearing of him and the weaning of him was thirty months; ...". And, we know that the course of pregnancy is usually nine months. Therefore, the remaining time, which is twenty one months, is the ordinary time of suckling

And, also in view of the fact that, in Sura Al-Ahqāf, the matter has not been cited in a compulsory form, hence, considering the health of the child, mothers may rightfully diminish the suckling months to less than ٢١ months, too

Mother's expenses for food and clothing during the suckling course, even when she ٢٣ is divorced, is upon the baby's father in order that mother be able to nurse the child conveniently and with a peace of mind

It is (incumbent) upon the father to provide (sustenance) and their clothing (nursing..." ... mothers) in a fair manner

Here, the Qur'ānic phrase /almaulūd-i-lahū/ (ie. the one for whom the child is born) which is used instead of applying the term ' father ', attracts the attention. It seems the revelation intends to move the affections of the father all the more towards the path of doing his aforementioned duty. That is, if the expenses of the mother and child during the suckling course has been trusted with father to pay, it is for the reason that the baby is his own beloved child and is the fruit of his heart, not a foreigner

The occurrence of ' in a fair manner ', here, shows that mother's clothing and food should be given in a scale about the usage and also appropriate to her position. Neither stinginess nor immoderation is right in this regard

Then, to remove any ambiguity, it explains more about this subject that the duty of a father is due to his capacity, as Allah has assigned no duty beyond the ability of any individual

"... ;No soul shall have imposed upon it a duty but to the extent of its capacity..."

Neither father nor mother should disregard the fate of their child because of their ٢٤ own oppositions. This may cause a harm for the

p: ۲۳۱

.mind and spirit of the child which cannot be compensated later neither shall a mother be made to suffer harm on account of her child, nor a father..."

"... ,on account of his child

Men ought to be attentive to the mothers' right of suckling and protection. They should not tread it by taking the child from them. By the way, mothers should not abuse the right which is given to them, either, by restraining suckling through some .various vain pretexts, or deprive the man from visting his child

After the death of the father, his heir should undertake this duty and provide the – ۵

.necessities of the mother during the time she nurses the child

"... .and the same devolves upon the heir..."

The allowance of weaning is given to parents though the previous verses have – ۶ defined some limits for suckling the child. Parents, with the agreement of each other, .can wean whenever they think it is suitable for the physical state of the child

But if they desire to wean by mutual consent and consultation, then it is no sin on..."

"... .them

That is, if parents counsel and agree to decide to wean, there will be no problem for .them

In the meanwhile, the mother is not obliged to nurse the baby. So, whenever she wishes she can stop it, while it is better for her to forsake some of her own desires for the sake of development of her child and not let herself lose the cooperation and the due consultation of her husband alongside this way, so that the mutual consent, .pointed in the verse, actually happens

It is impossible to prevent the mother from nursing her child, unless mother herself – ۷

:refrains from suckling, or there really comes forth a barrier for her. Hence, it says

And if you desire to seek a wet nurse for your children, it is no sin on you as long as..."

"... ;you pay what you promised for in a fair manner

The last part of the above sentence means that engaging another woman to suckle the child instead of mother, after consultation and obtaining mutual consent, does not matter. It is, of course, upon condition that this manner does not cause the mother's right due to the length of her .former suckling to be trodden. This right should be paid to her in a fair manner

Since disputes and oppositions between man and woman sometimes awaken the spirit of revengefulness in them, and their fate or that of their helpless child may be exposed to danger, and each of them may think of evil planning for the other, at the :end of these ordinances, the Qur'ān says

"and be in awe of Allah, and know that Allah sees what you do..."

****

:Note

A thin and delicate explanation is also cited upon this verse which we narrate exactly
:here

The root, ` darara ' meaning harm; in its original form to do harm (transitive) and in its secondary form ` Tadarrar ' meaning to suffer or to receive harm (intransitive). Here the secondary form ` Mudarra ' has been used which usually means mutual give and take, meaning neither to harm nor to get harmed. As such this passage means that on account of the child or the disagreement between the parents none of the three (viz. the father, mother or the child) should be harmful to the other, or should be harmed by the other. This interpretation covers the various commentaries given by the .different commentators

The implication of the passage regarding the mutual rights of the wife and the husband during the period of suckling of their issues, and the right and the duty of the heir of the husband and the condition for the permissibility of employment of a wet-nurse for the suckling of the issue, there are very subtle points for which you may
.please refer to ` Fiqh ', jurisprudent books

Commentary: Verse ۲۳۴

Superstition Against Women in Old Times

One of the main problems and basic difficulties for women is their marriage after the death of husband. Since the immediate marriage of the widow with another spouse after the death of her husband often contradicts with affections and keeping the regards of the ex-husband, it is not fitting, with the spirit and sensations of the relatives of the Late, besides that the lack of a child in woman's womb must become certain. So, the above verse has conditioned the remarriage of the widows to keeping
.themselves in waiting for four months and ten days

Observing the honour of matrimonial life, even after the death of the spouse, is a natural innate proposition. That is why there have always been some special customs common on this purpose among different tribes. Sometimes in these social traditions, the behaviour has been so excessive that women would become helplessly captured in a manner that sometimes the worst crimes could be committed upon them. For example, in some tribes it was customary to burn the widow; and in some others they .would bury her alive with the man

Some groups of people used to deprive the widows from their remarriage forever
.and, thus, those kind of widows were isolated thereby

In some tribes, widows had to stay for a length of time beside their husband's grave inside a black tent and in some dirty shabby clothings, plain and without any ornamentation. They could not even wash themselves during days and nights.

The above verse put an end to all of these superstitions, and, in the meanwhile, it worthily and respectfully supported the principle of observing the honour of matrimonial life by keeping the waiting-period after the death of husband.

And those of you who die, and leave widows behind, they should keep themselves in " ... ;(waiting for four months and ten (days

The Arabic term /tawaffā/, which is used in many occurrences in the Qur'ān, means ' to take ' ; and the term /baḏr/, which has no past tense form in Arabic, means ' strewing '. So, the verse says the women who lose their husbands have to wait for four months and ten days as waiting-period and abstain from remarriage when they have completed their waiting period, then it is no sin on you for what..." ... .they do for themselves in a fair manner

.The sense of /bulūq-i-'ajal/ refers to the conclusion of the period

This part of the verse indicates that after finishing this length of time, women can remarry everybody they want.

The prescribed waiting period of four months and ten days is compulsorily to be observed by a widow whether she had intercourse with the bereaved husband or not. In the case of her being pregnant the maximum prescribed waiting period or the period or the delivery, whichever be the later, should be observed.

Dealing with the divorce and the waiting period, it was appropriate to deal with the question of an outsider overtly or covertly proposing to marry the divorced one. Qur'ān says there would be no harm provided the talk does not exceed the limit of modesty and no contract is finalised before the conclusion of the waiting period.

In view of the fact that sometimes concerning guardians hinder the marriage of the widows because of some superstitions and vain imaginations, the verse addresses them and tells them that they have no responsibility in this regard and widows can have their re-wedlock on a proper base

p: ۲۳۵

.with whoever they desire

"And Allah is fully aware of what you do ..."

The guardians should stand away from interfering in their children's affairs, and know that the Lord is aware of everything, and He recompenses all for their good actions
.and evil actions

Commentary: Verse ٢٣٥

? Can Widows Be Engaged during Waiting Period

As to the foregoing Qur'ānic discussion about the waiting-period of women after their husband's death, in this verse, one of the important ordinances in relation to the :widows in their waiting-period is pointed out. It says

There is no sin on you if you make an indirect proposal of marriage to (such) women, " ;or keep concealed (the intention) to yourselves

;Allah knows that you will think of them

"... .but make no promise to them in secret, unless you speak in fairness

It is, in fact, a natural phenomenon that a woman may think of her future fate after ,the death of her husband. And, on the other hand some men may also be in thought of marriage with them because of easier conditions

.that widows usually have

:Then, continuing the subject, the verse says

"... ,And do not resolve on a wedlock until the prescribed period is completed ..."

It is certain that if a person confirms a wedlock which is during the waiting-period, it is totally invalid /bātil/. Moreover, if he does it intentionally, that action causes the .woman to be unlawful /ḥarām/ to him forever

:Then, it follows saying and know that Allah knows what is in your hearts, so beware of Him; and know that ..."

"Allah is Forgiving, Forbearing

That is, Allah does not hasten to punish His servants, because He is ` Forbearing '
.about what they do

Commentary: Verse ۲۳۶

Divorce Prior to Settling Dowry and Consummation of Continuing about the theme of divorce, there are also some other ordinances in the :above verse and the verse after that. It says

There is no sin on you if you divorce women while you have not yet touched them " "... ;nor settled any dowry on them

This circumstance is, of course, when either the man or the woman, after confirming the marriage tie and before having any sexual relations, understands that they can not live together as a married couple because of some problems. In this case, it is so much the better that at this time they separate from each other by means of divorce .and do not let it be postponed to later stages when it surely will become more difficult

:After that, the verse pays to another ordinance concerning the subject, where it says

" ... ,yet make provision for them ..."

For the payment of this gift, in fact, the ability of man should also be considered. That :is why the verse continues saying the rich according to his means, and the straitened according to his means; a..."

"... provision in a fair manner

Both the wealthy men and the poor men should pay this gift, but due to their ability. And, in view of the fact that this gift has a considerable effect on the woman in preventing her from taking vengeance and freeing her from the pressure or the weight which may fall on her heart as a result of breaking their tie of marriage, the above verse concerns the gift to the benevolent nature of man, and says

".This is a duty on the doers of good) ..."

This idea points to the fact that the payment should be accompanied with benevolence and also performed in a peaceful manner by the husband

Surely Allah sees what you do

Commentary: Verse ۲۳۷

Divorce Prior to Consummation but after Settling Dowry

In this verse, those women are spoken about who separate from their husbands :before any relations while there have been appointed a dowry for them. It says

And if you divorce them before you have touched them, and you have " already settled a dowry on them, then (pay them) one-half ,of what you have settled

This lawful legislation is an ordinance which gives the right to the woman to take half of the whole marriage-portion completely although there has been no sexual .intercourse

:After fixing this matter, it pays to some moral and affectional aspects, and says

"... ;unless they (women) remit it, or he remits it in whose hand is the marriage tie ..."

The tone of the verse, on the whole, is based upon the principle of ' fair manner ' and ' benevolence '. It emphasizes that even divorce and separation should not be mingled with any dispute, conflict and opposition originated from the sense of revengefulness. On the :contrary, it should be based on nobility, generosity and forgiveness. It says

".before Allah

Occasion of Revelation

At the time of revelation of the Divine Messages, a group of hypocrites did not participate in congregational prayer under the pretext of the hot weather in order to disturb the order of the rows of Muslims. Tracing and following them, some of the true Muslims did not take part in the congregational prayer, either. The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) was annoyed about it so that he threatened them with a probable intense heavenly punishment.

So, as it is narrated in a tradition, in the extraordinary hot middays of summer, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) performed the prayer (midday prayer) in congregation. That prayer was the most grievous canonical prayers for the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) so that it happened that usually there stood no more than one or two lines of them behind the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) for midday prayer. In that circumstance, he (p.b.u.h.) said he had decided to burn the houses of those who did not participate in their prayer there. Then the verse was revealed and the importance of the noon prayer (in congregation) was emphasized thereby.

Commentary: Verse ٢٣٨

Guard Your Prayers

The importance of the prescribed daily prayers, especially the midday prayer, is emphasized repeatedly in the verses of the Qur'ān, for prayer is the most effective factor in the connection of man with Allah.

:As an instance, in the above verse it says

"... Guard your prayers, and (especially) the middle prayer "

.The verse recommends to stand humbly, and truly obedient, before the Lord

".and stand devoutly before Allah ..."

of the world, such as: wealth or wife and children, do not hinder you from this great
.duty

.The purpose of /ṣalāt-il-wustā/ (the midmost prayer) is the very `midday prayer

****

:Note

The Arabic term /wustā/, used in the above verse, means: `middle, or the best, or the most excellent '. Commentators differ as to the exact meaning of this phrase. The weight of the authorities seems to favour interpreting it as the `aṣr or the midday prayer, since it is mostly neglected and yet it is most necessary to remember Allah in

How to pray when conditions are unsafe or during travel

In this verse it emphasizes that you cannot abandon establishing prayers even in the .most grievous conditions such as in the battlefield

But in circumstances like that many of the obligations of prayer are diminished, for example: being to the direction of Qiblah, the performances of bowing and prostration
.in ordinary manner, and so on

:Hence, it says

"... ;And if you fear (an enemy or danger), then (pray) on foot or riding "

Therefore, constant attending to prayers is not only for the time of security and .safety, but canonical prayers should be kept always and in any condition but when you are safe, then remember Allah as He has taught you that which you..."

".did not know

And, when you are in security, then prayers in this status have to be kept in the .ordinary form and with all their ritual manners and conditions

It is clear that the thankfulness of servants due to this divine teaching, in which He has taught them the way of establishing prayers both in the secured time and in fear,
.is by way of the very performance of them, as they should be kept

۲۴۰ وَالَّذِينَ يُتَوَفَّوْنَ مِنْكُمْ وَيَذَرُونَ أَزْوَاجًا وَصِيَّةً لِأَزْوَاجِهِمْ مَتَاعًا إِلَى الْحَوْلِ غَيْرِ إِخْرَاجٍ فَإِنْ خَرَجْنَ فَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ فِي مَا فَعَلْنَ فِي أَنْفُسِهِنَّ مِنْ مَعْرُوفٍ وَاللَّهُ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ

Commentary: Verse ۲۴۰

Maintenance for the widow

The Qur'ān returns to the problem of marriage and divorce again and deals with its concerning affairs. At first it speaks about the husbands who are approaching death while they are leaving wives behind them. It advises that they ought to bequeath for their widows a year's maintenance and residence in their homes. Thus it says

And those of you who are about to die and leave wives behind, make a bequest in " favour of their wives, a year's maintenance without turning them out ... ;

This ordinance is, of course, in the case that they (widows) do not leave their homes, and if they leave the husband's house, they have not any right of maintenance and residence but if they leave (of their own accord), there is no sin on you in what they do with... " themselves in a fair manner

As if for the sake that such women be not anxious about their future, it consoles them at the end of the verse, and says that the Providence is able to open a new way to them after the lack of their former husband; and, therefore, there is certainly wisdom in that calamity

Once, one of the cities of Syria became smitten with a plague and people passed away one after another. At that time, some people, hoping that they might flee from the grips of death, abandoned their homeland. After leaving their environment and escaping from death, they felt powerful and independent in them. They, neglecting the Will of Allah and expecting the natural phenomena to help them, became proud .and haughty. Therefore, the Lord destroyed them in that desert by the same sickness

Fate of one of the old nations

This verse indirectly and also instructively points to the awesome fate of one of the old nations. They encountered with a terrible infectious disease in their environment where thousands of them fled from

Have you not considered those (of old) who fled their homes, though they were " ... ?thousands (in number), for fear of death

:Then it refers to their fate, saying

; (Then Allah said to them: ' Die!' (and they died..."

.They died by the same sickness that they had used as the pretext of their flight

Then Allah brought them back to life, maybe, in order that the story of their lives might serve as a warning for others who can take an example from it

" ... then He restored them to life..."

This creative command is similar to the command cited in Sura Yāsīn No. ۳۶, verse ۸۲, where it says: " His command, when He intends anything, is only to say to it: ' Be ', so ".it is , (The phrase: / umma 'ahyāhum / (then He restored them to life mentioned in the verse, hints to the story of those people who, after death, were .(quickened by the invocation of Ezekiel, the Prophet, (a.s

Since their coming back to life was one of the clear blessings of Allah both from their :points of view and from the point of warning other people, the verse finally says

" ... ,Truly Allah is gracious to people..."

Not only this group of people received, but also all humankind always receive the

.grace, kindness, and blessings of Allah, while they are usually not grateful

".but most people are not thankful..."

The Late Ṣadūq, a great famous scholar from Shī`ah school of thought, reasoning on :this verse for the possibility of resurrection, says

One of our convictions is belief in resurrection (that some former people "

(return to life again in this very world)." (1)

This holy verse can also be a document for the problem of the Resurrection and raising the dead in the Hereafter

The explanation of Ezekiel's invocation

The explanation of Ezekiel's invocation, as has been cited upon the description of the concept of the Qur'ānic phrase: " Then He restored them to life ", is as follows

Owing to the repeated visits of the plague, the children of Israel numbering several thousands left their homes for fear of death. It happened so that the disease once again pestered the town and the people in a huge number of thousands got out of the town being confident of their escape from death which evidently indicated lack of faith in God Allah commanded all of them to die and they were all dead and reduced to dust, only their bones were lying on the earth. One of the Israelite prophets, Ezekiel, passed that way and prayed to the Lord to raise the people to life. Ezekiel, was inspired by Allah to pray to Him reciting a particular name and to sprinkle water on the rotten bones of the dead, which ` Ezekiel ' did and the people were once again quickened. Thus it was manifested for the knowledge of the faithless people that Allah does whatsoever He pleases and they could never go their own way against the Will of the Lord

Point

From here on the verses of Holy War come forth. It begins with the command of fighting in the path of Allah, and warns us to beware that He hears what we say and knows what we have in our hearts, from our motives and intentions, regarding the Holy War in the way of Allah. It says

"And fight in the way of Allah, and know that Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing "

Inspite of all that has been said that Islam prefers peaceful methods of preaching the truth, and that it never took any initiative in waging war against its opponents, the fact is that Islam recognizes the right of taking even the initiative in using force against those who persist in ungodly activities causing human degradation or social or moral deterioration. But this measure can not be adopted save by the Prophet of Allah or his Vicegerent authorized by him and none else. As the fifth Holy Imam Muhammad Ibne-Ali Al-Bāqir says ` A war may be termed as holy or godly (Jihād) ' if the object be to make people give up submission to any one besides Allah, and to submit only to God's authority and the Divine Will. But if the object be to make them give up submission to one creature in order to submit to any other, it is the usual war waged for selfish and some worldly gain. Hence it is unholy and thus condemned by Islam

However, Islam enjoins on Muslims to be always ready, well prepared and well equipped to meet all exigencies or an eventuality which may unexpectedly develop against them, then they should gather strength as much as they can so that their opponents, the opponents of the divine cause may refrain from any unprovoked aggression.

Occasion of Revelation

It is narrated that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) once said that whoever gives any alms will receive it twice in Heaven. Abud-Daḥdāḥ Ansārī, addressing the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.), said that: he had two gardens and questioned if he donated one of them as alms, would he have it twice in Heaven? Then the Prophet replied him positively. After that he donated his more privileged garden to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) before when the revelation was sent down making his alms two thousand thousandfold for him. This is the interpretation of /'ad`āfan kaīrah/ manifold

:Commentary

This verse inquires who is it that offers to Allah a goodly gift and donates from the wealth He has given to him on the path of Holy War and alongside the way of helping the needy, so that Allah would multiply it to him manifold? It says

"Who is he that will lend to Allah a goodly loan, so He will multiply it for him manifold" ...

Thus, according to this verse, lending Allah is also rendered into the donations which are performed in the way of Holy War

So, at the end of the verse, it says that it is Allah (s.w.t.) Who both withholds and amplifies the sustenance of the servants. This statement points to the idea that: do not think that donation and giving alms causes your wealth to be diminished. The increase and decrease of your sustenance depend on Allah

"And Allah straitens and extends and unto Him you will be returned ..."

?Why Is Donation Rendered To Loan

In several verses of the Qur'ān donating in the path of Allah has been rendered into giving a loan to Allah. It shows the ultimate grace of Allah unto His servants, on one hand, and the utmost importance of the subject of donation, on the other hand

:In Nahjul-Balāqah, Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) says

Allah asks you for a loan while the treasures of heavens and the earth belong to Him " and He is Self-Sufficient, Praiseworthy. (It is not because of His want), but that He \(may try you for which of you is the best in action."\(1\)

An Introduction to the above Group of Verses

In these verses Providence, the Great, points to one of the wonderful adventures of a group of the Israelites that happened after the time of Moses (a.s.). The statement of this happening, of course, is following the statement of Holy War and the defence from the limits of the religion of Allah, which is, in fact, the same as the limits of humanity. It is stated, indeed, for the Muslims to take lesson from that marvellous incident.

!A Marvellous Incident

The Israelites who had become weak and poor under the domination of Pharaoh, gained great power and splendour under the wise leadership of Moses (a.s.)

Allah showered many blessings upon them with the sanctity of this Great Prophet, including the Ark of the Covenant. The Jews, by carrying the Ark before the troops, got a kind of confidence and spiritual capability. This power and glory continued a length of time after Moses (a.s.). But the same victorious capacity and blessed bounties they had, gradually made them proud and, thereby, they became disobedient.

Finally, they were defeated with a great slaughter by Philistines when they lost their power and authority accompanied with losing the Ark. After that, they became so weak and inflicted with dispersion that they were not able to defend themselves even against the smallest enemies. It was so that their enemies expelled a great many of them from their own land and captured their children, too.

That status continued for years. At last, their prayer was heard and Allah raised a prophet for them called Samuel, to save them and guide them.

Those people, who had become tired and worn from the cruelty and transgressions of their enemies, were seeking for a shelter to take refuge in. Therefore, they gathered around him and asked him to appoint a king for

.them

They all had decided to follow the command and leadership of such a king to fight unitedly against their enemy with heart and soul in order to regain their last honour
.and glory

Prophet Samuel, who was well acquainted with their spirituality and knew their disloyal characteristics from before, told them he was afraid that they might disobey their commander, as to face with their enemy, when the order of Holy War in the way
.of Allah would be prescribed for them

They objected that how they could disobey their commander and do not do their own duty in the case that the torturous enemy had expelled them from their home and had .occupied their land and captured their children

When Prophet Samuel found that those people had recognized their ailment and were seeking for the remedy, as if they had realized the secret of their state of being retarded, he prayed and asked the Lord what those people wanted. It was revealed
.to him to introduce Saul as their king

Samuel invoked Allah that he had not seen Saul yet and he did not know him. The revelation came down indicating that he would be sent to him. Samuel was commanded that when Saul came to him, he (Samuel) would give him (Saul) the .commandership of the troops and Holy War

Israelites Request a king

After Prophet Moses (a.s.), the Israelites lost their power as a result of their self-
.indulgence and being desirous in welfare and laziness

So they became involved again in the domination and oppression of the tyrants when they lost both their freedom and home. In order to be free from vagrancy and come out of the yoke of servitude of those tyrants, they decided to fight. Therefore, they went to their Prophet and asked him to appoint a king, a commander, for them so that .they could struggle by Holy War against the tyrannical ruler of their time

Have you not seen the chiefs of the Children of Israel, after Moses, when they said "
"... to a Prophet of theirs: ` Raise up for us a king, that we will fight in Allah's way

Disobedience of the Israelites

The Prophet (a.s.), regarding their notorious background, questioning them said: was it not probable that, after prescribing the command of war to them, they would
?disobey and would not be ready to fight

?He said: ` Might it be that, if fighting is written for you, then you will not fight ..."

They did not agree with that idea and said that they would fight, for they had been expelled from their home and had been made vagrant for a long time, because their
:cities had been occupied by the enemy and their children were captured

They said: ` Why should we not fight in the way of Allah, while we have been ..."
"...! ?expelled from our dwellings and our children

But, with all these claims, when the command was issued, all of them, except a few,
.did not attend the battle-field and disobeyed that command

After `Moses,' prophets after prophets were appointed to succeed him and to maintain the Law (`Torah'). `Moses' was succeeded by `Usha bin Noon,' `Kalib.'

idolatrous. And in the time of the prophet `Yasa' there appeared an enemy for the Israelites who were the people of the land of `Shalisha,' from the tribe of Goliath ( `Jaloot') who had captured all the land on the shores of the Mediterranean including Palestine and Egypt. They subdued the Israelites, killed ५५. Israelite princes and noblemen and had taken the Israelites as their subjects and taken away their lands. (1 Sam. 1१: 1). Now the Israelites had no prophet to guide them out of the calamitous state. They prayed to God for a prophet. At last their prayer was heard and God sent a prophet to them in Samuel. When Samuel appeared and claimed apostleship of God, the Israelites asked him to appoint a king for them to lead them in the battle for freedom from the subjection and servitude they had been suffering under the enemy. In those days battles were fought only under kings and the Prophet was only the adviser or the administrative adviser or a director of the affairs. Prophet Samuel warned them before hand that they might disobey after it gets prescribed for them to fight in the way of God. Here was the question of fighting for the freedom of the people against the torturous subjection and it has been termed as the fight in the way of God. It is evident that the fight for right means the fight for God

Saul Appointed King

This group of oppressed Israelites, though they had asked their prophet to appoint a chief for them to guide them to be able to escape from the torturous subjection of the .tyrant rulers, failed in the field of trial

"...'.And their Prophet said to them: ` Verily Allah has raised up Saul for you as a king "

It is appropriate to note that their Prophet was Samuel. Ṭālūt, who is the same as Saul, was called ` Ṭālūt ' (according to the Bible) on account of his height and the strength of his stature, for he was the tallest of his people (Sam. ١٠: ٢٣). The proper .names used in Arabic are different from their Hebrew originals

So, when their prophet, Samuel, appointed Saul (Ṭālūt), who was an unknown poor shepherd, as their chief, they, being affected by their proud and vain consideration that they had from their own leader and leadership, despised Saul's kingship for the lack of wealth and reputation. Those people, who had wealth in abundance, said that they were worthier than him for the position because of the .gross great wealth they had

They said: ` How can he hold kingship over us, while we are more rightful to ..."
"... ' ?kingship than he, and he has not been given abundance of wealth

When the prophet heard their pretexts about the poverty and lack of wealth of Saul, he told them that undoubtedly Allah had appointed him as a king for them, and, instead of wealth, he had ability in knowledge and in body. Besides that, he had the .necessary authority and ability of command of an army in fight

He said: ` Verily Allah has chosen him over you, and He has increased him ..."

:Conclusion

Whatever be the details of the Israelites' history referred to here, the instructions to be inferred from it regarding the religious authority who can wage war in the way of :God is as follows

Besides the presence of a divine legislator and a religious judge sometimes an .\ excutor is also needed. It should be borne in mind that all the three aspects of government (Aamiriyat)... i.e. legislation, justice and execution are included in the sovereignty of God. He may delegate all the aspects to any one man as His Vicegerent and He may distribute the various functions to different persons. In any case the appointment rests with God and none else. Here the Prophet represents the Divine Authority in law and justice. When the people asked him to appoint a king as an executor, he said that God has appointed `Talut' as their king, indicating that he (the Prophet) had no right to do it. This refutes the tendency now developing among the people that in the establishment of the legislative and the judicial bodies the `Kitab', i.e., the Book and the `Sunnat', i.e., the Tradition to be the final authorities, and the people should have no voice in the matter. But in the establishment of the final executive authority people may have voice and call it the Theodemocratic form of government.

The sovereignty (`Aamiriyat') is exclusively God's. To allow the public to have any say in it, means return to the age of ignorance and not Islam.

Jihad', i.e. war in the way of God was prescribed and practiced by the previous prophets also, and the reaction favourable or unfavourable, to this precept had been the same as in Islam.

The unfavourable reaction of the people to the divine appointment as based on temporal consideration which are known to the limited and narrow views, as was the case with the angels regarding the vicegerency of Adam. The answer to this criticism is almost the same that it was God's selection and the selection is based on the extensity and the intensity of knowledge, strength and character and that the Kingdom is God's and He alone has the right to give to any one whom He likes, but His liking is not arbitrary or unreasonable. It is based on the superiority and the excellence of the person, known only to Him as He alone is the all-Pervading and the Omniscient. This discards the importance of the temporal consideration as wealth, seniority in age, racial or parochial. Therefore whenever the question of the authority succeeding the Holy Prophet in regard to legislation, justice and execution, is dealt with, the implication of this exemplary passage should be taken into consideration, as the method of the succession to the Holy Prophet has continued to be the same as (before (See the Qur'ān, ۲۴: ۵۵).

Ark of the Covenant

To make that group of Israelites sure about the kingship of Saul, their prophet told them that the Ark of the Covenant, /tābūt/, the sacred Chest of the Children of Israel,
.will be returned to them as a sign that Saul was appointed by Allah

And their Prophet said to them: ` Verily the sign of his kingship is that the Ark of the "

The purpose of /tābūt/ is the wooden Chest wherein Moses's mother put her baby and, by the commandment of Allah, set it afloat in the water, of the Nile. Then, the .men of Pharoah took it and brought the baby unto Pharoah

The Chest remained safe in the Court of Pharoah. When Moses (a.s.) was appointed to prophethood, he (a.s.) put the Tablets of the Torah in it and gave it to his vicegerent, Yūsha`-ibn-Nūn (Joshua), and when he died, his armour and some of his belongings
.were put in it, too

That Chest, which had been known among the Children of Israel as `the Ark of the Covenant', remained in the hand of the very Children of Israel as a Sacred Chest, and
.they used to carry it before their forces in the battles

But, little by little, its sacredness wretched and the Chest was taken away. But, according to the verse under discussion, their prophet, Samuel, promised them that the Ark of the Covenant would be returned to them soon as a sign of truthfulness of his statement. That glad tidings naturally was considered very magnificent for the Children of Israel, because by seeing that Sacred Chest, which they knew as a token of their ancient independence and glory, they thought they could regain their lost tranquillity and splendour. There are some statements about this Chest mentioned in the Torah, a part of which will be cited at the end of this commentary under the title of explanation.

Finally, at the time of the kingship of Saul, Allah returned that Sacred Chest, which was taken away, unto them through angels. That Chest brought them tranquillity and peace.

wherein shall be a tranquillity from your Lord, and the Relics of what the family of ..." Moses and the family of Aaron have left behind, the angels bearing it. Surely in that "shall be a sign for you, if you are (truly) faithful

Description of the Holy Ark

The term ' Tābūt ' in this verse stands for the Holy Ark of Chest 3 yards long and 3 yards broad with divine signs in it decipherable only by the Apostles of God. This Ark had divine blessings that whenever it was presented by the Israelites against their enemy in the midst of a battle, the enemy forces had no other choice but to take to their heels for their lives. The Israelites used to always keep the Chest in front of their forces whenever any occasion of their proceeding against any enemy had occurred and they used to come out victorious. This Ark passed from one apostle to another apostle of God. It is reported to contain the shoes, the rod and clothes of Moses, the turban of Aaron and some other sacred relics. This Ark had been certainly endowed with miraculous effects. It was this Ark that was brought out from Shiloh to help the

Saul's Troops Tested at the Stream

In this verse, the Qur'ān announces the failure of a large group of Israelites in their test when they drank water from the prohibited stream. They did not tolerate the thirst therein. So, they were not successful in that trial

So when Saul marched out with the troops he said: ` Verily Allah will try you by a river, whoever drinks from it he is not of me, and whoever tastes it not, he is surely of me, including the one who tastes but a single handful.' But they all drank of it, except a few of them

Saul and his Troops ask Allah for patience and perseverance

:In this verse, the incident of those two forces facing each other is pointed out. It says

:So when they encountered Goliath and his troops, they said "

Our Lord! pour down upon us patience, and make our steps firm, and help us against `"
"! the disbelieving people

In fact, Saul and his troops asked for three things from their Lord in their prayer, and the prayer is well graded. First, patience and perseverance was prayed for. Their second beseech from Allah was steadfastness in the field. They asked Him to make their steps firm in order that they would not flee. The first invocation, indeed, had an inward aspect while the second prayer had an apparent and outward aspect; and surely the firmness of step is one of the consequences of the spirit of patience and perseverance.

Their third prayer was that Allah might help them to be victorious against those infidels. That was, of course, the result or the reward of those two qualities: i.e. patience and perseverance, and being firm in the battlefield

:Bible says

Reference to this Inspired Incident in the Bible

There is some similar incident mentioned in the Bible (Judges 7: 1-6) of trying the people with thirst, but that is a different incident. It was when Gideon tried his forces .by the ` Well of Harod '. The trial of the people under Saul was by the river

Leader should have Inspired Knowledge of Good and Evil

From this verse it becomes clear that the one who leads the people should have inspired knowledge of good and evil for his followers and be able to conduct trials of the people's faith as was Saul who directed his men not to drink more than one handful of water from the river, even though they were dying of thirst. It was only a trial that a few, who were true believers, succeeded and Allah helped them to win .Goliath and his troops

David Slew Goliath

It is completely certain that Allah will not leave such believers alone, although the number of them be small and the number of their enemy be large. That is why the verse expresses that they set out to fight against them and it was by the leave of :Allah that they defeated the enemy. It says

"... ,Thus they routed them by Allah's leave "

David, who was a very young lad, but was vigorous and brave, had attended the army .of Saul to fight against the enemy. He succeeded to kill Goliath

"... ;and David slew Goliath..."

The young warrior threw one or two stones by means of a sling, which he had with him, towards Goliath. He utilized the sling so skilfully that the stone hit just upon the head and pierced the forehead of Goliath. So, Goliath cried loudly and fell down on the ground. At that moment, fear and terror rushed into the hearts of his troops. They began to flee. It seemed, Allah had decided to show his authority, here, and by demonstrating how a king, with all that glory and abundant force could be destroyed by a lad inexperienced in fighting, and particularly with an apparently simple and worthless tool, a sling. Then it

:says

"... and Allah gave him the kingship and wisdom and taught him of what He willed..."

In this verse it has not been explicitly stated that this David is the same David who was the great prophet of the Israelites and was Solomon's father, yet the above mentioned phrase of the verse indicates that this David had attained the rank of
.Prophethood

:At the end of the verse, the Qur'ān points to a general law, thus it says

And were Allah not to repel some people by means of other people, the earth ..."
".would certainly be full of mischief; but Allah is Gracious to all (His) creatures

This concluding part of the verse clearly indicates that the only aim or object of warfare should be nothing but dispelling of mischief and the establishment of peace
.on earth and not at all any territorial expansion

(Explanation: (1

An account of the formidable strength of the mighty forces of Goliath, is given in the Bible (1. Samuel 17: 4-11) David slew Goliath in a single combat. The Philistines seeing .Goliath killed by David all of them fled and that was the end of the battle

Quite a similar event took place in the early days of the start of Islam. The infidels of Mecca with all the strength of the strongest of their allies with the best and the choicest and the most experienced of their warrior heroes, attacked the Muslim refugees in Madina who then numbered only a few hundreds including women and children and who were practically unarmed and the enemy consisted of several full equipped battalions. The battle is called the battle of `Ahzab' i.e. the battle of the Confederates. All the idolatrous tribes of Arabia had

Adopted from the footnote of The Translation of the Holy Qur'ān, by S.W. Mir ۱ – ۱
Ahmed Ali, p. ۲۲۱

united in one body against the few hundreds of ill-equipped or practically unarmed Muslims. The mighty host was twelve thousand strong and there could be hardly any fight at all. It was the question of life and death for Muslims and Islam including the Holy Prophet himself. The well-known giant-like warrior hero of the enemy's strength leapt across the ditch which the Muslims had dug between themselves and the enemy's forces, and coming forward challenged the Holy Prophet to send any one to fight him in a duel or a single combat. The Holy Prophet turned towards the small band of his men and asked them if there was anyone who would answer `Amr' on behalf of Islam and the Muslims. Though there were those present in the Muslim ranks who later, after the departure of the Holy Prophet prided themselves as the greatest heroes and the defenders of Islam and who also claimed to be the closest companions of the Holy Prophet during his life, but none stirred, and some of them even tried to hide their faces lest the choice of the Holy Prophet might fall upon them and they be commanded by the apostle of God to go to fight the giant like warrior standing fully equipped and well prepared to finish anyone that comes to face him. Every time the call was sounded by the Holy Prophet to his men for a match to meet `Amr' there was no response even from those who claimed closest companionship with him save Ali Ibne Abi Taleb, who at every time readily stood up and cried: `Ana lahū yā Rasūllullah' (I am here for him O Prophet of God!). But the Holy Prophet asked Ali to sit down. Thrice did the Holy Prophet call for a match from his ranks and every time none but Ali stood up. Once some of the people gave cowardly answers acknowledging the matchless strength and the dauntless courage of the challenging hero of the enemy. Third time when again none but Ali stood up to fight the giant-like warrior, the Holy Prophet called forth Ali, set right his dress and placed his own turban on his head and bade him go to fight in the way of the Lord, praying to God for the triumph of Islam against the total strength of the idolatrous Arabia and declared

'Qad Barazal 'Imānu Kulleh 'ilā Kufre Kulleh`

i.e. `Certainly proceeds the Whole of the Faith against the Whole of the Infidelity.'`

Ali met Amr ', the details of which one can have from any of the detailed Muslim history, and ultimately within a few minutes Ali brought the severed head of `Amr' the challenging idolator hero of the infidel's forces, and threw it before the feet of the Holy Prophet saying: " Here is, O Prophet of God! The head of the enemy of God and Islam ". at which the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) :thanked God for the victory and declared

'Darbatu Aliyin Youmal Khandaq Afdalu min `ibādatuth thaqalayn `

i.e. ` The one stroke of Ali on the Day of the Ditch (The battle is called the Battle of the Ditch), is superior to the service (prayers) of both the worlds." This saying of the Holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is well-known to the Muslim world and is invariably recorded by all historians and the traditionists and unanimously acknowledged and accepted by the Muslim world as a whole. As on the triumph of David against Goliath the enemy fled away, at the triumph of Ali against `Amr' the combined forces of the Confederates of the enemy gave up the battle and left the field in chaos and confusion and the battle .ended completely routed and disappointed forever

Commentary: Verse ٢٥٢

(Signs of Allah Recited to Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h

This expressive verse is the last verse of the second part of the Holy Qur'ān, the .commentary of which has been discussed in the current volume

In this verse, the Qur'ān points out that these stories and incidents which were explained about, should be heeded as a warning and instructive lesson for Muslims. In particular where the story of the death of a thousand people in one moment and then
.their coming back to life again by the invocation of their prophet is stated

All of these are the effects of the Signs of Allah: granting the rank of leadership to an unknown young shepherd who, in the meanwhile, was wise and eligible; the victory of a small group against a large group of armed enemies; the bravery of a young lad in that fight and endowing him the position of prophethood by the Lord. These events, mentioned in the Qur'ān, are totally some indicative hints to the truthfulness of the :speech and Messengership of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). It says

These are the Signs of Allah; We recite them to you (Muhammad) in truth, and verily, "
".you are (one) of the Messengers

Considering the contents of the previous verses, makes it clear that the elements of :victory lie in the following factors

١) trusting in Allah; ٢) truthful followers; ٣) A capable worthy leader;

٤) having a godly motive; and, ٥) patience and perseverance;

On the whole, the Qur'ān recognizes the clash and struggle for power and authority as an important factor in the development of the terrestrial life which is supported by ۲۲: ۴۰ . The struggle for existence and the survival of the fittest is a natural factor in the development and the progress of the creation as a whole but with the advent of Adam and the birth of the intellectual faculties and the development of inspiration

p: ۲۷۹

in man, the natural tendencies and values gave place to the conventional moral and legal values instead of fighting for food and the material necessities, man began to struggle for right and wrong, what ought to be done and what ought not to. To stop this struggle means deterioration and reversion to animal life. Islam advocates the sublimation of the natural tendencies and the native urge in the best conventional and the highly improved forms by decrying the false values and the evil use of the faculties. There should be competition and struggle for such an attainment and rank which takes one closer and nearer to Allah

Hence one should always be prepared to fight against the evil in his own self which would take him back to animal life; and to fight against the evil in the society and the state in which he lives. He should compete with the others in attaining whatever is good and godly. See the Qur'ān ٢: ١٤٨ and ٥: ١٤٨

(Explanation: 1)

So, this is history and its various defects which can never be glossed over or corrected. With this background, we should never compare the historical events mentioned in the Qur'ān, with the narrations of the same events given in the books of history. The Qur'ān is a divine revelation, free from mistake and falsehood. How can it be judged with the help of history, the history which nobody believes to be free from lie and error? Many historical events, as given in the Qur'ān, like this very story of Ṭālūt, differ from the reports in the Bible. But why should we worry? The Bible is no better than other history books; The alterations, suppressions, additions and omissions carried out in these books are too well-known to need any description. The story of Samuel and Saul was written in the Bible by an unknown hand. The story of Ṭālūt in the Qur'ān is the true words of Allah

p: ٢٨٠

This much about history in general. Now let us see what is the main object of the Qur'ān in such narrations. The Qur'ān is not a book of history, nor does it describe an event with all its details as a book of history purports to do. The Qur'ān is divine speech, poured into the mould of revelation, " With it Allah guides him who follows His pleasure into the ways of safety." That is why it does not narrate an event from the beginning to the end with all its details. It only picks out a few such points of an event .as will be useful to the listener as a lesson, sermon and moral

Then, I said I had a question for him to answer me, for my eyes were blind and I scarcely walked, so I could not always go to visit him. He wanted me to express my question. I requested him to inform me of the creed by which he and his household adored Allah, Almighty and Glorious, so that I could worship Him, too, by it. He responded

By Allah, I give you (your answer of) my religion and the religion of my fathers by which we worship Allah, Almighty and Glorious. ## Verses of the Quran and Traditions

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ قَدْ جَاءَكُمْ بُرْهَانٌ مِنْ رَبِّكُمْ وَأَنْزَلْنَا إِلَيْكُمْ نُورًا

مُبِينًا (سوره نساء ۴ آیه ۴۷۱)

O' mankind! Verily there has come to you a convincing proof (the Messenger and the " Qur'ān) from your Lord: for We have sent unto (you a light (that is) manifest." (Holy Qur'ān ۴: ۱۷۴

إِنَّا نَحْنُ نَزَّلْنَا الذِّكْرَ وَإِنَّا لَهُ لَحَافِظُونَ (سوره الحجر ۵۱ آیه ۹)

We have, without doubt, sent down the Message and We will assuredly Guard it " ((from corruption))." (Holy Qur'ān ۱۵: ۹

الْقِيَامَةِ أَعْمَى (سوره طه ۰۲ آیه ۴۲۱)

But whosoever turns away from My Message (the Qur'ān), verily for him is a " straitened toilsome life, and We shall raise him up blind on the Day of Judgement." ((Holy Qur'ān ۲۰: ۱۲۴ وَنُنزِّلُ مِنَ الْقُرْآنِ مَا هُوَ شِفَاءٌ وَرَحْمَةٌ لِّلْمُؤْمِنِينَ (سوره اسراء ۷۱ آیه

اكمال الدين جلد ۱، صفحه ۲۵۳

In 'Ikmāl-ud-Din' a tradition, through 'Jābir-il-Ju'fī', is narrated from 'Jābir-ibn-
, 'Abdillāh' thus: "I said: 'O Messenger of Allah

we have known Allah and His Apostle; then who is 'Ulul-Amr', those that Allah has made their obedience the same as your obedience?' Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: 'O Jābir! they are, after me, my successors and the Guides of Muslims; the first of them is Ali-ibn-Abitalib; then (Imam) Hassan, and (Imam) Husain; then Ali-ibn-il-Husain; then Mohammad-ibn-Ali; known in the Turah as Bāqir, whom you will see. O Jābir! When you visit him, give my regards to him. After him, there is Sādiq, Ja'far-ibn-Muhammad; and after him Mūsa-ibn-Ja'far; then Ali-ibn-Mūsā; then Muḥammad-ibn-Ali; then Ali-ibn-Muhammad, then Hassan-ibn-Ali; and after him (there comes) Al-Ghā'im whose name and sir-name is the same as mine. He is Allah's Authority on the Earth and His Remainder amongst His servants. He is the son of (Imam) Hassan-ibn-Ali (al-'Askarī). This is the very personality by whose hands Allah will open the Easts and Wests of the worlds and this is the very personality who will be absent from his followers and his lovers in which his mastership can not be proved by
"a statement of anyone except for the one whose heart Allah tests for Faith Jabir said: "I asked him: 'O' Messenger of Allah! will his followers avail of him during his occultation?' He answered: Yes. By the One Who appointed me to prophethood, they will seek brightness from his light and will avail by devotion in his absence the same as "...the availing of people from the (glow of) sun when clouds cover it

(Ikmal-ud-Din, Vol 1, p. 253' with nearly similar meaning in Yanabi-ul-Mawaddah, p. 117)

Introduction

This endeavour has already been introduced rather in detail in the preface of the very commentary of the Qur'ān, part one. A glance over it, and being acquainted with some essential information towards the aim, can surely be helpful along the way of studying this book. The demand of those who have read the former available volumes, and are eagerly waiting for the rest of the translation of the commentary of the Qur'ān to receive as soon as possible, caused this volume to be arranged a little concisely by the compilers. It consists of the exegesis of the verses of two parts of the Qur'ān, part three and part four. The decision was also made that the concerning future volumes be compiled in the same style, so that the translation of the commentary of the whole Qur'ān be prepared in about twenty volumes, and, comparing with the past, they be in the reach of the readers, with the help of Allah, sooner than the time which is expected, Allah Willing

We humbly ask Allah that He helps us, as ever before, to complete this holy goal successfully to offer it to all the truth seekers throughout the world

May He guide and assist all of us by the Qur'ān, to pave the right path further and further, for we are always in need of it

These are the Messengers We have made some of whom excel the others; of " ٢٥٣. them are some to whom Allah has spoken, and some of them He has raised in degrees.

And We gave Jesus, son of Mary, clear Signs, and strengthened him with the Holy Spirit. And had Allah willed, those who came after them would not have fought (one another) after the clear Signs had come to them; but they differed

.So, of them (there were) some who believed and some who disbelieved

Yet, had Allah willed, they would not have fought (one another); but Allah does "whatever He wills

Commentary: Verse ٢٥٣

Some privileges of a few prophets

In this verse some particular privileges of a few prophets are referred to. For instance, as the following separate verse indicates, Moses (a.s.) talked to Allah, and it was the Will of Allah to choose him for that purpose; as the Qur'ān says: " He said: ` O' Moses! Verily I have chosen you above the people with My Messages and with My (words (discourse); ..." (١)

:So, the verse under discussion says

These are the Messengers We have made some of whom excel the others; of them "
" ... ,are some to whom Allah has spoken

Some priviledges of the Prophet of Islam

In this regard, the holy Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) had some more privileges than other prophets before him, such as; being ` the seal of the prophets ', the immunity of his Book (the Qur'ān) from distortion, and being entitled as ` a Mercy unto the worlds '. This is the word of Allah: " And We sent you not (O' Our Apostle Muhammad) but a (Mercy unto all the worlds." (1

Or, Abraham (a.s.) and Noah (a.s.) received the best regards from the side of Allah. Or, as the above verse says, that Jesus (a.s.) was strengthened with the Holy Spirit. It
:says

,and some He has raised in degrees. And We gave Jesus ..."

" ... .son of Mary, clear Signs, and strengthened him with the Holy Spirit

By the way, it is also mentioned in this Verse that if Allah willed, He could stop the opposition and fighting between people who came after those prophets and set them in one peaceful way. But Allah's way of treatment is that people be free and willful in .order that they be able to accept or reject a proper path by their own choice

And had Allah willed, those who came after them would not have fought (one ..."
;another) after the clear Signs had come to them but they differed. So of them (there were) some who believed and some who disbelieved. Yet, had Allah willed, they would not have fought (one another); but Allah

".does whatever He wills

Commentary: Verse ٢٥٤

A warning to the believers as for giving alms

This verse is rendered as a warning to the believers, telling them to give alms and not to lose the respite they have in this life. They are recommended to provide some :fitting provisions thereby for their certain journey; the next life, the Hereafter. It says

" ... ,O' you who have Faith! spend (in alms) of that which We have provided for you "

On the Resurrection Day, there will be neither any bargain to buy the means of felicity and security against one's infidelity, nor any friend or intercessor to make their .infidelity invalid before there comes a day wherein shall be no bargaining neither friendship, nor ..."

".intercession; and the infidels they are the unjust

They are deprived from intercession in that world because they were the cause of deprivation for others in this world. For example, a miser person not only is unjust to himself, since he extinguishes the light of generosity inside his self and wastes his situation in the Hereafter, but also practically proves inequity against others when he .ignores the Divine commendments

Āyat–ul–Kursiy, one of the most important verses

٢٥٥ اللَّهُ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا هُوَ الْحَيُّ الْقَيُّومُ لَا تَأْخُذُهُ سِنَةٌ وَلَا نَوْمٌ لَهُ مَا فِي السَّمَوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ مَنْ ذَا الَّذِي يَشْفَعُ عِنْدَهُ إِلَّا بِإِذْنِهِ يَعْلَمُ مَا بَيْنَ أَيْدِيهِمْ وَمَا خَلْفَهُمْ وَلَا يُحِيطُونَ بِشَيْءٍ مِنْ عِلْمِهِ إِلَّا بِمَا شَاءَ وَسِعَ كُرْسِيُّهُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضَ وَلَا يَئُودُهُ حِفْظُهُمَا وَهُوَ الْعَلِيُّ الْعَظِيمُ

Allah! there is no god but He, the Ever–living, the Self–Subsisting (the Sustainer of " ٢٥٥ all things); slumber seizes Him not, nor sleep; to Him belongs whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is in the earth. Who is it that can intercede with Him save by ?His leave

He knows what is before them and what is behind them, while they comprehend .nothing of His knowledge except what He wills

His Kursiy (knowledge) extends over the heavens and the earth; and preserving them ".both tires Him not; and, He is the Highest, the Greatest

Āyat–ul–Kursiy, One of the Most Important Verses Upon the importance and' excellence of this verse, the only holy tradition narrated from the holy Prophet .(p.b.u.h.), explained in the following, is enough

The importance of the verse

Once, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) asked Ubayy–ibn–Ka`b which verse of the :verses of the Qur'añ was the most important one, and he answered the verse saying

Allah! there is no god but He, the Ever–living, the Self–subsisting (the Sustainer of all " "...;(things

Then the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) touched his chest as a sign of favour and told him " May your knowledge be wholesome to you.By the One in Whose hand is Muhammad's soul, this verse has two tongues and two lips which glorify the Lord below the Divine throne of authority." (1)

Another tradition narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) says: " The one who recites 'Āyat-ul-Kursiy once, Allah will remove one thousand unbecoming things from his worldly unbecoming affairs, the easiest of which is poverty, and one thousand unbecoming things from his (affairs) in the Hereafter, the easiest one among which is the pain of (grave)." (2)

Commentary: Verse ٢٥٥

Allah, the particular appellation for God

The verse begins with the Pure Essence of Allah and continues with the subject of :Unity, Asmā'-ul-Ḥusnā, and His attributes. It says

"... ,Allah! there is no god but He "

Allah " is the particular appellation for God Which means the Essence that includes all " .the attributes of Divine Perfection, Glory, and Beauty

Then, it adds two other attributes of Allah, saying that He is the Lord Who is Alive forever and is self-subsisting so that all other creatures in the universe depend on :Him. It says

"... ;(the Ever-living, the Self-Subsisting (the Sustainer of all things ..."

It is evident that life for Allah is the real life, because His life is the same as His Essence, His Knowledge, and His Power. It is not like that of living creatures whose lives are casual and after a length of time .they die

Allah is completely different from His creatures from the point of life, as verse ٥٨ from "... ,Sura Al-Furghān, No. ٢٥ says: " And rely you on the (Ever) Living One Who dies not

Then, to indicate that neither drowzines, nor deep sleep seizes Him and never He

:stops managing the world, it continues saying

"... ;slumber seizes Him not, nor sleep ..."

The Arabic term /sanah/ `slumber' is the sleep which appears first in the eyes, but when it becomes deeper and reaches the mind, it is termed in Arabic /naum/ `sleep'.

,This verse, pointing to the latter state means that the governance of the Absolutely Bountiful, Allah, is

---

Durr-ul-Manthur, vol. ۲, p. ۸۱ –۱

Bihar-ul-Anwar, vol. ۹۲, p. ۲۶۲ ۲ –۲

.perpetual and never ceases, even for a moment

:Then, it refers to the absolute ownership of Allah, saying

"... .to Him belongs whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is in the earth ..."

Some attributes of Allah

This is the fifth attributes from the attributes of Allah mentioned here. Formerly, four : other attributes of Allah were referred to

.Oneness of Allah, the Everliving, the Self–subsisting, and that He never sleeps

It is quite clear that this attribute, that everything belongs to Allah, has a great training effect in human beings. When they know that whatever they have does not really belong to themselves and it is temporarily handed over them as a deposit to use for a short time, they will surely avoid of transgressing others' rights. These people, with this cognition, will certainly withdraw committing such wrong actions as .colonization, hoarding, greed, miserliness, and the like

:For the sixth attribute, it says

"... ?Who is it that can intercede with Him save by His leave..."

In fact, by a positive interrogation with a negative sense, it says that no person can .intercede at His presence but by His leave

Intercession was discussed fairly vastly when commenting on verse ٤٨, Sura Al–
.Baqarah, No. ٢, in vol. part ١, pp. ١٧٤–١٧٧

:Referring to the seventh attribute, it says

"... ,He knows what is before them and what is behind them..."

Therefore, whatever is in the expanse of time and place is entirely manifest in His .Knowledge. That is why everything, even intercession, depends upon His command

In stating His eighth attribute, this fact is pointed out that He has let others know only :a small part of His knowledge that has been advisable and proper for them. It says

"... .while they comprehend nothing of His knowledge except what He wills ..."

.Thus, the limited knowledge of others is a beam of the light of His illimited knowledge

.So, two other points is also understood from the above phrase

The first is that no creature has cognition from his own and all human

.cognizance is from the source of Allah

Allah may give some concealed knowledge to those He pleases

The second is that Allah may award a part of some concealed knowledge and some hidden secrets to those He pleases

:His ninthly and tenthly attributes are stated thus

His Kursiy (knowledge) extends over the heavens and the earth; and preserving..."
"...;them both tires Him not

Then, power and sovereignty of Allah encompass the totality of the heavens and the earth, and His Knowledge (Kursiy) encompasses all of these expansions wholly, so that nothing is out of His dominion and authority

It is, even, understood from some of the Islamic traditions that the expansion of Kursiy is very larger than the heavens and the earth. For example, in a tradition Imam Sādiq has said: "Heavens and earth, comparing Kursiy, is like a ring in the midst of a desert; and Kursiy, in comparison with `Arsh, is like a ring in the midst of a desert."\(1\)

.It is true, of course, that science has not discovered the secret of this meaning yet

:Describing His eleventh and twelfth attributes, it says

".and, He is the Highest, the Greatest..."

The Lord, Who is the Highest and the Infinite, is able to do everything so that nothing is difficult for Him. Never He tires of managing the world of existence. Never He (s.w.t.) remains neglectful, unaware and feeble of it. His Knowledge involves all things because He is Omnipotent, Omnipresent

It is worthy to note that, in spite of what is popular, the verse entitled ` 'Āyat-ul-Kursiy ' is this very single verse alone

Point

٢٥٦ لَا إِكْرَاهَ فِي الدِّينِ قَدْ تَبَيَّنَ الرُّشْدُ مِنَ الْغَيِّ

فَمَنْ يَكْفُرْ بِالطَّاغُوتِ وَيُؤْمِنْ بِاللَّهِ فَقَدِ اسْتَمْسَكَ بِالْعُرْوَةِ الْوُثْقَى

لَا انْفِصَامَ لَهَا وَاللَّهُ سَمِيعٌ عَلِيمٌ

There is no compulsion in religion. Truly the right way has become clearly distinct " ٢٥٦. from error. Therefore, whoever rejects false deities (tāghūt) and believes in Allah, has grasped the firmest handle, that shall never break; and Allah is All-Hearing, All-knowing".

:Occasion of Revelation

There was a man from Medina by the name of Abū-Ḥaşeen who had two sons. Some of the Christian merchants, who used to import merchandise from abroad into Medina, invited those two lads to Christianity whenever they met them in Medina. Those two young men were seriously affected by them, too

Abū-Ḥaşeen became very inconvenient from that condition. He went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and, informing him the matter, requested him to bring those children back to their own religion. He asked whether he could bring them forcefully to Islam. Then, the verse was revealed and manifested this fact that there is no compulsion in accepting the religion

Embracing Islam needs no compulsion or force

The previous verse, 'Āyat-ul-Kursiy, infact, was a collection of Unity and the Attributes of Allah, Beauty and Glory, which make up the foundation of the religion. This meaning is acceptable in all stages with reasonable proofs. That is why embracing the faith :needs not any compulsion or force, and in this verse, it says

There is no compulsion in religion. Truly the right way has become clearly distinct "
"...from error

p: ۲۴

This verse is a serious answer to those who imagine that Islam applies obligation and has developed and spread through the force of sword and martial power

:Then, as a conclusion of the previous verse, it adds

Therefore, whoever rejects false deities (tāghūt) and believes in Allah, has grasped ..." the firmest handle, that shall never break; ..." And, at the end of the verse it continues :saying

".and Allah is All-Hearing, All-knowing ..."

Is should not be fulfilled by mere pretence

This concluding phrase is a hint to the fact that the problem of belief and disbelief is not something that can be fulfilled by mere pretence, because Allah hears the words of all entirely, whether they state openly or they speak privately and hiddenly

Commentary: verse ٢٥٧

The situation of believers and disbelievers, and their leaders

With reference to the state of belief and disbelief, which was mentioned in the previous verse, here, in this verse, it distinguishes the situation of believers and :disbelievers from the point of leader and guardian. It says

Allah is the Guardian of those who have faith; ..." So it is under the favour of this " "... ;guardianship and leadership, that: "... He brings them out of darkness into light and those who reject faith, their guardians are false-deities, (taghut), who bring ..." "... ;them out of light into darkness

:Then it adds

It is for this reason that: "...they are the inhabitants of the Fire wherein shall they ".abide forever

Nimrod and his disputation with Abraham about Allah

It is said in history and the Islamic narrations that it happened that Nimrod (Namrood), the king of Babylon, disputed with Abraham (a.s.) about the Lord

Have you not seen him who disputed with Abraham about his Lord, because Allah "

Abraham's reasons for Allah

When Abraham (a.s.) saw the wrong concept of Nimrod from giving life and causing death and how he tried to pervent the thoughts of others, he (a.s.) immediately told him that Allah raises the sun from the East, so if he claimed that he governed the world of existence and every thing was under his order and power, as he claimed, he Abraham said: ` Verily, Allah brings the sun from the East; so you bring it from the ..."

Resurrection and illustration of guidance

The previous verse stated the dispute of Abraham (a.s.) with Nimrod around the subject of Unity. That statement, indeed, was a guidance through logical reasoning. Now, this holy verse speaks about Resurrection, wherein guidance is accomplished through illustration of some sensible things

"... ,Or like him (Ezra) who passed by a town and it had fallen on its roofs "

(The story of `Uzayr (Ezra

Some Islamic narrations and commentary books denote that the name of the man referred to in this verse has been `Uzayr (Ezra). They also said that he must be a prophet whom, as the verse indicates, Allah has spoken to

Explanations of the verse

.Illustration is the best way of reasoning .1

"... ;but look at your food and your drink they show no effect of age..."

.It is appropriate to die one hundred years to recognize one important point .2

Increase your knowledge by experience, inquiring, and so on, although you know .3
.the fact

"...! ?he said: ` How shall Allah bring this to life again after its death ..."

We should take new lessons from old ruined towns and ancient civilizations, too, .4
.and ask questions

.Everybody will be raised with the same feature the one has at the time of death .5

"...then He raised him up..."

.The past of time, however much long may be, does not affect on the Might of Allah .6

"...so Allah made him die a hundred years, then He raised him up..."

With Allah's Will, the firm bones rot, but fresh food, which becomes rotten in a short .7
.time, remains one hundred years fresh

'?and said: ` How long have you tarried ..."

'.He said, ` (Perhaps) I have tarried a day or a part of a day

"... .He Said: ` Nay, you have tarried (thus) a hundred years

.The exposition of Allah`s Power is for guiding and leading people ۞

"... ;and that We may make of you a sign for people ..."

:Allah has brought a scene of the Hereafter in this world. The verse says ۹ and look at the bones, how We assembled them together and then clothed them..."
"...!with flesh

The Resurrection is a resurrection of the body, because if it were a mere spiritual ۱۰
.resurrection, the statement of bone, dead and grave would not come forth
"...and look at the bones..."

.A handful of a thing is a sample of a ton of that thing ۱۱

So when it became clear to him, he said: ` I know that Allah is All-Powerful over all "
".things

The dead returning to life again is also admissible in this very world and before that ۱۲
.the final Resurrection Day happens

"... so Allah made him die a hundred years, then He raised him up..."

ثُمَّ اجْعَلْ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ جَبَلٍ مِنْهُنَّ جُزْءًا وَاعْلَمْ أَنَّ اللَّهَ عَزِيزٌ حَكِيمٌ

And when Abraham said: ` My Lord! Show me how you give life to the dead ', He .٢٦٠

,said: ` Do you not believe?' ` Yes', said Abraham

:but to make my heart at ease.' He said `

Take four of the birds. Then make them to incline unto you and (cutting them into ` pieces) place a part of them on each mountain, and thereafter, call them. They will .come to you in haste

.And know that Allah is the Mighty, the Wise

Commentary: verse ٢٦٠

Abraham thought how bits of body could be gathered together

This unique matchless claim is narrated but from the only man of significance in history who after the Messenger of Allah said: " If the curtains be removed, there will be added nothing to my certitude." (١) But, other people wholly like to see what they were told, or what they believe, in their objective state. For example, everybody likes to see how sugar is produced and obtained from sugar-beet or sugar-cane although .they know that sugar is originally from it

Concerning the above verse, it is cited in some commentary books that: once Abraham (a.s.) was walking on the bank of a sea when he saw a corpse of a man over the sands there. The corpse was half in the water and half on the land so that both the animals in the sea and the

---

Tafsir Ruhul-Bayan, Vol. ۱, P. ۴۱۶ ۱-۱ birds and animals on the land could feed from it. Abraham thought himself if this condition happened for a man whose little bits of body were distributed among other living creatures, how could these bits be gathered together and raise on the :Resurrection Day? So, he (a.s.) invoked Allah

"... :And when Abraham said "

"... .My Lord! Show me how You give life to dead ..."

Explanations of the verse

We should attempt to elevate the standard of our faith and belief in ourselves as .1
.much as we reach the limit of certainty

He said: ` Do you not believe?' ` Yes ', said Abraham, ` but to make my heart at ..."
"... 'ease

Intuition and vision appears only for those who have paved some length of the path .2
.of knowledge, faith, and reasoning

The call of the saints and Apostles of Allah can affect even on the particles in the .3
"... .world: "...and thereafter, call them. They will come to you in haste

Resurrection is a bodily resurrection, because, on the Day of Judgement, the return .4
.of the soul will be unto the very particles of the body

Since the goal is reaching the certitude, the accomplishment is done by Abraham .5 (a.s.) himself. (He killed four different birds, mixed their meat with together and (.divided it upon several mountains

He said: ` Take four of the birds. Then make them to incline unto you and (cutting ..." (them into pieces

"... ,place a part of them on each mountain

.For the purpose of a deep instruction, applying art and demonstration is necessary .6

:However, we must always beware of the fact

Commentary: verse ٢٦١

A solution to the problem of difference of social classes

Enjoining others to giving charity and prohibition from immoderation and extravagance are the best way to solving the problem of the difference of social classes. On the other hand, the appearance and spread of usury is the origine and motive of social classes to be created. That may be why that the necessity of giving charity and prohibition of usury are stated beside each other in the Qur'an. (1)

By the way, it should be noted it is not so that any grain of corn planted in any land does grow seven ears with a hundred grains. But, the grain should be safe, the land should be susceptible, the time must be appropriate, and the preparation and .protection should be complete

Explanations of the verse

Point

Applying the natural phenomena will never become out of fashion at any time. They .1
.are always comprehensible for all people in any age and in any acceptable conditions

Encouragement and promise of reward are often the most intensive motives for .2

.That charity is worthy which is given in the way of Allah .۶

"...The likeness of those who spend their property in the way of Allah "

Spending in charity is praised by the Quran

The praise of the Qur'ān is upon those who spend in charity as a habit in their .۵ current life. The Arabic term /yunfiqūna/ (spend their property), which is mentioned in .this verse, refers to an action done continually

.The best example is that example which has external reality .۶

Those who spend their property in the way of Allah, (and) thereafter, do not " ٢٦٢ follow up what they have spent by reproach and with injury, for them shall be their " .reward with their Lord, and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve

Commentary: verse ٢٦٢

!A Worthy Charity

In the previous verse, the importance of charity in the way of Allah was pointed out in :general. Here, in this verse, some of its qualities are stated, too. It says

Those who spend their property in the way of Allah, (and) thereafter, do not follow " up what they have spent by reproach and with injury, for them shall be their reward " ... ,with their Lord

:Besides the above mentioned privilege, this quality is in them again, that

" .and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve ..."

Therefore, those who spend some of their property in the way of Allah, but after that benevolent action, they reproach or do something that cause injury, they destroy .their reward, indeed, with this reprobated action

It can also be said that such persons, in many cases, not only are not good doers, but also are some transgressors, because the honour of a man and his psychological .social capitals are often surely more valuable than property and wealth

The reward of the givers of charity is reserved with Allah

The Qur'ānic holy phrase: "...for them shall be their reward with their Lord; " makes the givers of charity sure that their reward is reserved with their Lord in order that they go forth with a good

p: ३९

.amount of certainty along this path

More than that, the application of the Qur'ānic term /rabbihim/ (their Lord) in the .verse, is a hint to this meaning that their Lord trains them and will multiply it

A kind word and forgiveness is better than a charity that is followed by injury, and "
"Allah is Self-sufficient, Forbearing

This verse makes clear the logic of Islam due to the social values concerning the honour of people. Islam considers the value of the action of those who speak helpfully and leadingly with the needy people in order to protect them and keep their secrets hidden. This is more valuable than the charity of some selfish short-sighted individuals, who have sorts of approach and injury on such honourable persons for a .small donation they give

As was mentioned before the loss of these stingy people is more than their profit. When such persons give something, they ruin something else, too. Thus, the above statement made it clear that the Qur'ānic phrase /qaulun ma`rūf / `a kind word' has a vast meaning so that it envelops any word of kindness, consolation, affability and .guidance

The word /maqfirat / (forgiveness), mentioned in the verse, is used in contrast with the .rudeness of the needy people

In Nūr-uth-Thaqalayn, the commentary, (١) it is narrated from the holy Prophet of

:Islam (p.b.u.h.) who said

Nur-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ۱, p. ۲۸۳ ۱ -۱

But the likeness of those who spend their property to seek the pleasure of Allah, " ٢٦٥ and to strengthen their own souls, is as the likeness of a garden on a high ground, upon which a heavy rain falls and it yields its fruit two-fold; but if a heavy rain does ".not fall upon it, then a light rain (is sufficient); and Allah sees what you do

Commentary: verse ٢٦٤-٢٦٥

Charities should not be followed with reproach and injury

In the previous couple of verses, at first, this fact was pointed out that the believers should not make their charities in the way of Allah invalid because of reproach and injury. Then, two interesting similitudes are expressed upon those charities which are followed by reproach and injury and also for hypocritical acts and ostentation, and those charities which are originated from .loyalty and human sympathy

A similitude: a rock sown with seeds

.Consider a piece of rock covered with a little amount of dust

When it be sown with good seeds and exposed to fresh air and sunshine, and then, a harsh rain falls upon it, the rain will surely washes out the thin dust from the rock and .scatters the containing seed with the dust

Consequently, the hard impenetrable rock, on which no plant can grow, appears with its rough feature. This is not for that the fresh air, sunshine and falling rain have had a bad effect. It is because the place where the seed was sown has been an inappropriate place for the aim. Its appearance was adorned while its inner side was an impenetrable rough rock with a mere thin amount of dust over its surface. It is in a state that plants and trees, besides having suitable conditions above the ground, .need a good preparation under the ground for the roots in order to spread and feed

O' you who have Faith! do not nullify your charities by reproach and injury, like the " one who spends his property to be seen by people and does not believe in Allah and "...;the last Day

The Qur'ān has likened the hypocritical deeds and charities followed with reproach and injury, that which originate from the callous hearts, to a rock covered with a little dust from which no profit can be gained. So, the efforts of the farmer and the sower .will be wasted, too so his likeness is as the likeness of a rock whereon is (a little) soil, then a heavy rain..." .falls upon it and leaves it just a bare stone

They shall not be able to gain anything of what they have earned; and Allah does not ".guide the disbelieving people

Another Interesting Similitude

Consider a green grass garden which is located on a high productive land and benefited from fresh free air and sufficient sunshine. Useful downpour falls water it, but when the rainfall is not enough, drizzles and drops of dew preserve the pleasantness and freshness of the garden. As a result, such a garden usually yields its fruits two-fold more than the other ordinary gardens. This sort of gardens, besides having productive land, enjoy of dew and drizzles added to enough rainfalls. They have such a beautiful view that attracts the attention of any visitor from the distance. They are also safe from the .threat of floods

p: ۴۱

Those who give their wealth in charity for the sake of Allah`s pleasure and for strengthening Faith and certainty in their hearts and souls, are like this garden which .have a bountiful valuable product

But the likeness of those who spend their property to seek the pleasure of Allah, and " to strengthen their own souls, is as the likeness of a garden on a high ground, upon which a heavy rain falls and it yields its fruit two-fold; but if a heavy rain does not fall ".upon it, then a light rain (is sufficient); and Allah sees what you do

Would any of you like that there should be for him a garden of date palms and " ٢٦٦ vines beneath which rivers flow with all kinds of fruit for him therein, while he is stricken with old age, and he has feeble offspring, then a whirlwind with fire in it strikes ?and it gets burnt up

" .Thus Allah makes the signs clear to you, so that you may ponder

Commentary: verse ٢٦٦

man is in need of righteous deeds

Another Similitude

In this verse, the Qur'ān expresses another interesting similitude to make manifest that how seriously man is in need of righteous deeds on the Judgement Day, and how .hypocrisy, reproach and injury ruin the charities and good deeds of man

The similitude of an old man

This similitude illustrates the view of an old man who possesses a green, fresh and delightful garden with various trees such as date-palms, vines, etc. which are watered continuously and do not need to be irrigated. There are some lazy, careless and weak children around him whose means of earning life is the very garden. If this garden .vanishes neither the old father nor the feeble children are able to reestablish it

It happens that suddenly a fiery hurricane blows upon it and burns it totally dry. How does this old man feel when he has lost the strength of his youth, and who cannot earn his living from any other ways, while his children are feable, too ? And, what a ? deadly regret and grief may rush over him

p: ۴۳

Would any of you like that there should be for him a garden of date palms and vines " beneath which rivers flow with all kinds of fruit for him therein, while he is stricken with old age, and he has feeble offspring, then a whirlwind with fire in it strikes and it gets "... ?burnt up

The condition of a person who does a righteous work and then ruins it by hypocrisy, reproach, and injury is similar to such an old man who has tolerated many tasks, but when he is in dire need of the fruit of his efforts, all of them as a whole vanishes and .leaves him alone with his grieves and regrets

In view of the fact that the source of all misfortunes, especially the foolish act of reproach, whose benefit is a little but the loss of it is soon and great, originates from the application of no wisdom, then, at the end of the verse, Allah invites people to :contemplation and pondering. It says

:The Occasion of Revelation

It is narrated from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) that this verse was revealed about a group of people who had earned some wealth from usury at the Age of Ignorance. They usually spent out from it in charity in the way of Allah. Allah (S.W.T.) prohibited them from that action and commanded them to spend out in charity from the good property they had earned

In Majma`-ul-Bayān Fī Tafsīr-il-Qur'ān, next to narrating this tradition, it quotes from Amir-ul- Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) who said: " This verse has been revealed about those who used to mix the dry and bony dates with good dates when they wanted to spend in charity." (١) They were, therefore, commanded not to do that action

These two occasions of revelation are never contradictory with each other. The verse may have been revealed upon both groups, when one of which is due to spiritual goodness and the other concerns to the appearance and material goodness

? What Kind of Property Can Be Given in Charity

In the previous verses, the effects of charity, the qualities of givers of charity, and the deeds that may corrupt this godly action and ruin its reward were pointed out. In this verse, the quality of the property, which is to be spent in charity, is explained. In the first phrase of the verse, Allah commands believing people to spend from good of their wealth

O' you who have Faith! spend (in charity) of the good things that you have earned, " ... ,and of what We produce for you from the earth

The term /tayyib/, the plural of which is /tayyibāt/, in philology means: good, pleasant and agreeable`. This meaning refers to both spiritual and material purity; i.e. to be clean inwardly and outwardly

That is, that part of wealth might be given in charity that is good, useful, and valuable. It must be free from any dubiousity and pollution, either

The above mentioned occasions of revelation attest to the generality of this meaning, too

The phrase: "...while you yourselves would not accept it except that you connive at it,..." can not be taken as an evidence that the objective meaning here is exclusively outward of cleanliness, because the believing persons also might not accept the things which are apparently polluted or worthless, as well as the doubtful and disapproved materials, but with conniving at it and dislike

The Qur'ānic phrase: /mā kasabtum/ `that you have earned' refers to the commercial incomes, while the phrase: /mimmā axrajnā / `what We produce' refers to the incomes earned from farming, mines and subterranean sources. Thus, it envelops all the kinds of income, because the source of all incomes of man is often from the earth and its different issues . Even, the origin of industries, trades, and the like of them all is the ground. However, this sentence indicates that all these merits are given you by

Allah. Therefore, you ought not spare spending a part of it in charity in the way of and do not aim at what is bad to spend thereof (in charity) while you..."

p: ۴۶

"... ,yourselves would not accept it except that you connive at it

Some of people have the habit of spending out in charity mostly from the worthless and worn out things that they do not use any longer themselves. This kind of charities are neither effective in growing spiritual training of the essence of humanity in the giver of charity, nor is so useful to the needy. It can be counted sort of disgrace and .scorn unto them, too

This sentence explicitly prohibits Muslims from doing that. It says how they spend in charity from those things which they themselves do not like to accept, but hatefully. Must their Muslim brothers, and beyond that, the Lord, in Whose way they spend out ? in charity, be considered, in their view, lower than themselves

Giving charities have two ends: the needy ones, and Allah

Indeed, the verse points to a precise fact. It is that the charities given in the way of Allah have two ends. On one end there are the needy ones, and on the other end there is Allah, for Whose sake the charity is spent. In this case, if the charity is taken from the low and worthless things, from one hand, it is counted an aspersion to the high rank of the Lord that the giver of charity has not regarded Him eligible for a `good' thing . On the other hand, it is a disgrace to the needy ones who, in spite of their poverty, mostly have a high level of faith and humanhood, whose soul may be .injured because of such a disagreeable charity

By the way, it should be noted that the term /lā tayammamū / `do not aim ' may be a hint to this fact that can be something of undemanded quality which unattentively is given among the material spent in charity. This aspect is not involved in the contents .of this statement. The statement is about those who intentionally accomplish it

" .and know that Allah is Self-Sufficient, Praiseworthy..."

This sentence intends to say that you must be aware that the Lord in Whose way you spend in charity is the One Who never needs your charity, and Who is worthy of all .praise. It is He Who has bestowed the whole bounties upon you

The term /ḥamīd /, `praiseworthy, may be used in the sense of `adorer'; i.e., while He is Self-Sufficient, He adores the charities you spend. Therefore, do try to spend out
.from good things in charity

٢٦٨ الشَّيْطَانُ يَعِدُكُمُ الْفَقْرَ وَيَأْمُرُكُمْ بِالْفَحْشَاءِ

وَاللَّهُ يَعِدُكُمْ مَغْفِرَةً مِنْهُ وَفَضْلًا

وَاللَّهُ وَاسِعٌ عَلِيمٌ

Satan threatens you with poverty and enjoins you to indecency; but Allah " ٢٦٨ . promises you forgiveness from Himself and abundance; and Allah is All-Embracing,
.All-Knowing

Commentary: verse ٢٦٨

Satan threatens you of poverty when you decide to give charity

At first, the verse admonishes that when you decide to spend in charity or to pay your alms, Satan threatens you of poverty, particularly if you want to give from your worthy and considerable things mentioned in the previous verse. Many a time it happens that this Satanic temptation hinders the act of giving charity and donation. It may affect even on the payment of Alms, Khoms (one fifth levy), and other obligatory .expendings

"... Satan threatens you with poverty "

Allah awares man thereby that refraining from giving charity in awe of poverty is a wrong imagination. It is one of the temptations of Satan. Avoiding from thinking that :this Satanic temptation looks like a logical scare, it immediately says

"... ;and enjoins you to indecency ..."

Therefore, having awe of poverty and indigency in any condition is wrong, because .Satan invites not save to falsehood and aberration

Basically, any thought which is disappointing, impedimental and short-sighted originates from deviation from natural disposition and following the temptations of Satan. But, any thought which is positive, instructive, and broad-sighted comes from .the source of godly inspirations and the pure divine innate disposition

Keeping in mind that the Satanic temptations are against the law of creation and Allah's commandments and ordinances are paralleled and adapted to creation and ,dispostion, results to a notable livelihood

.peacefulness and prosperity

"...but Allah promises you forgiveness from Himself and abundance..."

In Majma`-ul-Bayān a tradition is narrated about charity from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) who said: " Two things are from Allah and two things are from Satan. Those two from Allah are forgiveness of sins and abundance in sustenance. And those two from Satan are
".promise to poverty and enjoinder to indecency

Abundance in wealth is under the cause of giving charity

Therefore, as Ibn-Abbas has quoted, the purpose of forgiveness is the forgiveness of sins and the objective meaning of "abundance" is increase of wealth under the cause (of giving charity. (1

It is interesting that Iman Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) is narrated who has said: " When you are confronted with poverty, bargain with Allah through charity , (spend out (in charity until you get free from poverty)." (2

The phrase: " Allah is All-Embracing " means that the Power of Allah is vast, and He is
.All-Knowing unto all affairs and details

;indeed has been given abundant good
".yet no one will mind but the possessors of intellects

Commentary: verse ٢٦٩

The recognition between the Satanic temptations and godly inspirations

The Qur'ānic term /ḥikmat/, here, has been rendered, into the sense of ` knowledge, the cognition of secrets, awareness of facts, and reaching to reality '. Allah bestows it upon some persons for the sake of their piety, purity and their strive. They recognize .the difference between the Satanic temptations and godly inspirations, false and true

None can benefit from this privilege, which is abundant good, save those who possess .proper intelligence

He grants wisdom to whom He wills, and whoever has been granted wisdom, indeed " ".has been given abundant good; yet no one will mind but the possessors of intellects

The Arabic term /'albāb/ is the plural form of /lubb / in the sense of ` heart, love, intellect, and understanding'. Every man of wisdom is not counted among /'ulul 'albāb/, because this title is termed for only those men of understanding who utilize their .intellect definitely to find out the path of real happiness in their lives

However, Imam Sādiq (a.s.) in a tradition has said that /ḥikmat/ is `knowledge and becoming learned in religion'; while another tradition indicates that / ḥikmat / is \(obedience to Allah and knowing Imam. \(١\)

Commentary: verse ۲۷۰—۲۷۱

Point

"...And whatever you spend in charity "

Spending in charity, here, means whatever you spend in the way of Allah or in the way .of Satan

"...or (whatever) vow you vow ..."

Or, whatsoever you have made obligatory to yourself by the way of vow, whether it .be alongside the path of obedience of Allah or for committing sins, He knows it

" ... surely Allah knows it ..."

.Verily, your deed is not concealed to Allah, and He will reward you according to it

".While, there will be no helpers for the unjust ..."

'The objective meaning of `unjust

The objective meaning of `unjust' here, is those who spend their wealth in the way of disobedience of Allah and committing sins. They do not give the alms of their property; or do not fulfil what they have vowed; or they vow to do that which is sin.

For such people, there will .be no friend who can save them from the Divine Judgment or prevent His punishment

****

If you give alms openly, it is well; but if you hide it and give it to the poor, it is better " for you, and it will remove from you some of your sins; and Allah is aware of what you ".do

giving alms hiddenly is better

That is, if you give your alms hiddenly to the indigents `it is better for you', viz., giving alms hiddenly is better for you: and its due reward is better and more. The purpose of alms that the concealment of which is better is the recommended alms, because .making the obligatory alms manifest is more reasonable

The feature of the indigent persons is illustrated, in this verse; and in the final .۷

Those who spend their property by night and day, secretly and openly, for them " "...,shall be their reward with their Lord

But, in addition to the above mentioned occasion of revelation, the promise of this .holy verse covers all those who act similarly to that

Such people neither scare of poverty in the world, because they believe in the promises of Allah and trust in Him, nor become grievous because of charity, since they are attentive to obtaining the pleasure of Allah and what the action of giving charity .will bring forth for them in the Hereafter

In another occasion in this very current Sura,(۱) too, the givers of charity are stated .about

" .and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve ..."

Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ۲, Verse ۲۶۲ ۱ -۱

٢٧٥ الَّذِينَ يَأْكُلُونَ الرِّبَا لَا يَقُومُونَ إِلَّا كَمَا يَقُومُ

وَ أَحَلَّ اللَّهُ الْبَيْعَ وَ حَرَّمَ الرِّبَا فَمَنْ جَاءَهُ مَوْعِظَةٌ مِنْ رَبِّهِ

فَاتَّبَعَهَا فَلَهُ مَا سَلَفَ وَ أَمْرُهُ إِلَى اللَّهِ وَ مَنْ عَادَ

فَأُولَئِكَ أَصْحَابُ النَّارِ هُمْ فِيهَا خَالِدُونَ

Those who devour usury will not rise up save like such the one whom Satan has " ٢٧٥. confounded with the touch of madness. That is because they say: ` Bargaining is just .like usury', whereas Allah has permitted bargaining and forbidden usury

Hence, whoever receives an admonition from his Lord, then desists, for him shall be .what has already passed, and his affair rests with Allah

And whoever reverts (to usury) then they are the inhabitants of the Fire, wherein shall ".they abide forever

Commentary: verse ٢٧٥

Usurers are like mad persons

In Arabic philology, the word /ribā/ (usury) means `an excess, an addition'. Usurers have been likened to the persons whom Satan has driven them mad. On the Day of Judgement, usurers will be raised like mad ones, because they have such an unjust manner in this world. Mammonism makes their eyes of intellect blind. By their action, they produce difference of levels in the society, because they do not even think of sympathy, emotions and humanitarianism. They go so far that poverty and hatred .cause a burst in the society so that the principle of possession becomes unstable, too

Those who devour usury will not rise up save like such the one whom Satan has " "...confounded with the touch of madness

Another point is that: to some persons, usury seems a principle, too. Hence, they say :that bargaining and usury are the same. As the verse says
".whereas Allah has permitted bargaining and forbidden usury ..."

Explanations of the verse

Point

The usurers are deprived from equilibrium and, consequently, they disturb the .
 .economical equilibrium of the society

.The justification of sin pave the way for more committing sins .

"...,That is because they say: ` Bargaining is just like usury ..."

It can be spared for those who are not aware of it, but not at all for those who know .
 .it and persist on doing it

"... ,And whoever reverts (to usury) then they are the inhabitants of the Fire ..."

Objecting on usury began through verses of the Qur'ān revealed from before the Prophet's Emigration. For example, in Sura Ar-Rūm, which was revealed in Mecca, a verse about usury says: "... but it increases not with Allah, ..." (1) Then, in Sura 'Aāl-i-`Imraān, No. 3 Allah commands: "... Devour not interest ...", (2) which means usury is .prohibited

Thus the most criticism and prohibition have occurred in these verses of Sura Al-Baqarah

By the way, the Qur'ān through the statement: "And, (for) taking interest, though indeed forbidden were they against it ..." (3) announces that usury had been forbidden (in the Jewish religion, too. This prohibition is stated in Turah manifestly. (4

In Sura Al-Baqarah, the verses of usury have occurred next to the verses of charity in order to state the two aspects of good and evil which may come forth by means of wealth. Charity is a `giving' without recompense, but usury is a `taking' without recompense. In contrast to the good effects that charity has in the society, usury creates evil effects therein. That is why the Qur'ān, in the next verse, says: "Allah effaces usury and He causes charities to flourish, ..." .\(1\)

The threats that are cited in the Qur'ān against taking interest in usury and accepting the dominance of illegitimate rulers, are such that they are not cited against even murder, oppression, drinking wine, gambling, and fornication. Therefore the prohibition of usury has been decidedly considered as a great sin by all Islamic parties

Hence, whoever receives an admonition from his Lord, then desists, for him shall ..."
"... .be what has already passed, and his affair rests with Allah

Traditions upon usury

It is narrated in a tradition that when Imam Sādiq (a.s.) was informed that so and so was a usurer, he said: " If I were allowed by Allah I would behead him." \(2\)

It happened that Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s) met a usurer. He (a.s.) wanted him to repent from his action. When he repented Ali (a.s.) let him go and told him: " The usurer must be made repent from his action just like that a person is made repent
." from polytheism

It is narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) who said: " The worst income is (the interest of) usury." \(3\)

The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) said: " When Allah wills to destroy a town, usury appears therein." \(4\)"And, Allah has cursed usurer, his agent, and the writer of usury." \(5\)

Shaykh Mufīd has cited in his book:\(6\) "Whoever considers usury lawful, should be
".beheaded

Imam Sādiq (a.s), stating the reason of repetition of the verses of usury in the Qur'ān, says: " It is for making the rich prepared to do works of benevolence and spending charities; because, on one hand, usury is unlawful (ḥarām), and, on the other hand, compiling wealth as a file is also unlawful. Then, there remains no remedy for the rich (but charity and productive useful jobs." \(v

Also, upon the motive of the prohibition of usury, it is said that since usury is a kind of hinder for money to be used in the way of production and works of public utility, and, instead of effort and endeavour, only the interest of money is enjoyed, then usury has .become forbidden

Again, it is narrated from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) who have said: " If usury were permitted (ḥalāl), people would leave their businesses and trade." (۱)

It is also narrated from Imam Ridā (a.s.) who said: "If usury becomes prevalent, the (loan giving will disappear." (۲)

:At the end of the verse, it says

And whoever reverts (to usury) then they are the inhabitants of the Fire, wherein ..."
".shall they abide forever

The word /`āda/` returns', here, means that those who do not return from usury and commit again devouring interest, will be the inhabitants of the Fire of Hell and they will .remain there for ever

:The Disadvantages of Usury

Taking additional money, without performing any useful work, is unjust and it is overburdening, which causes hatred and enmity. The giver of interest sometimes has to fail and, as a result of debts that increases progressively, accepts kinds of disgrace .and captivity

Usury disturbs the equilibrium of the society and causes it to be divided into two poles:
.the oppressors and the oppressed

.Usury is the reason of prayers to be invalid

Regarding these destructive causes, not only in the religion of Islam, but also in all heavenly religions, usury has been forbidden. But, clinging to few pretexts, some worldly people try to justify usury or try to find a way of fly. Yet, usury has certainly its own destructive effects, though some social groups have accepted it in their own economical system

Usury is an injustice and its disadvantages encompass those who apply it. The progress of the western communities is because of their attentiveness to .science and industry, not because of usury

By the way, usurers should be aware of the warnings of the Qur'ān. (Applying to legal tricks, like the Jews who did for going fishing on Saturday, is only a sort of game.). The .Qur'ān has not been heedless of such games and has criticized them

trading without knowing its laws is falling into usury

Also, since economic affairs may attract people into the trap of usury, there is a tradition which says: " He who begins trading without knowing (the religious laws of (trading), will be involved in usury". \(1\)

٢٧٦ يَمْحَقُ اللَّهُ الرِّبَا وَيُزِيلُ الصَّدَقَاتِ وَاللَّهُ لَا يُحِبُّ كُلَّ كَفَّارٍ أَثِيمٍ

Allah effaces usury and He causes charities to flourish, and Allah does not love " .٢٧٦
".any ungrateful sinner

Commentary: verse ٢٧٦

Discription about usury

The Arabic word /maḥq/ means 'effacement, obliteration, erasure', and the term /muḥāq/, from the same root, is used for the moon when it disappears by the nights at the end of the lunar month. Then the term /ribā/ 'usury interest', with the sense of .gradual increase, is applied in the opposite correspondence

This verse admonishes that though a usurer takes interest from others in order to compile wealth, Allah seizes the abundance and good results that he expects from the .gross of wealth gained through usury

The property resulted from usury may not necessarily be obliterated itself, but the .goals, which are considered from compiling wealth, fail

"... Allah effaces usury "

In the course of usury, there is no love, happiness, and security, so that many a rich person can gain no sort of comfort, peace, or amiability from their wealth. On the contrary, in the regulations, where there is charity, or donation and good loan, people enjoy of many favours. In such societies, the poor are not disappointed, and the rich are not encountered with callousness of the heart and do not mind the multiplication of wealth. So, in these regulations, the deprive do not think of revenge, theft, and the like, and the rich are not anxious about guarding and protecting their properties. This society will have a relative equilibrium accompanied with kindness, compassion, .security and mutual understanding "... ,and He causes charities to flourish ..."

In Tafsīr Kabīr by Fakhr Raāzī, it is cited that when usurer obliterates equilibrium, compassion, and human justice from him, his self and his property will be cursed by the poor, and every moment hatred, plot and theft threaten him. This is an example of .that effacement which is stated in the verse

Do not note and gaze at only the apparent growth of wealth. " Allah effaces usury .۱
" ...

Sustenance is with Allah. The possessor of wealth may be deprived of welfare while .۲
.the poor may often live in the best state of peace of mind

Usurer is the one who is very ungrateful, and sin has settled in his soul: " ungrateful .۳ sinner ". By taking interest, he makes himself debtful to people. He makes his livelihood unlawful for himself, and also he nullifies his worships. He lets callousness,
.greed and avarice dominate over him

"and Allah does not love any ungrateful sinner ..."

.Yes, He is a very ungrateful, as well as a sinner

To efface the wealth emerging from usury is Allah's way of treatment which will be .۴
continued forever. The reference for this meaning is the Qur'ānic word /yamhaqu/
'efface' where the present tense of which, in Arabic, denotes the continuity of the .verb

Verily, those who have faith, and do righteous works, and establish prayer, and pay the poor-rates, for them shall be their reward with their Lord, and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve

Commentary: verse ٢٧٧

Some qualities of the believers

Opposite to the manner of the usurers who are 'ungrateful sinners', this verse portrays the future of the believers, those who do righteous deeds, establish prayers, and pay the poor-rates

:People are divided into four categories

١. A group of people believe in truth and do righteous works. These are the believers

٢. There are some people who neither believe nor do righteous deeds. These are infidels

٣. Some people believe, but do not work righteously. These are the mischievous ones

٤. There are some people who have not faith but they apparently do good deeds. These are hypocrites

Separate from usurers, who have taken apart from the Lord and human beings, there are some believers who have faith, do righteous actions, and have relevance with Allah by the way of prayer. They communicate with people through paying the poor-rates

Verily, those who have faith, and do righteous works, and establish prayer, and pay the poor-rates, for them shall be their reward with their Lord, and no fear shall be upon them, nor shall they grieve

Commentary: verse ٢٧٨

Interests of usury must be abandon

It is cited in some commentary books, such as: Majma`-ul-Bayān, Al-Mizān, and Marāqī, that when the verse upon the prohibition of usury was revealed, some of the companions of the prophet (p.b.u.h.), like Khālid-ibn-Walīd, Abbas, and Uthmān, had claimed some amount of interest from people. They asked the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) about their claims, when the above mentioned verse was revealed

:After the revelation of this verse, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said

My uncle, Abbas, is not rightful to demand interest either." Then, the Messenger of" Allah added: " First of all, my relatives must abandon usury". He also in a sermon said: " I put all the interests of usury (belonging to) the age of ignorant under my feet, and (the first one I put is the interest of Abbas." 1

Explanations for the verse

The requisite of faith is to dispense with the rights of others and the prohibited . ١
.wealth

".if you are faithful ..."

The sign of piety is giving up the unlawful commodity. " O' you who have Faith! be in .٢

Commentary: verse ٢٧٩

In Islam, neither usury and taking undue gains are allowed nor can the property of .people be confiscated unilaterally

In some governmental regulations, ownership is abrogated and all properties are forcefully taken from their possessors. In some other ones exploitation, devouring
.other's rights, and usury, in any form, is free

Explanations for the verse

Usurer is a fighter against Allah. Any usurer would know that, in this battlefield, he .١ (who is a feeble and contemptible mortal) is on one side, and Allah, the Almighty, is on .the other side

"... ,But if you do (it) not, then be you apprised for war from Allah and His Apostle "

Since usurer is a fighter against Allah, it is to the Islamic Government, as a duty, to .٢
.take action against usurers

.The right of usurer is to be content with only the capital, without any interest .٣

"... you shall have your capital ..."

Both being oppressor and oppressive are condemned. Neither accept oppression .٤
.nor be an oppressor

".thus) deal you not unjustly (with others) nor you be dealt with unjustly) ..."

.Beware not to spare the principle of ownership of people for rescuing the deprived .Δ

And if (the debtor) is in straitness, then grant a respite until the time of ease; and" .٢٨٠
".if you remit it as charity it is better for you, if you but know

Commentary: verse ٢٨٠

Concerning this verse, it is necessary to note that although giving a respite to the debtor is recommended, here, the debtor should not misuse this matter, because if he delays paying his debt without having any plausible excuse, he is counted a sinner

An Islamic narration says that those who do not pay their debt without any excuse will be recorded sinful the same as it is recorded for a thief ; and for the givers of respite, a reward will be recorded similar to that of martyrs

Explanations for the verse

Point

Not only do refrain from taking interest, but also give a respite for taking the capital, .١
.even

The capability of the debtor is the base for the length of time in repayment of the .٢
.debt

"... ;then grant a respite until the time of ease ..."

.Islam is a supporter for the indigent .٣

"... ,And if (the debtor) is in straitness "

Remittal, due to the insolvent debtor, is better for you, because it may happen that .٤
.you will be in the same situation in future

"... ,and if you remit it as charity it is better for you ..."

Taking the capital will be forgotten, but remittal to an insolvent debtor will never be .<sup>٥</sup>
.forgettable

Gaining the indigent's consent and the pleasure of Allah are much better than .<sup>٦</sup>
.gaining wealth

p: ٦٨

"if you but know ..."

Giving respite to the debtor

In religious jurisprudence, putting the excused debtor in prison is forbidden. In .v cases that a debtor is not really able to pay his debt, it is to the Islamic government to .pay that debt

In Islamic literature, it is said that every day that the debtor is given respite, the .^ reward of the charity of the same amount of money is to Allah to be recorded for the (creditor." \(1

وَهُمْ لَا يُظْلَمُونَ

And be in awe of a Day in which you shall be returned to Allah, and every one" .٢٨١
"shall be paid in full what the one has earned; and they shall not be dealt with unjustly

Commentary: verse ٢٨١

Point

After stating some particular characteristics of the divine ordinances and Islamic affairs, the normatic custom of the Qur'ān is that it often brings a general, common and inclusive notification forth at the end of a group of verses in order to emphasize and strengthen what has been cited before, and in order that the senses penetrate in
.the mind and spirit

Therefore, in this verse, having attracted the attentions of the believers to the Resurrection and the chastisement of the wrong doers there, it warns them to be aware that there is a great Day in front when all the actions of every person, without
.anything less or more, totally will be given to him

"... ,And be in awe of a Day in which you shall be returned to Allah "

It is at that time that the one will terribly wonder about the consequence of his evil deeds. They are the fruit of what he himself has produced. No one has done unjust
.against him, but he himself has done wrong against himself and every one shall be paid in full what the one has earned, and they shall not be ..."

".dealt with unjustly

However, usury has ethically a very bad effect on the spirit of the debtor so that he finds a special spite in his heart against the usurer. It slackens the cord of social
.cooperation and mutual assistance amongst the members of communities

Some traditions upon usury and usurers

In Islamic narrations it is cited upon the prohibition of usury that Hushām-ibn-Sālim has narrated from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) who said: "Verily, Allah, Almighty and Glorious, has forbidden usury so that people do (not avoid of doing good work." (1)

Ibn-Mas`ūd narrated from the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) who said: " There have – ١ not been usury and fornication in no community save that they have incurred the (punishment of Allah upon themselves." (2) Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) said: " O' people! learn the jurisprudence and the – ٢ laws of the religion at first, then go after trading. By Allah, usury is found in this so that (it is more concealed than the movement of an ant over a hard smooth stone." (3) Imam Sādiq (a.s.) said: " On the Day of Judgement, three persons are in the shelter – ٣ of Allah, Almighty and Glorious, until the one becomes free from the Divine reckoning: ١) The person who has never taken action in fornication; ٢) The person who has never mixed his property with usury; and ٣) The person who has never had any effort in (usury and fornication." (4)

(The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " The business being in usury is the worst jobs." (5) – ٤ Imam Ridā (a.s.) said: " Beware that certainly usury is an unlawful job which causes – ٥ shame and disgrace. It is among the great sins for which Allah has promised the Fire of Hell upon the executor, and we refuge to Allah from the Fire of Hell. And, according (to all prophets and all the heavenly Books, usury is unlawful. (6)

The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) said: " Most of my anxiety about my Ummah is for – ٦ (the unlawful jobs and unlawful incomes." (7)

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " The worshipper who does not avoid unlawful – ٧ (wealth and unlawful food, is like the one who builds upon a sandy land." (8) Jābir said that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) cursed the usurer, the writer of it, and its – ٨ (witness." (9)

Commercial Documents in the Qur'ān

After stating ordinances of charity given in the way of Allah, and the problem of usury, this verse, which is the longest verse of the Qur'ān, expresses some ordinances upon the commercial and economical affairs in order that the capitals gain their natural growth and no difficulty or conflict comes forth for people

There are nineteen significant instructions about financial communication and trading in this verse which are dealt with in the .following

The existence of 19 different ordinances in the verse

.In the first ordinance it says .1

O' you who have Faith! when you contract a debt for a stated term, then write it "
"...;down

This meaning, however, makes the problem of loan clear, too, saying that it is permitted, as well as appointing a time for the loan. The verse under discussion includes the whole debts which are found in bargains, like: a time-bargain, purchases on credit, and the loan itself

Then, to create more confidence, and that the contracts to be safe from the .۲ ۲
:probable interference from the side of either of the parties, it says

"...and let a scribe write it down just between you ..."

.Thus, contracts must be arranged by a third person who is just

.The person who is able to write must not refrain from writing .۴

"...;and no scribe may refuse to write as Allah has taught him ..."

That is, for the sake of that blessing which Allah has bestowed upon him, he should not flee from performing that writing of contract, and he must help the two sides of .the bargaining in this essential problem

"...So let him write, and let the one who incurs the debt dictate..." .۵

"...and he should be in awe of Allah, his Lord, and not diminish it..." .۶

And if he who owes the debt is unsound in understanding, or weak (mentally), or if..." .۷

"...he is not able to dictate himself, then let his guardian dictate

The Guardian should also observe justice in dictating and confessing the debt of .۸

:Then it adds that besides that beware ٩

"...but if two men are not available, then a man and two women ..." .١٢

"...;from among those whom you approve as witnesses ..." .١٣

p: ٧٤

In the case that witnesses are two men, either of them can bear witness . ۱۴ independently. But when the witnesses are two women and a man, those two women : must bear witness with together

"...;so that if either of the two women errs, the other will remind her ..."

It is for the reason that women, because of the strong emotions they have, may be .affected by some factors and deviate from the right path

:One of the ordinances upon this subject is that .۱۵

.and the witnesses should not refuse (to evidence) whenever they are summoned ..."
" ...

Therefore, bearing witness is obligatory, when the invitation for the matter comes .forth

Debt should be written down whether it is small or big, because the safety of the .۱۶ economical relations, which Islam means, requires that, even in the contracts concerning the small debts, the documents be written, too. That is for the same :reason that the next sentence of the verse says

" ... .term

:Then, it adds

That is more equitable in Allah's sight and more proper for testimony, and the ..."
" ...;surest way of avoiding doubt among yourselves

This sentence, in fact, is a hint to the philosophy of the above mentioned ordinances about writing transactional documents. It vividly shows that these recorded .documents can be applied by the judge as witnesses and proofs

:Then, one aspect is exceptionally separated from this ordinance, when it says .۱۷ unless it is ready merchandise which you handle between yourselves, then there is..."

"...no sin on you not to write it down

In cash transactions, though arranging and writing document is not necessary, still .18 calling to witnesses is better for them, because it can prevent the probable future

:disputes. So, it says

"....And have witnesses when you are trading one with another ..."

:For the last ordinance mentioned in this verse, it says .19

p: 75

"...;And let no harm be done to a scribe or witness ..."

:Then, it is added

"...and if you do, that is transgression on your part ..."

Finally, after mentioning all these ordinances, the Qur'ān invites people to piety,
:virtue, and obedience to Allah, saying

"...,be in awe of Allah ..."

Next to that, it reminds that whatever is necessary for your material and spiritual life,
:Allah teaches you

"...,and Allah teaches you..."

The occurrence of the above two phrases beside each other indicates that piety and worshipping Allah have a deep effect in appearing insight, cognizance and the .increase of knowledge

And, He is aware of everything that is good or evil for people. So, He determines what .is good and appropriate for them

" .and Allah is All-Knowing of all things ..."

Commentary: verse ٢٨٣

With stating some more ordinances upon the problem of commercial documents here, this verse, in fact, can be a complement to the previous one. The ordinances are as follows

١. "And if you are on a journey and you do not find a scribe, then take a pledge with possession

Of course, when the matter happens at home and there is not any scribe available either, sufficing to pledge is allowed

٢. The pledge should certainly be taken in possession of the creditor so that there can be felt an authority of confidence. It says

"... then take a pledge with possession ..."

٣. Then, as an exception for the ordinances stated in the earlier verses, it says

But if one of you entrusts to another, then he who is trusted should pay back his trust; and let him be in awe of Allah, his Lord

It is interesting that the claim of the creditor is stated as a deposit wherein treachery
.is a great sin

Then, addressing all people, the Qur'ān ordains an inclusive .۶

p: ۷۷

:instruction upon bearing witness. It says

And do not conceal testimony, and whoever conceals it, then surely his heart is ..."
"...;sinful

Thus, those who are cognizant of the rights of others have a duty to attend to bear
.witness when they are summoned and they should not conceal it

Since concealing testimony and refraining from bearing witness is done by mind and heart, it is introduced by the Qur'ān as a sin of heart, and it says he who does it his .heart is sinful

Then, at the end of the verse, to emphasize and to attract the attentions better to the protection of deposits, delivering the rights of others, and stopping the concealment
:of testimony, the Qur'ān warns by saying

".and Allah is All-Knowing of what you do ..."

People may not know which person is able to bear witness and who is not. Or, people may not know who the creditor is and who the debtor is in the case where there is not any pledge. But Allah knows everything and rewards everyone according to his / her .own deeds

Commentary: verse ٢٨٤

:This verse, in fact, completes what was said at the end of the previous verse. It says

To Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth; and "
,whether you reveal what is in your minds or hide it

"... Allah will call you to account for it

Then, the continuation of the verse means that do not suppose that actions such as concealing testimony and hearty sins are covered to Him. No, He is the One Whose sovereignty is over the world of existence and the earth and the heavens totally. So,
.there will be nothing concealed to Allah

"... ;Then He will forgive whom He wills, and will punish whom He wills ..."

" .At the end of the verse, it says: and Allah is All-Powerful over all things

That is, He is both cognizant due to all the things of the world and able to determine
.the eligibilities and competencies and He is also able to compensate the disobedients

:Occasion of Revelation

When the previous verse was revealed telling the believers that everything they had in their minds Allah knows and keeps account of it, whether they concealed or made manifest them, a group of the Prophet's companions became afraid of their state. (They thought that none of them was free from the innate temptations and heartily (occurrences. So, they told the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) what they thought

Then, the revelation was sent down, and taught them how to believe in Allah and in what manner they would supplicate, and what style of obedience and submission to Him they should follow

Commentary: verse ۲۸۵

Sura Al-Baqarah begins with a part of theology and faith in Allah , and it ends with the same meaning, too. Thus, both the beginning and the end of the Sura are on the same :line. However, the Qur'ān says

"...,The Messenger believes in what has been sent down to him from his Lord "

This is the privilege of the godly prophets who seriously believed

p: ۸۰

.in their own doctrine and theology, and had no hesitation in their faith

First of all and before anybody else, they themselves had believed, and they

"...' They say:) ` We make no difference between any of His Messengers)

Then, it adds that, besides having a firm and inclusive faith, in relation to action,
: believers also deliver such a statement

.and they say : ` We hear, and obey ..."

".Our Lord! Your forgiveness (do we ask), and toward You is the destination

Therefore, belief in origin and the Divine Messengers should go forth and parallel with

.Our Lord ! burden us not with what we have no strength to bear

;And pardon us, and forgive us, and have mercy on us

"You are our Guardian, so help us against the people who are infidels

Commentary: verse ٢٨٦

: The beginning statement of this verse says

" ... ;Allah does not impose upon anyone a duty but to the extent of his capacity "

The entirety of the Islamic legislations, from the view point of capacity and capability of man, are rendered and depended on this very verse. Then, it adds that whatever :good or evil a person does returns to him in his favour shall be what he has earned, and against him shall be (the evil) he has ..."

"... .wrought

By this statement, the above verse awares the believers of their responsibilities and the result of their own actions. It rejects the imagination of .determinism, chance, horoscope and fancies of this kind

Next to these two essential principles (that the duty of fulfilment is due to capacity, and everyone is responsible for one's own deeds), seven supplications are asked Allah
.from the tongue of the believers

These invocations are indeed, as instructions for all in general, to teach them what :they say in supplication and what they ask for. At first, it says

"... .Our Lord ! punish us not if we forget or make a mistake..."

Therefore, the forgetfulnesses resulted from carelessness are punishable. Since they know that they are punishable for their own actions, they call Allah as their Lord, the One Who has a specific grace in their training with a special cry and say that life, in any rate, is not empty of forgetfulness and mistake. They try not to commit any intentional sin, but it is Allah Who may forgive them their mistakes and sins. As to their : second invocation, it says

"... .Our Lord ! lay not upon us a burden such as You did lay upon those before us

: For their third invocation it adds

"...Our Lord ! burden us not with what we have no strength to bear..."

This sentence may refer to the divine severe trials, or the hard punishments of this :world and the next, or both of them. In the fourth, fifth and sixth invocations, they say

"... ;And pardon us, and forgive us, and have mercy on us..."

:Finally, in the seventh invocation, which is the last invocation, here, they say

" .You are our Guardian, so help us against the people who are infidels..."

Thus, their invocations cover the affairs of this world and the next, those like personal and social successes, divine forgiveness, and the mercy of Allah. This is an inclusive

.supplication

A Note upon the abbreviated letters

As was mentioned at the beginning of the commentary of Sura Al-Baqarah, Alif `A', Lām `L', Mīm `M' are known as abbreviated letters, the Muqatta`āt. The best and well known definition about them, is to say that they are secrets between Allah and His Messenger. Or this subject may be referred to by saying that the Qurān has been composed of these very abbreviated letters. In other words, Allah has sent down the Qurān through letters

This itself is a miracle, the same as He creates Man from soil, while man makes potsherd, brick, earthenware etc. from it. This is the difference .of the Divine Power and human power

It is worthy to note that the above abbreviated letters have occurred at the beginning of six Suras in the Qurān: Al-Baqarah, `Āl-i-`Imrān, Al-`Ankabūt, Ar-Rūm, Luqmān, and As-Sajdah. And the abbreviated letters Alif `A', Lām `L', Rā `R' have also .occurred at the beginning of Suras: Yūnus, Hūd, Yūsuf, Ar-Ra`d, Ibrāhīm, and Al-Hijr

Again the abbreviated letters Hā `H', Mīm `M', have occurred at the beginning of Suras: Ash-Shaurā, Fuṣṣilat, Az-Zukhruf, Ad-Dukhān, Al-Jāthiyah, and Al-'Aḥqāf. As the evidences show in the above, every one of these instances of abbreviated letters has been revealed at the beginning of six suras, while in each of other instances the .abbreviated letter(s) has been stated for only one sura

In creation, Allah has complete cognizant administration and domination upon the whole creation. The material factors and appliances can be causes of creation but they are not alive when the cause of their existence is not from their own. The material instances have not any independent knowledge, life, and power. It is only He, the Ever-Living, that the life of every living creature depends on Him

Allah, there is no god but He, The Ever-Living, the Self-Subsisting (the Sustainer of " (all things

It is cited in Jaushan-Kabir, the Supplication: He has been alive from before any living thing, and will be alive after any living thing

There is no living thing as His partner. He is in need of none. He is the Alive Who has no death, but the life of any living creature, as well as his sustenance, is in His control. He is a living Essence Who has not got it heritably from another living being

:Now, here is a close translation for the exact text of the supplication

" ,O' Ever-Living, preceding every living being "

" ,O' Ever-Living, succeeding every living being "

" ,O' Ever-Living, like unto Whom there is none "

" ,O' Ever-Living, Who has no living partner "

" ,O' Ever-Living, Who is not dependant on any living being "

" ,O' Ever-Living, Who causes every living being to die "

" ,O' Ever-Living, Who provides sustenance to every living being "

" ,O' Ever-Living, Who has not inherited life from any living being, " (

The qualification of a god to be worshipped is having nominal perfections such as .۱

Jaushan-Kabīr Supplication, Item ۷۰ ۱ –۱

The term Torah is a Hebrew word which means: `law, the whole body of Jewish religious literature, including the Scripture. The Torah contains five chapters, entitled: Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy. Since the event of the death of Moses (a.s.) and the explanation of his burial are mentioned in the Torah, the Judgement is that these subjects of the Torah have been added after the time of .(Moses (a.s

The term Evangel has a Latin root (evangelium) which means `good news', or `the teaching of the New Testament'. (1) The Evangel is the Divine Book of the Christians and wherever in the Qur'ān it is mentioned it is stated in the singular form while, today, there are different Books amongst the Christians by this name, four of which :are very famous. They are as follows

Matthew is one of the four Evangelists, the first book of the New Testament, and .1 the reputed author of the first Gospel. Matthew is one of the twelve students of Jesus .(. (a.s

Mark, the second book of the New-Testament, telling the story of Jesus' life. Mark .2 .(.wrote this book under the authority of Petros after the time of Jesus (a.s

Luke, a physician and companion of the apostle Paul and the reputed author of the .3 .third Gospel

John the fourth Gospel, the book of revelation. He has also been one of Jesus' .4 .students

It is also remarked that the abovementioned Gospels have all been written wholly .(.after Jesus (a.s

Explanations

" as the verse says: " conforming

The confirmation of the Qur'ān upon the Torah and Evangel is a proof for the idea .۳ that the former Books are heavenly, and, also, it is a great right upon the former divine religions. Otherwise, regarding the superstitions that have been added to the .Torah and the Evangel, their being heavenly would be forgotten totally

The means, instructions and the stages of training are different in the former Books .۴ .due to their time and conditions of revelations

.Yet they are on the same line of development and unity towards the godly goal

The revelation of the Qur'ān unto the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is an honour from Allah unto .۵ :his personality when He preceded the phrase `to you' to the term `the Book

"...He has sent down to you the Book with truth "

.The Qur'ān is secured from any falsehood, and it is coinciding to reality and truth .۶

In spite of the fact that the Torah and the Evangel were separately and wholly .۷ revealed at once, the Qur'ān was sent down gradually during twenty three years. This is in the condition that it was revealed to the heart of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) at once by .the Grand Night

Considering the qualities mentioned in the previous verse, the revelation of the .۸ .heavenly Books is a manifestation of the attributes of Allah

The first part of this verse, added to the meaning of the previous verse, addresses the :Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and totally says

He has sent down to you the Book with truth, confirming that which is before it, and " .He sent down the Turah and the Evangel

"... ,Aforetime, a guidance for people "

:Then, pointing to the Qur'ān which separates right and wrong, it follows saying

"...and He sent down the Furqān ..."

Hence, after the verses of the Qur'ān being sent down from the side of Allah and completing the argument being done, together with testification of innate disposition and intellect to the truthfulness of

p: ۸۸

prophets in their invitations, there is not any other way against rejectors but punishment. That is why, in this verse, next to the statement about the rightfulness of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the Qur'ān, it says

Verily those who disbelieve in the Signs of Allah, for them there is a severe..."
"... chastisement

And, to make it clear that there is no doubt about the capability of Allah in accomplishing His threats, it says

".and Allah is Mighty, the Lord of Retribution ..."

٦. "He it is Who shapes you in the wombs as He pleases "

"There is no god but He, the Mighty, the Wise

Commentary: verses ٥-٦

Allah's knowledge is upon all affairs of the world

How is it possible that something be hidden from Allah while He is Omnipresent and Omniscient? And regarding that His Essence is infinite and illimited from any point of view, there will be no place without Him. He is nearer to us than we are to ourselves. Therefore, in the meantime that He is found in no definite site, He dominates every thing. This domination is in the sense of His Knowledge and cognizance upon all the things and affairs of the world

"Verily, Allah, nothing hidden is there from Him in the earth and in the heaven "

Then, the verse points to one of the distinguished things in the world of creation which is, indeed, one of the clear examples of Allah`s

:Knowledge and Power, by saying

"... ,He it is Who shapes you in the wombs as He pleases "

:Yes, it is completely true that

"there is no god but He, the Mighty, the Wise ..."

The formation of Man in mother's womb, and designing wonderful, marvellously beautiful features, one after another, in that dark environment is really surprizing. It is specially with those varieties that a human being may have from the point of stature, .face, gender, kinds of capacities and faculties. Man carries different qualities in him

So, that is why there is no god but He, and it is for this very reason that only He, His .pure Essence, the Almighty, is worthy of being worshipped

۷ هُوَ الَّذِي أَنْزَلَ عَلَيْكَ الْكِتَابَ مِنْهُ آيَاتٌ مُحْكَمَاتٌ

They say: ` We believe in it, the whole (of it) is from our Lord;' and none " .minds save the possessors of intellect

Commentary: verse ۷

.The Decisive the Allegorical Verses in the Qur'ān

In former verses, the statement was upon the revelation of the Qur'ān as one of the clear evidences and proofs of the prophethood of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). Now, in this holy verse, one of the specialities of the Qur'ān is pointed out. This quality is the manner of expressing statements that is applied in this grand heavenly Book. At first, :it says

He it is Who has sent down to you the Book; in it are decisive verses which are the " "... .basis of the Book, while others are allegorical

These allegorical verses, that in the first glance seem complicated because of high level of the subject or of other factors in them, are criterions to try individuals in order to separate truthful scholars from stubborn seditious persons. So, :next to that, it says

But as for those in whose hearts there is perversity, they follow the part of it which ..." is allegorical, seeking (to cause) dissension by seeking it (their own) interpretation, while none knows its (hidden) interpretation except Allah and those firmly rooted in "... .knowledge

Then, it points to those who, under the light of their correct understanding the :meaning of both decisive and allegorical verses, declare

"...!;They say: `We believe in it: the whole (of it) is from our Lord ..."

: Yes! verily

".and none minds save the possessors of intellects ..."

Through the above mentioned verse, it is recognized that the verses of the Qur'ān are divided into two groups. A part of the verses have such a clear concept that there is no place for denial, justification or misuse in them. These verses are called `decisive verses'. But there are other verses that, because of high level of subject or discussing about things which are out of our reach, like: the unseen world, the world of Resurrection, and the attributes of Allah, are such that their hidden meanings and the secrets and the depth of their reality need a particular scientific ability to be rendered.

.These verses are called `allegorical verses

Some perversive persones try to abuse these verses by commenting on them untruly in order to make mischief among people and deviate them from the right path. But Allah and those firmly rooted in knowledge know the secrets of these verses and .explain them for people

Of course, those who are in the first line, from the point of knowledge, (like the Prophet and Immaculate Imams), know the whole secrets while others may understand from them as much as the amount of their own knowledge. Hence, it is this very fact that sends people, even the learned scientists, after the divine teachers

.to catch the mysteries of the Qur'ān

Commentary: verse ۸-۹

Since the allegorical verses of the Qur'ān and their hidden secrets may cause to be the means of going astray for some persons so that they fail in this kind of trial, so, those firmly rooted in knowledge and the believing intellectual ones, besides utilizing their own existing knowledge in comprehending the true meanings of these verses, seek refuge to their Lord. Both of the above mentioned verses, which are stated from :the tongue of those firmly rooted in knowledge, make this fact clear. They say

They say:) ` Our Lord! let not our hearts deviate after You have guided us, and) " ۸

In view of the fact that belief in Resurrection and being regardful to the Day of Judgement are the most effective things for controlling one's desires and lusts, then :those firmly rooted in knowledge, remembering That Day, say

Commentary: verse ۱۰-۱۱

In this situation, those hearts that are deviated and are not on the straight path are referred to. The verse says

"... ,Verily those who disbelieve "

:These are those who disbelieved in the verses of Allah and His Messengers; so

"... neither their wealth nor their children shall avail them aught against Allah ..."

Concerning the Qur'ānic phrase /minallah/, Abū`ubaydah says that it means `with Allah', while Al-Mubarrad says that the Arabic word /min/ (from) is used with its own meaning here, which is `beginning

Hence, the purpose of the whole phrase is that, from the beginning to the end, there will be no avail for them out of their wealth and their children. Some others say that the phrase /minallah/ metaphorically means /min `aḏābillah/ (from Allah's punishment), which has been rendered that: nothing will avail them to be away from the \(punishment of Allah.\)

"...and they themselves will be fuel for the (Hell) Fire ..."

They themselves, i.e. their bodies, are the fuel of the fire. This very meaning is also \(mentioned in another verse, saying that they are `fuel' for Hell.\)

****

There are different meanings cited upon the commentary and the sense of the Arabic term /da'b / in the Qur'ānic phrase /ka da'bi 'ālī fir`aun/ " like the people of Pharaoh ", :stated in the above mentioned second verse. They are as follows

The habit of these infidels in rejecting both you (O' Muhammad) and what has been . revealed to you is like the habit of Pharaoh's men in rejecting prophets and what Allah had revealed to them. In this regard, Ibn-`Abbas has rendered the Arabic term /da'b/ .into `habit

The effort and endeavour of this group in obtaining victory and overcoming you, in . order to destroy your activities, is similar to the effort of Pharaoh's men for defeating .with Moses (a.s.). In this regard, the term /da`b / is taken with the concept of `effort

"... ,and those who were before them ..."

Commentary: verse ١٢

It is cited in some commentary books, like: Majma`-ul-Bayān, Fakhr Rāzī, Marāqī, and some other ones, that when the Muslims gained a considerable victory in the Battle of Badr in the second year after Emigration, a group of the Jews said that the victory was counted as a sign to the truthfulness of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). They reasoned that they had studied in the Torah that he (p.b.u.h.) could win. Another group of the Jews said that they would not haste, since haply the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) would fail in the battles thereafter. In the third year, when the Uhud Battle came forth, and Muslims were defeated, this group of the Jews became happy. Then, the verse was sent down, telling them not to hurry in judgement so soon and they (the Jews) would be .defeated in near future

Say to those who disbelieve: ` You shall be vanquished, and gathered unto Hell', and "
" !it is a terrible abode

:Explanations

One of the miracles of the Qur'ān is its true prophecies. In this prediction, it .١
happened that, after a short time, Muslims succeeded to defeat two Jewish tribes:

Commentary: verse ١٣

Point

:This fact has been recorded in commentary books, including

Majma`-ul-Bayān, Marāqī, Fakhr Rāzī and many other ones, that this verse concerns Battle of Badr. In that fighting, Muslims struggled against infidels. The number of Muslims was ٣١٣ men, among whom ٧٧ figures were from the Emigrants and ٢٣٦ men from the Helpers (Ansār) for whom Sa`d-ibn-`Ibādah was the flagman. As military equipment, Muslims had only seventy camels, two horses, six armours, and eight swords; while the opposite army, the pagans, were one thousand men with one hundred horses. The Muslims won the battle wherein twenty two of them became martyrs: ١٤ martyrs from the Emigrants and ٨ martyrs from the helpers, when hostile .pagans had to give seventy killed persons and ١٧٠ men as captives

This incident is a lesson for those who have intellect and sight that how a small group of Muslims with little equipment could defeat an equipped army the number of whose .fighters was three-fold of Muslims

The term /xayl/, applied in this verse, means 'horse' and a 'riding horse'. And the word /musawwamah/ means 'branded', viz. the horses that possessed special prominences. That speciality was because of the beauty of their stature and or the kind of training they had gotten

Commentary: verse 15

In the previous verse, Allah's word was upon belittling the love of this world and enjoining people to piety and good goal of life. In this verse, it introduces the .Hereafter, as grand and worthy, and encourages people towards it

"... ? Say: ` Shall I tell you of what is better than these "

It addresses the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) commanding to `say' a great information in the form of a question. Some of commentators believe that the content of the inquiry stretches upto the phrase ` with their Lord ' in the verse. They say what it informs .which begins from the Qur'ānic phrase ` gardens beneath which rivers flow

Therefore, the consequence of the meaning of the verse is: ` Shall I inform you of what is better than that which was formerly said about the desires of this world and

" ...For those who keep from evil ..."

"... ,are gardens with their Lord, beneath wich rivers flow ..."

Commentary: verse ١٦-١٧

The characteristics of the pious ones, who were hinted out in the previous verse, are .stated here in this verse with more details

:At first it says about them

" ...,Those who say: ` Our Lord! We believe "

:That is: we believe in You and Your Apostle. Then, they continue saying

" .so forgive us our sins and save us from the torment of the Fire..."

****

After that, the Qur'ān has stated some other characteristics of the pious ones where it :has praised them. It says the pious are the same as The patient, and the truthful, and the obedient, and those who spend (benevolently), "

".(and those who seek forgiveness before dawn (times

:Thus, the pious have the following qualities

.١ Patience in tolerating the difficulties, the prohibitions, and the Divine services .١

.To be truthful in speech and manner .۲

.Humility and submission without pride and self-admiration .۳

Giving in charity from what Allah has provided them as .۴

p: ۱۰۴

.sustenance

.Supplications and seeking forgiveness from their Lord during the time before dawn .Δ

The term /munfiqīn / (those who spend out), in the verse, refers to those who spend out their wealth benevolently in righteous deeds, when it consists of giving obligatory alms and recommended charity

Opinions are divided as to the meaning of the Qur'ānic phrase /wal mustaqfirīna bil ashār/ (and those who seek forgiveness before dawn times). They are four varieties as follows

To establish prayer at midnight, (said by Qattādah). This very meaning has been .Δ cited by Iman Ridā (a.s.) who narrated from his father (a.s.) from Iman Ja`far Sādiq ((a.s.).(Δ

.(Those who seek forgiveness before dawn, (said by 'Anas .Δ

.(Those who keep the morning prayer in congregation, (said by ziyd-ibn 'Aslam .Δ

Those who continue keeping prayers until before dawn and then ask Allah to forgive .Δ (them their sins, (said by Hassan

It is narrated from Iman Şādiq (a.s.) who has said: " Whosoever, at midnight, seeks (forgiveness seventy times is involved in the people of this verse... "(Δ

:In a tradition it is narrated from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) who said Verily Allah, Almighty and Glorious, says: ` Whenever I will to punish the people of " the earth, I restrain it from them when I observe the constructors of mosques, the performers of the night prayers, those who make friends with each other in My way, (and those who seek forgiveness before dawn (times)!" In Islamic literature, it is cited that if a person continuously recites /astaqfirullahā rabbī wa 'atūbu 'ilayh/ seventy times in his personal prayer of odd prayer at midnight (for one year, the one will be involved of the people of this verse. (Δ

Commentary: verse ١٨

By creating a single regularity over the world of existence, Allah testifies upon the Oneness of His Own Essence. That is, the existing harmony and order, in the whole creation, is an evidence to the sovereignty of only One Power over existence. In other worlds, Allah informs of His Oneness through the wonders of creation and His wise Providence, which are like the examples of life. Allah calls the creation of the creatures as a witness to His Own Unity. By the way, He causes to understand that the phenomena He brings into existence are so that none is able to generate even .one of them

"... ,Allah (Himself) bears witness that there is no god but He "

By observing the wonders and greatness of power, angels bear witness to the Unity .of Allah

Those possessed of knowledge, /'ulul-`ilm/, who know, and it has been proved to them, that none is able to bring the wonders of the world of creation into existence .but He, bear witness to the Oneness of His Essence, too

This fact must also be noticed that though the phrase: ` the possessors of knowledge ' refers to all scientists and knowledgeable ones in general, according to some Islamic narrations, the objective meaning of it is prophets and the Imams of right guidance

Commentary: verse ١٩

The spirit of religion is the very submission to Allah. Next to the statement of the Unity :of Allah, the Qur'ān refers to the oneness of religion, and says

"... ,Verily the (true) religion with Allah is Islam "

Thus, the true religion with Allah is surrender or the submission of the self of adherent to the Will or Command of Allah. The spirit of religion, in fact, in any time and period, is :not anything but submission to Divine Will

"...;and those whom (formerly) the Book had been given to did not differ..."

The objective purpose of the verse is the Jews and the Christians whose discord was .that they rejected Islam

"... ,but after the knowledge (of the truth) had come to them..."

When they comprehended that the religion of Islam was rightful, the followers of Jesus (a.s.) believed in trinity (the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost), and the Jews said: " Ezra is God's Son." Thus, both of them differed in the prophethood of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) although they had studied the epithets and specialities of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) in their Books (the Torah and the Evangel) and recognized them completely. They knew very well that Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) was the Messenger of .Allah and was His Apostle "... through envy of each other ..."

p: ١٠٨

This phrase means that their rejection and their discord were due to their envy and their seeking mastership, not for the reason that they were doubtful in the .rightfulness of Islam

"... ,And whoever disbelieves in Allah's Signs ..."

The purpose of ` Allah's Signs ' is the Qur'ān, the Torah , the Evangel, and whatever .qualities of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) were found in them

".then, verily Allah is quick in reckoning ..."

In the meantime that Allah is swift in calling to account, there is nothing of the deeds .of people concealed from Him

Commentary: verse ۲۰

So if they dispute with you, say: `I have submitted my self (totally) to Allah, and "
"... 'whoever follows me

The Lord, addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), has commanded him that if the Jews and the Christians disputed with him upon the religion, he would tell them that he had surrendered his self wholly to Allah, the One, and had taken no partner for Him with

.himself and had not worshipped another god with Him

The purpose is that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) tells them that his religion is theism, and this creed is the same principle that all the responsible persons are obliged to confess

"...And say to those who have been given the Book ..."

.These people are the people of the Book, i.e. the Jews and the Christians

Commentary: verses ٢١-٢٢

"... Verily, those who disbelieve in the Signs of Allah "

These people are the Jews, the people of the Book, the formers of whom slew both the prophets and their followers, those who were among the worshippers of the .Children of Israel

,The reason why, at the time of the revelation of the Qur'ān

Allah (s.w.t.) gave the Jews the glad tidings of punishment was that they were pleased and content with the deeds of their ancestors. Besides that, they tried to slay and were in thought of killing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) as well as the believers. If there were .not the support of Allah, they would accomplish their evil intention and slay the prophets unjustly and slay those, of people, who enjoin equity, give..."

Point

In the commentary books of both schools of Shī'ite and Sunnite, it is cited that: it happened that a woman and a man from the Jews committed adultery while they had spouses. As the Torah had ordained, they should be palted with stone, but since those two were among the notables, they tried to flee from the execution of the Torah's instruction. So, they came to the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) in order that he judeged. He (p.b.u.h.) also commanded to stoning, and said that the law of Islam in this regard is similar to that of the Torah. But they denied the Torah's ordain. Ibn-Sūriyā, who was one the Jewish scholars, was summoned from Fadak to Medina in order to recite the Torah concerning the matter. Since he was aware of the subject, when reciting the verses of the Torah, he put his hand on the phrases related to the subject of stoning
.so that the verse of stoning could not be seen

Abdillah-ibn-Salām, who was among the Jewish scholars at that time, was present in`
.that meeting. He recognized the situation and made the matter manifest

Explanations

The vain mottoes and wrong imaginations of the Jews have immensely been mentioned in the Qur'ān that they used to say some things with the sense that: " We are the exalted and beloved nation with Allah, and we will not be punished except for those forty days that our ancestors worshipped the calf ". This very sort of .imagination caused them their pride and deviation

The prophecy that Muslims to be victorious against Iran and Room

In some commentary books, such as Majma`-ul-Bayān and Tafsīr-ul-Kabīr by Fakhr-Rāzī, it is recorded that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), after conquering Mecca, prophesied for the Muslims to be victorious in the battles against Iran and Room. At that time some of the hypocrites looked at each other perhaps mockingly. Then this .verse was revealed

Some other commentators have reported that the revelation of the verse occurred at the time of digging a ditch, when the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) sharply struck with a pick on a stone and a few sparks appeared. Then, he (p.b.u.h.) said: " I received the conquest of the castles of Ctsiphon (an ancient city near Baghdad) and Yemen from Gabriel in these sparks." Hearing this, the hypocrite smiled mockingly and then this verse was .revealed

It is necessary to mention that whatever from endowment, honour, and abasement have been referred to in this verse from the side of Allah, are according to the law and .way of treatment of Allah

Otherwise, Allah does not give a person honour or does not abase

p: ١١٨

another one. For example, an Islamic narration says: " Whosoever humbles himself for Allah, He will make him honourable; and whosoever be arrogant, He will despise him." (1) Therefore, both honour and abasement belong to Allah, but paving their way .and preparing their causes depend to us

This verse refers to the powers and governments which have been brought into existence because of the competency of persons and attachment of people. The verse does not mean those oppressive governments and powers which have come into being by the application of force and terror, furnished by making collusion with .internal and external factors

:Explanations

The real possessor of all governments is Allah. The ownership of other than Allah is .1 .temporary and limited

Allah gives the government to the one who is eligible, as He gave it to Solomon, .2 .Joseph, Ṭālūl, and Zul-Qarnayn

Unity in supplication and worship is a necessity. In Munājāt-ush-Sha`bāniyyah, .3 .from the Immaculate Imams, we recite: " O' Lord, my immensity and my deficiency .4 .are in Your hand (up to YourWill), not in that of other than you." (4)

Now that He is the Possessor, then others are not any thingsbut dipositaries and .5 .should act according to the consent of the Essential Possessor

What He determines (for giving and taking) are all good, though we may not know .6 .its philosophy and judge hurriedly

Honour and abasement is up to the Lord, therefore, do not expect honour from .7 .others

The Qur'ān has criticized severely those who seek for honour from other than Allah .8 .and says: "... Do they seek honour from them?..." (5)

the spirit of theism

In this verse and the previous one the Power of Allah is mentioned for twelve times to evoke the spirit of theism in man. At first, the verse speaks about the decrease and increase of the length of the night and the day in different seasons. (It may, of course, .(refer to the graduality of sunset and sunrise, too, but the first meaning is more clear

Then, the verse points to the Power of the Providence, the Omnipotent, about bringing forth the living from the dead and vice versa. The example of this meaning is seen in the creation of living cells from lifeless foodstuff and making dead from the living creatures. In another point of view, it is recognized that He causes the pious believing children to come into being from deadly-hearted unbelievers; and He brings .the disbelieving deadly-hearted children into existence from the pious believing ones

:Explanation

.Besides creation, any modification and arrangement is due to His Wisdom .١

You cause the night to pass into the day and You cause the day to pass "

Commentary: verse ٢٨

In this holy verse, the feature of the foreign policy, encountering with the unbelievers and that assuming the mastership of disbelievers is on a par with losing the mastership of Allah, the necessary conditions of concealing of faith /taqiyyah/ and .prevention of abusing it, have been stated

:Explanations

١ .It is prohibited that the believers assume the mastership of disbelievers .

"The believers should not take the infidels as their friends, rather than the believers " ...

If the Muslims of the world had acted according to only this principle, the status of the .Islamic countries would not be in such a condition that it is now

٢ .Not only the acceptance of the mastership of disbelievers, but also being content .with infidelity and approving it, is unlawful for the believers

"... ,and whoever does that then nothing of Allah is his ..."

The apparent connexion with disbelievers for reaching some higher aims, in some .۳

Political relationship should not result in accepting domination of, or heartily .۴

"... ;except when you guard yourselves against them, guarding carefully ..."

Concealing of Faith is only for the sake of protection of religion. Beware not to be .۵

"... ;Allah warns you to be cautious of (disobeying) Him ..."

In circumstances that the basis of religion is in danger, everything must be devoted, .۶

Connection or disconnection ought to be performed on the basis of contemplation .۷

Next to the verse of concealment of Faith, the above mentioned holy verse, maybe, refers to the idea that Muslims should never communicate with disbelievers under the

:Explanation

This verse is a warning to those who try to communicate with the disbelievers under .١

Commentary: verse ۳۱

The verses under discussion, including the above verse, have been revealed about a group of the People of the Book, (the Christians from Najrān), who used to say: " We are the lovers of the Lord." Then Allah defines ` the followers of the Apostle of Allah ' :as the clear example of this love, and tells His Apostle Muhammad thus

" ... ,Say, ` If you love Allah, then follow me "

If you are true in what you claim that you love Allah then follow the Apostle of Allah. This act of following is the same as obeying Allah. It is in this case that, Allah loves you .and forgives your sins

Commentary: verse ۳۲

The love of Allah due to His servant is that He wills to reward the servant, while the love of a servant towards the Lord is that the one heartily wishes to obey Him and to serve Him, because love originate from one's intention. Then, to emphasize on this subject, the Qur'ān says

"... ! Say: ` Obey Allah and the Apostle "

The objective meaning of this sentence is as such: if you claim that you love Allah, then you should reveal the sign of your love by obeying and following Allah and His Messenger

But, if you disobey Him and His Apostle by rejecting the religion of Allah, the case is different

"... ,But if they turn back ..."

Then, Allah does not love disbelievers and, as a result of their infidelity, He will not give them any reward

".Then verily Allah does not love the disbelievers ..."

".of `Imrān above all people

"Some of them are offsprings of the others; and Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing " ۳۴

Commentary: verse ۳۳-۳۴

From this verse on, the explanation of the story of Mary and her forefathers begins. The purpose of `the family of Abraham' mentioned in this verse is Ismael and Issac and the offsprings of these two. The purpose of `family of `Imrān' is Moses and Aron, the sons of `Imrān-ibn-Yaṣḥar

Verily Allah chose Adam and Noah, and the progeny of Abraham and the progeny of " " `Imrān above all people

***

The term /ḍurriyah / (offspring) is another form used instead of `the family of Abraham and the family of `Imrān', and the phrase /ba`duhā min ba`din / (one of the other) means that the family of Abraham and the family of `Imrān are both progenies .from one origin separated from each other

"Some of them are offsprings of the others; and Allah is All-Hearing, All-Knowing "

In some commentary books,\(۱\) it is cited that `the family of

p: ۱۳۰

Abraham' is the same as ` the family of Muhammad ', Viz. Ahlul-Bayt, who, after Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), are the immaculate ones from Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali and Fatimat-uz-Zahrā (a.s.) up to Hadrat Mahdī (May Allah hasten his glad advent), and that Allah does not choose any one from amongst His servants unless the one be sinless, pure, and immaculate. Therefore, such special persons elected from the family of Abraham and the family of `Imrān have to be the ones who have been .sinless, whether they would have been choosen as prophets or as Imans

Commentary: verse ٣٥-٣٦

The spouse of `Imrān, son of Māthān, was Mary's mother and grand mother of Jesus (a.s.). Her name was Ḥannah. She had a sister by the name of 'Ishā` who was Zachariah's wife. Her father's name was Fāghūth. Thus, both Mary and Yahyā (John) .were cousins for each other

The term /muḥarrir/, mentioned in the verse, means `freed' for serving in Jerusalem .so that another person does not appoint her upon doing one's own affairs

" ... :Remember) when the wife of `Imran said) "

It is narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) who has said: " Allah revealed `Imrān that He would give him a son who could heal the blind and the leprous and raise the dead to life by Allah's leave, and He would make of him a prophet unto the Children of Israel.

﴿ `Imrān informed his wife of that matter.﴾

:So, when Ḥannah became pregnant with Mary, she said

My Lord! Verily I vowed to You what is within my womb to be (dedicated) for You `..."

"...;(for Your service) freed, therefore accept from me

Here, the phrase `accept from me ' means that, I ask You to accept my vow with

"... :So, when she delivered her, she said "

The spouse of `Imran wished to deliver a son, but when she delivered Mary she

:became ashamed and, with her head hung, bashfully said

"... , (My Lord! I have delivered a female (child `..."

Imrān's wife expressed this statement with sigh and regret, because she hoped to` deliver a son and hence she vowed to devote him for the service of the Lord in the .place of worship

"... ;and Allah knew best what she delivered and the male is not like the female ..."

And You know that, for the aim I have vowed, son and daughter are not alike. A female can not afford the duties concerned to a male as he is able to perform them.

:Therefore, to magnify her she-child, Allah, in reply to her, said

"... -and Allah knew best what she delivered ..."

This response means that the Lord is more cognizant than her to Mary and what is .concerned to her due to the important affairs that her mother dose not know

Bihar-ul-Anwār, vol. ۱۴, p. ۲۰۳۱ –۱

"... ,and I have named her Mary ..."

It is recognized from this sentence that naming Mary with this appellation was done by her mother at the time of delivery. By the way, it should be noted that the term Mary, in their lexicon, meant 'a saint worshipping lady'. So, this kind of naming had been a sign of ultimate love and affection of that pure mother for dedicating her dear child alongside the path of the servitude of Allah (s.w.t.). That is why, after performing this auspicious naming, she asked the Lord to protect this child and the progeny that would come into being from her thereafter from the temptations of Satan and to keep .them in His merciful shelter

In Kashshāf Commentary, (At-Tafsir-ul-Kashshāf), it is cited that during the time of famine and drought, one day the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) had become hungry. Then, Fātimah (a.s.) sent two loaves of bread and some meat as a present for him in order to make him happy and honour him. The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), carrying that present with him, came to Fātimah's house. When he entered the house, he said

" .My daughter! come to me "

When she came nigh to him, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) put the cover from over the tray aside. At that time, (those who were present there saw that) the tray was full of bread and meat. So, Fātimah was surprised when she saw them and comprehended that they had come down from the side of Allah Fātimah (a.s.), answered: " It is from Allah. He provides with sustenance for whomever He wills without measure

Then, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) said: " I praise Allah Who has set you (O' Fātimah! ) like the chief Lady of the women of Israelites (i.e. Mary

After that, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) called Hadrat Ali-ibn, Abī Tālib (a.s.), Imam Hassan (a.s.), Imam Husayn (a.s.) and all the members of his house to gather around that tray. Then, all of them ate from that food so that they satiated. Yet, there was still some considerable food remained in the tray, (so much so as if nothing had been consumed of it). So, Ḥadrat Fātimah (a.s.) distributed it among people living in her

Verily Allah gives you the glad tidings of Yahya (who comes) to confirm a Word from `Allah, and honourable and chaste, and a prophet from among the righteous

Commentary: verse ٣٨-٣٩

" ... ;It was then (that) Zakariya prayed to his Lord "

The first Qur'ānic word mentioned in the above verse is /hunālika/ which means: ` in that place '. It was the place at the sunctuary where Zachariah saw the position and honour of Mary with Allah and wished he had also a child from his wife, 'Īshā`, similar to the child of his sister, Ḥannah, although his wife was barren

"... ;he said: ` My Lord! grant me from You a good offspring ..."

.Zachariah prayed and asked his Lord to give him an auspicious, pious and sound child

".Verily You are the Hearer of all prayers ... "

****

Then the angels called unto him while he was standing praying in the " sanctuary: ` Verily Allah gives you the glad tidings of Yahya (who comes) to confirm a Word from Allah, and honourable and chaste, and a prophet from among the ".righteous

At that time, when Zachariah (a.s.) was standing praying in the sanctuary, some angels called him that Allah granted him the glad tidings of a son, Yaḥyā (John), in the case that he (John) would confirm the Word of Allah (Hadrat Masīḥ, Jesus), and would become a leader and honourable. He would be apart from low desires and a prophet from among the pious

Thus, not only Allah informed him the acceptance of his prayer by the angels, but also :stated five characteristics of the qualities of that pure child. They are as follows

Yaḥyā (John) acknowledged Jesus (a.s.) as a true prophet and he believed him. John .1 was six months older than Jesus (a.s.), and he confirmed his prophethood. He was the first certifier of him and testified that Jesus (a.s.) was the Word and the Spirit of Allah. This very fact was one of the miracles concerning Jesus (a.s.), as well as the most authoritative means of the advent and propagation of his auspicious prophethood, .because people did accept the statement of John due to his piety and truthfulness

By the way, in Arabic, the terms `Īsā and Yaḥyā nearly have a similar meaning. Both .of them mean `to live long

"... ,who comes) to confirm a Word from Allah) ..."

Yaḥyā (John) became the chief of his tribe and had preference over them from the .2 point of honesty, knowledge, worship, and good manner

"... ,honourable and chaste ..."

He restrained himself from the low desires, and also from following the violent filthy .3 passions, and mammonism

He would become an honest exalted prophet. It should also be noted that the .4 prophethood of John had been settled from his childhood. The reference for this meaning is Sura Maryam, No, ۱۹, verse ۱۳ which says: "... and we granted him wisdom

".while yet a child

That is, we gave him the rank of prophethood at the time of his childhood. In many Islamic traditions, the Imamate of Hadrat Imam

Jawād (a.s.), who became Imam when he was seven years old, as well as the Imamate of Hadrat Mahdi (may Allah hasten his glad advent), have been reasoned to John and Jesus (a.s.) who became prophets when they were in the course of their childhood.

"and a prophet from among the righteous ..."

.This prophet (John) was from amongst the righteous people .

Commentary: verse ٤٠

By hearing that glad tidings, Zachariah became very happy so that he could not :conceal his surprise because of such a subject that happened. Therefore

He said: ` My Lord! how can I have a son (born) while, indeed, old age has already "
" ... ' ? over taken me, and my wife is barren

.Zachariah was convinced

He said: ` The token for you (will be) that you can not speak unto human beings for
;three days except by signals and remember your Lord immensely and glorify (Him) in the evening and early

".morning

Commentary: verse ٤١

Here, Zachariah (a.s.) asked Allah (s.w.t.) for a token for that glad tidings he received, in order to make his heart completely certain. It was similar to the case that Abraham (a.s.) requested Allah (s.w.t.) to see the scene of resurrection to make his heart certain .more than before

"... ' He (Zakariya) said: ` My Lord! appoint a token for me "

In answer to him, Allah said that the token for him was that he could not speak to people for three days, except by signals, and his tongue, without having any disease :or natural disorder, would stop talking with men

He said: ` The token for you (will be) that you can not speak unto human beings for ..."
" ... ;three days except by signals

:Yet, to show his (Zachariah's) gratitude to that bounty, the verse says and remember your Lord immensely and glorify (Him) in the evening and early ..."

".morning

Thus, the Lord accepted the request of Zachariah. But his tongue could not move speaking with people for three days and nights without being involved by any natural cause. Yet, in the meanwhile, he was in a condition that he was still able to be busy murmuring the name of Allah. That wonderful state was a sign of Allah's power dominated

Commentary: verse ۴۲

It is cited in some commentary books such as: Al-Minār, Qurtubī, Marāqī, Rouhul-Bayān, and Fakhr-Rāzī that the preeminents of the women of the world were four persons: Mary, 'Āsiyah, Khadījah, and Fātimah (a.s.). Some Islamic literature, narrated from Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.), also denotes that Mary was the preeminent woman among the women of her time, while Fātimah (a.s.) is the preeminent throughout of the history. (۱) It should be noted, of course, that when Allah, the Wise, chooses a person as preeminent it is because of a special series of efficiencies and eligibilities that the one has. So, this preeminence of Mary over all women of the world was not but because of her piety and virtues. Yes, she had been chosen to give birth to a prophet such as (Jesus (a.s

:Explanations

۱. Angels may speak to human beings other than prophets, too .

۲. A woman can reach the rank of Divine sainthood so that Allah sends messages to .
her

۳. Mary was both chosen for virtues and became the preeminent of the women. That . is why the Arabic phrase /'iṣṭafāki/ (has chosen you) has been repeated twice in the .

Commentary: verse ٤٤

This verse points to another part of the story of Mary. It denotes that: O' Muhammad!
what Was expressed for you about the story of Mary and Zachariah is from among :the news of Unseen revealed to you

"... ;This is of the news of the Unseen which We revealed to you "

This is revealed to you because these stories in this form, which are proper and free from any superstition, and whose reference is merely heavenly revelation of the Qur'ān, are not found in any of the former revealed Books, those which have been
.distorted later

Then, it continues saying that when they throwing their pens into water to cast their lots in order to decide who should have the charge of Mary, you were not present therein with them. And also, when the scholars of the Israelite were quarrelling among themselves to obtain the honour of her guardianship, you were not with them.

.So, We informed you of all of them by means of revelation and you were not with them (to see) when they were quarrelling (among ..."

It is understood from this verse and the verses of Sura Aṣ-Ṣāfāt, No ۳۷, about Yunus (Jonah) that when a problem comes forth which is not soluble, or when there is an endless dispute with quarrelling that no way is found to put an end to it, and it is impossible to unite that knot, casting a lot can be applied

Commentary: verse ٤٥

In the Qur'ān, Jesus is nominated to /kalimah/ (word) which, in the Qur'ānic texts, has been used in the sense of a `creature'. One example is its application in Sura Al-Kahf, No. ١٨, Verse ١٠٩, where it says: "... the sea would surely be consumed before the words of my Lord are exhausted, ..." Here, `words' has been rendered into !`creatures

The commendation `held in honour in this world and the Hereafter' has been used in the Qur'ān only for Jesus (a.s.) and, thus, none else is qualified by it throughout the .Qur'ān

:Explanations

To speak as prediction in cradle is the miracle of Jesus. He spoke to people when he was in cradle. His speech, when he would become aged, was another prediction of Jesus which meant he would live to become grown up ".... ,And he will speak to the people in the cradle and in adulthood "

Explanations: verse ٤٦

The One who is able to bring a child for Mary without having a husband, can make a .١

Where Allah wills to protect a person from accusation and imputation, He makes the .٢

.He said: ` Even so Allah creates what He pleases

".' When he decrees a matter (to be), He only says to it ` BE!' and it is

Commentary: verse ٤٧

The Will of Allah is the cause of creation and he can create without any material means or material cause. Allah is the cause of all causes. Sometimes He takes the effect of a thing from it and sometimes gives a particular effect to a thing. The appearance of existence, the maintenance of existence, the effects of existence, and the quantity, the quality and the duration of the effects of all things depend on the Will and pleasure of Allah. The Qur'ān, in answer to the request of Zachariah, says: " Even so does Allah whatsoever He pleases." (١) While in answer to Mary it says: " Even so Allah creates what he pleases." The secret of this difference does creates in the statement may lie in this that a child coming forth from a lady without being touched with a spouse is more surprising than that an old man brings an offspring from his old wife

:Then, to complete this meaning, the Qur'ān says

".' When He decrees a matter (to be), He only says to it ` BE!' and it is..."

"And He will teach him the Book, and the wisdom, and the Torah and the Evangel " .٤٨

Commentary: verse ٤٨

In commentary books provided by both main Islamic schools of thought, it is cited that the purpose of the Qur'ānic phrase ` He will teach the Book ' is ` writing, and teaching how to write ' and the purpose of /ḥikmah/ (wisdom) is being conversant unto the merits, effects, goodnesses and evils of things, deeds morals and beliefs, whether .those things belong to this world or to the coming world

One of the principles and conditions of leadership is knowing the necessary things .١

;leave

.and I will inform you of what you eat and what you store up in your houses

". Verily in that is a sign for you if you (indeed) are believers

Commentary: verse ٤٩

Point

:This verse points to the miracles of Jesus (a.s.). At first it says

"... ,And (He will make Jesus) a Messenger to the Children of Israel "

:Then, the Qur'ān continues saying that he was commissioned to tell people

"... I have come to you with a sign from your Lord ..."

p: ١٥٢

:This sign was not only a single sign but it had also some numerous branches; thus I will make for you like the figure of a bird out of clay, then I will breathe into it, and ..."
" ... ;it shall become a bird by Allah's leave

Then, it refers to his second miracle and states about the treatment of refractory
:diseases in some ordinary ways. It says
" ...and I will (also) heal the blind and the leprous ..."

No doubt these subjects, specially for the physicians and scholars of that time, were
.some undeniable miracles

(The miracles of Jesus(a.s

:In the third stage, it points to another miracle, saying

" ... ;and will raise the dead to life by Allah's leave ... "

This phenomenon is something that is considered among miracles and extraordinary actions at any time or period. The writer of Majma` -ul-Bayān, the commentary, says that Jesus (a.s.) raised many dead persons to life. Among them, it happened that he saw a dead was being carried in a coffin on the shoulders of people. Jesus (a.s.) prayed for the dead one to bring him back to life again when the dead raised to life and came down from people's shoulder. Then he wore clothes and returned to his (home and, later, he got a son. (1

Another time Jesus (a.s.) raised a ten-year-old girl to life when it was one day after her death. She returned home and, after a length of time, she married and borne an
.offspring

These kind of miracles also occurred abundantly by, and at the time of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) and other Imams from Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.). For example, one day a man from Kufah, an ancient city in Mesopotamia,
:came to Hadrat Ridā in Khorāsān, located in the east of Iran, and said

O' progeny of the Messenger of Allah! the inhabitants of Kufah have seen many " miracles from your ancestor, Amir-ul- Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) and, now, I ask you to do a ".miracle so that I can take it as a present to the people of Kufah

Hadrat Ridā (a.s.), addressing the man, said: " What do you want

---

Majma` -ul-Bayān, vol. ۲, p. ۴۴۶ ۱ -۱

that I do ? " " My mother has died," the man said: " I ask you to invoke that Allah
".raises her to life

Imam Ridā told him: ' Return home and you will find your mother alive.'" When the man reached home in Kufah, he found his mother alive. He announced to people that the happening was the miracle of Imam Ridā. So, that woman lived for some years (after that and finally she died again. 1)

It is noteworthy that the reason that Jesus (a.s.) was given those kinds of miracle was that at his time the science of medicine had progressed vastly. So, Allah appointed his miracle of the same knowledge of that time so that Jesus (a.s.) could overcome the scientists and scholars of his time, expert in that field, in order that his prophethood
.be proved

The similar case happened for Moses, son of `Imrān (a.s.), when sorcery had gone to its climax and had spread very vastly. Allah gave him the miracle of Rod to nullify their
.magics, and made the sorcerers unable to bring something like that

The knowledge and art of the people at the time of our prophet, Muhammad Muṣṭafā (p.b.u.h.), was rhetorics and elegance. Therefore, Allah manifested the miracle of the Qur'ān to them: the surprising tone and the wonders of statements, and the marvellous style of the word of Allah, all of which made those people unable to bring
.the like of it

However, in the fourth stage, it refers to the hidden secrets of people. Usually everybody has some personal affairs in his / her life that are mysteries and others
:rarely know them, but Jesus (a.s.) said

" ... and I will inform you of what you eat and what you store up in your houses ... "

:At the end, the verse, referring to all of these four divine miracles, says

".Verily in that is a sign for you if you (indeed) are believers ..."

It is understood from the content of the above mentioned verse, as well as the similar verses of this sense in the Qur'ān, that the saints and Messengers of Allah can, by His leave, interfere in the world of nature and creation, when it is necessary. They can cause some incidents to happen which are extraordinary and different from the natural process of the current affairs. This matter is something higher than Mastership /wilāyah/ (in religion, i.e. guardianship over people), which, in Islamic literature, idiomatically is called: /wilāyat takwīnī/, i.e. ((genetic authority

Commentary: verse ٥٠

This verse is also the continuation of the expressions of Jesus (a.s.). In fact, he explains a part of the aims of his appointment to prophethood. It says

"...And (I come) conforming that which is before me of the Torah "

He said he also came to allow them to use some of the things which (because of transgression and sin) had become forbidden for them. (The things were such as the (meat of camel, some of animal fats, some birds, and some kinds of fish "... ;and to make lawful to you a part of that which has been forbidden unto you ..."

:Then, it adds

"... ;and I came unto you with a sign from your Lord ..."

Through Sura Al-'An`ām, No ٦, verse ١٤٦, Allah says: " And to those who were Jews We made unlawful every animal having claws, and of oxen and sheep We made unlawful to them the fat of both, except such as was on their backs or the entrails or "... :what was mixed with bones

صِرَاطٌ مُسْتَقِيمٌ

Verily Allah is my Lord and your Lord: therefore worship (only) Him; this is a " ٥١
".straight path

Commentary: verse ٥١

In this verse, the Qur'ān speaks from the tongue of Jesus (a.s.), and to remove any ambiguity or doubt and falsehood, and also in order that some people do not attach
:his exceptional birth as a means for his divinity, it says

Verily Allah is my Lord and your Lord: therefore worship (only) Him; this is a straight "
".path

Here, Jesus (a.s.) emphasizes that you must worship only Allah, (s.w.t.) neither me nor anything else. This is the way of monotheism, the straight path, not the path of .paganism nor the path of duality or polytheism

There are many other verses in the Qur'ān, too, wherein Jesus (a.s.) emphasizes on his worship and servitude before Allah. In spite of what is cited in the present perverted Evangelists from the tongue of Jesus (a.s.) that he often used the term ' Father ' about himself, the Qur'ān narrates the word /rabb/ (Lord) and the like of it from Jesus (a.s.) which itself is an evidence to his utmost attention toward the effort and strive against paganism, or against the claim of divinity of Jesus (a.s.). Hence, as long as Jesus (a.s.) was alive and was among people, no one dared to introduce him as one of gods. Besides that, as the Christian researchers have confessed, the subject of Trinity and belief in three gods (the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost) appeared
.from the third century A.D

Commentary: verse ٥٢

The Arabic term /ḥawariyūn/ (helpers) is the plural form of /ḥawārī/ in the sense of ` change of way '. The ` helpers ' on the way towards Allah were those who left the .deviated way of people and joined to the path of right

In Safīnat-ul-Biḥār, it is narrated from Imam Ridā (a.s.) who in this respect, said: " They were some people who purified and brightened themselves and tried to purify (others both." (١)

:It is cited in Al-Kāfī, narrated from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) who said

The helpers of Jesus left him when the stage of action came forth, but our helpers" (heartily accept kinds of calamities and do not abandon our obedience. ..." (٢)

As Moses (a.s.) prophesied, too, before coming Jesus (a.s.), the Jewish people were waiting for his advent, but when he appeared and the unlawful interest of a perverted group of Children of Israel were exposed to danger, only a small group followed Jesus
:(a.s.). The verse says

:And when Jesus perceived infidelity on their part, he said "

"... ' ?Who are going to be my helpers (on the way) towards Allah ` Here, only a small group responded this invitation positively. The Qur'ān refers to these people as /ḥawāriyūm/ (helpers, the special

:Explanations

١. The Will and device of Allah is above all kinds of effort and device that anybody may bring forth

Commentary: verse ۵۵

Jesus (a.s.) was never killed

This holy verse is again the continuation of the explanatory verses concerning the life of Jesus (a.s.). Basing on Sura Nisā', No. ۴, verse ۱۵۷, it is popularly assumed amongst the Islamic commentators that Jesus (a.s.) was never killed but Allah (s.w.t.) took him to heaven. The verse under discussion is something referring to the same meaning. It
:says

"...Remember) when Allah said: ` O' Jesus! I will take you and raise you up to Myself)"

:And, then it adds

"...and purify you of those who disbelieve ..."

The purpose of this purification is saving him from the grips of disbelieving filthy people; or saving him from unjust accusations and dastardly plots that ended in the .victory of his religion

:Then, it continues saying and place those who follow you above those who disbelieve until the Day of ..."

"... Judgement

This verse is one of the miraculous predictive verses of the Qur'ān which speaks of the hidden news when it says that the followers of Jesus (a.s.) will be always above
:the Jews who were opponent to Jesus. Then it adds then, unto me shall be your return and I shall judge between you as to that therein ... "

".you used to differ

That is, what was said about those victories are related to this world, while the final court and the ultimate Judgement over the deeds of people is something that will

This verse and the following one are addressed to the Christ (a.s.). It says: when people return to the Lord and He judges between them, the rows of people separate from each other. Then, this is the fate of those who recognized the right and rejected it

And as to those who disbelieve, I will chastise them with a severe chastisement in "
".this world and the Hereafter, and they will have no helpers

It is cited in Majma`-ul-Bayān that the chastisement of this world for them is that they become contemptible by being killed or captured, giving poll-tax, and whatever from despite and insolence come upon them. And the chastisement of the Hereafter \(is the blazing fire of Hell. \(1

Commentary: verse ٥٩

A group of Christian people entered in Medina and went to meet the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). They, talking with him, stated that the birth of Jesus (a.s.), without having a father, was a sign of, and an evident for, his divinity. Then the verse was revealed and answered them such that: if the fatherless creation is the evidence for Christ's divinity or being the Son of Allah, the creation of Adam is something more important than that, because Adam had neither father nor mother

So, why do you not consider Adam the Lord or Son of the Lord.? " The likeness of Jesus, with Allah, is as the likeness of Adam. He created him from dust then He said to him ` BE!' and he ` was

:Explanations

The opponents are usually invited to the right in the same way which they have .١ accepted. (The Christians have accepted that Adam (a.s.) is the creature of Allah (although he had no parents

Stating the events of history, explaining the past experiences and presenting the .٢ actual specimen are the best way of invitation

Commentary: verse ٦٠

The Arabic term /Mumtarīn / is derived from /miryah / which means `doubt, suspicion'. An expression rather similar to the words of this verse has also occurred in Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٤٧. By this verse, it makes clear that the right firm statement .and the fix real speech should come from the side of the Lord Who is right and fix

Otherwise, a fix rule and a steadfast proper speech cannot be expected from some human beings who, because of the storms of desires and instincts, are not often .steadfast

There is no rightfulness but in the path of Allah, the word of Allah, and the Law of .١

Commentary: verse ٦١

This holy verse, because of containing the phrase /nabtahel/ in its Arabic text, is known in Islamic literature as the verse of ` mutual cursing ', /mubāhilah/. The Arabic term /mubāhilah/ means: to leave the personal tendencies and attracting the attention towards invocation and supplication before Allah (s.w.t.) for asking curse and \(perdition unto the one who is not right. \(1\)

In commentary books from both Sunni and Shi` ah school of thought as well as in some books of tradition and history books, it is cited that in the tenth year A.H., from the side of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), some Muslims were commissioned to go to Najrān, a region in Yemen, in order to preach Islam. The Christian inhabitants of Najrān set out a religious mission from their side to attend Medina and discuss with the prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h).

After some debates and disputes between them and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), they felt hesitation and sought for pretexts. Then, this verse was revealed, stating

And whoever disputes with you concerning him, after what has come to you of " ,knowledge, say: ` Come! Let us call our sons and your sons our women and your women, and our selves and your selves, then let us invoke in ".earnest and lay the curse of Allah upon the liars

That is, any curse which would reach either of two parties showed that that party was .not right. Thus, the revelation of this verse put an end to that discussion thereby

As soon as the missionaries of the Christians of Najrān heard the suggestion of performing the mutual curse from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) looked at each other while they were surprised. They asked the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) for respite to contemplate and consult over the subject. Then, when they were dismissed from the presence of the Messenger of Allah, they began consulting with each other. The Chief Monk, the Leader of the selected holy group of the Christians told them that they could accept the suggestion. Then, if the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) came for cursing with ceremonies and followed by a large group of people, they would not be worried .about it and knew that nothing might happen

But, if they saw that he came to the spot with a few people, they would give up the act
.of /mubāhilah/ and compromise with him

On the day of cursing, they saw that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) entered the appointed spot followed by two boys, a young man and a lady. Those two boys were Hassan and Husayn, (a.s.) the young man was Ali-ibn-Abitālib (a.s.), and the lady was
.Fatimah (a.s.), the Prophet's daughter

:When the Chief Monk saw them, he exclaimed

By God! I see the faces that, if they pray to God for mountains to move from their "
".places, the mountains will immediately move

If they curse you, you will be wiped out of existence to the last day of the life of the "
".earth

Therefore, the Christians asked Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) to give up the idea of the agreed /mubāhilah/ (mutual cursing) and they announced they were ready for compromise. They offered to pay two thousand suits each of which cost, more or less,

... (at forty dirhams (drachma) every year (in addition to some other things

This event is cited in commentary books of both great sects of

p: ۱۷۰

According to some of the Islamic traditions, the day of Mubāhilah (mutual curse) was the twenty fourth or twenty fifth day of Zil-Hajj, and its place, at the time of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), was somewhere outside of Medina which has located inside the city now. At this place, there has been built a mosque by the name of Masjid-ul-'Ijābah which is about two kilo meters far from the Holy Tomb of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) in Masjid-un-Nabiy

Mutual curse ' /mubāhilah / was not confined to that time. Some of Islamic traditions ` indicate that every believer can apply it, too, if the one wishes. In Nūr-uth-Thaqalayn, vol. ١, p. ٣٥١ a tradition from Imam Sādiq (a.s.) is narrated upon this subject who has issued a few instructions about it

In Usūl-Kāfī, vol. ٢, section ` mutual curse ', there are also cited five traditions which denote that every believer can apply ` mutual curse' with the opponents, too, by improving oneself through observing the fast for three days. Its order is such that: at twilight he puts his right hand fingers in his opponent's fingers and recites the concerning special supplication

There may arise a question that when Fatimah (a.s.) was the only woman attended in that event, why does the Qur'ān has applied the plural form of the word; " nisā'anā " (our women) ? The answer is that there are some examples of this specimen in the Qurān where Allah refers to a single person in the form of plural, like Sura

The auther of Al-Mizan has cited in his commentary book, Al-Mizan, vol. ٣, P. ٢٥٧ ١ - ١ that this event has been reported similarly by ٥١ Companions of the Prophet. One, P. ١٨٥, and also in Rūh-ul-Bayān, Al-Minār, Commentary of Ibn-Kathir, and in many other Islamic sources, this event has been recorded and it has been confirmed that the Messenger of Allah, (p.b.u.h.) Ali-ibn-'Abitalib, Fatimah Zahrā, Hassan and Husayn

(a.s.) were the ones whose prayers were answered. This is a worthy document evidence for the greatness and magnificence of Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.). In Ihghāgh-ul-Hagh, vol. ۳, p. ۴۹ the names of ۶۸ respected people from the Sunnis school of thought are mentioned who all said this verse is on the greatness of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and (his Ahlul-Bayt (a.s

Commentary: verse ٦٢

Next to the explanation of the life of Jesus (a.s.), in this verse, as an emphatic statement, it says that these explanations are the real story of Jesus (a.s.). They are :not some false claims such as the divinity of Christ or that he is the son of God

" ... ,Verily this is the true explanation "

Neither the claimants of his divinity nor those who called him the son of God were right. The right is that which Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) brought forth and he (p.b.u.h.) said that he (Christ) (a.s.) was a mortal creature and a prophet of Allah who, by a divine .miracle, was borne from an immaculate mother without having a father

Commentary: verse ٦٤

.An Invitation to Unification

In the former verses, the direction of invitation was towards Islam with its all specialities. But, in this verse, the aim is an invitation to the common points between Islam and other creeds of the People of the Book. It addresses the Prophet (p.b.u.h.)
:and states

Say: ` O' People of the Book! come to a ward common between us and you, that we "

Ha, you are those who disputed about that of which you had knowledge; why " .٦٦ then do you dispute about that of which you have no knowledge ? Surely Allah knows, ".and you know not

Commentary: verse ٦٦

This verse is both a reminder and a warning to the People of the Book. It tells them that they raised objections and asked some inappropriate questions upon what they knew. For instance at that time, they observed the natural life of Jesus (a.s.) with their own eyes, and saw his material needs: his need to food, his need to clothing, and his .need to residence, yet they disputed about him

Some of them called him (a.s.) a liar and some others considered him Son of God! Or, they disputed about Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) whose tokens were clearly cited in the Torah and Evangel and they were known to them. 1

When you can not find a definite point and dispute upon what you know, why do you refer to a phenomenon that you have not knowledge about it and, for example, you ? (.seek for the religion of Abraham (a.s

Ha, you are those who disputed about that of which you had knowledge; why then " "... ? do you dispute about that of which you have no knowledge

٧٦ مَا كَانَ إِعْرُ هِيمٌ يَهُودِيًّا وَلَا نَصْرَانِيًّا وَلَكِنْ كَانَ حَنِيفًا مُسْلِمًا

Abraham was neither (a) Jew nor (a) Christian but he was an upright Muslim, and " .٦٧
".he was not (one) of polytheists

Commentary: verse ٦٧

The Arabic term /ḥanafa/ means: ` tending to the Truth ', while its opposite Arabic
? term is /janafa/ which means: ` deviation or swerving to falsehood

The term / ḥanīf / is applied for a person who is on the path of Truth. But this very word was one of the perverted words which the idolators used to employ about themselves. Therefore, the pagans were also called /ḥunafā/ which is the plural form .of this word

With the occurrence of the term /musliman/ ` a muslim' in this verse and beside the term /ḥanīfan/, the Qur'ān has purified both Abraham, from the dirt of polytheism, and
.this holy word from the misusers

Abraham was neither (a) Jew nor (a) Christian but he was an upright Muslim, and he "
".was not (one) of polytheists

Commentary: verse ٦٨

It is realized from this verse that the theological relationships are higher and fixer than the family relationships. Those who have the same belief, the same line, and the same goal, are closer to each other than those who are apparently relatives but are .aloof from each other from the point of idea and belief

An evidence for this meaning is found in the tradition of Imam Sādiq (a.s.) who in a statement told `Umar-ibn-Yazīd: " By Allah! You are from among the family of Muhammad \(p.b.u.h.\)", and then he (a.s.) recited the above verse. \(١\)

:Explanations

The essential relationship between people and their leader is a theological . ١
.relationship. It is not a tribal or linguiform, or regional, or racial relationship

The standard of being nigh to the Prophets, in general, is the obedience that one . ٢
.proves of them

The Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and Muslims are alongside the same line with . ٣
.Abraham (a.s.) and they have the same purpose and the same aim

٦٩. "A group among the people of the Book desire to make you go astray, while they " .
.make not astray but themselves, and they are not aware

Commentary: verse ٦٩

The Arabic term /tā'ifah/ is derived from /tawāf/ and is applied for a group or a community who, in order to be safe from the danger of savage animals and robbers, .decamp tribally both in summer and in winter to continue their lives

The feature of cultural attack and ideological plots are dealt with in this verse and the following three verses. In this verse, it informs of ideological grudges. In the next verse the Qurān informs of obtinacy and infidelity. The seventy first verse of the current sura speaks about the style of neglecting aright, overlooking justice, and .intentional concealment

Verse seventy second informs of a technical cultural attack arised from inner denial and objecting the existence of weakness and instability among some groups of .people

:Explanations

١ - Knowing the enemy and his wants is necessary for being safe from the probable .harms

٢ - Those who try to pervert others may commit the sin of deceit, hypocrisy, rancour .accusation, and plot

" .While they make not astray but themselves, and they are not aware ... "

٣ - One of the aims of the enemies of Islam is planning for the creation of moral and

.ideological deviation amongst Muslims

.In Judgements, do not forget justice and equity –۴

"... ,A group among the people of the Book desire to make you go astray "

O' People of the Book! Why do you disbelieve in the Signs of Allah while you bear " .٧٠

Commentary: verse ٧٠

This verse, maybe, hints to the glad news that the people of the Book had studied in the Torah and the Evangel about Hadrat Muhammad (p.b.u.h.). They did know the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) as they knew their own children. But, they denied all those divine tokens in order to keep their social situation and protect their material :interests. So, the Qur'ān says

O' People of the Book! Why do you disbelieve in the Signs of Allah while you bear "

Commentary: verse ٧١

Many of the distorters, under the name of Islamicists, orientalist, historians, and tourists, interfered in books, places, times, and human beings and distorted them. Commentary: verse ۷۲

Point

.In the explanation of the occasion of revelation of this verse, it is said as follows

Once at the time of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), twelve scholars from Jewish people, in order to create a state of agitation and doubtfulness among the Muslim believers, decided to come to meet Prophet Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) in the morning and express their belief in Islam, but on the same day in the evening they would turn their backs to Islam and say that they met Muhammad (p.b.u.h.) but he was not the same as the Torah and .Evangel had explained

By this skilful plan, they wanted to show off the common people that if Islam were a good creed and the former religions confirmed it, the scholars of the People of the Book would not desist from it. Applying this manner, they could create both doubtfulness among Muslims and prevent other Jews to embrace Islam. But, by :revealing this verse, the Lord made their plan manifest to all, saying

And a group of the People of the Book said: ` Believe in what has been sent down to " those who believe, at the opening of the day, and disbelieve at the end of it, perhaps

".(by this device) they return (from Islam

It is possible that sometimes some individuals penetrate into the lines of Muslims .١

.Muslims must not be simple-minded and credulous .٢

We must set our faith so firm that the return of several individuals does not affect .٣

Commentary: verse ۷۳

The People of the Book had some recommendations to enjoin each other. Their first
:recommendation was

"... And do not believe save in one who follows your religion "

:The Divine revelation tells the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) that in answer to them

"... say: " Verily the true guidance is Allah's guidance ..."

That is, the true guidance is not confined to your religion, therefore, your prejudice is
.in vain

:Their second recommendation was that: never believe "...;that a person may be given the like of what you have been given ..."

.Hence, the prophethood must be in the Children of Israel, not amongst Arab

"...! or they would dispute with you in the presence of your Lord ..."

.So, you have the best logic and never believe that it be with others

:Then, the Lord addresses the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) thus

p: ۱۸۸

"... ,Say: ` Verily grace is in the hand of Allah, He endows it with whom He pleases "

.And it is not confined to any race or a particular sect

".'and Allah is All-Embracing, All-knowing ..."

:Explanations

.In their plots, the enemies of Islam recommend to concealment .۱

.They also have no trust to any one other than themselves

To consider that Allah endows His grace and mercy to no sect like that which He gave to the Jewish sect, is not more than a mere imagination. ### Commentary: verse ٧٧

Allah threatens, of course, those who breach their promise to following five kinds of .divine wrath and deprivation from the grace of Allah

١ .The lack of any merit in the Hereafter

٢ .The deprivation from the speech of Allah

٣ .The deprivation from the grace of Allah

٤ .The deprivation of purity from sin

٥ .To be involved in the painful punishment of Allah

Verily those who sell Allah's covenant, and their oaths, for a little price, these! there " will be no share for them in the Hereafter, and Allah will not speak to them, nor will He look towards them on the Day of Resurrection, nor will He make them grow (by "purifying of sin), and they will have a painful chastisement

:Occasion of Revelation

This verse was also revealed about a group of the Jewish scholars who used to write with their own hands some things against what was found in the Torah about the characteristics of the Messenger of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and said that it was from the Lord. .They perverted the facts of the Torah with their speech

Commentary: verse ٧٨

In this verse, again, the words are about some other wrong actions of a group of :scholars of the People of the Book. It says

And verily among them is a group who twist their tongues with the Book that you " ;may suppose it to be from the Book, but it is not from the Book

They did not suffice to that action either, but they explicitly said that it was from the :side of the Lord

" ...;and they say: `It is from Allah', while it is not from Allah ... "

Then, the Qur'ān emphasizes that this action was not done because of their mistake,
.but they knowingly told a lie about Allah

"(and they speak falsehood against Allah and they know (it ..."

By the way, from this verse and its previous verses, the great danger of the deluded
.scholars for a community and a nation is made clear

:and prophethood, then he should say to people

: (Be my servants rather than Allah's ' ; but rather, (he would say ` ".(yourselves

:Occasion of Revelation

Upon the occasion of the revelation of this verse and the following one, it is cited that once a person came to the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) and said that people greeted him (p.b.u.h.) as they did unto others, while they thought that kind of ordinary greeting .was not enough for them to respect him

The man asked the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to allow people honour him (p.b.u.h.) somehow .privileged, and, for example, prostrate before him

The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said that prostration was not authorized before anybody other than Allah. So, they would respect their prophet only as a human being, but they ought .to know his due and follow him

Commentary: verse ٧٩

Explanation: Nullification of the thoughts of the people of the book

This verse continues stating to nullify and improve the vain thoughts of a group of the People of the Book. It specially reminds the Christians that never Jesus (a.s.) claimed divinity. It also clearly responds the request of those who wanted to repeat those kind :of claims about the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). It says ,It is not for a human being that Allah should give him the Book "

p: ١٩٦

:the judgement and prophethood, then he should say to people

"... ;' Be my servants rather than Allah's`

Neither the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) nor either of other prophets is rightful to say such a statement. Therefore, the qualities of this kind attributed to prophets were totally made and finished by some unaware persons who had been far from the .prophets' trainings

:Then, it adds

but rather, (he would say): ` Be godly because of your constant teaching the Book ..."
".(and your constant studying (it yourselves

Yes, the Messengers of Allah never exceeded the limits of servitude and worship and .they were always humble before Allah more than that others were

It is understood from the aforementioned sentence that the aims of prophets were not only to educate individuals but also to train some godly, virtuous and learned scholars among the societies who could enlighten their environments with their .knowledge

٨٠ وَلَا يَأْمُرُكُمْ أَنْ تَتَّخِذُوا الْمَلَائِكَةَ وَالنَّبِيِّينَ أَرْبَابًا أَيَأْمُرُكُمْ بِالْكَفْرِ بَعْدَ إِذْ أَنْتُمْ مُسْلِمُونَ

And neither would he enjoin you that you should take the angels and the " ٨٠ prophets for lords. What! Would he enjoin you with infidelity after you have been " ? Muslims

Commentary: verse ٨٠

This verse is a complementary meaning to what was said in the previous verse. It indicates that prophets did not invite people to their worship, nor invited them to :worship angels nor other prophets. It says

And neither would he enjoin you that you should take the angels and the prophets " "...for lords

This sentence, on one side, is a reply to the Arab pagans who considered the angels as the daughters of God and believed a kind of divinity for them, while they introduced themselves among the followers of the religion of Abraham

On the other side, it is a respond to Sabians who counted themselves the followers of John, but promoted the rank of the angels to the extent of worship

It is also an answer to the Jews and the Christians who introduced Ezra and Jesus the son of God

:And, at the end of the verse, the Qur'ān says

" ? What! Would he enjoin you with infidelity after you have been Muslims ..."

That is, how is it possible that there comes a prophet and begins inviting people to ? Faith and monotheism, but afterward he leads them to the path of polytheism

By the way, the verse implies the immaculateness of prophets and that they did not .swerve from the path towards the obedience of Allah

Commentary: verse ٨١

!The Holy Pledge

Following the previous verses that denoted to the existence of the clear tokens of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) in the Books of the former prophets, this verse points to a :general principal concerning the subject. It says

And (remember) when Allah took the pledge of the prophets (saying): ` Since I have " given you of Book and wisdom then there comes to you a Messenger, confirming that "...! which is with you, you must believe in him, and you must help him

In the verses of the Qur'ān the unity of the Messengers of Allah repeatedly have been .pointed out; and this verse is one of its clear examples

He said: ` Do you affirm and accept My compact in this (matter) ? ' They said: ` We ..." :affirm ', He said

"Then whoever turns back after that, these are they that are the transgressors " ٨٢

Commentary:privilege٨٢

In this verse, the Qur'ān threateningly reproaches the breachers of promise and says that, after these firm pledges and emphasized promises, if any one disobeys and turns one's back to a godly prophet, like the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), the glad tidings of whose advent accompanied with his specialities have been mentioned in the former Divine Books, and does not believe, the one is a transgressor, ie. out of the .(circle of the obedience of Allah (s.w.t

Then whoever then turns back after that, these are they that are the "

All the creatures existing in the skies and the earth submit to Allah

All people should submit to Him, too. If some people hide this submission in the ordinary conditions, when they confront with a serious danger, they helplessly turn their hearts to Him

Some people willingly submit to Him in the ordinary situations, while the totality of people have to submit at the case they feel danger

Commentary: verse ٨٤

Similar to Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٣٤, that Allah took pledge from the former prophets to believe in their following prophet, and to introduce him and help him, this ,verse denotes that the following prophet

:too, believes in all the former Divine Books recidivously. It says

,Say: ` We believe in Allah and in what has been sent down to us " and what was sent down to Abraham and, Ishmael, Isaac, Jacob and the Tribes, and .in what was given to Moses and Jesus and to the prophets from their Lord

:Explanations

.We should not ignore the services of others .۱

.All prophets had the same aim .۲

Religion and the guidance of Allah have been accompanied with the life of man all .۳ the times. Prophets are like the teachers of different classes who, as links of a chain,

In the previous verses, the feature of leadership and the theology of Islam was

All the former prophets have been taken pledge to believe in their following . ١
.prophet

The whole existing world submits to Allah, and no religion can be accepted except . ٢
.the religion of Allah

.The followers of Islam believe in all prophets of Allah and the Divine Books . ٣

This is the feature of the religion of Islam and its convictions. Now, the Qur'ān

How shall Allah guide a people who have disbelieved after their belief and (after) " ٨٦
? bearing witness that the Messenger is true, and clear proofs had come unto them

" .And Allah guides not the unjust people

Occasion of Revelation

At the advent of Islam, one of the Helpers (the Muslims in Medina) murdered a sinless person. Being afraid of the punishment, he apostatized and escaped to Mecca, while eleven persons of his companions, who had embraced Islam, apostatized, too. When he arrived in Mecca, he repented of his action seriously. Then, he sent one of his relatives to Medina to ask the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) whether there was any way for him to .return

The verse was revealed and announced the acceptance of his repentance under .some special conditions

Commentary: verse ٨٦

In the former verses, the speech was about the religion of Islam as a godly acceptable religion. Here, the verse speaks about the persons who have accepted Islam and, afterward they have returned from it. These persons are called .!` apostates

:It says

How shall Allah guide a people who have disbelieved after their belief and (after) " bearing witness that the Messenger is true, and clear proofs had come unto them ?

" .And Allah guides not the unjust people

.Why does Allah not guide such people ? The reason of it is evident They have known the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) through many clear signs and

p: ۲۰۵

.tokens and, thereafter, they have testified to his prophethood

Therefore, by returning from Islam to infidelity, they are, indeed, unjust and transgressive. So, the one who intentionally transgresses is not eligible for the guidance of Allah. Such a person has spoilt the aspects of guidance in his self

As for) those, their recompense is that upon them is the curse of Allah, the angels) " ٨٧
".and mankind altogether

Commentary: verse ٨٧

In this verse, the retribution of such people, who after knowing the Truth return from it, is stated. Now, it indicates that this retribution is the curse of Allah and of the angels
.and of the people altogether

As for) those, their recompense is that upon them is the curse of Allah, the angels) "
".and mankind altogether

The Arabic term /la`n / (curse) means to reject and to desert because of wrath or hatred. Thus, the curse of the Lord is the very deserting some one from His grace. And, the curse of angels and people, is either their spiritual wrath and abhorrence, or
.a calling on God to deprive a person from His Mercy

These people, in fact, have sunk in corruption and sin, so that they are abhorred by all
.intelligent figures of the world, irrespective of human beings and angels

".respited

Commentary: verse ۸۸

In this verse, it is added that: not only they are involved in the general curse of all but also they will remain in it forever. In fact, they are similar to Satan who was involved in .eternal curse

Surely, the result of it is that such group of infidels will abide in a painful unreducible .chastisement forever, while they will not be respited, either

They will abide therein. Their chastisement will not be lightened, nor will they be "

Commentary: verse ٨٩

This verse opens the way of returning to such people to pave it if they wish. It lets them repent, because the aim of the Qur'ān, thoroughly, is improvement and training.
:It says

Except those who repent after that and amend, then verily Allah is Forgiving, "

It is understood from this meaning that corruption creates loss in one's Faith so that the one, after repenting, should renew his Faith in a manner that this defect be wiped Verily those who disbelieve after their belief, then increase in infidelity; their " ٩٠ .

"repentance will never be accepted; and these are they who are astray

:Occasion of Revelation

Some commentators have said that this verse was revealed about a group of the People of the Book who had believed in the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) before his .advent, but when he was appointed to prophethood they disbelieved in him

Commentary: verse ٩٠

A Vain Repentance

In the previous verse, the statement was about those who regreted from their ,deviated path sincerely and repented truly and, consequently their repentance was accepted. But, in this verse, the speech is about those whose :repentance is not accepted. It says

,Verily those who disbelieve after their belief "

;then increase in infidelity

"their repentance will never be accepted; and these are they who are astray

The repentance of these people is extrinsic, because when they see the triumph of the advocates of Truth, helplessly express their apparent regretfulness and .repentance. Thus, it is natural that such a repentance can not be accepted

أُولَئِكَ لَهُمْ عَذَابٌ أَلِيمٌ وَمَا لَهُمْ مِنْ نَاصِرِينَ

Verily those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, there will never " ٩١ be accepted from any one of them the whole earth full of gold, if he should offer it in ransom. These are they who will have a painful punishment and they will have no "helpers

Commentary: verse ٩١

Following to the statement of the invalid repentances hinted out in the previous verse, :here, in this verse, the words are about the invalidity of some ransoms, where it says

Verily those who disbelieve and die while they are disbelievers, there will never be " accepted from any one of them the whole earth full of gold, if he should offer it in " ... ,ransom

.It is clear that infidelity wastes all the good deeds that a person does

If the one could fill the earth with gold and gave all of them as charity in the way of Allah, it would not be accepted from him. And, the case, of course, will certainly be the .same in the Hereafter

:At the end of the verse, the Holy Qur'ān refers to another point, saying

" .these are they who will have a painful punishment and they will have no helpers..."

That is, on the Day of Judgement, not only ransom or charity will have no advantage for them, but also the intercession of the intercessors does not extend over them. It is because intercession has some conditions among which is having belief in Allah.

.Besides that, in principal, intercession is done by the leave of Allah righteousness and its branches

:In this verse, the Qur'ān points to one of the signs of Faith in a believer. It says

"...;You will never attain righteousness unless you spend out of what you love "

The Arabic Term /birr/ has a vast meaning which covers all good deeds irrespective of belief and pious deeds. As it is understood from Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٧٧, belief in Allah, belief in the Resurrection Day, belief in prophets, helping the indigent, prayer and fasting, to fulfil the promise, and to be steadfast in confronting with problems and adventures, all in all, are counted the branches of righteousness

.Therefore, to attain the rank of righteousness needs many qualities

One of those qualities is spending out from the possessions that are loved by that person. This kind of giving charity is a standard for measuring the Faith and personality of the person

:To attract the attention of the givers of charity, at the end of the verse, it says

".and whatever thing you spend, surely Allah is well aware of it ... "

Abū-Ṭalḥah Anṣārī had the largest number of date trees in Medina when his garden .1 was his most beloved thing for him. This garden was located in front of the Prophet's Mosque wherein there was a spring with wholesome water. Sometimes the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) entered that garden and drunk water from the spring. The garden was so beautiful and splendid with a great income that people commonly spoke well of it. When the above verse was sent down, Abū-Ṭalḥah went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and said: " The most beloved things with me is this garden. I want to give it in charity in the .way of Allah

The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " Well done! this is a wealth which will be of profit for .you

Then the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) continued saying: " We have accepted it from you but we return it back to you in order that you give it to your own relatives as alms.

﴿ He accepted it and divided the garden among them willingly. ﴾

When Hadrat Fātimah Zahrā (a.s.) was going to go to her husband's house at her .2 wedding night, a beggar asked her for a worn out dress. She (a.s.), remembering the (above verse, gave in charity the same new dress which was for her wedding. ﴿

The guest replied that he found the best camel, but he thought of the future day he would need it. Abdullah said: " Why did you donate (the whole your food) to this dog ? " The slave`

Commentary: verse ٩٣

It is cited in some commentary books that the Children of Israel raised objections to the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) that if his teachings were adopted to the teachings of the former prophets, such as Abraham, Moses, and Issac (a.s.), why he (p.b.u.h.) did .not decree meat and milk of camel unlawful

In answer to them, this verse was revealed saying that all kinds of food were lawful to the Israelites, but it was the Israel himself that made some of foods unlawful for .himself

Every food was lawful to the Children of Israel except what Israel (Jacob) had "
.forbidden to himself before the Torah was sent down

".'Say: ` Bring you hither then the Torah and read it, if you are truthful

The reason for this treatment, as it has been mentioned in some authentic commentary books, is that whenever Israel consumed these kinds of food (meat of camel, for example), they were harmful for him and caused him to be physically unhealthy. Therefore, he avoided eating those sorts of food but the children of Israel (thought that it was an eternal canonical prohibition. (1

The Arabic term /ta`ām/ `food' is applied for something which is

In Tafsir Nimunah, vol. ٣, p. ٤, it is cited that eating meat of camel caused his sciatic nerve to be moved and pain appeared in his feet

.' released from ', therefore /ta`ām-i-ḥalāl / is stated for ` the lawful edible things

The address, in this verse, is to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), denoting that Allah is true and those false things had never been in the pure religion of Abraham (a.s.). Therefore, follow the religion of Abraham (a.s.) who was upright in faith and was not one of those who associate partners to Allah

:It says

Say: Allah has spoken the Truth, therefore follow the creed of Abraham, the upright " (in faith) and he was not (one) of the polytheists

That is, now that you see I am truthful in my invitation, then follow my religion which is the same as the pure religion of Abraham, the upright

He was never one of the polytheists. So, this idea that pagans of Arab consider themselves as the followers of his creed is completely meaningless

Verily the first House (of worship) set up for mankind is the one at Bakkā (Mecca), " ٩٦ .
".blessed and a guidance for the worlds

Commentary: verse ٩٦

One of the objections of the Children of Israel was that they said why Muslims had taken the Ka`bah as their Qiblah instead of Jerusalem which has been built ١٥٠٠ years Before Christ by Solomon. This verse is an answer to them that the Ka`bah has existed from the beginning day and it is the first House, viz, its ancientness and its .date is further than any other places of worship

By the way, it is cited in Tafsīr-ALMīzān (vol. ٣, p. ٥٨٣, Persian version) that there are many traditions upon the expansion of the earth /dahw-ul-`ard/ (١) while there is no .scientific reason to oppose it and it does not differ from the verses of the Qur'ān

In Nahjul-Balāqah, sermon ١٩٢, Imam Amīr-ul Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) says: "... Allah, the Glorified, has tried all the people among those who came before, beginning with (Adam, upto the last ones in this world with stones (of Ka`bah)... " (٢)

It is understood from this statement that the Ka`bah has existed from the time of .Adam (a.s.) and its background is further than any other worshipping place

In the Qur'ān and the traditions of Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.), the Ka`bah has been referred to :with different terms. Some of them are as follows

١. The Ka`bah is the first House: Sura 'Āl-i-`Imrān, No. ٣, verse ٩٦

٢. Ka`bah, a maintenance for the people: Sura Al-Mā'idah, No ٥, verse ٩٧

.beneath the Ka'bah
Nahjul-Balāqah, sermon ۱۹۲ ۲ -۲

.The Ka` bah, the ancient (free) House: Sura Al-Hajj, No. ٢٢, verse ٢٩ .٣

The Ka` bah, the House, a resort and a secure sanctuary for the people: Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٢٥ .٤

.The Ka` bah is a sign of Islam: Nahjul-Balāqah .٥

:Explanations

Ka` bah is the secret of the guidance of people, an inclusive guidance for all, since it .١
is the Qiblah of all. It is similar to the Holy Qur'ān and the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.)
.that have been revealed and who have been appointed for all human kind

When Allah wills, the stones of Ka` bah will be blessed and will guide human beings. .٢
Besides that, looking at Ka` bah is counted worship, and, by His command, Abraham
.and Ishmael (a.s.) become its particular servants

The Qur'ān, the Messenger and the Ka` bah are independent for they are specific to .٣ Allah. Neither is the Qurān made up and finished by any individual, nor the Prophet
.pays the allegiance of any one, nor the Ka` bah belongs to a particular person

.Ka` bah is the first point in the earth .٤

.Ka` bah is the first House built for the worship of people .٥

The goodness and blessings of Ka` bah are not only for the believers, but they are .٦
.for all

Verily the first House (of worship) set up for mankind is the one at Bakkā (Mecca), "
" .blessed and a guidance for the worlds and pilgrimage to the House is a duty upon mankind for Allah, who can afford the journey to it; and anyone who disbelieves, then verily Allah is Self-sufficiently ".independent of the worlds

Commentary: verse ٩٧

An exhibition of Allah's power and signs

Mecca and Ka`bah is an exhibition of Allah's power and signs. Its history is full of memories and incidents, so that contemplating on them can be giving a lesson and serving as an admonition. In its structure, Abraham works as a builder and Ishmael as a worker. The forces of 'Abraha equipped with elephants, do not succeed to ruin it and are abolished by birds of Abābeel. At the time of Hadrat Ali's birth (a.s.), its wall opens for her mother and lets her enter inside to bring a child who, not very late in future, takes the idols of the Ka`bah down. Balāl, an Abyssinian negro slave, in front of the astonished eyes of the nobles of Mecca, stands upon it and shouts the prayer call. And, finally, there will come a day when the Witness of Allah leans against its wall and .announces the delivery of human kind and invites the people of the world to Islam

Yes, Mecca is a Divine safe city where any one enters into is in peace. When a person arrives inside the sacred Mosque, even the person is a murderer, no one can molest him. The only action that can be done against him is to straiten the circumstances for .him so that the person himself be forced to come out

The Station of Abraham is located beside the Ka`bah. According to

p: ۲۲۲

the Islamic literature, the Station of Abraham is the same stone that was under the feet of Abraham (a.s.) when he was building the Ka`bah and promoting its walls, on which the trace of his foot has remained. This stone with its foot trace, which has existed from centuries before Christ (a.s.) and Moses (a.s.), and with all those changes that happened to Ka`bah and its surroundings as a result of invasions, floods, and .destructions, is one of the signs of the Power of Allah

Hajj, the meaning of

Allah (s.w.t.) calls people to pilgrimage. The Arabic term `Hajj' means: `intention accompanied with movement', while the Arabic word /mahajjah/, from the same root, .is called to a straight way which leads a person to the destination

This word, in Islamic terminology, is applied for the intention of going to the sacred .House and performing its concerning rites

Yes, Ka`bah is the site of manifestation of the signs and Power of Allah, where the monotheists, the lovers of divine Unity, gather together after passing from hard high .mountains and dry, plantless deserts in order to say /labbayk

:Explanations

In the Sacred House, there are many clear signs: (the sign of holiness and . spirituality, the sign of spiritual trance which recalls the divine memories of all prophets, from Adam (a.s.) upon the last prophet, Muhammad Mustafa (p.b.u.h.), and that it had been the place where prophets circumambulated, and the direction of all " (... .prayers that pray toward it

It is of the privileges of Islam that it has assigned a region of the earth as a safe . region where all the oppressed of the world can announce their call

" ...;And whoever enters it is secure ..."

Responsibility and doing duty is decreed upon a person as much as the capability of .۳ the person allows, (whether from the point of financial ability or physical ability or .security), and capability is the proper condition of Hajj

p: ۲۲۳

and pilgrimage to the House is a duty upon mankind for Allah, who can afford the ..."
"... ;journey to it

.Denial of Hajj and its abandonment is infidelity .۴

"...,and anyone who disbelieves ..."

It is cited in the book entitled: ` Man Lāyahduruhul-Faghīh', vol. ۴, p. ۳۶۸ that once the :(Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) told Hadrat Ali (a.s

".The abandoner of Hajj is infidel when he is capable "

And whoever delay it a day after another until the one dies, it is as if he has died like a
.Jew or a Christian

Going to pilgrimage is an acceptance and answering to the invitation of Abraham .۵ (a.s.), since it was the command of Allah to him to follow: " And proclaim among people the pilgrimage." (۱) The first rite of the pilgrimage of the Sacred House is the change .of clothing accompanied with saying ` Labbayk ', which means: O' Lord! I came

The result of performing the commands of Allah will surely return to the person .۶
.himself, else Allah does not need any thing

".then verily Allah is Self-sufficiently independent of the worlds ..."

This verse is the only verse in which the obligatoriness of Hajj pilgrimage for those .۷ who are capable is stated. It means that whoever has physical and financial capacity, it is necessary for the one to perform Hajj pilgrimage. The rest of the ordinances of pilgrimage are stated in the books of sacred rites of the pilgrimage by the .jurisprudents

In the previous verse the question was about the infidelity of the People of the Book. O' you who have Faith! if you hearken to a party from among of those who have " ١٠٠
".been given the Book, they will turn you back, after your faith, into disbelievers

Commentary: verse ١٠٠

In several commentary books it is cited that one of the Jews by the name of Shāsh-ibn-Qays once passed by the gathering of Muslims consisting of members of two tribes called 'Aus and Khazraj and saw that they were very sincere with each other. He became worried about it and said to himself that formerly these two tribes were opposite to each other, but now, under the leadership and direction of Muhammad (p.b.u.h.), they are living with each other peacefully. If this leadership continues, the .existence of the Jews will be in danger

He, systematically gathered a group to help him, and commissioned a young man to go inside them and to excite them by reminding them the memories of their fight in Biqāth (the place where those two tribes fought against each other), so that the fire of a hard combat was going to be lit between them. The Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), with his soothing words, warned them and made them aware of that evil plot. Therefore, they put their swords down and kindly embraced each other while they were .shedding tear and were regretful

According to the commentators, in this incident, the above verse and the two former verses were revealed which caused the reproach and blame of the People of the Book .as well as warning the Muslims

O' you who have Faith! if you hearken to a party from among of those who have " ١٠٠

١٠١ وَكَيْفَ تَكْفُرُونَ وَأَنْتُمْ تُتْلَىٰ عَلَيْكُمْ آيَاتُ اللَّهِ وَفِيكُمْ رَسُولُهُ

But how can you disbelieve while the verses of Allah are being recited unto you " ١٠١
? and His Messenger is amongst you

"And whoever holds fast to Allah will indeed be guided to the Straight Path

Commentary: verse ١٠١

The cause of deviation or disbelief is either the lack of right path or the lack of guidance. But when there are Book, normatic custom, ordinances, and divine leaders,
? why do they pervert

Relying on and trusting in Allah and seeking help from Him, is the key to security from .all temptations and deviations

But how can you disbelieve while the verses of Allah are being recited unto you and "
? His Messenger is amongst you

"And whoever holds fast to Allah will indeed be guided to the Straight Path

:Explanations

.١ The way of approaching to Allah is open to everybody .١

"... and whoever holds fast to Allah ..."

The existence of law alone is not enough to control infidelity and perversion. The .٢
.presence of leader is necessary, too

"... ? and His Messenger is amongst you ..."

.٣ Seeking refuge to any one or any authority rather than Allah, is perversion .٣

.٤ What is more important than motion, is finding the straight way .٤

.and paving it

"...the one) will indeed be guided to the straight path) ..."

:Holding fast to Allah has a definite result .۵

"... the one ) will indeed be guided) ..."

Holding fast to Allah is an earnest movement accompanied with a cognizant choice .۶

.which is paving the way with the saints of Allah and in the way of Allah

١٠٢. "O' You who have Faith! be in awe of Allah as it is due to Him "

"and do not die unless you are Muslims

Commentary: verse ١٠٢

Any perfection such as Faith, knowledge and piety has stages. There are elementary stages and the stages higher than that up to the absolute perfection. For instance, we recite the Qur'ān where it says: " O' Lord! increase me my knowledge! "\(١\) Or in Makaārim-ul-Akhlaāq, the Supplication, we, asking the Lord, recite: " O' Lord! Expand \(٢\) my Faith to a perfect faith."

And, in the above mentioned verse we recite: "... be in awe of Allah as it is due to Him...". Imam Sādiq (a.s.) in this regard, says: " The due piety is in the fact that Allah be obeyed and not to be disobeyed; to be remembered and not to be forgotten, and to be thanked with no ingratitude," \(٣\) This shows that there are some stages and steps .in piety

١ .Every day we must promote to a higher stage

"...:O' you who have Faith! be in awe of Allah as it is due to Him "

٢ .Mere belief is not enough, but to remain faithful is the condition

.Beginning is not so important while the ending is more important

"and do not die unless you are Muslims ..."

.Islam not only teaches us how to live, but also teaches us how to die .۳

.Piety is the only key to the goodness of destiny .۴

Point

;An Invitation to Union

In this verse, the ultimate subject, which is the problem of unity and standing against :any separation, is referred to. It says

,"And hold fast by the cord of Allah all together "

"...;and do not separate

The opinions are divided among the commentators as to the meaning of the term /ḥablullāh/ ` the cord of Allah '. And in Islamic literature there are also varieties of narrations about it. But there is no difference in the basic meaning of them, because the purpose of 'the cord of Allah' is any means of connection with the Pure Essence of Allah, whether it be the Qur'ān, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) or his progeny, Ahlul-Bayt (a.s

Union, an invitation to

Then, the Holy Qur'ān points to the great bounty of union and

p: ۲۳۱

brotherhood among Muslims. It invites them that they contemplate upon the miserable conditions of the past and to compare its dispersion with union of Islam. It and remember Allah's favour on you when you were enemies (of each other) then ..."
:says

He united your hearts with (mutual) love, and thus you became brethren by His favour
" ...

Here, the subject of love and unity of the hearts of the believers is attributed to Allah,
:where it says

"... ,then He united your hearts with (mutual) love ..."

By this phenomenon, He has pointed to a social miracle of Islam, because if we refer properly to the background of the old enmity of Arab, we will realize that how a slight and simple subject could lighten the fire of a bloody war between them. This proves that it was impossible to form one united nation from that unaware, ignorant, separated people through the ordinary ways

The importance of unity and brotherhood among the hostile Arab tribes has not remained concealed even from the eyes of the non-Muslim scientists and historians,
.who totally speak of it with much wonder

:Then, the Qur'ān continues saying

" ... ! while you were on a brink of a pit of Fire then He delivered you from it ..."

That is, Allah delivered you from that horrible precipice and led you to a safe and
!sound point, viz. the point of `brotherhood and love

The Arabic word /nār/ `fire' mentioned in the above verse is metaphorically used for the fights and conflicts which, in the Age of ignorance, every moment could happen by
.a pretext among Arabs

:At the end of the verse, to emphasize it more, it says

"Even so, Allah makes clear His Signs for you, so that you may be guided ..."

۱۰۴ وَلْتَكُن مِّنكُمْ أُمَّةٌ يَدْعُونَ إِلَى الْخَيْرِ وَيَأْمُرُونَ

And there should be a party among you who invite (others) to good and enjoin " ۱۰۴ .
".what is right and forbid the wrong, and these are they that shall be prosperous

Commentary: verse ۱۰۴

The secret of the location of the verse concerning with the subject of 'enjoining right and forbidding wrong' between two verses that instruct to union and singleness; may be in the fact that in a dispersed social system either there is not an authority to invite people to do good, or these invitations are not effective and helpful

The act of enjoining right and forbidding wrong may be performed in two ways: ۱) It may be done as a public, common duty in which everybody must undertake it as much as the one is capable to fulfil it. ۲) The duty that a uniformed group undertake and follow it powerfully. Like a driver who does not observe the traffic rules in the street. So, both other drivers protest him by lights and horns and the traffic police enters the scene to face seriously with the offender

There are many traditions and narrations upon the subject of 'enjoining right and forbidding wrong' in Islamic literature. Here, we suffice to only this one in which Imam Ali (a.s.) says

Do not give up enjoining right and forbidding wrong lest the mischievous gain " positions over you, and then (in that case) when you pray, your invocations will not be granted to you." (۱)

In an Islamic society, it is necessary to be a group of inspectors and controllers, . ١ confirmed by the Islamic System, to superintend and control the situations, attitudes,
.and movements

And there should be a party among you who invite (others) to good and enjoin what "
"... ,is right and forbid the wrong

.In the society, the invitation to benevolence is prior to enjoining the right . ٢

To improve a society and to prevent corruption and corruptive people, without the . ٣
.existence of authority and a definite responsible manager, is impossible

Those who compassionately sympathize with the development and improvement of . ٤
:the society are the true prosperous ones

".those are they that shall be prosperous ..."

Invitation to benevolence, enjoining the right and forbidding the wrong should . ٥ ceaselessly be performed in the society, not in the form of seasonal and temporary
.movements

Prosperity is not found only in personal delivery, but the prosperity and delivery of . ٦
.others are also from its conditions

The invitor to benevolence and right would be Islamicist, anthropologist, and one . ٧ who knows the methods. It is for this reason that it is said that some of the members .of community have special duty, not all of them

Enjoining the right is prior to forbidding the wrong, because if the way of what is . ٨
.right be open, there will be little possibility for committing wrong

We should know that the root of separations is not always only the factor of

:(Then as to those whose faces turn black (will be said

Did you disbelieve after your believing ? Taste, then, the chastisement for that you ` ` ! were disbelieving

Commentary: verse ١٠٦

The idea mentioned in this verse upon the white faces and the black faces on the Day of Judgement, perhaps is, in fact, the illustration of the very states and spiritualities of people

Those who have accepted the mastership of Allah in this world, He takes them from darkness into Light, and, on that Day, they will arrive there with bright features. But those who have followed the mastership of false gods, these gods take them from Light into the darkness of desires, separation, polytheism and ignorance. These persons will be raised black in darkness on the Day of Resurrection

In the Qur'ān, sixteen times infidelity is mentioned after Faith, two times after Islam, and three times calf-worship after theism, twenty seven times denial after knowledge and evidence. All of these instances are illustrative to danger and serves as an earnest warning for all of us

".And Allah does not intend any injustice to the worlds

Commentary: verse ١٠٧-١٠٨

The recitation of the divine verses, without any exaggeration or diminution, is adapted to the truth, therefore, actions and reactions, deeds and rewards, movements and recompenses of all nations have been fixed upon a single principal and way. Allah neither ordains the servants a duty beyond their endurance, nor .changes the divine laws and ways of treatment with respect to nations

:Explanations

Allah does not cast any kind of unjust over any one, nor does He wish any unjust for .١
.any one

Having a white face or a black face is a reflection of belief, thoughts, and deeds of .٢
.individuals themselves

;And as to those whose faces will turn white, they shall be in the Mercy of Allah "

".wherein shall they abide forever

Unjust is usually offered by someone who is weak or is not able to obtain the goal .٣ through right way; or the one is neglectful due to evil, indecency and committing unjust, none of which is right to be attributed to Allah, the Pure. Therefore, the second verse may refer to the same fact

Commentary: verse ١٠٩

.The meaning in this verse is next to the idea mentioned in the previous verse

It consists of the reason that injustice cannot be issued from the side of Allah. This verse denotes how it can be possible that Allah, (Glory be to Him and highly exalted is He), transgresses while everything in the world of existence belongs to Him

And whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth belongs to Allah, and all " " .affairs will be returned unto Allah

Muslims, as a whole, were raised for the welfare of human beings. They

;You enjoin what is right and forbid the wrong and believe in Allah and if the People of the Book had believed, it would surely have been better for them.

".Some of them are believers while most of them are transgressors

Commentary: verse ۱۱۰

Again, an Invitation to Truth

In this holy verse, again it has returned to the proposition of `enjoining the right and :forbidding the wrong' and also `belief in Allah ' when it says

.You are the best nations brought forth for (the benefit of) mankind "

"...;You enjoin what is right and forbid the wrong and believe in Allah

It is interesting that the reason of being the best nations for Muslims is stated the fulfilment of `enjoining the right and forbidding the wrong' and `belief in Allah '. This shows that the improvement of human society, without belief in Allah and not being accompanied with invitation to the Truth and struggling against corruption, is impossible. Besides that, the accomplishment of these two obligatory duties guarantees the spread of belief and the execution of all personal and social rules, while the surety of execution is verbally .prior to the law itself

p: ۲۴۰

Then it points out that the benefits of a religion which is so clear and the ordinances which are so magnificent, are deniable for none. Therefore, if the People of the Book (the Jews and the Christians) do believe, it is of their own gain. But, unfortunately, only a minority of them have recalcitrated the foolish bigotries and have embraced Islam eagerly, when the majority of the People of the Book have disobeyed the command of .Allah

Commentary: verse ۱۱۱

This verse is both a prediction and a glad tidings and consolation for the Muslims. It tells them that under the shade of belief, union, and enjoining the right, they are insured. Therefore, they would not be afraid of the threats of the enemy, because the 'enemy is insignificant and the victory is of the Muslims

:Explanations

۱. The school of Islam and the Muslims themselves are insured in the shade of Faith .۱

"... They shall never harm you "

۲. The opponents of Muslims may attain only a small part of their molesting projects .۲

"... except for annoyance ..."

so, they have incurred wrath from Allah; and wretchedness has been stumped upon them. That is because they went on rejecting Allah's Signs and slaying the prophets unjustly

".That was because they disobeyed, and went on transgressing

Commentary: verse ۱۱۲

The result of disbelief and slaying prophets is being encountered with abasement and wretchedness in this world and the wrath of Allah in the coming world. Sin and transgression is a preparation for greater sins, like infidelity and slaying the prophets

".That was because they disobeyed, and went on transgressing ..."

It is worthy to note that what is worse than transgression and disbelief is the continuation and persistence of the act of disbelief and transgression so, they have incurred wrath from Allah; and wretchedness has been stumped ..."

".upon them

The Jews are always abased, although sometimes they take the cord of propagation, economics and policy, yet they are in the lowest position from the point of honesty, honour, amiability and security. The example of them is like the cruel persons who are armed and create alarm and terror in order to .obtain masses of wealth, but they can never attain a high honourable rank

p: ۲۴۳

"... ,Abasement has been branded on them, wherever they are found "

:Explanations

The secret of honour is two things: The inwardly Faith in the Power of Allah, and .۱
.outwardly communication with communities and nations

"... ;unless ( they cling to) the cord of Allah and the cord of men ..."

So, each of them singly is imperfect. When there is Faith but accompanied with .isolation and retreat with people, we can do nothing

And, when we are in contact with all people, but there is not Faith from inside, we are
.helpless, too

Maybe, the repetition of the word `cord' is the key to the fact that these two cords .۲
.are not alike

Islamic literatures denote that the Jews did not mostly slay the prophets with .۳ swords themselves, but they reported the prophets' mysteries and informations to the enemies and, as a result of it, the cruel forces could capture the prophets and slay
.them

That is because they went on rejecting Allah's Signs and slaying the prophets..."

Commentary: verse ١١٧

The Arabic term /širr/ has been applied in the sense of: ` excessive cold that scorches plants '. The attractive point in this verse is that in view of Allah mere opinion and stimulus are not effective in affairs. That is why the verse indicates that you may not be worried about the money the disbelievers spend in a false way, because the fruit .of it is like a tilth that can easily be abolished by a cold wind

From this verse on, the revelations are about an expansive important Islamic

At the beginning, the verse has referred to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and that he came out

The Prophet himself (p.b.u.h.) posted the believers at their stations for battle. Thus, .۱

Commentary: verse ١٢٢

Two groups of Muslims by the names of ` Banū Salmah ' From 'Ūss Tribe and ` Banū Ḥarithah ' from Khazraj tribe decided to shirk to participate in fight. There are different reasons mentioned for the inactivity of these two groups. Some of them are as follows

١ . Their own fear, when they saw that the number of enemy was large ٢ . They were inconvenient for that their attitude was not attended to and the troops did not shelter in the city in spite of the side of 'Uḥud mount

٣ . Why did the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) not let the confederate Jews help them? And so on

But, by His Mercy, the Lord protected those two groups from falling in the trap of the sin of return and escape from the battlefield and He kept them safe in His Mastership

:Explanations

١ . Those who are not under the mastership of Allah are inactive

٢ . Allah does not leave the believers to themselves. He assists them in sensitive moments ٣ . Allah is aware of our intentions and He informs His Prophet of the thoughts of people

Commentary: verse ۱۲۳

These verses are the revelations which were sent down in a critical state for the strengthening on the defeated spirits of Muslims. At first, the notable triumph of Muslims in the Battle of Badr is pointed out, so that, by its remembrance, they become :assured about their future. Therefore, it says

"... ;And certainly Allah did assist you at Badr when you were contemptibly scanty "

The number of your members were ۳۱۳ with a little preparation, while the number of .the disbelievers was more than one thousand, with many equipments

In the previous verse, the speech was upon three thousand assisting angels, and in this verse, it speaks about five thousand angels. This may be for the sake of military

.Thus, the verse says that the unseen helps come forth to eradicate the disbelievers

In the lexicon and commentary books, it is cited that there are two kinds of despair. If

This verse, is an emphasis on the meaning of the previous verse, saying that the punishments and torments are upto Allah, because the creation and sovereignty of all existence is in His control " ... And to Allah belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in the earth "

It is interesting that the persons who are involved with the wrath of Allah or those who receive the mercy of Allah are not defined in the verse. This case may be for the sake that everybody remains between fear and hope, and neither pride nor despair falls upon them

" ...,He will forgive whom He wills, and will punish whom He wills ..."

It is clear, of course, that forgiveness and punishment depend on both the Wisdom ofAllah and the bases that the person produces in oneself and in the society

لَعَلَّكُمْ تُفْلِحُونَ

O' you who have Faith! Do not devour usury, doubling it over and over again, and " ۱۳۰ ".be in awe of Allah; that you may be prosperous

Commentary: verse ۱۳۰

This verse, together with its eight subsequent verses, have been located among the verses about the Battle of 'Uḥud. This arrangement, perhaps, is for the sake that the existence of ethical and economical themes are helpful in a defensive system. The society whose members are the people of sincerity and devotion, who hasten to do good, to repent, and are obedient to the godly leader, will be successful in war, too. But, the society whose members are mammonish, miser, disobedient, and persist in committing sin, surely will be defeated

However, the verses on the prohibition of usury have been revealed gradually and in several stages. The first step of the prohibition of usury was a critical attack against the usury of the Jews

This verse is for the prohibition of the usury doubling it over and over again, but, later, Islam gradually prohibited devouring even a penny of usury and introduced it as a

.fighting against Allah

p: ۲۶۳

Before the prohibition of the principal of usury, its ugly outstanding forms were . ۱
.prohibited

.In other words, the existence of a safe and sound economy is the sign of piety therein

Commentary: verse ۱۳۱

:In this holy verse the ordinance of piety and purity is emphasized again. It says

"And be in awe of the Fire which has been prepared for the disbelievers "

From the word /Kāfirīn/ (disbelievers) mentioned in the verse, it is understood that,
.principally, usury does not fit with the nature of Faith

Therefore, the usurers have a share from the Fire which is prepared for the .disbelievers

****

"And obey Allah and the Messenger, that you may be shown Mercy " .۱۳۲

Commentary: verse ۱۳۲

The cause of the failure of Muslims in the Battle of 'Uḥud was their disobedience from the command of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). He had told them not to leave the defensive region located between the vales of 'Uḥud Mount, but the guardian group left that site and, in spite of the order, went to gather the spoils of war. Therefore, the enemy .attacked the Muslims from the same site and defeated them

"And obey Allah and the Messenger, that you may be shown Mercy "

:Explanations

The order of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h), whether it is governmental or . ۱
.religious, similar to the command of Allah, is necessary to be obeyed

He who decides to abandon usury in order to obey the command of Allah and the . ۲

And hasten towards forgiveness from your Lord, and a Garden whose width is " ۱۳۳ ".(as) the heavens and the earth, prepared for the pious ones

Commentary: verse ۱۳۳

A Race on the Path of Felicity

Following to the former verses, which threatened the wrong doers to the punishment of Fire and encouraged the good doers to the grace and mercy of Allah, in this verse the effort and endeavour of the good doers is likened to a spiritual race the goal of which is the forgiveness of Allah and the eternal blessings in Heaven. It says

"... And hasten towards forgiveness from your Lord "

Since attaining any spiritual rank is not possible without being purified from sins by His forgiveness, the goal of this spiritual race firstly is forgiveness and secondly is Heaven

"... ,and a Garden whose width is (as) the heavens and the earth ..."

Then, at the end of the verse, it clearly declares that this Heaven, with its wonderful splendour, has already been prepared for the pious ones

:It says

"... prepared for the pious ones ..."

١٣٤. الَّذِينَ يُنْفِقُونَ فِي السَّرَّاءِ وَالضَّرَّاءِ وَالْكَاطِمِينَ الْغَيْظَ

Those who spend (benevolently) in ease and in adversity, and who restrain " (their) anger

"and pardon (the faults of) men; and Allah loves the doers of good

Commentary: verse ١٣٤

.The Feature of the Pious Ones

In the previous verse, the pious ones are promised the already prepared Eternal Heaven, therefore, in this verse, it introduces the attributes of the pious ones and expresses five splendid human qualities for them. They are as follows

They spend out in any condition they are in, whether when they are in ease and welfare or at the time when they are in deprivation and adversity . ١

"... ,Those who spend (benevolently) in ease and in adversity "

It is worthy to note that here the first outstanding quality of the pious ones is mentioned `spending'. The reason is that these verses contain the qualities opposite to those of usurers and oppressors, which were referred to in the former verses. Moreover, spending property and wealth, especially both in the states of ease and adversity, is the most clear sign of piety

:The third attribute of the pious ones, mentioned here, is that .٢

" ...and who restrain (their) anger ..."

:The forth quality they have is that .٣

"... ;and pardon (the faults of) men ..."

Of course, restraining anger is very good but it, singly, is not enough, because it may not eradicate enmity and grudge from the heart and thought. In this condition, for dismissing the state of enmity, `restraining

.anger' and `pardoning the faults' should gather together

Their fifth quality is that they are `good doers ', and the Lord loves the doers of ` .
.good

".and Allah loves the doers of good ..."

Here, it has referred to a higher degree of pardoning. It is the case that a person, in spite of receiving wrong, reacts with doing good, (when the circumstance requires), in order to burn the root of enmity in the opponent's heart, and to make that person kind
.to himself

Commentary: verse ۱۳۵

When the pious ones do something wrong or do injustice to themselves, they remember Allah and ask for forgiveness from Him for :their sins. It says

,And those who, when they commit an indecency or do injustice to their selves "

"... remember Allah and seek forgiveness for their sins

It is understood from the above verse that whensoever that a person remembers Allah, he does not commit sin. Thus, this forgetfulness and negligence, in the doers of good, does not remain long, and before soon

.they remember Allah and make up for the past

"...? and who forgives the sins except Allah ..."

Commentary: verse ۱۳۶

In three rather successively verses the existence of the words: ' the pious ', ' the doers of good ', and ' workers ' is the sign for that piety is not a state with isolation or only a spiritual quality but it is often accompanied with action and kindness in the society.

۲. Mere wishes are not enough for obtaining the Divine favours, but effort and action .are necessary

Commentary: verse ١٣٩

After the defeat in the Battle of 'Uḥud, which happened because of disobedience of some fighters from the command of the office of the commander, the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.), the Muslim had become out of spirits. The verse was revealed to state that they would not lose countenance for the failure in the Battle of 'Uḥud. They ought to strengthen themselves through their Faith and ought to know that they would gain
:(the upper hand. As the Qur'ān says, Allah tells Moses (a.s

surely you shall be the uppermost, " \(١\) but He tells people if they be believers and ..."
.be true in faith, they gain mastery

".Do not faint and do not grieve for you shall gain the upper hand, if you be believers "

:Explanations

A local failure is not the sign of the final defeat, (regarding to the occasion of the ١ )

Commentary: verse ١٤٠

This verse, in the form of consoling the Muslims, states a fact. The fact is that if they had born some losses and damages for the sake of right and along the path of a divine goal and a clear bright future, their enemies had also had some killed and wounded figures. If they did not win the victory in the Battle of 'Uḥud that day, their enemies had also been defeated in the Battle of Badr before that day. Therefore, it is necessary for them to be patient in the divine trials

:Explanations

١. You Muslims should not be less than the disbelievers from the point of patience and perseverance.

"If a wound touches you, because a wound similar to it has also touched the (disbelieving) people ..."

٢. The sweet and bitter accidents are not durable.

"...;and such days We deal out in turn among mankind ..."

Commentary: verse ۱۴۱

The Arabic word /tamḥiṣ/ means to purify from any vice and defect, and the word

Maybe, in the defeat of 'Uḥud, Allah wished to show the weak points of Muslims to them so that they would think of improving themselves and decide to recompense

Sometimes the instructive failures are more convinient than the victories that cause

Commentary: verse ١٤٢

In this verse it refers to the holy struggle, patience and perseverance of the believers, because the way to Heaven is through patience and Holy war. The Qur'ān, addressing those who enter the Heaven, says: " Peace be on you for that you persevered in patience! ... " \(١\) In this statement there is a narrow sense. It does not say: Peace be on you for the performance of Hajj or fasting or paying alms, because accomplishment .of any duty needs patience and perseverance

Or have you imagined that you will enter Paradise and that Allah does not yet know "
" ? those among you who strived nor He knows the patient ones

:Explanation

Bare Faith is not enough, effort and action is also necessary. Yes, Heaven is in the .١

Commentary: verse ۱۴۳

In the occasion of revelation of this verse, it has been said that after the Battle of Badr when the Muslims won the war and some believers were slain, too, some of the remaining persons wished that they had also been slain in the Battle of Badr in the path of Allah. But, in the following year, when the Battle of 'Uḥud took place, they ran away from it. These people are criticized and scorned in this verse

In many commentary books from both schools of thought, it is cited that when in the Battle of 'Uḥud a stone was thrown towards the teeth of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) by the disbelievers and it bled, someone cried that Muhammad was killed. Some believers also considered the slain of Maṣ`ab by mistake as the slain of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). The gossip caused the disbelievers to be happy and encouraged, and a group of the unsettled Muslims ran away. Some others thought to go to Abūsufyān, the commander of the disbelievers, to get immunity. On the other hand, there were some Muslims there who shouted loudly: " Suppose Muhammad

,and whoever desires the reward of this world

;We give him thereof

! and whoever desires the reward of the Hereafter, We give him thereof

".and Allah will reward the grateful

Commentary: verse ١٤٥

As it was said before, the vain gossip of the death of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), in the Battle of 'Uḥud disturbed a great number of Muslims so that some of them ran away from the Battlefield. It was so terrible that a few of them even wanted to return from Islam, too. In this verse, again to warn and aware that group, it says

"... ;And it is not for any one to die but by Allah's leave at a term appointed "

Thus, if the Prophet of Allah (p.b.u.h.) were slain in that battlefield, it would not be any thing but the devised performance of Allah's way of treatment

On the other side, escaping from the battlefield cannot prevent the coming of death of a person, the same as the participation in the Holy war does not hasten in the death of anyone

At the end of the verse, it indicates that the effort and endeavour of no one will be wasted. Then, if the aim of a person is only the worldly material profits (and, like those fighters of 'Uḥud, tries only for obtaining war spoils) the one will finally get a share of it and, however, such people will attain

.their aim

"... ! and whoever desire the reward of the Hereafter, We give him thereof ..."

Therefore, now that obtaining both the worldly merits and those of Hereafter need effort, then why might a person not use the capital of his self along the second path,
? which is an excellent and constant way

:Another time again, it emphasizes that

".and Allah will reward the grateful ..."

Commentary: verse ١٥٢

A Failure after Triumph

In the explanation of the Battle of 'Uḥud, it was said that at the beginning of the war, Muslims fought unitedly and with a special bravery so that they won the battle. But disobedience of a group of the strivers, who left their intrenchments and went to gather spoils of war, caused the circumstances to be changed and the troops of Islam
.bore a great failure

When Muslim strivers, who had suffered to give many slains and a heavy loss, were returning to Medina, they were murmuring questions with each other as that: ` Had Allah not promised us the victory of the war ? Then, why we were defeated in this war

So, in these verses, the Qur'ān, answering them, explains the factors of their failure.

This verse indicates that the promise of Allah about their triumph was completely right. Therefore, at the beginning of fight they

.won the battle; and, by the command of Allah, they killed the enemies

The Qur'ān tells them that this promise went on until the time they had not left the perseverance and following the command of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). The failure began from the time weakness and disobedience came upon them

And indeed Allah fulfilled His promise to you (in the first stage) when, with His leave, " ,you slew them until when you became weak-hearted and disputed about the matter " ...

That is, if you considered that the promise of victory had been without any condition, you made a great mistake. All the promises of victory are conditioned to the .obedience from the command of Allah

:Then, the Qur'ān says

" ... and you disobeyed after that He showed you that which you loved ..."

:Then, it continues saying

" ... Some of you desire the world and some of you desire the Hereafter ..."

Here, the circumstances have changed and Allah has altered your victory to failure in .order to try you and punish you and train you

"...then He turned you away from them (the disbelievers) so that He might try you ..."

,Then the Lord forgave you all these disobediences and sins of yours while you deserved to be punished. This is because Allah does not withhold any .bounty to the believers

".And He has certainly forgiven you; and Allah is gracious to the believers ..."

Commentary: verse ١٥٣

In this verse the Qur'ān reminds Muslims the ending scene of the Battle of 'Uḥud and tells them to remember when they were scattered and they were running away without paying any attention to their fellow strivers at their backs to see in what condition they were, though the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was calling them from their behind

Commentary: verse ١٥٤

The night following the Battle of 'Uḥud was a dreadful night, full of anxiety and fear. The Muslims anticipated that the victorious soldiers of Quraysh would return to Medina again. At this time the true strivers and the repentants who had regreted from their escape in 'Uḥud, trusted to the Grace of Allah and were assured of the promises of the Prophet p.b.u.h.). The verse under discussion explains the event of that night. It denotes that after those heavy grieves and sorrows of the day of 'Uḥud, He sent down peace and security on them. It says

"... ,Then, after that grief, He sent down security upon you "

This peace was the very light sleep that fell on a group of them, but there were some others who thought of their own selves and cared nothing except their own rescue.

:That was why they lost the security given to them totally. It says in the form of) slumber coming upon a group of you; while another group have) ..."

"... ,cared only for their own selves

Then it pays to the explanation of the talks and thoughts of hypocrites and those whose faith was not so firm and who sat up that night

They imagined something wrong about Allah, similar to the thoughts of the Age of Ignorance which existed before Islam. They had in their minds that the Prophet's promises were probably lies "... ,Thinking about Allah unjustly, the thought of ignorance ..."

They said to each other among themselves whether it was possible, with that horrible circumstance they saw, that they overcame. It says

"...! ? They say: ` Is there anything for us in the authority ..."

That is, it is quitely impossible. But the Qur'ān, in answer to them, says: Yes, triumph is in the hand of Allah and if He wills, and finds you eligible for it, He will grant it to you

"...!.Say: ` Verily the authority belongs to Allah entirely ..."

The verse indicates that they conceal some affairs in their hearts and they do not make them manifest for you

"...,They hide within themselves what they show not to you ..."

It seemed they thought the failure in `Uḥud was the sign that the religion of Islam was not right. Therefore, they said if they had been right and had a share of triumph, they would not have given so many slains in that battle. It says

" 'saying: ` Had we had a part in the authority, we would not have been slain here ..."

:In answer to them, Allah points to two subjects. It says Say: ` Even if you were in your own homes, those for whom slaughter was ..."

"...;ordained would certainly have gone forth to their deathbeds

Another subject is that these events should come forth in order that the Lord try what .they had in their hearts and that the rows be recognized

Moreover, in this course, individuals might be gradually trained, and their intentions
.be purified, their faith be firmed, and their hearts be purged from evils and that Allah might try what was in your breasts and that He might purge what ..."

"... ;was in your hearts

:At the end of the verse, it says

".and Allah is aware of what is in the breasts ..."

And it is for the very reason that Allah does not reckon only the deeds of people, but He wants to try their hearts, too, and purify them from dirt of polytheism, hypocrisy,
.and doubt

إِنَّ اللَّهَ غَفُورٌ حَلِيمٌ

Verily those of you who turned back on the day (of `Uhud) when both troops " ١٥٥
;met, only Satan made them slip because of something they earned

".and certainly Allah has pardoned them; Surely Allah is Forgiving, Forbearing

Commentary: verse ١٥٥

This verse is about the escape of the Muslims from the Battle of 'Uḥud. As most commentary books denote, in the Battle of 'Uḥud all strivers fled except thirteen ones. Five people of them were from Emigrants (muhājirīn) and eight people from Helpers /'anṣār/. The opinions are divided as for the names of these thirteen people .(that who they were, except Ali-ibn-Abī-tālib (a.s

However, in the Battle of 'Uḥud, the Muslims were divided into four groups: ١. Martyrs;
.٢. The Patients; ٣. The Fugitives, who were forgiven; ٤.The hypocrites

:Explanations

١. Sin clears the field for the temptations of Satan .

"... ;only Satan made them slip because of something they earned ..."

٢. One of the reasons of escaping from fight is sin. Sin tears the curtain of piety and .weakens the spirit of man and, then, paves the way for the influence of Satan

٣. Deeds effect on spiritualities. As a result of sins, some persons become coward and .ran away

٤. Strivers should set themselves in the course of repentance, seeking forgiveness .
.and self-improvement

Section 14, The faithful Hypocrites in the Battle of Uhud

Point

١٥٦ يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ ءَامَنُوا لَا تَكُونُوا كَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا وَقَالُوا لِإِخْوَانِهِمْ إِذَا ضَرَبُوا فِي الْأَرْضِ أَوْ كَانُوا غُزًى لَوْ كَانُوا عِنْدَنَا مَا مَاتُوا وَمَا قُتِلُوا
لِيَجْعَلَ اللَّهُ ذَلِكْ حَسْرَةً فِي قُلُوبِهِمْ وَاللَّهُ يُحْيِي وَيُمِيتُ وَاللَّهُ بِمَا تَعْمَلُونَ بَصِيرٌ

O' you who have Faith! be not like those who disbelieved and said of their " ١٥٦ .
:brethren when they traveled in the earth or engaged in fighting

Had they been with us they would not have died and they would not have been killed `'
'; so that Allah may make this a regret in their " .hearts. And, Allah gives life and causes to die; and Allah sees what you do

Commentary: verse ١٥٦

We ought to stand firm against discouraging propagations and inspirations, and gossips should not be retold. We must know that death and life are from the determinations of Allah and are not concerned to fight and journey. So, the enemy .cast the evil propagation in the form of sympathy and regret

O' you who have Faith! be not like those who disbelieved and said of their brethren " "
:when they traveled in the earth or engaged in fighting

Had they been with us they would not have died and they would not have been killed `'
'; so that Allah may make this a regret in their hearts. And, Allah gives life and causes
" ... ;to die

Thus, Allah is the Clear-sighted and the Cognizant. So, be careful of your conditions,

.thoughts, and deeds

" .and Allah sees what you do ..."

١٥٧ وَلَئِن قُتِلْتُمْ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ أَوْ مُتُّمْ لَمَغْفِرَةٌ مِّنَ اللَّهِ

And if you be killed in the way of Allah or you die, surely forgiveness and mercy " .١٥٧
".from Allah are far better than all that they amass

Commentary: verse ١٥٧

In divine world-view and heavenly theology, the death in the way of Allah (martyrdom) is better than the whole world and its belongings to be compiled

Mercy and forgiveness have an eternal result, but wealth and property have some temporal effects. What is important is that the affairs be in the way of Allah, whether martyrdom or death

And if you be killed in the way of Allah or you die, surely forgiveness and mercy from "
".Allah are far better than all that they amass

****

p: ٢٩٩

"And if you die or be killed, certainly to Allah shall you be gathered together " .١٥٨

Commentary: verse ١٥٨

There is no more than one way and it is going towards Allah. Then, why do we not ? accept the best kind of passing away contently when we move to that direction

"And if you die or be killed, certainly to Allah shall you be gathered together "

And, if death and martyrdom is returning to Allah, then why is there anxiety in our ? mind

١٥٩ فِيمَا رَحِمَهُ مِنَ اللَّهِ لِنْتَ لَهُمْ وَلَوْ كُنْتَ فَظًّا

غَلِيظَ الْقَلْبِ لَانْفَضُّوا مِنْ حَوْلِكَ فَاعْفُ عَنْهُمْ وَاسْتَغْفِرْ لَهُمْ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُتَوَكِّلِينَ

Thus, it is due to the mercy from Allah that you have been lenient with them, and " ١٥٩. had you been rough, hard hearted, they would certainly have dispersed from around you. Therefore, pardon them and seek forgiveness for them; and consult with them in the affair.

So, when you have decided, then trust in Allah; (for) verily Allah loves those who trust (in Him).

Commentary: verse ١٥٩

The content of the verse works as some general instructions, but the revelation of the verse is about the Battle of 'Uḥud. The Muslims who had ran away in the Battle of `Uḥud, and were defeated, were burning in the fire of regret, remorse and sorrow. They gathered around the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and apologized. Then, the Lord issued the command of their general pardon by this verse.

:Explanations

١. Lenience is a gift from Allah. Thus, those who have not lenience are deprived from this bounty.

"... ,Thus, it is due to the mercy from Allah that you have been lenient with them "

٢. The hard-hearted and strict people cannot have etiquette with people and had you been rough, hard hearted, they would certainly have dispersed from ..."

"... around you

٣. A fruitful and proper leadership and administration is always

.accompanied with attraction and affection

.Attract those defeated in war and modest sinners .۶

Therefore, pardon them and seek forgiveness for them; and consult with them in ..."

"...the affair

Inside consultation, there lie: sympathy, development of talents, recognition of .۵ friends from enemies, selecting the best attitude, creation of kindness and love, and a .practical lesson for others

You may pardon them for the injustice they treated to you, and for the sin they .۶ committed with respect to Allah, seek forgiveness from Allah for them and keep them
.in the scene by consulting with them in the political, social affairs

.Beside contemplation and consultation, do not forget to trust in Allah .۷

"... ;so, when you have decided, then trust in Allah ..."

Consultation and reliance in Allah are beloved with Him, whether we attain the aim .۸
.or not

" .(for) verily Allah loves those who trust (in Him) ..."

:In administrationship once lenience is needed, like this verse .۹

وَعَلَى اللَّهِ فَلْيَتَوَكَّلِ الْمُؤْمِنُونَ

If Allah helps you, none can overcome you. But, if He forsakes you, who is there " ١٦٠ .
".then that can help you after that ? And on Allah should the believers rely

Commentary: verse ١٦٠

.In the previous verse, trust and reliance in Allah was recommended

In this verse the reason of that reliance is expressed, saying that both honour and
.abasement are with Allah

:It is narrated in a tradition that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) asked Gabriel

" ? What is trust in Allah "

Gabriel answered: " It is so that you know people do not give you profit nor loss, neither they grant nor restrain; and that you be despair of all human kind. Then, when a servant becomes like this, he will not act for any one except Allah; he will not be hopeful of or afraid of anyone but Allah; he will not become desirous in anyone save
". / Allah. And, this is the reality of trust, /tawakkul

:Explanations

Both overcoming against the enemy, or being defeated from the enemy, are in the ١ .
.Will of Allah

Natural victories are usually influenced by other factors, but the divine helps and ٢ .
.victories are not like that If Allah helps you, none can overcome you. But, if He forsakes you, who is there then "

".that can help you after that ? And on Allah should the believers rely ١٦١ وَمَا كَانَ لِنَبِيِّ أَنْ يُغْلَ وَمَنْ يُغْلَلْ يَأْتِ بِمَا غَلَّ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ

And it is not for any prophet to defraud and whoever defrauds shall bring along " ١٦١ .
.what he has defrauded on the Day of Resurrection

Then everyone will be repaid for whatever he has earned, and they will not be dealt ".with unjustly

Commentary: verse ١٦١

This verse, may be as an answer that refers to those who, for the sake of gathering spoils of war, left the protective zone in 'Uḥud. Imagining that they would not be deprived from their booty shares, they ignored the warnings of their commander who said that their share was preserved and it would not be far from the view of the (.Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h

:Explanations

Prophets have always been trustworthy. The one, who wants to train some . ١
.trustworthy persons, must not himself be treacherous

Unfortunately, today, there are many treacherous figures among the non-heavenly) (.leaders

Not all the companions had enough Faith. Some of them were so that who might . ٢ (.prove treacherous actions unto the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h

.None is safe from the suspicion of people . ٣

Taking the property of others today (in this world) and returning them on that Day . ٤ (in the Hereafter) is a kind of punishment. And, what a grievous state is that, that a person be brought with the wealth he had proved treacherous in before Prophets,
.martyrs and all human beings on the Day of Judgment

"... and whoever defrauds shall bring along what he has defrauded ..."

Fraud; deceit, usurpation and treacher are from among the instances of /qall/
.'` defraud

p: ٣٠٤

At the time of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), it happened that the man who was in charge of collecting alms came to the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) and said: " This quantity of ,wealth I have collected is alms and belongs to you and this separate quantity is the gifts of people to myself. Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) went up the pulpit and asked the audience: ` If this person remained at home, would any one give him a gift ? By Allah he will be raised in Hereafter with these unlawful 'properties

.Remembrance of Hereafter restrains a person from treachery .۵

"... ,then everyone will be repaid for whatever he has earned ..."

Allah is just. (He both gives the reward completely and never goes to extremes, .۶ (even for a dot

".and they will not be dealt with unjustly ..."

.Defend the rights of pure servants and the saints of Allah .۷

"... And it is not for any prophet to defraud "

The weakness of faith, from one side, and the love of the world, from another side, .۸
.set men to suspect against the prophets

Hereafter is a scene where the righteous will bring their good deeds, and the .۹
:treacherous ones will bring their own treacheries and whoever defrauds shall bring along what he has defrauded on the Day of ..."

.The rank of prophethood never fits with treachery .۱۰

١٦٢ أَفَمَنْ أَتَّبَعَ رِضْوَانَ اللَّهِ كَمَنْ بَاءَ بِسَخَطٍ مِنَ اللَّهِ

وَمَا أُوْنُهُ جَهَنَّمُ وَيَبْسُ الْمَصِيرُ

Is one who follows the pleasure of Allah like him who incurs wrath from Allah, " ١٦٢ .
? and whose abode will be Hell
" !And an evil destination it is

Commentary: verse ١٦٢

Upon the occasion of revelation of this verse, it is cited in commentary books from both great sects of Islam that: When the Messenger of Allah issued the command of setting to 'Uḥud, the hypocrites stayed in Medina under the pretext that they were not sure of the occurrence of fight and conflict. At the same time some Muslims whose faith was weak followed them and did not attend at the battle. This verse illustrates the feature of this group. In a few former verses (verse ١٥٥) it said that Allah has pardoned those who ran away from the battle and after that they regreted. But, regarding to the occasion of revelation of the verse, He does not forgive the wealthy ones and the hypocrites who seek excuses

:Explanations

In an Islamic society, strivers and those who sit still at home should not be treated ١ .
(the same, (regarding to the occasion of revelation

٢ .The aim of the true strivers is gaining the good pleasure of Allah

"...Is one who follows the pleasure of Allah "

٣ .Returning face from battle-field is returning to the Wrath of Allah

"...,like him who incurs wrath from Allah ..."

"... ? and whose abode will be Hell ..."

"...And, it is an evil destination ..."

" .١٦٣ .They are of (varying) ranks with Allah; and Allah sees what they do "

Commentary: verse ١٦٣

Some verses of the Qur'ān indicate that there are different degrees for the people. For example, Sura Al-Anfāl, No. ٨, verse ٤ says: "... they shall have from their Lord exalted grades..." Or, Sura Ṭāhā, No ٢٠, verse ٧٥ says: "... these it is who shall have the ".high ranks

In this verse the persons themselves are rendered into `ranks'. It is similar to the meaning that a human being should act according to the scale, but later he himself becomes a scale. Or, another example is that: at first man is `praiser of Allah', /ḏākir/, but later he himself becomes `reminder', /ḏikr/, in a way that his remembrance causes hearts to be in peace. At first, he turns around the axis, but, later, he himself
.becomes the axis of the Truth

;They are of (varying) ranks with Allah "

".and Allah sees what they do

١٦٤ لَقَدْ مَنَّ اللَّهُ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ إِذْ بَعَثَ فِيهِمْ رَسُولًا مِّنْ أَنفُسِهِمْ

يَتْلُوا عَلَيْهِمْ آيَاتِهِ وَيُزَكِّيهِمْ وَيُعَلِّمُهُمُ الْكِتَابَ وَالْحِكْمَةَ

وَإِن كَانُوا مِن قَبْلُ لَفِي ضَلَالٍ مُّبِينٍ

Indeed Allah conferred a favour upon the believers when He raised up among " ١٦٤ .
them a messenger of their own selves to recite His verses unto them and purify them
;and to teach them the Book and the Wisdom

" .although earlier they had surely been in manifest error

Commentary: verse ١٦٤

The Arabic term /minnah/ is derived from the root /manna/ with the sense of a stone by which things may be weighed. Thus, every weighty and valuable bounty is called /minnah/. But showing some slight bounties as some heavy and magnificent ones, is disagreeable. Therefore, donating a great bounty is good, but representing an .ordinary bounty in a great shape is reprobated

:Explanations

The appointment of Prophets to prophecy is the greatest heavenly gift and the .١
.greatest bounty of Allah

"...Indeed Allah conferred a favour "

.٢ Prophets were chosen from among people themselves

"...when He raised up among them a messenger from among themselves ..."

(See also the following complementary explanation, No. ١)

Purification is prior to teaching. (Purification and instruction have been at the top of .٣ (the training programs of prophets

The mission of prophets envelops all human kind, yet only the believers are .٤

.gratitude unto this bounty and enjoy of the light of guidance

"... Indeed Allah conferred a favour upon the believers "

Self-improvement and rectitude should be performed under the light of the . ۵
.prophets' school of thought and the verses of Allah

p: ۳۰۸

"... to recite His verses unto them and to purify them ..."

The austerities and monasticisms whose origin is not verses of Allah and whose teachers are not divine prophets, themselves are deviation

In order to recognize the bounty of appointment of prophets better, we should refer to the history concerning before their times

"...although before this they had surely been in manifest error ..."

.In corruptive dark and very gloomy environments it is possible to work, too

In the manner of prophets, spiritual training and teaching both are accompanied with wisdom

"...;and to purify them and to teach them the Book and the Wisdom ..."

:Complementary Explanations

The appointment of prophets from among people has some favours in itself: a) People know the background of such a prophet and trust in him. b) People are Pioneers in executing the commands of Allah. c) Prophets are acquainted with the pains of people and they sympathetically have a share in their joys and sorrows. d) Prophets are always available for people

:There is a popular proverb in the Arabic Language which says

.Things are known by their opposites

As it is understood from the statements of Hadrat Ali (a.s.) in Nahjul-Balāqah, in the (Age of Ignorance, People had neither a sound culture nor a good hygiene.)

When Hadrat Ja`far Ṭayyār, Hadrat Ali's brother, was in Abyssinia, he illustrated the " :situation of the Age of Ignorance for Najāshī as such

We were worshipping idols (but now we are worshippers of Allah). At that time, we consumed corpses; we were of corruptives; we used to break off connections with our kindred, we had ill treatments with our neighbours, the strong members of us

' ? twice as much, you say: ` Whence is this

". Say: ` It is from your own selves.' Surely Allah is All-Powerful over all things

Commentary: verse ١٦٥

When seventy persons from Muslim troop were killed in the Battle of 'Uḥud and Muslims were defeated, they asked each other why they were defeated. The Lord tells them they had afflicted the enemy with twice as many in the Battle of Badr the previous year. They killed seventy people of them and captured seventy men from them, too. Besides that, the failure of that year was for their own disunity and inactivity, and that they did not obey their commander

:Explanations

When judging, consider both the bitter and sweet aspects. (Do not think of the . ١ (failure of ` Uḥud alone and forget the triumph of Badr Yet, when a disaster befalls you while you have certainly afflicted (the fow) with "

" ...,twice as much

In searching for the factors of failure, begin with the innate, spiritual and mental . ٢
.factors; and then go to follow other factors

"...'.you say: ` Whence is this ?' Say: ` It is from your own selves ..."

Allah is powerful over all things, but we must obtain the necessary conditions and . ٣
.eligibilities of enjoying it

".'Surely Allah is All-Powerful over all things ..."

Do not imagine that to be only Muslim is enough for winning the battle and, . ۴ consequently, in every failure use the question of `why' and how, " Whence is this ? ", but beside Faith, it is necessary that the military rules, and divine way be paid
.attention to

And what befell you on the day when both troops met was by Allah's leave and " .١٦٦
".that He might distinguish the believers

Commentary: verse ١٦٦

Allah has set a cause or causes for any effect, then either failure or victory has some secrets. Your failure in the Battle of 'Uḥud related to the law of causation. It was you who relaxed your efforts in the battle and did not come into agreement with other strivers, and were greedy to gather the spoils of war. This is Allah's way of treatment .and the Divine Law is found in all fights

"...And what befell you on the day when both troops met was by Allah's leave "

:Explanations

Failures and triumphs take place under the Will of Allah, and His leave is the same .١
.as Allah's way of treatment

"... by Allah's leave ..."

.Bitter and sweet happenings are the site of trial and recognition of human beings .٢

".and that He might distinguish the believers ..."

That time they were much nearer to the infidelity than to Faith. They utter with their " .mouths what is not in their hearts, and Allah knows best what they conceal

Commentary: verse ۱۶۷

:In this holy verse, another fact is referred to. It says

" ... ;And that He might distinguish those who treated hypocritically "

Then the Qur'ān points to the debates that some Muslims and hypocrites had before the battle as such that: One of the Muslims (by the name of ` Abdillah-ibn-` Amr-ibn- Hazzām, as Ibn-` Abbās has reported), observing that ` Abdullah-ibn-` Abī Salūl and his friends separated from the troop of Islam and decided to return to Medina, told them and it was said to them: ` Come! Fight in the way of Allah; or (at least) defend ... " " ...! yourselves

:But they brought forth a vain excuse and said

" .! they said: ` If we knew fighting, we would certainly have followed you ... "

It was not more than a pretext. Both the occurrence of war was certain, and Muslims were winning the war at the beginning. If a failure came upon them, it was because of .their own faults and offences. Allah says that they told a lie

"...that time they were much nearer to the infidelity than to Faith ..."

p: ۳۱۲

It is understood from the above statement that infidelity and Faith have some degrees which depend on the notion and the way of treatment of the individual

"... they utter with their mouths what is not in their hearts ..."

They refrained from going to the battle-field as a result of their obstinacy upon their suggestion that they would fight in Medina, and because of fear from the hard blows of the enemy, or for the lack of love in Islam. But

".and Allah knows best what they conceal ..."

It is in such a case that He both manifests their evil feature for Muslims in this world, and will reckon their account in the Hereafter

Commentary: verse 169

! The Alive in Eternal

This verse and two verses next to it were revealed after the incident of 'Uḥud. But its meaning and its content is general, so that it involves all the martyrs of 'Uḥud. The number of the martyrs there was fourteen the high rank of whom, as well as all :martyrs, is referred to in this verse. It says

"... Do not think of those who were killed in the way of Allah to be dead "

Here, the addressee is only the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) in order that others reckon their .account

"Nay, they are alive, being provided sustenance with their Lord ..."

The purpose of life here is the very purgatorial life which souls have in the world after death. This does not belong to only the martyrs. But, in view of the fact that martyrs are so involved the merits of the spiritual life that as if the life of other people in the .intermediate state is rather slight in comparison with it, so only they are named

A part of the advantages and abundant bounties of the purgatory life of martyrs are :pointed out in this verse. It says

"... ,They are happy with what Allah has given them out of His Grace "

Their second happiness is for their brothers who are strivers, but they have not joined them yet. The strivers, the future martyrs, are also happy because they see the high rank of martyrs in the next world and know that there will be no fear nor any grief : upon them on the Resurrection Day, and for its terrible happenings as well. It says

.and rejoicing for those who have not yet joined them from behind them ..."

".No fear shall be upon them nor shall they grieve

".not waste the reward of the believers

Commentary: verse ١٧١

This verse, in fact, is as an emphasis and as a more explanation upon the glad tidings that martyrs receive after their slain. They will be happy because of two matters. The first is for that they receive the bounties of Allah, not only His bounties but His Grace, :too, (which is the increase and repetition of His merits). It says

"... ,They rejoice because of favour from Allah and (His) grace "

Another matter is that they see that Allah does not waste the reward of the believers, neither the reward of the martyrs nor the reward of these true believing strivers who :have not obtained the rank of martyrdom yet. It says

".and that Allah does not waste the reward of the believers..."

Commentary: verse ۱۷۲

The Battle of Hamrā'-ul-Asad

As it was mentioned before, at the end of the Battle of 'Uhud the victorious army of 'Abū-Sufyān, after winning the Battle, immediately started to go toward Mecca. When they reached the region of Ruḥā', they seriously regreted from their action. They decided to return to Medina and destroy the rest of Muslims totally. Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was informed of the matter. So, he ordered the army of 'Uhud to be prepared for participating in another fight. This news met the army of the Quraysh ! when they wondered and were frightened

At this time, another subject weakened their courage more than before. One of the pagans by the name of Ma'bad-ul-Khazā'ī, who saw the situation of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and his followers and was shaken by it, told him (p.b.u.h.) that observing their situation was very unpleasant and intolerable for them (the pagans). He said those .words and went away

When he reached the army of 'Abū-Sufyān in Ruhā', 'Abū-Sufyān asked him about the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.). In answer to him, Ma'bad said

"I saw Muhammad with a large army who were pursuing you "

Abū-Sufyān and his followers decided to retreat, but they asked a group from the tribe of 'Abdul-Qays, who were passing by there, to inform the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) that 'Abū-Sufyān and the idolators of the Quraysh, with a large army, were going towards Medina in order to annihilate the rest of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.)

:When this message reached the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and Muslims, they said

"Allah is sufficient for us and how excellent is such a Protector!" (۱)

They waited and waited there, but no sign appeared from the enemy's army. Then, after three days remaining there, they returned to Medina. This verse, and two verses next to it, point to this incident. It indicates that those who accepted the invitation of Allah and the Messenger (p.b.u.h.), and after having some wounds afflicted on the day of 'Uḥud, they became ready to take part in another fight against the enemy

From among them, those who did good and were pious, viz. those who took part in the war with pure intention and complete sincerity, will have a great reward. It says

Those who did respond to the call of Allah and the Messenger (even) after some wound had afflicted them; for those among them who did good and acted piously there will be a great reward

Commentary: verse ١٧٣

The enemy, propagating agents, and some simple-minded and coward people advisingly inspire that the group of enemy is strong and none can combat them, so it is better not to entangle yourselves with fight. The true believers, without any fear
.and, as they are qualified in the verse, calmly answer them

Those to whom the people said: ` Verily the men have gathered against you, "
:therefore fear them '. Yet it increased them in faith and they said
" ' !Allah is sufficient for us and how excellent is such a Protector `

:Explanations

.١ Be not frightened by the hollow propagations of the enemy

.٢ In the fighting place and among the strivers, be careful of the penetrating members
.of the enemy

.٣ The strongest barrier against all the threats of the enemy is Faith and trusting in
.Allah

Commentary: verse ١٧٤

The wounded strivers of the Battle of 'Uḥud were prepared again to defend Islam by the command of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.). Then, they pursued the enemy as far as the camping-place of Hamrā'-ul-Asad. So, the enemies, who were afraid of Muslims' preparation and courage, dispensed with attacking again and returned home. This verse is upon the praise of sincere wounded strivers of the Battle of 'Uḥud

There were Many a man who adventured the danger and returned safely, and .١ there were many coward ones who flew from the danger but finally encountered with .misfortune

For the godly men, the principal is the pleasure of Allah. Neither martyrdom, nor .٢ .safety, nor injury, nor welfare is the principal for them

"And let not those who hasten on to disbelief grieve you " .١٧٦

Verily they will never harm Allah at all. Allah intends to assign them no fortune in the Hereafter and they will have a great Torment

Commentary: verse ١٧٦

It seemed that the people who were defeated in the Battle of 'Uḥud were afraid of each other. They thought what would happen then that they were defeated and the infidels returned to Mecca victoriously. In answer to them, the verse says that they would not be worried, because it was the respite of Allah in order that they could fill the capacity of their infidelity and that they do not have any merit in the coming world

:Explanations

Keep your peace and calmness, because the effort of disbelievers is ineffective in the obliteration of Islam .١

"... And let not those who hasten on to disbelief grieve you "

Wishful hastening in the field of infidelity, deprives individuals from having eligibility of repentance and receiving the grace of Allah .٢

.The infidelity of people does no harm to His Pure Essence .٣

"... Verily they will never harm Allah at all ..."

To give respite to disbelievers is the way of treatment of Allah, not as a sign of unawareness or incapability unto it .٤

"...Allah intends to assign them no fortune in the Hereafter ..."

Both the wrath of Allah and His Grace are great. (In the former couple of verses, the .٥

Qur'ān gave glad tidings to the grace of Allah for those wounded strivers who got prepared for the second time to go to fight by the command of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.).

,Verily those who have bought infidelity for faith " .١٧٧

;never shall they harm Allah at all

".and they will have a painful torment

Commentary: verse ١٧٧

The subjects of buying and selling, and also gaining and losing, have frequently been repeated through different occurrences in the Qur'ān. In this process, the Qur'ān is considered as a market, where people are the sellers, the beliefs and thoughts are the goods, and sometimes Allah and sometimes other than Allah are the customers. In this market selling is compulsory, but electing the customers is up to the choice of human beings. That is, we cannot leave out what we have, including power, action, and belief, but we can set our belief and action in a path to be gainful or detrimental

In the Qur'ān, those who purchase with Allah and take Heaven and His pleasure in return, are praised, while another group are criticized. This group, for their perversion or for choosing gain, either do not make profit

Yields them no profit " (١) , or face with loss: " Surely man is in loss " (٢) , " That is a " manifest loss." (٣) And, in some verses, of the Qur'aān like the above verse, those who sell their Faith in return with infidelity are despised, and, on the other side, the believers are consoled that the apostasy of that group has no harm to Allah or to the path of Allah

,Verily those who have bought infidelity for faith "

;never shall they harm Allah at all

".and they will have a painful torment

And let not those who disbelieve think that Our giving them respite is good for " .١٧٨
;their selves; We give respite to them only that they may increase in sin

".and that they will have an abasing torment

Commentary: verse ١٧٨

The Qur'ān has repeatedly applied the phrase / lā yaḥsabanna/ (they do not think) about infidels, hypocrites, and the persons whose Faith is weak. This is because these persons are deprived from insight, proper analysis, good intellect, and necessary clear mind. They think that creation is vain, martyrdom is annihilation, the world is permanent, honour is a supreme good. The Qur'ān has rejected all these imaginations
.in different occurrences

Sometimes, the disbelievers consider having possibilities, victories and welfare as a sign of their own eligibility, while Allah respites them upon their stubbornness towards His Essence and upon their being polluted by infidelity and corruption in order that .they dive deep in their destruction

The history details that when Yazīd, the kalif of the time, had Imam Hussayn (a.s.) slain, the house-hold members of the Imam, including Hadrat Zaynab Kubrā (a.s.), were taken to Syria as captures. In his meeting, Yazīd proudly addressed Hadrat Zaynab (a.s.) and said: " Did you see that Allah is with us ? " In answer to him, Zaynab (a.s.) recited this very verse, and added: " I know your rank low and little and it is deserving for any despising. Do whatever you wish, but by Allah, beware that you ".(cannot quench the light of Allah', (our remembrance

Yes, for such luxurious people, the abasing torment has been prepared in order that their imaginary worldly honour be accompanied with

.abasement and degradation in the Hereafter

However, criminals are divided into two groups: One group are those who are improveable, and Allah warns and awakens them by admonition, and by pleasant and unpleasant events. The second group are those who are not guidable. Allah leaves them alone to themselves so that all their eligibilities of corruption appear. That is why

:Imam Bāgīr (a.s.) in explanation of this verse said

:Explanations

.Respites are not counted as a sign of being loved .1

Bounties are useful when they are used alongside the path of right, rectitude, and .2
.goodness

.The length of life is not important, gaining good advantages of life is important .3

Commentary: verse ١٧٩

.This is the last verse stated about the event of 'Uḥud in this Sura

The verse clearly announces that the world is a large laboratory. It is not such that .everybody who claims faith be left free to live in the society ordinarily

No, people are examined, and failures and victories are the means of recognition of their inwards. For instance, the very failure in the Battle of 'Uḥud was a means for that the hypocrites to be recognized. Allah (s.w.t.) does not acquaint people with 'the knowledge of hidden things', because if right and wrong be recognized with that knowledge, the flame of hope will be quenched, the social connections will be broken, and the life will be encountered with confusion. It is better that we do not know the supernatural secrets in order that the life continues ordnarily, and the recognition of .right and wrong be performed through gradual examinations

Allah (s.w.t.) leaves the disbelievers alone to themselves in order .۱

:That they increase in sin ", but He does not leave the believers alone, as it says "

"... ;Allah is not One to leave the believers in the state wherein you are "

.The separation of pure from impure is one of the ways of treatment of Allah .۲

"... until He sorts out the vicious from the good ..."

Life should continue in its ordinary form. Knowing the secrets of people through .۳

Commentary: verse ۱۸۰

! The Heavy Burden of Captivity

This holy verse explains the destiny of the misers on the Day of Resurrection. These are the very people who try to heap wealth and protect it. They refrain to spent out money in charity along the path of the servants of Allah

In the above verse, there is not anything mentioned about alms and incumbant payments, but according to the traditions by Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.) and the statements of commentators, this verse has been appropriated to those who hinder paying alms.

:The Qur'ān says

And as for those who are niggardly with what Allah has granted out of His grace, let "

"... ,them not think it is better for them

But, in spite of the imagination of these people, this manner will be against them. It

:says

"...;nay it is worse for them ..."

:Then, it explains their destiny in the Hereafter, like this that which they were niggardly of will be clung to their necks on ..."

p: ۳۲۹

"...;Resurrection Day

It is understood from this verse that the wealth whose incumbant rights have not been paid and the society has enjoyed nothing of it, according to the law of embodiment of deeds, will incarnate in the form of a painful chastisement on .Resurrection Day, similar to other evil deeds of man

Then, the verse points to another subject and indicates that these properties, whether they be spent out in the way of Allah (s.w.t.) and in the path of His servants, :or not, will finally be separated from their possessors; and

"... ,and to Allah belongs the heritage of the heavens and the earth ..."

Now that the circumstace is like this, so much the better that before separating from their wealth, instead of only having its responsibility and regret, they enjoy of its .spiritual merits

:At the end of the verse, it says

".and Allah is aware of what you do ..."

Therefore, if you behave niggardly, He knows it; and if you apply your wealth in the path of assisting the society, He knows it, too; and He grants the reward of every one .appropriately

The agent of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) entered a house which was the center of teaching the Jewish religious subjects and it was called ` Bayt-ul-Madāris'. He handed the letter to Fanḥāṣ, a great Jewish learned man. After reading the letter, he mockingly said: " If your statements are true, it should be said that Allah is poor and we are rich, for if He ".were not poor, He would not ask us for loan

To fly from accepting Islam, some disbelievers sought a pretext and said that Allah had covenanted with them that they would believe in only a prophet who brought them an animal to offer, and a lightning from heaven would burn that victim in front of .the eyes of people. It was then that they might be assure of his prophethood

This verse was revealed in order that the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) would tell those pertinacious seekers of pretext that: if they were right, why did they not believe in the prophets before the Prophet of Islam ? Commentary: verse ١٨٥

! Death, a General Destiny

At first, this verse points to a law that involves all the living creatures of the world. It :says

"... Every one tastes death "

In fact, most people are willing to forget their mortality, but this is a reality that even if .we forget it, it (the death) will never forget us

Then, it says that after the life of this world, the stage of receiving the fruit of deeds :(whether good reward or retribution) begins. It says

"... And verily you will be paid in full your reward on the Resurrection Day ..."

Then, it adds that those who remove from the effect of the absorption of Hell Fire and enter Heaven, they are saved and have found their beloved and demanded ideal. It :says

Then whoever is removed from the Fire and admitted into Paradise, he indeed is ..."
"... ;prosperous

.As if, Hell absorbs human beings with all its power towards itself

Yes, verily the factors which attract man towards it, are some astonishing attractions.
Do the fleeting desires, unlawful sexual pleasures, unlawful positions and properties
? not have attraction for every human being

:In the next sentence, it completes the former discussion by saying

".and the life of this world is not but a provision of deception ..."

Commentary: verse ١٨٦

After emigrating Muslims from Mecca to Medina, pagans began to encroach and to plunder their wealth and properties in Mecca. Whomever they could find, they hurt and troubled. On the other hand, the Jews in Medina told them words of sarcasm. They even sang odes for Muslim women and girls with full impudence, or they (the Jews) libelled them. The Jewish person who was leading these things was called
'Ka`b-ibn-'Ashraf

.The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) issued order that the person be killed, and thus he was killed

This verse, solacing the Muslims, recommends them to be patient and pious, because

Commentary: verse ١٨٧

The reason that there are many millions of the Christians, the Jews, and the Zoroastrians throughout the world is totally for the sake of inopportune silence of their learned people. According to the commentary of Atyab-ul-Bayān, there are more than sixty occurrences in the New Testament and Old Testament where the glad tidings of Islam and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is referred to, but the learned persons of the People of the Book have left all of them away. The sin of concealment is so important that Allah has used such a meaning for its retribution that He has applied for no other sin. The concerning verse says: "... They are those that Allah does curse (them and (also) curse them (all) those who curse (such ones)."(١)

:Explanations

Whatever concealment that causes people to remain in paganism, infidelity, . ١ ignorance and corruption is a great sin, and the concealer has a share in the sin of .people

The motive of the annihilating silences are usually obtaining wealth or social rank . ٢ .and or protecting it

" .and took a small price for it, then, how bad is what they purchase ..."

.The learned persons are responsible for their people .۳

The statement and exhibition of facts must be done in a way that nothing be .۴

And (remember) when Allah took a pledge from those who were given the Book "

Do not think those who rejoice in what they have done and love to be praised for " ١٨٨ what they have not done, so do not think that they would be safe from the ".punishment and they will have a painful torment

Commentary: verse ١٨٨

There are always some hypocrites in the society who like to be treated, in spite of their hypocrisy, as the believers. It is exactly similar to the cowards who wish to be entitled with bravery, and the ignorants and people with a little knowledge who are ! pleased to be called ` learned

Sometimes they appear in the society with a state to inspire people that they have the best titles and ranks. But these persons are some deceitful ones who never embrace .prosperity

:Basically, people are divided into three groups

Those who strive with effort and endeavour and intend that none know it but Allah. ١

The example of this group is those who say: "... no reward do we desire from you, nor (thanks." (١)

.Those who work with the motive that people know it and praise them ٢

Those who expect people to praise them without doing anything good. Such ٣ .persons are referred to in this verse

Commentary: verse ۱۹۰

It is cited in the commentary books by Fakhr Rāzī, Qurtubī and Marāqī that once `Āyishah was asked what the best memory was that she remembered from the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). She replied that all the affairs of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) were wonderful, but the most important one of all was that one night the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was relaxing in the house where `Āyishah was living. Before having a rest, he suddenly stood up and wore his clothing, made ablution and began praying. He shed tears so much so that the front of his clothes became wet. After that he bowed down for prostration. When he fell prostrate he wept so much so that the ground became wet. Next morning, when Bilāl came and asked him about so much amount of tear, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " Last night some verses were revealed to me (verses ۱۹۰ to ۱۹۴, Sura 'Āl-i-'Imrān)." And then he (p.b.u.h.) added: " Woe to the one who recites
".these verses and does not contemplate

Again, in the commentary book by Fakhr Rāzī, a tradition has been narrated from Hadrat Ali (a.s.) who said: " The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) used to recite these (verses before his midnight prayers." (۱)

In another tradition we have also been recommended to recite these

It is narrated from one of the companions of Imam Ali (a.s.) by the name of `Nuf Bakkalī' who said: One night he was at the presence of Hadrat Ali (a.s.). He (a.s.) got up from his bed and recited these verses

Then Imam asked him whether he was awake or asleep, and Bakkalī answered he was awake. Then Hadrat Ali (a.s.) said: " Blessed are the persons who did not accept (the taints of the earth." (1)

.The remembrance of Allah in all conditions of a person is the sign of wisdom

Commentary: verse ١٩٣

Perhaps, the purpose of the Arabic term /ḏunūb/ `sins', occurred in this verse, is `the great sins', and the purpose of the term /sayyi'ah/ `sin' is a lesser sin'; as in the following holy verse, /sayyi'āt/ (lesser sins) has occurred in comparison with /kabā'ir/ (great sins): " If you shun the great sins which you are forbidden, We will do away with \(your small sins ..." (١)

And, maybe, the purpose of the Qurānic term /sayyi'āt / is the effects of sins

While in this world the wise say: " Verily we have heard (the invitation of), ...", there are some persons who are heedless to this invitation

Certainly on the Resurrection Day, they regretfully will say: ` We wish we would hearken to the words of Allah and had obeyed His command ', as the Qur'ān refers to them in Sura Al-'An`ām, No. ٦, verse ٣١; and Sura Az-Zumar, No. ٣٩, verse ٥٦

:Explanations

Commentary: verse ١٩٤

In these verses, Allah has illustrated the way and manner of 'the wise' and 'the people of understanding', such that they are qualified with these qualities: the remembrance of Allah, the thought of attaining to 'wisdom', submitting to prophets, seeking Allah's forgiveness, willing to die well, and expecting to reach the bounties of Allah and saving from disgrace and notoriety

In the previous verses, the Faith of the wise unto Allah and the Resurrection was referred to. Now, in this verse, the belief in prophethood is also pointed out

;as a reward from Allah

".and Allah! with Him (only) is the Fairest Reward

Commentary: verse ١٩٥

The content of this verse follows the subject of the previous verses. It is about the .people of understanding, the possessors of intellects, and the result of their deeds

Upon the occasion of the revelation of this verse, it is said that once ` Umm-us-Salamah ' (one of the Prophet's wives) asked the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) that there are many statements mentioned in the Qur'ān about Holy war, immigration, and self-sacrifice of men, but do women have a share in them, too ? The verse was :revealed and their Lord answered this question as such

p: ۳۵۱

So their Lord responded their prayer, (saying): ` I will not waste the work of any "
" ... ,worker among you, whether male or female

There are some unaware people among non-Muslims that sometimes accuse Islam
.by saying that Islam is the religion of males, not females

.Here, this statement makes it clear that how far such people are from the Truth

Through the next words, the verse indicates that in the process of creation all human beings relate to each other, because some of them have been born from some .others, ie, women have been created from men and men from women

" ... .the one of you from the other ... "

:In the continuation of the verse, it concludes that

So, those who migrated and were driven out of their homes and suffered hurt in ... "

" ... ,My way, and who fought and were killed, I will certainly cover their evil deeds

Then, the Qur'ān adds that besides forgiving their sins they will certainly be placed in :Heaven containing of various bounties. It says

" ... ,and I will certainly make them enter into gardens beneath which rivers flow ... "

This is a reward bestowed by Allah which is given to them, for their self-sacrifice, and :it is, of course, of the best rewards. It says

".as a reward from Allah; and Allah! with Him (only) is the Fairest Reward ... "

This part of the verse is a hint to the fact that the godly rewards are not fully and completely recognized by the people in this world, but they ought to know that Allah's
.reward is higher and more significant than any other rewards

In Arabic Language, the term /nuzul/ is called to the first thing which the guest is

From this point of view, it seems that the verse intends to say: beware not to pervert because the gardens of Heaven are just the beginning of the reception for you, not its .main one

But those who are in awe of their Lord, for them are gardens beneath which rivers "

Commentary: verse ١٩٩

Some commentators believe that this verse has been revealed about some of the People of the Book who embraced Islam. They were included of forty people from \(Najrān, thirty two persons from Abyssinia, and eight men from Byzantine. \(1\)

Some other commentary Books denote that the verse is revealed about Negus who died in the ninth year after Immigration in the month Rajab. When the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) became aware of his death, he told Muslims that one of their brethren had died somewhere out of Arabia and they would prepare to pray his funeral prayer in compensation of his services. They asked who he was, and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said it was Negus. After that Muslims, accompanying the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.), .went into the Baqī', a graveyard in Medina, and prayed his funeral prayer

O' you who have faith! do persevere and outdo (all others) in endurance, and be " .۲۰۰
".ready (to guard the bounds), and be in awe of Allah that you may be prosperous

Commentary: verse ۲۰۰

This verse recommends kinds of perseverance and patience when confronting misfortunes, as follows: In the first stage be patient in personal adversities and .desires

"... O' you who have Faith! do persevere "

.In the second stage: persevere more against the pressure of the enemy

"... ,and outdo (all others) in endurance ..."

In the third stage: try to protect the geographical bounds against the invasions of the foreign enemies; try to protect the ideological and theological bounds by means of scientific argumentations; and try to protect the bounds of the heart (mind) from the .attack of temptations

"... ,(and be ready (to guard the bounds ..."

In Arabic language, tying something somewhere is called /rabāt/ and that is way this term is also used for an `inn', because in old times caravans used to stay there where .they kept their goods, horses, and camels

Again, it is used for a heart which is firmly tied to the grace of Allah, too. There are also some other derivations from the same root which are applied in Arabic, like: /irtibāt/ .((relationship), /marbūt/ (related), and /rābit / (communicator

In Islamic traditions, the phrase /rābitū / has been applied in the sense of `expectation for prayer'. It seems that Muslims tighten their own hearts and souls by

.the link that they create in prayers

In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful

:Introduction to the Sura

This Sura, which contains ١٧٧ verses, was revealed in Medina. Next to Sura Al-Baqarah, it is the longest Sura of the Qur'ān from the point of the number of words and letters. Its contents invite to Faith, justice, taking examples from the nations of the past, breaking the ties of friendship with the enemies of Allah, and supporting the orphans. In this Sura there are subjects such as marriage, equitable distribution of property after death, the necessity of obeying the divine leader, immigration, Holy War in the way of Allah, and so on

This Sura is entitled An-Nisā, (the women), since the first thirty five verses of it are about women and family affairs

****

:The Virtue of Studying This Sura

:According to a tradition, the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) said

Whoever recites Sura An-Nisā, as if this person has spent property in the path of" Allah as much as any Muslim inherits by virtue of the purport of this Sura, and also, a (similar reward of a person who has freed a slave, will be given to him." (١

It is evident that the purpose in this tradition, and all of the similar traditions, is not a bare recitation of the verses, but recitation is a preparation for comprehension, the which is, in its turn, a preparation for action and behaving accordingly in personal and social life. Thus, it is certain that if Muslims take lessons from the contents of the verses of this Sura and apply them in their own lives, besides their worldly advantages, they will enjoy of all these rewards .in the Hereafter

****

.Challenge against Unjust Discrimination

The first verse of this sura addresses all human beings. The content of this verse is a message to mankind as a whole. It invites them to piety and being in awe of Allah. It says

"... ,O' people! be in awe of your Lord "

Then, to introduce the Lord Who is aware of all deeds of human beings, it points to one of His attributes which is the origin of the unity of human race. It says

"... Who created you from a single soul ..."

The phrase ` a single soul ' refers to the first human being whom the Qur'ān introduces as ` 'Ādam ', the father of all human beings. The application of the term /banī'ādam/ ` the children of 'Ādam' in the Qur'ān refers to this meaning, too

:Then, in the next sentence, it says

"... and from it created its mate ..."

This means that He created Adam's wife from his nature, not from the limbs of his body. Basing on a tradition from Imam Bāqir (a.s.), the creation of Eve from one of the ribs of Adam has intensely been rejected, and it has been stipulated that Eve was created from the rest of Adam's clay

:In the next verse, it continues saying

"... and spread from them (the couple) many men and women ..."

This idea leads to the comprehension that the multiplying of the race of the children of Adam has been performed only through Adam and his wife, and no other creature has had any hand in it

Then, for the sake of the importance that piety has in the structure of the foundation of a safe and sound society, again it invites people to observing piety. It advises people to be in awe of Allah, the One Who is Great in their view, so that when they want to demand something from others, they apply His Name. It says

"... And be in awe of Allah through Whom you demand one of another ..."

:And it adds that

"... ,as well as any ties of kinship ..."

Occasion of Revelation verse ۲

At the time of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), one of the members of a tribe by the name of Banī-Qatfān had a rich brother, and it happened that the rich brother passed away. Then, as a guardian of his brother's orphans, he took his property in his possession, but when his brother's son matured and demanded it, he denied returning his right to him. The subject was explained to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Then this verse was revealed, and when the man heard it, he repented and returned the property to its owner. Then the man said: " I refuge with Allah from that I be ".polluted through the great sin

:Commentary

!Treachery in Orphans' Property Is Forbidden

In any society it happens that, as a result of some events and accidents, some .parents die and there remain some little children from them

There are three important instructions upon the property of orphans mentioned in
.this verse

:At first, it instructs as such ۱

"... ,And give the orphans their property "

This ordinance means that your interference in these properties is in the rank of a

.trustee and as an inspector, not as a possessor

p: २१३

The second instruction is to prevent guardians from devouring the property of .۲
.orphans

Sometimes it happens that some guardians of the orphans, under the pretext that changing the property of the orphan is beneficial for the orphan, or it makes no difference to change it, or if it remains it will be wasted, take the best and choice parts of the properties of the orphans and put their own bad and undemanded properties in :their places. The Qur'ān says

"..., (and do not exchange something bad (of yours) for something good (of theirs ..."

:The third instruction has been added as follows .۳

"... ;nor devour their property along with your own ..."

This sentence means that: do not mix the property of the orphans with your own property so that its result ends to the possession of the whole. Or, do not mix your undesirable property with their good property so that its result be treading the rights .of the orphans

At the end of the verse, to emphasize and prove the importance of the matter, that :this kind of transgression to the property of the orphans is a great sin, it says

" .for) it is surely a great crime) ..."

but if you (still) fear that you will not act justly (between them) then (marry) only one
.or someone your right hands have acquired

".That is more proper, that you may not deviate from equity

:Occasion of Revelation

Before Islam, it was customary in Arabia among many people that they took the orphan girls to their houses under the name of defraying and guardianship and then they married them and appropriated their property, too. They assigned even their dowries less than what the ordinary amount was, since every thing was in their own hand, and when they felt the least inconvenience from them, they would easily leave them off

At that time the verse was revealed and instructed the guardians of the orphans that they could marry the girl orphans if they observed justice about them completely

Commentary: verse ۳

In this verse, another right, out of the rights of the orphans, is pointed out. It admonishes that at the time of marrying the girl orphans, if you fear that you cannot observe the right and justice about the conditions of matrimony, as well as their property, relinquish marrying them and refer to other women. It says

And, if you fear that you cannot act equitably towards orphans, then marry "

"... ,those women who seem good to you

Then, it adds that you may choose from among them two or three or four to marry
:with. It says

"... ;two, or three, or four ..."

So, immediately after that it continues saying that this is in the case that you keep the perfect justice. But, if you fear that you do not observe justice unto those wives of yours, you must suffice to only one wife, so that you keep away from imposing cruelty
:and transgression against others. It says

,but if you (still) fear that you will not act justly (about them) then ( marry) only one ..."
" ...

Or, instead of taking a second wife, you may take advantage of the She-slave that you have, because their conditions are less heavy, although they must enjoy of their :own rights, too. it says

"... .or someone your right hands have acquired ..."

This action choosing only one wife or your slave, better prevents you from cruelty and :deviating from the path of equity. It says

".That is more proper that you may not deviate from equity ..."

:Justice about Wives

What a man is enjoined to observe in justice about his wife is the observance of the equity in one's practical conditions and outward aspects of life, because applying justice in heartily affections is out of the ability of man. \(1

---

It can be said that the wisdom of polygamy lies in the following: ۱. The number of ۱ - ۱ death for men in wars and accidents is larger than that of women and, therefore, some women become widows. ۲. Women have monthly periods when no association occurs. ۳. Few of the young men are willing to marry a widow woman. ۴. Not all of the husbandless widows are pious or have the power to control themselves. Therefore, either, for the consent of the first husband, the rights of the widows should be ignored, or the problem must be solved by a project. Thus, basing on some conditions, .men can marry a second wife in order to solve the difficulty of the both parties

:Explanations

Islam is the supporter of the deprived class of the society, especially the orphans, .١
and the girl orphans in particular, emphatically on the subject of chastity, matrimony,
.and misusing them

It is not necessary to be assured of inequity of yourself to abandon marrying the .٢
.orphans, but probability and fear from it of your own side, is enough either

.In choosing a wife, heartily willing is a principal .٣

.On the whole, Islam agrees with conditioned polygamy for men .٤

" .to give up to you something of it, then consume it with pleasure and wholesomely

Commentary: verse ٤

Concerning the above verse where this term has been applied, it can be explained that the Arabic term /niḥlah/, as Rāqib Esfahānī has said, is derived from /naḥl/ in the sense of 'bee'. Since a bee gives honey to people and expects nothing, so, a present .is also called /niḥlah

An Islamic tradition indicates that the finest properties should be used in three occasions: ١. Dowry ٢. Hajj pilgrimage ٣. Shroud. If you spend your best properties in \(١\) paying dower, your offsprings will be of the righteous.

Explanations

١ .Paying dower of the wife (which is her right) is obligatory .

٢ .Dower sum is not the rate of a lady, but it is a wedding gift and the sign of affection .
and friendship

" ... ,And give women their dowries as a free gift "

٣ .Dowry is the gift of man to the woman, and never it is her cost .

However, we must know that dower is a financial support for the woman at the .probable time of separation and as a compensation of her damage ٤ .A woman has the right of possession of her dower. Thus, the parents and relatives . of the lady have no right at all to take it for themselves

٥ .A woman is free to take her dowry or donate it .

Commentary: verse ۵

In Islamic literature distrustful winebibbers, in Arabic, are called /safih/ 'feeble-minded'. Therefore, personal properties and public properties should not be put under .the authority of some unreliable persons

Some Islamic traditions indicate that the vast sense of the term "feeble -minded" covers evil-doers, too. The secret that property should not be given unto their control
.is that ' property ' is the consistence of the society

Thus, giving any position, responsibility and secret information, upon which the consistence of the society depends, to the persons who are habitually wrong-doers, is
.not right

:Explanations

Those who are feeble-minded, winebibbers, and unrestrained should not be . ۱ .authoritative in economy and wealth

When the feeble-minded have authority over even their own property, it is . ۲
.economically harmful for your property, too

.(It is notable that the verse says: " your property " and it does not say: their property)

And do not give the feeble-minded your property which Allah has made for you a "
"... ,(means of) support

In daily affairs, economical expediencies of the society and mental development . ۳
.ought to be noted to

"...And do not give the feeble-minded your property "

p: ۳۷۰

.The feeble-minded persons are not admissible to use their properties themselves .۴

The financial and economical authorities of the system should be chosen from .۵
.among some upright and experienced persons

"... And do not give the feeble-minded "

The contractors of the economical agreements must not be some wrong-doers and .۶
.sinners

Wealth is a means of rising-up. Then, if wealth is not utilized as a means of rising-up .۷ in a country, the economical system there is ill and its executor is a feeble-minded
.person even if he has got P.H.D. in economics

.Wealth is for the consistence of life, economics, and the leaver of the system .۸

"... ,which Allah has made for you a (means of) support ..."

Capitals must not remain stagnantly. The wealth of the orphans and the feeble- .۹ minded persons should also be applied in the current of production and profitableness, so that its income can be enough for their lives to run and nothing of .their capital would be spent

"... ,but feed them and clothe them therewith ..."

.The spiritual status and personality of the deprived must be regarded to .۱۰

.property of the orphans) and whoever is poor, let him devour reasonably

;Then, when you make over to them their property, take witnesses over them

".and Allah is enough as a Reckoner

Commentary: verse ۶

Another instruction has been given in this verse about the orphans and the fate of :their property. It begins thus

"...And do test the orphans until they reach the age of marriage "

Then, it continues saying that, at this time, if you find enough maturity in them that :they are able to run their affairs upon their own property, return it to them. It says

"...Then, if you find in them maturity, make over to them their property ..."

Here, it remarks to the guardians again that they should not devour the property
:belonging to the orphans wastefully before the orphans grow up. It says

"...;and do not consume it wastefully and hastily lest they should grow up ..."

Another matter is that if the guardians of the orphans are rich, they must never take anything, under any plea, from the property of the orphans. But if they are poor, for the labours they bear to protect orphans' properties, they, observing justice, can only take their recompenses from those properties. Here is the :concerning statement and whoever (of the guardians) is rich, let him abstain (from taking something of ..."

p: ۳۷۲

"....the property of the orphans) and whoever is poor, let him devour reasonably

Then, it refers to the last ordinance of this group of ordinances about the guardians of the orphans. It orders that when you want to deliver their property to them, to avoid :any accusation or any conflict, take witnesses. It says thus

"...;Then, when you make over to them their property, take witnesses over them ..."

At the end of the verse it remarks that you must know that the real reckoner is Allah and the most important thing is this fact that your account is clear with Him. So, if you commit any treachery, which is concealed to the witnesses, He will reckon it.
:Therefore, it says

".and Allah is enough as a Reckoner ..."

Commentary: verse ۹

As the Islamic literature denotes, devouring the wealth of orphans has reflections both in this world and in the coming world. In this world, as the verse indicates, the damage reaches to the offsprings, and in the Hereafter, there will be the Hell Fire (which is referred to in the next verse).

The meaning of the verse may refer to the prohibition of abnormal donations and bequests that they bequeath or remit the whole property they have lest their small (and weak children be left in poverty and misfortune after their death).

Again, the verse may work as a recommendation to those who have handicapped (offsprings in order that, by proper plannings, they would provide for their future).

:Explanations

We must substitute the conditions of others with those of ours, to recognize the .۱

In Tafsir Al-Mizān, this verse has been taken as an evidence for the embodiment of deeds in Hereafter. (۱) Devouring the property of the orphan will turn to Fire on Resurrection Day

Devouring the property of the orphan is unlawful when it is done unjustly and with transgression. You do not know which of your parents .and your children is closer to you in usefulness

".This is) an ordinance from Allah. Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise)

Commentary: verse ۱۱

There are ordinances of inheritance mentioned in some other religions, too. For instance, in the Torah, the Book of Numbers, Chapter ۲۷, verses ۸ to ۱۱ some laws of :inheritance are referred to. They are as follows

And thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel, saying, If a man die, and have no ۸ son, then ye shall cause his inheritance to pass unto his

.daughter

.And if he have no daughter, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his brethren .۹

And if he have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his father's .۱۰
.brethren

And if his father have no brethren, then ye shall give his inheritance unto his .۱۱ kinsman that is next to him of his family, and he shall possess it: and it shall be unto \(the children of Israel a statute of judgment, as the Lord commanded Moses.\)

It should also be noted that Jesus (a.s.) has approved, in the Bible, the same law of the .Turah

In Islam, the inheritance of a person, who has no inheritor, is given to the Islamic judge and Imam

.The pre-Islamic Arab deprived women and small children from inheritance

:The Portions of Inheritance

In this verse, the ordinance of the first class of inheritors (children, fathers, and .mothers) has been mentioned

:At first, it says

Allah enjoins you concerning your children: The male shall have the equal of the "
"...;portion of two females

This meaning is a kind of emphasis on the portion of daughters taking from the inheritance and challenging with the traditions of the people in the Age of Ignorance
.who deprived women totally

Then the verse denotes that if the heirs of the deceased are exclusively two daughters
:or more than that, two-thirds of the inheritance belongs to them. It says and if they are more than two females, then they will have two-thirds of the ..."

"...;inheritance

But if there remains only one daughter, she will have half of the

p: ३४१

---

The Holy Bible containing the Old and New Testaments, Printed by: London, the १ – १ British and Foreign Bible Society

:whole inheritance. The verse says

"... ;and if there is (only) one, she will have the half ..."

Now, the inheritance of fathers and mothers, who are also involved in the first class of inheritors and are in the same row with the children, is classified in three states

The first state: is when the diseased person has an offspring or offsprings; then there will be one sixths of the inheritance for the father and again the same portion for mother. It says thus and as for his parents, each of them shall have a sixth part of the inheritance if he ..."

"... ,has a child

The second state: is when there exists no child and the inheritors are only the parents. In this case one thirds of the whole wealth belongs to the mother and the rest of it belongs to the father, as the verse says but if he has no child and his parents be his heirs, then his mother shall have the ..."

"... ,third

The third state: is when the inheritors are only parents and he has no offspring but he has brother(s) from the side of his parents or only from the side of his father. Then, the portion of the mother decreases from one third to one-sixth and the remaining five-sixth of the inheritance belongs to the father. It says

"... ,and if he has brothers, then his mother shall have the sixth ..."

In fact, brothers, who do not inherit anything, prevent the additional amount of the inheritance of the mother, and that is why, in Arabic language, they are called: /ḥājib/ chamberlain

Then, the Qur'ān says that all of these things are after fulfilling the bequest that the diseased has bequeathed, and paying his debts, saying thus

"... .after (the payment of) a bequest he may have bequeathed or a debt ..."

It should be noticed, of course, that only one third of the property can be bequeathed on. Therefore, if a person bequeaths more than that, it is not valid unless the heirs .permit

:In the next sentence, it says

You do not know which of your parents and your children is closer to you in ..."
"... .usefulness

p: ۳۸۲

:Then, at the end of the verse, it remarks that

" .This is) an ordinance from Allah. Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise) ..."

This statement is considered as an emphasis upon the former subjects so that there .remains no place for people to bargain about the laws of the portions of heritage

?Why Is the Heritage of Man Equal of the Portion of Two Women

With reference to the Islamic literature we realize that this question has actively .existed in the minds of people since the beginning of Islam

.They sometimes asked questions from the leaders of Islam on this regard

For example, it is narrated that Imam Ali-ibn-Musa-r-Ridā, in answer to this question, said: " The fact that the portion of women from inheritance is equal to the half of the portion of men is for the reason that when a lady marries she takes something (dower) and man should give something. In addition to that, the life expenses of the wife is upon the man while a woman has no responsibility for the expenses of man as (well as that of herself." (1

:Inheritance of Spouses from Each Other

In this verse, the explanation of the inheritance of spouses from each other is stated.

:The verse, says

"...And you will have half of what your wives leave, if they have no child "

But if they have a child or children, even if they are from another husband, only one

:fourth of her property belongs to you. It says

"... ,But if they have a child, then you shall have a fourth of what they leave ..."

This distribution is, of course, after paying the debts of the wife and fulfilling her

:bequests upon financial affairs, as the verse says

"... ;after (the payment of) any bequest they may have bequeathed or a debt ..."

And, if you have not any child, there will be a fourth of your inheritance for your wives. It

:says

"... ,and they shall have a fourth of what you leave if you have no child ..."

Then, the portion of your wives will be one eighth of your property, except for the land

.the explanation of which is stated in jurisprudential books

It is in the case that you have a child, even though this child is from another wife. It

:says

"...but if you have a child, then they shall have an eighth of what you leave ..."

This division, similar to the previous division, is also done after the fulfillment of the :bequest you have bequeathed and paying the debts. The verse, continues saying

"... .after (the payment of) a bequest you may have bequeathed or a debt ..."

:Then, it states the ordinance of the inheritance of sisters and brothers, when it says

And if a man or a woman leaves property to be inherited by neither parents nor ..." offspring, and he (or she) has a brother or a sister, then each of them two shall have a

"...sixth

The Arabic term /kalālah/ is used for the maternal sisters and brothers who have inheritance from the diseased person. This situation is in the condition that there remains a maternal brother and sister from the diseased person. But if they are more than one they will have, on the whole, one third. That is .they must divide one third of the property among themselves

p: ۳۸۵

"...but if they are more than that, they shall be sharers in a third ..."

Then it adds that this is in the case that the bequest be performed formerly and the .debts be separated from the property

"... after (the payment of) any bequest ..."

And, it is in the condition that it does not harm the inheritors through the bequest or .confessing a debt

"... (that does not harm (others ..."

:So, at the end of the verse, for an emphasis, it says

".This is) an ordinance from Allah, and Allah is Knowing, Forbearing) ..."

That is, this is a divine order which you must respectedly observe and He, Who has enjoined you these ordinances, is cognizant of your interests and expedients, and He is also aware of the intentions of the testators; yet, in the meantime, He is Forbearing .and does not punish promptly those who treat against His command

Commentary: verse ١٣

Following the discussion of inheritance in the previous verse, here, in this verse, the :concerning laws are referred to as 'the divine limits', where it says

"... ;These are limits (set) by Allah "

.These are some limits which are forbidden to pass over or transgress

Therefore, those who transgress and break the bounds of these laws are known as .sinners and criminals

:Then, it speaks about those who respect these limits by observing them, saying

,and whoso obeys Allah and His Messenger ..."

"... ;He will admit him into gardens beneath which rivers flow, to abide therein forever

:And, at the end of the verse, it adds

".and this is the great success ..."

،And whoso disobeys Allah and His Messenger, and transgresses His limits " .١٤

" .He will admit him in Hell-Fire, to abide therein, and he shall have an abasing torment

Commentary: verse ١٤

In this verse, other side of the coin is discussed about and those groups, who are :opposite to the people mentioned in the previous verse, are referred to. It says

،And whoso disobeys Allah and His Messenger, and transgresses His limits "

"... ,He will admit him in Hell-Fire, to abide therein

Then, at the end of the verse, the final fate of such people is pointed out, where it :says

" .and he shall have an abasing torment ..."

In the former sentence, the bodily punishment of the Lord was referred to, while in this concluding sentence, which speaks about abasing torment, the spiritual aspect of .that punishment is pointed out

***

And as for those of your women who are guilty of lewdness, call to witness four of " ۱۵ you (Muslims) against them; then if they bear witness (to the fact), confine them to ".the houses until death takes them away or Allah makes some way for them

Commentary: verse ۱۵

The punishment of filthy women who have husband and are polluted with lewdness is :pointed out in the above verse, where it says

And as for those of your women who are guilty of lewdness, call to witness four of " "...;you (Muslims) against them

:Then, the verse continues saying

then if they bear witness (to the fact), confine them to the houses until death takes ..." ... them away

Thus, the punishment of lewdness for the women who have husband has been .assigned `life imprisonment' in this verse

:But, immediately after that, it says

"..or Allah makes some way for them ..."

From the above mentioned sense, it is understood that this ordinance had been a temporary ordinance, because later the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) issued the divine ordinance of `stoning', the explanation of which is found in Islamic literature and the .books of jurisprudence where you may refer to it

Commentary: verse ١٦

In this verse the ordinance of fornication is stated. It indicates that the man and woman, who have not spouses and commit this indecent action, lewdness, both must :be punished. It says

"... ;And when two of you commit it (lewdness) punish them both "

,The punishment mentioned in this verse is a general punishment while verse No. ٢ from Sura Nūr, No. ٢٢١, which assigns one hundred stripes for each .of the two parties, can be a commentary and an explanation upon the above verse

At the bottom of the verse, it points to the matter of repentance and forgiveness :about these kinds of sinners, and says but if they repent and amend, then turn aside from them. Verily Allah is Oft- ..." ".returning (to mercy), the Merciful

In the meantime, it is understood from this ordinance that the persons who have .repented of their faults should never be blamed for their former sins

Verily repentance with Allah is only for those who do evil ignorantly and then " ١٧ .

Commentary: verse ١٧

In the previous verse, the subject of the fulfilment of stripes upon those who commit indecency, fornication, as their punishment with repentance, was clearly stated. In :the above verse, some of its conditions are mentioned, too. It says

"...Verily repentance with Allah is only for those who do evil ignorantly "

The purpose of the usage of the term 'ignorantly' in the above mentioned verse is the violence of instincts and the domination of the strong low desires, and their conquest over the strength of intellect and faith. In this state, the knowledge of man about sins, although does not vanish completely, under the influence of those strong instincts becomes affected and, actually, remains futile. So, when the knowledge of man loses
.its effect, it will practically be equal to ignorance

In the next sentence, the Qur'ān has pointed to one of other conditions of repentance,
:where it says

"... and then repent soon ..."

That is, they regret from their actions soon and return to Allah, since a complete repentance is that which, on the whole, wipes out the remaining effects of sins from
.the spirit and mind of the person

:After mentioning the conditions of repentance, the verse concludes as such

So, these are they toward whom Allah returns (mercifully) and Allah is All-Knowing, ..."

Commentary: verse ١٨

:Those whose repentance is not accepted is referred to in this verse. It says

And repentance is not for those who go on doing evil deeds until death comes to one " :of them, he says

"...!, Verily now I repent`

The second group whose repentance is also not accepted are those who pass away :while they are infidels. The verse says about them

"... .nor for those who die while they are disbelievers ..."

In fact, the verse indicates that those who have repented from their sins and they had been safe and sound and had a good faith, but at the time of death they were not .faithful, their former repentance is futile, too

:At the end of the verse, it says about both groups

".Those are they for whom We have prepared a painful torment ..."

:Occasion of Revelation

It is narrated from Imam Bāqir (a.s.) that the above verse was revealed about the men who used to keep their wives without treating with them as a spouse, waiting for

Commentary: verse ١٩

Commentary: verse ٢٠

At the Age of Ignorance, when some men desired to marry another wife, he would denigrate his first wife so that she had to remit her dower in order that the husband might divorce her. After that, the husband could marry another woman with the same dower that he had taken back. This verse blames the custom of the pagans of that .time

:Explanations

١ .Remarriage is admissible from the point of Islam

" ... And if you intend to take one wife in place of another "

٢ .Divorce is in the authority of man

٣ Islam is the defender of the rights of women, and prohibits it if the second marriage
.might waste the rights of the first wife

" ... and you have given one of them considerable property ... "

٤ .Wives have possession and their whole wealth must be given to them completely

" ... then do not take anything of it ... "

One of the customs in the pre-Islamic era of Ignorance was that whenever a person (passed away, his offsprings would marry their step mother (their fathers' wife

It happened that one of the Helpers, called Abū-Qays, passed away and his son suggested to marry his step mother. The woman said that she should ask the matter from the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.). When she went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and told him the matter, this verse was revealed and prohibited the marriage with step .mother

And (it is forbidden to you) that you should have two sisters together (at the same time), except what has already passed, ".verily Allah is Forgiving, Merciful

In this verse, those women with whom marriage is forbidden are pointed out. This prohibition comes forth through three ways: 1) Birth of progeny, genealogical (relationship; 2) marriage, (casual relationship); 3) suckling, (foster relationship)

The marriages with the above mentioned relatives, which had occurred before the revelation of this verse, were forgiven. The prohibition of marriage with some relatives had been enjoined in the former divine religions, too. For example, the :Torah, book of Leviticus, Chapter 18, verses 6 to 22 are as follows

None of you shall approach to any that is near of kin to him, to uncover their . 6
.nakedness: I am the LORD

The nakedness of thy mother, shalt thou not uncover: She is thy mother; thou shalt . 7
.not uncover her nakedness

The nakedness of thy father's wife shalt thou not uncover: it is thy father's . 8

Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mother's sister: for she is thy . 13
.mother's near kinswoman

Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's brother, thou shalt not . ۱۴
.approach to his wife: she is thine aunt

Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy daughter in law: she is thy son's wife; . ۱۵
.thou shalt not uncover her nakedness

Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy brother's wife: it is thy brother's . ۱۶
.nakedness

Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of a woman and her daughter, neither shalt .17 thou take her son's daughter, or her daughter's daughter, to uncover her nakedness;
.for they are her near kinswomen: it is wickedness

Neither shalt thou take a wife to her sister, to vex her, to uncover her nakedness, .18
.beside the other in her life time

Also thou shalt not approach uncover to a woman to uncover her nakedness, as .19
.long as she is put apart for her uncleanness

Moreover thou shalt not lie carnally with thy neighbour's wife, to defile thyself with .20
.her

And thou shalt not let any of thy seed pass through the fire to Molech, neither shalt .21
.thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD

.Thou shalt not lie with mankind, as with womankind: it is abomination .22

:Neither shalt thou lie with any beast to defile thyself therewith .23

.neither shall any woman stand before a beast to lie down thereto: it is confusion

:Explanations

The authority of enjoining things to be unlawful (such as alcoholic liquore, some .1
.bargains, and married women) is wholly up to Allah Forbidden to you (in marriage) are your mothers, and your daughters, and your " sisters, and your parental aunts and your maternal aunts, and daughters of your brother and daughters of your sister, and your mothers that have suckled you, and "... ,your foster sisters, and the mothers of your wives

Consider the daughters of your wife from her previous husband who are brought .2 into your house, as your own daughters, and be as a trainee for them, since you are .their father and your step-daughters who are in your guardianship (born) of your wives to ..." whom you have gone in, but if you have not gone in to them, then there shall not be a " ..., (sin on you (to marry their daughters

The wives of your sons, who are from your own dynasty, are unlawful for you to .۳
.marry, and the wives of your adopted sons, as well

"...and the wives of your sons who are of your own loins ..."

The contemporary marriage with two sisters usually draws them toward personal jealousy and competition and, finally, their love and affections may be led to detestation. The prohibition may be for this reason. The verse says

And (it is forbidden to you) that you should have two sisters together (at the same ..."

In 'Ikmāl-ud-Din' a tradition, through 'Jābir-il-Ju'fi', is narrated from 'Jābir-ibn-'Abdillāh' thus: "I said: 'O Messenger of Allah, we have known Allah and His Apostle; then who is 'Ulul-Amr', those that Allah has made their obedience the same as your obedience?' Then, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: 'O Jābir! they are, after me, my successors and the Guides) of Muslims; the first of them is Ali-ibn-Abitalib; then (Imam) Hassan, and (Imam) Husain; then Ali-ibn-il-Husain; then Mohammad-ibn- Ali; known) in the Turah as Bāqir, whom you will see. O Jābir! When you visit him, give my regards to him. After him, there is Sādiq, Ja`far-ibn-Muhammad; and ;after him Mūsa-ibn-Ja`far; then Ali-ibn-Mūsā; then Muḥammad-ibn-Ali (then Ali-ibn-Muhammad, then Hassan-ibn-Ali; and after him (there comes Al-Ghā'im whose name and sir-name is the same as mine. He is Allah's Authority on the Earth and His Remainder amongst His servants. He is the son of (Imam) Hassan-ibn-Ali (al-'Askarī). This is the very personality by whose hands Allah will open the Easts and Wests of the worlds and this is the very personality who will be absent from his followers and his lovers in which his mastership can not be proved by a statement of anyone except ".for the one whose heart Allah tests for Faith Jābir said: "I asked him: 'O' Messenger of Allah! will his followers avail of him during his occultation?' He answered: 'Yes. By the One Who appointed me to prophethood, they will seek brightness from his light and will avail by devotion in his absence the same as the availing of people from

..... Verses of the Qur'ān and Traditions

..... The List of Publications of the Library

In The Name of Allah, The Beneficent, The Merciful

As it was mentioned in the introduction of the previous volume, the main introductory preface of this endeavour has been introduced in details at the beginning of the very commentary of the Qur'ān, part one. It may acquaint you with some essential data towards the aim which can certainly be helpful along the way of studying this book

It was cited before that the demand of those who have read the former volumes of this commentary, and are anxiously waiting for the rest of the translation of the commentary of the verses of the Qur'ān to receive them as soon as possible, caused the explanatory in the substitutive volumes to be arranged rather concisely by the compilers. Therefore, in this series, from part three of the Qur'ān on, every volume consists of the exegeses of the verses of two parts of the Qur'ān. This current volume, for example, contains part five and part six. This decision was made in order that the translation of the commentary of the whole Qur'ān be supplied in a shorter period delivered in about twenty volumes, and, comparing with the earlier volumes, they be in the reach of the readers as soon as possible, and, Allah willing, sooner than the expected time

May Allah help us, as ever before, to complete this holy endeavour successfully to offer it humbly to all of the truth-seekers throughout the world. May He (s.w.t.) guide and assist all of us by the Qur'ān to pave the straight path further and further, for we mortal creatures are always in need of it

Arabic and English text of verse ۲۴

۲۴- وَالْمُحْصَنَاتُ مِنَ النِّسَاءِ إِلَّا مَا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَانُكُمْ

كِتَابَ اللَّهِ عَلَيْكُمْ

وَأَحْلَلَّ لَكُمْ مَا وَرَاءَ ذَلِكَ

أَنْ تَبْتَغُوا بِأَمْوَالِكُمْ مُحْصِنِينَ غَيْرَ مُسَافِحِينَ

فَمَا اسْتَمْتَعْتُمْ بِهِ مِنْهُنَّ فَآتُوهُنَّ أُجُورَهُنَّ فَرِيضَةً

وَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ فِيمَا تَرَاضَيْتُمْ بِهِ

مِنْ بَعْدِ الْفَرِيضَةِ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلِيمًا حَكِيمًا

And all married women (are forbidden unto you to marry) except those whom " ۲۴ .
(your right hands possess (by Allah's decree in the battle against infidels

;It is a written legislation of Allah unto you and lawful for you are (all women) besides those that you may seek (them) by means

.of your wealth (as dower) taking them into marriage and not committing fornication

Then as to those of whom you seek content (by temporary marriage), give them their
;dowries as a duty

.and there is no blame on you in whatever you mutually agree after the duty

".Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise

Point

For non-Muslims, captivity is counted as divorce. It is like the Faith of a woman that when her husband continues his infidelity and the woman

.has embraced Islam, the very belief separates her from her husband

To take in marriage a woman who has husband is unlawful from the point of Islam.

.The woman may be from any nation and with any religion

But captivity is like divorce, and a captive woman should observe a waiting term for one month (one menstruation) from the time she is captured, and if she is in pregnancy period, she must wait until she is delivered of her child. Thus, during this .period, no conjugal connection is admissible with her

This matrimonial device, as a permanent or contemporary spouse, is better than the .device of returning her to the infidels or leaving her alone with no guardian

Marrying a woman who has husband is unlawful

And all married women (are forbidden unto you to marry) except those whom your " .(right hands possess (by Allah's decree in the battle against infidels

;It is a written legislation of Allah unto you and lawful for you are (all women) besides those that you may seek (them) by means .of your wealth (as dower) taking them into marriage and not committing fornication " ...

According to several traditions narrated from the holy Imams of Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.), and also according to many commentary books recorded by the scholars of the Sunnis, this phrase of the verse refers to temporary marriage where the above-mentioned :holy verse says

Then as to those of Whom you seek content (by marriage), give them their ... " .dowries as a duty

.and there is no blame on you in whatever you mutually agree after the duty

" .Verily Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise

٢٥- وَمَنْ لَمْ يَسْتَطِعْ مِنْكُمْ طَوْلًا أَنْ يَنْكَحَ الْمُحْصَنَاتِ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ

فَمِنْ مَا مَلَكَتْ أَيْمَانُكُمْ مِنْ فَتَيَاتِكُمُ الْمُؤْمِنَاتِ

وَاللَّهُ أَعْلَمُ بِإِيمَانِكُمْ بَعْضُكُمْ مِنْ بَعْضٍ

فَانْكَحُوهُنَّ بِإِذْنِ أَهْلِهِنَّ وَآتُوهُنَّ أُجُورَهُنَّ بِالْمَعْرُوفِ

مُحْصَنَاتٍ غَيْرِ مُسَافِحَاتٍ وَلَا مُتَّخِذَاتِ أَخْدَانٍ

فَإِذَا أَحْصَيْتُمْ فَانِ اتَيْنَ بِفَاحِشِهِ فَعَلَيْهِنَّ نِصْفُ مَا عَلَى الْمُحْصَنَاتِ

مِنَ الْعَذَابِ

ذَلِكَ لِمَنْ خَشِيَ الْعَنَتَ مِنْكُمْ

وَأَنْ تَصْبِرُوا خَيْرٌ لَكُمْ وَاللَّهُ غَفُورٌ رَحِيمٌ

And whoever among you is not able to financially afford to marry free believing " ٢٥ women, then (let him marry) of those (slaves or captives) whom your right hands ;possess from among your believing maidens

,and Allah better knows your faith; you are (sprung) one from the other so marry them with the permission of their masters and give them their dowries in ,fairness

.they being chaste, not committing lewdness, nor taking paramours

,And if when they are married they commit lewdness

.their punishment is half that for free women

.This (kind of marriage) is for those among you who fear falling into evil

".But to have patience would be better for you, and Allah is Forgiving, Merciful

Following the statements about marriage, this verse expresses the conditions of marrying she slaves whose dowries and expenses are usually

:lighter and easier . At first it says

And whoever among you is not able to financially afford to marry free believing " women, then (let him marry) of those (slaves or captives) whom your right hands "...;possess from among your believing maidens

Then it adds that for recognizing their Faith, you are commissioned to hear their apparent expressions, and as for their innate thoughts and hidden secrets, it is so that .Allah knows well of your faith

" ... ,and Allah better knows your faith ... "

And, in view of the fact that some men were not so willing to marry the slave maidens, in this verse the Qur'ān remarks that all of you have come into being from only one :couple, therefore, you must not dislike marrying them. It says

" ... ,you are (sprung) one from the other ... "

Then, the Qur'ān points to one of the conditions of this marriage. It is the permission of the concerning master, while without that permission the marriage is invalid. It :says

" ... ,so marry them with the permission of their masters ... "

:Next to this statement, it says

" ... ,and give them their dowries in fairness ... "

It is understood from this sentence that an appropriate and worthy dowry should be assigned for them, and it must be given to themselves. It is also understood that their .slaves can possess some wealth when they have lawfully obtained it

The conditions of marrying the slave–women

One of the other conditions that this marriage has, is that these maidens should be taken from among those who are chaste, not from among those who commit .manifest lewdness

" ... .they being chaste, not committing lewdness, nor taking paramours ... "

In agreement with the ordinances stated upon marriage with slave maidens and supporting their rights, the holy verse continues the words about their punishment

:when they divert from the path of piety and chastity, It says

And if when they are married they commit lewdness, their punishment is half that ... "

" ... .for free women

This part of the holy verse means that they must be beaten only fifty

Then, it adds that this kind of marriage with such slave maidens is for those who are severely involved in the pressure of the sexual instinct and are not capable to marry free women. Therefore, it is not admissible for men other than them

" ... This (kind of marriage) is for those among you who fear falling into evil ... "

But, next to that, it says that being patient and avoiding such sort of marriage, from the point of some ethical and social interests, is of your gain as far as you are able to restrain yourself and you do not fall into committing sin

" ... ,But to have patience would be better for you ... "

At the end of the verse, it remarks that upon what you have done before this, Allah is Forgiving, Merciful. It says

" .and Allah is Forgiving, Merciful ... "

Section ۵: Woman's rights over her property

Point

Respect of rights of property and life Woman has as much right over her property as man Similarly in the matter of inheritance

۲۶- يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ لِيُذَيِّنَ لَكُمْ وَيَهْدِيَكُمْ سُنَنَ الَّذِينَ مِنْ قَبْلِكُمْ

وَيَتُوبَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَاللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ حَكِيمٌ

Allah desires to make clear (the way of felicity) to you, and to guide you in the " ۲۶ ways of those before you, and to turn to you (mercifully), and Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise "

Commentary: verse ۲۶

? What Are These Limitations for

Following the different ordinances in the field of marriage stated through previous verses, there may arise this question that what all these limitations and lawful restrictions are for. This verse and the two following ones answer this question

The above-mentioned verse indicates that Allah wishes to open the way of happiness and felicity to you by these instructions. It says

" ... ,Allah desires to make clear (the way of felicity) to you "

Besides that, you are not alone in this path, and Allah desires to guide you towards the correct ways and practices of those who were before you. It says

" ... ,and to guide you in the ways of those before you ... "

.In addition to that, He wants to accept your repentance

" ... ,(and to turn to you (mercifully ... "

Allah desires to return back again to you His favours and blessings that have been
.ceased for you because of your corruptions and deviations

This is in the case that you, too, return back from the deviated paths that were paved
.before Islam, in the Age of Ignorance

p: ۲۲

:At the end of the verse, it says

" .and Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise ... "

This phrase means that Allah is cognizant to His ordinances, and He has legislated
.them through His Own Wisdom for you

****

p: ۲۳

٢٧- وَاللَّهُ يُرِيدُ أَنْ يُتُوبَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَيُرِيدُ الَّذِينَ يَتَّبِعُونَ

الشَّهَوَاتِ أَنْ تَمِيلُوا مَيْلًا عَظِيمًا

And Allah desires that He should turn to you (mercifully), but those who follow " ٢٧ .
" .their lusts desire that you should deviate (with) a great deviation

Commentary: verse ٢٧

Point

At the first glance, the sexual liberty is a kind of pleasure and seeking an enjoyment. But, regarding to its personal and social evil effects, it is the greatest fall and aberration. Libertinism and lewdness, diminishes the body, entangles the thought, wastes property, and decays confidence. It spoils the desire of family formation and delivers some illegal children to the society. It causes some venereal and psychological diseases to come forth. And, briefly speaking, sexual freedom results to .the greatest captivities for human beings

:Explanations

The limitations and instructions which are ordained upon marriage are the secrets – ١ for the grace of Allah unto humankind

" ... ,(And Allah desires that He should turn to you (mercifully "

Those sensual ones who are indulged in libertinage do not satisfy by anything save – ٢
.sinking you in lusts. They want you to be their friend in their deviated path

" .that you should deviate (with) a great deviation ... "

Do not follow the way of voluptuous ones, and do not imitate them, for they are – ٣
.your enemies

but those who follow their lusts desire that you should deviate (with) a great ..."
" .deviation

***

p: ۲۴

٢٨- يُرِيدُ اللَّهُ أَنْ يُخَفِّفَ عَنْكُمْ

وَحُلِقَ الْإِنْسَانُ ضَعِيفًا

Allah desires that He should make light your burden, and man has been created " .٢٨
" .weak

Commentary: verse ٢٨

Point

In these latter three verses, a small part of the favours of Allah are mentioned, one after another. They denote that Allah explains the ordinances for you, leads you to the .way, returns His mercy to you, and takes the affairs easy for you

All these facilities are for that man is feeble against the storm of instincts, and his .ability and patience is little

:Explanation

.Islam is an easy religion. It stops nowhere

" ... ,Allah desires that He should make light your burden "

.The basis of this religion is founded on lightness, easiness, and capability

" .and man has been created weak ... "

****

٢٩- يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا لَا تَأْكُلُوا أَمْوَالَكُمْ بَيْنَكُمْ بِالْبَاطِلِ

إِلَّا أَنْ تَكُونَ تِجَارَةً عَنْ تَرَاضٍ مِنْكُمْ

وَلَا تَقْتُلُوا أَنْفُسَكُمْ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِكُمْ رَحِيمًا

O' you who have Faith! do not devour each other's property among yourselves in " ٢٩. vanity, except that it be a trade by your mutual consent, and do not kill your (own) selves (one another); verily Allah is Merciful to you

Commentary: verse ٢٩

Point

" The secret of the occurrence of the prohibiting sense: " do not kill close to the meaning of " do not devour ", a prohibition of false devouring, maybe, is for that an unsound economical system is a premise for the appearance of murder or .destruction in the society

:Explanations

Personal possession is respected while domination in others' properties is unlawful, -١ .except for correct bargaining which are perfected on mutual consent

!O' you who have Faith "

do not devour each other's property among yourselves in vanity, except that it be a " ... ,trade by your mutual consent

.A definite society, or an Ummah, has one unit of soul and a common fate -٢

" ... each other's property among yourselves ... "

Any kind of domination which is not based on `divine truth' is forbidden. Some of its -٣ instances are; usurpation, theft, barring from inheritance, gambling, defraud, falsification, and purchasing the means of mischief and sin. It is so, because all of these instances are the examples of

.vanity

"... ,do not devour each other's property among yourselves in vanity..."

Bargains should be performed on the basis of mutual consent, not compulsively or – ۴

.unwillingly

" ...,a trade by your mutual consent ... "

The life of a person is respectable. Therefore, suicide, and murdering others is – ۵

!` unlawful

" ...;(and do not kill your (own) selves (one another ... "

****

p: ۲۷

٣٠- وَمَنْ يَفْعَلْ ذَلِكَ عُذْوَانًا وَظُلْمًا

فَسَوْفَ نُصَلِّيهِ نَارًا وَكَانَ ذَلِكَ عَلَى اللَّهِ يَسِيرًا

;And whoever does this aggressively and unjustly, We will soon cast him into fire " ٣٠.

".and this is easy for Allah

Commentary: verse ٣٠

/The meaning of the Arabic words /`udwān/ and /ẓulm

The difference between the Arabic words /`udwān/ and /ẓulm/, mentioned in this verse, may be that the former is a transgression against others, while the latter encompasses the aggression towards one's own self, too

:The verse says

;And whoever does this aggressively and unjustly, We will soon cast him into fire "

".and this is easy for Allah

****

p: ٢٨

٣١- إِنَّ تَجْتَبُوا كِبَائِرَ مَا تُنْهَوْنَ عَنْهُ نَكْفِرْ عَنْكُمْ سَيِّئَاتِكُمْ

وَنُدْخِلْكُمْ مُدْخَلًا كَرِيمًا

٣١. "If you avoid the great sins which you are forbidden "

We remit from you your small sins and We cause you to enter an honourable place of " .entering

Commentary: verse ٣١

Point

:It is understood from this verse that sins are divided into two groups the minor sins and the major sins. We also recite in Sura Al-Kahf, No. ١٨, Verse ٤٩ that, on the Day of Judgement, when sinners see the record of their evil deeds, they say: "

" .... What a book this is! it does not omit a small one nor a great one

According to the Islamic literature, a great sin is a sin for which Allah has promised
.Fire to its performer

The number of great sins are mentioned differently in the Islamic narrations. Some of the pioneers among the Muslim scholars, derived from the verses of the Qur'ān and .traditions, have introduced ٣٣ great sins

.There are, of course, degrees for the great sins when comparing them

.'Therefore, some of the great sins are called ` the most major sins

:Explanations

It is necessary for us to ignore the slight offences of those whose ideological and - ١
.practical doctrine is proper

The reward of those who abandon major sins is that Allah (s.w.t.) forgives their - ٢
.minor sins

If you avoid the great sins which you are forbidden, We remit from you your small " " .sins and We cause you to enter an honourable place of entering

The total number of the major sins

The total number of the major sins, as many traditions denote, is ۳۳ sins which are :listed in the following

p: ۲۹

To associate a partner for Allah -١

(Homicide (the believers -٢

The curse of the parents -٣

To escape from Holy Struggle -٤

To devour the orphan's property -٥

Usury -٦

False accusation of unchastity to an immaculate woman -٧

Fornication -٨

Sodomy -٩

Theft -١٠

Consuming the flesh of a corpse -١١

To consume blood -١٢

To eat the flesh of swine, pig -١٣

To eat the flesh of an animal slaughtered without mentioning Allah's Name -١٤

To defraud whether by scale or by measure -١٥

Gambling -١٦

A false attestation -١٧

Despair from the grace of Allah -١٨

To feel secured from the punishment of Allah -١٩

To assist the evil-doers -٢٠

To rely on the tyrants -٢١

To swear falsely -٢٢

Rancour and deceit -٢٣

To restrain from giving others' rights -٢٤

To tell a lie -٢٥

To behave arrogantly -٢٦

Immoderation and extravagance -٢٧

Treachery -٢٨

Making little of Hajj -٢٩

To fight against Allah's saints -٣٠

To be busy with diversion and play -٣١

Magic and whatever causes trouble for others -٣٢

To drink wine -٣٣

p: ٣٠

٣٢- وَلَا تَتَمَنَّوْا مَا فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ

بِهِ بَعْضَكُمْ عَلَى بَعْضٍ لِلرِّجَالِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا كَتَبُوا

وَاللِّسَاءِ نَصِيبٌ مِّمَّا كَتَبْنَ

وَسَأَلُوا اللَّهَ مِنْ فَضْلِهِ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ بِكُلِّ شَيْءٍ عَلِيمًا

And do not covet that by which Allah has made some of you excel others. Men " ٣٢ shall have a benefit of what they earn and women shall have a benefit of what they ;earn; and ask Allah of His Grace

".verily Allah knows all things

Occasion of Revelation verse ٣٢

Upon the occasion of revelation of this holy verse, it has been cited that: Once Ummus-Salamah, a wife of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), asked him (p.b.u.h.): " Why do men go to Holy Struggle but women do not? Why has Islam legislated inheritance for us half of men's portion? We wish we were men and went to Holy Struggle like men ".and equally obtained their social position

The above verse was revealed and responded to this kind of questions and the like of .them

Commentary: verse ٣٢

For a group of Muslims, the difference of the portion of men and women in inheritance had become a question. It seemed that they did not notify that this difference was for the reason that generally the totality of the life expenditure is as a .duty upon men, while women are free from it

Besides that, the expenditure of women themselves is upon men, too. Thus, as it was mentioned before, the portion of women, can, practically, be twice as much as that of :men. Therefore, the holy verse says

p: 31

"... And do not covet that by which Allah has made some of you excel others"

It is such because, there are some secrets in each of these differences that are covered and concealed for you

Of course, it should not be misunderstood that the verse points to some actual and natural differences, not those forged differences that have been produced as a result of transgression and exploitation performed by some social classes

:Then, immediately after that, it says

Men shall have a benefit of what they earn and women shall have a benefit of ... " ... ;what they earn

This difference might be either a natural one (like the difference of the two genders: male and female with each other), or the difference resulted from the optional efforts and endeavours

Then, it adds: in stead of desiring these kinds of difference, ask Allah of His Grace and Favour that He grants you different bounties, ranks and good rewards. It is in that case that you may become some happy and prosperous persons. It says

" ...;and ask Allah of His Grace ... "

:So, at the end of the verse, it says

" .verily Allah knows all things ... "

That is, He knows whatever sort of natural or financial differences are necessary for the social regularity. Allah also knows the innate secrets of people and, therefore, He knows who has unjust desires in the heart and, on the other side, which persons think of what is proper, positive, and constructive

۳۳- وَلِكُلِّ جَعَلْنَا مَوْلَىٰ

مِمَّا تَرَكَ الْوَالِدَانِ وَالْأَقْرَبُونَ

وَالَّذِينَ عَقَدْتَ أَيْمَانُكُمْ فَ-أَتُوهُمْ نَصِيبَهُمْ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ كَانَ عَلَىٰ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ شَهِيدًا

And for everyone We have placed heirs (to inherit) of what parents and near " ۳۳ relatives leave, and as for those with whom your right hands have made a covenant, ;give them their portion

".verily Allah is ever witness over all things

Commentary: verse ۳۳

Point

The phrase: " Your right hands have made a covenant " is a hint to the contract which used to be held between two persons before Islam. Then Islam, with a slight change in it, accepted it. In Islamic jurisprudent books, this action has been entitled /dāman-i-jarīrah/. The content of this contract was so that: two persons promised that they would help each other in the life affairs, assist in the payment of compensations of one another, and one could inherit from the other. It was something similar to the insurance contract of today which indicates: if a loss comes forth for a person, the promised party pays its compensation. Islam accepted this content, but inheriting .from another one is conditioned to the lack of any heir for the deceased person

:Explanations

Assigning the standard of the portion of inheritance for relatives by the command - ۱ .of Allah

" ...(And for everyone We have placed heirs (to inherit "

A person has the right of transferring his/her possession to another one under - ۲

.some conditions

"... ,and for those with whom your right hands have made a covenant ... "

p: ۳۳

.Fulfilling a promise is obligatory -۳

" ...;give them their portion ... "

.The debtors should seek after the creditors -۴

" ...;give them their portion ... "

.The promises of a person is usually valid after that person's death -۵

.Allah is always present and witnesses the deeds -۶

".verily Allah is ever witness over all things ..."

***

p: ۳۴

Section ۶: Disagreement and reconciliation between husband and wife

Point

Superiority of men over women Wife's perverseness and desertion to effect

Duty to Allah inculcates all the other duties Niggardliness and hypocrisy condemned

۳۴- الرَّجَالُ قَوَّامُونَ عَلَى النِّسَاءِ بِمَا فَضَّلَ اللَّهُ بَعْضَهُمْ عَلَى بَعْضٍ

وَبِمَا أَنْفَقُوا مِنْ أَمْوَالِهِمْ

Commentary: verse ۳۴

Guardianship in the System of a Family

A family is a small unit of the society, similar to a large assembly of people, a family must have a single proper leader. The reason is that a leadership upon a family accomplished by several of men and women in common, is of no avail. In this form of leadership, either of husband or wife must be the chief of the family and the other should be his/her assistant and under his/her governance. Here, by this verse, the Qur'ān clearly announces that the guardianship of the family must :be given to the man of the family. It says

" ... Men have authority over women "

Of course, the purpose of this statement is not a sense of casting transgression, inequity and aggression; but the aim is producing a single, fairly regular leadership
:regarding to the necessary consultations and responsibilities

The second section of the verse is divided into two parts. In the first part it denotes that this guardianship is for some superiorities that, (for the sake of regularity of the :society), Allah has assigned for some people comparing some others. It says

" ... because Allah has made some of them to excel others ... "

And, in the second part of the statement it implies that this guardianship is for the sake of the responsibilities that men undertake along the side of financial payments
:due to women and family members. It says

" ... ,(and because they spend out of their property (for the support of women ... "

Then, it adds that: with respect to the duties women undertake at home, they are :divided into two groups

The first group are those pious women who, because of the rights Allah has set for them, are humble and protect the secrets and rights of their husband when the
:husband is absent

therefore, the good women are obedient, guarding the unseen as Allah has ... "

" ... ,guarded

That is, always, and at the absence of their husbands in particular, they commit no treachery whether from the point of property, or honour, or protecting the family secrets, and the credit and personality of their husbands. They also truly follow their .duties and responsibilities to fulfil them well

The second group are the women who usually refuse to do their duties. Thus, the .signs of disagreement and discord are seen in them

Confronting such women, men have some duties which they must follow step by step.

:At the first stage, it says

" ... ,And (as to) those (women) on whose part you fear desertion, admonish them ... "

:For the second stage, it says

" ... ,and avoid them in beds ... "

And, in the third stage, when the discord, disobedience, and the state of heedlessness toward the duties and responsibilities, the limits are transgressed, and the wife severely continues stubbornness and law breaking, so that neither admonishment nor separation from bed, nor heedlessness of man unto her, has any effect and avail,

:there remains no way save harshness. So, it says

" ... ;and beat them ... "

It is certain, of course, that if one of these stages affects positively and the woman starts doing her duties, the man has no right to hurt her under any pretext. That is

:why, immediately after stating this phrase, the Qur'ān continues saying

" ... ;then if they obey you, do not seek a way against them ... "

At the end of the verse, it warns men again that they should not abuse their position of guardianship in the family. They ought to think of Allah Whose Power is above all

:powers. It says

" .verily Allah is Ever-High, Ever-Great ... "

:The Family Peace Court

In this holy verse, the Qur'ān refers to the discord which happens between a couple, it
:says

And if you fear a breach between the couple, then appoint a judge from his people "
"... and a judge from her people

:Then, it continues saying

"... ;If they both desire agreement, Allah will effect harmony between them ..."

And, in order to warn the concerning arbitrators to employ good intention in the course, it concludes the verse with this sense that Allah is aware of their intentions. It
:says

".Verily Allah is Knowing, All-Aware ... "

The ` family peace court ', which has been referred to in this verse, is one of the distinguished works of Islam. This kind of peace-court, compared with ordinary courts, has some privileges that cannot be found in other courts. A few of these :privileges are as follows

In family environment the treatments cannot be dry and performed legally – ۱ according to the spiritless court regulations. Hence, the Qur'ān instructs that the arbitrators of this court must be of those who have kinship with the couple and are able to move their sentiments along the path of .reconciliation

In ordinary courts the two sides of the conflict have to divulge the secrets they –۲ have in order to defend themselves. Here, it is certain that if either of woman or man manifest their conjugal secrets for some strangers, they may hurt the feelings of each other so violently that if they be returned home forcefully, there will not exist
.any sign of their previous sincerity and love between them

In ordinary courts, judges are often inattentive in the course of dispute, while in the –۳ family peace-court, the arbitrators usually do their best to settle peace and sincerity
.between those two spouses and try to return them home

Moreover, such a family court has none of the problems and heavy expenditures –۴
.for the couple that the ordinary courts have

".Verily Allah does not love the one who is proud, boastful

Commentary: verse ٣٦

In this verse, some different rights are spoken about. They are irrespective of the rights of Allah, and the rights of people, and also some civilities of social life. On the .whole, there are ten commandments mentioned in the verse

The first theme therein is that it invites people to worship and servitude to Allah – ١ while they should abandon idolatry and infidelity. This godly manner is the root of all Islamic agenda. The act of following the notion of Unity and theism, purifies the soul, clarifies the intention, strengthens the will, and tightens the decision for performing .any right and useful action in the cause of Allah

Since the verse is to state a series of Islamic rights, before referring to anything else, .it points to the right of Allah upon people "... ,And worship Allah and do not associate anything with Him "

:Then, it adds –٢

"... ,and do good to the parents..."

The right of parents is one of the subjects which has been repeatedly

p: ٤٠

emphasized in the holy Qur'ān. There is fewer matters that have been recommended so much in it. In four occurrences of the Qur'ān this idea has been mentioned after the subject of Unity

–۳:Next to that, it continues saying

"... ,and to the kindred ..."

This subject is also one of the themes that has been emphasized abundantly in the ,Qur'ān. It has sometimes been referred to as ` blood ties and sometimes has been enjoined under the commandment of ` doing good to the ! kindred

Then it pays to the rights of orphans, and encourages the believing people to doing –۴ good unto the ` orphans'. The reason of this emphasis is that, as a result of different incidents, there always exist some orphan children in every society that forgetting them, not only spoils their condition but also puts the situation of the society in .danger

"... ,and the orphans ..."

–۵:Next to that, the Holy Qur'ān reminds us the ` rights' of the needy ones

"... ,and the needy ..."

The reason of this remembrance is that: in every society there are usually some handicapped persons, some feeble ones, and the like of them that leaving them out is .against all the principles of humanity

After that, the verse recommends to doing good unto the neighbours who are near –۶ :to us. It says

"... ,and the neighbour close to you ..."

–۷: The neighbours who are strangers to us are then recommended. It says

"... ,and the neighbour who is a stranger ..."

The `right of neighbourhood ' is so important in Islam that Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) has stated about it thus: " The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) instructed about them so much that we thought he might enjoin that they would inherit from each ".other

Another tradition denotes that one day it happened that the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.)
".three times said: " By Allah, he does not believe

p: ۴۱

A person asked him (p.b.u.h.) whom he meant, and the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said: " The person whose neighbour is not in security from his molestation." (1)

After that, the Qur'ān has recommended about those who are friends and – ۸
:companions. It says

"... ,and the companion in a journey..."

The Arabic phrase: /aṣ-ṣāhib-il-janb/, of course, has a larger scope of meaning than 'friend' and 'companion'. Thus, the verse conveys a general and inclusive command regarding to having good manner due to those who somehow connect with us irrespective of real friends, fellow-workmen, fellow-travellers, those who ask us for something, students, counsellors, and waiters

Another group, whom are recommended about here, are those who will be in need, – ۹ because of some reasons, when they are in journey and are far from their own home,
:although they may be rich in their own city. So, it says

"... ,and way farer ..."

:The final recommendation is about doing good unto the slaves. It says – ۱۰

"... .and (the slaves) whom your right hands possess..."

In fact, the above verse begins with the subject of the right of Allah and concludes with ' the rights of slaves '. Not only in this verse the slaves are recommended about, but also many other verses of the Qur'ān are upon this matter

:At the end, the verse warns us, saying

".Verily Allah does not love the one who is proud, boastful..."

Those who are niggardly and enjoin people to niggardliness and hide what Allah " ٣٧ .
;has given them out of His grace

".and We have prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating chastisement

Commentary: verse ٣٧

Hypocritical and Godly Charities

This verse, in fact, is the continuation of the subject of the former verses which refers to the arrogant persons and haughty ones. Such persons not only refrain from doing good to human beings themselves, but also invite people to niggardliness. It says

"... Those who are niggardly and enjoin people to niggardliness "

Moreover, they often try to conceal that which Allah has bestowed them out of His Grace lest people of their society expect something from them

"... ;and hide what Allah has given them out of His grace ..."

:Then, the Qur'ān states about the fate and the end of these persons as this

".and We have prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating chastisement ..."

Perhaps the key to the secret of mentioning the word ' the disbelievers ' in this verse is that: ' niggardliness ' often originates from infidelity, because the niggardly persons, indeed, have not a complete faith upon the endless merits of Allah unto the good-doers. So, when it says that their punishment is " a humiliating chastisement ", it is for the reason that they may see the retribution of ' arrogance ' and ' self-admiration ' .through this way

Commentary: verse ۳۸

Point

Sometimes Satan whispers and tempts something from a long distance into some persons, and sometimes it does it from a short distance

The believers usually flee from the temptations of Satan, but sometimes Satan becomes as a constant friend and companion of some people. It may approach them very nigh, and in a manner that Sura Al-Zukhruf, No. ۴۳, verse ۳۶ refers to. It states: " And whoever turns himself away from the remembrance of the Beneficent God, We ".appoint for him a Satan, so he becomes his associate

:Explanations

Both to abandon giving charity and to give charity hypocritically are bad. In the – ۱ previous verse, niggardliness was blamed, and here in the above verse, hypocritical .remittals are remonstrated

Hypocrisy is the sign of the lack of true faith in Allah and the Hereafter. A hypocrite – ۲ .relies on people, then he is deprived from the full reward in the Hereafter

The goal of giving charity is not only satiating the hungry, since this aim can be – ۳ gained by hypocrisy either. So, the aim of giving charity, is also the spiritual growth of .the giver of charity

Commentary: verse ٣٩

In this verse, as an expression of sympathy and regret for the state of this group, it says that what would happen to them if they returned from this deviated-path and believed in Allah and the Last Day? They could also spend a part of the bounties that Allah had given them to the servants of Allah with a sincere intention and through a pure thought. By this way, they would earn the felicity and happiness of this world and .the next world both

And what (harm) would it have done them if they had believed in Allah and the Last " " ... ?Day, and spent in charity of what Allah had provided them with

However, Allah is aware of their intentions and deeds, and He will give them an .appropriate reward and retribution accordingly

"٤٠. Verily Allah does not do injustice even of the weight of an atom "

".and if there be a good deed He multiplies it and gives from Himself a great reward

Commentary: verse ٤٠

Point

This verse, addressing the faithless and niggardly persons, whose status was introduced in the former verses, says

"... ,Verily Allah does not do injustice even of the weight of an atom "

The Arabic term /arrah/ originally means very small ant which is not seen easily; but, gradually it has been applied for every small thing

Accordingly, nowadays, ` atom ', which is any of the smallest particles of an element, is also called /arrah/. And, in view of the fact that the Arabic word /miqāl/ means `weight', the Qur'ānic phrase /miqāla arratin/ means `the weight of an extraordinary small thing

:Then, the verse adds that: not only Allah does not do injustice, but also and if there be a good deed He multiplies it and gives from Himself a great ..."
".reward

?Why Does Allah not Do Injustice

The root of injustice is usually either ignorance, or fear, or need, or greed, etc, but Allah, Who is the Self-Sufficient, Omniscient, and Glorified, does not do injustice. Moreover, Allah has enjoined people to equity and goodness Himself, then how does .(He do injustice? Yet, His reward is manyfold: (ten-fold, hundred-fold, or more

How will it be, then, when We bring from every people a witness and We bring " ٤١ .
"? (you a witness over those (witnesses

Commentary: verse ٤١

Point

The content of this verse, which refers to the Messenger of Allah, as a witness over the Ummah, has also occurred in some other verses of the Qur'ān (such as: Sura Al-Baqarah, No. ٢, verse ١٤٣, Sura An-Naḥl, No. ١٦, verse ٨٩, and Sura Al-Hajj, No. ٢٢, (verse ٧٨).

Whenever Ibn-Mas`ūd recited this verse to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the tears of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) would shed. (Narrated from Ṣaḥīḥ-i-Bukhārī, Tarmathī, (and Nisā'ī in Tafsīr-ul-Kabīr by Fakhr-i-Rāzī and Tafsīr-i-Marāqī

Allah does not need, of course, to bring any witnesses, but human beings are in a condition that the more they feel the presence of witnesses, the more effective it is .for strengthening their training and their piety

As the verses of the Qur'ān indicate, there are many sorts of witnesses in the Hereafter; among them are: Allah: " Verily Allah is a witness over all things";(١) the prophets: the above verse, (٢) the immaculate Imams: " And thus have We made you an Ummah of middling stand that you may be witnesses over mankind, ..." (٣) ; the angels: " And every soul shall come, with it a driver and a witness." (٤) ; the earth: " On that Day, she will recount (all) her news:"(٥) ; the time: A tradition says that: every day (the time addresses man by saying: " I am a new day and I am a witness over you " ;(٦) and their feet shall bear witness against them as to what they did." (۱) And, again, we should be aware that the day of Resurrection is the Day on which the witnesses will stand forth: " on the day when shall stand forth the witnesses." (۲)

:Explanations

Prophets are some examples for people in the world and the witnesses over them – ۱ in the Hereafter

It is Allah's way of treatment that the prophet of every nation be a witness over – ۲ that nation. After the departure of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) there should be someone with the same qualities of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) (the immaculate Imams) to be witness over people. Imam Şādiq (a.s.) in a tradition said: " In any Age an Imam from us, Ahlul-Bayt, is a witness over people, and the Messenger of Allah is a witness over us " (۳)

Commentary: verse ٤٢

Point

On the Day of Judgement, before standing these witnesses up, the disobedient infidels deny their committing sins and corruptions in the world and try to find a way to escape. They would say: "... By Allah, our Lord, we were not polytheists." (١) But, in Hereafter when the witnesses say the facts, there will exist no room for them to deny.
.So, they will desire that the earth were levelled with them

On that Day will those who disbelieve and disobey the Messenger wish that the "

****

A Few Legal Ordinances

The following Islamic legal ordinances can be extracted from the above-mentioned
:verse

:Canonical prayers are invalid when the person is intoxicated. The holy verse says –١

O' you who have Faith! do not approach prayer when you are intoxicated, until you "
" ... ,know what you say

The reason of it, of course, is clear, because ` prayer' is the talk and invocation of the .servant with Allah and the action must be performed in an utmost conscious state

The prayer is invalid for the person who is in ritual impurity. So, the Qur'ān says that –٢
:you should not approach prayer when you are polluted

"... nor when you are polluted ..."

:Next to that, it has stated an exception for this ordinance. It says

"... unless you be passing through ..."

In this state establishing prayer is permissible on the condition of dry ablution, which .will be dealt with in the following

The words refer to the allowance of establishing prayer or passing through a –٣
:mosque after performing a legal bathing, which has been stated by saying

"...until you wash yourselves..."

:Dry Ablution for the Excused

Through the next phrase, all religious aspects of dry ablution are stated. At first, it
.points to the situation in which water is harmful for the health of the body

"... ,And if you are ill or on a journey..."

:Then, it continues saying

"... ,or one of you come from privy or you have touched the women..."

:And, when in this situation, there is not water for ablution

p: ۵۲

"... ,and you cannot find water..."

:In this condition, you must have recourse to dust

"... ,then betake yourselves to pure earth ..."

:In the next sentence, it has stated the style of having recourse to dust. It says

"... ;then wipe your faces and your hands..."

At the end of the verse, the Qur'ān points to this fact that this ordinance is a kind of :facilitation and discount for you, since

".verily Allah is Pardoning, Forgiving..."

٤٤. "Have you not seen those who were given a portion of the Book "

Commentary: verse ٤٤

In this verse, Allah addresses the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.)and, in an astonishing tone, says: whether he has not seen that group of people who were given a portion of the Book in order to be guided and guide others

But instead of obtaining guidance and felicity by it for themselves and others, they buy aberration not only for themselves but also they wish you went astray. It says

"Have you not seen those who were given a portion of the Book "

".they buy error and desire that you should also go astray from the way

Thus, as a result of their bad intentions, they changed what they had as a means of guidance for themselves and for others into a means of misleading and being misled. The reason of that manner was that they never went after the truth, but they looked all the things with the dark glasses of hypocrisy, jealousy, and materiality

What enmity is higher than that they are opposite your happiness and guidance. They always pursue their own evil aims to be practised, every time in a shape. They sometimes come nigh with a tongue of benevolence, and sometimes by the way of ill-speaking

Commentary: verse ٤٦

The application of the phrases / sami`nā wa `aṣaynā / in the Arabic language means .! something like Persian proverb which says: ` You may say but we do not follow

The Muslims of the time of the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.) used to tell him the Arabic phrase /rā`inā/. By this word they meant to say that he would pay attention to them and protect them. But the Jews perverted this word to a disgrace meaning. When the word is taken from the Arabic root /ra`ā/, it means ` to consider, to observe ', but when it is taken from the root /ra`ūnat /, and pronounced /rā`innā/, it means: ` make of us foolish'. By twisting their tongues, the Jews used to both defame the Muslims .and mock Islam

In the previous verse, too, their hostility and that they intended to

.mislead the Muslims through their apostasy and infidelity, was pointed out

It was because of these hostilities and missing the light of guidance that they were .cursed by Allah

Some of those who are Jews change the words from their places and say: " We "

Commentary: verse ٤٧

Point

The words saying " ... before We destroy countenances and turn them towards their backs, ... " may refer to the purpose of changing the feature of hearts and nature of safe and sound intellects from the path of felicity. This status may come forth as a result of their obstinacy and arrogance against the Divine verses. In stead of going one step forward, they retrogress some steps backward, and their spiritual human .features and intellects will be abolished

Perhaps, it refers to the outward change of faces to their backs and transformation of .the features, or change of shapes in the Hereafter

The People of Sabbath

There were some disobedient Jews who violated the Command of Allah (s.w.t.) upon the prohibition of fishing on Saturdays and, by a legal trick, they did fishing. So, they .incurred the wrath of Allah, and their faces transformed into the shape of monkeys

The general framework of the programs of all Divine prophets are alike. Therefore, –١ in the style of invitation and propagation, others' opinions and their common rights
.should be respected

" ... ,confirming that which is (already) with you ... "

.Islam invites the followers of other religions to the religion of Allah, too –٢

" ... O' you who have been given the Scripture! believe "

The scientific figures and those who are cognizant are more responsible, and are –٣

" ... O' you who have been given the Scripture! believe "

.When confronting the obstinant ones, the means of threat must be used –٤

" ... before We destroy ... "

In order that the threat be affected, the kinds of its concrete and applicable – ٥
.examples should be mentioned

" ... ,(as We cursed the people of Sabbath (the violating Jews ... "

The wrath of Allah upon all of the obstinate persons, during the history of the world, –٦

Commentary: verse ٤٨

Point

More than two hundred times the word ' polytheism ' has been mentioned in the Qur'ān where tending towards other than Allah (idolatry, hypocrisy, non-godly beliefs, materialism, and so on) has been criticized. The content of this verse has also been .repeated in this very Sura, verse ١١٤; and in fact repetition can be a cause of guidance

However, polytheism will not be forgiven because it is an exodus from the process of .right. It is also departing from the line of Allah and joining other than Him

If, even a pagan leaves out paganism and sincerely repents, Allah will forgive him. It is cited in Sura Az-Zumar, No.٣٩, verse ٥٣ that surely Allah forgives the faults altogether, therefore do not despair of His Mercy. Then, it is appropriate for everyone to return to .Him by repenting and asking forgiveness

It is narrated from Imam Amirul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) who said that the mentioned .verse, to me, is the most (encouraging) beloved one among the verses of the Qur'ān

Since no one knows to whom the wisely grace of Allah will be granted, there will remain no room for pride and boldness in anyone to commit sin. The following factors :pave the way of forgiveness repentance, ٢) to do goodness, ٣) to avoid the great sins, ٤) intercession, and, ٥) the ١) (Divine pardon (which is pointed out in this verse

" .whom He pleases, and they shall not be wronged even the hair of a date-stone

Commentary: verse ٤٩

In some other verses of the Qur'ān, self-praise and considering oneself faultless, chosen, and excellent are also blamed. Sura An-Najm, No.٥٣, Verse ٣٢, for example, says: " ... therefore do not attribute purity to yourselves; He knows him best who " .keeps from evil

Imam Amir-ul-Mu'mineen Ali (a.s.) in one of his sermons, speaking about the signs of the pious ones, points out: " ... whenever they are praised, they awe ...". Therefore, that self-praise, which originates from pride, self-admiration and humiliating others, is forbidden, while praising Allah and worshipping Him is a great value. By the way, the divine retributions of people are the fruit of the evil deeds and they are not from the .side of Allah

The Jews considered themselves a superior race and also the children and the beloved of the Lord. This self-admiration is the greatest calumny unto Allah, because He has not appointed anyone as His child, and all human beings are equal before Him.

.It is in the case that, to Him, the only privilege is Faith and piety

In belie, besides the existence of lie, there are also the sin of accusation, persecution, injustice, and desecration

Commentary: verse ۵۱

After that the fight of 'Uhud ended, a group of the Jews went to Mecca in order that they ally with the pagans there against the Muslims

Having the aim to please and assure the pagans, the Jews prostrated before the pagans' idols. They said that their idolatry was better than the faith of Muslims in (Islam and Muhammad (p.b.u.h

?Have you not seen those who were given a portion of the Book "

:They believe in Jibt (idol) and Ṭāqūt (false deities) and they say about the infidels

"! (These are better guided on the way than those who have believed (in Islam `

The Arabic term `Jibt', which is applied for the idol of magician, has occurred only once in the Qur'ān; while the term Ṭāqūt, which is derived from the sense of `disobedience', has occurred eight times therein

Perhaps, the objective meaning of these two terms mentioned in the verse is the very two idols before which the Jews prostrated. Or, may be, the purpose of `Jibt' is the idol, but the purpose of `Ṭāqūt' is the idol worshippers and the .advocators of idolatry

Commentary: verse ٥٣

By the commentaries of the previous couple of verses, it was said that the Jews, to attract the attention of the idol-worshippers of Mecca, testified that the idolatry of the Quraysh was better than the theistic practice of the Muslims. Even they themselves fell prostration before the idols. In this verse, as well as the next one, this fact has been pointed out that their judgement was worthless and invalid. Each of these two .verses contains a considerable proof

In this verse the Qur'ān inquires whether the Jews had any share in the government that they let themselves judge like that. And, yet, if they had such an authority, they would not give people any right when they might keep every thing for themselves .exclusively

Or have they a share in the kingdom? Then in that case, they do not give even a " " !speck to anybody

Or, do they (the Jews) envy people for that which Allah has given them of His " ٥٤ . grace? But indeed We have given to Abraham's children the Book and the Wisdom

Commentary: verse ٥٤

In the former verses, the words were about the niggardliness of the Jews, and here, in this verse, their envy is dealt with. Envy, of course, is worse than niggardliness, because a miser simply does not remit his own property, but an envious person is
.inconvenient of the favour of another person, either

The word /an-nās / `people', mentioned in this verse, as Tafsīr-us-Şāfi indicates, (refers to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and his progeny. (1)

Thus, the verse says that the Jews envied them for that which Allah had given them out of His Grace. Then, through such judgements, they wished to quench the fire of .their envy

?Or, do they (the Jews) envy people for that which Allah has given them of His grace "

Then the Qur'ān says: why do you wonder and envy that the Prophet of Islam (p.b.u.h.), chosen from the family of Banī-Hāshim, has been given such a rank? It is in the case that Allah has also given the progeny of Abraham (from whose family are the Jews) the Book and the wisdom and He has bestowed the prophets of the Children of

Commentary: verse ٥٦

Point

Since the infidels were constantly obstinate, they should be retributed constantly with their new skins

Once, Ibn-i-Abil-`Ujā', who was one of the opponents of the religion, asked Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) what the fault of the new skin was Imam (a.s) said: " The new skin is from the remaining of the burnt of the very first skin. It is like a sun-dried brick which breaks into pieces and will be made of it mud and a " new sun-dried brick again

:Explanations

١- The punishment of the disbelievers is permanent

" ... We will change them for other skins ... "

٢- The punishment, because of its continuation, will never become ordinary for the disbelievers

Point

In this verse, the holy Qur'an promises those believers who have a good Faith and do good deeds that surely they will live soon in gardens of Heaven, where under its trees some rivers flow. Their life therein will be for ever

Besides that, in Paradise, they will have the pure spouses who will be the source of calmness and tranquility for both their bodies and souls

They will be pure from the point of menstruation blood, all meannesses, and pollutions. They will live under some eternal shades that, unlike to the inconstant shades of this world, are permanent, wherein no hot wind nor bitter cold enters

;and when you judge between people, you judge with justice

;verily good is the admonition Allah gives you

".verily Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing

:Occasion of Revelation

This verse was revealed at the time when the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), being completely victorious, arrived in Mecca. The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) called for `Uthmān-ibn-Ṭalhah, the key holder of the Ka`bah, and took the key from him in order to clear out the Ka`bah from the existence of the idols. After the fulfilment of that aim, `Abbās, the Prophet's uncle, asked the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) to give the key of the Ka`bah to him

The rank of key-holding of the Sacred-House, in fact, was a distinguished and honourable rank among Arabs. But, contrary to that, after clearing out the Ka`bah from the filth of the existence of the idols, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) closed the door of the House and delivered the key to `Uthmān-ibn-Ṭalhah while he (p.b.u.h.) was reciting the verse under discussion

Deposit and Justice in Islam

This holy verse, from which a general and common ordinance is understood, explicitly says

" ... ,Verily Allah commands you that you restore deposits to their owners "

In the second part of the verse, it points to another important subject. It is the proposition of observing justice in government. The

p: ۷۲

:verse, conveying the command of Allah, says

"... ;and when you judge between people, you judge with justice ..."

:Then, to lay emphasis on these two commands, it says

" ... ;verily good is the admonition Allah gives you ... "

Again, the verse emphasizes and says that Allah is watching you in any state you are,
:and He both hears your words and sees what you do. It says

".verily Allah is All-Hearing, All-Seeing ..."

It is evident that the term ' deposit ' has a vast meaning. It includes any physical and spiritual capitals. Therefore, according to the clear meaning of this verse, every Muslim is enjoined not to be treacherous in any deposit and unto any person, whether the owner of the deposit is Muslim or non-Muslim. This ordinance is, in fact, one of the ' principles of ' the declaration of the rights of human kind in Islam

Even the scientists of a society are the depositaries. They are charged with a duty not to conceal the facts. Our children are also the deposits of Allah with us. We must not neglect training and educating them. Beyond than that, our existence and whatever power Allah (s.w.t.) has given us are the deposits of Allah, and we should try to protect them carefully

A tradition narrated from Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) about the importance of ' deposit ' indicates that once he (a.s.) told one of his companions: " If the murderer of Hazrat Ali (a.s.) trusted me a deposit, or wanted me to advise him, or consulted me, and I (accepted that from him, certainly I would be honest in the deposition." (1

, ' In many Islamic traditions, the purpose of the term ' deposit mentioned in the current verse, has been introduced the leadership of the society, the men of which are Ahlul-Bayt (a.s.). This is the clear extension of practising this (verse. (2

.refer it to Allah and the Messenger, if you believe in Allah and the Last Day
".This is better and very good in the end

Commentary: verse ٥٩

Point

This verse, together with a few verses next to it, discuss about one of the most important matters of Islam, that is, the subject of leadership. They determine the true source of imitation of Muslims for the different social and religious affairs that they .may have

:At first, it commands those who have faith, saying

"...O' you who have Faith! obey Allah "

It is obvious that, for a believing person, all obediences must be led to the obedience of Allah. Then, any form of leadership must originate from His pure Essence and be adopted to His command, because it is He Who is the Ruler and the genetic Owner of the world of existence, and every sovereignty and ownership should be under His .command

:For the second stage it says

"... and obey the Messenger ..."

:And, for the third stage, it says

"...and those charged with authority among you ..."

.divine religion and worldly affairs of people

:After that, it says

Then, if you quarrel about anything, refer it to Allah and the Messenger, if you ..."
".believe in Allah and the Last Day. This is better and very good in the end

? 'Who are ` Those Charged with Authority

All the Shi`ite commentators have the same attitude on this matter that the purpose of the phrase /'ulil- 'amr /, mentioned in this verse, is the immaculate Imams to whom the physical and spiritual leadership of the Islamic society, consisting of all affairs of life, have been given from the side of Allah and His Apostle (p.b.u.h.), and it does not conclude any other than them. This meaning is said according to the contents of ۳۳ (authentic traditions cited in At-Tafsīr-ul-Burhān, vol.۱, pp. ۳۸۱-۳۸۶ (second edition

Of course, under some conditions, the obedience of those who are appointed to a rank and charge a position in the society, is necessary. This obedience is not for that they themselves are `those charged with authority', but for that they are agents of !` those charged with authority

:Explanations

Absolute obedience from the Messenger of Allah and `those charged with authority' .۱ is a token for inerrancy of those magnanimous ones. Thus, any denotation expansion which is stated for `those charged with authority' is not valid, if the one is not
.infallible

The repetition of the word /'atī` ū / `obey' is the secret of the kind of orders. The .۲
holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) sometimes stated the ordinances of Allah, and sometimes gave the governmental commands, since he had both offices of `prophecy' and

Allah addresses the Prophet (p.b.u.h) in the Quran both for the rank of statement ١ - ١ (Sura An-Nahl, No.١٦, verse ٤٤) and for the rank of government (Sura An-Nisa, No.٤ , (verse ١٠٥

The name of 'those charged with authority' is mentioned next to the names of Allah and the Apostle, accompanied with an absolute obedience. This is a sign to show that the one in charge of Islamic government should be qualified with a high saintliness. Based on many traditions, as was mentioned in the commentary of the verse, the purpose of the phrase 'those charged with authority' is Ahlul-Bayt (a.s

People ought to accept the Islamic system and support its godly leaders by their words and deeds

.Section ٩: Hypocrites refuse to accept the Messenger's judgement

Point

- Hypocrites' leaning to satan - the Messenger's judgement shall be accepted

.Reward for the obedience to Allah and the Messenger

٦٠- أَلَمْ تَرَ إِلَى الَّذِينَ يَزْعُمُونَ

أَنَّهُمْ آمَنُوا بِمَا نُزِّلَ إِلَيْكَ وَمَا أُنزِلَ مِنْ قَبْلِكَ يُرِيدُونَ أَنْ

يَتَّحَاكَمُوا إِلَى الطَّاغُوتِ وَقَدْ أُمِرُوا أَنْ يَكْفُرُوا بِهِ وَيُرِيدُ الشَّيْطَانُ

أَنْ يُضِلَّهُمْ ضَلَالًا بَعِيدًا

٦٠. " Have you not seen those who think they believe in what has been revealed to you "

?and what was revealed before you

They intend to resort in the judgement of Tāghūt (false deities) while they have been ,ordered to reject him

".and Satan intends to mislead them far astray

Commentary: verse ٦٠

It happened that there arose a dispute between a hypocritical Muslim and a Jew. They decided to refer to the arbitrator. The Jew elected the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) as the arbitrator for trustworthiness and justice he (p.b.u.h.) had, but the hypocrite agreed with Ka`b-ibn-'Ashraf (one of the distinguished Jews) as his arbitrator, because the hypocrite knew that he could tend the attitude of Ka`b towards his benefit by giving .him some gifts. he verse is for the blame of that manner

Have you not seen those who think they believe in what has been revealed to you "

?and what was revealed before you

They intend to resort in the judgement of Tāghūt (false deities) while they have been ".ordered to reject him, and Satan intends to mislead them far astray

As for the definition of 'the false deities', Imam Ṣādiq (a.s.) says: "A false deity is he who does not judge rightfully, decides against the command of Allah, and his order is obeyed." \(1\)

In the previous verse, Allah and the Apostle were introduced as the place of resorts of discords, but in this verse, the blame is upon those who refer to false deities as the place of resorts of their own discords. Thus, in that verse the virtuous cite of resort has been introduced, while in this verse the impious one has been pointed out. So, true believers do not even think of going to false deities since agreement with tāqūt 'false deities' is prohibited

"...they have been ordered to reject him ..."

.For removing the interior discords, going to non-Muslims is forbidden for Muslims

"...(They intend to resort to the judgement of Ṭāghūt (false deities ..."

Through a verse (No. ۳۵) in the current Sura, formerly the Qur'ān pointed out that: for a family discord an arbitrator from the family of the wife and another one from the family of the husband should judge \(Then appoint a judge from his people and a judge from her people, ...\) \(۲ ..."

عَنْكَ صُدُودًا

٦١. And when it is said to them: ` Come to what Allah has revealed and to the " .
" .Messenger,' you will see the hypocrites barring (people) to you with utter aversion

Commentary: verse ٦١

Point

The reference of hypocrites to false deities and asking judgement from (non-Muslim) foreigners is not a casual happening. But, it is the quality and spiritual specification of hypocrites that they oppose the heavenly leaders and reject the path of truth

" ,And when it is said: ` Come to what Allah has revealed and to the Messenger "
" .you will see the hypocrites barring (people) to you with utter aversion

:Explanations

١. The hypocrites do not surrender to the law of Allah and the command of the .
 .Prophet (p.b.u.h.). But, in the meanwhile, we must invite them to the truth

٢. The hypocrites are not sensitive to the hearty faith of people to Allah. Their main .
 .worryment is the crowd of people gathered around the heavenly Messenger

" .you will see the hypocrites barring (people) to you with utter aversion ..."

٣. The blameworthy plot of the hypocrites, is separating people from the Prophet .
 .(p.b.u.h)

However, in another occurrence, the Qur'ān indicates that barring the path of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is, in fact, barring the path of Allah, and denying the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) is the denial of the signs of Allah. In another verse, it says: "... but surely

[they do not call you a liar, but the unjust deny the Signs of Allah." \[1\]\(#\)](#)

Sura Al-An'am, No. ٦, Verse ٣٣ ١ -١

٦٢- فَكَيْفَ إِذَا أَصَابَتْهُمْ مُصِيبَةٌ بِمَا قَدَّمَتْ أَيْدِيهِمْ

ثُمَّ جَاءُوكَ يَحْلِفُونَ بِاللَّهِ

إِنْ أَرَدْنَا إِلَّا إِحْسَانًا وَتَوْفِيقًا

But how will it be, when some disaster befalls them on account of what their " ٦٢ .
:(own) hands have forwarded, then they come to you swearing by Allah (saying

" ?' We intended naught but kindness and concord `

Commentary: verse ٦٢

Point

The justification of the hypocrites for referring the judgement to the false deities, as they said, was that their final aim was to make peace. So, if they had gone to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) for judgement and he judged for the benefit of one party, naturally the other party would have become displeased from the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) and would have raised a tumult noisily, which was not appropriate with the position of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.). Therefore, to avoid this matter and to protect the honour, rank, and amiability of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), they did not take the conflict to him

:Explanations

The hypocritical Muslims refer to the divine leaders only when they encounter a ١ .
difficulty and feel danger

"... they come to you ..."

.The opponents usually justify their wrong actions ٢ .

"... We intended naught but kindness ` ..."

.The hypocrites apply the swearing to Allah as a cover over their own goals ٣ .

"... swearing by Allah ..."

Among the deeds of the hypocrites is: showing a feature of benevolence, kindness .۴
.and claiming the motto of peacefulness and exchanging agreements

"?kindness and concord ..."

Commentary: verse ٦٣

The effort of the hypocrites is useless, because Allah knows both their interiors and .their evil intentions, and manifests them at an appropriate time

"... ,Those are they of whom Allah knows what is in their hearts "

Also, the apology of the hypocrites is not done truthfully, otherwise they would not

٦٤- وَمَا أَرْسَلْنَا مِنْ رَّسُولٍ إِلَّا لِيُطَاعَ بِإِذْنِ اللَّهِ

وَلَوْ أَنَّهُمْ إِذْ ظَلَمُوا أَنْفُسَهُمْ

جَاءُوكَ فَاسْتَغْفَرُوا اللَّهَ وَاسْتَغْفَرَ لَهُمُ الرَّسُولُ

لَوَجَدُوا اللَّهَ تَوَّابًا رَحِيمًا

And We did not send any Messenger save that he should be obeyed, by Allah's " ٦٤ .
leave, and had they, when they were unjust to themselves, come to you and sought forgiveness of Allah and the Messenger (also) had asked forgiveness for them, they
".would certainly have found Allah forgiving, Merciful

Commentary: verse ٦٤

Through the previous verses, the Qur'ān has seriously condemned referring to the :tyrannical arbitrators. Yet, as an emphasis in this verse, it says

.And We did not send any Messenger save that he should be obeyed, by Allah's leave "
" ...

The reason of it is that those Apostles have been both the Messenger of Allah and the chief in the divine government. Therefore, people have been enjoined to obey them from the point of stating the ordinances of Allah, and the manner of practicing them
.both. They should not suffice only to a mere claim of faith

Then, in the continuation of the verse, it has opened the door of return to the sinners and those who have referred to the false deities, or in some way or other, have :committed a fault or faults, where it says and had they, when they were unjust to themselves, come to you and sought ..."

forgiveness of Allah and the Messenger (also) had asked forgiveness for them, they
".would certainly have found Allah forgiving, Merciful

The current discussed part of the verse points to this fact that the fruit of the obedience of Allah and His Apostle (p.b.u.h.) returns to yourselves, as well as the result of your disobedience, which is a kind of injustice, that returns to you, too, because it disturbs the material affairs of your life and, also from the spiritual point of view, it causes your retrogression

By the way, this verse is an answer to those who imagine referring to the Prophet or Imam is a kind of polytheism, because this verse clearly denotes that coming to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and setting him as an intercessor before Allah, in order to seek forgiveness from Him for the sinners, is effective and causes their repentance to be accepted and the grace of Allah to be showered

٦٥. "But no, by your Lord "

they do not believe (in reality) until they make you the judge regarding the ,disagreement between them

then they find within themselves no dislike of which you decide and submit with full " submission

Occasion of Revelation verse ٦٥

There was a dispute between Zubayr-ibn-`Awām (one of the Emigrants) and an other Muslim from the Helpers upon the irrigation of a palm-plantation. Since the Upper part of the garden belonged to Zubayr, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) judged that he should irrigate it first. The other man, the Helper, became worried from the Prophet's judgement (p.b.u.h.) and told him: " As Zubayr is your cousin, you judged in his benefit. " As soon as he uttered that expression, the face of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) paled, and .the above verse was revealed Surprising! They themselves elected the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) as an arbitrator, but they .refused his judgement

Commentary: verse ٦٥

Imam Şādiq (a.s.) in a tradition said: " If some people worship Allah by establishing prayer, performing Hajj pilgrimage, paying alms, and so on to adore Him, but they doubt about the deeds of the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.), they are not, indeed, .believers. " Then he (a.s.) recited this verse

!But no, by your Lord "

they do not believe (in reality) until they make you the judge regarding the disagreement between them, then they find within themselves no dislike of which you decide

p: ۸۴

" .and submit with full submission

:However, the signs of a true believer are three

A) Instead of referring to the false deities, he takes the judgement to the Prophet
.(.(p.b.u.h

B) He should not have any suspicion to the judgement of the Messenger of Allah
.(.(p.b.u.h

"... they find within themselves no dislike ..."

C) He ought to accept the command of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) ordently and surrender to
.it

By the way, judgement is from among the ranks of messengership and mastership.
And, personal attitude against the sacred Qur'ānic text is forbidden, because this .(manner is the sign of faithlessness, (regarding to the occasion of revelation

;dwellings ', they would not have done it except a few of them and if they had done what they were admonished, it would have certainly been better (for them and more efficacious for strengthening (their faith

Commentary: verse ٦٦

Here, in order to complete the previous discussion about those who sometimes felt inconvenience for the just judgements of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the verse points to some laborious duties of the former nations, such as the Jews whom, after idol-worshipping and calf-worshipping, were ordained to kill each other as an atonement of that great sin, or to go out of their beloved homes. But, this group are not ordained a heavy and grave duty. If they were also enjoined to do hard duties, how could they
?to lerate

These people who do not submit the judgement of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) upon the :irrigation of a palm-plantation, how can they fulfil other trials? So, it says

And if We had decreed for them (saying): ` Kill yourselves or go forth from your "
"... ;dwellings, they would not have done it except a few of them

Then, it points to two advantages that result from the fulfilment of the commands of :Allah, saying and if they had done what they were admonished, it would have certainly been..." (better for them and more efficacious for strengthening (their faith

Here, the commands and ordinances of Allah have been rendered into admonishments and advices. This shows that these ordinances are not any things that benefit the Commander (Allah), but they are some advices that benefit us .ourselves

پ: ۸۶

It is interesting that the verse implies that the further a person paves the path of obedience of Allah (s.w.t.), the more his perseverance and steadfastness promotes. In fact, the obedience of the command of Allah is a kind of spiritual practice for human .beings

".reward

٦٨- وَلَهَدَيْنَاهُمْ صِرَاطًا مُسْتَقِيمًا

" ٦٨ .And We would certainly have guided them in the straight path "

Commentary: verses ٦٧-٦٨

In these two verses, two other advantages of obeying and submitting to Allah are stated. In addition to the advantages mentioned in the previous verses, the first verse :points to the third gain of this obedience. It says

And then We would certainly have given them from Our Own accord a great "
".reward

****

And the second verse points to the fourth result of obeying and submitting to Allah :when it says

" .And We would certainly have guided them in the straight path "

The objective meaning of the term ' guidance ', mentioned in this verse, is some additional graces which are bestowed upon these eligible persons from the side of .Allah in the form of a secondary guidance and as a particular reward

****

٦٩- وَمَنْ يُطِعِ اللَّهَ وَالرَّسُولَ

فَأُولَئِكَ مَعَ الَّذِينَ أَنْعَمَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِمْ مِنَ النَّبِيِّينَ

٧٠. "This is the grace from Allah, and sufficient is Allah as the Knower "

Occasion of Revelation verse ٦٩

Upon the revelation of this verse, it has been cited that: once one of the companions of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), who was named Nubān, and who had a fairly intensive affection to the Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.), came to him while he was very distressed. The Messenger of Allah (p.b.u.h.) asked him about his disturbance and he answered that he reviewed the thought in his mind on that day that: if he would be admitted into Paradise on the Day of Judgement, he would surely not be in the position of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) therein. And, if he would not be admitted into Paradise, his circumstances were evident. Therefore, in either of the cases he might be deprived from being at the presence of him (p.b.u.h.). That was why he was .distressed

Then, these two verses were revealed and gave glad tidings to such people implying that the obedient persons will be the companions of the prophets and the chosen ones in Heaven. Then the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) said

By Allah, the faith of a Muslim will not be completed except that the one loves me " better than himself, his parents and all his relatives, and that he be submitted to my

".words

p: ۸۹

Companions in Heaven

In the previous holy verses, the privileges of the obedient to the command of Allah (s.w.t.) were enumerated. To complete them, this holy verse says

And whoever obeys Allah and the Messenger, these are with those upon whom Allah " " ... ,has bestowed favours

As it was mentioned in the commentary of Sura Al-Ḥamd, This bounty reaches to .those who constantly pave the Straight Path and go astray naught

:Then, to explain this phrase, it points to the following four groups, and says

" ... ;of the prophets, and the truthful, and the martyrs, and the righteous ..."

The prophets and the special messengers of Allah are those who take the first step .۱
.for the guidance, leadership and invitation of people to the Straight Path

The truthful are those who both tell the truth in their speech and prove it by their .۲
own true and sincere deeds. They practically show that they are not only some bare
.claimers of Faith, but they truly do believe in the commands of Allah

In Islamic authentic literature, the whole immaculate Imams (a.s.) and Fātimat-uz-
.Zahrā (a.s.) are introduced as the best samples of ` the truthful

The martyrs are those slain in the path of divine goal and belief, or those .۳ distinguished persons who will be witnesses to the deeds of human beings on the Day
.of Judgement

The Righteous are the distinguished eligible persons who have gained some .۴ prominent ranks by performing some positive, productive and useful deeds and also
.by obeying the commands of the prophets

:At the end of the verse, it remarks

".and excellent are these as companions ..."

It is clearly understood from the above verse that having good companions and valuable friends is so great and important that even in the

p: ۹۰

Hereafter, to complete the Heavenly bounties, this great favour will be granted to `the obedient', too

****

To express the importance of this great advantage (viz. the companionship of the Chosens), it says

"This is the grace from Allah, and sufficient is Allah as the Knower"

However, being with prophets and the truthful is a grace from Allah to those who obey Him

Allah is cognizant to the states of the obedient and disobedient people, as well as to the circumstances of the hypocrites and sincere believers. He knows those who are eligible for the friendship of the prophets, the truthful and so on, the same as the states of those who are not eligible, because He is aware of even the treachery of the eyes

٧١. "O' you who have Faith "

, (Take your precautions (keep weapons with yourselves

" .then either advance in parties or march off all together

Commentary: verse ٧١

Point

In the previous verse, the subject was upon the obedience of Allah, the leadership of the immaculate ones, and sovereignty of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.). In this verse, the words imply of being careful of the necessity of power, intelligence and a martial preparation for the Islamic community and for the divine leadership

The Arabic word /ḥiḍr/ means: `being alert', `being on the lookout', and `the means of defence

The Qur'ānic term /ubāt/ is the plural form of the term /ubat/ which means: `separate parts of forces', (including of groups of quick attacking fighters who cause the enemy .(to become confused so that they cannot think what to do

:Explanations

Muslims should be always prepared and alert. They should be cognizant of the . 1 plans, number of forces, the sort of weapons, spirit, and internal and external co-
.operations of the enemy. Thus they should design their affairs and act accordingly

.Muslims must be trained in military courses .۲

"... ,O' you who have Faith! Take your precautions (keep weapons with yourselves "

.Muslims should be mobilized .۳

".or march off all together ..."

.Muslims have to utilize the different styles of challenging with enemy .۴

".Then either advance in parties or march off all together ..."

.Muslims must protect the bounds of their country .۵

Acting upon the involving message of this verse, is the secret of honour and glory,

٧٢. "And verily some of you there are that loiter "

:if then a misfortune befalls you he says

`.'Allah has blessed me in this that I was not present with them`

Commentary: verse ٧٢

Following to the general command of Holy Struggle and trial against enemy, which was stated in the previous verse, in this holy verse, the Qur'ān has pointed to some hypocrites and intends to say that these figures and such features, who are among you, vigorously try not to take part in the rows of strivers who struggle in the way of Allah. It says

"... ;And verily some of you there are that loiter"

But when the strivers return from the battle-field, or when the news of war reaches them that they have suffered a failure or martyrdom, these hypocrites will happily say: what a great bounty Allah has given them that they (hypocrites) did not accompanied them (the strivers) to witness such heart-rending events! It says if them a misfortune befalls you, he says: ` Allah has blessed me in this that I was ..."

And if some grace from Allah befalls you, he would certainly say as if there had " .٧٣ not been any friendship between you and him

" 'I wish I were with them, so that I had achieved a great achievement`

Commentary: verse ٧٣

As soon as the hypocrites are informed that the believers have gained the victory, and naturally have obtained some booties, they regret and, like some strangers, as if :there have been no connection between them and the believers, sorrowfully say

" 'I wish I were with them, so that I had achieved a great achievement` ..."

It is clear that the person who counts martyrdom in the way of Allah a kind of misfortune, and considers the lack of martyrdom a divine bounty, in his view, the .victory and great felicity is not anything save physical triumph and the spoils of war

And if some grace from Allah befalls you, he would certainly say as if there had not " been any friendship between you and him

" 'I wish I were with them, so that I had achieved a great achievement`

****

أَجْرًا عَظِيمًا

So let those fight in the way of Allah who sell the life of this world for the " ٧٤ .
,Hereafter and whoever fights in the way of Allah, then be he slain or be he victorious, We shall ".grant him a great reward

Commentary: verse ٧٤

Believers must be prepared for Holy Struggle. In this verse, as well as in a few following verses, the true Muslim believers have logically and excitingly been invited to struggle in the way of Allah. At first, it implies that only those fight in the way of Allah who are ready to sell the life of this material world for the eternal life in the Hereafter. That is, only those persons can be counted among the true strivers that :are ready for such a bargain. It says

,So let those fight in the way of Allah who sell the life of this world for the Hereafter "

Then, at the end of the verse, it remarks that the fate of such strivers is quite clear. They either become martyr, or they defeat the enemy for the sake of Allah and gain :the victory. In both cases, they will be given a great reward by Allah. The verse says and whoever fights in the way of Allah, then be he slain or be he victorious, We ..."

".shall grant him a great reward

It is certain that such soldiers, with such a spiritual state, have no failure in their minds, because in both cases they know themselves victorious. Even the non-Muslim scholars, who have discussed about the quick triumphs of Muslims at the time of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), and their victories after that, have considered this doctrine as one .of the effective factors in the progression of Muslims

٧٥- وَمَا لَكُمْ لَا تُقَاتِلُونَ فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ

وَالْمُسْتَضْعَفِينَ مِنَ الرِّجَالِ وَالنِّسَاءِ وَالْوِلْدَانِ الَّذِينَ يَقُولُونَ

رَبَّنَا أَخْرِجْنَا مِنْ هَذِهِ الْقَرْيَةِ الظَّالِمِ أَهْلُهَا

وَاجْعَلْ لَنَا مِنْ لَدُنْكَ وَلِيًّا وَاجْعَلْ لَنَا مِنْ لَدُنْكَ نَصِيرًا

And what has happened to you that you should not fight in the way of Allah and " .٧٥
:for the weak among men, women and children who say

`,Our Lord! Take us out of this town whose people are oppressors`

,and appoint for us from You guardian

"and appoint for us from you helper

Commentary: verse ٧٥

.Seeking Assistance Through Human Affections

In the previous verse, the believers have been invited to Holy Struggle. The verse has emphasized on the faith in Allah and the Day of Resurrection, with the reasoning of gain and loss. But this verse invites them towards Holy Struggle basing on stimulating the humanities. It inquires: why do you not struggle in the way of Allah and for the oppressed and defendless men, women and children who are captured in the grips of tyrants? Do your humanities let you to be silent and watch these pathetic scenes? It
:says

And what has happened to you that you should not fight in the way of Allah and for "
"... the weak among men, women and children

Then, to stir the affections of the believers, it points to the very oppressed ones and
:says

"... ,who say: `Our Lord! Take us out of this town whose people are oppressors ...`"

They also ask their Lord to send a guardian from His side to support them; and again
.they ask Him to appoint a helper from Himself for them

:The verse continues saying

"!and appoint for us from You guardian, and appoint for us from You helper ..."

The above-mentioned holy verse, indeed, is a hint to the fact that Allah (s.w.t.) has answered to their invocation and He has trusted ` you ' with this great human duty. Then, `you' are the `guardian' and the `helper' who have been appointed from the .side of Allah (s.w.t.) for supporting and saving them

It should be noted that according to some Islamic narrations, the immaculate Imams have said: "We are the same oppressed that people should raise for our government."<sup>(1)</sup>

Occasion of Revelation: verse ٧٧

It is narrated from Ibn-`Abbas that at the advent of Islam, when Muslims were living in Mecca and they were under the harsh pressure of the pagans there, some of them went to the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and said that they had been dear and honoured before Islam but they lost that glory and honesty, besides the hurt and injury they bore from the enemies. They asked him to allow them to fight against the disbelievers to regain their glory and honour. That day, the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) answered them that he was not commissioned to fight then. But, later, when the command of fight was issued, some of those ardent figures knowingly tarried to participate in the battle-field. Then the verse was revealed in order to encourage the believers and also to blame those .careless and neglectful persons

Commentary: verse ٧٧

!Those Who only Talk

Here, in this verse, the Qur'ān implies that: indeed it is wonderful that some people, in an inappropriate situation but with a surprising state once ardently asked permission to go to Holy struggle when they were commanded to restrain then and to pay to self-improvement establishing prayer, strengthening their forces, and paying alms. After that when the circumstances became fitting and the command of Holy struggle was revealed, horror and terrible fear filled their whole entity, and they began to protest :against that command. It says

:Have you not seen those to whom it was said "

Withhold your hand (from war), and establish prayer and pay the poor -rate,' but ` when fighting was prescribed for them, a group of them were so afraid of men as (it "...,should be) the fear of Allah, or (even) with a greater fear

In their protest, they clearly said that why Allah revealed the command of Holy struggle so soon. It would be better He delayed it for a length of time, or that duty

:would be put upon the coming dynasties. It says

?and they said: ` Our Lord! Why have You ordained fighting for us ..."

"...! ?Wherefore did You not grant us a delay to a near end

The Qur'ān delievers two answers to these persons. The first answer lies in the content of the sentence saying: "... a group of them fear men as (it should be) the fear of Allah, or (even) with a greater fear, ..." That is, instead of being afraid of the Mighty and the Omnipotent Allah, they fear of the feeble and incapable human beings. They are in horror from such a creature more than that they fear from Allah

For the second answer it denotes that such people should be told that supposing that without participating in the Holy struggle, they could live calmly for a few days but, at last, this worthless life will end while the eternal life in Hereafter is more valuable for the pious ones, in particular that they will be given their reward completely and they will be wronged naught. It says

Say: ` The capital of this world is scant and the Hereafter will be better for anyone ..." who keeps from evil; and you will not be wronged (even to the extent of) the husk of a date-stone

Commentary: verse ٧٨

This verse is an encouragement unto the Holy Struggle and not being afraid of death in the battle-field. It is also an answer to the ill omens of the hypocrites that, instead of considering and recognizing the matters well, they hold Allah responsible for the .distresses and failures

By the way, the manner of defaming the leader is the style of hypocrites. Therefore, it is not right that, by relieving themselves of responsibilities, they justify the faults and .hold others responsible for their own sins

It should be realized that victories and failures, death and life, pleasant and .unpleasant affairs, all in all, are in the circle of the wise providence of Allah

Commentary: verse ٧٩

From the point of the Divine theology, everything is the creature of Allah: " Allah is the Creator of every thing..." (١) And Allah has created every thing good and beautiful as (the Qur'ān says: " Who made good everything that He has created,..." (٢)

What relates to Allah, in this regard, is creation, which is not separate from goodness.
,Therefore, our distresses and inflictions are

;firstly, because of the lack of those virtues that are not created by Allah and, secondly, whatever causes our deprivation from the divine bounties, are the .personal actions or the actions of the society

Whoever obeys the Messenger has obeyed Allah, and whoever turns away We " ٨٠.
".have not sent you to be a watcher over them

Commentary: verse ٨٠

Practice of the Prophet is Just Like the Revelation of Allah

In this verse, the situation of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) before people, and people's good deeds and evil deeds, has been stated. At first, it says that whoever obeys the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has obeyed Allah. Thus, the obedience of Allah can not be separate from the command of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), because he (p.b.u.h.) takes no step against the commands of Allah

"...,Whoever obeys the Messenger has obeyed Allah "

Then, addressing the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), the verse adds that if some people disobey you and oppose your instructions, you are not responsible for their deeds, and, from this point of view, you have no duty to force them to stop any wrong doing. Your duty is to deliver propagation of the message of Islam, to enjoin right and forbid wrong, and to guide the misguided persons. It says

".and whoever turns away We have not sent you to be a watcher over them ..."

It should be noted that this verse is one of the most clear verses of the Qur'ān which is the proof upon the reasoning of the rightfulness of the practice of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and the acceptance of his traditions. Then when we see that, according to the famous tradition of Thaqalayn (two weighty things), the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) has explicitly counted the traditions of Ahlul-Bayt some true evidences and proofs, we result from it that the obedience of the command of Ahlul-Bayt, too, is not separate from the obedience of the command of Allah

Commentary: verse ٨١

In this verse, the Qur'ān has pointed to the situation of some hypocrites, or a group of people whose faith is weak. It says that when they come beside the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and are in the row of Muslims, they harmonize with others, and express that they obey the command of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and that they are most willingly ready to follow the Messenger of Allah

"...,' And they express: `Obedience"

But when people go out from the presence of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), those hypocrites and the persons whose faith is weak neglect their promises and, in their night meetings, they make some decisions against the words of the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.); but Allah (s.w.t.) records what they say in such meetings. It says but when they go out from your presence, a group of them spend the night in ..."

"...deciding other than what you say; and Allah writes down what they decide by night

Yet, Allah commands His Messenger to turn aside from them with no fear from their plots. He is ordered not to rely on them in his affairs

Do they not ponder on the Qur'ān? And if it were from other than Allah, they " ٨٢
".would surely find therein much discrepancy

Commentary: verse ٨٢

Among the accusations that they brought a charge against the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was that they said someone else had taught the Holy Qur'ān to him, "... only a mortal .teaches him..." (١) This verse is an answer to them

The lack of contemplation in the Qur'ān results to the locking of the hearts. In another verse it says: " Do they not then reflect on the Qur'ān? Nay, on the hearts there are (locks." (٢)

It is customary that, during a long time, there happen some changes, improvements, and contradictions in the ordinary statements and written materials. But this Qur'ān was revealed during twenty three years, and was conveyed by the tongue of an illiterate person. It was stated in different conditions of peace and war, strangerhood and fame, strength and weakness, and in various circumstances of times, without any doctrinal differences or any contradiction. This proves that it is the Word of Allah, not .taught by a mortal

Therefore, the Qur'ān is the ever remaining miracle of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) which .itself is an evidence unto his prophethood

"Do they not ponder on the Qur'ān "

And if it were from other than Allah

".they would surely find therein much discrepancy

Commentary: verse ٨٣

Spreading private news and also rumors have always been injurious to Muslims.

:Diffusion of secret news usually originates from these motives simple-mindedness, vengeance, infliction, being subject to the will of others, greed in materials, gaudiness, expression of information, etc. For the comprehensiveness that Islam has, it has referred to this subject and, in this verse, it blames the divulgence of military secrets. It considers narrating the information of victory or failure before offering them to the leaders as the causes of `false pride' and `unappropriate fear from the fanciful enemy'. Had the warnings and the graces of Allah not existed, the . (Muslims would have fallen in this Satanic path (the divulgence of secrets

. Therefore, spreading gossips is one of the weapons of the hypocrites

However, the news of the battle-field and military secrets must reach a central office and, after being recognized and evaluated, some convenient part of .them may be spread

Hence, spreading military news and refraining from referring to the divine leaders, is .a kind of obedience from Satan

Of course, the military and political affairs, together with leading the security news and social secrets, should be controlled under an administration that consists of an independent judgement and deduction. This matter is among the deities of the rank of leadership. That is why there is a close connection between mastership and .Islamic jurisprudence

;And when there comes unto them a news of security or fear, they spread it abroad "

Commentary: verse ٨٤

When the pagans won the Battle of 'Uḥud, Abū-Sufyān proudly said that he would encounter the Muslims again at Badr-i-Ṣuqrā (a market used to be held in the month Zilqa`dah at a land called Badr). Before the appointed time, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) invited people for the Holy struggle. There came seventy strivers , but no conflict .happened and Muslims returned to Medina safely

Therefore, a leader should move in front of others when there is a danger. So, if it happens that the Muslims pay no attention to the call of the oppressed, the leader .should act by himself

"...;So, fight in the way of Allah "

The command unto the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) enjoining that even when he is alone he ! should fight against the enemy, is ` a single commandment

Commentary: verse ٨٥

Point

The Arabic term / muqīt / means the one who gives the sustenance of another person and who is the protector of that one's life. In general, the word is applied in the sense .'of ` protector and accountant

In the previous verse the meaning was that everyone is responsible for his own deed. But, here, in this verse, it is stated that the function of invitation and acting as an .intermediary in a good deed gains a portion of reward or retribution

'The extentions of ' a good intercession

Therefore, advice, reconciliation, teaching, encouraging to the Holy struggle, and assisting in a good deed are the extentions of ` a good intercession'. On the other side, backbiting, slander, hindering a good affair, accusation sedition, to frighten someone
.from battle-field, temptation and plots are the extentions of an evil intercession

Whoever intercedes with a good intercession shall have a share therefrom and "
"...;whoever intercedes with an evil intercession shall share in its burden

Some Islamic literature indicates that supplications for the benefit of others, enjoining to good, leading someone or even hinting him to a good action totally are the

٨٦. "And when you are greeted with a greeting, greet with a better one than it "

.or (at least) return it

".Verily Allah takes account of all things

Commentary: verse ٨٦

'The objective meaning of ' taḥiyyat

The objective meaning of the Qur'ānic word / taḥiyyat/ is greeting or any other welcoming done by anyone who desires the life, health, and pleasure of other party, whether by speech or by action. And, the respond of a present should be given better than it, even if the present is a greeting and then responding to it

And when you are greeted with a greeting, greet with a better one than it, or (at" "...least) return it

In the educational system of Islam, greenting is not only expected from a younger or lower person to an older or higher one. In this system, Allah, the Prophet, (p.b.u.h.) and the angels greet, too

The example of the greeting of Allah is: " Peace and salutation to Nūh among the .١ (nations." (Sura Aṣ-Ṣāffāt, No. ٣٧, verse ٧٩

The example of the greeting of the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) is: " And when those who .٢ believe in Our Signs come to you, say: `Peace be on you,'..." (Sura Al-'An`ām, No. ٦, (verse ٥٤

The example of the greeting of the angels is: " Those whom the angels cause to die .٣

.(in a good state, saying: `Peace be on you...!'" (Sura An-Nahl, No. ١٦, verse ٣٢

Once it happened that a maid offered Imam Hassan (a.s.) a bundle of flowers. In respond to it, Imam Hassan (a.s.) emancipated her. Then, when he was asked about .it, he recited the above verse

,In Islam (Islamic custom), greeting to others has been encouraged whether we know them or not. So, the person who restrains to greet is counted a miser. The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) used to greet everyone he met, even the children

In order that people know that the manner of greetings and their answers, and the superiorities and equalities that they have and in whatever stage they may be, are not concealed to Allah, the holy verse says

"Verily Allah takes account of all things ..."

?them because of what they have earned

?Do you want to guide someone whom Allah has forsaken to astray

".For, whoever Allah has forsaken to astray, never shall you find a way for him

Occasion of Revelation verse ٨٨

According to what some commentators of the Qur'ān have narrated from Ibn-Abbas, a group of the citizens of Mecca had embraced Islam, but in fact, they were in the row of hypocrites and that was why that they did not emigrated to Medina. Yet, finally, they had to go out from Mecca finally. (And haply, because of the particular condition .(they had, they did so for the purpose of spying

The Muslims recognized the matter, but, very soon, they differed among themselves that how to treat this group. Some believed that those hypocrites should be forsaken because they were, indeed, the adherents of the enemies of Islam. But some others, who were rather simple-minded and saw only the outward of the things, opposed that idea and surprisingly said how they should fight against some people who had .testified to the Unity of Allah and the prophethood of the Messenger

The verse was revealed and blamed the fault of the second group and then guided

.them

p: 117

Effects of one's deeds do not separate from him

Regarding the above occasion of revelation, the relation of this verse and the verses next to it with the former verses about the hypocrites, is quite clear

At the beginning of the verse, it implies why have you separated into two groups about the hypocrites and each group of you judge in a different form? It says

"...Why should you take both sides concerning hypocrites"

Then the holy Qur'ān says that Allah has taken success and His support from this group of hypocrites because of their disgraceful indecent deeds they have done, and He has reversed their thoughts totally. It is like a person who, in stead of standing on his feet, stands on his head. It says

"...?while Allah has discarded them because of what they have earned..."

Then, at the end of this holy verse, the Qur'ān addresses those shallow-minded Muslims who supported this group of hypocrites, and says

?Do you want to guide someone whom Allah has forsaken to astray..."

".For, whoever Allah has forsaken to astray, never shall you find a way for him

It is an everlasting way of Allah's treatment that the effect of the deeds of no one separates from him. How can you expect that those whose thoughts are filthy, whose hearts are full of hypocrisy, and their treatment is supporting the enemies of Allah be guided? This is an illogical and improper expectation

Commentary: verse ٨٩

In the previous verse, the words were about those hypocrites whom some simple-minded Muslims raised to support and intercede, but the Qur'ān stated their separation from Islam. Now this holy verse, following that idea, indicates that the inner darkness of these hypocrites is so much so that, not only they themselves are disbelievers, but also they desire that you should disbelieve, too, as they do, and you would become equal to them. It says

"They wish that you should disbelieve as they have disbelieved, so that you might be"
"...;(all) alike

Therefore, they are worse than the ordinary pagans, because those pagans are not the thieves and robbers of others' Faith, while these hypocrites are, and they, as a
.habitual manner, ceaselessly try to spoil the creeds of others

:Now that they are like that, it says

"...therefore do not take from among them friends..."

This is a frame, unless they reform their affairs and stop hypocrisy and destruction. The sign of this status is that you see they migrate from the center of infidelity and hypocrisy to the camp of Islam in the way of

p: ۱۱۹

:Allah. It says

"...until they migrate in Allah's way..."

But if they do not try to migrate, you should know that they have not abandoned their infidelity and hypocrisy. So, their expression of Islam is only for the purpose of spying and destruction. In this case, wherever you find them, you can capture them, or, if necessary, slay them. It says

But if they turn back (to infidelity), then seize them and slay them wherever you find..."
"...them

Then, at the end of the verse, it emphasizes again that you should never take friends from among them. It says

".and do not take from among them a friend or a helper..."

Except this intensity of action, there is no other way to save an alive society, which is going forth alongside an improving revolutionary path, from the clutches of some seeming-friend enemies and dangerous spies

Muslims should know their different kinds of enemies

In order to save their lives, a group of the citizens of Mecca came to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) and hypocritically stated that they had become Muslims. But when they returned to their own city, they continued idol worshipping so that they would not encounter with the tortures of the disbelievers. By that way, they could enjoy both parties and would be safe from the danger of both sides. Their tendency, of course, .was actually rather more towards infidelity

Thus, Muslims should know their different kinds of enemies and treat each of them .appropriately while they would not trust the statement of them

An Islamic government has authority and mastership in suppressing the vicious .hypocrites, and clearing the society of them

" .and against these We have given you a clear authority..."

Yet, the intensive and suppressive punishment is specific to those hypocrites who .have activities to destroy the Islamic government

One of the idolators of Mecca called Hārith-ibn-Yazīd, assisted by 'Abūjahī, had seriously been torturing a Muslim believer named `Ayyāsh-ibn-'Abī-Rabī`ah for the guilt of believing in Islam for a length of time. After emigrating Muslims to Medina, `Ayyāsh emigrated to Medina, too

It happened that one day he occasionally met his torturer in one of the quarters of the suburbs of Medina. Availing himself of the opportunity, he killed him. He thought he had slain an enemy of Islam while Hārith, who was going toward the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) at that moment, had repented and embraced Islam. The circumstance was reported to the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) when the verse was revealed and stated the ordinance of the slaughter which had been done by mistake

Commentary: verse ٩٢

Some Ordinances upon Manslaughter

Since the previous verses contained a kind of freedom given to the Muslims to destroy the hypocrites and the dangerous interior enemies, in this verse and the following one, the ordinances of manslaughter and intentional murder have been stated in order that lest some people misuse this law and, under the pretext of being hypocrite, take vengeance upon those with whom they have enmity. At first, it says

"...And it is not for a believer to kill a believer except by mistake "

:Then, it has stated the forfeit and expiation of manslaughter in three processes

The first status is that the person, who has been slain, belongs to a Muslim family. In this case, the man-slayer should do two duties: ١) He should set free a believing slave, ٢) and pay the blood-money to the owners of the blood. The holy verse says and whoever kills a believer by mistake must set free a believing slave, and pay the ..."

"...blood-money to the family of the slain

It should be done unless the family members of the slain remit it. It

p: ۱۲۵

:says

"...unless they remit it as a freewill offering..."

The second status is that the believing slain belongs to a family who are the enemies of the Muslims. In this case, the expiation of a manslaughter is only setting free a believing Muslim slave. It says

But if he (the slain) is from a tribe hostile unto you, and he is a believer, then (the..."
"...penance is) to set free a believing slave

It is not necessary to pay blood-money to a group that strengthening whose financial structure may be counted as a danger for the Muslims

Besides, Islam has ceased the relation of this person with his family, who are totally enemies of Islam. Thus, there is no room for indemnification

The third status is that the members of the family of the slain are among the pagans who have covenant with the Muslims. In this case, to respect the covenant, besides setting free a believing Muslim slave, the blood-money of the slain must be paid to his family members. The verse says

And if he is from a tribe between whom and you there is a covenant, then the..."
"...blood-money must be paid to his family and (also) a believing slave must be set free

.It seems here that the objective meaning of 'slain' is 'a believing slain

And, at the end of the verse, the speech is about those who have not any chance to set a slave free. That is, either they are not financially able, or there is not any slave found to be set free. It says

"...But he who finds not (the means) should fast two months consecutively..."

And, it adds that this change of setting free a slave into two months of fasting is a kind of discount and penance from Allah, and Allah is always aware of all things, and all His commands are based on Wisdom

".This is) a penance from Allah, and Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise)..."

٩٣- وَمَنْ يَقْتُلْ مُؤْمِنًا مُتَعَمِّدًا فَجَزَاؤُهُ جَهَنَّمُ خَالِدًا فِيهَا

وَغَضِبَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَلَعَنَهُ وَأَعَدَّ لَهُ

عَذَابًا عَظِيمًا

And whoever kills a believer intentionally, his recompense is Hell wherein shall he " ٩٣. abide forever, and Allah's wrath shall be on him and He curses him and prepares for ".him a mighty punishment

Commentary: verse ٩٣

Point

In hard circumstances of the Battle of 'Uhud, one of the Muslims killed another Muslim because of their personal hostilities from the Age of Ignorance. The holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) was informed of it by the way of revelation. Then, when he was returning back from 'Uhud, at the region of Qubā, he commanded for the retaliation of a believer's murder. He (p.b.u.h.) said that the murderer should be killed and be paid no (attention to his regret. (Maqāzī, Vol. ١, P. ٣٠٤

Islam has considered the life of a Muslim, and the protection of the security of the lives of people, very important. It has assigned an eternal retribution for it in order that slaying, and heavy crimes, be hindered. The expression which has been used for .the wilful murder of a believer in this verse is not seen upon any other crimes

:Explanations

.In Islamic system, no authority is allowed to kill or hang others unreasonably

Therefore, in Islam, in addition to the execution of retaliation which is a worldly punishment, there are cited four other worldly serious penalties upon the murderer of .a wilful murder in the Hereafter

:Upon the recompense of such a murderer, the verse, says (١

And whoever kills a believer intentionally, his recompense is Hell wherein shall he "
"...abide forever

p: ۱۲۷

:And such a person incurs Allah's wrath. It says ﴿۲

"...and Allah's wrath shall be on him..."

.And also, He repels him for His Grace ﴿۳

"...and He curses him..."

.And He has prepared a great chastisement for him ﴿۴

".and prepares for him a mighty punishment..."

Deliberate murder is one of the greatest crimes and the most dangerous sins which destroys entirely the security of the society, the most important condition of a safe and sound society, if it might not be controlled. Therefore, the Qur'ān introduces the unreasonable murder of a person like slaying all the human-kind in the world. So, if a person kills another human being without that the slain be a murderer or a mischief monger on the earth, it seems he has killed all human-kind

Occasion of Revelation: verse ٩٤

It has been recorded that, after returning from the Battle of Kheybar, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) sent 'Asāmat-ibn-Ziyd, accompanied with some Muslims, toward the Jews who were living in a village in the region of Fadak in order to invite them either to Islam or to submitting to the conditions of protective covenant

One of the Jews named "Murdas" who had been informed of the movement of the forces of Islam toward that place, hastened forth to receive the Muslims while he was shouting confessing the Unity of Allah and the prophethood of the Messenger (p.b.u.h.)

Asāmat-ibn-Ziyd thought that the Jewish man was confessing Islam for the fear of his life and for the protection of his wealth, and he was not really a Muslim. Then he .attacked him and killed him

When the news of it reached the Prophet (p.b.u.h.), he became very inconvenient of it and told 'Asāmah that he had killed a Muslim. 'Asāmah felt sad and said that that man confessed Islam for the fear of his life and for the protection of his wealth. The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) told him that he (Asāmah) did not know his inside intention. He (the Jew) might become truly a Muslim. At that moment the verse was revealed

Commentary: verse 9f

There is a precautionary instruction mentioned in this verse in order to protect the life of the sinless persons who may be only wrongly accused

:The verse says

,O you who have Faith! When you go forth (to fight) in the way of Allah "

:make investigation, and do not say to the one who offers you peace

"...!,You are not a believer `

Then it adds that you should be aware not to accuse some persons who express Islam as the enemies of Muslims and not to kill them for the sake of some fleeting bounties of this world and taking their properties in the form of booties. It says "...!seeking the goods of this world's life..."

:Avoid it when the eternal worthy spoils are with Allah. It says

"...But, with Allah are abundant spoils ..."

Yes, in the past, the situation was like that and at the Age of Ignorance, they had the motive of plunder

"...,You, too, were such before..."

But, now, under the light of Islam and for that Allah has conferred His grace on you and relieved you from that status, you should be grateful for this bounty and it is to you to investigate in affairs. It says

"...therefore make investigation..."

.And do know that Allah is aware of your deeds and intentions

".Verily Allah is aware of what you do..."

Struggle is a general rule in the world of creation. All creatures of the world, irrespective of plants and animals, remove their barriers from their way by struggle, .so that they can reach the virtues of their own ideals

It should be noted, of course, that in addition to the defensive, and sometimes attacking, wars, `Jihād' (Struggle) envelops the scientific, economical, cultural and .political struggles, too

Allah has raised the strivers with their wealth and lives in rank above those sitting

,and to each (class) Allah has promised good

" .but He has bestowed a great reward on the strivers above those sitting back

Commentary: verse ٩٥

The words in the previous verses were upon struggle. So, in this verse, there is a :comparison between the strivers and non-strivers. The holy verse says Such believers who sit still, not having any injury, are not equal with those who strive "

" ....in the way of Allah with their wealth and their lives

Then, it has expressed again the superiority of the strivers more clearly and more :manifestly. It says

Allah has raised the strivers with their wealth and lives in rank above those sitting..."
"... ;back

But, comparing these strivers with those for whom struggle is not an individual duty, and that they are not able to take part in the battle because of illness or weakness or other acceptable causes which hinder them to participate in the holy struggle, this group are also promised good. This is for the reason that the reward of their righteous intention, faith, and other

:deeds would not be ignored. So, it says

"...,and to each (class) Allah has promised good..."

Yet, in view of the fact that in the logic of Islam the importance of struggle is even :more than this, it refers to the strivers again and emphasizes that

".but He has bestowed a great reward on the strivers above those sitting back..."

That great reward mentioned in the previous verse, has been rendered into these merits announced in this verse. They are: magnificent degrees of rank from Allah and His Forgiveness and Mercy. It says

"...Strivers will have) degrees (of rank) from Him, and forgiveness and Mercy) "

And, at the end of the verse, it implies that, in the midtime, if there are some persons who have committed some faults, when doing their own duties, and they have felt sorry about what wrong they have done, Allah has promised them forgiveness, too, since the verse says

Commentary: verse ٩٧

Before the occurrence of the Battle of Badr, the pagans of Mecca called the citizens of Mecca to fight against the Muslims. They ordered that all men should participate in the war. They threatened people that the houses of those who might offend the issue would be ruined and their property could be confiscated. Some of the Muslims, who were still living in Mecca and had not emigrated to Medina, for the fear of their lives, accompanied the pagans in the war against the Muslims in the Battle of Badr, where they were killed. The verse was revealed and counted guilty those who did not migrate and stayed in the environment of infidelity. The verse blamed them because they had wronged against themselves. Thus, it is obligatory to migrate from the center of infidelity, and staying there to be a multitude of the soldiers of disbelievers, is unlawful. If you can change the circumstances of the environment, do it, else you should migrate from there in order .not to be called to account, because justification of faults will not be accepted

"...We were oppressed`..."

We should know that the principle is the goal and belief, not the life and the house. Or, .in other words, we must be careful that theism is the principle, not patriotism

By the way, according to the Islamic literature, an oppressed person is he who cannot recognize the path of responsibility and the difference between right and wrong.\(1\)

Some Islamic traditions denote that he who migrates a distance, even as long as a span, in order to protect the religion, will be admitted to Heaven and will be companion of the holy Prophet \(p.b.u.h.\) and Abraham \(a.s.\).\(2\)

Commentary: verse ١٠٠

Emigration, an Islamic Constructive Instruction

Following the discussion about emigration and those who, as a result of some shortcoming in doing the duty of emigration, yield to any kind of a basement and humiliation, in this verse, the words are earnestly stated upon the quality of .emigration

The subject of emigration has been discussed from two points of view. At first, it has pointed to the good results and effects of emigration in the life of godly people in this world. It says that those who emigrate in the vast land of Allah (s.w.t.), in the way of Allah (s.w.t.), and for the sake of Allah (s.w.t.), will find many secure and bountiful sites.

:The verse says

p: ۱۳۸

.And whoever migrates in Allah's way, finds much refuge and abundance in the earth "
" ...

Then, it pays to the spiritual aspect of emigration; and points to this fact that if some ones get out of their houses and leave their home with the intention of emigration towards Allah (s.w.t.), and His Apostle, and die before reaching their destination, their .reward is with Allah (s.w.t.), and He, the Forgiving, the Merciful, will forgive their faults and whoever goes forth from his house migrating unto Allah and His Messenger ..." and death overtakes him, his reward is indeed with Allah and Allah is Forgiving,

" .Merciful

.Thus, the emigrants are victorious in both cases

It is interesting that emigration, not for self protection but for preserving Islam, is an origin of date for Muslims. It forms the foundation of our political, social and propagative events totally. And, in any time and any place, if the same conditions .come forth, Muslims are ordained to emigrate

Section ۱۵: To cut short prayer while travelling

Point

.Shortening of the Daily prayers while in travel Prayer while in the battle

۱۰۱- وَإِذَا ضَرَبْتُمْ فِي الْأَرْضِ فَلَيْسَ عَلَيْكُمْ جُنَاحٌ أَنْ تَقْصُرُوا مِنَ الصَّلَاةِ إِنْ خِفْتُمْ أَنْ يَفْتِنَكُمُ الَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا إِنَّ الْكُفْرَ-إِفْرِينَ كَانُوا لَكُمْ عَدُوًّا مُّبِينًا

And when you are journeying in the land, it is not sin for you that you shorten the " ۱۰۱ .
prayer, if you fear that those who disbelieve afflict you. Verily
" .the infidels are your manifest enemy

Commentary: verse ۱۰۱

Point

Next to the former discussion upon Holy struggle and Emigration, the holy Qur'ān
.refers to the subject of a Muslim's prayer when the one is in journey

The Qur'ānic phrase / darabtum-fil-'ard / ` you go from one place to another ', is an implicit declaration of travelling, because a traveller pounds the land under his feet.

«(This meaning is narrated from Mufradāt Rāqib An Arabic dictionary

The Qur'ān sometimes applies the sense of ` it is not sin for you ' in stead of ` .obligation '. This verse contains this sense, too

Curtail worship has not been specified to the aspects of fear alone, but since there is usually fear when a person travels, the phrase ` if you fear ' has been mentioned in the verse. Or, since at first the law of curtail worship had been ordained for the circumstances of fear and, afterward, it has been generalized upon every journey,
.this phrase (if you fear) has been applied here

.Establishing prayers can never be stopped, but it can have alleviation .۱

.Seeing the truth and flexibility is a principle in the Divine law .۲

We should not be inattentive of the enemy even while we are establishing prayers. .۳

Policy and religiosity, worship and intelligence are not separate from each other. Our .hands should be busy both for prayers and for weapon

.Infidelity and faith are in contrast with each other .۴

" .Verily the infidels are your manifest enemy ... "

It seems that all disbelievers are considered as one force in hostility against you. .۵

, ' That is why the Arabic word / ` aduww / ` enemy

.mentioned in the verse, is used in the singular form, not in the plural form

١٠٢- وَإِذَا كُنْتَ فِيهِمْ فَأَقَمْتَ لَهُمُ الصَّلَاةَ

فَلْتَقُمْ طَائِفَةٌ مِنْهُمْ مَعَكَ وَلْيَأْخُذُوا آسْلِحَتَهُمْ

فَإِذَا سَجَدُوا فَلْيَكُونُوا مِنْ وَرَائِكُمْ وَلْتَأْتِ طَائِفَةٌ أُخْرَى لَمْ يُصَلُّوا

فَلْيُصَلُّوا مَعَكَ وَلْيَأْخُذُوا حِذْرَهُمْ وَأَسْلِحَتَهُمْ

وَالَّذِينَ كَفَرُوا لَوْ تَغْفُلُونَ عَنْ أَسْلِحَتِكُمْ وَأَمْتِعَتِكُمْ

فَيَمِيلُونَ عَلَيْكُمْ مَيْلَهُ وَاحِدَةً

وَلَا جُنَاحَ عَلَيْكُمْ إِنْ كَانَ بِكُمْ أَذًى مِنْ مَطَرٍ أَوْ كُنْتُمْ مَرْضَى

أَنْ تَضَعُوا أَسْلِحَتَكُمْ وَخُذُوا حِذْرَكُمْ

إِنَّ اللَّهَ أَعَدَّ لِلْكَافِرِينَ عَذَابًا مُهِينًا

And when you are among them (Muslim forces) and keep up the prayer for " ١٠٢. " them, then let a party of them stand up (in prayer) with you, carrying their arms. Then when they have performed (their) prostrations, let them (continue the second unit solitarily and) take their precaution in your rear, and let another party who have not prayed come and pray with you (from the second unit), and let them take their precautions and their arms; (for) those who disbelieve desire that you should be heedless of your weapons and your baggages, then they would attack you all at once. And it is no sin for you to lay down your arms if you are annoyed with rain or if you are sick, but take your precautions. Verily Allah has prepared a disgraceful chastisement " .for the infidels

Commentary: verse ١٠٢

Point

In the sixth year A.H., the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.), accompanied some believers, set out towards Mecca. On the way, when they reached the region of Hudaybiyyah, they encountered with Khālid-ibn-Walīd supported by two hundred men who had sheltered thereabout and were waiting for hindering the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) from arriving in Mecca. When Bilāl said the prayer call and the prayer was established, Khālīd-ibn-Walīd devised to profit by the time when all Muslims were busy establishing the evening prayer and to attack them at a single instance.

The verse was revealed and informed the Prophet (p.b.u.h.) of the plot. So, seeing that a miracle appeared through divine revelation, Khālīd embraced Islam.

In this prayer, after performing the first unit of prayer, the first group stand up and complete the rest of the prayer, but the prayer leader waits a little so that the other group may come and join the second unit of the prayer carrying their weapons.

And when you are among them (Muslim forces) and keep up the prayer for them, "then let a party of them stand up (in prayer) with you, carrying their arms. Then when they have performed (their) prostrations, let them (continue the second unit solitarily and) take their precaution in your rear, and let another party who have not prayed come and pray with you (from the second unit), and let them take their precautions and their arms; (for) those who disbelieve desire that you should be heedless of your "... weapons and your baggages, then they would attack you all at once

Thus, in no condition prayer can be dropped and never a striver is without establishing prayer. There must be weapon in one hand and spirituality in the other.

For the importance of the congregation prayer mentioning only this fact is enough that, when facing the enemy in the battle-field, even one unit of the prayer is to be established either.

It should also be noticed that when two duties come forth with together (i.e. holy struggle and prayer) one must not be sacrificed for the other.

Due to your establishing prayer and the attack of enemy, take your precautions

By the way, self-consciousness is always necessary. Even at the time of establishing prayer, Muslims should not be neglectful of the danger of the enemy. So, in no circumstances a striver must be in distance with the protective means. (If he has not any weapon, he should wear armour). It is for the caution that if the enemy attacks he .can protect himself until the help comes

p: ۱۴۳

" ... but take your precautions ... "

Yet, since there may necessarily come forth some occasions that it is difficult to carry both the weapons and the protective means with together when keeping up the :prayers, at the end of the above mentioned verse it ordains such

And it is no sin for you to lay down your arms if you are annoyed with rain or if you ... "
" ... ,are sick

You should follow acting these instructions and be assured that victory is with you,
:because

".Verily Allah has prepared a disgraceful chastisement for the infidels ... "

١٠٣- فَإِذَا قَضَيْتُمُ الصَّلَاةَ فَادْكُرُوا اللَّهَ قِيَامًا

وَقُعُودًا وَعَلَىٰ جُنُوبِكُمْ فَإِذَا اطْمَأْنَنْتُمْ فَأَقِيمُوا الصَّلَاةَ

إِنَّ الصَّلَاةَ كَانَتْ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ كِتَابًا مَوْفُوتًا

Then when you have finished the prayer, remember Allah standing and sitting " ١٠٣ . and reclining. Then, when you are secure (from danger) establish the prayer (as usual). Verily the prayer at fixed times has been enjoined upon the believers

Commentary: verse ١٠٣

The Importance of Prayers, a Commandment

Following the instruction of 'prayer of fear' mentioned in the previous verse, and the necessity of establishing prayer even while you are fighting

:it continues saying in this verse

Then when you have finished the prayer, remember Allah standing and sitting and "...reclining

The purpose of the phrase: 'remember Allah standing and sitting and reclining' may have been the same different warfare positions in which soldiers sometimes use the various weapons designed for wars including the means of shooting

Another attitude indicates that the purpose of this phrase is that in all conditions including: standing, sitting and reclining, whether you are healthy or sick, and even \(when you are struggling against the enemy, remember Allah. ١\)

In fact, the above-mentioned verse is a hint to an Islamic important instruction which denotes that: establishing prayers at the appointed times does not mean that a person neglects the remembrance of Allah in other times

Then the Qur'an informs us that the instruction for the 'prayer of fear' is an exceptional commandment, and as soon as the condition of fear removes the

:circumstance will be as follows

Makhzan-ul-Irfan, vol. ۲, p. ۱۵۰ Tafsir-ul-Burhan, vol. ۱, p. ۴۱۳ ۱-۱

"...(Then, when you are secure (from danger) establish the prayer (as usual ..."

The secret of all these instructions and recommendations is for the fact that prayer is one of the Divine certain obligations which is enjoined for all dynasties and in all times, because it is not separated from Faith

However, according to some Islamic traditions, the Arabic word /mauqūt/, mentioned \(in the holy verse, has been rendered into `a fixed obligatory at an appointed time'.

" .Verily the prayer at fixed times has been enjoined upon the believers ..."

فَأِنَّهُمْ يَأْلَمُونَ كَمَا تَأْلَمُونَ وَتَرْجُونَ مِنَ اللَّهِ مَا لَا يَرْجُونَ pain as you suffer. But you hope from Allah what they do not hope. And Allah is All-

The Occasion of Revelation verse ١٠٤

It is narrated from Ibn Abbas that after the painful events of the Battle of 'Uhud, the holy Prophet (p.b.u.h.) stood upon Mount Uhud when Abūsufyān shouted with a victorious tone; " O' Muhammad! One day we won, but another day! " That is, this very victory that we have is instead of that defeat we suffered in the Battle of Badr." The :Prophet (p.b.u.h.) told the Muslims to answer him immediately, and they said Never is our situation like yours. Our martyrs are in heaven while your slains are in "

".Hell

" .Abūsufyān shouted: " We have Al-`Uzzā, but you have not it

:The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) told Muslims to reply that slogan by saying

" .Allah is our gaurdian but you have no gaurdian "

,Abūsufyān, who felt himself weak before that lively Islamic motto

"!left out the idol 'Uzzā and attached the idol called Hubal. He cried: "High be Hubal

The Prophet (p.b.u.h.) commanded Muslims to condemn the motto of the Age of :Ignorance with a stronger and better motto. They would say

" .Allah is the Higher and the Exalted "

:Abūsufyān, who made no gain from his own different mottoes, cried

" .Our trysting-place is the region of Badr-i-Suqrā"

Muslims returned from the battle-field while they were seriously annoyed of the painful events in 'Uhud. At that time the verse was revealed and warned them not to .flag in pursuit of the pagans, and not to be annoyed of those painful events

This occasion of revelation teaches us that Muslims should not be neglectful of none of the enemy's styles. They should apply some stronger logics before the logic of the enemies, and some better weapons against their weapons, else, the circumstances .may change for the benefit of the enemy
